ANOTHER OLD-TIME CITIZEN ANSWERS CALL OF DEATH

After an illness of several weeks which David L. Reavis died at his home in this city about nine o'clock Friday morning.

For about five years Mr. Reavis' health has not been good. It was while he was doing drafting work in Antonio for the Government about two years ago that he had an attack of influenza which is thought to have been the beginning of the nervous breakdown that culminated in his death. During the latter portion of the winter or in the early spring of 1923 his health became plainly visible and some months he was under the care of the home physician. Finally he was thought that a trip to the Gulf where he could be put under the treatment of his old friend, Dr. Sappington, might prove beneficial. He left on July 4th for Houston and remained there until the 20th of August when he came home.

At first after going to Galveston Mr. Reavis seemed to improve in health and it was thought by his physician that the disease might be arrested and life prolonged for a few years at least. But before he left he was not to be doing so well, and was anxious to come home and Sappington thought it advisable for him to come and if it became necessary he could return to Galveston for further treatment. His condition became more serious from time he reached home until death came.

The deceased was born in Cooper county, Mo., May 25, 1860. The family including his parents and three brothers and two sisters, came to Texas about 50 years ago, locating Valley View, Cooke County. Later he returned to Missouri but stayed for a short while and came back to Texas and located in Stephens County. Ten years afterwards the family moved to Enterprise, Oregon, where he and mother residing there until their death a few years ago.

Mr. Reavis procured work with a surveying party in West Texas with H. & T. C. Ry. Company, and for some time was merely an assistant. His mathematical skill and his partial knowledge of surveying attracted the attention of Captain Spiller, who was the head of the surveying party. He was given a theoretical course in surveying, combining it with the practical in the field, and finally made the head surveyor of the party and being in charge of the crew. At the time Harry Sappington was engaged in this work, though with other crew, for the same company. It was during this work that these two young men were thrown together and became life long friends. It was after they had ceased to work for H. & T. C. Ry. Company that they took up residence in Quamah and some time worked together as surveyors in that county. Sappington decided to study medicine and went to Galveston where he completed course and has since made that his home. Mr. Reavis remained in this county and after having met and become acquainted with Miss Ida Mack married her Sept. 7, 1893. They made their home until 1895 when they moved to Enterprise, Oregon. Mr. Reavis did surveying work practically through the entire period of his first stay in that country, covering a period of eight years, at the end of which time they returned to Foard County in 1903 and remained there until 1910, when they again moved to Enterprise, remaining there until 1915, when Foard County was made their home until his death. The surveying activities of Mr. Reavis both in Oregon and in Texas did fill a volume of interesting things, but we can only mention a few of them briefly. While in Oregon he did some engineering work on the building of irrigation projects and stand today as a silent attestation of his extraordinary skill. He crossed the boundaries of Foard county and knew as no other man the knowledge of its early records and perhaps not equaled by that of any other man. The work he did as a surveyor was always final in the establishing of facts relative to boundary lines. That was his life work, though he served as deputy county clerk in Oregon after his second removal to that country. Mr. Reavis did engineering work for the construction of the highways throughout Foard County.

Mr. Reavis was converted more than 20 years ago and was united with the Baptist church here in 1905 and remained a member thereafter. He was an unassuming man and was loved and respected by every one who knew him. He conformed his life to a high standard of Christian living.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ida Reavis of Crowell, by a daughter, Mrs. Alva Spencer, and by a grandson, Joe Spencer, of Crowell. He has two brothers, Frank Reavis of Enterprise, Oregon, and Fred Reavis of Baguio, Philippine Islands, and two sisters having preceded him to their reward several years ago.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church Saturday morning, the services of the Methodist and the Christian churches participating. It should not be overlooked that Mr. Reavis was a skilled musician.

Mr. Ferrin Tells About Shrieveport

Tourist Park, Shrieveport, La., Sept. 4, 1924.—News and Friends: During our four weeks' stay in Mena we formed many new acquaintances, were invited out to spend an evening at several different places and many came into camp to spend evenings with us. With some help from the town people two fine entertainments were pulled off in the park during our stay, so our departure was like leaving old-time friends.

We made a short stop at Texarkana, a city in two states. The postoffice built on the state line has one-half in Arkansas and the other half in Texas.

Our route took us through Atlanta, Texas. Fully two-thirds of our road from Mena here was fine, the balance is being made good. Farmers all along the route had been hit by the worst drought ever known, so many of the old settlers said. Most of the corn is ruined and but little of the cotton would more than pay expenses. Even the melon and fruit crops are poor. The great quantity of melons brought to this place come from 100 to 150 miles over in Texas, grown on the sandy lands of East Texas. The melons sell from 25 cents to $1.25 each. The farmers who bring the melons report other crops poor by reason of the long drought.

The thermometer has registered into the nineties every day since we came except September 3. But notwithstanding the heat this is a very busy city. It has six large ice plants, besides several ice stations. Trucks and wagons loaded with ice are seen everywhere from 5 a. m. until 11 p. m. seven days in the week. Ice is reasonable, 12 pounds for 6 cents, 100 pounds for 45 cents, and 200 pounds for 40 cents per hundred, while amounts of 500 pounds and more sell for 30 cents per hundred. Great truck loads of cold drinks are seen everywhere one goes.

The auto camp is two and one quarter miles from the business center, yet from eight to fifteen automobiles and trucks pass here every minute from 5 a. m. to 11 p. m. This is on the north side of the park and nearly as many pass on the east side. Quite a per cent of these are tourists. Many of them come into camp at 11 p. m. and are off at 5 a. m. next morning after having bunked on the ground. This city claims more automobiles and trucks per capita than any other city in America. Also it claims the largest glass window factory.

There is one 17-story and several 9-story buildings. The First Methodist and the First Baptist churches are wonderfully fine, large structures. The Bani Zion temple is a fine, large one, and corners across the street is the Scottish Rite Cathedral, the home of the Grand Lodge of A. F. & A. M. of Louisiana. It is a wonderfully large and fine building three stories high. There are many beautiful additions with fine homes, as lumber, oil and gas have put many in the millionaire class in this city of 65,000 and given thousands of other whites and colored people steady employment.

Royalnd Country Will Need 1,000 Cotton Pickers

H. D. Lawson was here Wednesday attending the fair and he says the Rayland community is making one of the biggest cotton crops in its history. He thinks at least 1,000 pickers will be needed there as soon as the picking season opens properly.

Asked how many bales he thought the Rayland country would make, he said he did not think it would be too high an estimate to put it at 6,000 bales. This includes Rayland and as far as Thalia. A portion of this territory is in Wilbarger county, but about two-thirds of the cotton will be produced in Foard county.

He also said that the best cotton was in Foard county.

ian, the violin being his favorite instrument, and it was fitting that two violins, one of which was his own, were used in the funeral exercises during the playing in the accompaniment of the quartet, "Lead Kindly Light." His favorite sacred hymn which he played many times in his own home, this, with the other songs in the service being led by his old friend, "Uncle" Jake Wright. The violins were played by Miss Bess Thompson and T. B. Klepper.

The pallbearers were Russell Beverly, Clarence Thompson, J. B. Alley, N. J. Roberts, T. B. Klepper and Judge Jesse Owens. The flower bearers were Fred Kinsey and Howell Hallmark.

Out-of-town relatives were Eugene Womack of Dallas and Mrs. C. M. McKown and family of Vernon. Out-of-town friends were J. E. Ledbetter, Mr. Elbert and Mr. Ferguson of Quanah.

In the passing of Mr. Reavis a good and useful man is gone, but his life was not without its faults, but which was in many particulars worthy of emulation. The greatest thing to be said of any man is that he was a Christian man. This can be said with out reservation of Mr. Reavis, and all who knew him could only love him.

HON. MARVIN JONES MAKES SPEECH HERE WEDNES. MORNING

Hon. Marvin Jones, Congressional representative of this district, addressed a fairly large audience in the district court room Wednesday morning.

Although it was during fair days and most of the visitors were interested in the fair and rodeo, Mr. Jones had a larger audience than was anticipated and he was well pleased with the representation.

The speaker paid the people of the county a compliment for the showing they have made in the display of farm products and other exhibits and said it reflected high credit upon them as a progressive people. He said the county fair here would do credit to a district fair. He spoke briefly of the value of these fairs, saying that they were conducive to the advancement of civilization, in that they offered comparisons in products and skill that brought out the best and stimulated rivalry for higher and greater achievements.

Mr. Jones called attention to the fact that one of the leading features of our government is the protection it offers in the accumulation of property as the fruits of one's own honest labor and pursued the thought as it is effected in the administration of governmental policies. It is necessary, said the speaker that we have two great political parties, for with only one party there would be a dictatorial policy of government by a few bosses. He thinks, however, that people who reside in an agricultural or livestock country should align themselves with the Democratic party for the reason that it stands for policies of government that will best serve their interests. He does not advocate class legislation but thinks the interests of the great agricultural classes will suffer if they are left to the Republican party, which for the most part, represents the manufacturing districts of the country.

He favors keeping under restraint that element of people in this country whose feet are on American soil, and whose hearts are in foreign lands. That is the dangerous element and would destroy our institutions and corrupt our ideals if they could.

Mr. Jones defined "government" in a very striking way, saying that we have two governments, one is the form, the other is the actual government. The form is in Washington, while the real is in the hearts of the American people. This, he said, is shown by the fact that if we were to put our form in Mexico or Russia it would not fit the people and therefore it would not be a government in those countries. The people are the government. The two grow together, and back of this great government of ours are the people who make it what it is.

Before closing his remarks the speaker called attention to this day as National Defense Day all over the United States, and said that this is a patriotic demonstration and does not mean that we want war. He does not believe in a great standing army but thinks the army should be reduced to the minimum. He thinks men who constitute a standing army are not worth much as a rule when it comes to fighting but says, that it is the citizens, after all, who make the best fighters and they have always been the ones who have won the victories for our country. He believes in keeping a small army around which can be built a large army in case of necessity.

But Mr. Jones would eliminate the probability or the likelihood of war by taking from war its profits. There are those in our country who like to see war because it means millions of dollars in their pockets. Some men found themselves enriched by the outbreak of the recent great war. This eliminated, the probability of war would be far removed, according to the speaker.

The speaker dealt with the corruptions in the Government during the last few years and said that it was usual after a great war and that corruptions in our government following the world war were not so great as were those following the Civil War. In his attitude towards these the president, said the speaker, had been under the influence of other men who had concealed much of what had taken place. Mr. Mellon said the speaker, is the acting president and while he does not condemn Mellon as a corrupt man, he thinks he is always on the job in looking after his own interests.

The speaker gave some attention to the tariff question and said this is the big issue before the people of this country. Under a high tariff the manufacturing portions of the country are benefitted greatly, but the producing portions must pay the big profits in the higher prices they pay for every article that comes under the tariff, while at the same time he is buying on a protected market he must sell on a free market. The speaker thinks this works a hardship on the people who live in the agricultural and livestock sections of the country.

Mr. Jones left after the speaking for Vernon where he left in the afternoon for his home in Amarillo. He was asked to stay over and speak here on National Defense Day but his time had already been engaged for that day.

FOURTH ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR IS BEST EVER HELD

Favorable compliments are spoken by every one with reference to our county fair this year. Visitors are surprised to see such wonderful display of products. And what is a source of gratification is that there is a variety of products. They are not merely agricultural, but there was a wonderful display of fancy and embroidery work, something practically new for Foard County's fair. Then there was the display of art that attracted the attention of every one. The canning department showed a larger variety of exhibits than was anticipated. The community exhibits was an evidence of the spirit of rivalry that existed and reflected great credit upon those who got them together. Ayersville, Margaret and Thalia were here and each had done its best to surpass the other and a correct decision would have been difficult for the average person to pass in favor of any one of them. The general exhibits were better than ever before.

Some of the visitors from other counties stated that ours would have done high credit to a district fair. We can not give the winners in the contests this week for the reason that we are going to press before the fair is over, but next week we hope to have this published.

Meeting Is In Progress at the Christian Church

A meeting has been in progress at the Christian church since Friday night of last week, the services being conducted by Rev. Charles C. Curtis of Fort Worth. The services have been going on only at night through this week, but for a time so busy the congregations have been fairly large. Sunday night, especially, the house was crowded.

Rev. Curtis has delivered some very instructive discourses, which show a wonderfully comprehensive knowledge of the Bible. His sermons are not only instructive but they are helpful to any one who will follow him in his thoughts and in his explanation of Bible truths.

Advance Man for Texas-Oklahoma Fair Here at Fair

J. M. Harrison, advance man for the Texas-Oklahoma Fair Association, was here Tuesday attending the County Fair and advertising the big fair to be at Wichita Falls, Sept. 29th to October 5th.

Mr. Harrison was given a booth at the fair grounds all day Tuesday and he appreciated the courtesy very much. He thinks Foard County should have its exhibits at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair by all means. He was very much impressed with the showing we made.

Brazzie B. Huffaker Dead

On Sunday, August 30th, the spirit of Brazzie B. Huffaker took its flight from this world and went back to God who gave it.

Brazzie B. the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Huffaker, of Denton, Texas, was a resident of Foard County most of her life, coming here with her parents from Rannels County in 1910, and moving to Denton in 1921 for the benefit of the schools.

Brazzie B. was born in Rannels County, June 4, 1905, and died August 30, 1924, in Dallas, age 15 years, 3 months and 26 days. She had never been a strong child, having been under the treatment of a physician most of her life, but was thought to be improving in health a while, then hone grew fainter and for the past two years she was under the constant care of a specialist and was placed in a hospital at Dallas where for some time everything was done that could be done to build her up so that her life might yet be spared by an operation to remove goiter. But her heart was so weak she only lived a few hours.

In spite of her afflictions Brazzie B. was always cheerful and enjoyed life with her loved ones and friends to an extent admired by all who knew her. After being confined to her bed she bore her suffering so patiently and was a joy to all around her while in the hospital. She professed faith in Christ since moving to Denton and was baptized and joined the Church of Christ at that place.

Funeral services were from the Pearl Street Church of Christ and burial in the I. O. O. F. cemetery Monday, Sept. 1, at 4 p. m., Denton, Texas.

She leaves to mourn her loss her father and mother and sister, Miss Vivian Huffaker, and brother, Herbert, of Denton, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wallen, with other relatives and a host of friends in Foard County who join in sympathy with them in their sorrow.

Undergoes Operation.
Robert C. Oswalt, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Oswalt, underwent an operation for appendicitis Wednesday afternoon. He stood the operation well and is reported to be improving in a manner satisfactory.

Thalia Hunters Make Good Haul of Prairie Chickens

A. H. (Buck) Hudgens, Fred Caldwell, Welborn Wood and Loyd McLarty of near Thalia made a trip to Wheeler County last week, returning Saturday. Their trip was a hunting expedition and they had splendid success, having killed 28 prairie chickens. They ice-packed 16 of them and brought them home for future use.

From the reports given by these boys it seems that there are plenty of this kind of game in the Panhandle country.

BOY CAUGHT IN BELT IS WHIRLED TO DEATH IN MUNDAY SEED HOUSE

Munday, Sept. 8.—John Harp, 18-year-old youth, was killed at noon Saturday in the seed house of the Munday Cotton Oil Company. He was applying dressing to a heavy belt when his arm was caught between the belt and a pulley and his body whirled around the line shaft. He was injured about the head and died before regaining consciousness. The boy was the sole support of a widowed mother, who survives him.

Margaret and Thalia Methodists

On Sunday, August 31st, we closed our meeting at Thalia. In many respects this was one of the best meetings that I have been in this summer. Rev. R. T. Bree-hove, our pastor at Rule, Texas, did the preaching and he did a fine job of it, too. The results of the meeting was that the church was greatly revived, 29 conversions and 24 additions to the church, with more to follow soon. I trust that this is a revival that will continue throughout the year. If you are a Methodist and live near Thalia we want you to come and cast your lot with us and make this a better community to live in.

Sunday, Sept. 14th, will be our day. Sunday School at 10 o'clock, preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. "I was glad when they said unto me let us into the house of the Lord."

Sunday was a good day with the Margaret church. The pastor was out of his pulpit at the 11 o'clock hour, but we had a good Sunday School, but we want to make it better next Sunday. A fine crowd greeted us at the evening hour. We had one conversion at the evening service.

Vacation time is over, and it is time for everybody to take their places now and get down to business, so I will expect everybody in his or her place next Sunday.

T. M. JOHNSTON, Pastor.

YODER SELLS LIGHT AND POWER PLANT TO OKLAHOMA MAN

R. W. Porter of Blackwell, Okla., has bought the D. P. Yoder light plant of this city and will reconstruct the plant with new machinery. He plans to have the new plant in operation by the first of January, 1925.

Mr. Yoder, who owns and operates the light and power plant at Snyder, Texas, was here Friday and Saturday of last week when the contract was drawn. The deal was definitely closed Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Porter has been in Crowell for some two or three weeks looking over the field and before the deal was closed between him and Mr. Yoder the city council granted him a franchise. He will make his home in Crowell and expects to become one of our residents.

In talking with Mr. Porter we learn that he intends to reconstruct the plant and the entire system and make it adequate to the needs and demands of Crowell for the present and for some time in the future.

When he has finished installing his new plant he expects to turn his attention to the ice plant and proposes to have this ready for the next season.

It is a matter in which all Crowell people are interested. They have for months wanted continuous light service and that an ice plant is needed is an undeniable matter. It is felt that the town has reached a stage in its growth where these things are indispensable and we welcome Mr. Porter to our city as an investor and a promoter of the continued development of the city.

CONSTITUTION WEEK

There would be scarcely enough weeks in the year to go around if we should observe all of the special "weeks" that are suggested, but there is one no good American citizen can afford to pass by, regardless of how busy he may be with his own affairs. This is Constitution Week. Nothing is more imperative than that we keep ever before us this basic law of the land which has been the basis of the marvelous growth of the United States.

It was 137 years ago that the constitution was adopted, and in recent years, in commemoration of the event a Constitution Week has been observed. Its purpose is to bring about a clearer understanding of that great document for the general welfare of this generation and posterity.

This is a worthy project and as the years go by it should receive an increasing response.

It will reap its greatest rewards in the public schools and other schools. Impressing upon the minds of children the great benefits that have been derived from following the tenets embodied in the constitution will make the future safer for the form of government which the vast majority of us enjoy, but which a small minority of radicals is trying to throw into the scrap heap.

September 17 is the constitution's birthday and the whole week should be set aside for special emphasis being placed upon some phase of the writing, adoption, interpretation and administration of the document.

School executives and teachers have shown a willingness to cooperate and even greater energy should be exerted in this direction this year.

MRS. T. J. CATES HAS STROKE OF PARALYSIS

While Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cates were away on a visit to Marlin Wells and other places Mrs. Cates had a stroke of paralysis and was in the sanitarium for four weeks. She was placed under a skilled physician in a sanitarium at that place and improved so that she was able to come home Sunday. Mr. Cates thinks she will continue to improve with the proper care and treatment.

Judge M. J. R. Jackson of Amarillo was here Tuesday in the interest of his candidacy for the office of Judge of the Court of Civil Appeals of the seventh supreme judicial district of Texas, to succeed Judge William Boyce, resigned. This nomination is to be made by a Democratic district convention to meet in Amarillo for that purpose on Sept. 27th. A call is issued in this paper for precinct conventions all over the county for tomorrow. This is to be followed by a county convention on the following Saturday for the purpose of electing delegates to the Amarillo convention on the 27th.

A. H. Bennett and Mrs. E. C. Briscoe were married Sunday by Rev. T. C. Willett. The many friends of this couple of aged people wish for them great happiness through the remainder of their lives.

Miss Mabel Matthews, who last winter had charge of the office work of Dr. Hines Clark, but who has been employed by the telephone company this summer, has again assumed her duties in the doctor's office.

The Economical Stove

Among the many meritorious features of the Red Star stove there is one that may sometimes be overlooked, and that is the economy of operation.

The Red Star is either an oil stove or a gas stove. You can use coal oil, just as with any other oil stove or you may use gasoline, if you wish. In either case it burns gas because if you use coal oil the oil is converted into gas and makes an intensely hot fire, much more intense than the wick oil stoves. If you use gasoline the same is true, but it will cost a little more than oil. It is economical in that it uses less oil than the average oil stove. It is economical because you do not have to buy wicks. It uses heavy rings that become red hot when stove is heated.

The only reason we did not have one of these at fair for display is that we were short of help and could not demonstrate the stove on that account. We will put it up with any stove and be glad to compare with any other. We conscientiously believe this is the best oil or gas stove on the market today.

We have a stock Rugs on hand now of various patterns and can please in them. Call and see them.

This community was well represented at the fair at Crowell.

Miss Ina Cox left for Burk Burnett Friday, where she will attend school. She will stay with her brother, Fred and wife.

Miss Gusta Davis is attending school in Crowell.

Tom Davis and family have returned from a visit to their old home in Lamar County. They were gone three weeks and made the trip in their truck.

Several people of this community are attending the meeting at Clayton this week, conducted by Bros. Hastings and Green.

Mrs. I. A. Wilson and son and Arch Wilson passed through here last week on their way to Mexico to visit their parents, S. A. Wilson and wife.

Pugilist McCoy, charged with murder, is going to plead insanity in his trial at Los Angeles, and all he will have to do is prove he was married eight times.

I will be in Crowell the first and third Mondays of each month and will pass through Thalia and will be prepared to handle any veterinary work in your community. Place calls with drug store at Thalia.—Dr. L. N. Peterson, Vernon, Texas.

Kentucky Drills

The old Kentucky Drill is too well known to need much boosting. It does the work and that, too, in a manner satisfactory to its users. And that is what he wants. When the farmer goes to put his grain in the ground he wants it put in right. That is half the battle in making a crop. Every one knows that it matters not how abundant is the season or how well prepared the land may be the grain must be properly drilled before a good stand can be hoped for.

The Kentucky Drill meets the farmers' needs in that particular.

THE LURE OF LOURDES

According to a tradition, a shepherdess of Lourdes, France, was directed to the medicinal spring at Lourdes by a vision of the Holy Virgin, more than fifty years ago.

During the half century many thousands of pilgrims from all parts of the world have journeyed to Lourdes, and according to accepted statements, many who went there afflicted came away cured.

A committee of fifty English physicians recently examined the case of a girl who was supposed to have been cured of blood poisoning by a Lourdes miracle and found that on the evidence submitted, the cure was not proven.

Nevertheless, medical science does not deny that there have been many such cures, but attributes them to auto-suggestion rather than to miraculous or supernatural causes.

Meantime, the pilgrimage to the "Miracle place" continues, regardless of the proof that it is a myth, illustrating the constant striving of humanity for a cure of its bodily ills after science has failed.

With health gone, it is nothing less than human to grasp at any straw that promises relief.

On this weakness shysters prey. They despoil those who place their faith in fake cures.

How to drive them out of business is a problem that doubtless never will be solved, so long as incredulous people have the inherent failing of placing their confidence in anything miraculous or supernatural.

MEN OF VISION

Men who can see the value of an improvement to the community before it is completed are the kind of men who are needed for leadership.

All too often, those who are of a conservative frame of mind control the sentiment by reason of their positions and development is retarded.

They have never taken a chance in their business and they don't believe in anything in which the element of chance enters. They lack vision.

The man who draws back always comes around after the improvement is completed and agrees that it is all that was ever said for it.

They are to be admired for the position they take. They can't be blamed, perhaps, because they have a type of mind that can't visualize things. Being for it when it is done is something.

We have not been telling our customers about how cheap we sell groceries because we do not think they have to be informed that we sell as cheap as anybody, but if they are not satisfied with this statement we only ask an opportunity to prove it to you. THE FOARD COUNTY NEWS

KIMSEY & KLEPPER, Owners and Publishers

Crowell, Texas, September 12, 1924

There is a growing sense that a county fair for Foard County should be one of the fixed things in our county, but the fact that the financing of the proposition has been a sort of an uncertain thing makes it a burden upon those who are most active in its promotion. Steps should be taken now, or at least in the very near future to make the fair a permanent thing in such way as to lighten the burden now upon the few. A plan should be worked out with that object in mind. So far as we are informed a county fair is seldom a success from a financial standpoint, but it is admitted by most people that it is worth a great deal to the entire county and especially to the business interests of the town. Really its value can never be measured, for one can never know what it is worth to a county to have its products compared year after year. Just to what extent it stimulates rivalry in producing the best of all products one can never know. But the final results will be seen in the years to come in better farm products, better stock and better everything that has to do with the industries of the county. We believe the chamber of commerce will do a good work if it will include this matter in this year's program and work out some means by which the fair may be made permanent and financed in some way that properly distributes the burden.

The only chance for you to grow, Bud, is for you to get out of yourself. It matters not who you are, you are too little to permit possible expansion so long as you remain in yourself.

Say! Christian, Take Notice!

The fair is over and you will find your "best opportunity" to serve yourself and friends by attending the revival meeting now in progress at the Christian church. Evangelist C. C. Curtis is bringing some great messages, and you can not afford to miss a single one of them. Brother Curtis is one of the really great preachers of the Christian church, and his messages are logical, spiritual, uplifting and best of all, they are scriptural. He has a pleasing personality, a fine sense of humor, and presents his message in the spirit of love and kindness.

Friday night his theme will be "The Church of Christ." Saturday night, "Conversion," Sunday morning, "Substantial Worship," and Sunday evening, "Do We Believe in the Holy Spirit in Conversion?"

Rev. W. J. Hammond of Iowa Park says of Brother Curtis: "He has won men for Christ, who, only two weeks ago were standing on the street corners hissing the church and its workers. He has secured the co-operation of all the different congregations in the town."

Friends! Let every Christian find a place in this revival during the few days that remain, and use our influence on the side of righteousness, and see how many unsaved may be reached for the Master.

May we count on you?
P. R. HUCKLEBERRY.

Teacherage for Sale

Herman Halsell and mother, Mrs. Sallie Halsell, are here from Sanderson visiting in the Dr. Schindler home, and with other friends in Crowell, their former home. Herman is employed at Sanderson by the G. H. & S. A. Railroad Company, having been with this company for many years.

Miss Jessie Lee Cates left Tuesday for Wellington where she holds a position as teacher in the Junior High School. Miss Cates was a teacher in the Crowell school last year and made good as such and we feel sure that she will render valuable service in her new field.

Rev. T. M. Johnston, pastor of the Methodist church at Margaret, filled the pulpit at the Methodist church last Sunday morning. Bro. Johnston is one of the best young preachers in the Northwest Texas conference and always has a good message for his hearers.

N. R. Johnson has recently moved his family from the Margaret community to Plainview and orders his paper changed to that city. Mr. Johnson has been a resident of this county for a number of years and we regret that he has seen fit to leave.

Miss Maye Horne of Quanah is here visiting the J. R. Edgin family. Miss Horne was a teacher in the Crowell schools many years ago and is remembered by the earlier settlers here.

The House Where Service Counts

THE PRINCE OF WALES

The Prince of Wales has come over here for a jolly good time. He acts like a regular fellow—and he must be, else he couldn't fall off a horse so many times and go back for more punishment as if he liked it.

He relishes outdoor sports—takes an active part in them—dances and enjoys good, healthful exercise just like a typical American boy. In fact, it seems a queer twist of fate that such as he should be cast for the role of wearing regal robes. They won't be a bit becoming.

Though like every other youngster, his every movement as he came to America was chronicled in the daily press. When he danced with an American maiden, she was so proud that she was willing to write about it for the newspapers.

She gave her life history, not hesitating to mention the fact that her clothes were in rags when the Prince asked her for a fox trot. A modern Cinderella, she was, and not ashamed of it.

And our bashful American girls are not forgetting that the Prince is still single. Wouldn't be a terrible blow if the young heir to the crown should find one to his liking here? Lots of boys like him do every day.

M. W. Hembree left Thursday for Mingo, Texas, where he will spend the winter. He has been living at Dimmitt and stopped over here on his way to Mingo. His health is not the best and his doctor advised him that a lower altitude and a warmer climate might be helpful to him this winter.

Lewis Sloan came in last Sunday after completing the season with a ball club in the Copper League which embraces the western part of this state and New Mexico. Lewis says this has been the best season he has ever had, his batting average being 354.

H. E. Diggs and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gragg, and Dave Bolger, a young friend of theirs, are all here from Mt. Vernon visiting the Diggs' families. They came through in a car and intend to return today.

Jo Ray left last Saturday night for the Cornell University in New York, this being his last year at this institution. Jo expects to complete the work in landscape architecture this year and will receive his B. S. degree.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kendall left Sunday for Quanah after a week's visit in the homes of their nieces, Mrs. C. W. Thompson and Mrs. T. B. Klepper. They went from Quanah to their home in Grand Prairie.

J. W. Klepper came in Tuesday afternoon from Mineral Wells where he had been making his home since February.

Faculty Hiking Club Entertained. Mrs. Oscar Boman and Miss Winnie Self were hostesses to the Faculty Hiking Club last Friday evening. All members of the club, together with their wives, husbands and friends, left the building about 5:30 for the Russell farm. On the way Misses Wood and Ross plotted against all new members of the faculty and each, upon arrival, at the destination, was duly initiated in the club. Some members felt the results of that initiation all the next day.

When this process was completed, some enjoyed swimming, while others prepared and spread a most bountiful supper. Mr. Marris or Mr. Campbell, either, can supply the full menu.

After some time had been spent about the feast the members, new and old, gathered around the camp fire and sang "old fashioned airs." Just before adjournment, Miss Moreman was elected president for the new term.

Every Farm Needs Two

Superior Utility Coupe $640 f. o. b. Flint, Mich.

Every farm needs two automobiles, one of which should be a closed model Chevrolet.

The extra large rear compartment is a feature of the Coupe and the operating cost is lowest for this type of car.

With a second car on the farm, one is always available for those at home when the other car is out.

The low prices of Chevrolet—fully equipped as sold—make the ownership of two cars feasible for most farm families.

May we explain their many points of superiority?

Let's All
'Rally' round the Flag
NATIONAL DEFENSE DAY!

The President of the United States has designated Friday, September 12th, as National Defense Day--when America as a unit will pledge renewed allegiance to Flag and Country.

At no time in America's history has there been greater need for public manifestation of loyalty to flag. Within our own gates there are those who would destroy the very heart and principles of our Government. From without there is no immediate need for concern, but as long as hates and jealousies exist in the hearts of other nations the possibility of war is ever present.

Mindful of the dangers that might confront us, we must be prepared to defend the ideals for which the fathers of this Republic so valiently fought. We must keep faith with those of our defenders who have unselfishly given their lives that we might continue to live in peace and prosperity.

In this spirit, then, let us--citizens and patriots of Foard County, Americans all--reaffirm our pledge of loyalty to the Constitution and the defense of our country in time of need.

Your needs have been anticipated at our store, and now our stock is complete with new goods in all departments.

Colorful Autumn Sweaters, new styles,
new patterns.

Silks, satins, velvets and felts, smartest trim-

TRUDGING BACK TO SCHOOL.

The children are trudging back to school again. They don't want to go one bit. And why should they? Nothing to do but sit between four walls every day to try to learn something that they don't want to know. And the great, happy outdoors beckoning them out to enjoy the sunshine and fresh air.

But soon they will be reconciled. After a few days, under the careful guidance of a thoughtful teacher, they will begin to take interest, and the battle will be won.

A great responsibility rests upon the teacher to get them back on the right track after vacation ends. And an equally great responsibility rests upon the parents to back up the teacher and support them in every attempt to develop good boys and girls, who will become good American citizens, in the public schools.

The Adelpian Club.

The Adelpian Club met Sept 3, in the home of Mrs. R. C. Campbell.

This was the first meeting of the year and it was enjoyed by all. Owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. Archie Campbell, Mrs. Mark Henry presided. Everybody enjoyed listening to the members tell of their vacations. Mrs. George Self sang a song and Miss Fry gave a reading, after which dainty refreshments were served to a large number.—Reporter.

Backache Is a Warning!

Crowell Folks Are Learning How to Heed It.

Are you miserable with an aching back? Do you get up lame and stiff; drag through the day feeling tired, weak and depressed? Then you should help your kidneys. Backache is often the first sign of falling kidneys. Urinary troubles quickly follow. Neglected, there's danger of gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Don't wait for serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, before it is too late. This Crowell resident tells an experience: Chas. Loyd, prop. Orient Hotel, says: "My kidneys were in bad shape and the secretions were scanty and burned in passage. My back also bothered me with a dull, mean hurting. I began to use Doan's Pills for the trouble and they soon regulated my kidneys and rid me of backache."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Loyd had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

HUMAN LIFE CHEAP IN BUENOS AIRES

Knives Apt to Flash at the Wink of an Eyelash.

The Boca, Buenos Aires, is one of the most strangely fascinating places in the world. Seafaring men in Sydney, Marseilles and along the wharves of the London docks will talk of it; but the casual visitor to Buenos Aires, speaking no Spanish and wearing a presentable suit, cannot easily go there. For in the Boca, they say, a man may lose his life for half a crown or the coat upon his back, writes Arthur Mills from Buenos Aires to the London Daily Mail.

This may well be, for life is cheap in Argentina, whether it be on the great rolling cattle plains of the rugged North or in the fashionable restaurants of Buenos Aires. It was in the Boca that I first saw something of the soul of Argentina, as much perhaps as in the marble halls of the Jockey club or among the picturesque horsemen of Entre Rios maneuvering their vast herds.

One Saturday, some while after midnight, I came to a cafe hard by the Pedro de Mendocza. There were assembled in that cafe all manner of men—sailors from a vessel bringing salt from Spain, Americans from a lumber boat, Norwegians, Greeks still coal-begrimed, some British seamen arrived with railway material, estimable Chinese cooks, little wrinkled grinning Japanese, Italians, Syrians, Russians.

Bolshevik and aristocrat alike concealed beneath tattered coats and a week's growth of stubby beard—some looking for work, some avoiding it—the pariah dogs of a hundred ports. Across the rubbish-littered road, the ships that had brought these men lay at anchor in an endless stretching belt, themselves evidence of the mighty needs of the great South American capital.

On a raised platform four musicians in shirt sleeves played. But no one danced. The proprietor explained to me that, in a neighborhood where a man would draw his knife for the flicker of a woman's eyes, to encourage dancing was unwise.

The proprietor was something of a character himself, able to speak seven languages, including Kafir. He was a burly fellow and his barman looked pretty useful, too, if trouble should arise. But rows were avoided, the proprietor explained, pointing to two men in plain clothes in either corner of the room, ready to signal to him the first sign of an angry glance.

As we talked a girl passed by. She had dark, luminous eyes, swung her shapely limbs with the smoothest of motions, and carried herself with an air of easy grace, the special inheritance of her people.

A burly Scandinavian sailor, a blue cloth knotted beneath a red beard, caught her arm. She tried to free herself. Then words were exchanged and she turned and faced him like a wildcat. Next moment the proprietor jumped between the pair and plucked the girl's hand to the knife hilt in her stocking. The barman leaped over the counter. Two other men appeared. In less than a minute the sailor was outside the cafe and the girl seated calmly in his place.

The proprietor remonstrated with her mildly.

"I am Argentine," she said, snapping the syllables—a reply that appeared wholly satisfactory to all concerned, for they are a proud people, the Argentines, who give a swift answer for an insult, whether it be in the glittering cafe restaurant Abdullah or in the Boca on Saturday night.

Failure to correct these defects in time has wrecked many a good car.
