WIE B. MAPP STABBED TO DEATH TUESDAY NIGHT

The tragedy Tuesday night in which W. B. Mapp lost his life is a source of unspeakable sorrow to the Mapp family and relatives and one of sore regret to the entire community. The tragedy occurred about 11 o'clock, two or three hours after the battle at the fair grounds had ended and the crowds had gone to their homes. The details of the tragedy have not been made known, but it appears that Mapp and Earl Gentry had been engaged in a difficulty with another at the Sanitary Cafe. Gentry was employed, which was a serious stage when he seized a large knife used for cutting bread and stabbed Mapp in the heart. Mapp walked a few steps to the door and fell on his face where he expired almost instantly. Gentry rendered himself to Sheriff Campbell and was lodged in jail. Mr. Mapp was only 25 years of age and had a wife and two children, all of whom were in New Mexico at the time of the tragedy visiting Mrs. Mapp's mother. He was virtually unknown in Foard County and has been engaged most of the time for the last few years in the barber trade. Gentry is a young man about 19 years of age and came from Royse City to Crowell at the beginning of the harvest season this year and worked for H. J. Crosnoe. After the season closed he secured employment at the Sanitary Cafe here where he has since been at work. His parents reside in Tennessee. Gentry wired his father immediately after the killing and it is expected that he will come to him. The funeral services took place at the home of Mrs. M. L. Mapp, mother of the deceased, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The wife and children arrived Thursday morning.

REPORTED ACCIDENTS FOR THE WEEK

Jim Black's little child was kicked in the face by a mule last Friday afternoon while the child was playing in the yard. Sunday afternoon P. H. Nelson and his son, Aaron, were going to haul some water when the team became frightened and ran away, throwing both the father and son from the wagon. The son sustained a fractured arm while the father had several ribs broken and suffered a painful puncture just below the ribs. Mr. Nelson is reported to be seriously injured. Fox, one of the riders from the Waggoner ranch in the wild horse race contest, happened to the accident of getting an arm broken Monday when his saddle girth broke and he fell under his horse. The horse stepped on Fox's arm. A similar accident happened to George Wells while riding in the relay race Tuesday when the girth broke. George is suffering from a dislocated shoulder.

Crowell Beats Paducah to a Score of 2 to 1 Tuesday

The great crowd at the fair grounds Tuesday afternoon witnessed one of the best ball games of the season just after the rodeo stunts were completed, between Crowell and Paducah. Both teams were in good condition and with the batteries, Lancaster and Boyd for Crowell, and Bennett and Harron for Paducah, was to a great extent a pitchers' battle, although many good field plays were made and errors were very few.

Child Dies

Little Helen Lois, 3-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Graham of Margaret, died here at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Kirkman, Friday afternoon after several days illness. The remains of the little one were placed in the Crowell cemetery Saturday afternoon. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fish of Vivian have been in town this week with their little two-year-old son, Hughes Haley, who has been in a very critical condition.

Miss Christine Ricks is here this week from Electra visiting relatives and friends.

BRIDGE OVER PEASE RIVER TO BE COM- PLETE BY NOV. 15

According to previous arrangements the commissioners and county judge of Hardeman county came over Tuesday and met with our commissioners and county judge to get together on the Pease River bridge proposition, if possible. That seems to have been an easy matter and Austin Bros.' proposition to assume all the cost except $12,000 and operate it as a toll bridge for a period of ten years was accepted by the two counties. Foard and Hardeman counties are each to put up $5,000 as their part of the cost. After a period of ten years the bridge is to become the property of the two counties free of encumbrance. The proposition is simply that of the bridge paying itself out of debt within ten years and Austin Bros. will operate it as a toll bridge and bind themselves to keep it in good repair. The indebtedness they assume depending on revenue from the traffic will force them to keep the bridge in repair. The contract calls for the completion of the bridge by November 15, of this year.

BIG RAINS MON- DAY COVER WIDE TERRITORY

The big rains Monday afternoon and night were timely in that they came just at the time when the wheat farmer began to feel that moisture was absolutely necessary in order that he might plant his wheat crop with some assurance of getting it up. The showers the country has had for some week have not been sufficient to bring up the volunteer wheat as a rule over the county and consequently it has been useless to think about sowing wheat until this volunteer crop is turned under. The rains were necessary to bring it up. Some of the farmers say they have as high as four or five bushels of wheat on the ground that was shattered by the harvest. This will bring it up and then further preparation of the land for the next crop can go forward.

The rain covered most of the county according to reports. In the extreme western portion very little moisture fell, but that is the only section of the county that was not visited by a heavy downpour. The rainfall a Crowell will amount to something like two inches.

The rain will help late feed and cotton some but it comes most too late to be of general benefit to row crops.

It appeared Monday night that the fair would be knocked out Tuesday but the ground soon dried out and by noon there was very little mud to interfere with traffic and the show went on as if no rain had fallen. The fact is after a few hours it appeared to stimulate the show-going spirit and so Tuesday witnessed about as many people in Crowell and at the fair grounds as were here the day before. Between three and four thousand entered the gates Monday and it looked as if that many were on the grounds Tuesday. So the rain did not break up the fair by any means. The country will be wonderfully benefited by the rains and the fair too.

The rains coming as they are at this time will mean the planting of another large acreage to wheat and will give reasonable assurance of an other crop. There is some land, of course, not yet plowed, but this work will go forward now with a rush. We may expect many to plow day after night until they have prepared all their land. With the rains that may be reasonably expected this fall an other splendid crop may be looked forward to.

Floods in California

According to a letter recently received by Mrs. J. B. R. Fox from one of her grandchildren of the Truesdell family the country about Calexico had some fearful floods of late. The letter stated that there is a strip of country running from the mountains to El Centro, a distance of about 30 miles that has been under more than 5 feet of water for three days. The highway running through that country has been greatly damaged and thousands of men are now employed to repair the damages so that traffic can be resumed. Half of the railroad has been washed away and $30,000 are necessary to put the canals back in proper condition for carrying water. Conditions over in Mexico are said to be as bad or worse than in California.

It seems that such a flood was never known before, especially at this season of the year. The rains of that country usually come in the late fall and winter or in the spring.

C. B. Garlinghouse has leased his blacksmith shop to Gus Farr and is now relieved of the duties of managing the shop. Mr. Farr has been employed by Mr. Garlinghouse for a year and is a good blacksmith and will no doubt make a success of the business.

Mrs. Flora Metsinger of Salem Indiana, who was with her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. Swaim, during her recent operation and illness left Sunday morning for her home. She was accompanied to Quanaa by her son, Elmo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Witherspoon of Guthrie were here several days this week visiting Mrs. Witherspoon's mother, Mrs. B. F. Whitfield, and attending the fair and rodeo.

CROWELL SCHOOL OPENED MONDAY

The first two days of school were given over to the Fair and Rodeo, which we believe was one of the best in this part of the State. It is hoped that Crowell will make this an annual event. Such an occasion is educational and profitable to any county. The school authorities were glad to give way to this enterprise.

Our school has enrolled four hundred sixty two. This is more than were enrolled last year during the first three days. All classes have been organized and regular work was assigned Wednesday. Entrance examinations were scheduled for Friday. By Monday all new pupils will be notified as to what classes to enter. This is desirable as it is better to classify early so that pupils will have the advantage of beginning work with the least possible loss of time.

We are expecting a very successful year, in fact, the best we have had. The patrons of the school can help a great deal in this work. We solicit the same whole-hearted co-operation that has been accorded the school during the past. Such sentiment and good will excites all to their very best efforts.

In behalf of the students, let us ask the parents to encourage and insist that the pupils study a great deal at home. The boy or girl that studies at home will not lose interest or fall behind in his or her work. Now is the time to begin.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wynn Dead

Mrs. Elizabeth Wynn died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Tuttle, in this city Sept. 2, after several weeks of declining health. The remains were laid to rest in the Crowell cemetery on Sept. 3rd.

Mrs. Wynn was born in Louisiana April 29, 1838, and was therefore in her 84th year. She had lived out a long span of life and had lived it well. She had been a devoted Christian since early childhood. Mrs. Wynn came with her parents when she was 8 years of age to Williamson County Texas, and grew up to maturity in that county where she married and with her husband reared a small family, two of which died in early life. Mrs. Tuttle now being the only surviving child. Mrs. Wynn's husband died in the year 1862, and in the year 1901 Mrs. Wynn came from Williamson County with the family of her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Tuttle, to Foard County where she made her home until her death.

RODEO RIDER MEETS DEATH IN AMARILLO

Amarillo, Texas, Sept. 5.—Vivian E. Witherspoon, 21 years old, was crushed to death during the labor and industrial show parade here this morning when his horse fell on him.

Witherspoon was riding in the cowboy section of the parade when his horse slipped on the slick pavement. The youth fell under the animal and the saddlehorn caved in his breast. He died instantly. Witherspoon was entered in all of the rodeo events. His home is in Silverton, Texas. His brother who was also entered in all rodeo events, will go ahead with his riding. The father of the youth saw the accident.

Report from Junior League

After a very profitable summer in the junior work the leaguers enter the fall work with renewed interest.

Since the 1st of Jan. the leaguers have paid out on the various work of church $87.00, and have more money in the treasury than they had at the beginning of the year. And they wish to thank their friends who have so cheerfully aided them in making this money.

Our financial goal for the next month is a walk around the new church.

The new teacher expects to be with us Sunday afternoon. Come and get acquainted with her.

The "B Division" will have a lesson illustrated on the sand table. Let each member be on hand promptly at 5:30, and bring some one else.—Supt

J. W. Klepper came in Monday in his car from Mineral Wells where he has been for six weeks for his health which is greatly improved. He was accompanied by his son, John, and wife and little son, John Stanley, who visited here until Wednesday.

FIRST COUNTY FAIR AND RODEO A GREAT SUCCESS

There are attractions that can be pulled off with little work but this is not true with respect to a county fair. The work is tremendous. Preparation must be made and that takes time. Co-operation must be enlisted and that is not always an easy matter. People may not oppose such a thing as a county fair, but when it comes to getting up against the collar and taking the lead in the matter that is quite a different proposition. There is more or less financial risk to be assumed by the promoters of a county fair and so this thing and that thing and some other things have a tendency to shut out such things as a county fair, but these did not succeed this year in Foard County. We had the best fair in our history. This can be truthfully said because it was the first. But no one will be satisfied to allow the county fair of 1921 to hold the record as the best. It must not; it will not.

Foard County is one of the best counties, not in West Texas, but in the entire state. This is not what one may classify as cheap boosting. Experience of successful men in all lines of business bear out the truth of the statement, but what is a little surprising is that we have not found this out until recently. Indeed, we may not have fully realized it yet but we are coming to a knowledge of its truth and one of these days Foard County is going to be known at home and then we can introduce her to our neighbors.

The success of the first fair in our history ought to inspire every man in the county to start from now to make this an annual thing in Crowell. There is no better time than now to organize a permanent Fair Association. There are men who are only waiting for the opportunity to take stock in such an enterprise. Larger grounds can be procured, as must be done in order to handle the crowds and take care of the exhibits that will increase from year to year. So far we have made a good beginning, but to stop would be almost as bad as not commencing. The future holds wonderful things for Foard County in an agricultural way and in livestock developments provided we foster the interests that will make an annual fair possible. It must be done. We've made a great showing, but next year we must have more fine cattle of the various breeds. Some of them are already here but were not brought out. Then we must have more Poland China hogs—hogs that would do us credit at a state fair—they are in the county. There are other breeds, too, such as Durocs, Chester Whites and others. These should have been here this time, but this is the beginning and we'll do better next time. There ought to have been more breeds of chickens. White Leghorns are fine, but they are not all. There are more thoroughbred Rhode Island Reds, Barred Rocks, and Orpingtons than were shown at the fair. Bringing them out and showing them off is what adds interest to a county fair and brings people together in a very profitable way. We need to know each other better. We need to know what kind of stock the other fellow has in a distant portion of the county. A county fair will bring us together in this way and can be none other than a profitable thing for everybody in the county.

We have done exceedingly well. Next year we can eclipse anything in the way of county fairs in West Texas. As for the News it stands for just that very thing and will bend every energy to the accomplishment of that aim.

Sells Cotton for 20 Cents

W. B. Griffin sold a bale of cotton this week for 20 cents per pound, R. B. Edwards buying the bale. It is said to be a very fine sample, hence the fancy price.

Miss Gladys Benson, who has been down several weeks with the fever but who was recovering as rapidly as could be expected suffered a relapse last week was in a critical condition for several days. Her mother, Mrs. Ora Hunter, arrived Thursday of last week from Plainview. She is thought to be slowly recovering at present.

Half-Price Sale Still On

For this week any shirt in the house can be bought at half price. Only today and tomorrow and this opportunity is gone.

TRAGEDIES TRACED TO OIL

Pipe Lines and Overflows Responsible for the Deaths of Many Animals and Birds.

That almost unerring instinct which carries animals through grave dangers has led in many instances in the Midway and Sunset oil fields of California to their undoing. Chief among such victims are rabbits and water fowl.

A jackrabbit and a cottontail find a nice round, smooth hole. There are many such in the oil fields where oil piping is a necessity for the transportation of oil to the refineries. The rabbits decide to set up housekeeping there. The cottontail desires a permanent home and the jackrabbit wants a refuge safe from malevolent man.

Soon they discover their habitat is being moved. No doubt they are frightened, but they instinctively stay within their retreat. One end of the hole is closed. Even then they do not leave. Soon the other end of the hole is darkened. Then it is darkness eternal for the furry pair.

Some time later it is discovered that a newly laid oil pipe line is choked. After great labor the line is disjunctured and the remains of many rabbits removed. Thousands of rabbits have been thus exterminated in the oil fields.

The death rate among waterfowl is even greater. Again, as with the rabbits, instinct leads them to certain destruction. Every little lake of oil in the vicinity of a gusher is a trap for the unthinking birds. At twilight and dawn these tar-colored lakes appear as bodies of water to the deluded fowl.

LONDON HAS GROWN TOO BIG

Metropolis of the British Empire is Loosely Knit Together, and Confusion Results.

Poor old London is so big that she doesn't know what to do. She has outgrown her administrative clothes and finds that her outskirts are sorely bedraggled. She hopes that parliament will come to her relief, but she has waited so long without anything being done for her and meanwhile has grown so outrageously that parliament is a bit dubious about undertaking the job.

London, you understand, is merely a name, and it may mean one of several things. No railway company sells tickets to London; they are careful to specify the exact station in that vast conglomeration indefinitely spoken of by that name.

There is first of all the City of London, the original London, built around the Tower and walled in for defense, a square mile of twisting streets and

City Meat Market

Carries everything in the line of an up-to-date meat market, together with packing house meats such as Boiled Ham, Mince Ham, etc., except beef. Also carry Pure Hog Lard, the kind your mother used to make during hog-killing time. Come in for a fresh tender steak of beef or pork for dinner, or maybe it's pure hog sausage you want. If so the City Meat Market is the place to get it.

ASPIRIN

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve Bayer Tablets of Aspirin cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

A Harbinger of Evil

An eminent Norwegian prophesies that the United States will soon be overrun with bolsheviki and in the grip of the red terror.

Pleasant prospect!
Having failed dismally in Russia
after reducing that country to ruin and starvation, it is but natural that the red hordiers should seek for new fields to conquer—and there is none fairer than ours.

The danger lies not on the power of bolsheviki, but rather in our own indifference.

It is difficult for the average American to conceive that any power under sun could upset our established order of government.

The autocratic czar of Russia probably felt much the same—until he ceased to be either an autocrat or a czar.

The strongest of stone walls will crumble and fall if the foundations are persistently undermined.

It is so with governments, and even our own is not immune.

For six years or more we have witnessed an orgy of profiteering and gouging and plundering such as has never been dreamed of before.

Money lust drove an otherwise sanguine public mad, and it is only partially recovering today.

Laws of restriction and correction we have, but they are too often looked upon as applicable to the other fellow and not to self.

Such a condition, stretching over a long period of time, affords the bolsheviki to spread resentment and discontent, two important factors which are preliminaries to every revolution.

Instead of smiling at the learned Norwegian who warns us of impending evil we would do well to give his words serious consideration, lest the time come when it is too late to consider.

WRESTLED FOR BIG STAKES

Bloodless Combat Between Sons of Mikado, With the Throne as Prize for the Victor.

The sporting Japanese gentleman knows all the fine points about wrestling. His enthusiasms on this subject are informed enthusiasms, and he inherits them from a long line of ancestors, says Julian Street in Mc-Clure's. When the Greeks and Romans wrestled, the Japanese were wrestling too. In the Ninth century the Japanese throne was wrestled for.
A mikado died and left two sons, and these, instead of going to war with each other, left their claims to be settled by a wrestling match.

The sport is, furthermore, associated in a manner more or less disaphanous with Shintoism. Certain Shinto traditions are connected with it, and the matches used to be held on the grounds of Shinto temples.

The attitude of the sporting Japanese gentleman toward wrestlers resembles that of the sporting American or Englishman toward pugilists and jockeys. It is chic to know them, but not as equals. One is very genial with them and at the same time a little patronizing, whereas they are expected to assume a slightly deferential manner. Perhaps the attitude of the Japanese sporting gentleman toward his favorite wrestlers is rather more like that of the Spanish sporting gentleman toward bullfighters, for in both countries it is customary for the wealthy patron to give expensive presents to the hero. But whereas in Spain handsome jewelry is sometimes thrown to the bull-fighters in the ring, it is the custom in Japan for the fan to throw his hat, coat, pocketbook, cigarette case or what not to the popular idol, who later sends the trophy back to the owner, receiving in exchange a valuable gift—frequently a gift of money.

INVOKED AID OF ST. VITUS

In the Past Many Have Had Implicit Faith in the Powers of Ancient Holy Man.

For some reason a chapel was dedicated to that holy man of the Fourth century who was martyred under the Emperor Diocletian—St. Vitus—whose festival is celebrated on June 15. We are told that to this chapel came annually many women who labored under a nervous or hysterical affliction impelling them to violent motion. This ailment came to be known as St. Vitus' dance, and perhaps the term was gradually extended to other afflictions involving involuntary muscular motion.
Scientifically this disease is known as chorea. Another explanation is that in certain places in Germany during the Seventeenth century it was believed good health could be obtained for a year by dancing before the saint's image on his festival day, and that it was in this way the original St. Vitus' dance was confounded with the disease. The aid of this saint is also invoked against sudden death, hydrophobia, and so on.—Chicago Journal.

Nova Scotia's Sheep Industry.

The sheep industry in Nova Scotia is more than 200 years old, records of 1693 telling of 173,271 sheep in Arcadia. The province now ranks fourth among the provinces in the number of sheep, with 200,079, standing second to Quebec in price received for wool.
Nova Scotia owes its superior quality to its low shrinkage, as compared with wool from other parts of Canada. The climate on the mainland demands shelter for sheep during the winter months, though on certain islands along the south shore they are out the year around and feed on the sea kelp washed up on the shore. These are the wild sheep descended from those brought in by early settlers. Enterprising farmers on the south shore, seeing that they fed off the kelp in winter, corralled them on nearby islands.

1st. Internal or double run feed cup and wheels. One side of the cup is for large seeds, the other for small seeds.
Opens back reduces friction.

2nd. All moving parts on the speed transmission are enclosed in a strong yoke and are held in perfect place. The plate gear and the sliding gear are carefully made. Cogs in the plate gear are large strong teeth not merely little knobs.

3rd. The feed wheels are mounted on a square shaft which must turn every wheel at exactly the same speed.

4th. One revolution of the feed shaft carries out a given amount of seed. Increasing or decreasing the speed. Increases or decreases the amount of seed planted. It is the simplest kind of feed. The back of the feed cup is cutaway to reduce friction and thus making it a light draft.

As the Editor Sees It

Has it occurred to you that there are many people today who sincerely believe that the world is coming to an end, and that the day is near at hand? The present unsettled conditions throughout the earth are to them but visible signs of the approaching dissolution.

But regardless of their beliefs, and no matter what happens, the world keeps right on moving, and it will continue to move until time ceases to be.

Many years ago the members of a religious sect were convinced that the end of the world was at hand. They even set the date when all would be wafted to heaven, or to hell, or wherever else they might go.

There was much excitement, many wild eyes, and no little uneasiness, or apprehension.

They dressed themselves in white, ascended high mountains or hills, raised their eyes to heaven, and awaited the grand smash.

They are still waiting—those who are left of them.

And the world still moves.

In the early days woman was something of a chattel—a possession of mankind, to be disposed of as his fancy might decree.

Among the rich and powerful she was an ornament, a plaything. In the humbler walks of life she was a drudge, little better than a beast of burden.

If any person had told the kings and knights of old that the time would come when woman would be man's equal in all things that person would have been considered a lunatic, or a liar, or both, and a dangerous person to remain at large. His days would have been short.

Yet for centuries woman has been forging forward, fighting for and obtaining greater privileges, until today she is recognized as man's equal in many countries.

In the past doubting ones have made dire prophecies for such a day. The rise of womanhood to them meant chaos, disintegration, dissolution. But woman still progresses, and the world still moves.

If man doesn't like it he can lag behind.

Some people profess to believe that the great war marked the beginning of the end of time, and Christ was to return to earth in 1925 and rule for a thousand years. This belief is based upon mathematical computations applied to certain passages in the Bible.

It may be true, or it may not, but if your heart is clean you need have no fear of meeting Christ in 1925.

If Christ were to sweep the rulers of the earth into the seas and seize the reigns of government himself we would not be the losers thereby.

Even with Christ as the Emperor of the Earth the world would continue to move—at least for a thousand years.

And as the earth moves, so do we who inhabit it move with it.

A great conference is to be held in Washington. Wise men of the earth will seek to curtail armaments, eliminate war, and make the land one of peace, happiness and plenty.

While they are talking the world will be moving. It may be moving toward better days, or it may be approaching horrors as yet even unheard of.

But still it will move, steadily, surely, without pause or deviation from its course.

God made the world for a purpose and when that purpose is accomplished the world will cease to be.

You, and I, are but little specks in this world that moves—less than a tiny grain of sand upon a mighty beach.

Great is the world, greater is God, but infinitely small are we who doubt that the world will continue to move.

Doubt not today, lest at the day of judgment ye be doubted.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stephenson attended the Vernon fair last Friday and visited their daughter, Mrs. W. C. Baker. Mr. Stephenson says there was a hog on exhibit which weighed 1,000 pounds.

All Over Texas

A recent fire at Breckenridge did $20,000 worth of damage.

A special guard has been employed to watch autos against thieves at Amarillo during the week of the Industrial show to open in that city on Labor Day.

Bookings for cotton shipments in October from Galveston have been reported in numbers approximating a million bales. A portion goes to the Far East but the major portion to Northern France.

The big wheat yields in the North Plains country has stimulated the farmers to greater efforts in wheat growing and of late they have been plowing day and night in order to get ready for the fall sowing of a greater acreage than ever.

Cotton is reported to be bringing 17c to 20c in many portions of the State. Nothing but a short crop could have produced this blessing to the farmers.

A new sewer system is being put in at Hamlin and it is expected to be completed within three months. This, it is said, will be one of the most complete sewer systems in West Texas.

The farmers and business men of Childress are inaugurating a campaign to give the preference to home men picking cotton. They figure on the theory that money paid to the home man stays at home, and therefore helps to put money into circulation.

Policies favoring navy men of the American Legion will be discussed at the first conference of the newly appointed committee on Naval Affairs of the Legion. Edward E. Spafford New York, chairman of the committee has called the conference in Chicago September 20.

In an address formally opening the new quarters of the Holyoke, Mass. post of the American Legion last week General John J. Pershing complimented the Legion for not participating in politics.

Mrs. R. L. Taylor and children of Foard City returned this week from a visit with Mrs. Taylor's parents at Anna, Texas.

Presidential Speeding

Through the means of a national conference the president hopes to secure action that will speed up industry this winter and relieve our six millions of people who are now unemployed.

We commend the action of the president. May his reach be long and his punch hard, to the end that it may bear much fruit.

We trust he will not cease his activity until every man has a job, until every back is well clothed and every larder well filled.

It is inconceivable that in this land of plenty there should be so many who have nothing.

If the president will start the speeding others may lend a hand.

Plant "Dog in the Manger."

Quite a number of plants seem to have developed something very like a consciousness, enabling them to divine the best way of circumventing the encroachments of their neighbors.

A remarkable instance of this is seen in connection with the common bramble, when, as is often the case, it is found straggling over a pile of stones or up against a roughly-built wall. In such circumstances the plant has the power to turn its growing roots into clubbed roots, which completely fill the crevices where soil is to be found, and effectively keep competitors out.

Where Are Our Brains?

Recently the government contracted with England to build a giant dirigible for our navy.

It collapsed on its trial trip and nearly fifty American and English airmen were killed.

Life paid the penalty of faulty construction.

We can understand the ways and the wherefores of faulty construction, but we can not understand why we should have a dirigible built in England at an expense of two million dollars when it could just as well be made here at home.

This sort of thing seems especially aggravating when we think of the five or six millions of men out of employment in this country. It may be true that none of these men could build dirigibles, but the money would be kept in circulation at home, and every little helps.

Are we deteriorating in constructive ability?

Must we admit that England, with the best of her manhood under the sod, is even yet able to construct dirigibles where we can not?

Where are our brains, anyway?

Don't be surprised if England gives in. Don't be surprised if Ireland backs down. Don't be surprised if they compromise. Don't be surprised if they fight it out to a finish. Only the Lord knows what the end will be over there.

... I began using Cardui," continues Mrs. Burnett. "After my first bottle, I slept better and ate better. I took four bottles. Now I'm well, feel just fine, eat and sleep, my skin is clear and I have gained and sure feel that Cardui is the best tonic ever made."

Thousands of other women have found Cardui just as Mrs. Burnett did. It should help you.

Illustrating How Becoming Coat Dresses Are to Large Women

Every line of the Coat Dress is a becoming line to the woman of larger proportions.

The long coat lines you know are slenderizing, and then too, the trimmings are always applied flat.

The tailoring of La Mere dresses is just another point making them desirable for the larger woman. For when a thing is well tailored, there are no bunglesome seams. Everything about it fits well and gives the appearance of extreme gracefulness.

3305—The rounding panel of this dress is an unusual feature. The dress of Coat style is a navy Panama cloth, the braiding of black soutache.

3302—Panama cloth makes the other dress, which also follows coat lines. The braiding is done with black silk braid.

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigarette aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

"I asked her to marry me by talking with my hands like I'd seen the French do. She answered me in German; I understood that much." The romance between a former doughboy of the Rainbow Division and the daughter of a German farmer with whom he was billeted in the Army of Occupation ended in New York last week with the marriage of Everett C. Haughn, Columbus, O., and Fraulein Elsie Bauer, Unkelbach on the Rhine, Germany. Two of the bridegroom's buddies of the American Legion of Columbus attended him at the wedding, one acting as best man. The couple will live in Columbus.

Correspondence by airplane has been instituted between the mayor of Kansas City, Mo., and the mayor of Omaha, Neb., by the American Legion of the former city. Legion of officials flew to Omaha last week with the Kansas City mayor's request to the mayor of Omaha that he board the plane for a flight to the Legion convention at Kansas City October 31. The mayor of Kansas City will fly back with the other mayor to attend the first aero congress in Omaha.

Membership in the American Legion proved its worth to Arnold Hawkinson, Glencoe, Minn., after his automobile was stolen in Minneapolis recently. Shortly after the theft police scrutinized an automobile in which two women had driven to the jail for a visit with a prisoner. Under the seat they found a copy of the American Legion Weekly addressed to Hawkinson. The women were arrested and the automobile returned to its owner.

With handkerchiefs covering their faces as smoke masks, members of Hoboken, N. J., post of the American Legion aided in removing the bodies of 4,700 American soldiers when fire of unknown origin destroyed two of the army base's piers last week.

In the hope that the bodies of Lieut. Charles G. Little, Newburyport, Mass., and Mechanic Lloyd E. Crowell, Charleston, S. C., American Legion members killed when the giant dirigible ZR-2 exploded, will be recovered from the wreckage, the Legion post at London, England, is planning an impressive ceremony in their honor. If the bodies are returned to America similar rites will be observed at the port of New York by the Legion of the city and state.

Arrested and facing detention in jail for violating a traffic ordinance James Anderson, Nashville, Tenn., was passing unhappy moments when his policeman escort noticed his American Legion button. "Here, I'll go your bond, buddy," said he. "I wear the same button." It developed that the men belonged to the same legion post.

With the recent receipt of their state bonus checks, members of the Sturgis, South Dakota, post of the American Legion have pledged $11,000 of their money for the erection of a $25,000 community building which is to have a gymnasium, shower bath, bowling alley, rest room and a dance hall for the entire town.

The third annual reunion of the Thirty-fifth Division, composed of Missouri and National Guard units will be held at Kansas City on the same days as the national convention of the American Legion—Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 and 2.

Favoring the name of a private soldier who gave his life for his country during the world war to that of "some illustrious general," an American Legion post of Minneapolis, Minn., has petitioned the city board of education to name a large new high school there for Cecil Kyle who was working his way through college by selling newspapers and tending cows when he enlisted.

are often at the end of their wits to know where they can have the repair work on their cars properly done—how to avoid the absolute butchery that is so often inflicted upon cars by incompetent persons who hang out a sign and call themselves "motor mechanics."

This garage offers you the opportunity to have your repairs made in the proper manner by mechanics who DO KNOW THEIR BUSINESS and who have long since passed the experimental stage in motor mechanics.

Big Fish in Florida.

Izaak Walton scarcely would believe his eyes if he were to walk through the country near here, according to a telegram from New Smyrna, Fla., and encounter negroes digging live fish from the ground as if they were potatoes, and even persons accustomed to the miracles of this age would look twice and then set out in search of an oculist.

But the mudfish, a queer member of the bony tribe, inhabits streams or ponds which have mud banks or bottoms. The fish is black and weighs up to five or six pounds. When the water in a pond evaporates, as it does during certain seasons of the year, leaving only a mass of mud which on the surface is practically dry, it doesn't worry the fish. They merely burrow into the mud to wait for rain and apparently continue to live as long as the earth is wet. The negroes locate them by exploring the mud with their bare feet.

The fish is edible, but is not a favorite because of its stringy and coarse flesh.

I can tell the "Triple-Sized" wallboard by the name "Cornell" on the edge

BECAUSE I've constructed walls, ceilings and partitions with about every brand of wallboard on the market—and checked the results three or four years later—I've now adopted the rule of picking out Cornell-Wood-Board for every job. I find that Cornell doesn't warp or buckle because it is "Triple-Sized."

Every man and woman I've worked for admires Cornell's handsome "Oatmeal" finish.

My painter friends say that Cornell's "Mill-Primed" surface takes a perfect spread of paint or calcimine without priming. So they always figure to paint a Cornell job for less.

For repairing and remodeling, as well as new construction, Cornell is the ideal board. You can tell the genuine by the name on the edge.

Cornell comes in neat dustproof packages of 10 panels each, carefully protected by strong Cornell-made "Jute"; eight lengths from 6 to 16 feet; two widths, "Cornell 32" for small rooms, "Cornell 48" for large rooms.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

GOOD MANNERS.

A WISE Italian says that you can tell how civilized people are by the way that they behave in the street. He adds that if a man is considerate of his neighbor it shows that he has a proper respect for himself.

If a French peasant brushes against a stranger in the street or on the road, he touches his hat in apology. This sensitiveness to the rights of others is not found everywhere else in the world.

In fact, the tendency to hustle and bustle, to push others out of the way, has been growing of late nearly everywhere.

Gilbert Francon, the novelist, is so irritated by what he calls the bad manners of the day that he regrets the good old days when everybody carried some sort of weapon and was ready to use it, if offended.

Undoubtedly a man with a sword who was not inclined to fight would be careful about knocking against another who was similarly armed.

The Chinese have a proverb that "The fear of death is the beginning of discipline."

If this is true, there must be something in the theory that when people gave up wearing rapiers and pistols, they became undisciplined and careless.

In the same way, though the use of arms tended to cheapen human life and to encourage bragging and bullying, dueling and brawling, it also had an effect on manners.

In the wild Western "movies" politeness and "guns" go together and, as a row is settled offhand, without waiting for the sheriff with his star, everybody is very careful not to "start anything."

If a man may be insolent, selfish or unchivalrous without running any personal risk, there is a chance that he may go through life like a bull in a china shop.

But when everybody attended to his own quarrels, it was overdone, and false standards of "honor" were set up as in the case of dueling customs of certain European armies.

It is probably better to rely on the policeman and the law when we suffer an injury.

On the other hand, it is pointed out by Mr. Francon and the like that the law is a cannon that it takes many months to load.

Besides, the law does not bother about trifles, such as somebody's feelings. Actual injury must be shown.

Good manners may be a trifle. But they have a lot to do with happiness. And happiness is no trifle.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE JOYS WE SHARE.

THIS makes the songs of night so sweet: They are not here before your feet

But over yonder; over hills You hear the evening whip-poor-wills Their notes melodious, their trills, Repeat.

The unseen singers sweeter far Than caged companions always are: They do not sing for you, for me, They sing for all humanity— They are a part of grass, of tree, Of star.

And so in life, the pleasures there Are greatest common everywhere. We ask so much for our own ease, We seek so much so much to please, Yet find our greatest joys in these We share.

We must tear down the selfish wall; Our song must be a comrade call. Alone no happiness is had— Each day will be increasing glad If something to the joy we add Of all.

CONVERSE WITH THEIR TAILS

Student of Natural History Writes of His Observations of Dogs and Other Animals.

Any who have seen a pack of wolves in full cry must have noticed the eager waving of their tails, evidently to enable the pack to keep together, and possibly for purposes of mutual encouragement. Fire a bullet into one of the leaders and see how quickly all the flags are drooped, and the creatures get out of the way, each for himself. If you notice, the fox, who has a magnificent tail, does not raise it aloft at all. He is a solitary hunter and uses his brush chiefly for a muffler, to keep his feet and nose warm. But your dog does a good deal of his talking with his tail. You can follow his very thoughts—dogs do think, you know!—by watching his tail. Just as I have carried on long and useful conversations with occasional Indians of strange tongues by observing the movements of face, shoulders and hands, I have an idea that animals were intended to communicate with each other mainly by using their tails. The vertebrae through which the brain projects much of its direction and knowledge extends to the tip of the tail. The tail is, therefore, in direct and constant contact with the controlling power of the animal.—Montreal Family Herald.

VARYING FORMS OF CURRENCY

In Many Parts of the World the Use of Gold and Silver Is Practically Unknown.

In odd corners of the world many queer things are used as money.

In China you may find in circulation lumps of gold or silver bearing marks which show that they were first issued hundreds of years ago. In shape they are square oval or oblong, and they weigh anything up to 1½ pounds. The Chinese also use small strips of brass or copper, some of which are worth less than a hundredth of a penny. Some of the Mongol tribes pay their bills with little cubes of compressed tea.

In Burma one finds the cowrie shell used as money, while little porcelain coins take the place of halfpence. The inhabitants of some of the districts bordering the Persian gulf do their buying and selling with fishhooks of various sizes.

Africa provides a weird assortment. Beads, elephant tusks and spear heads are all used as coins.

In Oceania flint axes are the most common means of exchange, but we find considerable use made of parrots' feathers woven into ropes. The real wild red Indian hardly exists now, but in a few remote countries, such as Alaska, he is still to be found using his shell money.

Perquisites.

"There are very few perquisites nowadays."

"I'm glad of it," replied Senator Sorghum. "Perquisites in the old days were regarded by too many penurious people as an excuse for holding a public servant down to an inadequate salary."

Marriage is a lottery only where one side draws all the prizes.

And still, when a frenzied financier gets caught it is but natural that he should become frenzied.

Stunning New Coats for Autumn Wear

We Have Been Guided in Our Selection of These Models by Careful Consideration of What America's Fashion Experts Have Decried as Leading Styles for Fall.

Our message of today is one of assurance. We want to reassert to every woman in this community our sincerity and diligence in getting ready for your inspection these authentic fall modes.

That they are authentic is vouched for by the words of the foremost fashion experts. You will find the latest lines and styles in these coats that are pictured. In addition we invite you to make a careful inspection of the other styles now on display here.

Seeing is believing and we feel sure you will agree, after you have beheld them, that you must pick out your new fall coat from our selection.

Every coat has been selected with more than a little thought. Each model is an example of the newest in fashions for women. The touch of authority is on each in their approval by experts.

Here, then, are styles which not only are correct in style, but which are out of the ordinary, even for this season of unusual garments. You will take a liking to them on sight. Why wait longer before making your selection from the offerings so carefully gathered?

Come in and let us show you how beautiful are the stunning models illustrated on this page. Then give us your verdict. You'll find we're right.

The Wraps Illustrated Above Are Described Here

We're glad the artist shows you the back of the coat at the left, because it speaks so well for itself. The strap with two buttons catches the loose pleats at the waist. The belt crosses in front and buttons on each side. There's a yoke in the back and deep, well-handled pockets. The wrap is of velour, half-lined.

$27.50

The velour coat in the center seems to be a stunning case of button, button, who's got the button, only we see where a good many of them have gone. You can tell for yourself how the collar fastens. In the back it ends with a silk tassel, while the belt goes it one better and has two tassels.

$27.50

The velour model at the right is not to be outdoors by the one at the left, and the wearer calmly turns her back also. Much to our delight for who would miss such a charming view as the? Red and blue buttons trim this coat, and the simulated buttonholes are in red also. What a stir somebody will make with it!

Lucky Kid.
 Bud was brought to the barbers every week to have his hopped hair trimmed. This always was a terrible ordeal for him. One day he was called into his mother's room to see the new baby. After making a mental note of the fact that its head was bald, he said enviously: "Gee, my baby sister won't have to go to a barber."

THE RIGHT THING AT THE RIGHT TIME

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

GIFTS FOR THE BRIDE

Never do a thing concerning the rectitude of which we are in doubt—Play the Younger.

REMEMBER that wedding gifts are always sent addressed to the bride-to-be even though you may never have met her and you are a friend only of the bridegroom-to-be. If you receive invitations to the wedding or know of it before it occurs then the gift should always be sent before the ceremony and the present addressed in the bride's maiden name.

Silver and other articles to be marked with an initial should bear the first letter of the bride's maiden name, usually. There are, however, some young women who prefer to follow the continental European fashion and have their silver, etc., marked with their married initial. If you know this to be the case have your gift marked in this way.

If you do not know of the marriage until after it has occurred the gift should still be sent to the bride only, but it should of course be addressed to her married name.

A wedding gift may be something personal for the bride or something that is for both bride and groom as an article of household decoration or furnishing. It should never be something that is especially suitable for the bridegroom, as for instance, a smoking stand.

The understanding usually is that if you receive invitations simply to the wedding ceremony at the church no present is due, but that if you are invited to the house to the wedding or a wedding reception a present is in order. Now, it is never in reality bad form not to send a wedding present if you do not feel able or if you do not think enough about the persons from whom the invitation is received to wish to do so. If you do not send a present however, simply through indifference then do not attend the wedding party but write timely regrets.

Even though you are not invited to the house or in fact are not invited to the wedding at all, if the one named is a dear friend you are quite right sending a present if you wish to do so. In order not to give the bride something that she would not care for is permissible to make inquiries concerning her wishes on the subject. It is better, perhaps, to make such inquiries through a third person and not to ask the bride personally, but rather sister or close friend.

It is customary for the bridegroom to give the bride a present of some sort of jewelry on the occasion of the wedding, but this is by no means essential. The bride sometimes makes the bridegroom a present of jewelry at this time, but this is even less essential. In Persia the bridegroom gives the bride-to-be a present of two complete dresses, a ring and a mirror. In our own country the bridegroom never makes the bride a present of any part of her trousseau and, though he may give her jewelry that she wears on her wedding dress and her bouquet, he must supply no other part of her bridal array.
