Everyone Should Help Prevent Spread of Diseases

It is the duty of every young and old, to help in preventing the spread of disease. Every man, woman and child in a community has a personal obligation as well as possible, and as well from illness, to protect others in the community. The kindergarten are child taught to cover a cough and to help in preventing the spread of colds or other infectious diseases that start with symptoms of a cold.

Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, emphasizes the fact that health officer can do much to prevent the spread of disease in the community. The health officer does not have the wholehearted support of the people in the case of illness that looks like a case of a communicable disease should be promptly reported to the health officer. The health officer reports to the county health officer the cases of communicable disease that they diagnose. But parents often fail to report to the health officer if he is not informed of cases of suspected cases of communicable diseases.

Some signs and symptoms of communicable diseases are: Red and runny nose; coughing; sneezing; dizziness or faintness; about the neck; swelling of the neck; fever; runny ears; feverishness; rash; nausea; vomiting or diarrhea; irritability or change in normal behavior appearance.

To prevent the spread of communicable disease in your neighborhood by observing correct health practices, and report promptly any appearance of communicable symptoms.

Positions open include Contract Officer, Contract Section Supervisor and Contract Unit Supervisor. Entrance salaries for these jobs range from $4,149 to $5,905 per year.

Application forms may be obtained from the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration, Branch Office No. 10, 1114 Commerce St., Dallas; Tenth U. S. Each veteran in training under the GI Bill will receive a notice from the Veterans Administration with future subsistence checks advising him not to cash the check if he believes he is not entitled to the full amount of the payment.

The notices are designed to help eliminate subsistence allowance overpayment and the necessity for refunds to veterans, VA said.

The notice informs the veteran that, according to VA records, he is still in training. It urges the veteran to contact his nearest VA office before cashing the check if he has stopped training or has any reason to believe the check represents an overpayment of his account.

If the veteran is entitled to a part of the money, VA said it will make every effort to adjust his records and issue another check without delay.

Wildcats Play Best Defensive Game Against Burk

The Crowell High School football team played its best defensive game of the season last Friday night here when it held the undefeated Burk Burnett High School team to a 20 to 0 score. The Bulldogs defeated one team 55 to 0 this year that had played a tie with Crowell. All other comparisons by scores that both teams had played gave the Burk boys from three to seven touchdowns advantage.

The Bulldogs drove deep into Crowell territory early in the game but lost the ball on a fumble. Crowell punted out and Burk Burnett came right back to score on a rushing play. Gene Brown, quarterback for Burk, made the final four yards. The extra point was no good to leave the score 6 to 0. On the next series of plays, Crowell attempted a quick kick that was blocked and the Bulldogs received the ball on Crowell's thirty yard line. Fred Fewin, fullback for Burk Burnett, did most of the ball carrying to score again for the Bulldogs in the initial quarter. Fewin ran the extra point over to make the score 13 to 0.

The Wildcats were not to be denied. Early in the second quarter, Fred Glover, left tackle for Crowell, covered a Burk fumble on the Bulldogs' thirty yard line. With excellent blocking in Crowell's line, Dalton Biggerstaff, quarterback for the 'Cats, made consistent gains to score for Crowell. Burk Burnett scored again in the second quarter on several nice runs made by Billy Earl Askins. Fewin plunged the extra point over to make the final score 20 to 6 for Burk.

The last half was scoreless with Crowell's entire team playing their best defensive game of the season. Burk Burnett threatened to score on one occasion but the Wildcats turned the Bulldogs back on the Crowell four yard line.

The Wildcats receive another rest this Friday before they journey to Oney next week to tackle another team that is undefeated in district play. The Crowell team will end its season here on Wednesday night, November 26, with the Archer City Wildcats.

Good Sheep Dog Valuable Help To the Farmer

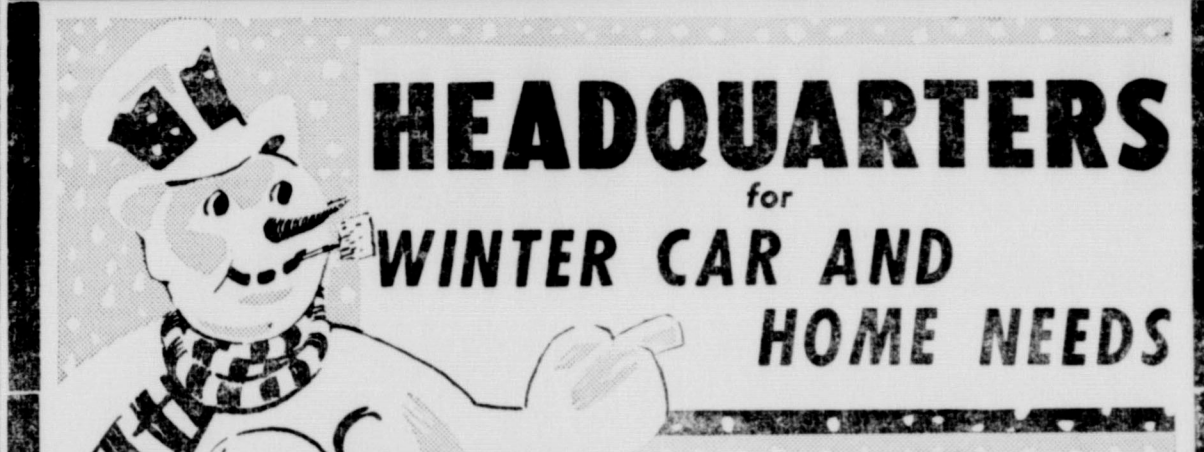

Many Countries Have Developed Their Own Special Shepherd Breeds

In the handling of large flocks of sheep on the farm, a good herd dog oftentimes accomplishes the work of two or three men, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City. An old saying goes that "There is no good flock without a good shepherd, and there is no good shepherd without a good dog." In Scotland, where the work of the sheep dog has reached near perfection, no shepherd would consider selling, as he would feel himself helpless without his trained ally. The sight of a small black and white Border Collie driving a flock of sheep along a road or through a village in a calm, business-like manner is so common in that country as to attract no attention whatsoever. While it is believed that the dog's first association with man was as his hunting companion and helper, certainly his second trust was as guardian of mankind's flocks and herds. Though there was little communication between primitive peoples, the dog's ability as herder and guardian was early discovered and utilized by many different races and tribes. Many countries have developed shepherd breeds, and while these vary widely in size and appearance, their work is identical. Belgium produced the Belgian Sheepdog and the Bouviers de Flandre. The Briard comes from France. Hungary developed the Pulik and the Komondorok. The Welsh Corgi, Old English Sheepdog, Border Collie, Shetland Sheepdog and Collie all originated in the British Isles. The German Shepherd and the Giant Schnauzer are, of course, products of Germany. The Australian Sheepdog, or Kelpie, has proven his value in the rugged sheep-raising country "down under." The Samoyede, though generally considered a Packaged shredded coconut will, it is predicted, be back in its old volume by the end of the year. The nation's supply was cut 90 per cent during the war when the Japs occupied the Philippines. Before the war experts of shredded coconut amounted to 120 million pounds annually.

The sixty day holiday announced by the liquor distillers of the country is not likely to affect the production of whiskey to any great extent or the consequent use of grain. The liquor industry has a two years' supply of liquor on hand and will be able to catch up in a few months on the grain not used during the sixty day period. A merry heart doeth good like a medicine; but a broken spirit drieth the bones. — Proverbs 17:22.

In a recent interview with members of the English Parliament, Stalin said that it was the desire of Russia that there might be peace between Russia and the other countries of the world and that amicable trade relations should and could exist between other countries and Russia.

were not troubled with the Russian ministers veto and objections was during the war when we were sending them millions of dollars a day in war supplies.

We have come to the conclusion that the best way to handle Russia is not to count on her for anything at all. As long as Russia thinks the world needs her and is dependent on her she is going to be difficult.

It should be understood that the help that is to be given the unfortunate of Europe will not be in the nature of a loan. If any of it comes back it will be in the nature of good will and the personal satisfaction that we gave a helping hand in the hour of need.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

The town in which I live is an average county seat town in the rural part of America. It is too small to do very many big things but big enough to make ambitious plans, many of which are never carried out.

Notwithstanding the fact that many of its plans "gang aft agley" the Chamber of Commerce month after month, and with commendable persistence, makes more plans and yet more plans.

In this respect I presume my town is no different than hundreds of other small towns like it throughout the land.

A recent undertaking, which appeals to me as a splendid project for the reason that it fits into the community life and is easily within the means and reach of the community promotion chest, is what is known as "Hi Neighbor" week.

During Hi Neighbor week the greeting "Hi Neighbor" is supposed to be used between friends when they meet, or strangers one meets on the street, by clerks to their customers, and by customers to their clerks.

To help create the neighborly atmosphere long streamers are posted in the windows of the business houses bearing in big letters the greeting: "Hi Neighbor." Clerks wear high head bands with the words "Hi Neighbor" printed prominently on them.

On the evening of the last day which is Halloween a big Halloween parade will be held in which prizes will be awarded for the best costumes worn in each of the dozen different divisions of the parade. The awards will be made immediately following the parade. After the awards are made the crowd will go to the city park where an out door dance will be held in the municipal swimming pool. Each child who marches in the parade will receive a ticket which will entitle him to a hot dog sandwich at the city park.

Preceding the dance a floor show will be given on the floor of the swimming pool.

The plan sounds simple enough but none the less it works. Not only this the same program will work year after year. With the experience gained the year before.

In addition to this there is the cumulative interest in the trade territory of the community. The mere announcement that the Halloween party is to be held brings the whole countryside in for the event.

The incidental values of the event are that formality is forgotten, a friendly neighborly spirit is engendered, and the young people, instead of becoming involved in destruction of property or vandalism, enter into the spirit of the occasion and enjoy it along with the adults.

I recommend the program for any rural community faced with the problem of providing a fall event. It is simple and effective and the cost is small. It is a made to order program for the small town and might even work in the towns not so small.

The goal of some seems to be to require those who work and practice thrift and self-denial to build up a competence for their old age, to support the incompetents, the inefficient and those too lazy to work.

MUST BE THE HOUSING SHORTAGE . . . Getting along like cats and dogs has an entirely different meaning in the Calabrese household in Nutley, N. J., and ample proof is displayed here as dachshund Frederick Gotha Von Boris (call me Fritz) unselfishly shares his bed and board with Lella, the family's pet cat. Lella recently gave birth to four kittens, shown here doing what comes naturally. Maybe the U. N. could take an object lesson from this.

U. N. APPROVES ITS OWN FLAG . . . One of the few agreements ever reached by the United Nations general assembly concerned the adoption of this proposed flag for the U. N. The legal committee, at its 43rd meeting, agreed to recommend official adoption of the flag to the general assembly.

HISTORY

The Institution of the Monroe Doctrine—December 2: The policy of the Monroe Doctrine was first suggested to the people of the United States by President Monroe in his message to Congress on December 2, 1823. The policy announced by President Monroe, and which later became known as the Monroe Doctrine, announced the opposition of the United States to the extension of control by European nations over territory on the American continents. At the time the policy was announced by President Monroe there existed disputes over boundaries between the United States on the one hand and Great Britain and Russia on the other. Speaking specifically of this case the President said: "The American continents henceforth are not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European powers." In the same message referring to the proposed action to assist Spain in recovery control over the South American countries which had rebelled against Spanish rule said: "With the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them or of controlling in any other manner their destiny by an European power in any other light than a manifestation of an unfriendly disposition to the United States. The declaration was approved by a number of the South

Dramatic Love Story of Ranch Life Opens at Rialto Nov. 16

Warner Bros. "Stallion Road," a dramatic story of horse breeders and ranch life, opens at the Rialto Theatre on Nov. 16. The film, which co-stars Ronald Reagan, Alexis Smith and Zachary Scott, also features an excellent cast of supporting players including Peggy Knudsen, Patti Prady and Angela Greene. The screenplay, based on Stephen Longstreet's best selling novel, has been adapted into a love story of great warmth.

The story tells of the horse breeders who raise their blooded mounts on the slopes of California's Madre range, and of a romantic triangle that set the range breeders buzzing with gossip.

The wonderful entertainment in "Stallion Road" is due to a fine script by Longstreet, the fine acting of the members of direction of James V. Kern.

As Larry, the horse breeder vet. Ronald Reagan is excellent in his first role since his return from the service. Alexis Smith as Rory is equally good, and Zachary Scott, who completes the romantic triangle, is fine in his first sympathetic role since his entrance into films.

Uncle Sam Says

Your Uncle Sam is indebted to a newspaper editorial for pointing out one of the most vital qualities of United States Savings Bonds. Under the caption INDESTRUCTIBLE BONDS, this editorial declared: "A resident of the suburbs reported the disappearance of $12,000 in cash and $7,000 in United States Savings Bonds from his home. If he should never see the cash or bonds again, he would be out $19,000 not $19,000. For the bonds will be of no value to the thief, and an application will be reissued to the owner. The misfortune that befell the suburbanite is a timely reminder that surplus cash can be put to work with security, and with assured availability to the owner in time of need, by using it for the purchase of United States Savings Bonds."

THE FOARD CITY W. S. C. S.

The Foard City W. S. C. S. met on Monday afternoon, Nov. 3, at the home of Mrs. Jess Autry. The opening song was "Bringing in the Sheaves." After a prayer by Mrs. Blake McDaniel she brought a devotional reading from John 14. In her thoughts she stressed two characteristics of a Christian—love and trust.

On Nov. 17, the society will have a Thanksgiving program at the church at which time Mrs. Grady Bingham of Vernon, the district secretary of Spiritual Life, will be guest speaker.

Mrs. J. M. Barker continued with the study "Committed Unto Us." She discussed the North American Frontier. While all churches are realizing new members each year, they are not sufficient to meet the urgency of today's needs. Christian population must be increased if vital Christianity is to be the power it should be in our land. An imperative need is at the door step of every local congregation—A revival of the spirit of evangelism.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL BOY FINDS CROW FAVORITE PET

"The feathers are black and aren't they shiny?" No, this isn't someone talking about her new fall bonnet. It's just seventh grader, Henry Teague, describing his pet crow.

"What is Henry doing with a crow?" One day last August Henry found a small crow in a nest on Mr. Ben Easley's ranch. Taking the crow home with him for a pet, he soon made a good friend of him and taught him several tricks. He will hop from one hand to another in stair steps.

Jimmy, the crow, may be seen following Henry or riding on his bike every day. During the day he sits on the school house and walks among the students on the play ground. Last week he ventured into the man hall of high school.

The unusual three months' old pet doesn't seem interested in strangers. Said Henry, "Jimmy is my pal and a smart one, too."

THE SPOTLIGHT'S ON

Modestly admitting that the only bad deed he ever did in his life was to argue in English class, this lad could compile quite a list of more noteworthy achievements such as acting as sports editor of the Wildcat, being president of his class two years, and last but not least, his ability on the basketball court.

Add to this mixture two parts brains and one part brawn, stir well and the result obtained is one Bob Edwards. Top it all off with a dash of good humor and serve in large quantities.

He likes all kinds of sports, including basketball, swimming and baseball.

He also likes T-bone and French fries. "The Gypsy" (song) and Rita Hayworth. Bob is 16 years old and plans to attend Hardin College at Wichita Falls after graduation.

"MICKY" AND HIS GANG

Sorry to let you down, girls, but this guy belongs to one brownette named Mary Jo Short from Thalia.

RIALTO THEATRE

The Rialto Theatre invites Mary Helen Payne and Kenneth Ownbey to see Ronald Reagan, Zachery Scott and Alexis Smith in "Stallion Road," Sunday and Monday, Nov. 16 and 17.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

The Sophomores clambered into the halls of the Wildcat Canteen last Wednesday night at seven o'clock. The girls tried very hard to teach the boys how to jitterbug, but they were unsuccessful in their effort. Games were also enjoyed by the entire sophomore class. Delicious hot dogs, home-made cookies and cakes were served. We wish to thank our sponsor, Mrs. Lewis Sloan, the class mothers, Mesdames Veatrice Brock, M. A. Wilkins, C. S. Bartley and Goodloe Meason, for a wonderful party.

THE PLAYER OF THE WEEK

The praise this week goes to Marvin Brisco, center of our Wildcat team.

Marvin (prefers being called Marvo) has blue eyes, brown eyes, brown hair, is sixteen years old, and stands exactly 5 feet, 11 and three-fourths inches high. He tips the scales at 155 pounds.

"Marvo" has traveled over most of the United States. Naturally, Texas is his favorite state. When asked which prison, pardon, school, he preferred it seems that C. H. S. rates highest.

Marvin went out for football last year in the center position; this year he was transferred to the "A" string.

Marvin has proved his ability to play football and can be seen Friday, Nov. 21, playing his best against the Olney Cubs, wearing jersey No. 43. This is Marvin's last year to play for the Wildcats.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

The hottest domestic issue at the present time is the high cost of living. And, like all other issues which come home with direct personal impact to tens of millions of people, it has been confused by all kinds of conflicting charges and counter-charges, and by arguments which contain more passion than fact.

The Congressional subcommittees which have been holding price hearings in a series of key cities throughout the United States, have produced a mass of testimony from consumers, labor leaders, commodity dealers, retailers and others. Some of this testimony, as was to be expected, is hardly enlightening—for instance, the hearing in an Eastern city was enlivened by a labor official who said categorically that wages had nothing to do with prices. On the other hand, a great deal of it has been thoughtful, intelligent and factual. It is serving, at least in part, to clear up the fog surrounding the price problem.

Particular attention has been directed at the cost of food, for the simple reason that it has gone up faster and farther than anything else except taxes. But that does not mean that the farmer is a profiteer. He has been caught, as the evidence shows, by extremely stiff jumps in his overhead. Farm labor is at an all time high. The cost of feed and other supplies is several times the prewar figure. The Department of Agriculture recently stated that the cost of running a farm is now at "unprecedented high levels," and will go still higher in 1948. Further rises are forecast in the prices of seed, feed and fertilizer. So no valid hope for lower food costs can logically be held.

The operation of the grain exchanges has been the cause of a major controversy. President Truman made the headlines with his charge to the effect that "gambling" in grain was partly responsible for high prices. The heads of the principal grain exchanges, while acceding to the President's request that margins be increased, have presented effective rebuttals. One of them pointed out that speculation is an integral factor in all agricultural operations, from the time seed is planted until the crop is sold. All of them feel that the biggest problem in the grain market now is the fact that U. S. crops of corn and oats are well below past estimates, while foreign demand is still at abnormally high levels. The exchanges, they say, are an efficient and essential media for bringing buyer and seller together on a supply and demand basis.

Still another important point made at the hearings is that government announcements concerning food shortages have in themselves contributed to inflation by exciting and frightening consumers. Housewives buy in excess of current needs, and shortages appear. Demand outruns supply and prices rise unnecessarily. Government interference with the food economy was also sharply criticized.

As usual, labor said high industrial profits were a big inflationary influence, and industry retorted by pointing to current record wages. Some impressive testimony in this field was given by two reporters for a financial newspaper which has conducted a nationwide study of building costs. They said twenty per cent of the housing dollar could be saved by removal of restrictive union policies and cited practices, according to the INS report, "as limiting width of paint brushes, discouraging apprentice training, refusing to handle factory-assembled materials and general work slowdowns." They added that local building codes are often at fault for requirements which needlessly waste time, money and materials.

Retail business has come out of the hearings undamaged. Practically all of the evidence submitted concerning this part of the distribution, machine indicates that markups are as low or lower than under OPA or in prewar times, and that profits per sale are very moderate. The retailer too is faced with the universal problem of high wages, rents, taxes and everything else. Most of those testifying said that they raised prices with great reluctance, and only when no other course was open.

The factor of taxation, as a cost of living item, is probably much more important than the average man realizes. According to a University of Washington research bureau survey, living costs went up 74 per cent between 1939 and now. Food rose 96 per cent, clothing 72 per cent, furnishings 82 per cent and housing 50 per cent. Taxes, by contrast, rose 300 per cent. Another survey shows that the Federal tax bill is now greater than the national food bill.

During the hearings, many consumer groups demanded a return to rationing and price control. This demand has met a cold reception in top government circles. President Truman observed that it would result in a "police state." Others have said that it would dangerously cut production in many lines, and create an enormous black market.

Finally, it is evident that almost everyone thinks his prices are right—but the other fellow's are too high. That attitude may be natural, but it undoubtedly makes a solution to the cost of living problem, if there is any solution, infinitely tougher. We all like to cast the blame while accepting none of it ourselves.—Industrial News Review.

Seed supply houses expect seed sales to be double next spring to what they were in 1939. The reason given is due to increased population, high prices of food and gardening enthusiasm.

The United States produces more citrus fruits than all the rest of the countries of the world combined.

In the soft light of glimmering candles, Miss Emma Mae Crisp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Crisp of Northside, and Beverly Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gray of Thalia, were united in marriage Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church of Vernon, Nov. 1. The double ring ceremony was performed at twilight with Dr. E. S. James officiating. Vows were exchanged before a white archway. Tall white baskets of white chrysanthemums and greenery were at each side of the archway. Potted palms and white tapers in wrought iron candelabra completed the nuptial scene. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Earl Mason played "Clair De Lune" while Norman Crisp, brother of the bride, lighted the candles and the aisle carpets were unrolled. Mrs. Mason accompanied Miss Vernice Geis, who sang "Oh, Promise Me" and "I Love Thee." Miss Geis wore a deep rose taffeta dress with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Mason was dressed in black crepe with a carnation corsage. Mrs. Mason also played the traditional wedding marches. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white twilight satin gown with an illusion yoke. Her long sleeves tapered in petal points over her wrists and were buttoned to the elbow with tiny satin covered buttons. The full skirt was gathered to an elongated bodice sweeping into a train. The finger tip length veil of misty French bridal illusion was gathered to a white satin tiana embroidered with seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis with white satin showers. She wore a single strand of pearls and pearl ear screws, a gift of the groom. For something old and borrowed, she carried a handkerchief belonging to Miss Doris Armstrong, for something blue, garters, and for something new, her pearl ear screws. She wore a six pence brought from England by her great-grandmother, Mrs. H. M. Coffee, and now belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. C. N. Bullman. Maid of honor for the bride was her cousin, Miss Wylene Jenkins of Dallas. She was attired in a deep aqua taffeta formal with a close fitting bodice and full gathered skirt over hoops. The shoulder line was outlined with self ruffles. She wore long matching mitts. She carried an arm bouquet of gold mums tied with gold satin ribbons and gold satin showers. Flower girls were Martha Gayle Webb and Jerry Jane Treadway of Denison. They wore nugget gold taffeta floor length dresses with gold net yokes. They also wore bronze mums at their waists with gold shower ribbons and bronze num halos. They carried aqua net covered baskets of rose petals. Best man for the groom was his brother, Loyd Gray. Ushers were Gene Coffee and Billy Close. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with Mrs. Horace Coffee as assistant hostess. Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Doris Armstrong, who presented them to a receiving line composed of the bride and groom, the bride's parents and the groom's parents. Miss Joan Sweatman presided at the white leather bride's book. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth over blue and centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. This arrangement was flanked on either side by aqua and white tapers in crystal holders. Aqua napkins inscribed in gold with the words "Emy and Bev," carried out the bride's chosen colors. Mrs. Coffee presided at the crystal punch service. An arrangement of white chrysanthemums were on the buffet. Mrs. Loyd Gray entertained with accordion selections. When the couple left for a wedding trip to South Texas, the bride was wearing a beige suit with a white blouse, beige hat and red cobra purse and shoes. Her corsage was gardenia. For the wedding and reception, the bride's mother was attired in a grape wool crepe dress with black accessories. The groom's mother wore a black crepe dress with sequin trim. They wore gardenia corsages. Mrs. Gray is a 1946 graduate of Northside High School. Mr. Gray graduated from Crowell High School in 1946. Since graduation he has been engaged in farming. The couple will be at home on Mansard Street in Vernon.

Truscott Couple Wed in Impressive Home Ceremony

In an impressive single ring ceremony, performed by Charles E. Ritchey, minister of the Church of Christ of Dumas, on Monday morning, Nov. 3, Miss Evelyn Joyce Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar James Jones of Truscott, became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Williams of Cisco. The service was read in the ranch-home of the parents of the bride, Mrs. Curtis Casey, pianist for the wedding, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the assembling of the bridal party. Clare de Lune, by Debussy, furnished a soft musical background during the betrothal service. Tall floor candelabra holding sunburst arrangements of white chrysanthemums and huckleberry were decorated with bows of lovely white mums and greenery. Miss Clara Jones attended her sister. She wore a soft suit of powder blue faille, designed with a high collar, three-quarter sleeves and a pleated peplum. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white baby mums tied with blue maline. Vernon Jones, brother of the bride, and Charlie Pete Moody lighted the tapers before the ceremony. Jack W. Brown served the groom as best man. Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was attractively attired in a ballet-length gown of white satin, designed with a high round neckline, a yoke of gold metallic, outlined with tiny seed pearls, long fitted sleeves and fitted basque bodice accented down the front by small pearls as buttons. The softly flared skirt was gathered onto the bodice with a bias band at the hips. Her finger-tip veil of imported French illusion fell from a Juliet cap of gold metallic. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias with garlands of stephanotis and tied with ribbons of white broadened satin. She wore an heirloom gold ring, belonging to the Williams family. At her throat she wore a cameo locket, a wedding gift from the groom. Mrs. Jones, mother of the bride, wore a black silk dress trimmed with aqua. Her corsage was of split carnations. Miss Norma Jones, sister of the bride, wore a dress of navy blue and a small corsage of red and white carnations. Following the ceremony, the bridal party was tendered a reception. An oblong arrangement of white mums and fern centered the bride's table which was covered with white satin, caught at the sides with bows of blue ribbon. This was overlaid with a handmade white lace cloth. At one end of the table was the crystal punch bowl where Mrs. Albert Jones, aunt of the bride, presided. At the other end was the three-tiered wedding cake at each side of which stood a miniature cowgirl and cowboy. The cake was served by Mrs. Roger Jones, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Seth Woods assisted. For the wedding trip to El Paso, Texas, and Juarez, Mexico, the bride wore a suit of forest green gambrine. Her accessories were of cream and brown suede. Her corsage of gardenias was tied with gold ribbon. The couple will be at home on the Big Four Ranch near Truscott. Mrs. Williams graduated from Crowell High School and attended Texas State College for Women at Denton. Mr. Williams attended Rochester High School prior to enlisting in the Marine Corps in which he served two years in the South Pacific.
