CROWELL HIGH GRID PRACTICE STARTED WED.

Twenty-six boys reported as can- didates for the Crowell High School football team at the opening day of practice Wednesday. Coach Grady Graves reports that several other boys are to report.

Included in the list of those who were out for practice Wednesday were the following eleven letter men from last year's squad: Bill Middleton and J. M. Crowell, co- captains, Roy Mullins, Dan Hines Clark, Recie Womack, George Fox, Crews Cooper, Mitchell Allee, Ger- ald Knox, Lewis Gibson and John Todd.

Others reporting were: Lester Patton, Loraine Carter, Henry Ash- ford, Melvin Joy, Stanley Womack, Andrew Calvin, Doyle Carter, Dick Todd, Berl Lovelady, W. H. Dunagan Jr., Leland Meadors, Otis Coffey, Paul McKown, Orville Orr and Francis Todd. Others who are ex- pected to report for practice are Hubert Smith, Dan Callaway, Crock- et Fox, Venzy Veera and Ralph Mc- Coy.

The weight of those reporting ranged from 117 to 176 pounds with John Todd as the heaviest and Fran- cis Todd the lightest. As a whole the team is rather light, possibly av- eraging around 145 pounds to the man.

The appearance of Doyle Carter and W. H. Dunagan Jr. brightened prospects considerably. Carter formerly played on the high school team of Cordell Okla. Last year he played left end and the year before that he played halfback. He weighs 173 pounds and in practice Wednes- day he showed excellent ability as a center and passer.

Dunagan, formerly of Sherman High School, lettered two years on that team. In his first year he played tackle and in the second year he played halfback.

Only a light workout took place Wednesday after suits had been is- sued, however, the boys were rapidly put through their paces and before long a well-rounded football team should result.

The greatest schedule in Crowell High School history is facing the Wildcats this season, which has ev- ery prospect of being exceptionally interesting for local fans.

MISS LOU DELL GREEN CAPTURES FIRST PRIZE IN NEWS' "WEEKLY PAYROLL" CAMPAIGN SATURDAY

Miss Lou Dell Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otho Green of this city, won first honors in The Foard County News' "Weekly Payroll" Campaign, which came to a close Saturday night at nine o'clock. Miss Dorothy Florence Hinds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hinds, also of Crowell, won second; Mrs. S. E. Mills of Truscott, third; Miss Lorene Shultz, daughter of G. A. Shultz of Thalia, fourth; John Wishon Jr. of Crowell, fifth; and Miss Clara Skip- worth of Vernon, sixth.

For first prize Miss Green had the choice of a Ford sedan; a trip to Europe, or the cash equivalent of the cost of the trip to this newspa- per, which was $552.50. She took the cash and thus her earnings for the six weeks that the campaign lasted were more than ninety dol- lars per week. Her actual earnings on the twenty per cent commission given to the contestants each week for subscriptions brought in amount- ed to slightly more than fifty dol- lars and this amount served as an advance payment on the prize.

At the beginning of the campaign it was announced that the first and second prize winners were to con- sider their weekly pay checks in the light of an advance on their prizes.

Miss Hinds had the choice of a trip to California or $150 and she took the cash.

Mrs. Mills was third and received in addition to a twenty per cent commission throughout the campaign, a bonus of fifty per cent of her total earnings, making a total of thirty per cent commission on every dollar of subscription money taken in.

Miss Shultz won thirty-three and one-third per cent of her total earn- ings as fourth prize. Fifth prize, won by John Wishon Jr., represent- ed 25 per cent of his total earnings. Fifteen per cent of her total earn- ings was paid Miss Skipworth as sixth prize.

There were no losers in this cam- paign. Each week workers were paid twenty per cent commission on the subscription money they brought in.

The race for first prize was a very close one. Had the second place winner secured only two more 5- year subscriptions, she would have won first place. The same was true in the case of the third and second place winners.

Every effort was made to conduct the campaign in the fairest possible manner and from the expressions made by the contestants after the close of the campaign The News is gratified to know that all con- testants are satisfied that this was the case.

A sealed ballot box was placed in Self Motor Company during the last week and the votes deposited by the contestants during this last week were counted by judges, beginning at nine o'clock Saturday night and at about ten o'clock the announce- ment of the winners was made be- fore an extra large crowd by George Self. Those acting as judges were Mrs. Boyd Gillespie of Truscott, Miss Margaret Curtis, Rev. B. J. Osborn, Eli Smith and Mr. Self, all of Crowell. Mrs. Gillespie took the place of Rev. W. W. Smith, who was out of the city.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY FOARD COUNTY FARMERS ATTEND SWINE MEETING AT JOE L. ORR FARM

One hundred and fifty Foard County farmers heard E. R. Eudaley, special livestock agent for A. & M. College, give an address on economical pork production at a meet- ing on Joe L. Orr's farm, near Mar- garet, Monday afternoon.

The three essentials in hog pro- duction were stressed by the speaker. "Good hogs, good feed and good management are necessary for economical production of pork, either for home use or for the market," he said. Hogs do not necessarily have to be registered stock that have not been stunted should make the feeder a profit provided the feed and attention are proper, according to Mr. Eudaley.

Wheat, barley, milo maize, hegarri, kaffir or feterita supplemented by a protein mixture and plenty of water will produce pork at a mini- mum cost. In referring to the use of a protein supplement in pork pro- duction, Mr. Eudaley stated that a number of tests have proven that it is much more economical to keep a mixture of protein where the hogs can have access to it than by trying to save money by feeding grain alone. Such a mixture may be mixed for about $1.75 per hundred based on present prices. The mixture is composed of 45 pounds cot- ton seed meal; 43 pounds tankage; 10 pounds alfalfa meal; 2 pounds bone meal. Some hog growers are feeding a protein mixture composed of 50 pounds of tankage and 50 pounds of cottonseed meal and either have the hogs on pasture or place a bale of pea green alfalfa in the pen, are having excellent success.

Plenty of water was one of the strong points of Mr. Eudaley's speech. He emphasized the fact that a hog's body is composed of two-thirds water and that a hog can't make something from nothing, therefore if a maximum gain is to be obtained plenty of good, cool water must be before them at all times. Plenty of shade and pasture were also emphasized.

Self Feeder Important
The use of a self-feeder was dem- onstrated at the meeting also. Mr. Orr has two of these and thinks ev- ery hog grower should have them. He is using whole wheat supplement- ed by a protein mixture.

For the average farm a self-feeder has proven a very economical method of feeding. It is a labor saver and hogs have access to feed at all times.

Twenty-four hogs are using the self-feeders on Mr. Orr's farm. He has one hog that is not yet 6 months old which weighs 202 pounds, which has been produced at a cost of about 5 cents per pound.

FARMERS MASS MEETING TO BE HELD SATURDAY

A mass meeting of Foard County farmers is to be held Saturday af- ternoon at three o'clock in the dis- trict court room for the purpose of determining the sentiment of the farmers of this section relative to the proposal of Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana that Southern states co-operate in legally prohib- iting production of any cotton what- soever in 1932.

The meeting will last but a short time as it is to be confined strictly to Governor Long's plan. After the plan has been discussed a vote of the farmers will be taken and their action will be wired to Governor Ross Sterling so that he may know the sentiment of Texas farmers re- garding a special session of the Texas Legislature to enact legisla- tion conforming to Gov. Long's plan.

SHORTAGE IN TAX COLLECTOR ACCT. REPORTED

According to a report of the audit of the books and records of Foard County for the year Aug. 1, 1930, to July 31, 1931, that was filed Tues- day with the county clerk, a short- age of $25,008.84 was shown in the accounts of Que R. Miller, tax col- lector. The audit was made by John B. Allred, of the firm of Allred- Lambert Co., certified public ac- countants of Wichita Falls.

Suit was filed in district court Wednesday by R. D. Oswalt, county attorney, for Foard County vs. Que R. Miller et al, suit upon bond; and for the State of Texas vs. Que R. Miller et al, suit upon bond. Ac- cording to word received by the county attorney, the comptroller's department at Austin, a shortage to the State of $16,524.28 is reported. The American Surety Company of Dallas, holder of Mr. Miller's bond, has acknowledged receipt of word from County Judge Claude Callaway on this matter. Up to 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon no other official action had been taken in regard to the situation.

The statement of Miller's account in the audit is too detailed to print in full, however, one paragraph in it has the following to say: "For the most part these reports have been prepared as usual for such and have been sworn to by the deputy collector who is probably entirely in- nocent of any wrongful intentions. The reports changed appear to have been altered after they had been prepared in the usual way."

Mr. Miller informed a News re- porter Thursday afternoon that he had no statement to make.

Smut

Graded and Treated Seed Wheat

GRADED SEED

Graded seed means that we take wheat, run it through the cleaners, take out all small swiveled, cracked and weed seeds, and make your seed wheat sound, healthy grains. By having all sound, healthy grains, wheat will produce from 3 to 5 bushels more per acre.

TREATED SEED

Treated seed means that we take the graded wheat and run it through our Conklins Treating Machine, which uses a copper carbonate dust, that kills all the smut spores on your wheat.

Upon investigation we find that in wheat so treated the farmer has never in any instant had smut the next year.

There has been more or less smut in Foard County wheat this past season, and even though your seed does not have any smut in it, the wheat has the smut germs on it. Just a few smut fields in the county will infest the whole county with smut, because the germs are so fine that the wind carries it across the fields. So if the atmospheric conditions are right you will have smut the next year, even though you haven't any smut in your seed.

We are installing the latest Conklins Smut treating machine and will be glad to grade and treat your wheat.

We trade so many bushels of graded and treated wheat for your granary seed wheat. See us about graded and treated seed wheat.

THE "WEEKLY PAYROLL" CAMPAIGN

It is a deep source of satisfaction to The News to know that the "Weekly Payroll" Campaign, which came to a close Saturday night, was a success in more ways than one.
It is true that the campaign was not the financial success for The News that had been anticipated on account of conditions arising after the campaign opened, however, we were able to break even on it and consider ourselves richer from a standpoint of new friends and new subscribers. Hundreds of new readers were added, most of whom live in Crowell's trade territory.

It is particularly pleasing to us to know that the campaign closed with no ill-telling on the part of the contestants, other than disappointment at not winning first place. All of the contestants have expressed satisfaction with the fairness in which the campaign was conducted.

The entire drive was conducted by the Liner Circulation Service, Chicago, Ill., who are the originators of the "Weekly Payroll" plan. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Forgy were in direct charge as managers and worked hard in every way to make the drive a success. They were impartial in all their dealings. The News was careful in choosing a campaign service and we are now satisfied that we made a wise selection.

We wish to thank all of our old subscribers for staying with us and to welcome the new subscribers and to promise that we will do everything possible to justify the faith you have shown in us.

To the workers who so faithfully fought the battle, our thanks are given. In spite of conditions arising that would have caused many to give up, these faithful workers carried on.

The merchants of Crowell have been given new territories to advertise their weekly messages and it should profit each of them to take advantage of the new list, for these people are anxious to know the merchants' bargains each week.

Again let us thank each and everyone who made the campaign the success that it is.

SCHOOL DAYS

It won't be long now before vacation is over and school will begin again. Then the young ones will get back into their own world, for in the life of the child the real world is that in which he mixes on equal terms with others of his own age. We older folks are too absorbed with the affairs of grown-ups to understand what the young ones are thinking about.

We are prone to think, as we grow older, that what we had in school is good enough for our children. That would be true if the world stood still, but it doesn't. In a changing world, the best education is that which makes the child alive to the changes, which brings him most closely in touch with the new things that we didn't know anything about when we were young. Everything is different today from yesterday; tomorrow everything of today will be out of date. The boy or girl who gains from his school work the sense

BULL-I-TINS

BY CY KOLOGY

"GOSSIPING"

Well folks, I don't like to be critical but I do believe that most everyone will agree with me that what I am about to say is pretty near right. It's the fact that there has been more gossip, more of this "they say," "I heard," "someone told me" and so on, going on in Crowell and Foard County this year than ever before. Of all conditions existing in the county, I believe this is as bad or worse than any of them.

It is a condition of which so many of us are guilty, and one in which it is so easy and tempting for the majority to indulge in, and Cy is not excluding himself from this type.
Too many times I catch myself saying something that I do not know to be a fact and then when I think it over I find that possibly what I have said could easily be harmful in some way or other.

There seems to be different types of "gossipers." There are those who to some extent, innocently indulge and then there is the type who seem to make it the greatest part of their lives. It is the latter type that can take the slightest happening, or no happening at all, and then tell it in such a way to suit their own distasteful, despicable fashion, that is entirely contrary to the true facts.

Another person of the same type will take what the other person has told them and make the matter still worse and farther from the truth.

How often do you see this type really try to find out if what they are telling is really true? No, they don't want the truth for maybe the truth wouldn't make such juicy gossip, and a bit of Heaven on earth would be lost to the selfish, cowardly type, whose greatest pleasure is taking hearsay, adding his or her own ideas to it, and passing it on.

If you ask them if what they are telling for the truth is really a fact they usually answer something like this: "Well I am sure it is for so and so told me and he heard it from someone else, who got it pretty of change, of constant forward movement steadily going on, has got the best foundation for success in life.

We don't think it is nearly as important to teach children how to do things as it is to teach them how to understand things. One way is to get more young people as teachers and on school boards. School systems must grow and change, just as the world grows and changes, and old folks are too apt to resist change.
There must be old heads in school affairs, of course, but some who are still young enough to remember their own schooldays ought to have some say about school matters.

straight from what he heard on the streets the other day."

Persons who would never consider doing bodily harm to another seem to consider that it is all right to harm and tear down that priceless asset of "character," which someone else has spent his or her lifetime in developing and protecting. But to the vicious gossipers the character of someone else is merely material to prey upon and use to their own cowardly pleasure of attacking and damaging. But character is by no means all that it is possible for the "gossipers" to hurt.

Persons who call themselves good church members are to be found who violate in a wholesale manner one of the ten commandments: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

Let us remember that those who gossip to us about others will gossip to others about us.

Let everyone co-operate to check this cowardly, despicable, etc., menace.

Once Led Army of Bums

"General" Jack Coxey, the man who led the famous "Coxey's Army" on to Washington during the panic of 1892, is now running for Mayor of Massillon, Ohio, with every chance for success.

THE TURNING TIDE

The public is beginning to buy again. Money is coming back into circulation more freely than for a year and more past. The textile mills are coming back toward normal production. The leather industry is showing a decided improvement.
Sales of electric refrigerators are increasing in almost every part of the country. Many of the smaller industrial plants are now running on full time and the larger industries, or many of them, are putting on more help. The steel industry and building construction are still at low ebb and the railroads are not carrying their normal volume of freight and passengers, but those are conditions which a general revival in other lines will remedy.

The country is still suffering from overproduction of wheat, cotton and oil, among other things. It seems to us wrong and wasteful, however, to destroy what has already been produced, as is being advocated in some quarters.

It also seems to us unnecessary to resort to anything like the "dole" system. Nobody in the United States has approached starvation in this crisis except in the regions where the drought of 1930 was at its worst and in one or two "sore spots" in the bituminous coal districts. There may be more who will need help the coming winter because their reserves are exhausted, but there will be more people in a position to give help, we believe. And there will be more and more jobs for those who really want to work.

How fast the tide of good times will come in nobody can predict. The country has been suffering almost as much from overproduction as from over-production, and we are not gifted with the power of prophecy.
But we have history to back our belief that the United States of America will come out of this depression, as it has come out of every preceding depression, stronger and more prosperous than ever.

PAYING THE PRICE

It may be true that military men favor the maintenance of larger armies and navies than the average civilian deems necessary. But that they want war is not true. No class is more opposed to war than those who must inevitably take part in it when it comes. Particularly is this true of those who have experienced the horrors of war.

But military men who have seen the slaughter of untrained or partially trained troops are naturally believers in adequate measures of preparedness. As a rule they have little faith in the idea that war is a thing of the past.

At the same time they realize that public sentiment is against a large regular military establishment and content themselves with making the best preparations possible with the means Congress provides. Their attitude is well expressed by Major General Charles P. Summerall, who said:

"We have never fought a war with trained and equipped troops, and we never shall do so. It is inconsistent with the form of our government and the psychology of our people to maintain adequate military preparedness. They would rather pay the price that has followed every war than spend a part of the amount in preserving peace."

OFFENSIVE SIGNS

In keeping with what is becoming a world-wide protest against offensive signs and billboards, the authorities of Paris have decreed that

Cleaning Off Those Weeds

By Albert T. Reid

no signs shall be displayed on its famous thoroughfare, the Champs Ely-sees, which advertise any goods not actually sold on the premises.

Recently protests were heard in Spain concerning objectionable American billboards which mar the landscape. In this country the women's clubs and other organizations are waging a campaign against the billboard nuisance.

By their erection of signboards which spoil the natural scenery along the highways, and by their encroachments in residential sections of our cities, the billboard people have brought upon themselves the just resentment of that section of the public which have regard for appearances.

When we become more civilized the billboard will go the way of the town crier. As an advertising medium it is an anachronism already.

A RANK INJUSTICE

An example of the stubbornness of government bureaucrats is seen in the persistence with which the Post Office Department clings to its practice of competing with local printers in the sale of envelopes at less than cost.

There is no more justification for this practice than there would be for selling clothing, groceries, or any other commodity at less than cost, and making up the deficit by taxation.

Still, every administrator, whether Republican or Democratic, has effectively resisted every attempt to put an end to this unfair and indefensible proceeding.

Local printers do not object to the sale of plain stamped envelopes, or those bearing the return address of the postoffice, with a blank line for the name of the sender to be written in. They do object to the printing of individual return address practically for nothing, the expense being paid from the public treasury.

It is not selfishness that impels small local printers to protest against this practice. They ask no favors from the government. They merely protest against the rank injustice of a policy which singles them out for a species of discrimination, not employed against other citizens and taxpayers.

"DON'TS" for WRITERS

Most advice to writers consists of long lists of "don'ts." And if you ask us, if we were really giving advice we should embody it in one big "don't." It would be: Don't pay much attention to lists of "don'ts." Obviously, a writer should have a working familiarity with the rules of syntax, and at least a nodding acquaintance with rhetoric, and some other phases of the phrase-making art, the names of which have for the moment escaped us.

The beginner should stick rather closely to the rules, at least until he learns how to break them effectively. Adherence to a severe style is a safe course until one really has something to say. Then, if ever such a thing happens, it is a good idea to say it in the most direct and forceful manner possible, even if a rule or two gets smashed in the process.

On the other hand, rules should not be broken merely for the sake of hearing their bones crack. If the thought can be conveyed attricively and effectively by a strict observance of all the niceties, well and good. But some writers appear to be more concerned with displaying their knowledge of the rules than they are with expressing the alleged idea they have in mind. Consequently their productions have about as much animation and warmth as the text of a chattel mortgage.

Language is primarily designed for the expression of thought, or the concealment thereof. In either case, rules are a means and not the end.
The important thing is to make plain what you are driving at, as well as that at which you are driving.

PRODUCE SHIPMENTS

It is somewhat surprising to know how wide is the territory from which large cities of the country draw their food supplies, particularly vegetables. A few illustrations will show how the expense of transportation must greatly increase the price of farm and garden products to the ultimate consumer.

White potatoes are shipped to Chicago from no less than 37 states, to Indianapolis from 33, to Cleveland from 32 and to Birmingham from 31 states. Practically all the larger cities of the middle west receive produce from more than 20 states, some being shipped by rail a distance of 2,500 miles.

New York receives apples from 23 states, the maximum haul being 3,- 150 miles; potatoes from 21 states, lettuce, cantaloupes and onions from 17, tomatoes and peaches from 13.

Chicago's apple supply comes from 25 states, cabbage from 23, onions from 20, peaches from 19, tomatoes from 17, strawberries and sweet potatoes from 16 and cantaloupes from 14.

While the long haul of early vegetables is due largely to the varying climate of different sections of the country, it seems that a system of marketing might be developed which would eliminate a considerable part of the transportation charges involved in getting these products to the consumer.

GOOD NEWS

Last summer I went to a white church in a New England town
The preacher for the day was a famous man from a big city. happened to have a summer home near-by.

The church was only about one-tenth filled. Even this famous name was not enough to pull people away from the cool woods beaches.

When the preacher arose to announce his text, I thought "Now we'll catch it. We shall be told that these empty pews that the world is going to the dogs. We shall hear a half-hour lament about human wickedness. We few, who have come church, shall be crucified for the sins of those who have away."

I have listened to many church sermons and I am sick of them.
But I was due for a pleasant surprise. He announced that in from Paul's letter to the Corinthians. He explained that in the passage Paul was really making a plea for a generous collection from the Corinthians for the struggling churches elsewhere. had an ulterior motive, but that does not change the fact that the whole chapter is full of praise for the Corinthians.

Having told them how kind they are, how courageous, how faithful, Paul concludes by saying, in effect: "Since you have these many good qualities, I ask you to have also this grace was in Christ Jesus, who being rich became poor for our sake."

In other words you are great folks; come on, now, and be erous also.

The preacher then proceeded to tell us what a grand thing to belong to the human race—how good people are, how courteous to each other, how brave under their sufferings, how hopeful in the face of an inscrutable Fate.

He said that God created men and women because He wanted companions, and that He was pleased with His creation.

He made us all proud of our humanity, and sent us out cheerful and better able to fight the weak.

I wondered why there are not more such sermons.
Jesus did very little denouncing and hardly any "viewing alarm." He came with a joyous message.

"You are sons of God," He said, "destined for eternal ness."

People liked that sort of talk. They called it "gospel."
is to say, "good news."

SURPRISING FIGURES

To those who like to delve into statistics of production, commerce and the like, the actual figures often afford some odd surprises. For example, while Florida is classed among the cotton producing states, one county in Alabama grows more cotton than the entire state of Florida. Another surprise is seen in the record of Pennsylvania's exports. The Keystone state has been established for years as a leader in the production of coal, iron and steel. But trade figures for 1930 show that Pennsylvania's principal item of export is lubricating oil, with shipments valued at $26,775,230. Bituminous coal ranks second, anthracite third, iron and steel fourth, and gasoline fifth.

The state exports more than a hundred leading products, ranging from silk and rayon hosiery and unmanufactured hair to automobiles and railway cars. Oil is on the export throne, however, due to its extensive refining interests and the fact that the state produces a large part of the famous Pennsylvania grade crude oil, the premier crude of the world. Perhaps it is not inappropriate that oil should assume the export lead in the Keystone state, for it was the scene of the first oil drilled and produced in commercially paying quantities.

aiding the farmer

Among the many schemes which have been projected in the past few years by politicians and others in real or pretended efforts to aid the farmers of the country, very few have been of any practical benefit. In fact, some of them have been productive of more harm than good.

But there is one species of government aid, at least, which has on the whole been really helpful. It is the agricultural extension service, whereby farm and home demonstration agents, trained for their important duties, have gone among the farmers, their wives and daughters, and taught them how to help themselves.

The various field and home projects and demonstrations carried on by these faithful workers, often under the most discouraging circumstances, have materially raised the efficiency of farming and rural home-making.

Especially effective work has been done with the boys' and girls' clubs; work which will exert a tremendous influence upon the rural life of the future. This training of farm boys and girls for community leadership is perhaps the most important activity for the betterment of agriculture today.

"AND THEN?"

A salesman sent into the tropics to sell agricultural machinery, came back with a story which illustrates a number of things.

He found the natives contentedly sitting around while abundant Nature grew all their food with the slightest possible effort on their part.

"If you had a plow and a harrow you could grow more food, said the salesman.

"And then—?" asked the native.

"Then you could get money for it and buy more land."

"And then—?"

"Why, then you could buy more machinery and grow still more food and get more money."

"And then—?"

"Why, then, after a while you would have so much money you wouldn't have to work."

"But I would be no better off, Senator. I don't work now!"

To those who hold to the Puritan doctrine that work is a virtue in itself and that he who does not work is a sinner, the spectacle of anybody getting a living without working is abhorrent. But when you consider that in every religion the ideal of Heaven is the same—a place where nobody has to work—it raises the question whether that point of view is entirely sound.

There is no doubt that the habit of work builds character, even though the work itself may not be congenial. The happiest men and women are those who have found work which interests them so much that they prefer it to anything else. But work merely for the sake of making money so you won't have to work is something else again.

Perhaps a lot of us are as foolish as that native thought he would be if he spent a lot of time and effort merely to avoid working.

A way to know the right from the wrong is to reason out things as you go along. But knowing and doing are two different things— You must act when you know if it any thing brings. CHURCHES

Christian Science

Sunday, 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Subject for Sunday, August 30, "Christ Jesus." Sunday School at 9:30. Wednesday evening service at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

Baptist Church News

Sunday morning was a wonderful hour at the Baptist church. The pastor spoke on "The Oil of Divine Power," and the congregation responded in a great spirit to the message. Sunday closed our association year. Our association meets with the Bethel Church at Elliott, Texas, Monday night and Tuesday of this week. Our church shows the largest gain in membership and efficiency of its history. According to the clerk's record, there have been one hundred and twenty-one received into membership during the past year.

We have been calling in all evening and week services on account of the revival at the Christian Church. Now that we have had a rest, let us rally to the evening services next Sunday and also to the mid-week prayer services. The pastor has been in two revivals during the last three weeks. One at Gilliland in which there were 22 conversions and 28 additions to the church, and the other at Gasoline, Texas, where a number were saved. There was no church at the latter place. It was strictly a mission proposition. We were glad to note that the unsaved came in large numbers and some of them found the Lord.

In the midst of the world disturbance, God is calling us to walk with Him. May we heed the call and give of our best to the Master. When we fall, then will He take us up. He is merciful and long suffering and a very present help in time of trouble. Come next Sunday and bring a friend. Vacation time is about over and everybody will soon settle down to home duties with school running in full sway. May we be diligent to serve Jesus in all we do. "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." Come and welcome.

WOODIE W. SMITH, Pastor.

Christian Church

Dr. Packard is gone. We have added to our congregation fourteen by baptism and seven by transfer. We have been greatly blessed in many ways. We are facing a greater opportunity for real service in and for Christ's church. We must continue to work and make the balance of the year, the next four months, the very best part of the year, or be disloyal and shirkers in the Master's service. Not only a maintenance of present attendance and activity at all services must be accomplished, but we must grow. We must go forward or we will go backward. Wednesday evening service is especially important. Personal contact with the unsaved and the giving of earnest instruction and sympathetic encouragement should be our daily contribution to our Master's work. If we do this we shall see souls being saved regularly week by week. This is as it should be. Pray for me while I go to my old home at Brazos for a meeting Sept. 14th to 12th. Bro. Moore and Bro. Long will fill the pulpit for me while I am away.

The subject of the lesson-sermon was "Mind" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 22. Isaiah 26:3 furnished the golden text: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee." The reading embraced the following passages from the Bible (Romans 11:33,34,36): "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen."

The lesson-sermon also included the following citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine metaphysics, as revealed to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience,-that is, all power, all presence, all Science. Hence all is in reality, the manifestation of Mind"-p. 275.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson For August 30 THE MISSION TO CYPRUS Acts 12:25-13:12 Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Foreign missions is a genuine romance and there is always an abundance of thrills in its study, whether you go back to the Acts or turn to events in modern history. Antioch had become a new and larger center of Christian activity, but the home church at Jerusalem was not neglected. The apostles had agreed to gather funds for the poor saints of the mother church and the friends in Antioch send such an offering by Barnabas and Saul. Some months previously Saul had been called from Tarsus by Barnabas to help in the growing work in Antioch. At Jerusalem they met John Mark, probably the young man who drew the sword in the garden of Gethsemane in defence of Jesus, and brought him with them to Antioch.

Christianity always has an outreach and ceases to be Christian when only self is considered. While in prayer in the Antioch church the needs of others are being considered and, through the Holy Spirit, there is a definite call for Barnabas and Saul to undertake a grand mission in Cyprus, an island some distance off the coast. The call is accepted and John Mark is taken along as a general helper.

Preaching begins at the first port and the messages are continued until they reach the further side of the island. At Paphos they had an audience with Sergius Paulus, the governor. As the truth is proclaimed, Elymas, the sorcerer, is greatly disturbed, for if what these messengers declare is accepted by the governor the magician will lose his pull at court. An outcry is made by Elymas which is replied to in most forceful language by Saul and blindness is the penalty for his presumption to seek to stay the progress of the gospel. Such evidences are not to be denied and Sergius makes open confession of his faith.

SERMONETTE

THRILLS

By Arthur B. Rhinow

A young lady whose body was recently found buried in the sand of the beach left a diary in which she says that she experienced about all the thrills that life can give.

Not so. The lady was sadly mistaken. The diary discloses that her thrills were those of hectic pleasures, the kind that resemble sky-rockets, going up like a streak and a blaze and coming down like a stick. But there are other thrills: the thrills of a healthy life. They are like a steady glow.

The delights of physical health alone are keen when every nerve seems to tingle with eagerness for expression, when brain and body exult with the joy of just being alive. What fools we are ever to waste so great a boon.

And the delights of the mind are no less fatiguing. To see a truth as in a flash after we tried hard and long to understand is a thrill that no one can appreciate who has not experienced it. And the raptures of it are unspeakably sweet.

To be able to do the work that one really likes, and to work at it with all one's might, is one of life's deepest satisfactions. And the thrills of a healthy soul-life! To overcome temptation, to do some good for motives of sheer love, to commune with God in honest prayer, to consecrate ourselves to the Almighty unreservedly, so that we are born anew; those are thrills that enrich life.

The hectic thrills of a morbid life, like all intoxication, are followed by depressing reactions; the thrills of the healthy life are a joy forever.

DON'T be FOOLED by Tricky SALES TALK

DON'T be misled by challenges-guarantees-laboratory analyses-price comparisons-claims of 25% savings-made by distributors of special-brand tires.

A recent example of a grossly misleading and extravagant statement by a distributor of special-brand tires is-"Mount one of our tires on one wheel of your car and a tire of any other make on the opposite wheel. If our tire does not give you equal service at a saving up to 25% in price, we will give you a new tire free."

This statement can be made for only one purpose-a desperate effort to gain your confidence and sell you a tire before you have had time to think about the ridiculousness of their challenge, which asks you to buy one of their tires and go to another store and buy a tire-have it mounted on the opposite wheel-then turn yourself into a tire tester!

Firestone don't ask you to run test cars for them-they have twenty-nine test cars of their own, running day and night, on which they test Firestone Tires and other makes, including special-brand tires, and we have the proof of the safety, quality and extra values of Firestone Tires before you buy.

Drive in today-examine sections cut from Firestone Tires and special-brand mail-order tires-see for yourself the two extra plies under the tread which give you extra protection against punctures and blowouts-compare the construction and quality-don't be fooled by misleading advertisements. We will give you safer, more dependable tires at no greater cost.

Misses Theda Mae Brewer and Madeline Craig made a visit to Monday one day this past week.

TEXON TALES

I am going to have to disagree with the News about the earthquake recently being the first one felt in Foard County. If I remember right we had one there in 1924 while I was hanging out at the city hall in Crowell. No, I wasn't in jail, I worked there. Also, there was an earthquake in 1891 but there was such a "northier" blowing nobody noticed it. Well, this last quake was pretty bad at Valentine. Valentine is a little town way down in the south part of Jeff Davis county, right close to the Mexican border. The way it shook up this village, which is about the size of Thalia, was a plenty. It cracked the ground for forty feet wide or deep but I do mean cracks in the ground forty feet and if you wake up some morning and your shack is jumping around like a brook horse and you run out in the yard and slap your foot in a fissure why you are just having an earthquake and may have to haul dirt and patch up the lawn besides having to maybe build a new house when the shake lets up. Even here in Texon a good many ran out of the house in the middle of the disturbance but outside of shaking up the dishes and putting the pictures on the wall out of position there wasn't no damage except on the nerves of a few people. At Valentine they had built a nice new school house out of concrete blocks and it fixed that building alright. One piece of concrete flew twenty feet away. Big heavy slugs of pure concrete were thrown twenty feet so you don't want to get under nothing like that during an earthquake. Every house in Valentine was damaged, all outside chimneys demolished, roofs felled and plenty sign left.

Of course the framed buildings were apparently okay because you can twist up an old wooden house and never see nothing wrong with it until it comes a big rain. Several queer things have resulted from the quake, one of which was the appearance of fish coming from an artesian well at Fort Stockton. These fish are known as German Carp and never seen anywhere near the Fort Stockton Country Club Lake or the well and spring which supplies the lake until after the quake and if you don't believe them fish are coming right out of that artesian well you just hurry down to Ft. Stockton and see them. Anyhow, it was a pretty good earthquake and the damage to Valentine is estimated at $75,000.00 and you can buy most towns of 500 for that amount, so it was bad. They even felt this shake in Mexico City and St. Louis, Well, since I started writing this they have unearthed records of similar quakes as far back and 1871, so I quit.

Reduce the Acid

SICK stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; one hazelnut, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. For 50 years the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; the kind physicians have prescribed for 50 years.

FORWARD-LOOKING towns must consider their power supply. Is it reliable? Is it ample? And can it be increased quickly when industrial growth calls for more power?

These requirements are met when a town is served by an inter-connected electric power system. New demands are met at once, because power is available from many different sources.

Making this elastic, dependable and ever-ready type of power supply available throughout West Texas, it is the privilege of the West Texas Utilities Company to serve 124 prosperous cities and towns in this "Land of Opportunity." Three major generating stations, nineteen auxiliary plants and over 2,500 miles of high tension transmission lines place inexpensive electric power at your command every minute of the day.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

SIDELIGHTS

By Marcy B. Darnall

Perhaps the most outrageous happening since racketeering became the great American industry was the shooting of five innocent children at play on a New York street by gangsters trying to kill a rival, who escaped. One 5-year-old boy died, one child was perhaps fatally wounded, the other three being less seriously hurt. Detectives were ordered "to bring in every beer racketeer in the city for questioning." One wonders why, if these criminals can be found for "questioning," they could not be found for putting in jail.

Representative Sapp of Florida has discovered that he is entitled to take 52 extra holidays each year—if he can get away with it. An old state law designates Sundays and various other days as legal holidays, also providing that when a legal holiday falls on Sunday it shall be observed on the following day. As every Sunday is a legal holiday, Mr. Sapp contends that every Monday should be observed to conform to the law.

If an alumnus of the University of Nebraska were to enter the office of the premier of Latvia, in Riga, he might be surprised to see the college colors of his alma mater on the wall. But the explanation would be simple. Premier Karl Ullman is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

An interesting, if not entirely original, suggestion is made by Admiral McGowan, retired, former paymaster general of the Navy. It is that a referendum be taken here going to war. If a majority voted for war, all able-bodied men between 18 and 35 would be drafted, and during the war no increase in prices or wages would be permitted. The idea sounds good, but might not work out so well if our adversary jumped on us while the Senate was investigating the election.

John R. Voorhis, president of the New York City board of elections, presided over a meeting of his board on his 102nd birthday, July 27. He gave no prescription for a long life. Some of his friends, however, attribute his present good health to the fact that he does not smoke, having given up the habit when he was 98.

Among the many seemingly trivial tests made by psychologists and others was a recent one to determine whether factory girls turned out more work on days when they suffered from headaches. Rather surprising was the discovery that they did.

Several New York restaurants are offering "all you want to eat for 60 cents," and say gross business and profits have increased under this no-limit plan. Occasionally they lose on a gluttonous customer, such as one proprietor tells about, who ate "a tomato juice cocktail, soup, three orders of liver with onions and potatoes, two salads, four cups of coffee, a pie, custard and watermelon."

Norman H. Davis, former Under Secretary of State, has been elected by the League of Nations as the American member of the League's Finance Committee.

ENGINES

A young man named Cramer astonished the world the other day by flying from Detroit to Greenland without telling anybody that he was going. The important thing about that flight is that he didn't use any gasoline. His engine is of the Diesel type, which uses anything in the form of oil or fuel. As he put it, he could fly it on butter or whaleoil, if necessary.

The best gasoline engines today are only 8 per cent of the power in the fuel. Crude oil engines of the Diesel type are more efficient than that but still far from perfect. The next thing in engines will be one in which the waste of energy necessary to convert reciprocal motion, into rotary motion will be done away with.

CONTRAST

The city of Chanute, Kansas, is probably the most prosperous community in America, if not in the world. Its people pay no taxes whatever.

The city of Fall River, Massachusetts, is in the hands of a receiver, because of inability to meet its obligations out of tax receipts.

Chanute gets enough revenue from municipally-owned gas, electric and water utilities to pay all the running expenses of the town as well as support an airport and a brass band. The city is run by business men. Fall River has been run by politicians for generations.

The principal argument against public ownership of public utilities is that they would be run for the benefit of politicians instead of for the benefit of the people. That is not always the case, as Chanute is proving.

PENSIONS

Today every man who served in any of our wars before the World War is receiving a pension. Soon all the World War veterans will be on the pension roll. Employees in the civil service of the Federal Government now get pensions at the age of 70. Most states provide pensions for dependent mothers. Many states have old-age pension systems. Nearly all school systems now retire aged teachers on pensions. Many industries pension old employees. Firemen, policemen and other municipal employees in the big cities all get pensions after a given term of service. Even Al Smith is on the New York State Civil pension roll.

Much of the worry of middle age would be eliminated if everybody could look forward to a peaceful old age not dependent upon charity. Perhaps the incentive to thrift would be impaired, but I doubt that. And I believe that eventually some such system will be adopted everywhere.

SEAPORTS

Chicago got greatly excited a short time ago when the Swedish freighter "Anna," with a cargo of barbed wire and sardines entered the Chicago River with the Swedish flag flying. It has long been Chicago's dream to become a seaport. Chicago enthusiasts picture a deep-water channel from the St. Lawrence through the Great Lakes to the very heart of the United States.

That is an engineering possibility, but whether it would pay is another question. Ocean transportation is always a risky venture. Very few ship-owners are making money these days. The demand is constant for greater speed and quicker "turn-around" between ocean terminals. The passage through any inland waterway is necessarily slow.

However, Chicago has set her heart on becoming a seaport and what Chicago goes after she usually gets.

PARALYSIS

The East this year is having another epidemic of infantile paralysis. The West is comparatively free from this terrible scourge. It is one of the few diseases of which the exact cause is still unknown to science, and for which no effective preventive measures have been devised. Cure is uncertain, and complete recovery practically unknown.

While it cripples the bodies, especially the legs, of its victims, infantile paralysis sometimes seems to sharpen the brain. Governor Roosevelt of New York was infected by this disease, which seldom attacks adults, eight years ago. He is able now to walk without leg braces, with the aid of a couple of canes, while his mind is as active as ever. I know one girl who was infected in the 1916 epidemic who refused to be licked by her affliction and has succeeded in establishing herself as a fashionable milliner, making annual trips to Paris. One of the most seriously crippled boys I ever saw, a victim of paralysis at the age of seven, graduated this year at the top of his class in a western university.

It is small consolation to a mother whose child is deprived of its normal physical life by infantile paralysis, to realize that it still has a chance to develop its mental activities, but there is always that ray of hope.
