Good Progress Being Made on Lee Highway

According to statements made by Dr. S. M. Johnson at a meeting of Lee Highway men at Vernon last week, work is progressing very nicely all along the line from Washington City west.

Mr. Johnson called attention to the few miles remaining in Arkansas to be paved, for which contracts have been let. In Oklahoma, he said, the roads are either gravel, asphalt or paved from the east side of the state to Cotton County. In that county and in Tilton they have good drainage structures and good dirt roads but nothing has been done to pave.

In Texas the work is going well. From Red River to Vernon it is already paved and from Vernon to Crowell and from Crowell to the Cottle County line everything is shaping itself for paving as soon as it can be done.

Attention was called to the fact that all but three of the nine counties in Texas to be crossed by Lee Highway have voted bonds. So great has been the progress that it now appears that Lee Highway is certain to become the first paved road across the continent, said Mr. Johnson.

Grading and drainage structures will be started in Foard County within short time.

Dry Law Will Stay, Declared

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 24 (AP). Prohibition is "here to stay," Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican vice presidential nominee, declared in an address here Monday. He reiterated his opposition to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or of the Volstead act and also declared against modification of the act to permit States to determine the alcoholic content of beverages. Without mentioning Governor Smith or his proposal for State liquor control, the Senator stated his opposition to "the Federal Government or any State going into the liquor business."

"Nor do I believe such a system," he said, "could or would be effective if it were adopted. Rightly or wrongly, the prohibition question has been brought into this campaign by the Democrats. The Republican platform pledges the faithful enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. I fully concur in that plank."

"It is the women of the country who have been largely instrumental in bringing about prohibition and they did it without the vote, for the prohibition amendment was effective six months before the suffrage amendment."

"Now that they have the vote, if I may be permitted to prognosticate, they will keep prohibition, too."

The Senator made some remarks on the tariff question and referred particularly to wool. He read statistics comparing wool importations under the Underwood tariff act, which admitted that product free, and under the Republican act, which imposed duties.

Much Root Rot Found in Texas Cotton Fields

Austin, Texas, Sept. 24.—Cotton root rot is doing more damage to Texas fields than ever before and is rapidly appearing in new sections of the State, R. E. McDonald, entomologist of the State Department of Agriculture, was told in conference Monday, after surveys of several regions over the State with regard to the rot had been made.

Out of 320 fields from Dallas to West, a few miles north of Waco, only seven small fields were found to be without visible evidences of the disease, McDonald was told, while from Waco to Jarrell in Williamson County only two small fields were seen without the rot.

Many methods are being tried to combat the disease, which is doing much damage to Texas' main crop, but the best procedure is to practice rotation of crops or to lay fields out entirely for one year at a time, turning the land over frequently during the year so as to aerate it and remove any live roots. All tap root plants should also be kept off the land, McDonald said, for one or two seasons in furthering the extermination work.

Game with Munday Friday Was a Draw

Crowell High School football team showed up better last Friday at Munday than they did the previous Friday at Chillicothe. The game was 0-0 draw. The two teams were about as evenly matched as they could be. Both showed excellent work on the defense, but failed to uncover much on the offense. Either team could have broken loose several different times to produce a touchdown if luck had been partial. The tie at Munday was really a victory for the Crowell boys considering the fact that Munday was the only team to defeat Crowell two years ago, and they did that twice the same season. Munday comes here for a game Nov. 23, and the fans are sure to see another good game on that date.

Quannah, a class A team, plays here today, and a large crowd should be present to boost the home boys. Next Friday Chillicothe will be here for their return game, and as it will be the first Conference game of the season it will be of much interest.

Texon Oilers Hard for Cats to Handle

A telegram from Kim at Texon says that the Fort Worth Cats, Texas League, played Texon Oilers Sunday in twelve innings, five for the Cats and four for the Oilers. Then again on Monday in a contest of nine innings the same scores, five for the Cats and four for the Oilers were made.

The Cats say Texon has the best team in the State outside Texas League.

Bridge Recently Finished Over Pease River Near Margaret

The fact that the Orient railroad bridge across Pease River is somewhat removed from general traffic and the business activities of our people accounts for the escape from public notice the building of a new bridge.

It is hardly to be said that the bridge is new, for it is not in the true sense, and yet all the timber supporting the sleepers have been made new. It was completed only a short time ago.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT IN CROWELL SCHOOL

The pupils of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades met Friday, Sept. 15, and by popular vote decided to use student government in regulating their departments. Twenty-four pupils, two boys and two girls from each room, were elected by popular vote to act as honor council. It is left up to this council to interpret right in the intermediate department of the Crowell school.

The council met and decided that they would concentrate upon misbehavior in chapel and while teachers are out of the room, since these are the only bad spots in our school at present.

The council took complete charge of taking the pupils to chapel Thursday, and did it well. Only three misdemeanors, and those of slight nature, had to be passed upon afterward.

The big problem of the council is to decide how to make each room conscious of the fact that it is on its honor when a teacher is out of the room. They have gone slowly and each child is gradually developing an honor system conscience more noticeable in some rooms than in others. Only a few offenders have been published by the council and those very lightly. The council are:

William Riels, president; Billie Draper, secretary; Cecile Catherine McAnear, Floyd Wozencraft, Robert Parker, Velma Parker, W. C. Greer, Herbert King, Peggy Thompson, Otis Coffey, Prudence Coffey, Rudell Russell, Onida Doty, Margaret Schagal, Sherman Emery, D. S. Todd, Lida Sue Gorrell, Lona Johnson, Frances Ivie, James Henry Kinsey, B. F. Hallmark, Mary Edna Bursey, Geraldine Carter, Harold Barry, Fred Allen Beverly, Thelma Shaw, faculty adviser.

The faculty, the council and all the pupils of this department extend to all our parents an invitation to visit us at our work, and to join the Parents-Teachers Association. BILLIE DRAPER, Sec'y.

Thalia Drug Store Entered Sunday Night

Burglars entered the store of the Thalia Drug Company Sunday night, taking from the cash drawer $25.00 in cash and from the shelves about 8 cartons of cigarettes. Besides, they scattered a quantity of cigars over the floor.

Thalia has no night watchman, but the disturbance caused when the burglars entered the store was heard by Mack Edens, a barber, who sleeps next to the drug store. Edens heard a racket but thought it was at his front door and he got up to see what had happened, but finding a dog on the porch, decided that it had caused the racket and thought no more about it. That was a little after nine o'clock. Glass had been broken out of a back window to the drug store for entrance.

The store is owned and operated by Hylton Buster.

No clue has been found that would lead to the apprehension of the guilty parties.

Oil Activities on Johnson Ranch

It was expected that the new well would be spudded in some time this week on the Les K. Johnson ranch about 15 miles west of Crowell.

Three truck loads of material is reported to have gone to the site Monday. The water line is reported to have been completed several days ago and the derrick finished the last of last week.

The site of the new well is three-fourths of a mile east and one-fourth of a mile south of the first gas well drilled.

Preparations had about all been completed the first of the week for spudding in on the Halsell well near the old ranch house 12 miles southeast of Crowell. The driller, a Mr. Amour, and his family arrived on the field last week and are taking rooms at the McCaskill house. The large steel derrick at the site of the well was completed last week.

Reports of oil finding in the Long well south of Thalia at a depth of 1900 feet have not been confirmed at the present writing.

Returned from a Visit to the Old Tennessee Home

J. R. Merriman and family returned Saturday from a five weeks' visit to Waynesville, Tennessee, their old home from which they had been away for 17 years.

We asked Mr. Merriman how the country looks and whether or not he would like to make it his home again and his reply was that the country has changed wonderfully and that they have good roads all over it, but he does not think he could be contented to farm with the old methods they still use in that country. One thing he says, though, is that when it comes to real living those people put it over us in West Texas. They make their own living at home and have plenty and some to spare.

No doubt Mr. Merriman is like all who have once lived in the great west, even though we sometimes have a drouth and what we call hard times, there is a fascination about this great broad open country that one can not get away from.

Three Bills Returned by the Grand Jury

The grand jury did its work early in the week and was dismissed by the judge. Three bills of indictment were returned, one against F. A. Loubenthal, charged with assault and intent to murder, one against Buster Morris charged with burglary, and one against Jessie Moore charged with passing forged instrument.

The News is advised that the Loubenthal case is set for trial next Monday.

A letter from H. M. Ferrin at Sioux Falls, Ia., says that he and his wife are returning to Fairhope, Ala., about Sept. 27, and they want the News sent to that address. Mr. Ferrin says they have had no frost in his section to hurt the garden truck and that farm crops are above the average where they were not injured by cyclone or hail.

Hoover Has Big Lead in First Straw Ballot

The Literary Digest has sent out 19,000,000 ballots to be voted in a "straw" poll and has made its first report, which gives Hoover more than a double lead over his opponent.

Of the 32,350 ballots returned, Hoover has 21,756 and Smith 10,222. These returns were from California, Maryland, Nebraska, New Jersey and Wisconsin. The vote was as follows: California—Hoover 441, Smith 206; Maryland—Hoover 867, Smith 479; Nebraska—Hoover 2,340, Smith 1136; New Jersey—Hoover 15,420, Smith 6,586; Wisconsin—Hoover 2,688, Smith 1,815.

While there is encouragement in this to the Hoover supporters, it might mean little or nothing. But when the voting has been completed it will likely be a fairly safe basis upon which to predict the final results. The Literary Digest made a mighty good guess in the election of 1924. "By comparison with the entire popular vote of November 4, 1924, the poll showed an average error of less than 5 per cent," says the Digest, "while its correspondence with the vote of the Electoral College was 99 per cent correct."

Second Count

The second poll in the Digest of September 29, shows Hoover still leading:

California—Hoover 6,084, Smith 3,135; Illinois—Hoover 1,071, Smith 550; Indiana—Hoover 7,346, Smith 3,536; Maryland—Hoover 11,566, Smith 7,396; Michigan—Hoover 286, Smith 160; Nebraska—Hoover 18,894, Smith 8,639; New Jersey—Hoover 46,481, Smith 17,753; New York—Hoover 30,814, Smith 12,822; Ohio—Hoover 43,999, Smith 18,260; Oregon—Hoover 2,402, Smith 1,137; Washington—Hoover 3,899, Smith 1,830; Wisconsin—Hoover 24,134, Smith 17,014.

Presbyterians Have Elected a Pastor

The Presbyterians have elected a pastor for half time. Rev. T. B. Bryant is the new man and he will give half his time to the Crowell church and the other half to the Anson church.

The pastor filled the pulpit last Sunday and will be here again next Sunday and then the first Sunday in October. It happens that he will be here three Sundays in succession because next Sunday happens to be a fifth Sunday. His time will be Crowell on each last and first Sunday in the month.

P. T. A.

The Crowell P. T. A. met for the first meeting of the school year on Tuesday of this week. There was a fair attendance of both parents and teachers. This was very encouraging and we hope for splendid cooperation throughout the year, and better results than ever before. The more closely we come in contact with the teachers and the student body, the more we realize the need for a strong association and the opportunity we have for aiding the educational forces in our city.

The executive committee made its annual report and was accepted by the association. It was decided to put on a drive for new members and the re-enlistment of old members. For three days the "Reds" and the "Blues" are to solicit members. The drive will end Friday night when the teachers and parents are invited to meet at the school auditorium for an enthusiastic "get-together" meeting of all educational forces in Crowell. A hearty welcome awaits every one who wishes to encourage the efforts to have the best school in our history.

A good program was rendered by the children from Mrs. Jimmie Self's room.

Remember you will be expected at the party Friday night. Don't disappoint us.—Reporter.

CONDEMNATION SUITS

The commissioners court has filed seven condemnation suits for highway right-of-way, one against each of the following: Lawrence Sedberry, J. L. Shultz, Mrs. India Bell, Jessie H. Johnson, et al. A. T. Miller, et al. J. R. Gamble, et al. R. H. Cooper, et al.

These are people who own property through which the Lee Highway has been surveyed and will be built.

HONORABLE GUINN WILLIAMS SPOKE HERE WEDNESDAY

At 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Congressman Guinn Williams addressed an audience at the district court room.

Only a few hours notice had been given of his coming but even with the little publicity given a fairly large audience was present to hear him. This was due somewhat to the fact that district court was in session, which fact had brought more people to town than might have otherwise been here.

The speaker was introduced by Judge Robert Cole in a few words and when Mr. Williams took the rostrum he went immediately into his speech which was in the interest of the Democratic campaign.

He stated in the outset that he had been in the Hawaiian Islands and upon his return recently he found a surprising condition in Texas and although he had been asked to go to Illinois and Indiana to stump those states, he felt that his presence was needed in Texas and he is giving his services in the interest of the campaign at home.

Mr. Williams' speech was rather rambling, dealing for the most part with the rottenness of the Republican party, and the graft and thievery he said they had practiced. He paid his respects frequently to Mr. Hoover, who is a weak man, according to the speaker, and who is keeping bad company.

Occasionally he would jump to Al Smith and assert that he is the greatest man in America today, clean, stalwart and outstanding, and above all a man of ability, honesty and courage, characteristics possessed by few public men and by none seeking public office. Such declarations as that were interspersed with accusations of bootlegging practices of Mellon, thieving by Harry Daugherty, and winked at by Coolidge, Hoover and all the other men who have occupied positions of honor and trust since Wilson's administration.

Mr. Williams told how Tammany had taken the South to its bosom in times of need and had bound up her wounds and nursed her through the mess, trying ordeal of her history and finally put her on her feet. That was all done when such rascals as are now in power would have plundered the Southland and robbed her of her just rights.

The speaker touched on the religious phase of the campaign and belittled those who would make religion a test, which is contrary to the Constitution. He declared that the Catholics had been more tolerant than the Protestants, and even in the very beginning of our Government's history Lord Baltimore was the humane force who saw that religious freedom was incorporated into the constitution of Maryland.

The speaker also introduced the negro and declared that Mr. Hoover had been the lover of the race and had appointed the dusky brethren to offices under which white people had to work and from whom they had to take orders, etc.

He declared that the big bootleggers of the Nation are behind Hoover and are advocating his election. He proved that assertion by saying that Mellon was the biggest whiskey dealer and he is behind Hoover.

The speaker showed the Hooverites just what kind of company they are keeping by referring to Colquit, Love, Alvin Moody, Bascomb Thomas and all the other hollers who are stirring up this mess and whom the misguided Hooverites are following.

Mr. Williams appealed to the voters to remember the traditions of the Democratic party and the traditions of the South which they come to cast their votes in the general election.

District Court in Session Here

District court opened Monday morning with Judge Robert Cole on the bench.

Besides the members of the local bar there were present District Attorney O. O. Franklin, Judge Leake and John Storey of Vernon and Judge Brookerson of Benjamin.

The first thing on program Monday morning was the assembling of the grand jury before the district judge to be sworn and charged. The usual charge was given, urging the jury to see that law violators are brought to justice and society protected.

Fifteen men had been summoned on the grand jury and all were present to be sworn, but since only twelve men are needed the judge excused three men, those who had been in almost constant service for the last several terms of the court. These were H. E. Ferguson, G. J. Benham and Henry Ayers.

When these were excused the grand jury comprised the following: Fred Brown, H. W. Banister, S. B. Middlebrook, A. Weatherall, J. R. Beverly, A. W. Barker, T. M. Haney, F. H. Crews, Tom Bursey, J. F. Beverly, John Walling, John Marr, F. H. Crews was appointed as foreman.

Tax Rolls Will Soon Be Ready

Tax Assessor Claude Callaway informs the News that he is working on the tax rolls and that he will have them ready to turn over to the tax collector by October 1st. After that time tax paying will be made possible to those who are ready to pay them.

As a usual thing not many taxes are paid through October. A greater percent is paid in November but December and January are the big months when the collector forces are worked day and night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Graves and daughter, Miss Marie, of Stephenville were here last week visiting the families of their sons, I. T. and Coach Graves. They returned home Tuesday. Mr. Graves has been elected to the Texas Legislature for a third term from the 105th district.

Crowell, Texas, September 28, 1928

Then, too, Mr. Williams forgot to tell us all about that negro stuff the other day. The fact is that the Smith folks jumped a negro and chased him around for a time, then the Hoover bunch got in after him and they all ran him into a woodpile and left him. Mr. Williams was in Hawaii all that time and when he came home he started to hunt Mr. Negro and while he was in Crowell Wednesday shook the bushes mightily. There does not seem to be much good thunder for either party in the negro talk. The facts seem to be that about all the figures being cut by them are by the National Negro League and that is supporting Smith. This is said to be due to Tammany favors in New York City where Smith is very popular, and where in one school ward whites and blacks are reported to be instructed by negro teachers. That accusation is made above a whisper and so far as is known it has not been denied. As a matter of fact, no informed man makes a sincere charge that the negroes are supporting Hoover. They are not doing it in the South and they are not doing it in the North.

A spellbinder recently made the declaration in Crowell that had it not been for Hoover the wheat farmers of this country would have gotten $1.00 a bushel for their wheat after the war. Mr. Hoover was food administrator during the administration of President Wilson. The food control measure was one of the Government and was not the act of a single man. If, by any means, Hoover had it in his power to bring such disaster upon the wheat farmers of the land, why did not President Wilson have him removed from office and put a man there that was worthy of the public confidence? Here are some facts as to wheat prices, well known to many Foard County farmers, too. After the war when the food price control was lifted, the price of wheat went to $3.00 a bushel in this country and many of the farmers refused to sell at that price and held for a higher one. The final result was that the price dropped and they took $2.00 per bushel and some even less than that. It is astounding how some politicians will try to mislead the people.

There is no criticism to be passed on those nominees who are going to sign something to show that they are standing true to the Democratic ticket. They are in a close place. Some of them may want to run for something in the future and they had rather have a record of loyalty to the party. We would advise them to sign and go on and vote 'er straight even if you do have to hold your nose. Us cattle out on the range can browse around wherever the grass is good and eek out an existence without having to eat any kind of fodder poked at us.

Speaking of Hon. Oscar Colquitt, those very fellows who are having fits over Al Smith threw their hats into the air when Oscar was eloquencing on local option and "personal" liberty. Now they are poking fun at him because he has been converted to the light and is fighting for prohibition. "Personal Liberty" just about tells the whole tale. Liberty is all right, but personal liberty might, if indulged in to the limit, get a fellow into trouble.

But after all, why should people get mad over politics? It would not be so bad, if, after getting mad, ripping and snorting around like a wild bull, we could leave for unknown parts after the election where we would not be heard from again, but that is hardly practicable. We have simply got to pass and be passed in the every day walks of life and if we have hard feelings in our hearts towards the other rascals it makes life unpleasant. About all some of us get out of an election is the little fun. If it were a post office it would be different.

Congressman Guinn Williams said at the beginning of his speech Wednesday that he was wanted to stump Illinois and Indiana but that he thought his services were needed in Texas and that he is giving them to the cause of the Democratic campaign. Frankly, we do not see how we can spare him from Texas for there is no doubt but that his services in this state will go far towards helping to elect Hoover. Indiana and Illinois will likely go for Hoover anyway.

Brother Williams said in his speech Tuesday that the bootleggers are going to support Hoover. If that is true, we should like to know how he expects Smith to be elected. Nearly everybody had conceded that Smith would carry that element by an overwhelming majority, but if they are coming over to the side of Prohibition, things are looking mighty good for a great reformation all over the land.

The News is giving the results of the straw vote conducted by the Literary Digest, which shows Hoover to be in the lead by big majorities. This, of course, is comforting to Hoover supporters, but the Smith folks will see the silver lining when the vote from New York City comes in. It may be that they get quite a lot of comfort from the South. It is too early to make predictions.

There are two elements in the United States with reference to prohibition, the wet element and the dry element. We are agreed on that statement. Considering the wet element just for a moment, let's ask ourselves the question, "whom are the wets going to vote for?" Why, you say they are going to support Smith, possibly not to a man, but as a rule. Then, some fellows will come along and say that we would have better prohibition under Smith than we would under Hoover. Do you believe that and do you expect the wet element to believe it? Of course not, for if they did believe it they would throw their strength to Hoover. The fallacy of the argument advanced by some folks is so great and so apparent as to justify doubt as to their sincerity in the statements they make.

Laying all jokes aside, what do you think is going to happen in Texas, anyway? "Oh Texas is safe," says one, while another scratches his head and says "not so certain." Bolting has become rather popular and many brass-collared fellows are looking down their noses. Seems like they don't pay much attention to the sneers and jeers of the regulars. The fact is there is an army of them and they are getting better organized every day. And now the regulars are organizing, too, so we are likely to see business pick up before the campaign is over. It looks like it is more than a family quarrel. If we are not mistaken it is going to be a real battle between the pro-Smiths and the anti-Smiths.

Personally, we do not believe Al Smith will make us a bad president, for we do not think he has a ghost of a chance of making any kind. That's our opinion. Of course, we reserve the right to be mistaken.

Our own great Sheppard was faithful to his flock for many years but he forsook us when the Tammany tiger appeared.

ON THE FARM

By the County Agent

Rotation and Peas Pay

Charlie Matysek, who lives in the Rayland community, has proven beyond any doubt that thin sandy land can be made productive and also be prevented from blowing by the proper methods.

Mr. Matysek moved on this farm four years ago. He began planting cowpeas and maize and cowpeas and corn in alternating rows. He planted his feed and peas in alternating strips with his cotton. The succeeding year the feed land is planted to cotton and the cotton land planted to feed. This method of planting helps to keep the field from blowing.

Mr. Matysek has ninety acres in cotton this year and, although this has been a very hard year, he is sure that he will gather thirty-five bales from the ninety acres. It is his experience that the red clay peas are better than most any other variety. They seem to make more vine and stand the dry weather well.

Tattooing Poultry

W. L. Ricks and Dr. R. E. Main are making preparation to tattoo their poultry. It seems that there has been some chickens and turkeys leaving home mysteriously in some sections of the county and in as much as many turkeys and chickens look alike, some means of identification is necessary.

Tattooing is done in the web of the wing. It is necessary to have a regular tattooing outfit which can be purchased from many poultry supply houses. Tattooing gives a positive means of identification and in cases of theft it will assist the officers in catching the thieves.

Terracing

Tom Vecera is building the terraces on his farm west of Crowell. Mr. Vecera is building the wide terrace. The terraces complete are thirty-two feet wide. This width makes the ridges easier to cultivate. In row crops the cultivators and planters stay on them better. In grain it is easier to get the binders and machinery over them. Mr. Vecera has had quite a bit of experience in terracing and he is sure that it pays.

"Two performances are given daily—the afternoon show starting at 2 o'clock, and the night performance at 8 o'clock. The doors are open one hour previous for the inspection of the zoo, and for the children to see the two mammoth beasts which require two specially constructed railway cars for their transportation."

ADELPHIAN CLUB

The Adelphian Club met in its first regular study meeting September 19th at the home of Mrs. J. E. Harwell with Mrs. T. S. Haney leading. After a short business session, the study of contemporary poetry was taken up. "Patterns," by Amy Lowell, and "Renaissance" by Edna St. Vincent Millay, were discussed at length with the characteristics of poetry in mind. Realism in portrayal, variety and individuality in pattern and subject matter, are typical of these and other contemporary poets. Americans are breaking away from established forms in literature as well as other fields and blazing new trails. Amy Lowell was one of the first of a school of "Imagists" who had as their goal truth, realism and glorification of the common place. The "Reader's Approach to Poetry," "The Pattern of a Poem," and "Democracy" were subjects discussed by appointed members. "Democracy" as exemplified by Edwin Markham in "Lincoln, the Man of the People" and "The Man with the Hoe" is a live and vital part of modern American poetry.

Refreshments were served to club members and Misses Imogene and Mildred Ballew of Seymour.—Reporter.

The "luck" that I believe in is that which comes with work. And no one ever finds it. What's content to wish and shirk.

PUT ON A FEW FRILLS

IT COSTS thought rather than very much money to send loads to the table with the attractive garnishes that make hotel meals so delightful for the average "home folks." There is really no good reason why even a fairly busy homemaker should not treat her "house table" to prettily garnished dishes.

Decorative garnishes, in general, are good, is more readily accepted and as simplified, it enters in pleasant surroundings, in a pleasant mood, and it is appealing to the eye as well as to the palate. The garnish in other words, is as much a matter of good digestion as of style.

The garnish should be edible as well as pretty, whenever possible, and most garnishes, with the exception of the filled paper tips placed on chops and crown roasts, are good to eat.

Asparagus Mousse.

Cook one bunch of finely cut asparagus with some of the three-inch tips removed, and cook separately one cupful of medium white sauce, one tablespoonful of gelatin, one-eighth teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one fourth teaspoonful of paprika, one cupful of stiffly whipped cream. Soak the gelatin five minutes in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, add to the hot asparagus and the white sauce, and well add seasonings told in the recipe, and pour into a well-oiled mold and let chill several hours. Unmold on lettuce garnish with asparagus points dipped in melted butter. Serve with mayonnaise. Increase the amount of gelatin if made in hot weather or molded in a large mold.

Chestnuts and Ham.

Alternate thinly sliced cooked ham, and mashed chestnuts in a baking dish, season with sage or marjoram and bits of butter. Finish with the chestnuts on top. Bake until brown.

Mashed chestnuts as a vegetable are delicious, serve with sausage.

Chestnuts with apples make a good combination for a salad. The nuts may be cut in halves and simply blanched and served with apples.

The Cynical Flounder

Wisdom may not be in the depths but enough things are there to keep wise men thinking deeply, and millions of men at work preparing to fish and ammonia; drying sea weeds to use among other things for decoration, on the Japanese New Year, as an American uses bolly on his. American Birds

By far the most abundant birds in the United States are the robin and the English sparrow but several others are common enough to make their total numbers run well into the millions. The counts so far show that the most abundant bird on farms in the northeastern states is the robin. Next to this is the English sparrow and following these are the song sparrow, chipping sparrow, meadow lark and catbird, in the order named.

Town Has Right Spirit

Now is the time for launching forth on a program of civic development in Bay Minette. Towns of like size and many smaller, are busily paving streets, extending sewage systems, laying sidewalks and in many other ways improving living conditions for their citizens and at the same time presenting a far more attractive appearance for the prospective locator. Bay Minette should not lag in this fine work.

Playground Essential

A playground is an educational facility, the Supreme court of Michigan has ruled. It upheld the will of Miss Mary Andrews, school teacher, who died in 1924, leaving a large part of her estate to the city of Dowagiac for a children's playground.

Motorists usually find that in detouring, one poor turn deserves another.

Some towns are so lucky. An insurance man is missing in Toledo.

BUSINESS CRIMES

Business crime is exacting an annual toll of $1,600,000,000. Sounds like a lot of money, but not so much when the fact is taken into consideration that the opportunities for crooks to prey on business are almost unlimited.

In the small rural community, where the banker knows practically all of his customers by their first name, and the merchant is acquainted with nearly everyone with whom he deals, the loss from bogus checks is small.

However, the criminal of this class all too frequently finds a credulous fellow who is ensnared and business writes up the sum on the loss side of the ledger.

Honest business loses $100,000,000 a year in this country alone through forgeries and a similar amount because of embezzlements. Then there is a loss of $400,000,000 charged up to credit frauds and $1,000,000,000 to stock frauds.

Stock fraud losses are due chiefly to the sale of corporate securities of no actual or potential value and losses from Bucket shop and other illegal forms of trading in securities. Over $3,000,000,000 have been stolen from the people of this country since the war through the sale of spurious securities.

Little wonder, then, that business men have been aroused to action and that they have spurred legislature on to enact more stringent "blue sky" laws.

The fake stock promoter is the limit in business criminality, because he preys on the weak and takes advantage of their lack of knowledge.

He and all of his confederates who make a living "by their wits" are levying too heavy a tax on business. They will have to be routed sooner or later.

Fall fashions say that germs must jump higher than ever to catch the hem of a skirt.

It has been estimated that if all of the handshaking which will be done this fall was combined, it would milk all of the cows in the United States.

Mud baths are said to make people beautiful, but you don't see very many good looking politicians.

RAISING BUSINESS STANDARDS

Better business methods will come about largely through organization. The business man who belongs to his trade association and attends its meetings regularly not alone profits himself, but his customers profit also.

He keeps in stride with the new ideas that are developing in his particular line. He learns new devices to cut down the overhead and thus make it impossible to reduce his retail prices.

Business men who follow this policy have higher standards because association with their fellow dealers teaches them that a new standard is coming into business.

It is no longer the rule that the buyer should beware. Instead, the seller is beginning to realize his responsibility to the buyer—that a fair profit is all he is entitled to. If he takes more, the buyer will find him out because his competition is doing business on a new ethical basis.

Every profession is organized to maintain the high ethical standard that it aims to follow. Business men are seeing the light and following the same path.

That is the keynote in all business organization—to raise the standard and thus remove all doubt of questionable practices.

The buyer is being considered as never before. It is a movement that should be encouraged.

TIME SAVING CLUB FORMED

To further stimulate this rapid age in which we are living, an organization over in Paris has been formed for the saving of time, and as America gets many things from Paris, the Society of Saving Time, may soon have branches in this country.

The newly founded French efficiency society has a most unique purpose. It is for shortening of names. The group would like to see Parliament pass a law limiting family names to five letters and Christian names to two. They figure that in the business world alone millions of dollars could be saved annually in salaries of typists and wear on machines if names were held down.

They suggest that Jo, Ed, Al, Lu and Jk are just as high sounding as Joseph, Edward, Albert, Lucien and Jack.

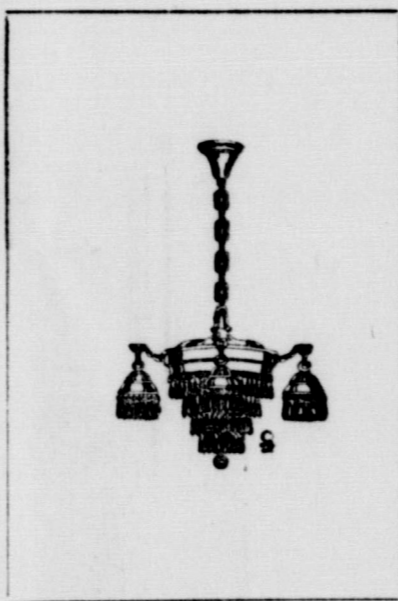

The auto speeder usually discovers his mistake by accident.

The only thing that exists without working these days, is an automatic cigar lighter.

OLD SOURDOUGH IS OWN DENTIST

Lack of Teeth Forces Him to Levy New Set From Forests.

Science. They need to say the most packed reached the height of efficiency when they utilized everything about the fog but the squire. The pain for utilization of available resources, however, goes to Nim Robinson, third degree sourdough, who lives in Eagle City, Alaska, on the Yukon river, twelve miles or so from the Canadian-Alaskan boundary line and some 100 miles from Dawson, Yukon territory, center of the great Klondike gold rush of 1897, writes William C. Lyons in the New York Times.

After some seventy summers, half of which had been passed in the almost continuous daylight of the Arctic rim, as well as an equal number of sleep long winters—Nim, being still youthful in spirit and resourceful in the extreme when addition or necessity called for action, deemed it necessary to extract most of his teeth.

Outworn mush and rotted stumps are warning food commodities for a breakfast when the mercury hovers around sixty below, and great quantities of them are consumed along the Yukon; but noon time and evening rail for red meat. The sourdough seldom complains when the meat is tough; he can handle it easily if he has teeth.

"What this country really needs," Nim has often reflected, in a paraphrase of that famous epigram of the late Vice President Marshall, "is a good journeyman dentist."

But the country did not boast such a luxury. True, the United States public health service sends a floating hospital up the Yukon some summers, but more often than not it stops at Fort Gibbons or goes up the Tanana to Nenana, when the early freezing cuts it off from the upper reaches of the great waterway—and ice-way. Hence, Eagle City gets its dental service perhaps once in five years.

"Who wants to wait five years for a set of false teeth," Nim also reflected. And from that reflection an idea was born: "I'll have to make a set myself."

Novel Training for Dentistry.

Nim had gone into the interior of Alaska about the time the first cry of "Gold!" resounded from the Yukon. He had found a few small pay streaks, but he was one of the large horde who did not amass great wealth and returned to Seattle, Portland or San Francisco to start banks and big mercantile establishments. He stayed; these thirty years he stayed, and as time went on he became a past master in the lore of woodcraft. He learned about the habitats, the habits and the anatomy—even if not the language—of the black bear, the grizzly, the wolf and the timid mountain sheep.

He became a mighty hunter, and while the fascinating lure of the search for gold again and again gripped him, and even occasionally now, in his old age, still grips him, he is known best as a hunter. Hence the name, Nim, Christian names moon little in the Alaskan wilds. He lost his in a few years and became first "Nimrod" and then just plain "Nim," as he is known today. Perhaps he remembers his old name, but nobody else does.

When the great idea about his teeth came Nim set forth for the deep woods where grow the mighty spruce trees that exude gum from the bark, known to woodsmen and sourdough as spruce gum. With a good sized "chunk" of this, he fashioned a mold, as the dentist would have had him do. On a lighting sortie he bagged a growling bear, a snarling wolf and a bleating mountain sheep.

From each of these animals he matched teeth according to their suitability for incisors, grinders or molars. On his small native grindstone which he turned with a foot-pedal he ground the teeth of these animals to suitable lengths and shapes.

As a miner, Nim had collected slugs of silver, remnants from his mortar and crucible. These he spun or drew through dies, which he had made himself, into a thin wire. Upon the wire he strung his sheep, wolf and bear teeth and bound them together until they looked like the necklace ornaments of the Indians of old who still live about him in the deep woods and along the streams.

A Go at Science.

About the village he sought until he found some of the rubber remains of the shoe-packs or rubber boots essential to the sourdough's wardrobe. These he sacrificed on the altar of science in cast-iron pots until he had obtained a material sufficiently plastic to shape around the spruce-gum molds. He succeeded.

The teeth were fastened—could it be called vulcanized?—into the plates. And the silver wire anchoring the teeth to the plate and holding them together before they were cast, gave the semblance of a liberal use of amalgam in fillings and camouflaged the falseness!

Nim still hunts the bear and the mountain sheep, and with the teeth of their ancestors defies their stringy toughness as he puts away liberal portions of the red meat so essential to meet the rigors of the last fron-

tie. It was several years ago when he fashioned the plates. The government dentists come and go more often now, but Nim has no business with them—unless they want some advice on the laboratory side of their profession.

Sounds fishy? Mendacious, perhaps? The story is vouched for as true by Carl M. Johansen, president of Swed-Ish Steel Products, Inc., of Seattle and San Francisco. Back in the early '90s Mr. Johansen was Cornell's first paid football coach. In those early days before eligibility rules interfered he played star football for eight years—four at Cornell, three at Williams and one at Harvard. He wrote authoritatively on football in the old New York Sun, before the late Walter Camp was heard of! (He has known Nim Robinson since Nim first went to Alaska.)

Get Breathing Space With "Pepped-Up" Air

New York.—Air, once considered the most abundant of life's necessities, is becoming precious. Conservation of ozone is the latest development in New York's campaign to provide breathing space for the 7,000,000 who are jammed together in the big city.

The lesson was first brought home in the trading room of the New York stock exchange, where more than a thousand men are huddled into one room for five hours each day.

At the end of a strenuous trading session, the members would go home with that limp feeling that is caused by inadequate ventilation. Conditions became so bad that a month ago science was called in to find a solution. Science brought a relief—so far as fresh air could relieve.

Two small boxes and electricity did the trick. The device, which "ionizes" the air, was installed by an ozone company.

The apparatus does not supply fresh air. Instead it takes old air, makes it fresh and keeps it that way. Air is passed through an electrical discharge of 10,000 volts in one of the "boxes" which measures about 5 feet by 4 feet.

In going through the electric current the air is "pepped up," takes on new vitality and is less susceptible to contamination by impurities which infect every room where a large number of persons gather. All the unhealthful elements are burned out of it.

The device in operation works through the ventilating system of the building.

Other big concerns are beginning to realize how rare good air is coming to be. J. P. Morgan & Co. have installed one of the devices and so has the National City bank.

Pupil, 14, in Love, Kills Self and Riot Starts

Przemysl, Poland.—Rioting during which a number of students were wounded broke out here following the suicide of one of their comrades.

Franz Skokowski, fourteen, threw himself under the wheels of an express train because he had been chaffed by a professor for his love for an unnamed actress. The youth slapped the face of the teacher, and the student's father, hearing of this, said: "There is no place for you at home."

Stricken with sorrow and shame, Skokowski wrote farewell letters to the professor, his father and his comrades, saying that life was a disappointment to him.

All the schools and colleges were closed to commemorate his death. After the youth's funeral, which was attended by every school child in the city and thousands of their elders, the students rushed to the school building and demolished the furniture. They did the same to the professor's home. Rioting broke out and the police wounded a number of students.

The youth's father, who is a high Polish official, was compelled to flee for fear of vengeance at the hands of comrades of his son.

Husband's Will Gives Children to Mother

Columbus, Ohio.—In addition to an estate valued at $3,500 Mrs. U. G. Drake was bequeathed her own children, in the will of her husband recently probated.

Here it is: "I also bequeath to my wife what money can't buy, a family of children that to my notion do honor to any mother. And may God's blessing rest upon her and richly reward her for the many years of careful, faithful ministry to me."

Overalls for Church Wear, Pastor Decrees

Henderson, Iowa.—The "Sun-day-go-to-meetin' clothes" at the Henderson Christian church hereafter will consist, at the suggestion of Rev. G. D. No land, of overalls for men and similar modest attire for the women. The pastor objects to the church being made a place for dress parade. He said many men kept away from services because they felt they could not dress up to the occasion.

"This is not to be a show," he explained, "I merely want the working people to know that my church and I are one of them."

The minister himself plans to wear overalls.

They can usually be identified, he points out, because they make more noise about their likes and dislikes and pretend to despise ordinary pleasures more than true intellectuals really do. The human desire to be distinguished from one's neighbors drives them to affect an intellectual attitude they do not feel at heart. In brief, they are more superficial and less honest with themselves than the confessed lowbrow who takes his pleasures as he finds them.

As a matter of fact the true intellectual is divided into two types—and the more fortunate of these possesses a broad sympathy and understanding which enables it to find interest in all human diversion, avers Dr. Bisch, whose career as a psychoanalyst for the government and for New York Polyclinic hospital has enabled him to study thousands of subjects of varied intellectual caliber.

Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, he points out, found a chief source of relaxation in detective fiction and plays. President Coolidge, Bernard Shaw and Kreisler, the violin virtuoso, are of the fortunate intellectual type which finds diversion in the movies and other pleasures of the masses.

West Texas Utilities to Serve Shamrock

Abilene, Texas, Sept. 24.—Giving the town of Shamrock continuity of electrical service, the West Texas Utilities Company is constructing 27 miles of 66,000 voltage highline from Wellington to Shamrock, it was announced by the construction department here.

The company also will erect a 600 kva 66,000 volt steel substation at Shamrock.

The town heretofore has been supplied with electricity by a local generating plant of 544 kw capacity. Because of the rapid growth of the town it was found the old station was inadequate to care for the electrical needs, and provide required reserve capacity.

Building of this highline is in keeping with the program of the West Texas Utilities Company which provides for extension of transmission lines to all cities and communities on the company's properties.

A farmer at Woodson sold 41 cows and one bull to an out-of-town buyer for $3,906. The cattle were mixed breeds and were bought for stock cattle.

On what is locally known as dollar day in De Leon the cream shipment was particularly heavy. Twenty-seven cans of cream averaging 70 pounds to the can, paying 38 cents a pound brought farmers $380.00.

Twenty thousand dollars have subscribed to a $75,000 hotel for Merkel. According to plans $40,000 is needed before the hotel building will start.

The school boys of Winters have organized one of the first "Future Farmers of Texas" chapters in Texas. This organization for boys who are preparing themselves to be tillers of the soil has organizations in nine states.

Over fifty kinds of vegetables are grown on a farm by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wilkenson, southeast of Perryton of Wolf Creek. Swiss Chard, oyster plant, colo rabi, worm week, berries and melons are included in the group.

Baptist Missionary Society

The Baptist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the church with an attendance of eighteen.

Mrs. L. A. Andrews conducted a lesson in Royal Service on "W. M. U. Family affairs." The lesson was very interesting and instructive.

After the lesson we packed a box for clothing to send to Buckner Orphans Home, the value of the box being around fifty dollars.

The committee announced there would be a kitchen shower in the T. E. L. room Thursday at 3 o'clock.

Next Monday the business meeting will be held at the church with our new officers in charge. We hope to have a good attendance and trust the new officers will have the loyal support of every W. M. U. member.—Reporter.

Variety in Foodstuffs

What a dreary, old, uninteresting world this would be if nothing was ever changed—if everything around you just got older and more worn out each day—if nothing was ever refreshed and made new.

And above all, how tiresome and unappetizing if we had to eat the same things every day or foods that were almost alike. Soon you wouldn't care much whether you ate or not and you would eat as little as possible.

We take special pains to stock a most complete variety of foodstuffs, including things that are new and different. This enables every housewife to prepare menus that are tempting and varied.

Here are a few specials for Saturday:

The commissioners court of Floyd County in session at Floydada recently let the contract for paving of the four blocks around the square. The cost will come out of the 25c maintenance and improvement tax.

A modern triple combination 500-gallon pumping fire engine was purchased by the city of Pyote at a cost of $6,750.00. Several members of the new volunteer fire department learned how to work the mechanism of the pump.

The San Saba Chamber of Commerce is conducting a campaign for better seed for the farmers. On account of the failure of some of the crops seed must be imported and the C. of C. thinks this is the time to improve the quality.

Two booster trips advertising the Donley County Fair were taken by enthusiastic citizens to Lelia Lake, Hedley, Giles, Jerico, and Martin, all neighboring towns.

Contracts for twenty blocks of additional pavement has been let by the San Angelo City Commission. An electric bond of $1,000 was accepted.

Large Island Unexplored

The fifth, and possibly the third, largest island in the world, is almost unknown. It is Ballin island in the Arctic circle, and its area is estimated at from 200,000 to 300,000 square miles. It is owned by Canada. The Norsemen probably knew it in the year 1000. In 1576, when Martin Probieher was seeking the Northwest passage, 100 English colonists actually tried to make their homes on its bleak southeastern coast. Some day, perhaps, when the world becomes overcrowded and modern conveniences make a cold climate livable, Ballin island may be the home of a nation.—Capper's Weekly

Hamburg's Lucky Streak

Hamburg, one of Germany's largest cities, might be still only a small port if the American colonies had not rebelled against English rule and won the Revolutionary war. A large part of the trade of the continent of Europe that formerly went through London was diverted to Hamburg as the result of that conflict, and the city grew by leaps and bounds, relates Pathfinder Magazine. Now it and its suburbs have about 2,250,000 population. Bremen and Stettin also had a remarkable growth during the German expansion period, but Hamburg had the advantage over those ports by having deep water.

New Story of Sahara Full of High Comedy

One of the big points of "Beau Sabreur," the sequel to the now famous "Beau Geste," is the fact that the comedy element has not been lost, something rare in productions of this magnitude. Comedy plays a vital part in the Paramount pictures and it is injected in several sentences.

"Beau Sabreur" is a melodrama of the Foreign Legion from the pen of P. C. Wren, author of "Beau Geste." It has been made into a spectacular production by Paramount and will be shown at the Rialto Theatre on Monday and Tuesday nights. With a cast of noted screen stars, this attraction promises to exceed the success of its companion.

Believing that many productions are ruined for audiences because of the lack of the lighter elements, the producers of "Beau Sabreur" have done everything possible to retain that and at the same time not hurt the tense, dramatic qualities of the story.

Love for one's country, rivaling a man's love for a girl, forms the main theme of this Paramount picture, and about this love there has been brought into play some thrilling adventures on the great Sahara, battles between a handful of French soldiers and desert wolves—and just that necessary touch to bring an occasional grin.

While the main work falls upon Gary Cooper, playing the title role, the comedy end has been turned over to a pair of able actors—Noah Beery and Roscoe Karns. During the early scenes of the story, Beery is a hated desert terror, a fearless tribesman, and Karns is his grand vizier, until it is learned that they are former soldiers, deserters from the service. This gives not only a unique, but a perfect bit of comedy to the tale of "Beau Sabreur," John Waters directed.

Ancient Cuban Tiles for American Homes

Curio dealers of Havana are acquiring old Spanish art tiles to supply the demand in the United States. As each old house is torn down, the bidding for its art tiling is active, although there is nearly a 50 per cent loss in brokerage—the tiles having been so long cemented to the wall that they have become as brittle as porcelain.

The Spaniards and Cubans have always been fond of tiling and their residences are often faced with exquisite designs in vivid colors, strongly reminiscent of the Moorish influence on Spanish art. The tiles may represent hunting and marine scenes, mountain vistas, battles, sieges and religious subjects. One set depicts important passages from the Bible and gives the text from which they are taken. These tiles were taken from Holland by the Spaniards during their occupation of the Netherlands, and after several centuries' use in a house in Madrid crossed the Atlantic to Havana.

American visitors to Havana purchase, besides the tiles, much Spanish bronze, copper and beaten brassware. Cuba was at one time rich in such curios, but the supply has been practically exhausted, so that the dealers now spend their summers in Europe to renew their stock. Spanish glass ware is another field of the visitors. The older pieces offered for sale are extremely beautiful. When Carlo III ruled Spain he imported hundreds of glass workers from the Capri di Monti factory at Naples, and the delicate products of these craftsmen is today highly valued.—New York Times.

How Policeman Came by Nickname "Copper"

After a century or so of suppression in London the story has leaked out—how a policeman came to be called a "copper" or "cop."

"Twas evening, ah, bitter chill it was, and the policeman was courting a cook. He was devouring a feast of pie and ogling his buxom darling when her mistress was heard approaching. "Ide! ide!" was her smothered cry of dismay. He hid in the only refuge he could see—the huge copper laundry vat. Alas! It seemed the mistress had come to order the fire lighted beneath that very vat, that she might have some hot water. Forced to comply, the cook soon saw her brave lover leap out and with one tense backward look of reproach, vanish into the night.

Ages ago that lover fled into the storm, but still the ghost of his secret romance follows him and he must answer to the name of "copper."

Judging from modern day living, some women won't be happy in heaven unless they can have new winds every pay day.

Flour From Corn

Corn flour is corn meal ground and bolted until it is as fine as wheat flour. It is used in considerable quantities by bakers and as a binder in sausage making. During the World war it was widely sold as a wheat flour substitute for use in quick breads, cakes and general cooking, but it is not ordinarily found on the retail market. Some of the purveyors on the market contain corn flour of fine corn, most usually mixed with flour made of wheat, eye, barley or other cereals. In England the term corn flour refers to the separated starch, which in this country is called cornstarch and which is used for thickening sauces and puddings.

Lunch Away From Home

Married men of Elbar, a Spanish town of 10,000 inhabitants, never go home for lunch. They have a local proverb which says it is unlikly if men lunch at home more than twice in their lives—on the day of their marriage and on the day of their death. Every man in Elbar, therefore, lunches at a restaurant or at the factory or shop where he is employed. It is believed the fact that most of the women work away from home during the day has given rise to the proverb.

Odd Mixture Made of Business and Religion

In uptown New York there is a little church in which attending services is an all-day affair on Sundays. The congregation spends from eight to ten hours in the house of prayer, and meals and social circles interlard sermons and Bible classes.

Perhaps the most practical feature of the weekly gathering has to do with business. Members of the flock are invited to pass along their special wants to the pastor and he in turn proclaims them from the pulpit. Thus, if one has a piano or a parlor set for sale it may be described as alluringly as desired, the price mentioned and the name and address of the "brother" or "sister" broadcast. If one wants a job or a boarder the details are set forth in the same manner. Recently a case of theft was handled as follows:

"Mah dear brothers an sistern, Mis Amanda Rose Abernathy has lost her beautiful pearl brooch—at least she likes to think it were lost, but she know the devil often find things for folks what ain't lost—so if any of you have found it, in such eventuality please return it to the lawful owner thereof. An' to save embarrassments and humiliations I would suggest that the finder of the lovely brooch put it in de little collection envelope."—New York Sunday Times.

"Singing" Mud Rivers Alter Andes Skyline

One of the most interesting features of the Andes, the great backbone of cordilleras covering the northern part of South America, says Nature Magazine, is its "singing" rivers of mud.

During certain seasons of the year rain falls in torrents, converting the foothills of the mountains into actual streams of flowing gumbo, and so rapidly is this erosion occurring, the whole outline of a chain of mountains may become unrecognizable in the course of a year.

The higher cordilleras with altitudes of 10,000 to 12,000 feet, are being washed down at the rate of five feet or more a year, and it is believed that in a few centuries the Andes will be leveled and formed into vast plateaus like the hinterland of Patagonia.

The mountains are composed, for the most part, of glacial moraine, a mixture of powdered rock and clay. The winter rains carry this alluvial material down the valleys in a semi-liquid state and form vast plains. It gurgles with a musical sound like poured molasses.

Magisterial Wisdom

When called upon recently to settle a quarrel between two Jewish women a London magistrate handed a copy of the Bible to the official interpreter, saying: "Take those women out of court and read them the One Hundred Thirty-third Psalm. One of the women has only a limited knowledge of English. Translate it for her into Yiddish." Later, the interpreter returned to court and reported that the magistrate's scheme had been entirely successful. The first sentence of the psalm reads: "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

SPLINTERS

VOL. 1 September 28, 1928 No. 29

Published in the interest of the people of Crowell and vicinity by the Cicero Smith Lumber Co.

R. J. ROBERTS, Manager.

We like to think we are rendering a service to the community by running this business. We hope you think so, too.

When making fence a good thing to do is to stop in here and get the necessary supplies. We have them, you know.

Absent Minded Professor: "Waiter, half an hour ago I ordered a steak. Have you forgotten it—have I had it—or didn't I order it?"

"Did your uncle remember you when he made his will?" "I should say he did—he left me out."

Mrs. J. R. Flesher is building a nice farm residence on one of her places east of Thalia. Will L. Johnson is doing the carpenter work.

We have Johnson's liquid and paste wax. If you have a floor to wax remember there is none better than Johnson's floor wax.

For Walls of strength and low yearly cost, use Acme wall board, we still have some in stock.

Something more than just good coal—it's extra good coal with comfort in every lump, that is what DIAVOLO coal is.

Yes, we all know it is dry and that we need rain badly. Cheer up, it will rain some of these days—it always has.

Running a lumber business isn't so much a problem of selling as it is of buying. If we don't buy what you folks want, then it is a sure thing that we won't sell it.

Work is progressing nicely on the Dockins Hotel. T. W. Campbell, who has the carpenter work in charge, tells us he will soon be ready for roofing men.

The chief purpose of many new laws is not to get some bad man into jail but to help some bad man into office.
