CROWELL, FOARD COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1911

Columbian Club
The Columbian Club met Wednesday, Jan. 25th, Mrs. J. Frank Potts, hostess and Mrs. T. L. Hughton, leader.

As Mrs. Potts is such a charming hostess and Mrs. Hughton a splendid leader, this meeting proved to be a very interesting one.

The lesson was on the music, art and modern literature of Spain and was very instructive. Mrs. Joe Beverly read "A devotional poem of Spain" which was greatly enjoyed by all.

The Club talk being on "False economies" was quite interesting and I am sure we will all profit by the experiences related. The hostess served ham sandwiches, olives, potato chips and coffee, ambrosia with whipped cream and wafers, after which the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. E. W. Muse at the next regular meeting.

Mrs. Hines Clark was an appreciated visitor.

WILL ESTABLISH BUSINESS SCHOOL

CROWELL IS DECIDED UPON AS GOOD LOCATION—MEN HERE LOOKING OVER THE FIELD

Messrs J. R. Brown and B. D. Merritt of Oklahoma are here working up a business school for this place and have met with encouragement sufficient to warrant the establishment of such an institution. These gentlemen have chosen Crowell because they believe it to be a splendid location for a permanent school of that character.

It is hardly necessary to emphasize the value of a good business school to this community. People generally are agreed that business training is not an ornamental but an essential part of an education today and no young man of ordinary talent can afford to go out into life without it.

It is proposed that a thorough course shall be given in business right here at home, and we should not be the case.

For the present the upper story of the J. K. Quinn store building will be used for the place of instruction.

The News extends these gentlemen a hearty welcome, as we believe all our citizens will do, in their efforts to establish this institution in our midst.

Magazines and Periodicals
The American Woman's League has appointed Mrs. Freedman agent for Crowell and Foard County to obtain subscriptions to any and all magazines and periodicals and also for the Woman's National Daily. Located in Dr. Freedman's office in the State Bank Building.—Mrs. A. H. Freedman.

Runaway Accident

While driving home one day this week, E. W. Carter got hurt in a runaway accident. The horse which he was driving became frightened and ran against a telephone pole, throwing Mr. Carter out. He was rendered unconscious for some time by the injuries sustained, but is reported to be doing well as could be expected at this time. The accident was not a serious one, and he will resume his business within a few days. Mrs. Carter was also in the buggy but her injuries were only slight.

Increasing Polls

The number of polls paid in Foard county the first of February, 1911, was $59 against 667 at the same time last year. This is a gain of nearly 29 per cent in paid polls for the year, which is indeed a splendid showing. It is some indication of the increase in population as well as prosperity and pride of citizenship. It means that very few of our citizens are disinterested in the matter of government to such degree as to allow themselves to be deprived of the right to vote. A man's right of suffrage is the most effective weapon at his command for use in the protection of his civil rights, and he should never allow it to get beyond his reach.

Unity or Union, Which?

Rev. G. G. Hamilton spoke to a large audience Sunday morning at the First State Bank on the Methodist subject of the above caption. He differentiated clearly between "Unity" and "Union," making it plain that without union there could be unity, and that under such condition there is the possibility of great achievements in any line of work, while without unity, although there might be union, the opposite is true. The application was made to the churches. The thought was that while the various Christian churches could not unite upon creed or doctrine, they could unite upon the essentials and work together for the common aim. In its application to the individual, the need of the sacrifice of selfish and personal preferences was emphasized.

The sermons were full of good thought throughout and no one who is really striving for a better life could have listened to them without having been greatly benefited thereby.

FOARD CO. CATTLE BRINGS GOOD PRICE

J. W. BELL SHIPS 90 HEAD TO KANSAS CITY MARKET REALIZING FANCY PRICE

J. W. Bell returned Friday from Kansas City where he had just sold a shipment of cattle. The bunch consisted of two and three-year olds, 90 in all, averaging over 1200 pounds and bringing five and a half cents per pound. The steers averaged more than $66 each. After deducting the cost of feeding, which Mr. Bell says amounted to about $17, and the freight to Kansas City, he has a nice profit of about $4,500.

The cattle industry, as one can see, is not a thing of the past in West Texas, but is still a paying proposition where there is sufficient pasture and where the cattle are given attention.

Mr. Bell keeps on hand a nice bunch of cattle growing and getting ready for the market.

Export Trade Waning

The latest government report upon the foreign trade lends weight to the assertion of many economists that we shall soon cease to become an exporting nation. The exports of 1910 had a total value of $1,864,411,270, made up of $580,456,513 worth of raw cotton, $35,704, 078 of breadstuffs, $107,932,357 of meat and dairy products, $85,571,319 of mineral oils, $80,000,000 of copper, $40,000,000 of coal and $55,000,000 of lumber.

In ten years the gain in exports has been about 65 per cent, contrasting with a gain of 90 per cent in imports. While the inward and outward commerce of 1910 exceeded that of 1907 by $80,000,000 the exports of last year were $57,000,000 less than in 1907, making an increase of imports over the year 1907 of $140,000,000. A significant point in the report is that which shows a vast increase in the importation of such raw materials as copper, chemicals and rubber. Of copper and chemicals one might think that this country could meet all its needs from her own mines and factories.

Study of the "Monthly Summary of Commerce and Finance" carried up to Dec. 1 last, shows increases in importations over 1908 and 1909 of cattle and horses, sheep, poultry and other farm animals, breadstuffs, raw cotton, meat and dairy products and seeds. These increases in imports have been made in spite of the record breaking crops of the last two years and a great gain in the value of American farm products, with an attendant incentive to putting more acreage under cultivation. The country at this rate, will be absorbing all its products in a few years besides leaning upon the production of other countries.—Toledo Blade.

Success Sulky Plow

The Famous Sulky Plow

A Frameless Plow that Will Last a Lifetime

Simple Strong Light Draft Easy Running The Best in Every Way

This famous Sulky Plow has been the leading riding plow for nearly 15 years. No other plow made approaches it for simplicity. It has only two levers (one with a double adjustment) but it is just as flexible, and has all the advantages of plows requiring three and four levers.

No one ever made a mistake in buying the Success. It has every other plow on earth beaten for strength. The manufacturer has so much confidence in it that they back it up with an unequalled guarantee. You can't buy a better plow—they don't make them any better than the Success.

CANTON PLOWS CANTON PLOWS CANTON PLOWS CANTON PLOWS

works automatically, allowing the plow to be turned right or left without the use of lever. A feature that no other sulky plow has.

And another most important feature that this plow has is the wide adjustable clevis which makes it easy for three horses to walk on the land while the other horse walks in the furrow. The front axle on a sulky plow is the first thing that wears out except the share. On account of being detachable the Success axle costs only 60c, while other makes cost from $2.00 to $2.50. The cost for repairs are very small on this plow. This plow is equipped with three horse evener, 16-inch rolling coulter and one extra case hardened soft center steel share. There are other plows that sell for less money but they are not in a class with the Success when QUALITY, EFFICIENCY and DURABILITY are considered.

Commissioner

DO YOU know how the bank examiner goes about it to examine this bank? He just walks in here some morning bright and early, and the first we know of his presence is his remark, "I guess I'll count your cash." Next he goes over all the books of the bank, examines and counts the notes and securities, adds the depositor's ledger—in fact scrutinizes every record in the bank. Then he usually calls the cashier aside and informs him that the books show Samuel Smith's account overdrawn $25.00, puncturing the statement with "What did you let him do it for?" But—say, when he gets through you can wager that if there is the slightest hitch in the accounts or methods of this bank we hear from the bank commissioner. We have always been complimented by the bank examiner. This is a splendid place to do your banking business.

The HOME CIRCLE Column

A man builds a bridge and he is a great man. A man puts up a cathedral and he is a great man. But he who gives a man an idea which changes his life for good is the greatest man.

TRUTHS

The post of honor is the post of duty.

Let nothing be undone which ought to be done.

Small profits, little risk; large profits, great risks.

The best kind of picnic is a pick at Old Nick.

Something wrong when a man is afraid of himself.

Honesty is better capital than a sharper's cunning.

Whose credit is suspected is not safe to be trusted.

A true man never frets about his place in this world.

Employ no one to do what you can easily do yourself.

Better to die at the post of duty than to live elsewhere.

BITS OF WISDOM

There is no secret success but work.

The mind of a good man is a kingdom to him and he can always enjoy it.

Many run after felicity like a man hunting for his hat; while it is on his head.

Take pleasure in your work. A task which appears distasteful at first sight soon becomes pleasure.

Endurance is more valuable than cleverness. It is patient, steady plodders who gain and keep fortunes.

When benign and goodness reign within we are in least danger from without; every person and every occurrence is beheld in the most favorable light.

A graceful behavior toward others is a constant source of pleasure; it pleases others because it indicates respect for their personality, and it gives tenfold more pleasure to ourselves.

DEAD FAILURES

The reason we have so many dead failures is that parents decide for children what they shall do, or children themselves, wrought on by some whim or fancy, decide for themselves. So we have now in pulpits men making sermons who ought to be in blacksmith shops make plowshares, and we have in the law those who instead of ruining the cases of their clients ought to be pounding shoe lasts, and doctors who are the worst hindrances to their patients' convalescence, and artists trying to landscape who ought to be whitewashing board fences. While there are others making bricks who ought to be remodeling constitutions, or showing pianos who ought to be inventing literature.

There are children who early develop natural affinities for certain styles of work. When the father of the astronomer Forbes was going to London he asked his children what present he should bring each one of them. The boy who was to be an astronomer cried out, "Bring me a telescope!" And there are children whom you find all by themselves drawing on their slates or paper, ships or houses or birds, and you know they are to be draftsman or artists of some kind. And you find others ciphering out difficult problems with rare interest and success, and you know they are to be mathematicians. And others making wheels and strange contrivances, and you know they are going to be machinists. And others are found experimenting with hoe and plow and sickle and you know they will be farmers. And others are always swapping jack-knives or balls or bats and making something by the bargain and are going to be merchants.

FIGS AND THISTLES

The eagle does not sing, but it soars.

No man who thinks wrong can live right.

Love will win where gun powder will fail.

The fig tree does not bloom but it bears fruit.

Infidelity cannot point to any fulfilled prophecies.

God's hardest work is to reveal Himself to the sinner.

There is no deed more heroic than to say "no" to yourself.

God will go where the humblest child is not welcome.

The first prayer was made by the man who had the first need.

A holy life is the best answer that can be made to mildity.

People are not vain except when they have no knowledge.

There is nothing for which the heart yearns more than sympathy.

The man who turns his back on God turns his back on his own good.

The devil always keeps the hinges of the gate of death well greased.

There are no free passes given on any of the roads that lead to the pit.

The serpent can not fly, but he knows enough to catch birds that can.

The more people need friends the more they will appreciate kindness.

You can not pray for yourself and leave the people you don't like out.

No man ever really prays for anything that he is not willing to die for.

Religion is not something you can take home and keep for your own use.

Many men tie their horses carefully, but let their tongues run loose.

The first mile on the road to hell looks as though it led straight to Heaven.

The man who lives to please himself will find that he has a hard master.

This life will mean more when we realize that it is the pathway to the next.

There'll Be No Kickers There

We hope to go to the realms above when we lie down to die, we hope the choir all clad in white will greet our wandering eye; we know that we will be filled with joy in regions free from care; for angels tell us in our sleep there are no kickers there. Though ruffled be the Jasper pave, no soul shall more complain, though sunlight shine the ages through, crowns be half a size too small, seraphs tear their hair; and all is for above, because there are no kickers there. Their music may be out of tune, no one will hold their cars; the robes may not be tailor-made, there'll be no moans and tears; the sandals may be often worn, none ask a better pair for glory to the Lord of Hosts there are no kickers there. And when the heavenly council calls for paving on the street, the man who gets the contract may work onward swift and fleet; no spirit will injunctions bring, nor cranks nor crockers wear, the realms above are free from chumps there are no kickers there. Then take me from this vale of tears where cranks come to the front; where men who never work nor toil still lie and grunt, we long to wear celestial robes and climb the golden stair, for well we know that in those lands there are no kickers there. Selected.

ers. It deals with the parcels post question, only one side of which has been given to the public.

"The people of this country are laboring under the influence of several fallacies in regard to the parcels post question. Only one side has ever been presented to the consuming public, owing to the fact that the mail order publications are interested in getting the local parcels post bill through to build up the mail order houses, as naturally the more the farmers order by mail the more the mail order interests feel justified in spending for advertising in farm papers, and so the system grows by what it feeds on.

"The bill that is now before Congress asks for a local rural parcels post system. That is, the Government is being asked to transport packages of about eleven pounds in weight along the rural routes, but this package must start, if Uncle Sam is going to carry it, at the local rural free delivery station, which, in short, is asking a subsidy to help the retail mail order houses of the country develop at the expense of the small towns.

"There was so much opposition from all parts of the country and from the express companies to the general parcels post bill that its advocates withdrew it and dragged in this "wooden horse of the Greeks," labeling it the "Local Rural Parcels Post." This proposition is supposed to please the farmer because he is supposed to get something for nothing. It is supposed (first) to please the country merchant, because he will be able to deliver his goods out on the rural free delivery routes without a wagon and horses of his own. (Second) It is supposed to please Uncle Sam, because his empty rural free delivery wagons will travel loaded. (Third) It is supposed to be against the express companies, because if Uncle Sam carries the goods they won't get ey will go to the large cities which are not interested in the welfare of the local community, and our whole present system of development will be changed for the worse.

"A great many people overlook the fact that this country already has a general parcels post system, limited to four pounds' The real question is whether that system shall remain as it is, or whether in response to the demand of the mail order houses and the mediums through which they advertise, it shall be radically changed to conform to their ideas."

The health power of Texas mineral waters is becoming recognized throughout the United States and during 1910 more than a million dollars worth of mineral water was shipped from Texas mineral springs and wells to other states, besides large quantities that were consumed at home.

Down in Presidio county valuable deposits of nitrate of soda have recently been discovered and large quantities of this mineral are known to exist on the public school land, but so far the extent of the deposits have never been ascertained. There is wealth under our soil and the minerals when developed will compare favorably with agricultural products.

In the cotton ginning report of the Bureau of Census, Texas is shown as having ginned 2,795,339 bales, or more than twice as much as any other cotton producing state, with the exception of Georgia. Texas has long been considered the home of the fleecy staple, and each year cotton production in this state leads all other states in the South by thousands of bales.

The agricultural interests of the state are the basis of all material prosperity and the occupation of farming is taking higher rank every day. Scientific farming requires brain as well as brawn and the schools and colleges which turn out a good farmer have done as much or more for the country than those whose training is devoted to other professions or occupations.

Texas offers rare opportunities to the truck and fruit grower. There is more land in the state that is suitable for orchards and gardens than there is in either Michigan, Wisconsin or Georgia. The mild climate of the southern part of the state makes it possible to raise all kinds of winter vegetables and Texas is fast taking rank as one of the banner fruit growing states of the American Union.

The output of the factories in the South brings $2,690,000,000 annually, but of this amount Texas factories yield only a small per cent. With every facility for manufacturing and cheap fuel in abundance and an administration that is favorable to the development of the State's resources, the building of factories in Texas is expected to be a prominent feature of the state's development during the next four years.

At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Texas Commercial Secretaries' and Business Men's Association held in Fort Worth recently fourteen new commercial clubs and business men's organizations through out the state became affiliated with the state association. The weekly bulletins issued by the organization, giving names of parties interested in Texas, were voted a permanent feature of the work and much good was declared to result from this character of advertising, to the smaller towns throughout the state.

Five million dollars of Texas money is being spent in California and New England states annually for canned goods which are consumed in this state, while thousands of bushels of peaches, tomatoes and other fruit and vegetables rot in the Texas fields. This is a strong argument for home canneries to utilize the fruit when prices do not seem to justify the shipment. There is always a demand for home canned fruit and vegetables and the Texas farmer who is looking for returns will do well to establish a canning plant in connection with his farm.

The experimental stations throughout the state are responsible largely for the increased production that Texas can boast of this year in almost every line of agriculture. The bill passed by the 31st legislature giving the experimental station board power to locate these stations where and when it deemed advisable, was a good one and as a result of this measure four new stations have been established in different parts of the state. The industrial development of Texas is going forward by leaps and bounds and the experimental stations are one of the most important features of development work.

In the 13th annual report of the Texas Farmer's Congress the A. M. College of Texas is shown as having 838 students on its 1910 enrollment. Throughout the entire country there is an unparalleled activity among all industrial classes which naturally creates a thirst for agricultural education and the training of young men in agricultural pursuits is now considered by the wisest statesmen to be the duty of every state. Our A. & M. College is deserving of better support and it is to be hoped that the present legislature will make adequate appropriations for this institution during the next two years.

So long has the sentiment grown in favor of instruction in agriculture in the public schools of the state during the last few years that a large per cent of our public schools are now conducting agricultural classes in connection with the regular work and great benefits are accruing from this class of instruction. The new state of Oklahoma adopted a provision in its constitution requiring that the elements of horticulture, stock feeding, etc., be taught in the common schools, and while the framers of our constitution did not make this provision, the directors in the various schools throughout the state and especially in the rural districts are providing for this kind of practical instruction.

A "Shower"

About six o'clock Saturday of last week, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts became the scene of a very pleasant surprise when a number of ladies met for the purpose of "showering" Miss Ella Raso, the "bride-to-be."

Those present were Mesdames Cope, Bomar, Frank and Sam Crews, Robert Wells, Herman Allison, Bain, George and Thacker; Misses Thacker, Ragland, McQuatters, Aldredge and Wolford.

After the guests had arrived, Miss Young very artfully managed to have Miss Raso to appear upon the scene. After greetings had been exchanged, Miss Birdie Thacker entered attired as a laundress, and bearing a large laundry basket upon her head which she deposited at the feet of the bride elect.

The laundry proved to be articles of every kind and description, the very things that come in best for an inexperienced housekeeper.

A unique little contest followed in which each guest was expected to make the most possible words from the letters contained in the words Raso and Crowell. Mrs. Robert Wells surpassed the others, getting thirty words.

The hostess then served delicious refreshments consisting of orange delight and cake. After enjoying the evening to the fullest extent, the guests departed wishing Miss Ella an unusual share in married happiness.

Stanley J. Won't Come across

There's an ex-preacher over in Oklahoma named Clark who is now a socialist and agnostic—a harmonious combination. This windy blowhard is the same fellow who wrote the Kumruds of this county that he would "crawl on his belly half way across Texas to meet Hamilton in debate." Recently he had the matter put up to him straight. At first he replied that Hamilton must be "indorsed by one or the other of the old parties and agree to defend one of them," and he to defend one of them," and he further refused "to be drawn into a religious discussion." But Hamilton lammed him so hard with his charges against socialism that the "Big Windy" now pretends that he is willing to defend socialism against Hamilton's charges—provided Hamilton will affirm that "The Methodist church is scriptural in doctrine and practice," which Hamilton will do, provided Clark will make affidavit that he is a Christian and believes the Bible to be the word of God. If he is not a Christian and does not believe and accept the Bible, he is incompetent to discuss scriptural questions.

The fact is that Clark and the whole socialist gang have been bluffing for the last nine or ten months. They are sore over the result of the discussions in Stephens county three years ago and the discussions here last year. Neither Clark or any other socialist will dare to meet G. G. Hamilton on his charge that "Socialism is Atheistic and anti-religious; that it is communistic and, in its tendency, anarchistic; that it is opposed to Marriage and the Home; and that it is the enemy and opponent of the State."

Kumruds, make Clark come across and defend socialism and quit dodging or "forever hereafter hold your peace."

TO TALK ACROSS OCEAN

Transatlantic Communication by Telephone Is Promise of Near Future.

Transatlantic communication by telephone is a promise of the near future. If the new cable just laid between Dover and Cape Gris Nez, to increase the facility of telephonic communication between England and France, performs the wonders expected of it, some of the difficulties to be overcome in talking across, or under, the Atlantic ocean will be removed. We already send the sounds of human speech under the water for tolerably long distances. England talks with France and Belgium. Telephonic communication between our mainland and islands off the coast is in common use, and excites no comment, though our grandfathers would have considered it impossible. The new channel cable has a system of coils which are expected to reduce the distortion of current impulses and make the transmission of speech easier. If the experiment is successful, further improvements in this system are expected, to make an ocean telephone cable a possibility.

It is not conceivable that ocean telephoning will ever be cheap. To talk between Europe and America will likely be an expensive luxury, but there will be occasions when the opportunity to do so will be eagerly seized, no matter what it costs. The ocean telephone, when it comes, will scarcely be a formidable rival of the cable telegraph and the wireless for the transmission of long messages. But it will be still another means of obliterating distance, of overcoming the remoteness of nations, and the consequent lack of mutual understanding which caused many of the international complications of history. Science, working for the improvement of the arts of peace, is doing more to remove the causes of war than the great modern armaments which science has developed can do to make nations hesitate before plunging into war.

CEMENT FROM FURNACE SLAG

Tests on Concrete Blocks Show Good Resistance to Compressive Stresses.

In reply to American inquiries concerning cement from blast-furnace slag, United States Consul General John L. Griffiths of London, who had previously reported upon the matter, furnishes the following statement from a consulting chemist with whom he corresponded:

"From the nature of the process—the use of blast-furnace slag in a perfectly liquid condition—complete combination of the acid and basic oxides, namely, silica, alumina and lime, is insured, and in consequence it might be predicted that the product would be free from any tendency to mechanical unsoundness which often occurs in cements which contain chemical bodies in an unsaturated or loosely combined condition. Direct and repeated tests show this to be the case. I have no instance on record of a single sample which has not proved itself to be absolutely sound. When tested in the usual way by being made into briquettes, both neat and with sand, it has a high and increasing tensile strength. Tests on concrete blocks show similar good resistance to compressive stresses."

A Letter to the Public

TO THE PUBLIC: I have the Hans Hanson Company contracted to play at the Opera House one night, Saturday, February 4.

It is a 4-act comedy drama full of specialties. The company carries an elegant band and orchestra. The band will give a concert in the main part of the city at 3:30 p. m. and another in front of the Opera House at 7:30 p. m. No parade, but just a real band concert with real classic music, and some rag-time and popular music. One of the numbers will be The Hunting Scene, where the band imitates the hunt in the forest. You can hear the birds sing, the hunters' bugle, the cows in the meadow, the hunters, singing, the dogs barking, the shooting of the fox, etc. The whole thing combined will make you feel as though you were out in the woods on a hunting trip. Everybody be sure and hear this elegant open air band concert at 3:30 p. m. They also carry an orchestra that any city might justly envy. I have heard lots of good reports of this company, and positively know that they are O. K. and will give the people the highest kind of a guarantee against a bad show. I will say this much, that if any person is not entirely satisfied that they have received their money's worth after the entire performance, I will personally refund their money at the box office. Hoping that we give them a good house, we remain,

Yours truly,

THE Day of Cheap Cotton is Over

Every month in the year cotton and cotton seed products are finding new markets. There is only a comparatively small portion of the cotton surface that will grow cotton. So the man who invests his money in land that will grow cotton will never see the time when his investment will depreciate in value. Mining enterprises and city property may be changed conditions lose their value. Not so with a cotton farm. We have a large lot of land specially adapted to cotton growing. Come and see us.
