DAUGHTERS OF TODAY

Have parents been concentrating on the so-called boy problem to the exclusion of the girl?

Once upon a time everyone accepted as fact that the boy was a problem, until someone suggested that he was not a problem, but an opportunity—a chance to improve the manhood of the next generation.

Countless organizations far and near have been devoting their best efforts to develop better boys, but there are still bad boys, and always will be.

And now people are beginning to recognize that there is as much a girl problem as there ever was a boy problem.

Prejudiced minds have been accustomed to condemning boys without trial, to deciding in advance that when any evil mischief was done, some boy was to blame. In sum, all boys were judged with the worst as a standard.

Very much the same thing has brought about the present-day idea that girls, too, offer a problem.

Some girls have done indiscreet things that, measured by the social standards of another day, appear to be bad.

Evil-minded persons have repeated chance stories heard about girls and hypocritical gossipers have villainously enlarged upon them. This is not to say there are no bad girls.

But the daughters of today are no worse than their mothers were. They are the product of modern civilization. They will have to be accepted as they are, but they are not half as bad as they are pictured.

As long as human nature continues to run true to form, there will be bad girls and bad boys, but there is no doubt that improvement of the environment, which is controlled to some extent by parents, will reduce the number.

However, the elements of birth, and inherited instincts still influence lives, and they are beyond control of society, because the law has not yet restricted the right to give birth to children.

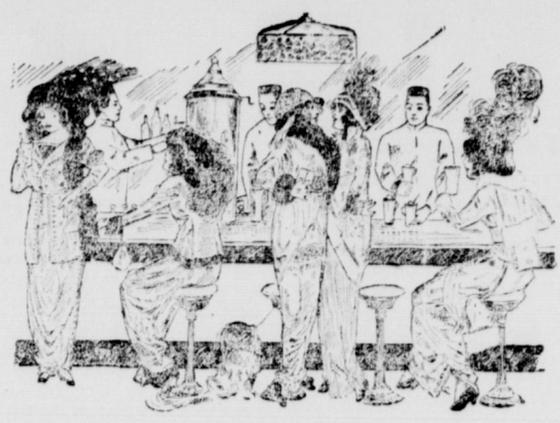

NOT A PANACEA

Farmers are not going to solve their marketing problems by working alone. Neither is co-operative marketing, as valuable as it may be, the panacea for all of his economic ills.

His taxes will not be reduced so long as enormous amounts of tax-free securities continue to be issued and permit wealth to escape taxation.

Some think that the whole economic difficulty of the American farmer could be righted if cooperation could be substituted for other methods of selling. Because of this, these people feel that the federal government should become the sponsor and promoter of individual associations, paying out of federal funds the cost of organizing these associations and practically all the loss of operating them.

The department of agriculture shows that the essentials of successful cooperation include organization of commodity lines, the obtaining of sufficient tonnage definitely secured by legal contracts, the securing of able, honest business administrators, and a complete and satisfactory financing plan, and the incorporation into the whole scheme of a few simple fundamental cooperative ideas.

Summer Necessities

It is not good business for a woman to sweat and fume over a hot wood or coal stove through the summer months. She is entitled to better care than that. Life is prolonged by a little consideration of her needs, wants and comforts.

So we have the famous New Perfection oil stoves, one of the standard oil cooking stoves of the day. It needs no introduction. Every one knows what the New Perfection is, but the thing is that you should buy one of these stoves if you need it. We have also the Kerogas Range, a thoroughly tried out cooking stove that is being used by thousands of women and is giving satisfaction. Possibly

We also have some Belding Hall Century refrigerators left, on which we will make you a good price. These refrigerators are worth the money and you will make no mistake in buying one of them. When you have seen them you will be convinced of their merits.

In Ice Cream freezers we have only a small line just now. The demand has been very great and we have sold all the smaller sizes but still have some large ones. In a few days, however, we expect the arrival of the smaller sizes. Every one owes it to himself and his family to give them the benefits of the comforts here named. They are not luxuries, but when their value to health and happiness is considered, they are necessities.

Crowell, Texas, July 11, 1924

THE SUNDAY RODEO

For the first time in the history of Crowell a rodeo program was put on here Sunday, which has been a topic for discussion by many of our people since.

It is only justice to the people who put this on to say that when it was started on Friday before it was not in mind to carry it over Sunday, but on account of the fact that it rained most of the day Friday it could not be started until Saturday, and in order to make the program one of two days, as was at first intended, it was run on Saturday and Sunday.

We say it has been a topic for comment. That is altogether because it was a Sunday affair. It is regarded as a desecration of the Sabbath, and not only that, but its use for individual profit is looked upon as a commercializing of that day which we are admonished to keep holy.

Under circumstances different from those which existed during two or three days there would never have been any occasion for a manifestation of opposition to a rodeo, because the question of conducting it on Sunday would not likely have come up. We do not really regard those who were in charge of the rodeo as being men who would deliberately plan such thing for Sunday, but in this case they got caught where they felt that they had to pull it on Sunday or suffer heavy financial losses. Personally we think it would have been better to have waited until Monday to have the second day.

But now since we have had a rodeo on Sunday, a thing which we think ought not to have been, the people of Crowell must see to it that it is not repeated. And we think the blame should be properly placed. In the first place, the managers ought to have had more respect for the Sabbath than to have had the rodeo on Sunday. In the second place the people of Crowell ought to stand so steadfastly for the things they believe in that no one would dare to offend them by doing things for which they know the citizens do not stand. And then they ought to have enough courage to say that they disapprove such actions. Some of those who thought we ought not to have a rodeo on Sunday and tried to stop it, found according to legal advice that there was no law against it, but it was learned that it could have been prevented by filing an injunction but no one seemed to want to do that, at least it was not done.

We do not think the mayor, the city council, the county officials or even the school board deserve the condemnation they are said to have received for having permitted the rodeo any more than we think any individual citizen should have been condemned, since their authority in the matter failed to appear. But we do think the blame for its having run Sunday rests largely upon the shoulders of those whose names are on the church registers of the city.

The mayor made a personal effort to persuade the managers not to have the rodeo. The sheriff tried to prevent it, but as stated above there was no law known whereby they could prevent it. If any citizens would have filed an injunction and put up bond according to legal requirements, the authorities would have been glad to act.

It was stated publicly by one speaker that the rodeo could not run if the Christians and members of the churches would stay away, because the crowd would be too small. There is too much truth in the statement to bring comfort to some Christians, no doubt. And when one speaks that way he is not far from the fundamentals that underlie all law enforcement and Sabbath observance in this fair land of ours.

There will be nothing gained by ripping and snorting like a wild steer about this precedent which has been set. The only sensible thing is to see that it never happens again and try our best to outlive it.

Let the Gospel of truth be preached from the pulpits of Crowell and let the professors of Christianity live their profession. If that is done there will never be another rodeo on Sunday in Crowell.

"A PARABLE"

A certain good man had seven loaves of bread which were all his own. And it came to pass that upon a certain night a poor beggar came to his door and asked the good man for some bread for himself and for his wife and for his children. The good man was moved with compassion toward the poor man and went to his cupboard and got six loaves of bread and gave to him that he and his wife and his children might have bread to eat. And when the good man had gone back into his house the beggar entered by the back way and stole the other loaf of bread from the good man. And on the morrow when the good man went to his cupboard for bread he found none.

Our Heavenly Father has given us six days for our very own and kept only one for himself. Shall we steal that one from him?

There will be no preaching services at the Methodist church next Sunday. Other services as usual.

"It seems like it did me good from the very first. After I had taken half a bottle I noticed an improvement. I continued its use and I got better and better. Bronze Statue Mystery to Pioneer of Oregon Trail

"It's a small world after all," said Ezra Meeker, oldest living pioneer of the Oregon trail, as he gazed the other day on a bronze statue of himself that was uncovered in a small art shop in Vienna and brought to this country by A. Weil, an Englishman.

The romance and mystery surrounding the statue were heightened by Mr. Meeker's declaration that he had not posed for the piece, did not know it was in existence and could not offer an explanation for its presence so far away from the Old West in which he spent his early days.

"There are my oxen," said the pioneer as he examined the base of the miniature statue with a magnifying glass. "Look how that horn turns down; how well I remember that."

He found that even the improvised cloth feed bin, used in going over the pioneer trails, was depicted true to life. The statue itself is Mr. Meeker in miniature. The broad-brimmed hat, the beaded Indian vest, even the gauntlets, the pioneer recognized at a glance.

Mr. Weil was unable to satisfy Meeker's curiosity regarding the original of the statue. The method of casting bronze in Austria is familiar to Mr. Weil, he said, and could not be duplicated easily outside of the country. Mr. Weil is sure it was produced in Vienna. The sculptor's name, inscribed on the base, is C. Curtz, but the name does not offer any clue to the origin of the piece.

Stock for Indian Arrow Required to Be Perfect

Every plains tepee had hanging in it a bunch of slender sticks seasoning for arrows.

If particular in the materials for his bow the brave was even more so where arrow stock was concerned. Any available hardwood, if straight and free from knots, served. When seasoned, the shaft was meticulously scraped and smoothed and feathered with various pinions. The Arapahoes and Cheyenne usually used those of the wild turkey, softened in tepid water, split and glued with a glue made from a large muscle at the back of the neck of the buffalo, writes Frank H. Huston in "Adventure."

The glue was less susceptible to climatic variations than any other used by the tribes. The final touch was given by placing an individual mark upon the shaft to identify the person who made the kill, whether of human or brute game.

Heads were made from flint, obsidian, odd bits of iron and even old barrel hoops, until, toward the last of the bow and arrow days, traders carried in iron ones made in eastern and English manufacturing towns, shipped in barrels.

Spain's Gift to Britain

Spain has recently made England a present of a model of the Santa Maria, the ship in which Columbus sailed to America, and the gift recalls others given at various times by one country to another.

Everybody has heard of the famous Liberty statue in New York. This was presented to America by France in 1884.

Some years ago the French government presented a Sevres vase to the British museum. It is a magnificent specimen and very valuable.

Ancient weapons, such as guns, swords and so on, are fairly common gifts from one country to another. That which is known as "Queen Elizabeth's pocket pistol" was a gift to Great Britain from the Netherlands. It was cast as long ago as 1544.—London Tit-Bits.

Dodge Brothers Policy Effects

Substantial Saving for Users

Local Dealer Says Public Appreciates Significance of Policy

Continue Buying Without Fear of Sudden Depreciation Through Obsolescence

It is quite evident from the comments of buyers that the public appreciates the significance of Dodge Brothers policy of making constant improvements in their motor cars instead of changing models every year.

Magazines, newspapers and bulletin boards everywhere are reminding the people this month that this policy continues to prevail and that they may buy Dodge Brothers cars without fear of seeing a new and entirely different model put on the market soon after they take possession of the present type car.

Coming just at this time when many manufacturers are preparing to issue new models, in keeping with their annual custom, this advertisement is having a striking effect. It serves as a wholesome reassurance to prospective buyers. They dislike the idea of buying a car today and finding a month or so later that it is an obsolete model. And it is only natural that they should. The depreciation loss is out of proportion for a few months' use. Moreover, most people like to be up-to-date in their motor equipment and if they wish to follow their desire in this respect they must accept this sharp depreciation loss.

Dodge Brothers Motor Car owners who buy new cars every year—and there are many of them—have a big advantage here. A one-year-old Dodge Brothers car is modern in appearance and mechanical design. That fact is conceded by everyone. Equally important to its resale value, however, is the fact that it is substantially the same car that Dodge Brothers will manufacture a year later. In other words, there is no danger that this one-year-old car will suffer an undue depreciation loss simply because an entirely different model is about to make its appearance. We charge off only for the normal rate of depreciation for one year. And the used car buyer in turn appreciates the fact that the price represents full value and that he can buy the car with full assurance of many years of satisfactory service.

Another factor enters into this policy which is also of considerable importance to buyers. A change in models involves a complete change of dies and production schedules. It upsets a factory completely and often means a virtual stoppage of production. This naturally means a loss to the manufacturer and his only recourse is to get it back in the price of his product. The saving effected by Dodge Brothers, through their policy of constant, gradual refinement instead of radical annual changes of models, is faithfully returned to the buyer in the form of surplus value. Every dollar saved, of course, enables the factory to give that much more for the money.

The practice of bringing out new models every year is also responsible for a slow-up of sales during the summer months. People hold off, waiting to see what the new models are like. The fact that Dodge Brothers sales are continuing at the normal volume is another indication of the confidence engendered by the practice of not issuing annual models. Many buyers have said to us, "Dodge Brothers cars couldn't be finer than they are today, either in appearance or riding comfort. I am not afraid of a change. There is certainly no occasion for it."

Also although most owners do not realize it, the cost of replacement parts is greatly affected by bringing out yearly models. One reason for the extremely low price for Dodge Brothers parts is the fact that parts stay standard for years.

Detecting the Bogus

French chemists have perfected new methods of identifying pictures, according to the American Chemical Society. They use groups of red, blue, green or white light to light the picture, and they examine the suspected canvas with the spectrometer. This puts in relief the retouchings, scrapings and changed signatures which constitute a false picture. By employing the ultra-violet ray they make the zinc white and certain varnishes stand out by fluorescence. By scraping off small amounts of paint they have made spectrographic analyses and have been able to determine, for example, in a false Renoir, the presence of a cadmium yellow, when Renoir only used chrome yellow.

Fire Done Away With

The four new ocean-going dredges designed by the United States Engineering corps to clean American harbors of sand and silt are said to be the only human habitations since the dawn of civilization in which fire in some form is not used or needed. Everything is done by electricity. Each vessel is 288 feet long and is propelled by electricity from generators driven by oil engines. All control is direct from the bridge, without reference to the engine-room. Fifty-six electric motors operate the dredging machinery and do all the work of the ship—from weighing the anchor to delving the electric fans that ventilate the crew's quarters.

Lightning Bores Iron

During an electrical storm in Ohio an official of a lumber company sitting in his office was startled by a loud report like the discharge of a gun, and, looking up at the ceiling, noticed a blize. On examination he found that there was a hole large enough to insert his little finger in the iron gas pipe. The lightning had come in over the electric wires, jumped off on to the gas pipe, which they crossed at right angles, bored through the iron and ignited the escaping gas.

Proposed Amendment to Constitution

Relating to Granting of Confederate Pensions

Senate Joint Resolution No. 10.

Proposing an amendment to Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas to provide that the Legislature may grant pensions to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows, who have been citizens of Texas since prior to January 1, 1910, providing that all soldiers, sailors and their widows eligible under the provisions hereof shall be entitled to be placed upon the rolls and participate in the pension fund created hereunder; levying a tax of seven ($07) cents on the one hundred ($100.00) dollars valuation of property in this State for the payment of such pension, providing that the Legislature may reduce the rate of pension for such amendment and making an appropriation to pay the expenses thereof.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas shall be amended so as to hereinafter read as follows:

Section 51. The Legislature shall have no power to make any grant or authorize the making of any grant of public money to any individual, association of individuals, municipal or other corporations whatsoever, providing, however, the Legislature may grant aid to indigent or disabled Confederate soldiers and sailors, who came to Texas prior to January 1, 1910, and to their widows, in indigent circumstances and who have been bona fide residents of this State since January 1, 1910, and who were married to such soldiers or sailors prior to January 1, 1910, and to indigent and disabled soldiers who under the special laws of the State of Texas during the war between the States served in organizations for the protection of the frontier against Indian raiders or Mexican marauders and to indigent and disabled soldiers of the militia of the State of Texas who were in active service during the war between the States and to the widows of such soldiers who are in indigent circumstances and who were married to such soldiers prior to January 1, 1910, provided that the word "widow" in the preceding lines of this Section shall not apply to women born since the year 1861, and all soldiers and sailors and widows of soldiers and sailors eligible under the above conditions shall be entitled to be placed upon the pension rolls and participate in the distribution of the pension fund of this State under any existing law or laws hereafter passed by the Legislature, and also to grant aid for the establishment and maintenance of a home for said soldiers and sailors, their wives and widows and women who aided in the Confederacy under such regulations and limitations as may be provided by law, provided the Legislature may provide for husband and wife to remain together, in the home. There is hereby levied in addition to all other taxes heretofore permitted by the Constitution of Texas a State ad valorem tax on property of seven ($07) cents on the one hundred ($100) dollars valuation for the purpose of creating a special fund for the payment of pensions for services in the Confederate army and navy, frontier organizations and the militia of the State of Texas, and for the widows of such soldiers serving in said armies, navies, organizations or militia; provided that the Legislature may reduce the tax rate herein levied, and provided further that the provision of this Section shall not be construed so as to prevent the grant of aid in cases of public calamity.

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1924, at which all voters shall have printed or written on their ballots: "For amendment of Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows who have been a resident of this State since January 1, 1910," and "Against amendment to Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution, authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers and their widows."
Sec. 3. The Governor is hereby directed to issue the proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State, and the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the general funds of this State not otherwise appropriated for expenses of publications and elections thereunder.

Man Gets Burned with Carboic Acid

Rural Carrier W. A. Cogdell reported Saturday afternoon that Carl Davis, a farmer living on route 2, was severely burned on the face and arms Saturday with carboic acid.

The accident happened when he reached upon a shelf for a bottle of the poison, which either had no stopper, or if it did have, it fell out, allowing the acid to spill, splattering in the man's face.

While it is not regarded as serious it is very painful.

Health Insurance

for the Whole Family

Without counting the daily utility of a Chevrolet for going back and forth to work, shopping or taking the children to school, etc., its value in saving doctor's bills, broadening your mental horizon and keeping the whole family physically fit, amounts to more than the cost of the car and its upkeep.

It is more of an essential to the modern family than anything else but a home.

Chevrolet meets the requirements of the modern family because it is economical to buy and maintain, because of its excellent appearance and riding comfort, because it can be depended upon, and because it is so easy to drive that any member of the family can use it.
