Lady Returned from Holy Land Delivers Lecture Here

Mrs. W. S. Douglas of Fort Stockton, who was in the Armstrong party that toured the Holy Land this last summer, was a visitor in the home of Mrs. M. S. Henry this week, and while she was here she was invited to talk to the Woman's Missionary Society at the Methodist church about her trip to that country. So Mrs. Douglas met a goodly number of the ladies in the basement of the church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock and told many interesting things about her trip.

Mrs. Douglas does not claim to be a lecturer, but she is glad to avail herself of an opportunity to pass to others what she feels she has gained by her great visit to the most historic places in the world. Her talk was both interesting and instructive, and she held her audience for more than an hour and pictured the scenes that met her eyes and the impressions that were made upon her mind. She stated in the outset that she possessed a far greater missionary spirit than she had ever possessed as she witnessed the spiritual and temporal needs of the people who now inhabit what we please to call the Holy Land.

The surface of the country is generally rugged. The roads of the more mountainous portions are rough, except where the English and French have built highways since the Great War. Those improved roads are excellent. Those traversing the steep mountains and rugged hills are winding and in some places difficult and dangerous to travel. During the summer season the country is very dry and dusty and scanty vegetation covers the country anything but a prosperous appearance. The altitude of the Jordan Valley is low and at its south the Dead Sea is 1292 feet below sea level, consequently the heat is very oppressive and sunstrokes are common. The higher altitudes are more pleasant and Mount Hermon rises to a height where it presents a scene of beauty all the time with its snow-capped summit, and can be seen from many miles away.

The people are so poor that they are objects of pity to an American. We must see their condition, said Mrs. Douglas, to appreciate the United States. There are thousands of beggars, so many that if one gives expression of pity to every one who makes appeal for help, no time would be found for anything but to perform an act of charity. And besides riots are to be expected, as did in one instance in Rev. Melton gave some money to the small children. Warning was not to grant beggars their desires.

Practically all the people are either Mohammedans or Catholics. Protestantism has found no quarters in the land it could so far plant itself, and Mrs. Douglas thinks, the door is not so far as the Christian religion in its purity is concerned. Mohammedanism predominates. Christ looked upon only as a great prophet of something more.

No progress has been made along lines of development of any kind since the time of Christ. Commerce is carried on by means of camel caravans, just as when the Savior was here nearly two thousand years ago. The cities have made no progress. Some of them have retrograded to such extent that they are no more than a memory. Capernaum, once the commercial mistress of that country, is inhabited today by only two families. Historic Jericho is no more, although there is another Jericho. Jerusalem, the city that gave to the world pure religion and once a great commercial center, is unattractive, except for what it possesses of historic value. Aside from that, one wants to leave as soon as possible. Some of the smaller places are somewhat attractive, such as the city of Bethany and Nazareth. In some localities where grape culture is important there is considerable commercial activity.

Among the most important sites visited by Mrs. Douglas and her party are the Jordan where it is thought the Savior was baptized, the gate to the city of Jerusalem through which Jesus passed on his triumphal entry, which gate is sealed and is never opened, the Holy Sepulchre, Golgotha, Gethsemane, the tomb of John the Baptist, the house from which St. Paul was let down, the home of Naaman, the leper and the beautiful river Pharpar in which he wanted to dip himself to be cured rather than go to the Jordan, the beautiful blue sea of Gallilee, Cana where the first miracle was performed by the Savior, the ruins of the synagogue where Jesus taught in Jerusalem, Jacob's Well, the Needle's Eye, which is just about large enough for a man to crawl through, the site of Solomon's temple, over which a Mohammedan mosque holds sway, Mount of Olives, the birthplace of the Savior at Bethlehem, now occupied by a Catholic church, and many others of interest.

The result of a visit like this, Mrs. Douglas said, was to intensify one's interest in the Christian religion and makes one much stronger in missionary zeal. According to her impressions that country needs the truth of the Gospel as much as any country in the world, and yet it seems to be the most difficult to reach.

Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas was in the party, numbering about 50. Mrs. Douglas requested that the ladies sing "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand," the song which the party sang as they stood on the banks of that river a few weeks ago and then knelt and were led in a prayer of thankfulness by Dr. Truett for having been permitted to visit that famous river.

The entire party, the visiting lady said, made the trip with no serious sickness except the pastor of the Baptist church of Texarkana, who died while in Stockton.

The talk was worth much to every one who was present.

Returned from Visit To Oklahoma City

J. W. Beverly and his son, J. R. Beverly and wife, returned Sunday night from a ten days' visit to Oklahoma City.

When they left they intended to be gone only four days, but on account of the floods in Oklahoma they were forced to prolong their stay. They were in Oklahoma City during the big rise of the North Canadian River which did much damage to property in that city.

The last report of the loss of life, according to Mr. Beverly's information, was that six lives were lost. He says while the papers did not exaggerate the account of the flood they may have overestimated the number that lost homes. Many of those who abandoned their homes did so only temporarily and the final estimate he thinks, would be placed at not more than a third or a fourth as many as were at first reported.

The river rose to an unprecedented height, being at one time about 22 feet high. The river, Mr. Beverly says, winds for 340 miles between two airline points not over 43 miles apart, which fact makes the river a very dangerous thing when it overflows its banks.

Oklahoma City being north of both the South and North Canadian Rivers and the bridges washed out on both rivers made travel towards Texas uncertain, and in order to get by they had to go south to Purcell before they could find a bridge that was not washed away.

FERRINS TO WINTER IN OLD ALABAMA

A letter from H. M. Ferrin, who with his wife are now in Tennessee on their way to Alabama, says: "We left Cherokee, Iowa, September 24, coming south through the western portion of the state into the northwestern portion of Missouri. We stopped a short while at Maryville, then near Albany we visited five days with a family that were neighbors of ours in Iowa 25 years ago. They are in a very good portion of Missouri, and they have done extra well by hard work and good management."

"Western Iowa, especially the northern portion, has an extra fine crop which is well matured. Northwestern Missouri has a fair per cent of good corn. Some of the early crop was hurt by the dry weather. From that section on the yield of corn will be less. At Columbia, Mo., we visited five days with my oldest sister and her daughter, Joy. The daughter has taught the first grade in the same school for 26 years and is still teaching there. We visited for a short time cousins of mine in Fulton, Mo. On our way from Columbia to St. Louis we met scores of autos loaded down with camping equipment. Most of them were bound for Colorado. We have had some strips of fine paved roads, but the majority have been fearfully rough. In many places we were bound to detour where real construction was under way. In Kentucky and Tennessee the bridges as well as the roads are on the bum. We do not meet any fast drivers here, as the roads are crooked and the sides are covered with trees and vines, so none can see far ahead."

"Kentucky and Tennessee through which we are passing are very poor farming countries, compared with the best lands in Foard County, and this year the boll weevil and the web worm have done a great damage to the cotton crop. The sorghum crop is small but of a fine yield and an excellent quality. Although the country is poor, we meet the finest of people. In Southern Illinois we saw many fields of asparagus with from two to ten acres, and one farmer said there were fields of forty and fifty acres and they had no trouble in finding a market for all of it. We stopped half a mile north of the little place we are now at, McNairy, to put in a new connection rod and it began to rain and kept it up for two days. We are about 20 miles north of Corinth, Mississippi. They say we will find gravelled roads from there on to the Gulf coast, and we may go that way. Our object in coming this way was to get to Fairhope, Ala., and we expect to spend some time there. If we find a good road from Corinth, Miss., to Muscle Shoals, Ala., we may go there."

Two Club Boys Attended Dallas Fair

Bagley Russell won first on maize and S. B. Middlebrook won first on White Leghorn chickens in the County Fair, which entitled the two boys to a free trip to the Dallas Fair. Both attended the fair. It is to be noted that both these boys are of Margaret, and their success in farming and in poultry are sources of community pride.

In this connection it might be well to mention the fact that Bagley Russell and a brother have raised this year about 90 turkeys, doing all the work and attending to the flock themselves. Also S. B. Middlebrook has raised 200 fine White Leghorn chickens, his success depending entirely upon his own efforts.

These things are worth something, and the News is proud of what the boys have done. They have set an example. They have turned their energies into channels that produce actual profit and it is highly commendable.

Married

Mr. Lee A. Baker and Miss Annie Thompson were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Thompson, last week. Rev. T. C. Willett officiating.

Miss Thompson is well known and is loved by her many friends. Mr. Baker is of Dallas and has had employment there for some time. The couple will make their home in that city.

DUTY PERFORMED HAS REFLEX BENEFIT

"Doing one's Christian duty is the sowing of good seed that will produce good fruit. The seed sown are certain to germinate and bring forth fruit. Seed not sown can not bring forth fruit."

"When a person fails to perform his duty he is withholding the seed that might be sown. He is to be compared with the man who has but a bushel of corn and has it ground for bread with which to feed his family because there is no more corn to be had. Wisdom would say that the seed must be planted, a crop produced so that life may be prolonged in the years to come."

It is only a business proposition. The kingdom is not a thing of charity. It is a business and should be regarded as such. Then what one pleases to think is often a generous gift on his part in the financial support of the kingdom is merely the payment of his debts, and most of the time he is behind with the payments. Tithing is the only business manner in which Christ's Kingdom can be properly promoted.

But the Kingdom needs one's financial support no more than one needs to give it for his own spiritual development and growth. The great benefits to the one who does his duty is that he grows out of himself and therefore unfolds into a state of greater usefulness.

The above are some of the lessons to be drawn from Rev. Willett's sermon Sunday evening.

Rev. W. P. Garvin Completes Term in This District

Rev. W. P. Garvin, presiding elder for the Vernon District, Methodist Church, preached the evening sermon at the First Methodist Church here Sunday night. Rev. Mr. Garvin has served four years as presiding elder of the district, which is the full time for a presiding elder to be assigned to one district, and at the coming session of the Northwest Texas Conference to be held in Plainview beginning Wednesday of next week, he will be given another assignment.

During his term as presiding elder of this district, Rev. Garvin has been very successful in advancing the cause of Methodism and has made many friends in the district. He will go to the conference at Plainview and will be accompanied by Dr. R. E. Dickerson, pastor of the First Methodist church.—Vernon Record.

We will not leave until roads are dry. "With best wishes for all Foard County people, we are,

"Yours truly,
"H. M. FERRIN."

Delegation Seeks to Interest Southern Pacific in Orient

San Angelo, Oct. 21.—Delegates assembled by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce going to Washington for a conference with interstate commerce officials in an endeavor to get that body to turn the Orient railroad over to the Southern Pacific, left here Saturday for Fort Worth where they will meet Porter A. Whaley, manager of the chamber and other officials of that organization, and men high in the Southern Pacific Company.

The party of about 15 will leave Ft. Worth on the Sunshine Special for St. Louis and Washington Monday afternoon. The conference has been called for Oct. 25.

For nearly six weeks representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have been going up and down the Orient getting letters from prominent citizens indorsing the move of the Southern Pacific taking over the road, and requesting the Interstate Commerce Commission to turn it over to this great Southwestern system.

It is intimated that a high authority backs the move that the Spur National Bank, over which Clifford Jones, former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is president, is backing the conference. Jones is closely connected with the Swenson interests at Spur, and the Swensons are said to be either on the board of directors of the Southern Pacific or very closely associated with the road.

Transportation is being provided by Whaley for the trip.

Among the delegates are Rufus Wright and R. M. Chitwood, of Sweetwater, and C. C. Kirkpatrick of San Angelo.

American Legion Passes Resolution Against Klan

There has never been any beating around the bush with the American Legion on the Klan activities. They have spoken in clear and unmistakable terms on this un-American organization ever since it made its appearance. The local posts have done it and the other day the Legion in National convention in San Francisco almost unanimously spoke as a body against it. The following are the resolutions passed at that meeting:

"Whereas, the fundamental law of our country guarantees to all peoples equal rights and equal opportunities and the right to worship their God as they see fit, and,

"Whereas, it is provided that our laws shall be made and enforced by representatives of our people, chosen under the law to do so and,

"Whereas, membership of the American Legion is made up of those who served our country in time of great national stress without distinction as to race, color, creed or class, and,

"Whereas, the American Legion is pledged to the orderly enforcement of our laws through lawful agencies; therefore be it,

"Resolved by the American Legion in national convention assembled this seventeenth day of October, 1923, that we consider any individual, group of individuals or organizations which creates, or fosters racial, religious or class strife among our people, or which takes into their own hands the enforcement of law, determination of guilt or infliction of punishment to be un-American, a menace to our liberties and destructive of our fundamental law; and be it further,

"Resolved, that we consider such action by any individual, groups or organizations to be inconsistent with the ideals and purposes of the American Legion."

Hawkins of Vernon Given Masonic Honors

The big news agencies serving the daily papers of the nation carried the information that L. G. Hawkins of Vernon had been elected a Knight Commander of the Court of Honor in which a Scottish Rite Mason must serve four years before he is eligible to have conferred upon him the thirty-third degree, which is an honorary degree conferred by the Supreme Council. It is the highest degree known in Masonry and being elected to the Court of Honor almost invariably leads to the Mason thus honored receiving the Thirty-third degree after he has served his four years as a Knight in the Court of Honor.

Mr. Hawkins, who is president of the Waggoner National Bank, is Past Grand Commander of the Knights Templar and has held many other places of honor in the Masonic world.—Vernon Record.

Attend District Association

Rev. P. R. Huckleberry and C. J. Smith left Tuesday morning to attend the district association of the Christian Church in that city. Rev. Huckleberry is evangelist for District No. 2 of Northwest Texas.

MARKETS TEN CARS CATTLE IN KANSAS CITY

J. W. Bell returned from Kansas City Sunday where he had put ten cars of cattle on the market there. These were cattle which he had grazed in Kansas.

Speaking of the price of cattle Mr. Bell stated that they were not bringing as much now as they were a few weeks ago, and his explanation of the situation is that the low prices are due to the fact that cattle have been rushed on the markets from all over the country.

An evidence of this is that most of the cattle now put on the markets are cows. Mr. Bell said that Frank Witherspoon, who is well informed on the situation and who was at one time at the head of the Livestock Exchange, said the receipts in the Kansas City market for the last year shows that 67 per cent of the cattle received there are cows. He says that indicates that the steers have been marketed and that the cows are now being sold.

That can mean nothing but that some time there will be a shortage of livestock, and then the prices are bound to advance.

YOUNG COUPLE WEDDED

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gentry in the Black community, Mr. S. E. Mills and Miss Beulah Kenner were united in matrimony Wednesday evening at 6:45, Rev. Marts performing the wedding ceremony.

Mr. Mills is a promising young farmer of Foard City and Mrs. Mills is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Kenner of this city. Both are popular and highly respected young people, having a host of friends who wish them happiness in their new relations. They will make their home near Foard City on the farm.

FIRE BOYS CALLED TWICE LAST WEEK

The fire department was called on Friday afternoon to extinguish a fire in the office building of the Johnson Wagon Yard, which proved to be an easy matter to handle. Within a very few minutes after the alarm was given the hose of the wagon was shooting a stream of water onto the fire which had been caused by some one having carelessly thrown a lighted match into a sack of cotton that had been placed through an opening on the ceiling. No damage was caused.

Then on Saturday morning a fire was started by a flue above the ceiling in the building occupied by Prof. R. C. Campbell. The department responded to the call and immediately brought it under control.

WEST TEXAS C. C. MAN HERE MONDAY

L. McCarter of Vernon, organization manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was here Monday looking after membership subscriptions to the organization. He told the News that he was hoping to announce soon that the Southern Pacific had taken over the Orient, a matter which the Chamber had been waiting for many months.

McCarter said that it had been agreed that both the Interstate Commerce Commission and some of the officials of the Southern Pacific had agreed that they favored the plan.

A delegation of West Texas representatives are in Washington now looking on the proposition.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medical Virtues Retained and Improved — Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

Mrs. Glenn Halsell Given Tea at River Crest

The Dresden tea given by Mrs. Furd Halsell at River Crest Country Club Thursday afternoon honoring Mrs. Glenn Halsell, who was married in the Spring, was the most elaborate of the season and marked the opening of the social activities for the Winter. The tea tables were lovely with masses of Dresden rosebuds and fern, the exquisite Dresden tea cups, antique lace and gleaming silver of the appointments adding to the effect.

The color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the fragrant pink roses and fern, the tall green candlesticks with the dainty pink shades emphasizing the motif. In the center of the large table, banked with little tea roses, was a mirror veiled in tulle with Dresden birds and swans creating a very charming and picturesque scene and the orchestra hidden behind an embankment of palms and fern played soft strains of exquisite music during the afternoon.

In the receiving line were Meses Glenn Halsell, Ben Hill of McKinney, mother of Mrs. Halsell, Miss Susan Dowell of McKinney, Mrs. Halsell's aunt, Mrs. Guy Waggoner, and Mrs. Furd Halsell. Mrs. Glenn Halsell was lovely in an imported model of raspberry and gold chiffon, Mrs. Hill wore a black cut velvet, Mrs. Waggoner's gown was an imported model of black lace, Miss Dowell was very attractive in an orchid chiffon and Mrs. Furd Halsell was charming in a gown of brown velvet and silver lace.

Mrs. Ella Conrad and Mrs. Hyde Jennings poured tea the early part of the afternoon and Mrs. R. K. Harker and Mrs. Walter Camp were at the tea table the latter part, their lovely gowns harmonizing with the color schemes in a very attractive way.

The house party was composed of Misses Elsie Criss, Marie Storts, Alice Jennings, Catherine Johnson, Louise Scott, Meses, Marc Smith, Waitman Martin, Tom Jennings, T. B. Yarbrough, John Halsell, C. B. Simmons and Grover Cowden.

Over 200 guests called during the afternoon.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

KLAN CHARGES SIMMONS WITH SELLING SECRET

Kansas City, Oct. 22.—William Joseph Simmons and 10 other officers of the Ku Klux Klan are alleged to have entered into a conspiracy to sell secrets of the order to a competitive organization in a suit filed in the court of Judge Allen Southern here Monday by the klan.

A temporary restraining order, preventing the Knights of Kamelia, the competitive order named, from imparting secrets of the klan, was granted.

The petition, which was filed by W. F. Zumbum, local attorney, who said he was representing the national organization of the klan, declares Simmons' term as imperial wizard expired in November, 1922, shortly after which he is alleged to have disposed of the klan's second degree secrets to the new order.

HOME TOWN COMMANDMENTS

The following ten commandments adopted by an Illinois chamber of commerce might well be adopted by communities everywhere:

1. Thou shalt love thy home town above all other towns. Thou shalt be loyal to her people and her institutions.
2. Thou shalt guard thy home town from the hosts of evil that would invade and destroy her soul. Thou shalt keep the good name of thy home town clean and without stain or blemish.
3. Thou shalt elect as thy public servants men of strong character, eager to conserve the best interests of thy people. And when thou hath elected such men thou shalt stand to support and encourage them for their temptations are many and their burdens heavy.
4. Thou shalt exalt thy public school and honor it all the days of thy life with the best of teachers, buildings and equipment, for the school is the cradle of the future. Thy children are here and they shall be the leaders of tomorrow. No training is too good for them and no preparation superfluous.
5. Thou shalt defend the health of thy home town from the death that lurks in marshes, swamps, and heaps of filth. Thou shalt exterminate the fly and the mosquito, for they carry typhoid and malaria. The tubercle bacillus shalt thou drive before thee with the sun and fresh air as thy allies.
6. Thou shalt build good roads and keep them good. For by her roads is a town known for good or ill. "Eternal Watchfulness" shalt be thy motto, that thy roads may not ravel nor thy supervisor forget thee.
7. Thou shalt keep thy home town beautiful. The hills, the trees, the waters that Nature has given her thou shalt preserve in sacred trust. No hovel shalt thou permit to disfigure them. Thou shalt keep thy homes and door yards clean and cheerful. Thy waters shalt thou purify that they may bring thee life and strength. The future of thy town shalt thou plan with care and diligence that thy growth be not haphazard, but full of thought and loving care, as the plans of a mother for the growth of her child.
8. Thou shalt honor thy community institutions. Thou shalt work together with thy neighbors with all thy heart and strength and mind. Thou shalt work together in thy organizations and clubs for the common welfare. Thy leaders shalt thou learn to obey. Thou shalt serve on committees where thou shalt know one another better, thy work prosper, and thy friendship multiply.
9. Thou shalt be a good neighbor to all who live in thy home town, whether they be rich or poor. Thou shalt speak ill of none and good of many. Thou shalt be a friend to strangers and a visitor to the sick in their affliction.
10. Thou shalt go to church for the honor of thy home and for thine own good. Thou shalt not consider thyself too wise, too busy, too bad or too good, to spend an hour or two on Sunday with thy neighbors in the worship of God. Thou shalt not send thy children to church. Thou shalt bring them there. Thou shalt offer thyself to thy spiritual leader for service of God and thy community. So shall ye win many battles together.—The Southwestern Retailer.

At a meeting of daily newspaper editors in Oklahoma City some requests were made of the Legislature now in session, which, if given consideration, should tend to produce better conditions in that state. Besides urging the body to investigate Governor Walton's official acts, the following very timely lines were written and endorsed by the newspaper men: "That in order to clear the good name of the State and to show the lawabiding character of the average citizenship of Oklahoma, we must urge that the Legislature pass a drastic law forbidding the masking of any bands or secret orders and providing severe penalties for flogging or mob violence against either persons or property."

There are those who think the church ought to take its place as a business institution and advertise just like other businesses do. That would not be putting it on a basis with commercial enterprises in actually offering a commodity for so much per, unless, of course, it happens to be hot air. The church as an institution has something of immeasurable value to offer and not a few churches are being elevated to the high positions of real business institutions. It is doubtful if anything would tend more to eliminate the idea that the church is an institution of charity and command the respect of all more than paid advertisement.

The Dallas News quotes an automobile maker as having said that 1 per cent of our wealth is on wheels, and adds that in some instances it is 100 per cent. May we not say that in still others it is 150 per cent? How much do you owe on Lizzie besides what you haven't "got?"

When you and the good Lord are alone tonight give your neighbor a good tongue lashing and then see how he looks tomorrow.

Of course it is none of our business, but we'll bet that many a dime spent for face paint had better be spent for the door face kind.

Another similarity between the newspaper writer and the retired capitalist is that about all either of them does is to fill space.

Some folks say we have no Lincolns now. Maybe it is because our boys have quit being born in log cabins.

Human nature is about the same it was 2,000 years ago but it has a heap better chance now.

LOVE THAT FAILED

By DOROTHY PIPER

WHEN Nora Davis took charge of the magazine and cigar booth at the Hotel Costlea she had absolutely no intention of becoming a "gold-digger." She had a natural aversion for the practice, and then when Larry King issued some worthy advice she determined to take heed.

Young Doctor King was highly esteemed in Nora's neighborhood and his opinion meant a great deal. Although there was no formal engagement between the two, rumor had it that Nora and Larry intended to marry as soon as his profession became established. Therefore he had Nora's welfare at heart when he warned her regarding her new position.

"Nora," he said, almost paternally, "a hotel lobby is a great hangout for wealthy idlers. Many will be glad to exchange a dinner for a smile, a theater ticket for a touch of your hand, and some tawdry gift for a kiss. Never sell your self-respect, and be on guard."

"All right," Nora replied laughingly. "But there's no cause for worry, Larry. Men like pretty girls; they won't even honor me with a second glance."

"That's where you're wrong," argued the doctor, turning poetical. "You will be as refreshing as an old-fashioned melody after an evening of jazz. You're different, Nora."

Larry was right; Nora was different. Simplicity was her keynote, and her eyes held an honest, wistful appeal.

But we all have our moments of weakness, and the good things in life are very desirable. So one day when a well-groomed gentleman asked for a 50-cent cigar, Nora found herself regarding him with interest. The sale of a 50-center was a rarity even at the Costlea.

Nora pressed on the cigar lighter as she always did for her customers, but there was something besides service behind her movement. She cocked her head in a birdlike manner and puckered her lips in assumed pensiveness while the man puffed contentedly.

"Well, well," he exclaimed heartily. "You are alive, aren't you? For a moment I thought you were one of the girls on the magazine covers. But you are lovelier because you are real."

No woman can resist so flattering a compliment, and after he had gone Nora went to the desk for information. "He's a wealthy cattle owner from the West," the clerk told her. "His name is Brenton. Better cultivate him, Nora."

Several evenings later, as Nora was leaving for home, she was surprised to see that a cold, gray fog had blown in from the harbor. So when Brenton's luxurious sedan rolled up to the curb she was glad to accept his invitation to ride home.

Brenton took a marvelous mole-skin wrap from the robe-rail and held it for Nora to put on. How good it felt as it caressed her throat, and what a feeling of dignity and poise a garment like that gave one? "It fits you perfectly," Brenton remarked casually. "My sister and you are about the same size."

Nora's first taste of luxury whetted her desire for more, and in the weeks that followed she allowed the Westerner to escort her to theaters, dinners and dances. One thing perplexed Nora—Mr. Brenton repeatedly refused to meet her folks. "Let's keep our friendship a secret a little longer," he kept saying.

Brenton won Nora's affection and asked her to become his wife. Their wedding, too, must be a secret, and Nora, who was overcome by her good fortune, agreed to his plans.

She drew all her money from the bank and bought a trousseau suitable for a rich man's bride. On the day of their marriage Nora went to the suite that Brenton had ordered, and waited for him to come with witnesses and a minister. She waited for hours, and at last the expected rap sounded upon the door panel.

Nora treated her nose to another coat of powder and gave a final pat to her costume. Her eagerness to look pretty was unnecessary, for it was a belch, and not her husband-to-be who handed Nora a note. The note read:

"Many thanks for entertaining a lonely man. I have returned to the only woman I truly love—my wife."

"J. BRENTON."

Pride goes before a fall, but Nora's sense of humor was greater than her pride. The heroines of "Almost a Bride" and "Jilted on Her Wedding Day" had nothing on her. Surely she didn't love Brenton for himself, else she would have been heartbroken.

On her way home Nora stopped at Larry's office and made a clean confession. "So here I am, Larry," she said at the conclusion of her tale. "I'm all dressed up with no place to go."

"How long will that finery keep?" asked Larry, with a twinkle in his eye. "It will keep forever if I pack it in lavender. Why?"

"Oh, nothing, only I thought we might have a real wedding soon and go West for our honeymoon," Larry suggested.

"West," exploded Nora. "I'm through with everything western! We'll go east, young man. East is best, and West is—bunk!"

Outside the doctor's office, Nora paused, blew her nose noisily, and silently gave thanks for men such as Larry.

Baptist Church Notes

Last Sunday was a happy day at the Baptist church, and the evening congregation very fine. The music, with seven instruments and good leaders, was something everybody is thankful for and we are enjoying it more than can be expressed in words. After preaching service George Cates was baptized. Another happy thing about the evening service was the number of men and young men present, and still another was the solo given by Mrs. Wright in her usual sweet way.

Now you see what you missed if you were not there, and don't miss it next Sunday for a real feast is prepared and served each Lord's day. Are you cheating yourself by staying away?

Promotion in Sunday School next Sunday. Say! Who is proud of the B. Y. P. U? We are.

Now altogether for another good day of service next Lord's day. Don't let anything or anybody keep you from enjoying these good things the few days we have on earth.

Dampness Harms a Piano.

Most people know that a piano should never stand in a draught; but it is not always possible to place the instrument in an ideal position. A piano is frequently regarded as a piece of furniture, instead of a somewhat delicate arrangement of fine wire and hammers which are very susceptible to changes of temperature. Damp is the greatest enemy that confronts the piano, but if the lid is raised frequently and allowed to remain open for a time a current of air can circulate inside. Damp also causes the hammers to swell, which, in turn, makes the keys hard to depress. It is never advisable to have a valuable piano in a cold room in winter for more than a day or two at a time; and if possible a small oil stove should be placed near to it for an hour or so each day, if it is not desirable to light a fire occasionally.

Lumber Men Endorse Newspaper Advertising

The Quannah Tribune-Chief says eighteen managers of Wm. Cameron lumber yards met in that city Friday evening for a good sociable time, and among the things they discussed was advertising and they agreed that newspaper advertising is far the best.

The men of this country may be foolish in many things, but they are too wise to select a woman jury to try another woman.

When the head and the heart can not agree they ought to compromise.

All the world loves a lover—except, sometimes, the girl.

Pebbles Picked Up in Passing

The president intimates that conditions generally in this country are satisfactory. That sounds good. We are not doing any kicking ourself.

But with all due regard to the wisdom of the president, we suggest that he get busy, put the government machinery into energetic motion, see that federal laws are impartially enforced against rich and poor alike (something that has not been done in many a day), keep the freight cars moving, hold big business down to a reasonable profit, curb the profiteers, jail the crooks, and give the little fellow a square deal.

If he will do these things business will be more than satisfactory, and we will willingly call him something besides "Silent Cal."

Have you been criticising our town authorities lately for something they have or have not done?

Have you been praising them where praise is deserved?

Always keep one fact in mind—they are human, just as you are.

Instead of talking about them you can accomplish more by talking to them, by giving them your views and patiently explaining why you think your views are the correct ones.

They will be glad to talk to you, but, being human, they sometimes become peeved when you talk about them. Talk is good, or bad, according to the nature of the talk.

Our universities and colleges are going mad on the subject of athletics. With many students education is rapidly becoming almost a secondary consideration.

The young man who devotes his time to his studies is termed a book-worm, or a grub, and is often shunned or ignored by his fellow students.

If he is a highbrow in athletics he is regarded as a little tin god, worshiped by students and faculty alike.

So-called "higher education" will have much to answer for in future generations.

There is one thing that this town needs above everything else. You know what it is, your neighbor knows, and we all know. But do we all think of the same thing?

What would make more interesting reading than for a dozen of our well informed citizens to write out their individual views and submit them for publication?

Will yours be the first to reach us?

We don't agree with the old saying that a fool and his money soon part. Ours gets away from us in a heck of a hurry, and we strongly object to being termed a fool.

Keeping a stiff upper lip may be all right, but it would be rather disconcerting to have one tacked onto a fellow for the rest of his life.

Columbian Club

Mrs. A. Brian was hostess to the Columbian Club Wednesday afternoon October 17th. The subject of the lesson was "James Fenimore Cooper." Interesting features of the program were: A survey of Cooper's life and character by Mrs. Kincaid, Mrs. Klepper's paper on "Cooper's Indians," Mrs. T. L. Hughston's discussion of the "The Last of the Mohicans," a description of "Cooper's Style" by Mrs. Miller and the reading of "The War Dance" by Mrs. Beidleman.

Delightful refreshments were served to the members and the following guests: Mmes. Leonard of Memphis, Tenn., Berna of Houston, Sanders and Shults.

DANGER IN REMOVING MOLE

No Matter What Process is Employed, Operation is Likely to Have Grave Results.

Birthmarks are due to an overgrowth of the blood vessels at one spot in the skin. There are two kinds, the raised and the flat. The raised is the easiest to handle. The "strawberry mark," as it is called, is a reddish raised spot, appearing in the forehead or between the eyes of a new baby. There are several treatments for this, of which the best is radium. It should be removed soon after the appearance, as it leaves practically no scar while the child is still young. Any adult, however, with a strawberry mark which was not removed in infancy may safely undergo the same treatment with success.

Moles are really a form of birthmark and are due to an overgrowth of the pigment-forming cells of the skin. A mole is a potentially dangerous blemish. Many dermatologists use the electric needle, radium and freezing on moles, but all of these are dangerous because they may remove only the upper part and stimulate the rest to further growth. This results in the most malignant form of cancer and invariably causes death.—The Delinquent.

Moroccan Girls Marry Early.

In Morocco, as in most Mohammedan countries, the native girls are married at an extremely early age, often before they are fifteen, and it is not uncommon for them to have been divorced at twenty.

Divorce proceedings in Morocco merely consist of a friendly talk between the woman's husband and her father.

An arrangement is made by which she returns to her parents, the husband often paying compensation to the father. The same woman will probably soon be married again to another Moor, and will take it all as a matter of course.

Moorish weddings are very interesting affairs. The actual ceremony takes place at midnight, but the celebration lasts for some days, particularly in the case of the better class of Moors. The festivities take the form of much feasting, dancing, music and the firing of salutes from the long native rifles. Friends come from all the surrounding districts, rigged out in their brightest and best attire.

Game Law Warning Issued by Deputy Game Warden Here

The season opens Tuesday, October 16, and closes January 15, for killing the following wild game birds: Geese, brant, sandhill cranes, plover, snipe of all kinds and shore birds, it was announced by H. White, deputy game commissioner.

The bag limit for wild geese, brant and sandhill cranes is eight for any one day; ducks, plover, snipe and all wild shore birds twenty-five (25) for any one day, with a limit not to exceed a total aggregate of 25 of any and all the combined species for one day, according to Mr. White.

"The federal government has declared a closed season on upland plover and it seems evident that the only species of plover seen in this locality are upland plover and persons killing plover of any kind are likely to violate this law, which is much more severe than a mere state law violation," said Mr. White.

"We now have in this vicinity a district game commissioner and several other deputies who have already demonstrated their activity by catching and convicting a number of game and fish law violations. The majority of these offenses have been for hunting without licenses and all as yet have been allowed the minimum fine. In one county in this district a man has paid a fine of $50 and costs for killing one quail and in addition to this there have also been several convicted for killing ducks before the season opened.

"The quail is a game bird that is almost entirely exterminated in this district and their protection must have the cooperation of all the sportsmen, farmers and ranch owners with the game department if they are to be properly protected. The open season on quail opens December 1 and closes January 31.

"It seems to be the opinion of the average farmer and ranch owner that all the game reared on their premises belongs to them personally and that they have the right to kill this game any time they so desire, but the law says that all the game within the borders of this state belongs to the people of the state and comes under the jurisdiction and protection of the game commissioner and his authorized deputies. This is not mentioned to offend any farmer or ranch owner, but merely that they may be enlightened as to the real meaning of the law, for without their help and cooperation the game commissioner could not give the effective service that is expected of his department.

"A sportsman is really benefitting himself in several ways by purchasing a hunting license; first, a cheap safeguard against paying a fine for hunting without one, and second, that all of this money is now being spent for the enforcement of the game laws in order that there will be game left to hunt after the season is really opened. As evidence of this statement, I will refer you to the game commissioner's annual report, which was published a short time ago, stating that in all previous years the proceeds from hunting license, had been transferred to other departments and there was only a small portion that was actually spent for the enforcement of the game laws, but that all the money received last year is being spent for the game protection. There are six active field deputy commissioners furnished by the state in 1922 and this year there are 32 paid men in the field.

"No hunting license is necessary

VALLEY FARMS ASS'N.

A co-operative organization for re-selling farms and parts of farms where people are overloaded or owing to the financial depression or other reasons, are having to sell. We have a number of bargains which will not last long. For $150.00 to $300.00 per acre we can sell you improved farms that will grow citrus fruit or anything else adapted to this climate. For $50.00 to $200.00 we can sell you land more or less subject to overflow, some of it improved. There is no better land in existence than this land. The above prices are what we might term special. We also have the "dry farming land, prices varying from $20.00 to $50.00 for unimproved, and from $45.00 to $100.00 for improved land. The higher prices usually indicate land closer in and better improved. Now and then a small citrus orchard is included in the improvements. The Citrus Industry is by far the big thing for the Valley. We ginned up to September the 10th, 1923, 80,000 bales of cotton.

Truck consisting of cabbage, onions, lettuce, carrots, spinach, beans, etc., is an important crop. The staple crops are cotton, corn, broom-corn and forage crops. The dry farming section specializes on cotton and onions. In some instances we can give liberal terms. We sell at the owner's price. We always have some trades on hand.

PETITION FOR ROAD BONDS ASKED FOR IN WILBARGER COUNTY

Petitions are being circulated in Wilbarger county asking the County Commissioners to order an election on a bond issue of $600,000 for road improvement.

The petitions were finally drawn up yesterday after several weeks of conferences and investigation by members of the Commissioners Court and others interested in the movement. The proposed bond issue is asked primarily in order that the county may take advantage of the offer recently made by the Highway Commission to pay two-thirds of the cost of completing the two highways through the county.

The plan is to use $400,000 of the issue for the two highways. It is estimated that this amount with the aid promised by the Highway Commission will complete the Colorado-Gulf Highway to the county line in each direction and complete the Lee Highway through the county from Red River to the Foard County line.

The remainder will be divided as follows: $25,000 to Commissioner's precinct No. 1, $25,000 to precinct No. 2, $25,000 to precinct No. 4, $75,000 to precinct No. 3, to be apportioned in sums of $25,000 to each of the justice precincts in Commissioner's precinct No. 3, known as Fargo No. 5, Tolbert and Farmers Valley No. 6 and Odell No. 7, and $50,000 to finish out the gaps in the paving between the city limits and the city paving on South Main, North Main and West Wilbarger and take care of necessary preliminary expenses in handling the bond issue and in getting the road work started.

The petitions will be submitted to the Commissioners Court Monday, according to present plans, and an election will probably be ordered for late in November. Under the law it is necessary to give full thirty days notice before the date of election.

The plan as agreed upon will make it possible for roads to be put in good condition in practically every section of the county, in addition to completing the pavement of the two highways across the county. The success of this plan will give Wilbarger county one of the best road systems in the state, with the exception of counties containing some of the larger cities.—Vernon Record.

2,600 ACRES SITE FOR TEXAS TECH COLLEGE BOUGHT

Lubbock, Oct. 22.—W. W. Caves, assistant Attorney General of Texas, C. W. Meadows of Waco, secretary of the board of trustees of the Texas Tech College and R. A. Underwood of Plainview, member of the board of trustees, completed the purchase of the 2,600-acre site for the Texas Tech College Monday, and the deeds have been filed in the Lubbock County clerk's office.

In addition to the state's $150,000 Lubbock paid $91,000 on the site, bringing the 2,600 acres within the amount set by the State Legislature in the Tech bill.

The 2,600 acres cost an average of $120 per acre cash. It is situated adjoining the city of Lubbock on the west and is a perfect tract of agricultural land. The entire tract is suitable for cultivation and more than 1,200 of the 2,600 acres are now under cultivation.

This completes the entire business of the transfer, which was finished with the least possible confusion or delay. The deeds were transferred as the warrants were paid. All of the forms, releases and transfers were accepted by the Assistant Attorney General.

The Step Beyond Federal Aid

COMMON SENSE APPLIED TO THE NATION'S ROAD-BUILDING PROGRAM

It is generally recognized that existing roads fall into four classes: Interstate roads, state roads (important to the whole state), county roads (important to the whole county), and local roads, serving only a small part of a county.

The United States Government recognizes the importance of the interstate road by providing in the Federal Aid act, that interstate roads of a mileage not to exceed seven per cent of the total system, may receive Federal aid in construction.

States recognize the importance of the state road, and build it, often wholly from state funds. Counties build their own roads and sometimes local roads, although many such are enterprises constructed by a community of less size than the county.

State roads and interstate roads usually join. Some state roads may not have good connections across a state line, but as a general rule they do; indeed, many interstate roads become truly national in scope, and become known by their nation name, as the National Old Trails Road, the Lincoln Highway, the Lee Highway, etc.

It is the argument of those who believe that the United States should go further than Federal aid, and become the original constructor and permanent maintainer of truly national roads; that, just as states build state roads, counties build county roads, and communities build local roads, so should the nation build the main interstate trunk line; that there are roads which truly serve the whole nation, which should be built by and maintained by the whole nation, just as there are state roads which truly serve the whole state and which the states recognize are rightly built and maintained by the state.—National Highway Association.
