GOV. PROCLAIMS NOV. 11 HOLIDAY

Austin, Texas, Oct. 18.—Governor Hobby today issued the following proclamation:

"It needs no reminder from the executive office to turn the hearts and minds of the people of this State to Tuesday, Nov. 11, 1919, the first anniversary of the day upon which became effective the armistice agreed upon by the contenders in the great world war.

"About every hearthstone in this State gathered those whose daily prayers were for the speedy end of the arms of all nations which America was associated, and for safe return of our citizen soldiery who had journeyed overseas to break the power, destroy the will and humble the pride of that military machine which sought to put every nation in subjection. For more than three years we had witnessed an unequal contest. Combined armies of allied nations were giving way to the advance of the invader, and the fortunes of war did not turn until the flower of American manhood, supported by the spirit of American womanhood, had joined the conflict. From the hour of the first American drive, the tide of battle turned and one victory followed another in such succession that the enemy welcomed the opportunity to sign the agreement that would be followed by the order to cease firing."

"The Imperial State of Texas gave of her men and her women, her wealth and her products; consecrated her soil to Government purpose and shared with every other State in the sacrifice of those necessary to maintain those who had joined the greatest overseas expedition that ever set afloat.

Sons Sleep on Flanders Field
"Imperial Texas had her part in the great world war, and her sons now sleep on Flanders Field, martyrs to the noblest crusade upon which a people ever moved. We are to the sacred dead and every thought is a memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice. We honor those who have returned to us and we make places for them in social, industrial and public life, counting it a privilege to serve them.

"It is fitting that we take notice of the anniversary to which I have called attention; it is fitting that we who have passed through the agonizing hours of the conflict should make this first anniversary such an event that will inspire those who are to follow us and who will learn the story as it is handed to them, to forever give it proper observance, that the memory of the victory for world peace will be imperishable. It is our privilege to celebrate the anniversary of that which we in person devoutly wished. It will be posterity's duty to perpetuate an historic event. Let therefore, every heart beat in unison with this patriotic and joyful purpose, and every soul enter into the State wide spirit in full accord.

Proclaims Nov. 11 Holiday

"Now, therefore, I, W. P. Hobby, Governor of the State of Texas, by virtue of the authority vested in me do proclaim Tuesday, Nov. 11, 1919, a holiday. The Mayor of each municipal corporation is requested to issue his proclamation in accordance herewith. I request all patriotic societies, all religious denominations, and associations of men and women who are banded together for the weal of the commonwealth, to unite for local demonstrations and exercises befitting this greatest historical day that has come to the people of the world; and to give thanks to the omnipotent ruler of the universe for the answer he gave to the prayers of our people and pay a tribute to the men of America who bore themselves with such bravery and courage and success under the flags of the allied forces.

"W. P. HOBBY,
"Governor of Texas."

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED IN SCHOOL

The Crowell school has organized an Athletic Association for the purpose of promoting athletics in the Crowell school.

The organization is under the direction of the school and every effort will be made to make it a help to both the individual students and the school. The desire is to develop a good strong healthy school spirit and hence make school work more attractive to all. It is needless to enter into a discussion of the merits of such a move. It has long since been conceded by all prominent educators and teachers that good clean athletics have a permanent place in the development of the youth.

Later on there will be some inter-class contests in both athletic and literary work.

In all match games only students who have made passing grades will be permitted to represent the school.
D. W. COCK, Supt.

DELIVERY CAR SMASHED

Massie-Vernon's delivery car was put out of commission Monday when J. H. Carter ran into it with his car. Dink Woods, who delivers for Massie-Vernon was going north on Main Street and Mr. Carter was coming south. Something attracted the attention of Mr. Carter, some say it was a Salvation Army banjo player and preacher, and turning his head he allowed his car to swerve out of his prescribed bounds. The right hand wheel of the delivery car was completely smashed and a bottle of vinegar broken.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

President Poincare of France signs demobilization order. The "cessation of hostilities" in France was formally marked yesterday by the signing of the document ratifying the peace treaty by the President of the French Republic. While no official announcement has been made of the ending of the state of war it is provided that the signing of the document by the President is to have the effect of an official announcement. There were many celebrations of rejoicing throughout the country in honor of the event.

New Bulgarian Cabinet to Sign Treaty. It has been stated that the new Cabinet formed at Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria, was constructed with the express purpose of securing a personnel that would ratify the peace treaty. The Cabinet is headed by M. Stambolisky, leader of the peasants and agrarians.

German Activities in Baltic Provinces Continue. A dispatch from the Lithuanian Foreign Office states that the Germans are attacking the unfortified town with trench mortars and says further that "great damage has been done to quays and the harbor and there have been many civilian casualties." Nevertheless the reports state that the Letts are defending their positions against the attacking Germans with great courage. There is considerable bitterness among the Estonians, Letts and the inhabitants of the other Baltic provinces who have insisted on an armistice last July. Had it not been for that, these people say, the Germans would have been defeated long ago.

Poincaré Resolution Asks Why Agitators Are Not Deported. Recently Senator Poincaré offered a resolution in the Senate asking why those foreigners who during the past few weeks have been openly preaching sedition have not been deported from the country. The resolution calls upon the Attorney General to advise and inform the Senate why the Department of Justice has failed to take legal proceedings for the arrest and deportation of aliens who have, within the United States, committed the acts aforesaid, said acts being the preaching of sedition, and the advocating of unlawful restriction of public and private property.

Proposed Air Route from New York to Cuba. The Aero Club of America and the Aerial League of America have announced an air route from New York to Cuba. The enterprise is to be backed by a wealthy Cuban business man, Hammiba E. Desiderio, who has just arrived in New York. The service, which will be both for passengers and express matter, is to be begun immediately, stops being made at Miami, Palm Beach and Jacksonville. Mr. Desiderio said that finding it impossible to get immediate delivery of American airplanes, he went to France and purchased two sixteen-passenger and four three-passenger Farman type bi-planes, which will arrive in New York by November 1.

Wants Chamber of Commerce of the World. Eugene Schneider, head of the Creusot Iron Works of France, who is here to attend the International Trade Conference at Atlantic City, said that he hoped to see the establishment of an international business organization, not unlike a World Chamber of Commerce. At any rate, M. Schneider said, he hoped to see the creation of some kind of permanent organization that will bring the business and trade elements in France and America into very close relationship.

U. S. Agents Arrests May Day Bomber. According to a police report Anton Gorski, a Gary radical leader, has admitted that he placed the bomb in the Chicago post office and that he mailed the infernal machines to industrial and political leaders on May day and has been arrested by U. S. Agents. Information coming from other sources has, it is said, prompted the War Department to send soldiers to abandoned cantonments to check a reported movement of anarchists to destroy all buildings and property at such places.

Gompers Has Nervous Prostration. A late dispatch from Washington states that Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, is today suffering from a nervous breakdown, has a temperature of 101 and is confined to his bed.

15,000 Striking New York Pier Men Return to Work. There has been a sudden and unexpected termination of the longshoremen strike in New York City and the men are returning to work in large numbers. This happy ending of the controversy wipes out the possibility of a food and fuel famine in Greater New York. John F. Riley, chairman of the strike committee, predicts that within twenty-four hours the entire number of strikers aggregating about 50,000, will be "on the job."

The Chilean Cabinet Has Resigned. A dispatch from Santiago, Chile, states that the coalition cabinet formed on September 25 has resigned. The purpose of the cabinet leaving office is said to be to allow the dissenting Liberals to reunite with the Liberals, Radicals and Democrats in reconstructing a party alliance capable of carrying on the Government.

Italian League Delegate Has Been Appointed. Word comes from Rome that Foreign Minister Tittoni will represent Italy in the Council of the League of Nations.

MRS. NORWOOD BETTER

Friends of Mrs. H. W. Norwood will be glad to learn that she is slightly better. She is ill at her home on West Paradise street with typhoid fever.—Vernon Record.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. Home Service.

One of the finest constructive activities of the American Red Cross in the United States, the friendly connecting link between the soldier far from home and his loved ones. This branch of the work which under the peace program of the Red Cross will be expanded to benefit all who need the assistance it can provide, is directed by scientifically trained social workers. Since instituted Home Service has assisted 800,000 soldiers' and sailors' families. This photograph shows one of the innumerable Home Service information bureaus where service men and their families could bring their problems for solution.

STATE NEWS

Tom Green County reports a crop valuation of $9,000,000. One-third of the amount consists of cotton.

Captain Charles Theodor, a local flyer of Dallas, fell 500 feet from a plane Sunday while performing stunts. The accident was witnessed by a large crowd of people.

Bell County has had 52 inches of rain in the last 13 months. It is said that it has not failed to rain in that county some time in every month since the armistice.

A fleet of 72 large Liberty army motor trucks, loaded with roadster and touring cars from Camp Bowie to Camp Norrville, near San Antonio, were mudbattled at Temple for a week, owing to continued rains and bad roads.

Land which recently sold for $175 per acre in Denton County is said to have sold for $5.00 per acre in 1884. That means an increase of 3,400 per cent in 35 years, or an average annual increase of nearly 100 per cent over the original worth.

While Sergeant Luther E. Wilson of Hale County was with the American forces in France he met a French orphan boy, Gaston Loirdan, at Lille, France. The lad was so impressed with the American soldier that he followed him home, arriving in Hale County recently. He will make his home with Wilson on the farm. His mother died before the war, his father enlisted in the French army and was killed and the old home was destroyed by German shells.

A movement for the purchase of the Orient Railroad grade from San Angelo to Sonora has been started by Sonora people with a view to laying a light track upon it and operating motor trucks with trailers geared to the track with flanged wheels. Sonora, which is seventy-two miles from San Angelo, is at present impassable in rainy weather. The Orient grade was completed some years ago, but rails were laid only a short distance out of San Angelo.

THE COTTON MARKET DAILY

Arrangements have been made whereby Crowell will get the daily cotton market of the world and it will be put on a bulletin board between Massie-Vernon's grocery store and Ferguson's drug store. This will give the Liverpool opening and the New York and New Orleans opening early in the morning. Then about every hour in the day reports will come in, and will be put on the board, so that any farmer may keep posted on the market of the world.

This is being done at an expense of $18.50 per month, which is paid for by some of the buyers and the gins, and will furnish all the information the farmers may want relative to the price of cotton, and no one need be ignorant of the market.

FIRST LYCEUM NUMBER

A large crowd assembled at the opera house Saturday night to greet the performers of the first Lyceum number which consisted of Mr. Skybinski, violinist, and two ladies, one a singer and the other a pianist. Mr. Skybinski, the violinist, was indeed an artist and although he gave a strictly classical program, he pleased the large audience with his many splendid selections. The young ladies were also very good.

No one scarcely realized until it was announced at the conclusion of the program, that this company were substitutes for the Fillions who failed to come on account of sickness.

PROF. B. R. BLANKENSHIP DEAD

Prof. B. Blankenship died at his home in El Paso on October 14, following a long illness.

The account of his death will be a matter of interest to many of the readers of the News, especially to all old-timers. He was the first teacher in the Crowell schools after the town was organized, teaching from 1891 until 1897, inclusive. He was later president of the Clarendon College, and then again in 1905 served as superintendent of the Crowell Schools.

His period of school work here embracing the time from 1881 to 1897 is remembered as college days by many of the middle-aged men and women of this county, for the work was of a high order, the curriculum said to be in line with those of higher institutions of learning. The building, known as the "college," was built by the issuing of stock to be taken up in tuition, so the building was thus constructed and owned by Prof. Blankenship. The school was maintained by the public school money and by tuition paid by others than stockholders.

After his school work in the West he went to San Marcos, where he engaged in newspaper work for a time. This was a work which was not at that time entirely new to him, for he had an interest in the Foard County News while in Crowell, together with J. W. Beverly, the two together nursing the infant enterprise through its pioneer days for the good they expected it to be to the community, and not as a revenue producing proposition.

Just how long Mr. Blankenship was at El Paso we do not know, but it is our information that being afflicted with tuberculosis, he went there and lived some years in the hope that he might recover.

Mr. Blankenship was a highly educated man, having completed his course at Bell Buckle, Tenn., and later continuing his studies at the State University of Mississippi, his native state. He was a good and useful citizen as long as his health would permit of active life, and the loss of health and his ultimate death are a source of regret to his many friends here.

SHOT AT ROAD CAMP

An occurrence very much to be regretted was that of a shooting at the road camp Friday morning, in which J. E. Kirkes sustained wounds in both legs below the knees by a bullet from an automatic in the hands of Contractor Stovall. Reports leading up to the shooting are not confined in detail, but the trouble seemed to have been over the matter of paying for some work clothes which Mr. Stovall had bought for Mr. Kirkes. Whether there was a demand to that effect by Mr. Stovall and a refusal by Mr. Kirkes we do not know. We can only say that there seems to have been some disagreement somehow over the clothes proposition. Mr. Kirkes had only recently come in from down about Denison to work and had no clothes with him, and Mr. Stovall bought him some. This much of the report seems to be well confirmed, and as stated above the trouble in some way related to the clothes.

The wounded man is at the sanitarium and is reported to be doing as well as could be expected, though he suffers quite a good deal. Stovall is under $5,000 bond.

A FORMER INSURRECTO

According to news from the Philippine Islands Emilio Aguinaldo leader of an insurrecto, like both Snuts and the leaders of a revolt against a foreign country, he, like them, accepted the inevitable, and became a success. If Germany had conquered Aguinaldo he would have been shot; as it was he has developed into a capable leader and a good citizen.

SENIORS PLANNING FOR YEAR BOOK

The seniors are planning to get out a year book and have taken up the matter of printing with the News. They plan to make the book one of about 100 pages, carrying many cuts of pupils, school building, etc. They have already figured on the printing and will take up the matter of cuts at once.

This will be well worth the cost to the school as an advertisement and will stimulate home pride in our school, which itself is of inestimable value.

EXCHANGE NEWS

Locations have been made by a New York company for the drilling of two more wells in Donley County. They will commence to drill in about 60 days.

FOR YEAR BOOK

The News hopes to be in position to announce definitely at an early date the success of the enterprise of the seniors.

NOTICE TO SOLDIER BOYS

If any of the boys who served in the late war, either volunteer or selective draft, who have not received a blank "State of Texas War Record," together with invitation to attend the celebration to be held at Crowell on Nov. 11th next will let me know and I will send them one. We are anxious for all of them to get these reports, and to be here on that day.
J. G. WITHERSPOON, Sec'y.

FARMERS PAY $3 A 100 FOR PICKING

Our information is that the farmers of Foard County started in to paying $2.00 per hundred for cotton picking when the season opened, while in most of the other counties around they paid $1.50 per hundred. Some of the farmers of this county now are offering $3.00 per hundred.

This is an opportunity for those who want to make an honest support for their families and who have no other means of doing so. It is also an opportunity for young men, who want to make money enough to get a start in some kind of business or who want to make some spending money. Never was there a better opportunity for the laboring man than there is today. But he must not abuse his opportunity by holding out for still higher wages.

WITH OUR READERS

"Uncle" Joe Johnson starts the News to his son, Bax, who is at Austin in the State University taking a literary course.

J. A. Whitfield of route 2 wants the paper for another year and orders it to continue. Jesse is putting in another wheat crop but can not say how much he will get in. He will plow and sow as long as he thinks it is advisable. He already has quite a bit of his land prepared.

J. L. Critz wants the News as long as he remains in Foard County, at least. He says he expects to go away about the first of the year. Mr. Critz has been a regular reader of the paper for about a year, and he thinks he will want it when he leaves.

H. L. Shultz makes sure he will not need to worry about his subscription to the News any more. He has moved to the Margaret community.

Mrs. E. T. Kirkman had overlooked her subscription for a short time, but when she discovered her time was out she hastened to the News office and renewed.

B. J. Glover sends the News to A. F. Barkley at Hansford, Texas. Mr. Glover says Barkley wants the paper but when he reads it it makes him homesick. "Al," as he is familiarly called here, spent many years at Crowell and every one who knew him is his friend. Mr. Glover says he expects a visit from him and his family before a great while.

Dr. M. M. Hart has the paper sent to his son, Arch, who is in school at Clarendon College. He is one of about seven from Foard County who are attending the school at Clarendon, and we are expecting them all to make good records.

Mrs. J. M. Clifford called up the News Wednesday and ordered the News sent to her daughter, Miss Veda, who is in Clarendon College. Miss Veda completed the course here last year and is now taking the course in Clarendon College.

M. R. Shirley gave us $1.50 yesterday and said send me the paper at Clarendon, Texas. We were a little surprised to know that he was going to Houston, not that it is too far away from home, but we just thought he was a permanent fixture here as long as he lives. He and Mrs. Shirley will spend the winter there. Mrs. Shirley left yesterday and Mr. Shirley expects to go in about a week. Their son, Frank, lives in Houston and owns a studio. It will be a pleasant place for them, no doubt, this winter.

ELECT OFFICERS

The Crowell High School classes met October 22 and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Miss Seniors: John Kassar, Pres.; Ruth Elliott, Vice Pres.; Mabel Pittillo, Sec.-Treas.; Milburn Hart, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Juniors: Gordon Bell, President; Annie Sanders, Vice Pres.; Glynn Brian, Sec.-Treas.; Oberia Hamblin, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Freshmen: George Cates, Pres.; Jewell Kenner, Vice Pres.; Bernice Long, Secretary; Lillian B. Whites, Treasurer.

THE ISLAND OF YAP

The little island of Yap, in the Pacific, has loomed up as an international question, when the President brought out the fact that it was a cable center and that our naval authorities are anxious to secure it.

Yap is the center of a cable system owned by Germans and would be an integral part of an American cable system, from a strategical standpoint. At present the island is held by the Japanese, who took it from the Germans during the war.

SAMPLE OF MEDALS

The bronze medals to be presented to the soldiers of which we made mention last week will be ready for distribution November 11.

A sample can be seen at Ferguson Bros. drug store. The cost will be about $1.50 each. A part of the inscription on each will be: "Presented by the People of Foard County, Tex." It is intended that everybody shall have a chance to contribute to the fund to pay for these medals.

Cotton went to 40 cents this week on the local market, the highest ever known here.

PLAINVIEW POINTERS
(By Special Correspondent)

George Reeves made a trip to Knox County last week.

Lee Jordan has sold 200 acres of his land to Jop Hanes.

Charlie Gray has been on the sick list this week with a severe cold.

Grandma Scales has been spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Coffman.

Tucker Matthis returned Saturday night to get his car and left Sunday for his home.

We can hear the thunder roll this morning which is not a very good sign of dry weather.

John Adkins, Robert Deerington and Joe Jordan left last week for Eastern points to get hands to gather their crops.

Wallace Scales made a business trip to Crowell Saturday. He brought back a load for the Kayland school building.

We noticed several bales of cotton pass going to the Thalia gin which shows that some of our farmers have not been idle.

Dr. Fike, a veterinary from Vernon, was called to Luther Warris' Sunday to see a horse of Mr. Gray's which had the blind staggers. Mr. Gray has lost three horses in a short time with the same disease.

Mrs. Huntley returned home Wednesday from a month's stay with her son, Joe, at Knox City. His wife and children returned home with her to spend a few days while Joe is away from home hunting hands.

FOARD CITY ITEMS
(By Special Correspondent)

Dick Crosnoe was in our community Sunday.

Several of our people were in Crowell Saturday.

We have another case of diphtheria in our community.

Wade Fox attended preaching here Sunday afternoon.

The farmers are all busy sowing wheat and picking cotton.

Hartley Easley and Faye Barry were in our community Sunday.

Miss Leah Jones is light house keeping with Mrs. Claud Barry.

A. P. Barry and family spent Sunday with their son, Claud, and wife.

Unas Dode, Eva Blakemore and sisters attended Sunday School Sunday.

There was preaching Sunday by Bro Hamblen of Crowell. A very large crowd was present.

Sunday School every Sunday.

U. C. Rader went to Crowell Monday with a bale of cotton.

MARGARET MUSINGS
(By Special Correspondent)

Mrs. Bond of Margaret has been quite sick for several days but is improving.

A few days without rain has gotten the land in condition so that the people are gathering crops and planting wheat.

We saw Mr. Bradford with two colored men, two colored women and a bunch of picaninies who came by train to pick his cotton.

Much damage has resulted from the recent rains both to cotton and feed-stuff and the cost of labor is so high that maize is not worth gathering.

Miss Lybia Belle Ferebee was here last week. She said she was keeping her eye on Fred and also keeping a line on other boys if Fred fell down.

The roads and bridges are in a deplorable condition and farmers have had to ford creeks to get their wheat to market and are now bogging down getting their cotton to the gin.

Mrs. Wesley has been confined to her bed for several days and is still unable to be up. She celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday on the 19 inst. but could not enjoy the occasion.

Farms are in great demand and some selling but the farmer who gets $100 worth of cotton from one acre of ground does not care to sell the land for forty or fifty dollars per acre.

Our worst trouble is the fuel shortage and we fear that people will suffer when cold weather comes. We have three cars of coal somewhere on the road, two of them past due, but none on hand at this time.

Cotton pickers are having things their own way. They began at one dollar and fifty per hundred and have pushed the price to three dollars per hundred. A good picker makes from nine to fifteen dollars per day.

We have a young man here who makes a practice of bogging down every time he takes his girl out motoring. Her pa says he intends to follow them with a pair of mules to pull them out for he can't afford to have his girl keeping such late hours.

There is much said and done about building roads leading from one town to another which are useful for pleasure seekers, auto speedsters, etc., but the farmer who pays the bill and does not happen to live on one of these highways gets no benefit for there are no appropriations for rural roads.

We have a car of bridge lumber that has lain here all summer. It has been loaned to wheat buyers to build grain bins, and loaned again to cotton seed buyers to make seed pens, and yet there is not a safe bridge in this vicinity and many are impassable.

Our gin is doing fine work but has been working under difficulties. The high water filled their well with mud and the Jim Gilliam whistle failed to blow for several days but at present they are running regularly and one old nester after another comes riding out with a $200 bale of cotton which will buy enough of groceries to last a week.

We wish to thank the ladies who have called upon Mrs. Wesley during her illness, especially those who brought good things to eat. Her appetite is not good and we could not afford to see good victuals wasted. Please continue bringing good things for we are not very proficient in cooking.

NEGLECTED SUBJECTS
Sometimes, a subscriber says, "I wonder why you don't comment editorially on" this or that.

Lot of times these people want the editor to criticize something, or grab at one of the mental chestnuts in the fire of adverse discussion.

Occasionally, the person is sincere, and would like to know exactly what is thought upon this or that subject. Some questions perplex the reader and he really seeks all the information possible upon the subject.

This newspaper is open for its readers. It will be glad to print their views upon various subjects, as long as this is not personal nor abused. If you are interested in a subject, start the people to thinking about it by calling it to their attention. Write your letter to the editor, and it will be printed.

Interchange of views is always profitable. If you have thoughts that you think would be interesting, put them on paper and mail them to us. There are probably others who would be interested in your opinion on the subject.

For the Bowels

Probably nothing has more influence upon the general health than the condition of the bowels. We honestly believe that are the best bowel remedy ever made--the most pleasant to take, the most permanently beneficial for relief from the misery and dangers arising from constipation.

Rexall Orderlies taste just like candy. Soothing and easy in action, they do not cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They tend to tone and strengthen intestinal nerves and muscles and to promote better spirits and better health. In all these things Rexall Orderlies are vastly superior to old-fashioned, harsh salts and other purgatives, which are not only unpleasant to take, but which usually leave the bowels in worse condition than before. We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children and aged persons.

In vest pocket tin boxes--8 tablets 10 cents; 24 tablets, 25 cents; 60 tablets, 50 cents.

A Good Grain Drill Will Pay Big Dividends

The advantages of drill seeding over broadcasting are fast becoming admitted. No matter what kind of seed is to be sowed, the drill shows by far the larger returns. Broadcasting is wasteful and subject to failure from the start.

In recent tests made at various experiment stations throughout the country the drill-sowed field showed an average increase of from four to six bushels per acre over the field sowed broadcast. In some instances where weather and soil conditions were unfavorable, the field sowed by drill yielded as high as ten bushels more per acre.

And farmers experienced with drills say that there is nearly as much difference in results obtained with different types of drills as there is between drilling and broadcasting.

Kentucky drills have the various types of furrow openers necessary to do the right kind of work in any kind of soil, and feeds that can be regulated for just the correct amount of seed per acre. They can be had in any size you desire from a five to twenty-four marker.

Bag a few more bushels from each acre of grain this year. A Kentucky drill will help you do it.

DESERVED TO SAVE PUPPIES

Shrewd Old Mother Coyote Wasted No Time Trying to Get Them Out of the Sack.

The coyote is unpopular both among human beings and among its fellow animals; but the coyote is very intelligent as well as unpopular, evidently sharing these peculiarities with the fox.

Two young men who lived near Garfield, in the state of Washington—Mathews and Babcock by name—were plowing one spring when they came upon a family of three young coyotes. They took possession of the little creatures; and meantime the old coyotes, the little ones' parents, kept hovering about in an unpleasant way.

By and by, to get rid of them, Mathews went to his house, got his brother Henry, a gun and a gunny-sack. The little coyotes were put into the sack, which was then securely tied at the mouth. The old coyotes now disappeared, but in the hope of luring them so near that he could get a shot at them Mathews went to following the plowmen about the field, leaving at the end the bag with the little ones. Two or three times the party went around the field; but although the old coyotes were seen they kept at a safe distance.

But soon as the plowmen and the gunner came around toward the place where they had left the sack they saw a strange sight; it was the old mother coyote, with the sack in her mouth, making off over the hill at full speed.

Henry fired at her, but without effect. She made good her escape with her puppies tied up in the sack, and doubtless she had no difficulty in ripping the bag open and liberating the young ones as soon as she reached a safe place.

If she had been so foolish as to attempt to open the sack before picking up the puppies she would certainly have lost the young ones and her life.

BRINGS WONDERFUL PRESCRIPTION TO ALL ECZEMA SUFFERERS

Zemmerine, the latest scientific prescription for the treatment of eczema, itch, and similar skin diseases, is now sold in leading drug stores. Until recently it was the guarded formula of a great physician, and men have paid a higher price for the treatment, but now it is within the reach of every sufferer.

It's time to say goodbye to inflamed and burning skin! Farewell to irritating and unpleasant sores, blotches, and blots which mar your face and make you so uncomfortable. Zemmerine can give you relief as it has others. Give it a trial under our guarantee, your money back if it fails to benefit you.

Simple directions accompany each bottle. Sold in two sizes, 50 cents and $1. Start today and learn what relief means. If your druggist can't supply you, the Zemmerine Chemical Co., Orangeburg, S. C., will send you a bottle prepaid upon receipt of the price.

COTTON PICKING AND SELLING

The prices paid for cotton picking have varied widely over the state. In West Texas these range all the way from $1.50 to $3.00 per hundred, and now we see even at Bonham they are offering as high as $3.00. There are two causes for this high wage in East Texas—the bad weather that has delayed picking and the increase in price of staple. Evidently where farmers are offering $3.00 per hundred for picking they figure that they can afford to pay it while cotton is selling around 40 cents per pound. At first glance it appears that such a wage is out of reason, but when we come to look at the proposition more closely it does not appear so. Suppose we figure 100 pounds of cotton to make a 500-pound bale, and at $3.00 per 100 it costs $48 to pick the bale. The farmer sells the bale for $200, not figuring the seed, so he clears practically $150 on the lint. Suppose he is getting 15 cents for his cotton and pays $1.00 per 100 for picking, he clears about $60 on the lint. In neither case have we figured the cost of ginning, which would not materially change the proportion.

Then one must figure from the standpoint of the laborer. High priced cotton means that he must pay more for clothing and most of these have no cotton to sell. He will pay three times as much for his next clothing as he did when cotton was 15 cents per pound and cotton picking was $1.00.

So after all, the law of supply and demand come in to adjust local conditions about as equitably as it can be done. It did not work so well in the case of the last wheat crop, but the government interfered by encouraging abnormal production and then fixing the price at figures that made wheat growing less profitable than cotton is now proving to be, even at the high price of picking.

The whole proposition is one of cheap money value. It has an inflated value and consequently a deceptive power. The farmer does not get what he thinks he does for his cotton. Neither does the picker receive the wages the big rolls of green would indicate. Its buying power is impaired. Bread is just bread like it used to be and cloth is just cloth, and shoes are just shoes, and out of all these one can get only the same service he could always get. Their value is not changed in the least, but it takes more money to get them. The same is true with labor. It's just like it always has been—just labor, no better, no worse; no cheaper, no higher, but it takes more cheap money to buy it than a few years ago.

OWNERSHIP OF THE AIR

In theory the ownership of land carries with it the doctrine of "the sky is the limit," being a very free meaning of the phrase. The advent of the flying machine has caused new interests to arouse, and the question has been raised, and will press for solution, as to how high does the landowner own above his land.

A strict observance of the old doctrine would give to a land owner the right to prohibit flying over his land. This would kill aviation. The owner of the land, however, can speak of certain obvious dangers to which such flying puts him and his. A heavy wrench or a sandbag, dropped from on high might make a careless connection with livestock. It might smash into a house. It might kill a man. Is the aviator liable for such damages? If so, can the threatened landowners prohibit his flying over the land?

As the law stands flying over land is trespass. The theory of absolute ownership is impaired by an unauthorized entry. If the air is owned up to the heavens the passage of an aeroplane is a violation of this right of ownership. For example, a telephone wire cannot be stretched over a piece of land, without the consent of the owner thereof, even if the posts supporting it are off the property.

Progress demands a different interpretation and it is not to be imagined that flying high over a man's land will render the aviator liable for trespass. But what about flying below a reasonable level, frightening live stock and alarming the inhabitants? Should aviators be compelled to cross property at a specified height? The problems require attention. Flying has come to stay, and it is up to all nations to solve the question in a way compatible with the development of aerial transportation, at the same time safeguarding the ordinary folk who like to live in peace on the earth they possess.

COMMUNIST PARTY IN AMERICA

So far as we know there has been no rapid growth of the "Communist Labor Party of America" organized about a month ago. This party has adopted the emblem of the soviet party of Russia, a scythe and hammer surrounded by a wreath of wheat. A suggestion that the torch be added was voted down in the meeting, which, by the way, enthusiastically cheered every mention of Bolshevism.

The labor element of the United States does not need leadership from Russia, as the steel strikers already found out. The sane laborers in this country are just as much American as anybody else, and they will have nothing to do with such foreign foolery. The people of the United States can count on all classes of this country to remain true to the ideals of this government, however much some individuals may cry out against them.

TEXAS CONGRESSMEN WILL MAKE ANOTHER EFFORT FOR RELIEF

Washington, Oct. 18.—Congressional action to relieve the freight congestion in West Texas and the Panhandle will be sought unless a satisfactory arrangement is made at the conference between four Texas congressmen and Director General Hines, which is to be held Tuesday. Congressman Fritz Lanham said today. The four congressmen who are to confer with Hines are Lanham of Fort Worth, Jones of Amarillo, Parrish of Henrietta and Hudspeth of El Paso.

The Texas representatives made it plain today that they are impatient at stop gaps to relieve the situation and want permanent relief. They will tell Director Hines that the statement of Director of Operations Tyler, that the congestion is temporary, is not in accordance with the facts and will demand a definite promise of furnishing cars.

MANUFACTURING ILL-FEELING

At St. Louis 11 L. W. W. agitators, including one negro, were arrested. In their possession was found much literature destined for distribution among the colored people of the South stirring up race hatred and animosities.

The Industrial Workers of the World is a very bad organization. Its reputation is enough to condemn any of its activities. It opposes all government, all religion, and all law and order. It only seeks to stir up trouble in the South, as a part of its general plan for universal anarchy and spoliation.

At Elaine, Arkansas, this month, a negro agitator stirred up hundreds of his people, and the result was eleven were killed with two whites the first day of the disorder. The negro, Hill, who stirred up this trouble was absent when it started—but, before going, he had collected $1.50 initiation fee from all members of his "union," and had sold shares in a building he was going to erect at $10 per share.

The trusting negroes who believed Hill in his wild tales found out they were following a false prophet, who only used them to make money out of them. So, with other agitators, who get large sums of negro money and then leave them to face whatever trouble results from their activity, Negro men and women should leave such swindlers alone.

There are sane and sound leaders in the negro race. These men give them honest advice as to their course of conduct, and if they are followed the negro race will gradually benefit itself. But, when these conservative leaders are left for a radical stranger, charging fees, the negro is bound to get himself and others in trouble.

A PLACE OF PEACE AND QUIET

Do you yearn for peace and quiet? If the cares of life and the struggle for gold have caused you to desire a less strenuous existence, far away from the civilized man's burdens and foibles, try the island of Tristan da Cunha, far down in the South Atlantic, midway between Cape Town and Buenos Aires.

This health resort is visited about once a year by a passing vessel, an antarctic whaler, on its way to the great frozen fields, and mail and provisions are landed. The population of the island numbers a hundred. Property is held in common. Potatoes and wheat are grown, pigs, geese and chicken feed on the common pastures. No crime exists on the island, and the hospitality of the citizens know no bounds. The great thrill of life is furnished by the sight of a passing vessel. Boats are immediately launched and provisions bartered with the crew for tea, sugar, etc., and other things that the ship can spare.

The island was uninhabited until the British put a garrison there to prevent its use as a base to assist the escape of Napoleon from St. Helena. When the emperor died the garrison was withdrawn, but some of the members preferred to stay on the island, and founded the present settlement.

HOW ABOUT 'DAD'?

Writer Makes Plea That Is Worth Consideration.

Too Often Father of Family Gives All With Comparatively Little Return From Those He Loves.

It is not father's plaint. He rarely admits that he has cause for complaint. So someone must do it for him.

Imagine, if you please, a successful man of 50. Besides his prosperous business or profession, he has laid up an independence. He has fine character, unblemished reputation, good health and apparently ideal family relations. Yet he is not happy. Few shily he knows what is the matter; more likely he doesn't; but we do.

It is those seemingly ideal domestic relations. Of his three children, his son, a fine young man of 19, promises, after the subsidence of youth's effervescence, to follow worthily in his father's footsteps. But there is no comradeship between them. The boy greatly respects his father, and his love might be a stay in the crises of life, but is small comfort in its dead levels. He would as likely think of chumming with Abraham.

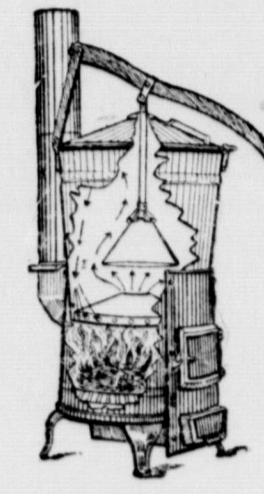

His elder daughter is "out," his younger still a school girl. He has given them every advantage of education, pays their bills, keeps open house for them, sometimes boarding visiting girl friends for weeks. He has been driven from the parlor to the library by the force of that deep-rooted American delusion that social pleasure is strictly for young people. To be sure, his girls sometimes take fits of petting him, but the unfortunate coincidence of these spells with calls for some fresh indulgence will force itself on his attention, despite his loyal efforts to be fondly blind.

And his wife, the one member of his family of his own generation, she who has with him a common past, common interests and a common remembrance of "Love's Young Dream," surely she is in perfect accord with him? Surely she sits in the library with him?

No, she doesn't. A successful man's wife often mistakes the deference paid to her for tribute to her own charm when in fact it is paid solely to her husband's wife. Occasionally death and misfortune rob her of both husband and money and then she is made to realize how little court is paid to her personality. But the mistake is quite natural, and she really believes her husband fortunate to possess her. Therefore, when she has given the time and thought necessary to the smooth running of the domestic machinery she fancies she has done her full duty by him. The rest of her

Japanese Rockefeller.

A formidable oil field described by William Dietrich in a recent issue of the Petroleum Age lies in the Higashiyama district on the Sea of Japan. "Coolies dig a hole with a pick and shovel," says the writer, "and crib or brace the walls as they go down. Their wives pull up the dirt and the shale. Some of these hand-dug wells are exceedingly deep, and the natives pump air into them with an old-fashioned blower."

"The field covers about sixteen square miles, and in this are several producing wells. The largest of these produce about ten koku (or 480 gallons) a day. Other wells furnish not more than five gallons daily."

"It is a common practice for the head of a family to go to the oil wells with two of the familiar five-gallon oil-tins hanging from a yoke about his neck. He carries the tins, filled with crude oil, from five to seven miles to his little home refinery, and the whole family then turn to and help him refine it. When that is finished, the children take the oil to residential districts nearby, and peddle it from house to house in one or two sea lots."

YOUR COLD EASED AFTER FIRST DOSE

"Pape's Cold Compound" Then Breaks Up a Cold in a Few Hours

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a severe cold and ends all the grippe misery.

The very first dose opens your clogged nostrils and the air passages in the head, stops nose running, relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuff-up! Quit blowing and snuffing! Clear your congested head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only a few cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—Insist upon Pape's!

TWO LIVES LOST IN NORTH TEXAS FLOODS
Two persons are known to have drowned and crops and property damaged many thousands of dollars by heavy rains in several counties in the northern part of the State Monday night and yesterday morning.
At Gainesville, Bonham and Denton the downpour was almost equal to a cloudburst. A man and a woman attempting to cross a swollen stream in a wagon near Gainesville were drowned. A third occupant had a narrow escape. The team was also drowned. Reports from there last night were that all creeks were banks-full and much damage had been sustained by crops.
At Bonham, Powder Creek, in the southern part of the city, was overflowing last night. The cotton mills, also located in the south part of town, were surrounded by high water and all work had been suspended on account of the flood. The Texas & Pacific dam was reported in danger of being washed away and a heavy crew of men was on duty trying to save it. The rainfall at Denton amounted to 5.47 inches yesterday morning. In the negro residential section of the town several families were rescued. A lumber firm sustained a loss of $2,000 by building material being washed away. Water was knee deep in some of the houses in the low sections of the town.

At McKinney the rainfall was nearly three inches. The fire department responded to a call in the suburban section to rescue one family. Roads have been badly damaged, bridges washed out and crops overflowed at many places.
At Clarkeville high water ran into some of the business houses. There was a heavy rain at Paris, Blossom and Wolfe City.

Meet me at Ferguson Bros.
Dr. Hines Clark and family visited Mrs. Clark's sister, Mrs. H. W. Norwood, and family in Vernon Sunday.

The Story of a Turret Captain
Promotion in the Navy comes quickly to those who qualify for higher ratings. On March 1899 A. P. Nelson enlisted in the Navy as an Apprentice Seaman. In 1904, in April 1907 he was rated Chief Turret Captain. His pay today is $103.76 per month.

A man's life — among men!

Reel them off—"Rio", Gibraltar, Ceylon, Yokohama—all the great ports of the world—are they only places on the map to you—or are they ports where you've gone sailing in from the high seas with every eye along the shore turned admiringly on your big ship—your ship! Every ocean has a United States ship sailing for some port worth seeing.

If you've any call in you for a full life—join, and color all your years ahead with memories of things worth seeing—with knowledge worth having—with an inexhaustible fund of sea tales and adventures picked up ashore and afloat that will make you a welcome man in any company. Work?—sure, and a man's work it is, among men.

Play?—well, rather, with a bunch of men who know how to play. These comrades of yours carry in their ears the sounds of great world cities, of booming guns, of swashing seas—sounds you will share with them and that will never die away.

And when you come home, you'll face life ashore with level eyes—for Uncle Sam trains in self-reliance as well as self-respect. The Navy builds straight men—no mollycoddles.

Salut for two years. Excellent opportunities for advancement. Four weeks holidays with pay each year. Shore leave to see inland sights at ports visited. Men always learning. Good food and first uniform outfit free. Pay begins the day you enlist. Get full information from your nearest recruiting station. If you do not know where the nearest recruiting station is, ask your Postmaster. He knows.

FALLS FROM BUILDING
When we saw a man hobbling up the street Monday morning on two sticks our sympathy at once made us reach into our pocket for the lone penny we had to give him in order to make life a little more pleasant for one who we supposed was making the rounds for funds to get to some of his folks several hundred miles away. We expected to have a little card presented with a poem that told the story of his misfortune, but when we got closer to the man we discovered that it was Bill Harrison, one of our carpenters. It was the first time we had ever seen Bill on sticks and upon inquiry we learned that he had fallen from the Bell Elevator Saturday last forenoon onto a pile of concrete. He was doing some repair work and was on a scaffold about ten feet from the ground when a wagon struck the scaffold, tearing it down.

Mr. Harrison's injuries are not serious, though they are very painful. Both feet were badly bruised on the bottom and he could only hobble around Monday. He says if he could have only had a pile of rock to fall on instead of concrete how much better it would have been.

THE BOLSHEVISTS
News dispatches tell of additional Bolshevik disasters. The news is even more emphatic. Admiral Kolchak and Gen. Denikin are in regular communication working together to accomplish the downfall of the Reds. This is encouraging, if true, but the news of Russian victories over Trotsky and Lenin have come across so often that the public is a bit wary. If it is a fact that the two leaders of the anti-Bolshevik movement are working together it is important, unless they later decide to fight against each other.

BRAIN AGAINST BRAUN

How would you answer this question: "If you admit that the human brain has lifted man above the level of the beasts and is responsible for all the wonders of our civilization, how can you prove that all good things of this earth belong to those who work only with their hands?"

Joseph French Johnson, Dean, answered it at the opening exercises of New York University School Commerce recently as follows: "The real producer of the earth's wealth is the human brain, and it always will be. The man who works merely with his hands, making little use of his brain, is little better than a machine. It is the state's duty to see to it that the number of such men in this country shall become relatively fewer and fewer. It is of course easy for our parlor Bolsheviks to claim that the people with brains get more than their share of the product and that the hand worker gets too little. It would be foolish to hold that out industrial system works perfectly, dealing out justice to all concerned. Nevertheless it is the only system we have and a lot of very good and intelligent men are working all the time to improve it. Nobody has yet come forward with any different system which has been endorsed or approved by the wise men of any age or any country. Furthermore, under the present system progress is being made, and the average man, especially in the United States is living in greater comfort than he ever lived in preceding centuries."

Man-Eating Tigers.
"Man Eaters" begin their scourge of villages in India only when age begins to stiffen their muscles, and when human flesh is once tasted they crave for nothing else, according to Paul Dreyer, in the World Wide Magazine.

Increasing difficulty in seizing the small and agile denizens of the jungle, writes Dreyer, leads the tiger to attack persons as a means of gaining his food. The success with which the man eaters have been able to secure human flesh has led them to throw off the old instinct of terror of man.

Incursions of man eaters in India often die down for ten or fifteen years, says Dreyer, and then some community finds within a few days that any number of its members have disappeared and a search is made for the animal. In one district of the central provinces, 32 persons disappeared in 43 days. The beast was finally killed by an English officer.

In another section 12 villages were the scene of invasions for more than three months. Finally, more than 2,000 armed men set out to find the man eater, but without result. The animal, on one of its incursions, bounded over a garden fence and impaled itself on a stake.

In India few animals under fifteen years of age have been known to attack persons. It is generally after that age that they begin their attacks on human lives.

Does Eve One Better.
Mother (indignantly) — Why did you strike little Nancy, you naughty boy?
Peter—What did she want to cheat for, then?
Mother—How did she cheat?
Peter—Why, we were playing at Adam and Eve, and she had the apple to tempt me with, and she never tempted me, but went and ate it herself!

BOTH NEW AND OLD

Mexico a Mixture of the Ancient and Modern.

Prehistoric Remains Show That the Builders Had a High State of Civilization—Native Tribes and Races Still Exist.

What manner of folk are the Mexicans?

Whatever one's views on the wisest political course toward Mexico, it will help in a thorough understanding of that country to examine the rich history, the ancient civilization, the prehistoric remains to be found among our southern neighbors, says the National Geographic Society.

"Of the 16,000,000 inhabitants, two-fifths claim direct descent from ancient tribes or families which are accepted as the basis of Mexican history, two-fifths are of mixed native and foreign blood, the remainder being classed under the common appellation of 'foreign.'"

"Throughout much of the country, and often within short distances of railroads, are remnants of some of the ancient native tribes or races, adhering to customs, methods and speech of their ancestors. Thus in Oaxaca are the Zapotecas and Mixtecas, the estimate for the two races being a half million, and a government publication mentions a dozen other families in the same state.

"In Hidalgo and adjacent states, the Otomis; in Puebla and Oaxaca, the Mexicanos; the predominating Mayas in Yucatan; in Michoacan and Jalisco, the Tarascanos, and the Tlaxcalans, in their native state, and other groups elsewhere, still maintain the tribal individualities.

"Although Spanish is the language of the country and much English is spoken in the regions most visited, a large number of the natives use only the vernacular.

"Prescott refers to the Aztecs, Tlaxcalans and others as producers of delicate fabrics, colored by vegetable dyes; intricate designs in the precious metals, and beautiful decorations made of feathers; numerous ruins also indicate marvelous skill of ancient peoples in stone-work, especially as the tools used were obsidian or copper.

"Evidence that this deftness in handiwork has been retained appears in the feather-work, wood-carving, stone-cutting, etc., of the present day. The beautiful pottery and unique weaves of serapes, made with the crudest appliances, and excellent fabrication in cast or wrought iron, bit-green silver, etc., also bear testimony to the skill of the Mexican Indian.

"Mexico has a wealth of archaeological relics, remnants of an ancient civilization of which no well-defined trace exists. Volumes have been written to demonstrate that the builders of what are now ruins were of Mongolian, Semitic, or Phoenician origin, but the riddle cannot be admitted as solved. All authorities, however, unite in praise of the magnitude and the perfection of workmanship shown at various ruins found throughout the Mexican territory. The region adjacent to some of these raises question as to the source of sustenance for multitudes which must have then existed, and causes speculation upon changes which may have occurred in the interval.

"Prominent among these ruins are Uxmal and Chichen-Itza, in the state of Yucatan; Palenque, in the state of Chiapas; Mitla, in the state of Oaxaca, and Xochimilco, in the state of Morelos.

"The pyramid of Cholula, in Puebla, and those of the Sun and Moon, in the state of Mexico, have also been liberally described, but distributed over wide areas are many other ruins which have had but little or no investigation, and rock sculptures, images, idols and ancient pottery, found in numerous localities, are the only records of peoples whose history is unknown and whose names even are lost."

Center of Attraction.
Angelina was, of all my acquaintances, the most vain. Happiness for her seemed an impossibility unless she was the center of attention. So when we learned of her coming marriage we knew that in style and display the event would surpass anything that had ever taken place in our town, and we were not wrong in our expectations. Under a bow of roses the happy couple had been pronounced man and wife and the organ pealed forth a flood of music. At this point we were surprised to see the bridegroom shaking hands with those nearest him. He didn't stop there, either, but, leaving his blushing bride to face the audience, alone, he passed up and down the aisles of the church greeting all the guests!—Chicago Tribune.

Almost Zero in Ownership.
I was entertaining little Charlotte one afternoon while her mother was otherwise engaged. She asked if I had any little children, to which I replied in the negative. Then she wanted to know if I had a dog, or cat, or bird, and to all of these questions I replied "No." She thought a minute and then said: "Nuffin but furniture."—Exchange.

BACK BAD TODAY?

Backache is usually kidney-ache and makes you dull, nervous and tired. Use Doan's Kidney Pills for weak kidneys—the remedy recommended by your friends and neighbors. Mrs. G. F. L. Nash, Crowell, says: "My back was in pretty bad shape. All through the small of my back and up into my shoulders was a steady ache all the time. Nights it would hurt me so I could hardly sleep, and when I got up I was so lame and stiff I could hardly straighten my back. Sometimes I would become dizzy and I had spells of headache. My kidneys were weak. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Ferguson's Drug Store and three boxes cured me of the attack. They put me in fine shape." Price 60c, at all dealers. BAPTISTS PLAN RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

BODY CHARGED WITH DUTY OF OUTLINING HOW 75 MILLION CAMPAIGN CAN PROMOTE THAT TASK REACHES FIELD—DR. LOVE OUTLINES THE NEED AND ISSUES CALL

DR. J. F. LOVE SECRETARY FOREIGN MISSION BOARD

DR. Z. T. CODY EDITOR BAPTIST COURIER

REV. EVERETT GILL MISSIONARY AT ROME

To make a general survey of the economic, social and religious conditions in Europe with a view to recommending to the Baptists of the South where and how they can aid most effectively in the reconstruction of that continent through the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, a commission, composed of Dr. J. F. Love, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board at Richmond, Va.; Dr. Z. T. Cody, editor Baptist Courier, Greenville, S. C.; and Rev. Everett Gill, missionary at Rome, Italy, who is returning after a leave of absence in this country, and who will serve as guide and interpreter to the other members, is now in England for a conference with the Baptists of Great Britain and will go from there for an inspection of France and Belgium.

Another brief conference will be held with the Baptists of Switzerland, after which a trip will be made through Italy and a survey of the new republic of Czechoslovakia conducted. From Prague, capital of Bohemia, the commission will go into such parts of Russia as are open, and the foreign trip will be concluded with an inspection of Palestine, where the missionary work formerly done in Syria, Persia and Galilee by the Illinois Baptist Association has been turned over to the Foreign Mission Board.

There are approximately 4,250 Baptist churches in Europe today, with 3,000 pastors and missionaries and 595,800 church members. It is announced by the headquarters of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, and a considerable sum from this campaign will go toward succoring needy families of Baptists and others in the war-torn regions as was as in the propagation of the gospel and the establishment of Christian institutions there, it is announced. Before sailing on the Adriatic on his European mission, Dr. Love made the following statement outlining the purpose of the commission:

"When the call came to help save, promote and secure democracy in Europe there came a louder call to help save, promote and secure evangelical Christianity in Europe. That which alone will now preserve and perfect the democracy for which brave men have died on the battlefield of Europe is the Christianity of the New Testament. Southern Baptists can not long profess New Testament Christianity and decline a challenge like that which is now presented to them to bear witness to their faith among the peoples of Europe. Our people never before faced such a challenge and such a responsibility.

Of course we can not go to the men and women of Europe who have been stripped of earthly fortune and reduced to direst necessity with a message of Christian love and brotherhood if we decline in our abundance to carry some substantial pledge of our love and compassion. Mothers will not be able to stay the crying of their little ones to hear us preach if we decline to practice the gospel of compassion and feed these little ones and build fires at which they can during the coming winter warm their frost-bitten toes. Southern Baptists are under the most solemn obligation to help relieve the want and suffering of Europe. But if there were no reconstruction work in Europe, Southern Baptists have motives numerous enough and strong enough to compel them to make a complete success of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign. I would therefore, as my parting word to my brothers and sisters of the South, implore them to give themselves to this campaign and carry it to a triumphant conclusion during Victory Week, November 30-December 1."

$4,800,000 TO BE RAISED FOR HOSPITALS

A modern hospital illustrative of the type of buildings Southern Baptists are employing in the relief of human suffering.

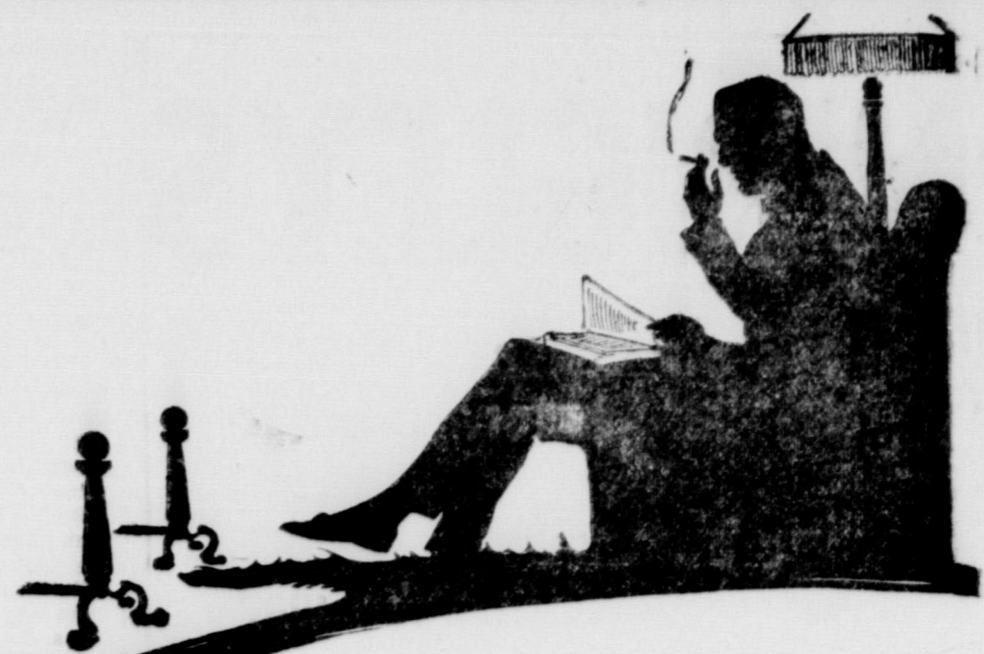

In their work of relieving human physical suffering Southern Baptists at present own and control fourteen hospitals and there are under course of construction and about ready to be opened at least two more, with considerable progress made toward the erection of others. All of these institutions are liberally patronized and are self-supporting but all of them need to be enlarged in order to meet the rapidly-growing demands upon them. The demand for charity work is especially urgent and in order to enable them to thus render a needed service to those who are least able to help themselves as well as to provide larger facilities for the regular work the hospitals are doing the sum of $4,800,000 has been apportioned to them from the proceeds to be raised in the Baptist 75 Million Campaign.

This work of relieving the physical infirmities of men, women and children and thus putting them on the road to better health and larger efficiency and usefulness was begun within the bounds of the Southern Baptist convention in 1899 when the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium was opened in St. Louis. From a very small beginning in a residence with less than a dozen beds, this institution has grown into a modern institution with more than 200 beds.

Other Baptist hospitals in the South include Baptist Hospital, Muskogee, Okla.; Baptist Hospital, Miami, Okla.; Baptist Hospital, Cushing, Okla.; Baptist Memorial Hospital, Memphis, Tenn.; Georgia Baptist Hospital, Atlanta; Oklahoma Baptist State Hospital, Oklahoma City; Baptist Hospital, Columbia, S. C.; Texas Baptist Memorial Sanitarium, Dallas; Baptist Hospital, Houston, Tex.; Baptist Hospital, Alexandria, La.; Baptist Hospital, Jackson, Miss.; St. Louis Baptist Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., and the Kansas City Baptist Hospital at Kansas City, Mo.

MADE REAL SPORT

Bulls Not Always Easy Victims in Arena.

One Animal So Noted for Its Fighting Qualities as to Be Deemed Invincible—Imported Texan Furnished Excitement.

The torador has not always been the hero of the bull ring. There was once a bull that earned the plaudits of a Spanish arena on more than one occasion by clearing it of his antagonists. Strangely enough the bull neither killed nor injured any man. But he did put to flight every torador, matador, picador, chulo or banderilero who dared to enter the ring with him; and, although the crowds came to see him slain, his conduct proved so valiant that the people demanded that his life be spared.

This bull was named Lechuzo. His first appearance in the arena was made at San Lucas. He so suddenly cleared the ring of his enemies that the people rose in admiration and demanded his reprieve, for despite his bravery, he would have been treacherously approached and put to death in accordance with the usual practice had not the people intervened.

Again at Cordoba upon the healing of the wounds inflicted upon him by the picadors at San Lucas, Lechuzo drove all his enemies before him and again his life was spared at the demand of the spectators.

So in time Lechuzo began to be regarded as invincible, and finally he ended his days in peace at the age of ten years.

Some years ago a herd of Texas bulls were imported from their native land to Seville to give special attraction to a bullfight of more than ordinary importance. Those American bulls furnished the Spaniards with some interesting sport.

when confronted in the ring by horse and picador wholly neglected the horse, but paid instant and undivided attention to the man. The bull bellowed as if from sheer delight at the anticipated encounter and attacked the picador furiously. He pressed the fighter so hard that, defense being useless, the man sought safety in inglorious flight by scaling the barrier erected between the audience and the ring as a provision of safety.

The picador was ardent and efficiently assisted over the barrier by the horns of the animal and was followed so closely that he narrowly escaped with his life by reaching a convenient gallery. The bull did his best to get at him, but, finding this impossible, looked about for other game.

The stone seats in the enclosure at Seville were ten feet above the ground, and this height has always been an insurmountable barrier for a bull, but this time things were different, for as soon as the Texan bull saw the throng above his head he stepped back, and the next instant he was among them.

Before the people could escape he had tossed half a dozen of them into the ring, but they were all rescued by the ring attendants. The stone seats cleared, the steer returned to the ring, and seeing no one else to whom he might throw the cage of battle, he took the exact center of the ring and bellowed his defiance to the world. Meantime the management had got busy, and a soldier with a Mauser was summoned from a nearby barracks and the bull's life was ingloriously ended.

PLANE FOR BUDDING AVIATOR

Well Called the Penguin, Since It Moves Fast on Ground, but is Unable to Fly.

Do you know what a penguin is? You may have read of it, but probably never have seen one. The penguin is an aquatic bird found in the polar regions. It is remarkable for its peculiar structure. It has only stumps in place of wings and, for that reason, is unable to fly. But it is a good walker and an expert swimmer and diver. The name of "penguin" has also been given to the training apparatus employed to teach prospective aviators the control of the airplane or seaplane. The name is well chosen. The penguin used for training is as unable to fly as its arctic namesake. It consists of an airplane with wings so very small that the power of the motor is unable to lift the airplane off the ground or water. It is supplied with a steering elevator, rudder and wheels exceptionally strong for running on the ground. The apprentice is encouraged to run this "penguin" to his heart's content; there is no danger that it will take to the air. In a short time he graduates to a real airplane that can and does fly, and then he can give all his attention to the flying part without having to worry over the handling of the various controls. The sense of safety he enjoys while learning is a great nerve sedative to the inexperienced aviator.

TRAVELED BY DEVIOUS WAYS

Correspondent Experienced Acute Discomfort While on a Journey Through the Holy Land.

It is eight or nine miles, as I estimate, from the Euphrates to Constantinople, if one follows the course of the Bagdad railroad, whose track is laid a part of the way where the feet of the "ten thousand" had marched, where St. Paul had tramped in his first and second missionary journeys, and where Geoffrey of Bouillon, Tancred, Baldwin, Raymond and Bohemond had passed, and Frederick the First had pitched.

In my anabasis (if I may give my lonely expedition a name so ambitious and yet so condemned by many a youth) from the Euphrates toward Constantinople I had to make a circuitous journey, as did St. Paul from Damascus, writes John H. Pinley in July Scribner's. I went first from Aleppo to Damascus, then to Jerusalem, then to Haifa (near old Caesarea where St. Paul took ship), and then by sea to Beirut and Hama, on the coast of Asia Minor, a few miles from St. Paul's "home town" Tarsus, which was also the same town as that toward which Jonah sailed from Jaffa, when evading the call to Nineveh. But the reader would, I fear, find this an uncomfortable and perhaps a tiresome trip, even to read of, for I traveled most of the way in freight cars (of the type known to our soldiers in France, accommodating "fifty-five hommes or eight chevaux") on a trailer (which was absolutely the most uncomfortable means of transportation that I had ever endured) and on a British "destroyer" which might very fitly have borne St. Paul's name before he changed it, in the days when he was "breathing out threatenings and slaughter."

There is a shorter and less indirect way, for, speaking generally, there is no direct way from one place to another in that part of the world. This is probably the reason why the street in Damascus called "Straight" got its distinguishing name.

CLAIMS HONOR FOR GEORGIAN

Savannah Newspaper Asserts That Elias Howe Was Not Inventor of the Sewing Machine.

The centenary of the birth of Elias Howe, the modest Yankee who invented the sewing machine, took place on June 9. There was no extended observance of the day, observes Hartford Courant, yet it was Howe who took a good deal of the drudgery out of the lives of millions of American women. He also increased the power of his fellow men to produce garments and other material that formerly needed the patient handwork of individuals.

But it is interesting to observe, in connection with the anniversary, that the Savannah News undertakes the rather hopeless task of trying to convince its readers that it was not Howe, but a Georgian, Francis R. Goulding, who constructed and operated the first sewing machine. This paper says that this man, a Presbyterian preacher living in Liberty county, married a Savannah girl and then began work on a sewing machine in order that he might save his fair wife much hard work. Alleging this was long before Howe patented his machine, and also that Goulding never patented his, they try to show his motives were purely altruistic and not commercial.

It all sounds good, but it will take considerable "space" in the Georgia newspapers to convince the world that Goulding takes the prize.

OWED MUCH TO STEREOSCOPE

How Commanders During the Great War Got Information of Vital Importance.

The old-fashioned stereoscope played an important part in the world war. It supplied air to photographs, snapped from airplanes that could not be obtained from the ordinary camera lens. Before its use the pictures all seemed flat, but the stereoscope added height, and thus steep slopes, that appeared in pictures like flat ground, were shown in their true characteristics, and the lives of men who would have to cover the ground in attack were saved.

The airplane camera looks directly down on the spot to be photographed, making a picture as a one-eyed man would see it. A stereoscopic camera, in which the lenses are two and three-quarters inches apart, would not produce the stereoscopic effect. Photographers decided to take pictures 100 yards apart to give a view just as a giant, with eyes 100 yards apart, would see it. These pictures were put on cardboard and viewed through the stereoscope. At first a cottage looked like a tower, a bucket like a well, a trench like a canyon, etc. The officers soon learned to translate these eccentricities, and the problem was solved. True pictures, giving just the exact information desired, were then obtained by the airplane photographers.

Mud Wallows Are Hygienic.

An old proverb says: "Mud does not stain." It might be completed by: "It even serves as soap, at least in Estonia."

There are from three to five million inhabitants in Estonia who have no soap. It is difficult, in a country where there is such a lack of transportation facilities, to assure sufficient quantities of a necessary product to a population which is greatly in need of other things besides. That is why the American Red Cross, while waiting for new supplies of soap, has instituted mud baths. Estonian mud has no healing powers, but thanks to regular mud baths, public hygiene has improved in this country.

A very simple thing; but it had to be thought of.—From Le Figaro, Paris.

Whenever Warren went on an errand for auntie she invariably gave him a penny for a stick of candy. Last week she sent him to the drug store and upon his return with the desired article she, as usual, remunerated him with a penny.

"I'll keep this on account," complained Warren.

"What do you mean by that?" demanded auntie.

"My charge for running an errand has gone up to a nickel," independently explained Warren. "Don't forget that the price of candy has been raised now."

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. At Saloniki.

The veritable mountains of relief supplies turned out by the millions of chapter workers during the war made the American Red Cross one of the biggest "manufacturing concerns" in the world, with great warehouse space at scores of strategic points all around the globe.

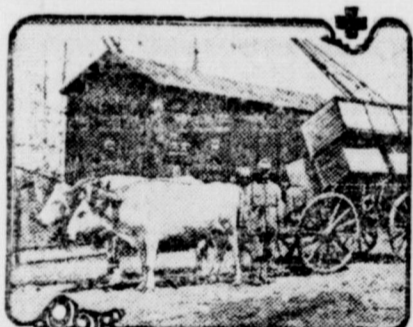

One of the biggest distribution centers was at Saloniki, Greece, and in this picture Bulgarian prisoners of war are seen there unloading a Red Cross cargo of 2,300 boxes from a French transport. At the right is seen one of the American Red Cross convoys, fleets of which were used in rushing relief to points where the suffering was greatest.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. On German Soil.

In the City Square of Troves, Germany, headquarters of the allied military forces, an ancient cross surmounted monument marks the city's center of traffic. For this reason American Red Cross officials converted it, as shown by this picture, into a directory of all Red Cross activities in the city.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. In Roumania.

Soon after the entrance of the United States in the war the successes of the Central Powers in Roumania had reduced that country to a most tragic condition and in the summer of 1917, the American Red Cross despatched its first Roumanian relief contingent. Two hospitals were at once taken over and operated by the Red Cross, a canteen for the starving refugees established and food and clothing distributed over a large area. Transportation was one of the toughest problems with which the Red Cross workers in Roumania had to deal. Here is seen an oxcart used by the Red Cross to carry its relief supplies up into the mountains.

NIGHT AND DAY CAMP IS LIFE SAVING STATION

Tuberculosis kills 150,000 persons in the United States every year. These two women escaped. They are shown in the Night and Day Camp conducted by the St. Louis Society for the Relief and Prevention of Tuberculosis. They are among the fortunate ones because they know how to take care of themselves when this great menace threatened them. They know that the cure lies in plenty of fresh air, even if the temperature is away below freezing, sunlight, good food and rest under proper medical supervision. Tuberculosis is not only curable but is preventable as well. The prevention lies largely in right living, in building up a strong bodily resistance. Eight out of ten persons are infected at some time in their lives, according to figures of the National Tuberculosis Association, the leading agency in the United States in the fight upon this disease. This organization is sponsor for the annual Red Cross Christmas Seal sale, from which the funds to carry on the work throughout the year are chiefly derived.

Chinese Curb Tobacco Users.

China's ministry of the interior has telegraphed the following circular instructions to the Shenchangs and Turments all over the country, according to the Peking Daily News:

"It has been noticed that almost everybody in the country has indulged in the use of cigars or cigarettes, which will become a worse curse to the nation than opium in former days unless some restrictions are imposed. It is hereby decided that before taking up any measure for the total prohibition of its use, the following restrictions shall be imposed: First, no boy or girl under eighteen years of age shall be allowed to smoke cigars or cigarettes; second, any military or naval man using it shall be punished; third, the use of cigars and cigarettes in all government schools and colleges shall be strictly prohibited."—Far Eastern Bureau Bulletin.

Why Lose What You Make?

Many a time the farmer has lost heavily because he had no adequate protection for the gathered crop. There are two special reasons why he should store this year. One is to save all he can by storing low priced feed until the surplus is used up, when the demand will raise the price. Another is to store cotton for its protection until he wants to sell, thus enabling him to get a better price for his bales when sheltered from the weather. If the farmer intends to hold for a higher price, he will make by holding for a better condition of his product.

See us for plans and particulars on this warehouse. It's an investment that will pay for itself.

Matters of Etymology.

Ramblers among the derivations of words can always find fantastic similarities. "Cocaine" is centuries old and means a land where ease and luxury prevail, hitherland, an imaginary abode of the lotus eaters. Its etymology is disputed but possibly from the French meaning "cake," the Land of Cakes. It has been connected with "Cockney," whose origin also is uncertain, meaning a dweller in London in sound of how bells. "Cocaine" is usually spelled "Cockaine." The two words differ absolutely in pronunciation, for it must be remembered that "cocaine" is pronounced co-ca-in; three, not two syllables. Another word made by those comprising "quite a few" pronounce "parisis," which has its "e" short and accent on the first syllable as if that "e" were long and the accent on the second. Finally, the origin of cocaine is clear, from the South American coca plant and the chemical suffix "ine."

Again.

On the night of armistice day a negro trooper met some hilarious Frenchmen. Next morning he was before his captain, charged with intoxication.
"Young man," scowled the captain, "you've got a mighty good record, and I'm sorry. Have you any excuse to offer for this outbreak?"
"I ain't got no excuse, please, cap'n," said the enprit, "but I see done got a good reason."
"A reason," exclaimed the captain. "What is it?"
"Well, cap'n, I dunno de English fo' it, but de bunch I met las' night called it 'encore.'"

Concrete Baffled Bandits.

At the time of the Madero revolution in 1910 the various railways of Mexico were beginning to use concrete in the making of culverts, and it is understood that most of the concrete culverts and bridges built at that time have withstood the bandits' attacks and other injuries, while the wood and steel structures have been destroyed.

More Suitable.

The aunts and uncles had come to the long-enduring sister's home to have their monthly argument over the family affairs which interested all of them. They had argued even longer than usual and the children were getting weary and wished that they would go. So twelve-year-old Frances decided she would put a record on the Victrola and "play them down." She played several popular songs, among them being "Till We Meet Again." After that had been played through once she adjusted a fresh needle and began it all over again.
Then Thomas, the fifteen-year-old member of the family, whose opinion of relatives would not be printable, gave a growl which every one could hear. "Don't play that one over again for goodness sake," he commanded. "Instead, hunt out 'Farewell to Thee.'"

FORT WORTH WOMAN GAINS 15 POUNDS

Mrs. Parks Feared End Was Near But Takes Tanlac and Health is Restored

"I actually believe Tanlac saved my life, for it pulled me up when I was nearly past going," said Mrs. Laura Parks, of 1432 N. Calhoun street, Ft. Worth, Texas.
"My condition was such," she continued, "that everything I would eat caused gas to rise and press on my heart till I thought I would smother to death. After eating I would become nauseated and would get so dizzy I was afraid of falling; my limbs would become numb, then again they would tingle all over like thousands of needles sticking in me. I was so nervous that I could hardly sleep, had sick headaches most all the time and was so miserable and despondent I feared my end was near."
"Soon after taking Tanlac my appetite picked up, my digestion improved and I got to eating everything I wanted. I am now strong enough to do all my housework and more, all my troubles are over. I sleep like a child and my husband tells me I am the very picture of health."
Tanlac is sold by all druggists.

DON'T WANT NEGROES

The labor situation in Hall County is getting to be rather acute and the demand for farm labor is very large. Some have conceived the idea that negroes should be brought in and that they would be the solution of the entire problem. We seriously doubt the judgment of those people, for we note that the labor problem is just as acute in the negro centers as it is in this county. We have always had the benefit of a large number of people coming here from New Mexico and we will get them this year. The Chamber of Commerce in times past have often exploited the entire absence of negroes in Hall County as an asset. It has been so regarded. This year of all times negroes are exceedingly sorry. A few negroes went in to the army and now these characters strut around with overseas caps on and think they are the equal of any white girl in the land. It is making trouble in many places and will make trouble in Hall County. We know our farmer friends are earnest and sincere, but we believe they are mistaken about the negro being the panacea for all their troubles. Lots of white people come here to work merely because they don't have to work outside of negroes. We understand that a petition is to be circulated to get the sentiment of the community. We must and will save this cotton crop but let's do it with honest white labor. How will you enjoy elbowing your way Saturday afternoons along the streets of Memphis with negroes? How will you enjoy having negro pool halls and Bevo joints, or churches for that matter in the city of Memphis? Where they get a foothold they always stay and multiply. Let the Chamber of Commerce continue to advertise "no negroes in Hall County."—Hall County Herald.
The News has never favored bringing negroes into Foard County, for reasons assigned by our contemporaries. If this is a white man's country the best way to keep it so is to get along without bringing negroes in. We mean no sarcasm when we say if there are those who feel that they can not get along without their help let them go to negro sections. A surplus of poor labor, such as we would have by bringing the "cullud gemen" to West Texas, would be worse than a labor shortage.

FAVORS AMENDMENT AS TO A. & M. AND STATE UNIVERSITY

Dallas, Texas, Oct.—Professor T. H. Shelby, president of the Texas State Teachers' Association, announces a statement on the subject of the "Relation of Common Public Schools to Higher Institutions of Learning" with the following:

"The adoption of the amendment separating the University and the A. & M. College and giving constitutional status to all higher institutions does not add financial burdens to the tax payers, but does authorize these institutions to use their own property for needed permanent improvements. It is the duty of every teacher in the state of whatever rank or station, as well as every other patriotic citizen to give his undivided support to the adoption of the amendment to the State Constitution as submitted in house joint resolution No. 29, which is to be voted on November 4, 1919. A vote for the amendment is a vote for the school children and future citizens of our State."

Professor Shelby points out that the importance of the common public schools has been emphasized by special appropriations to the high schools for industrial and vocational subjects and by millions of dollars appropriated for the rural schools. He says:

"It is a fallacy born of demagoguery of the cheapest and most dangerous type that there is any conflict between the interests of the common public schools and the higher institutions of learning. There can be no development of the one without the other. The best welfare of the entire state will be served when it is recognized that our interests are common and that we rise or fall together. We shall do well to recognize a natural corollary that 'united we stand, divided we fall.'"

The higher educational institutions train leaders which brings about betterment of the common schools. Colleges and universities also train leaders in business, in engineering, in state craft, in industrial and vocational arts and sciences, in the fine arts and the learned professions. Professor Shelby makes it plain that the higher educational institutions are in business for the great advancement that has been made in the industry and commerce of this country and throughout the world.

MOTHER! DON'T TAKE CHANCES IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Clean, Little Liver And Bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poisons, sour bile, and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oft-times all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." 53

THE NORTHERN STATES HAVE ADOPTED THE 56" AUTO TRACK WAGON

Which Wagon?

The One that Fits the Road—or the One that Rides the Ridge

Recommended by the Government. The standardized wagon fits the prevailing track made by automobiles and is the wagon you will want to buy.

This Wagon is Out of Date. This 60" wide track wagon no longer fits the roads when they are muddy and soft.

WOULDN'T you rather buy the style of wagon recommended by your Government, especially when it is designed to pull easier, ride smoother, and last longer—the wagon that fits the roads and does not ride the ridge?
The Standardized Weber "Auto-track" Wagon saves wear on itself, other wagons, automobiles, and rubber tires.
The Weber fifth wheel and swivel coupling wagon is either sold at a price much too low or most other wagons are sold at prices so high, quality considered. Compare and draw your own conclusion. To date the leading wagon manufacturers of America have sold at the most conservative estimate 100,000 standardized auto-track wagons. From this introduction it is but a step to universal use of this type of wagon. Wouldn't you rather be identified with progress and recognized as an up-to-date farmer by doing your hauling with such a wagon than to be classed as an unprogressive "back number" by buying a 60-inch wide-track wagon, thereby helping some manufacturer and dealer to "unload" an obsolete type? Think it over—and then come and see us about a standardized auto-track Weber.
