SPEAKER FROM THE NETHERLANDS

CHS was honored Friday to have a speaker, Hank Enkelaar, from Amsterdam, Holland, who told the students and faculty many interesting things about his native land.

He said that the Dutch were originally navigators and traveled across the ocean exploring new lands. The reason they are such good navigators is that there is so much water in Holland.

The Netherlands has a population of ten and one-half million, yet Texas is 20 times larger than Holland.

The 24-year-old Dutch speaker told of three types of high schools found in Holland. They are known as the A, B and C high schools. The A high school is not too difficult and offers commercial training. The B high school teaches mathematics and languages. The C high school is a combination of the other two and is a very good school. School starts at 9 in the morning and dismisses at 5 in the afternoon. Two or three hours are used in physical training. The students are compelled to study Dutch, French, German and English.

Clubs and organizations are separate from school activities. Music, art, and walking clubs are found in the Netherlands.

Fifteen to twenty high schools are found in Amsterdam, the home town of the speaker. Sports such as swimming, basketball and volleyball are enjoyed.

On Christmas the schools assemble for contests in art, music, chess and singing. Points are given to each of the winners. The school with the largest number of points is the champion.

Seventy-five per cent of the Dutch students attend high school. Twenty to thirty-five per cent go to universities. Two years of army service is compulsory.

Forty-four per cent of the Dutch people are Protestants in religious faith, the remainder are Catholics.

The main crops raised in the Netherlands are wheat, oats, rye, sugar beets, and tulips. A portion of the land is in grass.

The "dates" in Holland are more difficult than in America because of the shortage of automobiles. On dates the boys and girls go to the movies or walk around in a park.

"Wooden shoes are not worn much today," Hank stated. "A story is told in Holland about the father of the house who counted the wooden shoes outside the door every night to see if all of his children were home."

Windmills are run by diesel engines and steam today. Only a few original windmills are left because of the atmosphere they lend to the country.

SCHOOL BENEFIT INSURANCE MADE POSSIBLE

275 students of the Crowell Public Schools have applied for insurance policies. The schools are offering the School Injury Benefit Plan. This plan is made by the Continental Life Insurance Co. of Fort Worth.

The School Injury Benefit Plan costs $1.00 per year and covers hospitalization, medical and dental treatments and death. This policy covers the students going to and from and in school. Coverage is provided for injuries happening in any supervised school activity except interscholastic athletics.

The students received their insurance policy forms to take home to their parents to investigate. On the return of the policies the school turned in the following reports: colored school 58, elementary 168, high school 49 forms.

C. G. Graves, superintendent of schools, and Henry Black, principal, stressed the fact that it is not required of the students to take this policy. The school is just answering the requests of many parents.

CLUB NEWS

The Sub-Junior Adelphian Club had its annual style show Wed., Sept. 28. The mothers of the girls and the Sub-Junior Columbian Club were guests. First on the program was Barbara Borchardt, who gave a report on different kinds of fabrics. Jana Black introduced the girls who modeled and told about the different type dresses. Jo Helen Aly provided music for the occasion and hostesses were Nelda Brooks, Jerry Fairchild and Jo Ann Shultz.

Judy Borchardt modeled a plaid cotton dress with shirtwaist overblouse and detachable white collar and cuffs. Betty Davis modeled a corduroy dress with a white dickey, and bow tie accented. Janis Crowell modeled a chrome spun coat dress with smoke colored buttons. Peggy Long wore a gold velvet dress. Latrelle Duckworth modeled a black dress with a full skirt and empire waistline. A "Clearcord" washable corduroy coat with side slits was worn by Nelda Brooks. A polished denim dress with inserted pockets, linen dickey and cuffs was worn by Barbara Borchardt. Jana Black wore a black taffeta party dress with green satin trim. Betty Davis and Judy Borchardt completed the style show by modeling Riviera pants of corduroy.

All these styles came from Lennis' Smart Shop.

RECEIVES HONOR

The Texas Stars, twirling corps of Texas University, have announced the selection of Frances Kincaid as an alternate.

The corps consists of only sixteen girls and three alternates. As Frances is only a freshman, this is an outstanding accomplishment.

Frances will twirl part-time in each game. The Texas-Oklahoma game will be shown on TV. We'll all be watching!

CHS ENLIVENED BY DRUMMER

Out of the humid darkness came the throbbing beat of the conga drum, morraecas, etc., led by rhythmic snare drum. Louder and louder... the people began swaying to and fro... faster, faster... Sounds like Africa, doesn't it? Well, it's not. You have just received a first hand close-up of an amazing program held in the CHS auditorium Friday afternoon, Sept. 30, at 1:30. The performer — Alan Abel, a drummer and comedian.

For almost an hour, the entire student body sat entranced while he explained the drum, beat the instrument, cracked jokes, and organized a South American rhythm band, composed of high school students. We believe that we are expressing the entire high school's feelings when we say, "Thank you, Mr. Abel, for a good program."

ATTEND MEETING

Janis Crowell, district pianist; DeAnna Ferguson, district chairman of the Civil Defense committee; and Mrs. Doyle Kenner, Crowell Chapter advisor, attended the Area IV, District I FHA Planning meeting held in the home-making cottage of Seymour High School last Tuesday.

The purpose of the meeting was to plan the Area IV, District I meeting which is to be held in Seymour Nov. 12.

NEWS, VIEWS AND INFO

By way of Mrs. Kenner and Mrs. Manard we hear that Betty Sue Bartley is on the annual staff at Midwestern and has entered the top English class. Congrats, Betty Sue.

Can the butterflies in your stomach digest green milk, yellow sandwiches, etc. Here's hoping, because recent reports in magazines state that this is a thing of the immediate future. The fellow who thought of it must either have been color blind or possessed a strong stomach.

Orchids go to the Pep Squad, the sponsor, Mrs. Manard, for a lot of fine work. Keep it up, girls.

Ginger Raspberry, one of our "swell" cheer leaders, because of an appendectomy, will not be able to yell any more. We'll miss you, Ginger.

By the way, a radio station at Stephenvills dedicated a "Welcome Neighbor" program to Billye and Gordon Graves last Thursday morning. Some rating, huh?

MATADOR SURPRISES CATS

The Crowell Wildcats lost their first football game of the current season Friday night when the invading Bullfighters from Matador roared past by a one touch down margin. The Matadors struck early in the initial quarter to lead the Wildcats by six points. Ray Gibson scored Crowell's first TD and was later followed by Jimmy Thaxton. The score at halftime was 13-6 in favor of Crowell. The fired up Matadors came back in the second half to score and at the end of the game was 18-13 with Crowell on the losing end. The Wildcats play

Hoover Commission Reports Bring Praise and Opposition

The reports of the second Hoover Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government have all been published. Considerable opposition to some of the recommendations has appeared. This was inevitable, for the Commission dealt not only with administrative policies and procedures, but went into great and highly controversial matters of governmental philosophy as well. Mr. Hoover, naturally, expected that there would be dissents, but one charge, made in the name of the Democratic National Committee, obviously provoked him. It said that he had stacked the Task Forces, especially that on Water Power. The former President answered that this was "an infamous smear on the Commission" and pointed out that there was no division on political grounds, every recommendation being approved by a majority including some if not all of the five Democratic members; that every member signed a statement tending to "Commission appreciation" for his able, fair and patient leadership; and that public power groups were not represented on the Water Resources Task Force for the same reason that representatives of the utilities were not appointed—an objective inquiry was wanted.

The Task Force reports are long and detailed. But the idea back of them is pretty well expressed in a single sentence, which U. S. News & World Report used as a title for an interview with Mr. Hoover: "Government is too big."

In the U. S. News interview, Mr. Hoover described "the philosophic foundation" with which a large majority of the Commission members agreed: "The whole social-economic system of this country is based on private enterprise, properly regulated to prevent unfair competition and to prevent monopolies; that the Government should provide those services which the people cannot do for themselves." That was the test used in examining the various government agencies.

Going on, Mr. Hoover said that 3,000 cases were found in which the government conducts business operations in direct competition with private citizens. Most of these enterprises were born in emergency of war. But, when their job was done and the emergency ended, they didn't close up shop.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Carroll of Crowell spent awhile Friday afternoon visiting their daughter, Mrs. Marion Chowning Jr., and family.

$140,100 FOR CANCER RESEARCH—Travis T. Wallace of Dallas, president of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, Inc. is shown left above presenting a check for $140,100 to Dr. R. Lee Clark, Jr., director of the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, Houston, for use in the institution's cancer research program of "Factors regulating growth—a hormonal, radiobiological and biochemical study." This brings the total of ACS research grants at the hospital to $560,876 since inception of the program in 1946.

As he put it, "... they were equipped with a large bureaucracy, in love with an empire," and they had powerful pressure groups supporting them.

In the 20 years preceding the present Administration, Mr. Hoover then said the federal government actually multiplied 14 times in size. He does not oppose all this expansion — much was unavoidable. But a large part of it, in his view, was not justified. The Commission's purpose was to show specifically how government can be cut back without weakening our military power, or reducing any necessary federal service, including those of a social nature. The money savings that would result are not known exactly. But, Mr. Hoover believes, they would be sufficient "to balance the budget and make a very substantial reduction in taxes." Some students have estimated these savings at well over $5,000,000,000 a year.

Farm Fire Losses on the Increase; Precautions Urged

Farm fire losses are going up. Preliminary estimates from the United States Department of Agriculture put the 1954 farm fire losses at $157 million, as compared to $139 million in 1953.

Translated from dollars and cents to hard facts, this figure represents thousands of farm homes and other buildings damaged or totally destroyed, stored or standing crops ruined; a tragic economic loss both to individual farmers and to the nation as a whole.

An even greater tragedy is the fact that farm fires take an annual toll of approximately 3,000 human lives.

More than half these fires could be prevented, the Department of Agriculture estimates, and farm property could be made reasonably safe from fire by the following safeguards, in this order:

1. Carefully planned construction, maintenance and use of the property, to eliminate all unnecessary danger of fire.
2. Simple fire extinguishing equipment kept on hand for use in the early stages of a fire.
3. A community fire-fighting organization equipped to check fires and prevent their spread.

Pastures Can Cut Pork Production Costs

"Don't overlook pastures in figuring how to cut swine production costs," says Joe Burkett, County Agent. The pasture, he adds, is the best place to keep the bred sows at all times except during bad weather in the farrowing season.

The exercise, sunshine and nutritious pasture will help to farrow a stronger and more vigorous litter. But a clean, dry, well-bedded shelter is an essential for the cold weather months, says Burkett.

The sows will need plenty of water and a balanced ration but the pasture will reduce the feed

The safer car wins... and Chevrolet's the winning car

Every checkered flag signals a Chevrolet victory in official 1955 stock car competition—not only against its own field but against many American and foreign high-priced cars, too!

Let's translate these Chevrolet victories into your kind of driving.

You've got to have faster acceleration to win on the tracks. And that means safer passing on the highways. You've got to have better springing and suspension. Again, safer and happier motoring for you. You've got to have big brakes that act fast and smooth... and easy, accurate steering. More things that make your driving safer.

But it's more fun to try these things out than just to talk about them. So come in and let's take a ride.

Keep Your Checking Account

Yes, it's embarrassing—and it doesn't make a good impression—to be "caught short" and not have enough funds in your checking account to write the check you want to write.

Maintaining an ample balance at all times is good business practice. Then you are always prepared for any emergency which may arise or any opportunity to make a profit by having ready cash in your checking account.

It pays in many ways to keep your checking balance above what you consider the "safety level."

Austin, Tex.—Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, kept his political thoughts and hopes mostly to himself during his Texas visit.

He made only a left-handed jibe at political foe Gov. Allan Shivers. Shivers has said he will not support Stevenson if he is the '56 presidential nominee.

In his University of Texas lecture, Stevenson said that, while not a full-time economic expert, he is a "full-time Democrat." He sidestepped a question from the audience on Texas tidelands, issue on which he and Shivers broke in 1952.

Stevenson was joined by Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn in an overnight visit at U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's farm. Plane schedules allowed the three top-level Democratic leaders very little time to discuss their party's brightened prospects. They all disclaimed any political significance in the get-together.

Johnson and Rayburn said no change in Democratic Congressional tactics is planned as a result of President Eisenhower's heart attack. They said Demo leaders would, nevertheless, try to draft a Congressional program that will put a Democrat in the White House.

Apparently well on the road to recovery from his own heart attack, Johnson sent a telegram inviting President Eisenhower to Texas to hunt with him.

Shivers Criticizes Court
Last year's desegregation ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court was part of a long series of moves toward centralized government, Gov. Shivers contends.

U. S. Supreme Court justices "stepped out of their judicial robes" in their desegregation decision, he said. "Nine men, sitting 2,000 miles away, are not going to tell Crossroads, Texas, how they are going to run their schools," the Governor emphasized.

Shivers spoke at a meeting of oil well drillers in Houston, at the same time Adlai Stevenson addressed an Austin audience.

Earlier, he pointed out, the court ruling can be overridden by act of Congress or amendment to the U. S. Constitution. He cited recent tidelands legislation as an example.

Political Speculation
Sen. Price Daniel has indicated he may disclose his political plans during a series of speeches scheduled in Texas during November. He has kept the door open for a possible race for governor next year. His Senate term still has two years to go.

Meanwhile, Daniel will open hearings of the Senate judiciary sub-committee on narcotics in Austin, Oct. 12, and will hold other hearings in San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Political speculation has swung toward the idea that Gov. Allan Shivers and other top office-holders may choose to seek re-election next year, Shivers for a fourth elective term.

Among the possibilities were Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd, and Agri. Comm. John C. White. The same speculation hinted that possibly U. S. Sen. Daniel might decide against the governor's race for which he has discussed.

Gov. Shivers' decision to run for re-election would greatly thin the ranks of prospective candidates. So far, only former Speaker Reuben Senteritt has announced. Ralph Yarborough, twice defeated for the office, is regarded as a certain candidate. White and State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton are probable entrants.

Teachers Due Jury Duty
This fall, for the first time in Texas history, some school teachers will have to interrupt the three R's to answer jury summonses.

Legislators, apparently by an oversight, deprived them of their traditional exemption. Jury service laws were rewritten last session after constitutional amendment made women eligible for duty.

Old laws, specifically exempting "school masters," had been interpreted as meaning all teachers. That new statutes had dropped this classification did not come to light until school and fall court sessions began.

Teachers summoned are expected to seek reprieve on the grounds that their absence would work a hardship on their schools.

Radar Reduces Accidents
Radar, says Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr., has had a pronounced psychological effect, slowing down highway speeders wherever it is used.

Fatalities on major routes were down six per cent for the first eight months of the year, Garrison pointed out.

Total number killed this year is expected to be up two or three per cent because of increased fatalities on farm-to-market and other secondary roads.

The highway department said surveys show that 12 per cent of Texas motorists were exceeding the speed limit in checks this year. Last year the figure was 17 per cent.

Average speed was higher, but there were fewer speed violations. Average speed for all vehicles this year was closed at 54 miles an hour, six-tenths of a mile faster than last year.

Farms Hum With Activity and Accident Rate May Climb

Farms across Texas are humming with activity. Harvest season in full swing means longer hours of hard work with more highway travel for farm residents.

It is also the season, says Joe Burkett, County Agent, when farm accident statistics usually take a sharp turn upward. More and more complicated machinery is used during the harvest season than for any other period of the year and the long hours on the job mean more fatigue, both heavy contributors to farm accidents. Hauling the farm produce to market means more highway travel and increased chances for traffic accidents, cautions the agent.

Burkett believes that farm families can reduce accidents greatly if they'll answer a simple question: "Can I possibly get hurt doing the job this way?" If the answer is yes, better change the method of doing the job or be more careful and always alert, says the agent.

Automobile - tractor wrecks usually increase during the fall because tractors often are used to pull trailers loaded with cotton, grain and other farm products. "Be sure," warns Burkett, "that your tractor is properly lighted if it is to be on the highway after dark."

Burkett says rear end collisions account for about 36 per cent of tractor accidents and 14 tractor-driver fatalities occur for each auto fatality from highway tractor-auto accidents.

Suggestions Offered on Poultry Culling

Culling, one of the oldest flock management practices used by poultrymen for maintaining high egg production, is less important today because of changes being made in flock handling methods. Little culling, except to remove the hopelessly sick or unthrifty birds, should not be needed for the first eight to nine months of production, Joe Burkett, County Agent, says taking a young hen from the flock just because she fails to lay for a few days is a sure way to cut income.

Burkett adds that this may seem to contradict former recommendations about culling but it doesn't. He says egg producers who are most successful replace the entire laying flock with pullets at the end of each laying year. Thereby eliminating the job of trying to select the best hens to carry over for the second year.

Be Weather-Wise! Change to TROP-ARTIC ALL-WEATHER MOTOR OIL

- ✓ EASIER STARTING
- ✓ UP TO 45% LESS OIL CONSUMPTION
- ✓ 40% LESS ENGINE WEAR
- ✓ LONGER GASOLINE MILEAGE

At this time of year your motor may be quite cold when you start it, but moments later burning gasoline creates high engine heat. It takes a special kind of motor oil to protect your engine at such opposite extremes.

TROP-ARTIC All-Weather Motor Oil gives this full range protection. It's a winter and summer oil in one. It resists thickening when it's cold . . . resists thinning when it's hot. It lets you start easily, always . . . and compared to older types of oils it can even double engine life!

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY

IT'S GUARANTEED! Change to TROP-ARTIC All-Weather Motor Oil and use it for ten days or up to 1,000 miles. If you aren't completely satisfied that TROP-ARTIC lives up to all the claims made for it, go to any Phillips 66 Dealer and he will drain and refill your crankcase with any other available oil you prefer. That's how sure we are that you'll be delighted with the performance you get from TROP-ARTIC All-Weather Motor Oil. We guarantee it!

IT'S PERFORMANCE THAT COUNTS!

Let us drain your Crankcase and refill it with this great new oil and fill your Tank with Flite Fuel and you're all set for smooth motoring.

Tax Costs and Power Costs

The St. Louis Globe Democrat recently devoted a long editorial to the socialized electric power issue. Its conclusion, made after summarizing some recent developments and controversies, was: "The hullabaloo has been emotionalized and led through all kinds of political mazes . . . but the issue is simple: Should the nation keep on the highway of federal power subsidy, directed toward domination of the power industry by government? Or shall we let free enterprise do the job, as it has done every other industrial job in America, steadily building the nation to the acme of world prosperity?"

"Public power allowed to expand and aggrandize is an inherent danger to popular government. It is costly, unfair to millions of taxpayers, a system of bounty that could create the biggest bureaucracy America ever dreamed of."

So far as the economics of socialized power are concerned, two misapprehensions should be cleared away. First, it is argued that public power is cheap power. But that cheapness is purely illusory. It is the result of the fact that public power plants are built with tax money, are either wholly or largely free of taxation, and are given many other subsidies and special privileges unknown to private enterprise.

Second, public power advocates would have us believe that the cost of electricity is a very vital matter indeed. The truth is that this cost amounts to about one per cent of the average family budget. The family's electric bill runs to 18 cents a day, while its daily tax bill (including both direct and indirect levies) is estimated at $5.00. So a mere four per cent cut in the tax bill would add as much to the average family's disposable income as would cancellation of the entire electric bill!

Why, then, is the power issue kept alive and burning? There is only one logical answer. For the most part, socialized power promoters also favor many other policies which would make big government still bigger and more powerful. And nationalization of the nation's electric supply would be a sure way to put every farm, every business and every home at the mercy of a government monopoly run by an ambitious bureaucracy.

Wellington, New Zealand, is the southernmost national capital in the world.

If Beef Prices Were Frozen

What would happen if the government totally froze, for a 90-day period, the prices at which beef and cattle can legally be sold?

A number of national organizations, representing farmers, packers, retailers and others, recently sponsored a study of that question. Here, in capsule form, is the answer that was given: Stores would shortly be emptied of beef because of scare-buying; cattle marketings would drop sharply, with producers waiting for the freeze to end in the hope of higher prices; what cuts of beef consumers did get would be of poorer quality and would include more bone and other waste; there would be severe beef shortages in many parts of the country, accompanied by a boom in black markets. The result, the study added, would be an increase in the real price of meat to the public, despite the freeze.

This answer is certainly not based on hypothesis or unprovable theory. Unfortunately, human memory tends to be short, and many of us may have forgotten our sad experience when price controls were continued after the last world war. We suffered all the evils mentioned in the study—black markets, shortages, poor quality and so on. As a matter of fact, the history of government since its earliest beginnings is studded with experiments in arbitrary price and production controls—and the bitter fruits have been basically the same in every recorded case.

The point is that only a free market can be trusted to provide a nation with what it wants and needs—and at a price that is fair to all.

Without Foundation

Is bigness in business bad in itself? The answer to that is "No," in the judgment of one of America's most distinguished economists, Dr. Sumner Slichter of Harvard.

He said: "The argument that bigness threatens our political liberties is without foundation. . . . There is no evidence to support the notion that big firms in general are able to get a competitive advantage by observing lower standards of business conduct than are observed by their smaller competitors. The fact that a concern is larger than any of its rivals means that most of its policies and activities are conspicuous and must stand up under the scrutiny of competitors, suppliers, customers, and government officials."

There is plenty of factual proof of this. A good example is retailing, which includes both small stores and big national chains. Once there was an honest fear that the big operations could not help but destroy the smaller ones. Yet time has proven that there is a place for both, and that both can prosper and do a needed job.

America's biggest businesses, in addition, buy all manner of supplies and services from small businesses. They sell their products through agencies and other outlets which are mostly small. The two kinds of business are interdependent. Both make an essential contribution to the vast and expanding American economy.

Cattle Grub Control Season Is at Hand

Few common cattle parasites are as costly to livestock producers as the cattle grub. They take several million dollars annually from livestock income in the form of damaged hides, lowered meat quality and reduced dairy production, says Joe Burkett, County Agent.

The grubs during the fall months appear as lumps under the hide in the backs of dairy and beef animals and are easier to kill at this stage than any other in their life cycle, says Burkett. Rotenone used as a spray, dip or dust is very effective for controlling the pest. Burkett says that seven and one-half pounds of deris or cube powder containing five per cent rotenone to 100 gallons of water makes a good spray solution. The material should be applied with a power sprayer with 200 pounds pressure.

A dust can be made from one pound of deris or cube powder containing five per cent rotenone and two pounds of a heavy non-alkaline dust such as talc, tripolite or pyrophyllite.

Ready prepared dusts should contain at least 1.67 per cent rotenone. Burkett says that about three ounces of the dust should be rubbed into the back of each animal treated.

Regardless of whether a dust or spray is used, applications should be made at 30 day intervals as long as grubs continue to appear.

Government Should Not Support People

In 1887, Congress passed a bill appropriating $10,000 to buy seed and distribute it to drought-hit farmers. President Grover Cleveland acknowledged that the motives behind this were benevolent. Yet, he vetoed the measure, in a message which contained this statement: "Though the people support the government the government should not support the people." The country sorely needs adherence to that principle today.

FREEZE CHEESE?

Recent tests show that ten varieties of cheese can be successfully frozen at home. They are cheddar, brick, port du salut, Swiss, Provolone, Mozzarella, Liederkranz, Camembert, Parmesan and Romano. When freezing cheese, cut it in pieces no larger than one pound, and wrap each piece closely in freezer foil. Small cheeses such as Liederkranz may be left in their original packages. The recommended temperature for freezing is zero F. or lower. — Changing Times.

Prepare Soil for Bulbs Now, Says H.D. Agent

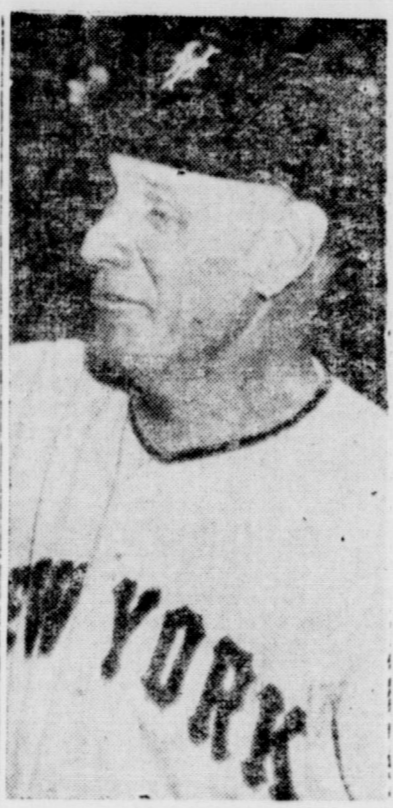

Soil prepared now will be ready in the latter part of October to plant hyacinths, daffodils, narcissi, jonquils, day lilies and many other bulbous plants, according to Mrs. Mary D. Brown, CHDA. Beds prepared now will be ready in December for tulips and Dutch iris.

Consider location first. For best effects, landscape architects recommend planting bulbs in clumps or groups. They fit well into bays or corners of the back or side yards or in front of screen or border plantings. Avoid spoiling the spacious effect of the lawn by scattering bulb beds at the forefront of home grounds or placing them in rings around trees and shrubs.

Sunshine is not important if you expect only one crop of blooms from your bulbs. For a second season of blooms, full sun or sun the greater part of the day is needed by most bulbs.

Good drainage is necessary to prevent decay and insure proper growth. Soil fertility is not important if new bulbs are bought each year. It is a factor, however, in producing blooms for the next year.

To fertilize, scatter one-half bushel of barnyard fertilizer or a bushel of well decayed leaf mold and one or two cups of commercial fertilizer over each 25 square feet. Spade well into the soil to a depth of 8-12 inches and keep moist for 5 or 6 weeks.

DUROCHER QUILTS N. Y. GIANTS — The New York Giants' manager Leo Durocher has quit baseball to go into private business. His retirement, after 17 years as a major league player, came as no surprise to the sports world as last May he had announced his intentions to retire. Durocher has been replaced as the New York Giants' manager by Bill Rigney, now piloting the Minneapolis Millers in the American Association.

Improvements in FHA Credit Services to Farmers Being Made

Further improvements in credit services to farmers are being made by the Farmers Home Administration, Walter T. McKay, the agency's Texas state director, said this week.

Improvements in the management of the agency's operations were discussed at a training meeting held in St. Louis, Mo., last week which McKay attended. FHA officials attending were urged to take every step possible to further increase the participation by private lenders in the Insured Lending Program.

During the past year the agricultural loans made by the agency in Texas totaled $47,480,000. A representative of the FHA is in the basement of the court house here each first and third Monday, or can be contacted at the court house in Vernon.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank my many friends for the cards, letters, flowers and gifts sent to me while I was in the hospital. Thanks to Dr. Kralicko and all the nurses for their kindness. May God bless you.

Mrs. Bert Mathews. 12-1tc

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for every kind deed during our bereavement. For the food, floral offerings and every good deed and kind word, may God bless each of you.

Mrs. Frank Wood, Jerry and Ann, Mrs. Emma Moore, Mrs. Sim Gamble, Mrs. Truett Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ab Jones returned home last week from Cuero where they visited several days with their daughter, Mrs. Gus Lenz, and family. Mrs. Lenz has been ill but her condition is improving.

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Well, we had to postpone our Tailoring workshop for a week due to all the rain. However, we will start next Monday morning at 9:30 a. m. in the Down Town Bible Class building.

While we were having our demonstrations on hats, many of you asked about cleaning and brightening velvet hats. This information just came out, so I thought you might be interested in it.

Put a few drops of chloroform on a soft cloth and rub carefully with the pile of the velvet. The chloroform evaporates rapidly, so redampen the cloth several times. This helps restore the color as it cleans. Caution: Work outdoors or near an open window.

White or light colored felt hats may need a special treatment and I'm not sure I told all of the clubs this. To clean white or light colored felt hats, saturate cornmeal with naphtha or other cleaning fluid. Rub the mixture into the felt with a clean stiff brush. When fluid has evaporated, brush out the cornmeal and air the hat before storing.

Favorable Weather Boosts Quail Crop

Texas hunters this fall should be able to notice gains in the quail population because of favorable weather and general habitat improvement, reports E. A. Walker, Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

He said the primary cause of the popular game bird's comeback has been increased rainfall and consequent benefits to cover and feed. However, the director noted that public interest in habitat improvement has been a factor which should become more pronounced from now on.

"We are going to have some pretty good quail shooting in places this fall," said the Director. "Field men report substantial increases in many areas. One of the favored places is in the Panhandle."

The Game and Fish Commission lately has encouraged its wardens to consult with sportsmen's groups and landowners on restoring quail habitat.

Rattler Angle Alerts Hunters

Dove hunters have reported so many narrow escapes from rattlesnakes that Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission, has cautioned folks unfamiliar with the outdoors against "walking without watching."

"There probably are no more rattlers but just more hunters," observed Mr. Dodgen. "Anyway, it won't hurt for the folks to be more observing about snakes as well as everything else. Thus they will protect themselves and get more generally from their fall contact with nature."

A Texarkana hunter got some sport from a hassle with two rattlers. He lined up their heads and got both with one shot.

Hunters Asked to Report Tagged Game

Texas hunters are being asked by the Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission to report bagging banded or tagged game.

He said the principal purpose of marking birds and other animals is to help technicians trace migratory habits of the game and to accumulate other vital data which can be used in wildlife management.

FIRES OF BONE

The word "bonfire" was originally known as bonfire or fires of bone.

Wemple Appointed Chairman of Hi-Way Committee of WTCC

Abilene, Oct. 1.—Fred A. Wemple of Midland, a former chairman of the State Highway Commission, has been appointed chairman of the Highway Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

WTCC President Ray Grisham of Abilene announced Wemple's appointment in a statement which indicated that the purpose of the committee would be to make "a continuing analysis of our state and local highway problems so that the committee can at appropriate times recommend policy matters to our board for their consideration."

Wemple was a member of the State Highway Commission for six years, 1947-1952, and was chairman in 1949 and 1950.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to express my sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness shown me during my illness. May God's richest blessings be with each of you.

Almost everyone from this community attended the Crowell-Matador game in Crowell Friday.

One of the largest offerings of cattle of the year appeared at the nation's 12 major livestock markets Monday with over 150,000 cattle reported. Prices were tending lower at all points.

It was noteworthy that while cattle numbers were large, the offerings of calves around the major markets were around 6,000 under the comparable date a year earlier. This trend toward smaller numbers of calves going to market has been evident all this year and the effect it will have on estimated cattle population, if continued, will be confusing.

At Fort Worth most kinds of cattle and calves were weak to 50 cents lower, except high grade stockers and feeders which were fully steady. Again the order buyers reported that most of the stockers and feeders they bought were destined for Texas or other Southwestern states.

Currently prices of replacement cattle and calves here are equal to or above prices at most of the Cornbelt centers, and it is evident that restocking of the droughty areas is going forward at a fast pace.

Comparative prices at Fort Worth Monday included:

Good to choice fed steers and yearlings $18.00-22.00. Common and medium sorts $12.00-17.00. Fed cattle eligible to top $21 appeared. Fat cows $9.50-12.00; canners and cutters $6.50-9.50; bulls $10.00 - 13.75; good to choice fat calves $16.00-17.50; good baby beef kinds higher; cull, common and medium $8.00-15.00. Stocker steer calves $15.00-21.00; heifer calves $18.00 down; stocker steer yearlings $18.50 down; replacement cows $8.00-13.50.

Top butcher hogs sold mostly from $16.25 to $16.75 at Fort Worth.

Yearlings and older sheep were firm.

Good and choice fat lambs $18-20; cull, common and medium, $10-17. Feeder lambs $16.50 down and old ewes $4-5. Old bucks around $4.00; aged wethers $8-12; yearling muttons $9-15.50.

LEANS 16 FEET

The Leaning Tower of Pisa leans more than 16 feet out of the perpendicular.

Worth Monday, or just about in line with last week's close. The hog run around the 12 major markets was near the 100,000 mark Monday, and some weakness developed at those markets. Continued heavy runs in the Cornbelt would mean some surplus hogs coming to this part of the country and could effect prices in the Southwest adversely.

Less desirable kinds of hogs sold from $15 to $16. Sows drew $12 to $14.50.

Considerable interest here among all interests as to whether Secretary of Agriculture Benson will inaugurate a pork buying program to support hog prices.

Word is that such a program similar to the one used to buy beef the past two years could be set up for pork in short order. Under those plans certain grades and types are bought under competitive bids from packers.

The meat used in foreign aid, school lunches, institutions, etc., conflicts very little with normal meat trade if at all. Funds for the program are already available.

Latest guess by some Cornbelt observers is that the low time on swine prices will likely be from mid-October to mid-November.

However, if prices sag to such a degree that marketings are slower than anticipated, the low time could well be later in the year or early in 1956.

Overall supply of pork is currently low, because average hog weights are much lighter this year.

Both slaughter and feeder lambs opened strong to $1 higher or at Fort Worth Monday. Top fat lambs scored $20, best price in several weeks for the class. Feeder lambs sold at $16.50 down.

Yearlings and older sheep were firm.

Good and choice fat lambs $18-20; cull, common and medium, $10-17. Feeder lambs $16.50 down and old ewes $4-5. Old bucks around $4.00; aged wethers $8-12; yearling muttons $9-15.50.

Many Changes Recorded in Past Seventy-Five Years

"Nearly everything has changed greatly in the last 75 years but I suspect that not many things have changed more—or changed more for the better—than the relationship existing between business and our colleges and universities," said John L. McCaffrey, president of International Harvester, in an address initiating the 75th anniversary celebration of Marquette University.

Three-quarters of a century ago he went on, most businesses were small. The typical ones were family owned and operated—which meant that the owners and managers were the same people. No one had ever heard of an executive training program. And business existed in an infinitely simpler world. There was no income tax, and not even an anti-trust law. The powerful regulatory agencies we now take for granted were still unknown. Most businessmen, if they thought of education at all, usually thought of it in terms of the school of hard knocks.

The colleges too existed in a world with comparatively few complexities. They taught languages, history, literature and the natural sciences. The social sciences were either in their infancy or not yet born. Enrollment was small and coeducation was known in only a few regions. Professional education, which includes so many fields today, was confined to religion, the law, medicine, and education.

In the span of a lifetime, therefore, both business and education have been virtually revolutionized. During this revolution, the relationship between the educational institutions and business enterprise has become constantly more close. As Mr. McCaffrey put it, "Business and education have grown so close that we borrow each other's problems. In these modern days, industry has problems of education and training, while the universities have problems of finance. We have traded

Civil War Cotton in Good Condition

A bale of cotton picked by slaves during the Civil War is still in good condition.

The bale, harvested in 1862, has been stored at the Federal Compress and Warehouse Company at West Point, Miss., since 1890. Recently it was presented to George A. Levy, vice president of Anderson, Clayton & Co., New York. The presentation was made to the native of the Mississippi city by J. K. Wilson, president of the First National Bank at West Point.

The cotton in the bale was raised in Clay County, Mississippi, and the lint was separated from the seed by hand. The fiber shows no signs of deterioration.

This bale is one of the oldest in existence.

A. L. McGinnis and Miss Johnston Marry in Quana Church

Miss Etta Joyce Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Johnston of Lake Pauline, and A. L. McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGinnis of Crowell, were united in marriage in a ceremony performed recently in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in Quana. Brother of the bride, Rev. Jack Johnston, directed the nuptials.

Vows were exchanged before a bridal arrangement of tall baskets holding arrangements of chrysanthemums.

Miss Patty McGinnis, sister of the groom, played wedding selections.

The bride was attired in a white chantilly lace over satin dress of ballerina-length. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a bandeau of stephanotis. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds combined with a white orchid.

Mrs. J. R. Thomas of Berger, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an orchid taffeta frock, and her flowers were pink carnations.

H. L. Ayers of Crowell was best man.

A reception was held in the church annex. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums provided the floral note of the setting. Mrs.

County Federation Has Meeting Friday

Texas music was the theme of the program when the Foard County Federation of Women's Clubs met at the Adolphian Club house at 10:30 a. m., Friday, Sept. 30, for the first meeting of the year.

The Adolphian Club was the hostess club and the Columbian Club brought the program.

The president, Mrs. Tom Callaway, was in charge of the business session.

The devotional, "The Notes of Musical Living," was given by Mrs. Decker Magee. Special music was played by Mrs. Sam Crews.

Mrs. Jack Roberts Jr., leader for the Columbian Club, told of several Texas composers and played their music.

Following a delicious covered dish luncheon, Mrs. Jack Roberts Jr. read a very interesting letter from Miss Leona Young. She described her trip from Old Mexico

Jack Johnston and Mrs. Dee Smith presided at the refreshment table.

Mrs. McGinnis is a graduate of Quana High School and attended Wayland Baptist College in Plainview. He graduated from Crowell High School and is a student at Texas Technological College where they will make their home.

MARGARET M. Y. F.

A chili supper for the M. Y. F. group was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Choate Saturday night. Those present were James Choate, Gerald Bradford, Louise Gordon, Kenneth Bell, Sandra Choate, Eugene Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Choate and Sy Moore of Plainview.

Due to rainy weather the Sunday night meeting was held in the Choate home. Those present were Gerald Bradford, Eugene Davis, Louise Gordon, James Choate, Jody Gordon, Dwaine Orr, Sandra Choate and the sponsor, Mrs. Choate.

Mrs. L. A. Andrews gave a report on the library and asked the County Federation to make their donation to the library, which was $25.00.

The next meeting will be December 2.

B. & P. W. CLUB

In observance of National Business Women's Week, a special dinner meeting was held by the Crowell Business and Professional Women's Club on September 29 in the home of Mrs. Irene O'Connell. Joint hostesses with Mrs. O'Connell were Misses Lottie Russell and Gusta Davis.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the club collect by president, Viola Biggerstaff, and the singing of "America." Mrs. O'Connell introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. N. J. Roberts, saying: "I present a business woman who is carrying on the biggest business in town with the least amount of money."

Mrs. Roberts talked of President Eisenhower's special salute to business and professional women and gave a brief discussion of the week's observance and the theme, "Aim High." The speaker completed the program with the showing of colored slides taken on a recent trip to Washington, D. C.

Fifteen members were present for the meeting.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Three members of the Crowell Business & Professional Women's Club attended District 10 Conference in Bowie Saturday and Sunday.

Opening event was a "get acquainted tea" at the East Ward school, followed by a banquet Saturday night with Claudia Hazelwood, state vice president, as speaker.

Sunday morning devotionals was conducted at 8 a. m., followed by a coffee hour. Workshops and business were concluded by noon. Principal speaker for the noon luncheon was Dr. Olive Johnson of Denton, who is state health and safety chairman.
