THINKS S. P. MAY PURCHASE ORIENT

Chairman of Railroad Commission, Mayfield, Suggests Plan for Permanent Relief

If anybody knows what the attitude of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is towards the proposition of buying the Orient, it has not been made known. If those people should want to buy the road they certainly would not advertise the fact now. They would wait and get it at the best price. From the standpoint of the people it appears to be the logical thing for the Southern Pacific to do. The people, however, have, or ought to have learned many years ago that railroad companies usually apply all figures to business propositions, and if the Orient has not been a paying proposition, which it has not, the figures are discouraging. Yet the Southern Pacific might see a future in a road like the Orient, when the country it traverses becomes more thoroughly developed, when the Orient would be a fine connecting link for the Southern Pacific. The Dallas News of July 4th carries an editorial of interest, a portion of which makes reference to a suggestion made by Mr. Mayfield, Chairman of the Railroad Commission. The News says:

Chairman Mayfield's Suggestion

To become a part of the great Southern Pacific System of railroads would probably be the happiest fate that could be wished for the Orient, from whatever standpoint considered, unless it is that it would seem otherwise from the standpoint of the owners and officers of the Southern Pacific. To them it might present the likelihood of being an incumbrance rather than an asset. A lay opinion as to that is, of course, of no value; nevertheless, one might venture to say that if the Southern Pacific could buy the Orient at so nearly junk appraisement as is to be inferred it could, it might be able, before many years, to make it a self-sustaining and helpful adjunct to its system. There can be little doubt that eventually the country through which the Orient runs will supply a traffic sufficient to nourish it, and thus enable it to repay any losses which may be sustained in operating it meantime.

Moved somewhat by this idea, the chairman of our Railroad Commission, Mr. Allison Mayfield, has suggested a procedure designed to overcome any reluctance the Southern Pacific may feel to acquire the Orient and so burden itself with the obligation to operate it. The Southern Pacific wishes to continue its control and operation of the Central Pacific, running from Ogden to San Francisco, and the Interstate Commerce Commission has authority to gratify that desire, notwithstanding the recent Supreme Court decision that that association of the two roads is a violation of the Sherman Act. It is assumed by Mr. Mayfield, and doubtless correctly, that the Interstate Commerce Commission will be influenced in acting on the application of the Southern Pacific by the sentiments of the several States through which its lines run. Mr. Mayfield's suggestion is that Texas, which has no vital interest in the proposal to allow the Southern Pacific to retain its control of the Central Pacific, shall indorse its application to be permitted to do so, provided, as a return for that favor, the Southern Pacific shall agree to buy and operate the Orient. Of course Mr. Mayfield would impose that condition only in the event the Orient could be acquired at a fair price.

It is an interesting suggestion, one that seems to present some possibility of being fruitful. It is to be hoped that that possibility will be thoroughly explored. Certainly Mr. Mayfield's suggestion offers a better promise to the hope of keeping the Orient in operation than any other that has been made. All other suggestions made so far look only a few months into the future, in that they contemplate no more than a temporary staying off of an impending doom. All such are worthy of consideration, and are not ruled out of order by Mr. Mayfield's suggestion, since the threatened abandonment of the Orient must come about, unless something is done to avert it, before the transaction he proposes could be carried out. Nevertheless, all other suggestions are of the nature of temporary expedients, whereas his is one which, if realized, would be a permanent solution of the problem.

GOVERNMENT IS ASKED TO INTERVENE

In urging a conference between the warring coal mining interests, and the intervention of the Government, one of the leaders in the strike complains that "it appears impossible to make people understand in July that there must be a December." This observation is not cryptic, since the public has grown to expect a coal strike some time between every July and December. The coal barons and the miners are always solicitous about the public getting hurt by reason of these annual industrial rows, and all parties concerned have grown into the habit of "concerting public opinion"—as a former President expressed the process to a crowd of angry women suffragists. When public opinion is sufficiently "concerted" the combatant miners and their lordly masters always find a way to get together and keep the Nation's homefires burning.

Labor and capital no longer dispute the right of the public to enter into its controversies, and whenever the shoe begins to pinch, the employers and employees just naturally ask the Government to intervene. The coal miners are insisting that the whole trouble is that the operators are determined to crush the miners organizations. This is undoubtedly true. The coal operators are now refusing to enter into the suggested conferences with the miners because such conferences would be a recognition of organized labor. The employers figure that sooner or later they will be forced by the Government to submit to some kind of compulsory settlement of their differences with their men, and they class this as a victory because it relieves them from "recognizing" the strikers. Thus we have each year a "patched-up-peace," and the war between the unions and the anti-union employers goes merrily on except for the interruptions during the strike. Of course coal has gone higher and higher year after year, in consequence; but what of that as long as the public pays the bill! Unquestionably the Government will eventually intervene, since the flow of coal to its natural uses compels Uncle Sam to take a hand in order to protect the public.

Secretary of the Interior Fall announces that more than 500,000 acres of land were classified under the stock-raising homestead law and were designated for entry in tracts of 640 acres or less. Much of the acreage classified, however, is included in original entries or in applications which confer a preference right. The areas classified are in Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Wyoming. About 100,000 acres in New Mexico previously withdrawn for coal classification purposes, and small areas in Arizona, Montana, New Mexico, and Wyoming, previously included in public-water reserve, have been restored to entry. About 25,000 acres of land in Colorado, Idaho and Oregon formerly withdrawn as power-site lands were restored to entry, and more than 4,000 acres in California, Idaho and Washington were classified as power-site lands.

Kidnapping in Mexico

Mexico is developing the industry of kidnapping Americans and holding them for ransom. The Mexican Government has been trying to "explain" it all to the United States as an attempt to discredit the Obregon Government, which is seeking recognition. If some way is devised to check the kidnapping business it is likely that Mexico will not suffer much in the eyes of other governments since it is known that the new "industry" is no more lawless than Mexico has been accustomed to tolerate under the most advantageous conditions the country has ever known.

TEXAS LEADS STATES IN VALUE OF CROPS

Texas was the leading state in the value of farm crops in 1921, showing $463,800,000 in 1920 and with $1,206,100,000 in 1919. California was the second state, showing $383,000,000 in 1921, as compared with $538,900,000 in 1920. In 1919 California held tenth place, Iowa in that year being second with $811,200,000 for 1921, as compared with $507,200,000 in 1920.

BIG RAINS HELP THE ROW CROPS

Cotton and Feed Practically Made—Land in Good Condition for Early Breaking

Conditions could hardly be more favorable than they are now for row crops and for early breaking of land for fall wheat sowing. The last few days have witnessed bounteous rains over the entire county, sufficient to practically make the feed and cotton. There has been some little hail and wind in a few places but comparatively the damage caused by them is small.

The farmers will be encouraged to go forward with their work, because of the favorable conditions now existing both in the making of row crops this year and in getting ready for wheat again this fall. It is extremely lucky for any one who may have lands already plowed for wheat. Perhaps they are few, but one can see what it will mean if there are any. Land that has been plowed already will hold the moisture until early in the fall without any more rain.

All Over Texas

The Vernon Record reports a yield of 30 bushels of wheat to the acre on 120 acres as the achievement of Ernest Karcher.

Vernon is providing a camping ground for tourists at the fair grounds where water, shade and fuel will be furnished.

The Farwell farmers are interested in the building of a gin at that place. This year they have planted quite a good deal of cotton, a new venture for them, and the crop is said to be showing up fine.

Wat Smith of Claude was shot to death last week. Will Devers is in jail charged with the shooting. The two men had formerly been partners in the general mercantile business at Conway about 7 miles north of Claude.

The scholastics of Potter County have grown to such number as to give that county the right to elect a county superintendent. And the first candidate is a woman, having no opposition.

President of the Farm Bureau John T. Orr has recently made a trip to Washington where he made application to the War Finance Corporation for a loan of $9,000,000 with which to handle the cotton crop this season.

Joe Graham who shot and killed Lilly Bidwell near Quanah and then took strychnine and shot himself is getting well and is not expected to die. It is thought by some that there was no suicide pact between him and the woman, as was at first reported.

Snyder seems to be finding some opposition to the $1.00 maintenance tax for school purposes. If every one will inform himself as to the school situation in Texas, he will find this absolutely indispensable. There are few, of any towns, that will get by without the $1.00 tax, provided they have any school.

In the opinion of C. E. Ellsworth, district engineer of the water resources branch, United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, the future development and prosperity of Texas depends in a very large measure upon the wisdom with which we handle the flood waters of the State. "Over 30,000,000 acre-feet of water passes annually from the streams of Texas to the Gulf of Mexico unutilized, much of which flows down the valleys in huge torrents, causing destruction in its path," says Mr. Ellsworth. "Good business principles," says he, "demand that the floods of Texas be controlled and so far as practicable the excess water to be stored for the many uses for which it is needed."

Gets Hurt at Thresher

A young man named Sweet, got hurt one day last week while working at the thresher at Arthur Bell's place. The injury was caused by a fall from a wagon, and while not serious, it was painful. The young man was brought to the sanitarium where he was given medical attention, and is now getting all right.

RODEO ATTENDANCE BREAKS THE RECORD

At Least 2500 People Is Conservative Estimate of the Crowd Present

Although there were attractions in some of the near-by towns on the 4th, Crowell evidently had its share of the crowd seeking entertainment. The largest crowd doubtless ever in Crowell at one time attended the rodeo at the ball park Tuesday. The gate receipts, as shown by a statement in another column in this issue, amounted to a little more than $900.00. Considering the adults two-thirds and the remainder children, the admission fees being 50 and 25 cents would make the number present 2400. There were a good many smaller children who were perhaps not numbered.

The contests resulted as follows:

- Bronc Riding—17 Riders
Frank Kirkman, first prize...$40.00
Jack Gilland, second prize...$20.00
Bill Ogdon, Seymour, 3rd prize $10.00
- Roping Calves—20 Ropers
Lon Deton, Minnick ranch 1st prize...$25.00
Colman Moorehouse, Benjamin, second prize...$10.00
Wallace Harbert, Benjamin, third prize...$5.00
- Steer Riding—16 Riders
Charley Harelson, Clovis, N. M., first prize...$25.00
R. P. Freeman, Dalhart, second prize...$10.00
B. J. Glover, Crowell, 3rd prize...$5.00
- Wild Mule Races—8 Riders
Bill Ogdon, Seymour, 1st prize $25.00
Irving Strickland, Paducah, second prize...$10.00
Walter Johnson, Crowell, third prize...$5.00
- Goat Roping—20 Ropers
Jack Propps, Truscott, 1st prize $25.00
Wayne Doland, Benjamin, second prize...$10.00
Wallace Harbert, Benjamin, third prize...$5.00
- Relay Races—3 Riders
Yancey Whately, Quanah, Lige Savage, Swearingen, Wallace Harbert, Benjamin—One prize $25.00, won by Yancey Whately.
- Shetland Pony Races—4 Riders
Joe Roberts, Todd, James Robert Allee, Herman Bell—One prize, $5.00, won by Todd.

The prize of $10.00 was won by Rual Scott of Good Creek on "Dock," the worst pitching horse.

At the close of the rodeo contest the Overland automobile given away by the American Legion became the property of Oscar Fish of Vivian, Mr. Fish holding the number that made him the winner.

TALKS "TURKEY" ABOUT THE COAL SITUATION

George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey, whose data on the coal industry has been the guide for government officials handling the situation, declares that there is "going to be a tremendous shortage of coal," and that he believes "many householders will burn coke this winter."

Director Smith says further: "The situation is acute, and one can see it along the Atlantic seaboard from Boston to Washington. The tracks are practically empty of coal cars. The coal reserves are down probably to 30,000,000 tons, or enough to last from seven to ten weeks more."

"What coal producers and coal consumers alike need is reform of the coal business rather than compromise between parties to the controversy," says Director Smith. "In this reform it is absolutely essential that the mine workers should co-operate with the mine operator. Too long have the mine owners treated the coal business as private privilege, and too long have labor leaders, with no less monopolistic attitude, obstructed every move for underground efficiency and economy."

"The people's coal costs too much because of the mistaken idea that mine owner and mine worker can continue to fight over contracts and rules. Cheaper coal and larger earnings will come when engineering is emphasized more and bargaining less."

Albert Fish for Commissioner

The News is authorized to announce Albert Fish as a candidate for the office of commissioner of precinct No. 4. Mr. Fish is an old settler in the Vivian community and is too well known in his precinct to need introduction to the voters of the county. He will appreciate the votes and influence of the voters.

COTTON MAKES BIG ADVANCE IN PRICE

New York, July 3.—An extremely rapid and excited advance followed the publication of the government's June crop figures in the cotton market here today.

The report, making the condition of the crop 71.2, the area under cultivation 34,852,000 acres, or ten per cent more than last year's, and the indicated crop 11,065,000 bales, compared with an indication of 8,433,000 at this time last year, was not very far below the average of private reports recently published. It was evidently well below general expectations, however, and after a comparatively quiet morning, proved the signal for heavy general buying.

There was enough realizing to momentarily check the advance around the 23-cent level for October, but circulation of the figures brought another buying wave and prices reached the best levels late in the afternoon, with all deliveries making new high records for the season. October contracts, which had sold off to 20.74 on the decline of over 2 and 1/2 cents per pound from the recent low level and of 178 points or approximately $8.90 per bale from the closing quotation of Saturday.

The buying on the small crop figures was said to be stimulated by expectations that the report would lead to heavy buying by foreign spinners in Liverpool while the American markets are closed tomorrow, particularly if the rains reported in the Southwest today should continue. There was also bullish comment on rumors that ocean freight room had been engaged last week for the shipment of 35,000 bales of cotton out of the local stock to Europe.

Orient Workers Asked to Prove Loyalty to Line

Wichita, Kas., July 3.—An appeal to striking employees of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway to return to their posts and a request to those not on strike to stand behind the road in its efforts to remain in operation are contained in a telegram addressed to all employees of the system sent out last night by A. Debernardi, vice president and general manager, who calls upon the employees to make good their declarations at a recent conference that they desired to do everything in their power to keep the Orient in operation.

"We, as an Orient family," the message reads in part, "are not interested in the situation on other roads but we are vitally concerned in regard to the future of this unfortunate property. We do not want strangers to participate in its operation but only our own employees. Assist the management in this resolution and affirm your statements to Receiver Kemper and the public by coming back in a body and assisting the road to earn your salaries while the traffic yet is available. Remember that no act or omission on the part of this railroad is responsible for the trouble. It is therefore a strike against the Government of the United States, the best government in the world, and not against the railroads."

"We appeal to employees remaining in service to use their influence with other employees who may have been misguided and demonstrate both to the public and to Mr. Kemper that this road can and will be operated under any and all circumstances."

"One of the alleged reasons for calling this strike was the farming out by certain roads of their shop and track work. This was not practiced nor even attempted by the Orient whose officers have complied faithfully with every order or decision of the United States Railway Labor Board."

Gets Into the Monument

South Dakota's stone in the Washington Monument was recently dedicated by proper ceremonies. The stone is of native South Dakota granite, 4 feet long by 2 feet wide by 6 inches thick, bearing upon its face the state seal and the date of admittance to the Union, February 22, 1869. "Under God the people rule" is the state motto, also appearing on the stone.

The stone is set flush with the inner wall at a height of 300 feet from the ground. But four stones remain to be placed in the monument to complete the quota of the forty-eight states—North Dakota, Arizona, Idaho and New Mexico.

KING, CADIDATE FOR STATE SENATE HERE

Is Strong Advocate of Re-Districting Law—29th District Is Too Large

As the News was going to press last Thursday Arthur H. King of Throckmorton, candidate for the State Senate, made the office a visit and left his card. Mr. King is a very pleasant man and appears to be good senatorial timber. He is a rancher and a business man and feels that men of his vocation are too few in the halls of the State Legislature. He regards the fact of there being 49 counties in this senatorial district as a condition that should awaken our people to the need of a re-districting law.

REDUCES IMMIGRATION AND BARS MONGOLIANS

Under a bill designed to tighten up the immigration law, introduced by Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration Committee, admission for permanent residence in this country would be granted only to aliens eligible for citizenship, thus, it was pointed out, shutting the gates to Japanese, Chinese, Mongolians and others not granted the right of citizenship who desire such residence.

The Johnson bill also would reduce on July 1, 1923, the quota percentage from each country from 3 to 2 per cent based on 1910 census figures. In addition to the 2 per cent quota each country, however, would be given a flat allowance of 600, the maximum total from this 600 flow being estimated at 24,000.

The percentage reduction, according to Mr. Johnson's estimates, would cut the total quota admissions from around 255,000 to 170,000. Not more than 10 per cent of any country's quota would be admitted into the United States in one month.

No attempt will be made to have the House vote on the Johnson proposal at this session.

Industrial Situation Improves

"The general situation along industrial lines has improved until the amount of unemployment during the past month has been comparatively small," says a statement by the National City Bank of New York. The statement continues: "The iron and steel industry has been operating at above 75 per cent of nominal capacity, but this has meant practically full employment for available labor. Reports from the Southern iron centers have told of the recruiting of negro labor by agents from the North. The cement industry has been going full speed, sustained by the large amount of highway building under way, and the latter of itself has called for a large supply of labor. The amount of house-building in progress had kept the building trades and building material trades well employed. The lumber industry on the Pacific Coast is above normal, and the Southern Association's report is about normal. In Detroit the labor situation in the last three months has approached conditions at the height of the boom. The output of automobiles and trucks in May made it the banner month for the industry. It is interesting to note that the great bulk of the automobile business is in the cheap and moderate-priced cars. Cars selling at $3,000 and upwards will not aggregate more than 3 per cent of the total."

"Wage advances have taken place in numerous instances, one of the most noteworthy being the advance in the iron industry from $5.50 to $6.00 per ton for puddling. The cases are sufficiently numerous to demonstrate that wage-earners as a rule lose nothing by concessions in bad times which help industry back into activity. The interests of wage-earners are served by getting industry busy. The outward movement of migration during the past year, and the restrictions upon immigration have had influence upon the labor situation."

Gone to Las Vegas

The following Crowell people with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Ferrisson left last Saturday in their cars to attend the meeting of the F. F. F. Highway Assn. in Las Vegas which convened in that city July 3d and 4th. R. B. Edwards and son, Herbert E. Swain and family, C. D. Stephenson and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Ferrisson left last Thursday afternoon with the intention of making several stops along the way.

More Intervention

It does not take long for a threatened railroad strike to reach Washington. In the coal industry the belligerents spar for time because of a lack of direct contact between employers and employes. That is the way where labor lacks organization. But in railroad affairs it is all different. Any branch of railroad employes are able, through their Brotherhoods, to definitely state what they want. If they make a demand the employers, through their associations, can return an explicit answer. Or the communication can go the other way around, and the process is the same. It doesn't take long for them to "get down to business." When a difference exists the representatives of the different groups can get together, and in most cases there is an adjustment. In such instances the public has no particular interest. Further along in the established method for adjusting their affairs we find the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Labor Board, with broad powers to meet most situations. This would be all-sufficient except for the fact that the railroad managers and the railroad employes do not always agree to the awards of the Government. Then they talk about strikes and lockouts, and display unreasonable symptoms characteristic in all cases where one wants a "scrap." In order to prevent a tie-up of the industrial affairs of the country it has frequently been necessary for members of the Cabinet, and even the President, to "intervene," and arrange terms of peace.

One sometimes wonders whether there is ever to be an end to these disturbing strikes, and threats of strike. There is no positive answer. Attempts are always being made to set up courts and arbitration boards with "teeth" in them. Industrial conferences have been held at which the leading men of the country have sought solutions of the problem. The Government has on file a complete report which seems to provide a remedy to the whole situation, and to furnish a way to prevent all strikes. This report bears the signature and approval of W. B. Wilson, recent Secretary of Labor; Herbert Hoover, Martin H. Glynn, Thomas W. Gregory, Oscar S. Straus, Owen D. Young, and a number of other great leaders in National thought. It is as fine a piece of constructive work as has ever

$700 f. o. b. Chicago Plow Free

We've got one of these boys on our floor here—all hooked up to a 3-bottom plow and ready to go to work on your farm.

You remember the Harvester Company's free plow offer to farmers closed some time ago. But we bought an extra supply of Titans before the expiration date. So as long as our stock lasts we can offer you a Free plow with your purchase of a Titan 10-20 Tractor. (Tractor f. o. b. Chicago.)

This is a special arrangement that will hold good only as long as our present stock lasts. Why not come in and look this outfit over? Or ask us to come out to your farm for a demonstration. We are always glad to let the Titan "prove up" right where it is going to work after you buy it been submitted to Congress. But like John Brown's body it "lies mouldering in its grave"—all because it does not suit Samuel Gompers, the one great power in industrial warfare who insists through all seasons, through fair weather and foul, that the "right to strike must not be abridged."

Let us hear from you soon—our supply of free plows is limited.

Inconsistency

Judge Street, in instructing the jury which was trying the Beaumont sheriff, on a charge of being a Klansman, to return a verdict of guilty, without even giving the sheriff or his attorneys a chance to be heard, certainly must have thought he was presiding over a Russian court, for no where else in this wide world do such tactics prevail. Not content with this, he also threatened to send to jail any jurymen who disagreed with him. Can you imagine such actions from a judge in this enlightened age and country? We have always been and still are, despite the precedent set by Judge Street, of the opinion that even the most degraded criminal has a right to trial by jury, not by a judge, and that his side of the story must be considered. We thought a man was innocent until proven guilty. Not so, says the judge. With such a judge presiding, why go to the expense of having a jury at all? This case stands out as one of the most vicious examples of "gag rule" which has come to our attention in years.—Hall County Herald.

Why, my dear Alfonso, Judge Street was somewhat milder than our brother klansmen are. Granting that he was the judge and jury, he did not inflict the punishment. Why should he not as well have tarred and feathered the accused sheriff and thus administered the klansmen's own medicine? Our friend Johnson endorses the klansmen for doing what he condemns in Judge Street. "Consistency, thou precious jewel." Remember on the 22nd that the Herald editor is running for Lieutenant Governor of Texas, and wants the klansmen's vote.

Boys, you can get a safety razor for 35 cents at our store.—M. S. Henry & Co.

THE NEED OF RE-DISTRICTING

When one comes to think of the immense size of the territory constituting the 29th senatorial district of Texas, together with its population, it is easy to see that this country is done a very great injustice in the matter of representation. There are 40 counties in the district, comprising an area of more than 45,000 square miles with a population of approximately 300,000. The following are the counties: Jack, Young, Clay, Archer, Wichita, Wilbarger, Baylor, Knox, Foard, Hardeman, King, Dickens, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Lubbock, Hookley, Cochran, Crosby, Childress, Hall, Brisco, Swisher, Castro, Parmeter, Deaf Smith, Randall, Gray, Armstrong, Donley, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Carson, Potter, Oldham, Hartley, Moore, Hutchison, Roberts, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Dallam, Ochiltree, Hansford, Sherman, Throckmorton.

It's an empire, and yet it is represented by one man. He has a job trying to get any favorable legislation when he is outnumbered by more than 10 to 1 from East Texas where some single counties have one representative and where half the population is negroes and are not counted as citizens, but whose numbers go to make population just the same.

That the Orient will be discontinued and junked is not the opinion of many, notwithstanding the fuss that has been made. That finances are short is not to be denied. The Orient is not meeting expenses, we believe, but it seems that a curtailment of expenses could be effected. For instance, the running of mixed trains, as the road is now doing, is bound to help. Running as few freight trains as possible in order to handle the freight, and thus eliminate considerable expense of operation will help. It is possible that the limit at this point has not been reached. Then the refund of taxes, and finally if employees wish to keep jobs some concessions in matters of wages might be affected. There is somebody or some company that can handle the Orient and make a good thing out of it, if not now, when the country through which it runs is more thoroughly developed.

The candidates of Foard County are to have speaking at Thalia tomorrow night. That's all right. Why not discuss the issues? Perhaps there are no marked issues in county politics, but the position of each candidate should be known relative to matters that are certain to confront the officials of the county within the next year or two. We are suggesting none, but merely pointing out one—the maintenance of highways. This is one of the most important propositions to be considered.

This year bids fair to be a record breaker for the South's watermelon crop. Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, Texas, Alabama, Southern California, North Carolina, Arizona and Mississippi all have an acreage sufficient to constitute a patch of 168,000 acres, as against nearly 118,000 last year. The forecast is for 60,000 cars, an increase of 10,000 over that of last year. Some watermelons and some patch for Dixie.

Mr. Warner says that within fifteen minutes after he is elected Governor of Texas he intends to set in motion a movement to oust the klan. He charges Mr. Neff as lacking the moral courage to attempt it. But Warner will not be elected this time, and when he is elected, if that happens, the klan, instead of being a wart on the body politic will just be a scab and will require no attention.

It seems that about all the evidence in the Norris-Wilson affair is in, therefore one is justified in passing in favor of Mr. Norris. The burden of disproving the statements made by Norris rests on Mr. Wilson's shoulders and the public is about to tire of waiting for it.

R. A. Wells, wife and son, Lowell, left yesterday morning for their home in Dalhart, accompanied by Mrs. Rob Wells and son, Robert, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Wells are moving to Dalhart also. Mr. Wells went with the car of household goods. The Wells family is among the pioneer settlers of Foard County, and Rob and his wife are the last of the family to move to Dallam County, and their friends regret very much for them to move away, but wish them prosperity and happiness in their new location.

Faye Beideman was at home a few days this week from Matador visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Beideman, and friends. He is employed in a drug store at Matador.

GOT SECRET OF "JOSS-STICK"

Two Adventurers Said to Have Discovered Carefully Guarded Method of Its Manufacture.

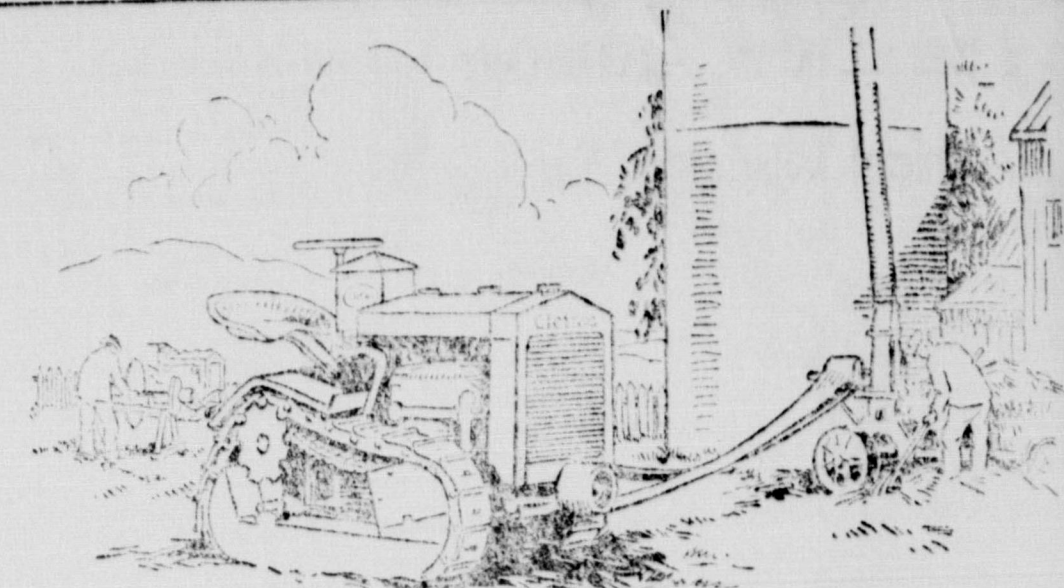

There is a huge consumption of so-called "joss-sticks" in all countries where Buddhist worship is celebrated. These ceremonial candles, whose use corresponds very nearly to that of the wax candles used in the ceremonies of the Catholic church, are lighted on similar occasions, ceremonies of festivity, or mourning, prayer or thanksgiving to divinities, etc. Joss-sticks are at once candles and incense, since, like the latter, they burn without apparent flame.

The preparation of joss-sticks is shrouded in some mystery, and the process is still practically unknown, those who carry it on being chosen from a special class and kept in rigorous seclusion. Decker and Hurrier, during a sojourn in Indo-China and China, succeeded, however, in discovering the essential points of manufacture.

A squared strip of bamboo of varying length and thickness, according to the size of the joss-stick that is to be made, is skillfully rolled on an inclined surface, in a mixture of odoriferous powders agglutinated by resin, made viscous by slight elevation of temperature. One of the ends is left as it is, to serve as a handle. In some cases the bamboo is replaced with a flexible rod which enables the joss-stick to be rolled in spiral form.

Wall-Paper Collecting.
The hobby of collecting wall paper had a distinguished pioneer in Sir Walter Scott, who in one of his letters narrates his delight in a gift which came to him when he was adorning Abbotsford. He was in a quandary as to an appropriate wall decoration for his "with-drawing room," which, with the library, was to be the most distinguished chamber in the mansion. Tapestry ran to too great a price, and as for ordinary designed wall-papers, they were lacking in distinction. But a friend who had sojourned for long in the East, and had brought home a collection of oriental objects, found among them a number of rolls of gilt Chinese paper, adorned with dragons and other reptiles of the imagination. He offered the rolls to Sir Walter, who saw in the design the very thing that suited. The paper stands today almost as fresh as when it was put up in the "Wizard's" baronial hall.

Honoring Newly Married Couple

On Thursday evening, June 30th, Madams S. J. and C. R. Ferguson gave a delightful "42" party at the home of the latter, honoring Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Klepper. Nine tables of players enjoyed eight games of "42." At the end of the fourth a recess was declared and refreshing orangeade was served.

Mrs. Paul Fields and Oscar Boman were the most successful couple, winning every game. Mr. Boman received cigars and Mrs. Fields a set of lingerie pins, and to the honor guests was presented a beautiful silver olive spoon.

At the close a dainty ice course was served, congratulations and good wishes were given Mr. and Mrs. Klepper and our hostesses were thanked for an evening so pleasant that the unusual heat was forgotten for a time.—A Guest.

Married in Fort Worth

NEXT DOSE CALOMEL MAY SALIVATE YOU

It Is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it may make you feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.

Tired

"I began using Cardui," continues Mrs. Burnett. "After my first bottle, I slept better and ate better. I took four bottles. Now I'm well, feel just fine, eat and sleep, my skin is clear and I have gained and sure feel that Cardui is the best tonic ever made."

"Thousands of other women have found Cardui just as Mrs. Burnett did. It should help you.

To the Tax Payers and Voters:

Thinking perhaps that a statement of facts relative to our road work is due the voters and tax payers of Foard County at this time, we believe in doing rather than talking, consequently we have continued to do.

But the fact that our constructive work will soon be completed, then the most important part should begin. That is, the maintenance. This is the most vital and is the life of any and all roads. Now, with a competent man at the head of this maintenance work, your roads will go to the bad within two or three years and the taxpayers will have nothing but a debt left.

This is the history of many counties that have heretofore attempted the good road movement. This is a vital question and one that should be considered by every voter of Foard County.

The money that has been made available for this work the people should know from what source it came, which is as follows:

$65,000 County road warrants in all, $150,000 road bonds; from State and Federal aid as shown by County Treasurer's books, $57,934.90 and $800 yet due county that will soon be paid.

When our construction work is completed we can give you within a few dollars of the cost of every improved road. We will have between 135 and 140 miles. We have built more dirt roads with less money than any of our neighboring counties. We are the only county that I know of in this section that has ever received one cent of either State or Federal aid upon a dirt road.

Respectfully,
G. L. BURK.

Checking Immigration

Whatever may be thought of the immigration restriction law as a matter of public policy or private hardship, it must be acknowledged that it has been effective. The number of immigrants who would have come to the United States during the year ending July 1 amounts to about 1,000,000. The new law can be credited with the exclusion of 700,000 aliens during the last year as the number actually admitted has been about 300,000.

Under this law, the number of immigrants admitted during one year from any country is limited to 3 per cent of the total number previously admitted from that country, as ascertained by the census. The quotas of 22 countries have been exhausted, according to the records of the Department of Labor. As the end of the year approached the number of aliens held up at Ellis Island increased in number, on account of the exhaustion of the quota of one country after another. Every foreigner who is barred by minor officials at a port of entry has the right to appeal to the Secretary of Labor, who is required by law to make a decision in each case. No other official, not even the commissioner general of immigration, can make a final decision. The cases, numbering thousands every month, caused a jam at Ellis Island, where thousands of persons were packed in close quarters while the Secretary of Labor and his assistant spent days and nights passing upon the appeals for admission.

On July 1 the gates open again to immigrants from all countries, and under the 3 per cent law a fresh quota will be available. For six months or more immigrants from many countries have been barred. The tremendous rush that will follow the renewal of admissions and the discomfort and crowding at immigrant stations may be imagined. An unprecedented rush for entry into the United States is expected, and it will continue until the filling of quotas will shut the bars down to one country after another.

House Burglarized During Storm

While a wind storm was raging last Saturday afternoon, a fellow who gives his name as Davis, was plundering the rooms of the Lloyd Hotel. He went through a number of the rooms and took such articles as razors, shirts, etc. Before the matter was discovered and made known to Sheriff Campbell Davis was out and gone. He soon got on his track, however, and ran him down at Medicine Mound where the sheriff took him into custody and brought him back to Crowell where he was lodged in jail. The sheriff learns that Davis has operated at Altus, Okla., and possibly at other places in that state and in Texas.

Now Is the Time to Cull Poor Layers First Time

By F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, A. & M. College of Texas

In July many of the hens are beginning to lay down on the job, when it comes to producing eggs. Some of these have gone broody, and are unwilling to start laying again. A hen that goes broody frequently and is hard to break up is a poor layer, route her to the soup bowl by the quickest way.

At this time some hens are also beginning to shed their feathers, the houses and yards all being covered with feathers. A few hens may be quite advanced in a molt. It is well to watch the early molters very closely, because the time of molt in the majority of cases is a true indication of their egg producing abilities.

We can remember the time when in our flock of 2,000 layers (this was many years ago) we made a practice of selling off about half or 1000 in the fall of each year. It was of course our ambition to sell the poor layers and keep the good layers. We concluded, like many people still do, that the early molting hen, the one that was then shedding feathers and wearing an entirely new coat of feathers by August and September was the best layer, because she could be laying in the fall and winter when eggs were high in price. On this basis, we selected the earliest molters, kept them and raised more like them the next year.

Since that time we have found that the early molting hens nearly always and as a general rule are the poorest layers in the flock. It has been found that egg-production is very similar to milk production in a dairy cow. What do we think of a cow that goes dry a few months after she has come fresh into milk? We consider her a poor milk cow, just like we consider a hen a poor layer that stops laying in July and August.

A hen stops laying and then starts shedding her feathers. In other words when you see a hen molting you know she already has stopped laying or soon will. She has come to the end of her production, and it is natural for her to start molting. There are of course exceptions to this; but not very many.

The hen that you see walking about the yards in July and August, molting heavily or with a new coat of feathers, is probably the poorest layer in the flock, so you can see that in our culling work many years ago we had the thing just turned around, and culled out our good layers and sold them, saving the poor layers and brood from them. We are wondering how many more are making that mistake even at the present time.

The hen, with worn and ragged plumage, that has not started to molt, is hungry, active, working all day, and has pale and bleached shanks, a bright red comb and wattles, is too busy to become broody, early off the roost in the morning and upon examination shows a great distance (three or four fingers) between the lay bones and also between the ends of the lay bones and keel bone, is the greatest layer in the flock.

The hen with a new coat, or that has started to molt, is not laying—her comb and wattles are small, shriveled and pale, she is or has been broody most of the time, her shanks and toes are bright yellow, (among yellow skinned varieties only) is lazy, slow and sluggish, the last off the roost in the morning, and upon examination reveals a small hard abdomen, with only one or two fingers space between the ends of the lay bones. These bones are coarse, thick and rigid, such are the habits, actions and characteristics of a poor layer. She shows these in July, August and September more than any other time. Cull these and sell them in July, saving in feed consumption and realizing more per pound for these hens than they would be worth later in September and October.

It pays to cull out all early molting hens, those molting in July, August and early part of September. They are not as good layers as those molting in October, November and December.

Many people still have worthless male birds on the yards. Box them up and send them to the market. Separate the cockerels from the pullets.

Cull out those that show signs of ailments and disease. Get rid of them.

The successful poultry raisers cull and keep on culling. (Copyrighted 1922, F. W. Kazmeier)

Increased Coal Production

The Geological Survey notes that there is increased production in coal fields, which it says comes not from any of the strongly organized fields, but results from a gradual return to work in non-union fields affected by the strike, and from increased activity in districts of the Far West where demand has hitherto been insufficient to call out full production. The accumulation of unbilled loads is still declining and the draft upon consumers' stock piles continues.

FORMER COLLIN MAN ASPIRANT

J. C. Thompson of Foard County, candidate for Commissioner of the General Land office is well known to many of the people of East Denton, North Dallas and South Collin Counties. He was born near Trinity Mills, Dallas County. His parents settled there in the early 50's or late 40's, according to George P. Brown of this city, Assistant United States Attorney for the Eastern District.

Mr. Thompson has lived in Foard County for the last 30 years. He was about 16 years old when Foard County was created and organized in 1892. He is a practical surveyor of recognized ability and is one of the best informed men on land titles of any in the state. A practical abstractor, accountant, surveyor and mathematician, makes him eminently fitted for this office. It would be a splendid reward to his forefathers and a recognition of his ability for Collin County to give him a big vote, said Mr. Brown.—Weekly Democrat Gazett, McKinney, Texas.

A HEAVY BURDEN

A Bad Back Makes Life Miserable For Many Crowell People

A bad back is a heavy burden. A burden at night when bedtime comes.

Just as bothersome in the morning. Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it? Know they are for kidney back-ache—and for other kidney ills?

If you don't, some Crowell people do.

Ask your neighbor! J. K. Woods, machinist, Crowell, says: "Lumbago and rheumatic pains had me in bad shape. Nights my back hurt so I could hardly turn and I couldn't sleep. My back ached and pained all the time and was so sore and lame it hurt me. My back and shoulders were lame and stiff, and when I stooped to pick up anything a sharp, knife-like pain caught me. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills put me in fine shape."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Woods had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 45

COULDN'T PART FROM CLOCK

Elderly Lady's Most Cherished Possession Had to Accompany Her on Long Visit.

After her children married and moved away, the woman reluctantly sold the house in which they had all been born and brought up, and moved into an apartment, taking for herself only her most cherished possessions. The best beloved of all her things was her grandfather's clock.

Finally her oldest daughter persuaded her to desert her apartment for a winter and come and stay with her. "I wonder that you didn't bring the grandfather's clock," her daughter said, as they drove from the station to the house. "Really, I'm surprised at you, mother."

A flush swept up the woman's cheeks. "I—I did bring it," she whispered self-consciously. "I thought you wouldn't mind if I kept it in my room. It's coming on the next train—this one didn't carry freight."

For a moment the daughter looked at her in amazement; then she threw back her head and laughed.

"You really brought it?" she demanded incredulously. "I might have known! You didn't bring the sideboard or anything?"

Still blushing, the mother shook her head. "Just the clock," she said. "I—I just couldn't bear to leave it there all alone."—New York Globe.

FOUR VIEWS OF THE BIBLE

The Belief That the Scriptures Are Throughout Verbally Inspired Is Not Universally Held.

According to one view, held for centuries, the Scriptures are throughout verbally inspired, and every word in them dictated to the sacred writers by the spirit of God; according to another, though they are not inspired word for word, they contain a record of divine things written under divine influence; according to a third, though not written under divine inspiration in any part, they contain a faithful record of a divine progressive revelation; and according to a fourth, they contain a record merely of what a long succession of passionately devout men saw and felt to be the clear purpose of the Eternal in His providence of the world. St. John is authority for the statement that "no man hath seen God at any time"; but certain impressions or feelings are interpreted as the "presence of God," and certain states of mind and will as the "Will of God." Men who believed they were thus moved upon by the divine presence and inspired to utter the divine will have given mankind a particular literature and this literature has been called the word of God. So far as our western civilization is concerned that word of God is known as the Holy Bible.

Don't Burn Your Shoes.

"People persist in burning their shoes," said the cobbler, according to the Boot and Shoe Recorder. "I don't see how it is. I keep telling them not to put their wet shoes on the steam radiator or on the kitchen stove to dry. But they keep on doing it. So the leather gets burned, and I get a lot of shoes with charred soles to mend."

"Of course, the shoes do not burn to ashes. If they did, then the wasteful habit might be ended, for people would plainly see for themselves that their shoes get burned when put on the stove or radiator. The soles, in the heat, just crisp, something like a piece of bacon, and when worn they crumble away. So I get a lot of shoes to be mended."

"Of course, it helps my business some. But I wish people wouldn't do it, because it is wasteful. And waste, you know, is the great American habit that keeps the cost of living high."

Origin of Flavors.

Among the most remarkable glimpses into hidden corners of nature that scientific advance has afforded are the frequent discoveries of micro-organisms in unexpected places, where they produce phenomena heretofore supposed to rise from other causes. For instance, a scientist in Upsala, Sweden, ascertained that in preparations of meat and fish containing, for purpose of preservation, salt to the amount of 15 per cent, micro-organisms grow luxuriantly, and he concludes that the flavors and odors that are peculiar to various salt preserves are due to the micro-organisms with which they are crowded.—Exchange.

See Geographical Change.

A variety of corn grains was found in the mortuary urns of prehistoric graves, unearthed in Tennessee. The only other cereal of its kind occurs in the West Indies. This is taken by the bureau of ethnology as proof of intercommunication between the ancient peoples of North America and those islands. If too evidence that within the time of man the West Indies were a continuous part of the North American mainland. As the locality in which these graves have been found becomes more fully searched, it is possible that other sustaining evidence in this connection will be found.—Scientific American.

Faltering Faith.

"Do you believe in the wisdom of the plain people as firmly as ever?" "Up to the present time," replied Senator Sorghum. "But if my antagonist shows as much strength as he claims at the next election it's going to shake my faith somewhat."
