

ROCKWALL-CROWELL GAME ON FRIDAY

FOARD COUNTY TEACHERS WILL MEET HERE MON.

Teachers in the schools of Foard county will meet at the Crowell school auditorium Monday morning, beginning at 7 o'clock. This meeting is to serve as the teacher's institute and all teachers of the county are required to attend, according to the school law.

The main purpose of the meeting is to organize the Foard County Interscholastic League for this year. The nominating committee for Interscholastic League officers consists of W. M. Bralley of Thalia, Miss Mildred Cogdell of Gambleville and Henrick Black of Crowell.

To Discuss Proposed Gov't. Grain Standard Changes at Ft. Worth

T. L. Hughton of this city, president of the Texas Grain Dealers Association, and possibly others from this area will attend a meeting at Fort Worth Saturday at which time the proposed changes in the grain standards of the United States Department of Agriculture will be discussed.

Farmers or any other interested parties may attend this meeting. More than 1,000 farmers, shippers, elevator men, buyers and millers are expected to attend this meeting which is called under the auspices of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture.

The proposed changes in grades are drawing wide discussion from these different interests—many favoring them and a considerable number opposing them. The meeting at Fort Worth is expected to clarify sentiment on the matter and to furnish a guide whereby the Department of Agriculture heads will be able to judge the attitude of the grain trade generally in the matter.

E. G. Blewett, manager of the Texas Grain Dealers Ass'n., has called all members of that organization to attend the meeting. "While this meeting is of vital importance to the grain dealers of the state, it is equally important to every one interested in the grain industry. Every farmer who grows wheat, corn, oats or milo should study these proposed changes," he stated.

SIX PROJECTS CROWELL WINS APPROVED BY FROM GRAHAM RELIEF HEADS IN BI-DIST. GAME

Foard County's full quota of 154 men are now at work in various parts of the county on Civil Works projects.

Six of the seven projects submitted at Austin last week by local officials were approved and work orders on them have been received. Those going from here to submit the projects before State relief officials were: Vance Swaim, county judge; B. K. Garrett, resident engineer for the highway department; R. D. Oswalt, Jr., project supervisor for the County of Foard, and W. A. Dunn, commissioner of Precinct 2.

The projects approved were: Commissioner Barker, Precinct 3, improvement of roads, $1,344.00; Commissioner Ford, Precinct 1, road building and drainage, $201.60; Commissioner Dunn, Precinct 2, graveling road, Margaret, $2,693.60; City of Crowell, sanitary improvements, $2,200.00; Rayland, gravel road, $2,450.00; Thalia, gravel street.

The project for the road to the new oil field in the west part of the county was submitted. Due to asking for grant of materials, the project was left with the relief offices at Austin to determine materials that will be granted if it is passed. Approximately $9,700.00 is required on this project. Officials at Austin talked favorably regarding this matter and work from it is expected soon.

Several other projects had been previously approved and are being worked on over the county.

Julian Wright has been added to the staff at the local employment office. He is in charge of the "National Re-employment" department of this office. He is an ex-World War veteran and is looking after the interests of ex-service men, since veterans with dependents are given preference in government relief work.

Work was started here Wednesday on improvements to the water system. Lines are being deepened in several instances.

SCORES 174 POINTS THIS SEASON

Dick Todd, the ace of aces in Class B football of Texas and a player that many football experts believe to be right at the top when compared with Class A performers, is pictured above. The Rockwall-Crowell game will offer fans the last opportunity to see him play this season.

Todd has scored 174 points so far this season, having made 28 touchdowns and 6 extra points. His touchdown runs have averaged slightly better than 28 yards to the run, ranging from one yard to 91 yards, the latter coming on the opening kick-off in the Seymour game. He has also scored touchdowns on end runs, off-tackle sprints, center rushes, return of punts, interception and receiving of passes—in fact every method except falling on an opponent's fumble behind the goal line. Two long runs for touchdowns, 51 and 68 yards in the Chillicothe game, did not count as a result of off-side penalties.

The Crowell ace is not only an outstanding ball carrier, but is also a great punter and blocker. He backs up the line in a very capable manner on the defense and often drops back to the safety position on fourth downs to return punts. His passing has also resulted in a number of Crowell touchdowns.

In the Graham game last Friday, he scored Crowell's first two touchdowns on runs of 50 and 53 yards and then his passes to Jim Riley Gafford and Paul McKown resulted in the other two touchdowns. His place-kick gave Crowell its final point of the game.

This is Dick's third year on the local football team and he has one more year yet to play. By scoring 8 points against Rockwall, Dick can break the record of 181 points for one season that was set by his brother, Guy, in 1930.

The cut of Todd is furnished The News through the courtesy of the Times Publishing Co., Wichita Falls.

Marriage Licenses Increase in Foard

The marriage license business at the office of the county clerk, Grady Magee, is on a distinct upward trend. Five licenses have been issued since Dec. 1, bringing the total for this year to 29, eight more than the 1932 total, 14 more than for 1931 and 17 more than were issued in Foard County during 1930.

General improvement in business conditions and the change in the Texas marriage law a few months ago have likely been responsible for the increase.

Licenses issued here this month have been as follows:

- Earl Orr, Margaret, and Eva Carter, Margaret, Dec. 2.
- O. M. Marlow, Margaret, and Jessie Scott, Margaret, Dec. 8.
- C. A. Sparks, Paducah, and Mae Kimbrell, Paducah, Dec. 9.
- R. S. Ferguson, Crowell, and Virgie Donaldson, Crowell, Dec. 9.
- Rufus Nail, Chaik, and Willie Belle Foster, Foard City, Dec. 12.

Turney recovered a bad pass from center for a loss of 8 yards. Kimbrell made 3. Kimbrell's 15-yard pass to Hayes failed but was ruled complete on account of interference. Kimbrell gained 6 in two attempts. Gafford stopped Turney for no gain. Kimbrell gained only 2 and Crowell took the ball on downs on the 22.

Todd gained 4 in 2 tries and then punted to the Graham 23. Kimbrell returning 6 yards. Patton knocked down Kimbrell's basket pass. A forward pass was incomplete. Another pass was incomplete and on the next play Dunn and Middlebrook blocked Kimbrell's punt and Briscoe recovered on the 33. In three attempts, Todd took the ball 6 yards. A pass failed on the 4th down and Graham took the ball on their 27.

Turney ripped off 8 yds. Kimbrell took a lateral for 15 yards. Turney broke through for 6 and Kimbrell added 9, placing the ball on the Crowell 35. Goodspeed for Turney. Graham. Goodspeed made 6. Dunagan for Middlebrook, Crowell. Kimbrell made 2 and then broke loose around right end for 27 yards and a touchdown. Stevens for Goodspeed. Stevens' place kick for the extra point was wide and the score was 6 to 0.

Horn returned Kimbrell's kick-off 15 yards to the 30 as the quarter ended. Graham 6, Crowell 0.

Dunagan's pass to Todd failed. Todd punted out on the 20. Turney gained 2. Kimbrell took a lateral for 11 yards. Parsley gained 1 in 2 tries. After Graham was penalized 5, Kimbrell punted. McKown returned from his 45 to the 48. A pass failed. Graham was penalized 5 for 5, and a 6-yard gain by Todd put the ball on the Graham 42. Gibson made 1. Todd circled end.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the family residence with Rev. O. L. Savage, local Baptist pastor, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine, local Methodist pastor. Pall bearers were A. Y. Beverly and Vernon Pyle. Burial was in the Crowell Cemetery.

Surviving are the child's parents, three brothers, Minary, Herman and Doyle, and one sister, Mrs. Madie Mehar, all of Crowell, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wright of Margaret, grandparents.

The husband of the deceased and two children, R. J. Roberts of Crowell, and Miss Grace Roberts of Bonham, survive.

VERNON WILL BE SCENE OF FINAL GAME THIS YEAR

The final football game of the 1933 season and the one that will determine whether the Crowell Wildcats or the Rockwall Jackets will achieve the highest honor that can come to a Class B football team in Texas, will be played at Vernon Friday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock.

The winner of this game will become the champion of Region No. 3 of the Texas Interscholastic League, which consists of Districts 4, 5, 6 and 7, extending from the Lower Panhandle to the Louisiana border in the northern part of Texas.

The Jackets of East Texas have one of the finest Class B records in the State. For the past three years they have been district champions and in 1931 they won the regional championship. For the past five years they have scored an average of 30 points to the game.

While the Wildcats have gone farther this season than at any other time in their football history, they are going into Friday's game with the full intention and expectation of bringing the "Regional Championship" to Crowell. Although this year is the first time that Crowell has won a district or bi-district championship, the Wildcats also have an impressive record in past years. Olney has been the only conference team to beat them in the past two seasons. Crowell has scored an average of nearly 25 points to the game in the past 5 years.

In eleven games played this season the Jackets have suffered but one loss and that to a strong Class A team, Sunset High of Dallas. They have victories over Sulphur Springs, Van, Carrollton, Lancaster, Grand Prairie, Nevada, Plano, Grand Saline and Clarksville.

Last week Rockwall of District 7 beat Clarksville of District 6 by the score of 35 to 0 for the bi-district championship, while Crowell was beating Graham 25 to 6 for the championship of Districts 4 and 5.

In 1931 the Jackets beat Longview in winning the regional championship. Last year Gilmer beat Rockwall in the bi-district game. Seven letter men are back from their squad of last season, most of whom were regulars last season.

While Rockwall has the edge in experienced material the two teams are almost exactly evenly matched in weight. Rockwall's average of 154 being one pound heavier than the Crowell average.

Coach J. A. Wilkerson and his Jackets will arrive in Vernon Thursday and work out there that afternoon. The following day the Rockwall pep squad and a large number of Rockwall fans will be present to back their team.

Site Selected

The agreement to play in Vernon was reached Sunday afternoon in conference of officials of the two schools at Mineral Wells. Crowell's bid on a home-game basis was the highest and in order to conveniently handle the large crowd that is expected and to also make it possible for a large number of local fans to see the grid classic, the request that the game be played in Vernon was accepted by Rockwall.

Vernon organizations and individuals are co-operating in a splendid manner and are extending every effort to insure a good crowd at the game.

Officials for the game will be three Denton men: Chock Sportsman, referee; Fred Cobb, umpire, and L. G. Williams, head linesman. Sportsman and Williams officiated in the Olney game here in 1931 and the Chillicothe game here last year. They have also officiated in out-of-town games for Crowell. Sportsman was the referee in the recent Seymour game.

PEP RALLY

Anybody who wishes to help Crowell beat Rockwall tomorrow afternoon will have an opportunity to do just this by attending the big pep rally in the high school auditorium tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock.

The high school band, pep squad, members of the football team and visitors from Vernon will be present at that time. A good pep rally can do much to give the Wildcats that which will send them into this final and biggest game of the year with a fighting spirit that may help them to victory.

Come on, let's go! This is going to be a dandy pep rally. You will enjoy it and at the same time your presence will help.

WHISPERING ROCK

Teenth Installment

SPSIS: Ruth Warren, born and in an Eastern city, is willed fourth interest in the Dead ranch in Arizona. With her husband, who is in poor health, and their small son, David, she came to Arizona to take up her husband's business. Ruth's brother, reported killed in Mexico, had left off. They had a ranch, 85 miles from the Dead Lantern, with the help of Charley Thane, neighboring rancher who also carries the rural mail. At the ranch they find the late husband's partner, Snaveley, and a huge woman, Mrs. Ann, who greet them suspiciously. As they trudge the 5 miles to the ranch gate to the house they see a huge rock in a gulch where the husband caught in a rain after their arrival contracts pneumonia and passes away before aid can be brought. Ruth, with her friends, is at a loss as to how to carry on but is balked at every turn by the crafty and cunning Snaveley. Despite obstacles Ruth gives notes on her interest to purchase cattle, assisted by Old Charley Thane and his son, Will Thane. A Mexican has been hired to assist with the work. A peculiar sickness develops with the livestock. Snaveley, it is "liver fever" . . . and says he has powder for the water to cure disease. Ruth discovers Snaveley's tactics of poisoning her stock, but says nothing, waiting for more evidence. Drought is over and she sinks a well in a ravine, getting water for the perishing stock. The round-up Ruth has enough to sell to meet her notes.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Half an hour the two women on the floor with the dog between them. For a time he seemed rather dead at so much attention and a short sharp bark of inquiry, as if nothing much happened, he scratched at the floor, and turning around lay down with a sigh and presently began to snore. "Sugarfoot, honey," said Ann at last. "Why ain't you dead?"

After the cattle sale Ruth knew Snaveley had misinformed her of the yearly earning power of the ranch. As near as she could estimate the income—even without the cattle—was more than three times the amount he had mentioned. She believed that his lie was an attempt to discourage her, not a plan to make money for himself.

At the cattle buyer had come and check was now in Ruth's hands; she checked over, after Snaveley's name was deducted, nearly a thousand dollars over the amount of her note. Ruth walked on air—small wonder that she was not anxious to say any more words with Snaveley. "Well, what if he had underrated the income? She could meet her note and she had not been forced to sell any of the fine Parker cattle except the calves. She had improved the ranch wonderfully and next year improvement would manifest itself in real money. And with the money from next fall's sale she would have more cattle, pure breeds, the best in the world. She had set herself years to bring the earning of the ranch to a certain comfortable amount. Then she and David would go into town near the schools. . . . She knew that Snaveley would have been considered in these plans, but the future looked so bright, it was a shame to spoil it with thinking of him. In her heart she rather believed that Snaveley would eventually sell to her.

Since the cattle sale something had happened to Snaveley; no longer gave the impression that he was waiting for something. Instead, he had a puzzled, uncertain expression. He avoided Ruth consistently, wherever before he had let it be seen that he avoided her because he could not stand the sight of her, he now gave half-smiling excuses.

The girl had been so happy with the results of the round-up and the party of the fiesta that she paid little attention to him. She had won, nevertheless, whenever he was behind her Ruth had to control a wild impulse to run. On the day after she received the cattle buyer's check, Will Thane came up to the ranch. He brought a marriage license for Alfredo and Snaveley. He had already secured the girl's signature, and now asked the newly married couple to sign, telling them the paper was an agreement with the great American government to live happily together and never quarrel about anything. Alfredo and Snaveley signed it joyfully.

As it was still mid-morning Will did not hurry away. He and Ruth sat on the running board of the roadster and talked. "David and I are going to flax this afternoon and go into town with him. I've some business to attend to and David wants some cream. We're going on a regatta—there's a movie in town, don't they?"

"Two: both terrible. But say, you go in with Dad; he's quit the creamery business."

"No use in it. He started carrying mail by accident, anyway. You know after mother died, he and I went to live in town. We left Juan and Juana on the ranch. I went to school and Dad became sheriff. Well, when I got old enough to go to the university, we went to California. But Dad couldn't stand it there—too cold and too far away from the ranch. So he came home. He used to go into town every week to get a letter from me and first thing he knew he was the mail man. But now that I've come home for good, Dad's quit. The new man made his first trip last week. All of which family history is only to say that if you want to go to town you'd better let me take you." Will stood up.

"Now?" "Sure—unless you'd rather wait. Dad and I are leaving tomorrow for a business trip to the coast—back next week. We'd be glad to take you in with us in the morning, but you might have trouble in getting out again. You'd better come now—we'll see two movies."

"Well, I hadn't planned"—Ruth hesitated—"I suppose we might go this morning—"

A few minutes later when Ruth and David, coming out of the house, started toward the waiting machine, Snaveley stepped out from the porch and asked, "You-all goin' for a ride?"

"Why, yes, Mr. Thane is taking David and me into town. I shall deposit the check and pay off my note."

"Well, now, I don't know as I'd be in any hurry, Mrs. Warren—your note ain't due for a week, is it? An' it's poor business handin' people money—you don't know what that broker might do—he might claim you never give him th' money. Why don't you jest put our money in th' bank an' then when the time comes to pay him mail him a check. I—come to think of it, I'll be goin' in town pretty soon—I'd be glad to—"

Snaveley stepped out from the porch and asked: "You-all goin' for a ride?"

"No, thank you," smiled Ruth. "I'm sure it will be safe for me to pay the money to Mr. Witherpoon. I shall give him a check, not cash, and he will have to give me a receipt also. When I have opened the account, I can then write you a check for your share. Or, if you'd rather give me a letter to the bank, I can put the cattle buyer's check in the ranch account."

Snaveley hesitated uncertainly. "Well, now—" He paused. "Which shall I do?" asked Ruth. "Shall I put the check in the ranch account, or do you want me to open my own account with it and pay off my note and give you a check for your share of the sale?"

"Well, why don't you wait until I go in—"

"Because I want to pay off that note myself."

Snaveley did not reply for nearly a minute. "All right," he said suddenly, "you can do like you want. But don't put the money in the partnership account. Put it in your name and give me my share. You can bring it out with you when you come back. Bring it in cash—I don't want no check."

He turned and left her. On the way in, the three in the roadster chatted ceaselessly. Once Ruth asked, "Tell me—what was the trouble that day at the barbecue?"

"Oh, the fellow in the blue sash? He was just drunk. I didn't inquire much about the argument. Alfredo said that he was saying unpleasant things about the ranch—claimed he wanted to see Snaveley."

"But why?" "A crazy drunken notion. He told Alfredo that he could make Snaveley come down and walk on his hands and knees with a saddle on his back—thought it would amuse the crowd."

tude. She asked Will about banks, and he recommended all three of them. Then she remarked in a matter-of-fact way that she wondered if he knew of a good attorney. Will pointed to an office building across the street. "A man named Martin has an office there; you can't go wrong on him. Would you like me to introduce you?"

Ruth hesitated. "No, don't bother—I just want to ask him a trivial question or two."

Ruth left Will and David as soon as Will had parked the car. She would attend to her business and meet them an hour later. At the nearest bank she opened a checking account with the cattle buyer's check as a deposit, and drew Snaveley's share in cash. Then she found the ground floor office of Mr. Witherpoon. From the signs on the window, Mr. Witherpoon was a notary, a broker, and an insurance agent; he also made loans, conducted real estate operations, and was incorporated.

"Mr. Witherpoon?" asked Ruth of the man who sat before a flat-topped desk in the single room to which the street opened.

"Yep." Mr. Witherpoon swung around. He was fat and had been a blond in younger days.

"I am Ruth Warren. You have a note which I gave Mr. Parker of the Tringle T Ranch. It falls due November first."

"Yes—?" "I want to pay it off now."

"Oh, certainly, Mrs. Warren." Mr. Witherpoon arose and seated her in a chair near the desk. Stepping to the open safe he drew out a large record book, dumped it on his desk and sought for a certain page. "Here we are—let's see—nothing paid down—no extensions—everything clean and neat. I guess all I need is your check, Mrs. Warren. Make it out to me—J. H. Witherpoon, Incorporated. I'll give you a receipt."

Ruth filled out the second check in her new book for a considerable part of the money she had put in the bank thirty minutes before. It seemed too bad. "Is that all that's necessary?"

"That's all," smiled Mr. Witherpoon. "Very easy to get rid of money." Ruth rose to her feet, bade good morning to the broker and went in search of the attorney Will had recommended. She thrilled expectantly; at last she was going to see just where she stood with Snaveley. She had a feeling that she would learn much to her advantage. Mr. Martin, the lawyer, was an oldish man, quite scholarly in appearance, with gray eyes and a very straight mouth. Ruth prefaced her remarks by stating that she did not care to tell who she was—that she simply wanted some legal advice. Briefly, she told how she had come to be on the ranch. Just what were her rights and relations with her brother's former partner?

After looking at her incredulously for a moment, Mr. Martin sighed. "My dear young lady, you have acted most unwisely and with no discernible judgment. To begin with, you have not one iota of right to be on the property." "I haven't?" "You have not. You have three-quarters' interest in the property if the will is found to be regular. The entire ranch is in sole legal possession of the man who was your brother's partner. You have no right there at all. The surviving partner of a partnership has entire control of the partnership property. If you have made any money during your occupation of the property, I am not sure but you are liable to prosecution."

"But do you mean I'm not a partner?"

THE HITCH HIKERS

After about four years of operation of the Maine law against hitch hiking it is declared effective and beneficial by the chief of the state's highway police, although not a single prosecution has been necessary.

The law forbids any person on a public highway to "endeavor by words, gestures or otherwise to beg or secure transportation in any motor vehicle not engaged in carrying passengers for hire, unless said person knows the driver thereof or any passenger therein." An exception is made in case of sickness or of an emergency nature. Maximum punishment for a violation of the law is a $50 fine and 30 days in jail.

Hitch hikers are a nuisance to motorists, and many cases are on record in which persons soliciting a lift have robbed and even murdered those who thus befriended them. On the other hand, most kindly disposed persons would willingly give an honest pedestrian a ride if there were any way to distinguish him from the other kind.

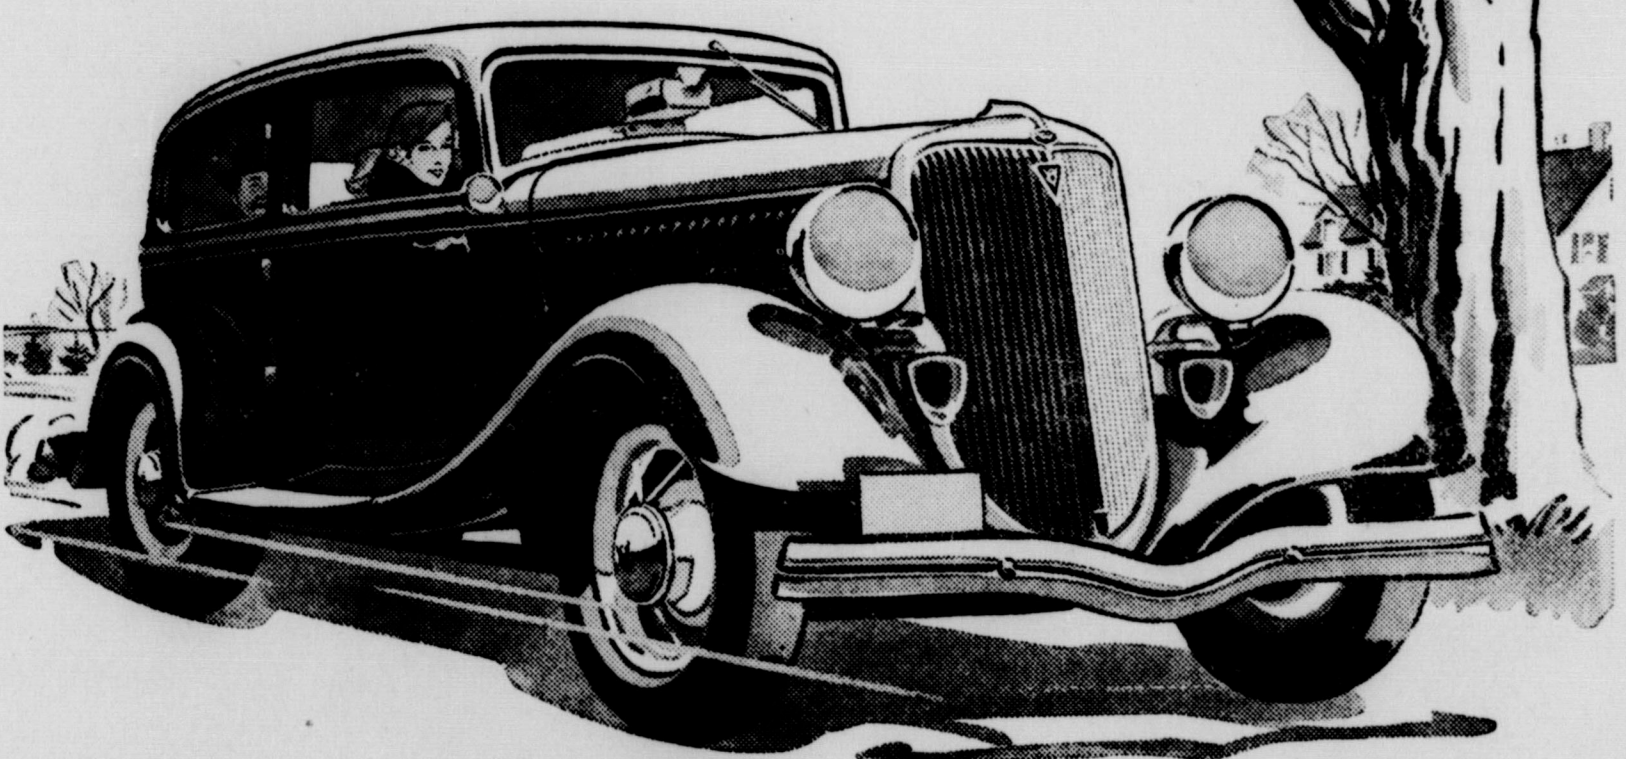

In this matter, as in so many others, a vicious minority seems to make necessary a law which imposes a hardship on those who have no wrong intentions. Law or no law, it is safer not to pick up the unknown hitch hiker.

NEW FORD V-8 for 1934

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The New Ford V-8 for 1934 is now on display at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Surpassing even the great Ford of 1933 in economy, beauty and comfort, it is truly the car of this modern age—the culmination of thirty years Ford progress. It combines the proved performance of the V-8 cylinder engine with two important new features—Dual Carburetion and perfected Clear-vision Ventilation. See this car today and drive it at the first opportunity.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW FORD V.8

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new dual carburetor and dual intake manifold. New water-line thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. Then the handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot. Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm-weather driving.

DISTINCTIVE NEW APPEARANCE enhanced by the newly designed chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new hood louvers, new hub caps. Interiors are attractive, with new tufted upholstery, new mouldings, new cove-type headlining, new instrument panel, new arm rests, new hardware. Swivel-type sun visors in De Luxe bodies prevent glare from front or side.

all bodies and fenders has greater wearing quality and more enduring luster.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT results from increased spring flexibility. The spring leaves are newly designed for quieter and easier action. Shock absorbers are improved. Seat cushions are deeper, with new, softer springs. New type, individual bucket seats provide increased comfort for front-seat passengers in the Tudor Sedan. Adding to comfort is the new driving ease of the 15-to-1 steering gear ratio.

Listed below are statements of the allotments which have been determined for members of the Foard County Wheat Production Control Association.

These allotments are to hold for the duration of the present wheat contracts, and they are the basis upon which adjustment payments are to be made. They have been determined by the County Allotment Committee after careful consideration of the application statements. Every effort has been made to have these allotments as accurate as possible. The maximum acreage which may be sown to wheat for the 1934 crop on each farm, under the reduction requirements of the contract, is also listed.

The Foard County allotment, which has been calculated from records of the United States Department of Agriculture, is 195,048 bushels. This is the total number of bushels allotted to the county under the wheat plan. The total of the individual allotments, including those allotments which could have been assigned to farms which are not participating under the wheat program, must be in line with the county allotment figure. The number of nonparticipating wheat farmers in the county is 144; the average total wheat acreage for those nonparticipating farms during the base period is 12,414 acres; the total average wheat production on these nonparticipating farms during the base period is 164,600 bushels.

With The Home Demonstration Agent

Large Food Supply
"I'll give some of this away. We never could eat all of this," says Mrs. S. B. Middlebrook, pantry demonstrator for the Margaret Home Demonstration Club. She has a total of 913 pints or enough to last her family of two for six months if she opened and used it at the rate of five cans each day. In addition to that for her own family Mrs. Middlebrook has given away 96 cans and has helped five other women with their canning. This food does not include the meat supply which is to be obtained from four hogs killed and preserved at a demonstration at their home on Wednesday. Nor does it include chickens, eggs, pumpkins and dried beans and peas, and five gallons of cucumbers in cure which have not yet been made into pickles.

Quick Dinners
Dinners that can be prepared after one returns from church or in a short while after the family wash is out. Such were the menus planned and arranged by the Foard City Home Demonstration Club at their Achievement Day program. Seven tables were arranged, on each a menu for the day. The jars and cans of foods necessary for the preparation of the meal were taken from the pantry shelves and arranged on the tables. The menu planned for Monday was:

- Squash Sausage Green Beans
- Hominy Chow Chow
- Bread Blackberries
- Buttermilk
- Ham English Peas
- Catsup Beet Pickles
- Sweet Potatoes English Peas
- Turnips Beet Pickles
- Cherries and Milk
- Fried Chicken
- Creamed Potatoes
- Peas Greens
- Hot Rolls Butter
- Sweet Milk

were among those planned. In addition to these menu tables, the club had shelves on one side of the room attractively arranged with a large variety of fruits, vegetables, meats, and other vegetables.

"THE PRICE OF A GOOD JOB"

Bruce Barton, famous business man writer and philosopher, once wrote a little essay called "The Price of a Good Job." He said he had watched a new elevator boy being broken in, in the office building where he worked, one morning. At noon the elevator boy was running the car alone. And then on a street car he had watched a motorman breaking in a new man. An old man teaching a young man. Next day, the young man was running the car alone.

And he wondered, as he watched them, what thoughts might be in the minds of those youngsters, starting in jobs that might well rob them of their youth and their lives. Could they look ahead? Could they see the time when they would be old—turning their work over in turn to young men again?

No job that can be learned in a few hours is a good job. The price of a good job is TRAINING and PREPARATION. When a young boy or girl leaves high school and goes to work somewhere, without training, it is much the same as the case of the elevator boy or motorman. They cannot attain any great success because they have not laid the essential foundation. Of course, not all boys and girls can afford professional or university training. But most of them can afford the practical business training that is so well provided by our responsible business colleges.

At Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration at Tyler, Texas, a young man or woman can secure business training that will put him actually years ahead of his untrained fellows. It takes weeks and months of earnest work, but it is the most profitable work a young man or woman can do. Write for their catalog. It fully explains the courses taught in this well known business training school.

CHRISTMAS DAY

Although the birth of Christ is the event which is supposed to be celebrated on Christmas, we are more and more inclined, as a recent writer suggests, to celebrate Santa Claus on December 25. Certainly in the minds of most persons the giving and receiving of gifts holds a larger place than the holy event which the day commemorates.

Christmas customs and symbolism are drawn from many sources, some of them of pagan origin. The date, December 25, approximates that of certain ancient festivals which were observed long before the Christian Era, such as the Roman Saturnalia, the Scandinavian Yule, the winter festival of the heathen Britons, and later, the Roman festival of the sun-god Mithra. This date was not incorporated in the Christian calendar until about the fourth or fifth century.

The Christmas tree is believed to have been derived from the Egyptian use of a palm branch of 12 shoots to signify the completed year, but its present significance is thought to have originated in Germany. The use of evergreen decorations, particularly mistletoe, has been observed since the time of the pagan Druids in Britain.

The sending of Christmas gifts may be traced back to ancient Rome. This custom is by no means universal, however, and is unknown in the Holy Land and among Asiatic Christians generally. Children of the Orient have no Santa Claus.

CARE OF THE EYES

Many persons become blind, or go through life with impaired vision, because of neglect of the most ordinary precautions, according to Dr. Steel-smith of Iowa, who gives some good advice in a recent article.

He declares that the putting of a drop or two of silver solution into the eyes of an infant at birth is a most important matter, as five or six different kinds of germs which may cause partial or complete blindness are liable to gain access to the infant's eyes at that time.

It is also important to keep sharp or pointed instruments, such as scissors, pencils and dangerously shaped toys away from very young children, and any foreign body which happens to get into the eyes should be given immediate attention. No inflammation of the eyes, however slight, should be neglected.

With respect to cross-eyes, Dr. Steel-smith advises that steps be taken to correct this condition very early, and he declares that a child no more than a year old may be taught to wear glasses for straightening the squint, which will in most cases effect a permanent correction. He warns against the use of ten-cent store glasses or any glasses not prescribed after expert examination of the eyes.

Reading in a poor light or in a bad position strains the eyes unduly, while glare is also harmful and should be avoided as much as possible.

Considering what a handicap poor eyesight places upon the individual, it is really strange that the simple precautions recommended by health authorities are so frequently neglected.

PECULIAR ACCIDENTS

Some most interesting facts concerning freakish accidents are related in Popular Science Monthly, illustrating Voltaire's saying that "it is the danger least expected that soonest comes to us." Among others he relates the following:

P. Wiggins, Kansas aviator, was bitten by a rattlesnake that had somehow gotten into his plane, while flying at an altitude of about a mile, but landed and obtained treatment in time to save his life.

Caesar Beltram of Lyons, France, was struck by lightning five times during his lifetime, yet finally died of pneumonia.

Some years ago General Castillano, a Nicaraguan revolutionist, was struck by a falling meteor while sitting in his tent one night and was killed. His superstitious soldiers believed that the Almighty had thus shown disapproval of their cause, so they abandoned the revolution.

Mathematicians have figured that an American will be struck by a meteor about once every 9,300 years on an average. They will also calculate that a person living to the age of 70 has one chance in 7,000 of being struck by lightning.

About 1,000 persons are injured in bathtubs to every one hurt in railroad accidents. About 30,000 Americans are killed every year by accidents occurring in and about their homes, about as many as are killed by automobiles.

Most ironical of the accidents enumerated by our writer was that in which a man was painfully injured by the falling of a horseshoe he had nailed over his door for luck.

THE BOOK

... the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible," and which contains Four Great Treasures ...

by BRUCE BARTON

THE DIVISION

The first line reads, "The Holy Bible." Since the word biblia in Latin is plural and means library, we know at once that we have here not a single book but a collection of several books.

The second line, "Containing the Old and New Testaments," means obviously that there are two main divisions and that the distinguishing feature is a difference in age, one group of books being more recent than the other.

The third line says, "Translated out of the original tongues," indicating that the Bible was originally published not in English but in more than one other language.

"And with the former translations diligently compared and revised," shows that this translation, which was made under the authority of King James I in 1611, is the successor to several earlier translations.

Turning over the pages we discover that the text is divided into numbered chapters and verses, which seems rather an unusual way to present a book until we learn that these divisions were not made by the original writers but were inserted in 1551 by Mr. Robert Stephens, a pious printer, who believed that more people would read the Bible if he made it easier to read. Several earlier attempts had been made to divide the books into chapters and verses, all of them unsatisfactory.

A single glance is enough to indicate that the Old Testament is much larger than the New—and here is an easy way to remember how many books in each. The key number is three, which multiplied by itself gives nine. The Old Testament has thirty-nine books. Again multiply three by nine and you have twenty-seven, the number of the books in the New Testament.

Caesar, you remember, divided all Gaul into three parts. Similarly scholars divide the Old Testament into three divisions—the historic books, beginning with Genesis and ending with Esther; the poetic books, beginning with Job and ending with the Song of Songs; and the remainder, which consists of sermons, or, as they are more commonly called, books of prophecy.

Of the historic books the first five have a certain unity which has long caused them to be regarded as one. They are called the Pentateuch, meaning the five-in-one book, and there is a tradition that Moses wrote them all. Whether he did or not we can leave to scholars to dispute. These are the five:

- Genesis—the book of beginnings.
Exodus—the book of going out.
Leviticus—the book for the priests.
Numbers—a sort of amplified census report.
Deuteronomy—a Greek name meaning "second law," or review and digest of the laws.

The items below were taken in whole or in part from the issues of The Foard County News of Dec. 4-11, 1908.

Onward Crowell

It is doubtful if there is a town in the State enjoying a more rapid and healthy growth than Crowell today. The advent of the railroad is swelling the business of the town even beyond the expectations of the most visionary.

The business portion of town is just beginning to assume city likeness in the way of modern structures. It is estimated that within 5 more years Crowell's population will be 10,000, a very conservative estimate.

R. B. Edwards has greatly improved the appearance of his residence this week by having it enclosed by a fancy steel aluminum finish yard fence.

W. L. Ricks moved the building east of Switzer Lumber Co. this week to the west side of the Crowell Hardware & Gro. Co. It will be used by the Crowell Real Estate Co. for an office.

Bridge Completed

The completion of the Pease River bridge Saturday, Dec. 5, brought the construction of the Orient railway between Wichita, Kansas, and Sweetwater, a line of more than 400 miles, to a close. The long-hoped for road is now a reality and although train service has not yet been established from the North to Sweetwater, it is a question of only a few days until that will be done.

Clarence Ousley, editor of the Ft. Worth Record, is in Georgia studying state-wide prohibition and will begin a series of articles on this subject soon.

New Margaret is getting to look like a town.

Grover Crowell arrived Saturday from Wheelock, Okla. He noticed the marked improvements in the town since he last saw it more than a year ago.

RUNNING INTO TRAINS

Don Quixote's tilting at windmills was hardly less foolish and much less disastrous than the habit of present day motorists who assault railroad trains.

Figures covering accidents at railroad crossings during a period of six months show that in 27 per cent of the cases the automobiles ran into trains, instead of trains running into the automobiles.

One railroad company reports that in a single year 500 of its crossing gates lowered to protect the public were run into and smashed by motorists. Another company checked the performance of 3,589 drivers while crossing its tracks. By actual ob-

30 YEARS OF FLYING

December 17 marks the 30th anniversary of the first airplane flight by the Wright brothers at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1903. After long experimenting these aviation pioneers succeeded in getting their plane off the ground by its own power, but the first flight lasted only 12 seconds, during which time it flew 120 feet.

Later in the same day a second flight of 59 seconds was made. These epoch-making flights marked the beginning of man's mastery of the air, fulfilling the age-old ambition which most persons declared could never be realized. In fact, it was only a few days before the Wrights actually accomplished it that a certain Congressman on the floor of the House in opposing an appropriation for experimenting with flying machines asserted that anyone who thought human flight would ever be possible was a fool.

At first progress was rather slow, and for several months only straight flights were made, but on September 15, 1904, Orville Wright made the first turn in the air, and five days later succeeded in flying in a circle. The first time a plane remained in the air as long as half an hour was on October 4, 1905, with a flight lasting 33 minutes. From that time on developments by the Wrights and others were rapid.

Among the other early airplane builders an flier who became famous may be mentioned Curtis, Bleriot, Santos-Dumont, Farman, the Voisin brothers and their associates. Many daring aviators lost their lives through attempting stunts in exhibition flying which were too difficult for the primitive machines employed.

Contemplating the amazing feats of present-day aviators, it is difficult to realize that the flying art is only 30 years old.

It looks as if the unemployed will get jobs, even if Uncle Sam has to hire them all.

Christian Science Churches

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 17.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth; and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind" (Isaiah 65:17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The finite must yield to the infinite. Advancing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from the material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal. All things are created spiritually. Mind, not matter, is the creator. Love, the divine Principle, is the Father and Mother of the universe, including man" (page 256).

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Paul in Rome. Lesson for December 17th. Acts 27, 28.

Golden Text Philippians 3:14. Because of his appeal to Caesar, Paul was sent to Rome. The account of his voyage, as given in our lesson, is very accurate and vivid. There were 277 folk crowded on the little vessel, besides a cargo. A violent storm arose which was too much for the single mast and large sail of the antique craft, so that those aboard were shipwrecked on the island of Malta, and obliged to remain there three months. Although Paul was a prisoner, he was the commanding figure in this crisis, and his bravery, presence of mind, and sagacity made a profound impression upon the centurion and the whole ship's company. Here, as before, he proved his superiority of adverse circumstances, and demonstrated the forcefulness of his personality.

At the opening of navigation in the spring the voyage was continued in another ship without further accident. The Roman Christians, knowing that Paul was coming, sent delegations to meet him at the Forum of Appius, more than 45 miles from the city, and at the Three Taverns, about twelve miles nearer. Their warm welcome naturally cheered him, especially as he was a prisoner in bonds.

During his two years of imprisonment at Rome, the postle was treated with unusual kindness. Although continually chained to a soldier, he was permitted to live in his own hired house and receive friends and visitors. He was further permitted to preach and write. Four of his epistles, Philemon, Colossians, Ephesians, and Philippians were evidently written at this time. All of these are worthy of close study, especially the personal, informal letter to the Philippians, a touching revelation of the passionate warmth of Paul's nature.

Paul's confinement ended with his conviction as an insurrectionist, and his execution about the year 58. According to tradition he was beheaded outside the city walls. So ended the life of the greatest of the apostles, the mightiest missionary of the age, who did more than any other to extend the domain of Christ.

I really know what it's all about. Sixteen years ago I wrote my first policy. This week I paid a widow $3,500. The policy was written in 1917. The policy holder had not only used the policy as collateral many times, but it finally provided cash money for a widow and children at a time when it is the hardest to raise.

Try the plan—you will be happier and enjoy more peace of mind if you have plenty of life insurance.

WARNING to EXPECTANT MOTHERS

If you have ever been a patient in any hospital, you are probably familiar with the advantages of a liquid laxative.

All doctors know the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have now learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without discomfort at the time, or after. Dr. Caldwell's long experience with mothers and babies, and his remarkable record of nearly three thousand births without the loss of one mother or child, should give anybody complete confidence in any prescription which he wrote! But most important of all, a gentle liquid laxative does not cause bowel strain to the most delicate system, and this is of the utmost importance to expectant mothers and to every child.

Expectant mothers are urged to try gentle regulation of bowels with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a delightful tasting laxative of delightful action, made of fresh herbs, pure pepsin and active senna. Not a single mineral drug to be absorbed by the system, or irritate the kidneys.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved preparation and kept ready for use by all druggists.

Wichita Sidelights

In view of the many interesting things that took place at Wichita Falls in connection with the Crowell-Graham bi-district game, we are inclined to review some of the sidelights of this event.

H. L. McGregor of Wichita Falls, who spent several months here as a bank trustee, was active in showing his loyalty to Crowell by pinning black and gold ribbons on all local people entering football headquarters at the Holt Hotel.

The courtesies extended on all hands by Wichita Falls certainly were appreciated by the large number of visitors.

That Coyote Stadium and its site, which is already regarded as the most beautiful high school plant of its kind in Texas, is due for still greater improvement and by next year it should be one of the scenic spots of Northwest Texas.

The entire game was broadcast direct from the field over radio station KGKO and furnished thousands the opportunity of hearing the game who could not attend it. Many Graham fans listening in accused the announcer of favoring Crowell while equally as many Crowell fans that heard the game were of the opinion that he favored Graham. Crews Cooper, Crowell spotter for the announcer, and Typo, who sat nearby, saw the game as it was announced and are of the opinion that the announcer was equally fair to both sides. A truthful broadcast of that first half, especially, couldn't help but hurt Crowell fans.

A staff photographer from the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram was on hand to catch action pictures. Two dandy 4-column pictures of this game appeared on the front page of the sport section in Sunday's Star-Telegram.

"I told you we could do it," yelled Frank Dunn, father of the Wildcat captain, after Todd's 50-yard run that tied the score. Two other Wildcat daddies, M. M. Horn and Charlie Gafford, were also present along with Mr. Dunn and their combined vocal power almost made up for the absence of Charlie Thompson.

Rockwall-Crowell

"I have never seen Vernon grab up a proposition and work on it with more enthusiasm than it is doing on the Crowell-Rockwall game," stated W. D. Dixon, Vernon newspaper man while in Crowell Wednesday. From all indications Vernon is extending every effort to insure the success of the game, the same as Wichita Falls did for Crowell and Graham last week.

First and Last

Crowell fans—this is your first opportunity to see the Wildcats in action in a game for the regional championship and your last opportunity to see them in action this season. It's too big an event to miss—so be there and help the home town win.

After looking at a Texas map, we almost wonder if the Jackets' football field does not take up a large part of Rockwall County, the smallest county in the largest state.

Did You Know That—

At this time one year ago, Crowell

High had already played five basketball games?

Crowell has played 50 football games in the past 5 years, winning 40, losing 8 and tying 2?

In the same period of time the Wildcats have played 142 basketball games, winning 127 and losing 15?

The Olney and Seymour football teams, as well as other District 2 players, were present and were backing the Wildcats 100 per cent?
