BINDERS ARE RUNNING ALL OVER COUNTY

A little travel over the county Sunday proved that the wheat crop was ready to harvest. Many fields, especially in the Foard City community, were ripe and in some of them even the binder had already been started. The close of this week will see most of them cut down and in the shock. The crops south and east of Crowell were not quite so far advanced, due possibly to the difference in the rainfall of the two different sections of the county. But this week and next week will see all the wheat in the shock. Then by the last of the month threshing will be in full swing.

It is impossible at this time to make an accurate guess at the wheat but it is the opinion of quite a number that the yield is not likely to be as heavy as was once thought probable.

However, Foard County has a good wheat crop and it is going to stimulate business matters very much in most lines.

Jim Trying His Best to Drag the Klan into Fight

It became evident several months ago that Jim Ferguson would make the Klan an issue if possible. This he has tried his best to do but it seems that he is doomed to defeat at that point.

The readers of the Foard County News know well where we have always stood on the Klan proposition. We have opposed it from start to finish, especially as a political thing, but it seems that the Klan is out of politics and we believe it will stay out, so that Ferguson's efforts to inject it into the campaign should meet with utter failure.

The following letter from Larry Mills, a former klansman, is interesting reading. It follows:

In his opening speech at Sulphur Springs Saturday, Ex-Governor Jas. E. Ferguson, in his belated effort to show that the Ku Klux Klan is supporting the candidacy of Dan Moody, makes this statement: "In line with his activity Larry Mills, the campaign manager for Felix Robertson two years ago, is now quietly supporting Dan Moody for Governor. If the truth was known I am sure that Dan has requested him to visit the Klan lodges and keep him posted on the political situation."

For the information of Ex-Governor Ferguson and of the people of Texas who may be interested I desire to say that as a private citizen I am giving whatever time I can spare to Mr. Moody's campaign. I do not enjoy an intimate personal acquaintance with Mr. Moody, but am supporting him because of the splendid record he has made in the public offices with which he has been intrusted, believing that he is the type and character of man that should be chosen to fill our highest executive office.

There is not a semblance of truth in the statement that Mr. Moody or anyone on his behalf has made any arrangements with me of any character. For Mr. Ferguson's information I desire to say that my membership in the Ku Klux Klan expired March 31, 1924, and that since that time I have not been a member in good standing. I was a member of Capital City Klan No. 81, Austin, Texas, at the same time that J. J. Timmins, whom Ferguson appointed State Fire Marshal, was a member, and at the same time that the Hon. Charles O. Austin, who is Ferguson's Banking Commissioner, and Mike Lively, who the Times Herald reports as having led the Ferguson delegation from Dallas County to Sulphur Springs Saturday, were members of Klan No. 66, Dallas, Texas.

Governor Ferguson in his speech Saturday dramatically recited how he fought the Ku Klux Klan in the senatorial race of 1922. That the people of Texas may know Jim Ferguson's real attitude toward the Klan at that time I want to call their attention to the fact that during the campaign before the first primary that Ferguson said in every speech he made that if "a man has nothing bigger than his attitude on the Klan question to recommend him for a seat in the United States Senate, then he is not big enough to be a deacon in a negro Baptist church."

I was an active supporter of Governor Pat M. Neff during that campaign, and was in Temple, Texas, in Governor Neff's behalf. I visited Ex-Governor James E. Ferguson at his newspaper office and in conversation with me, talking over the political situation, Ferguson told me that "I can not figure out why I

Wheat Wire Worm Appears in Places

While there is not much damage done by the wheat wire worm, it might be well to make a note of him and learn a little about how to deal with him.

In some places in this county there have been bunches of wheat that would apparently die and the heads would fall over. This has brought inquiry to the county agent's office and an investigation has revealed the presence of what is known as the wheat wire worm.

This is a worm of yellowish color about the size of a lead pencil and about one inch in length. It bores into the roots of the wheat and cuts them, causing the wheat to dry up or die. The egg is laid by a beetle and the third year after this the worm reached its maturity. Then it returns to a beetle to lay eggs again.

The remedy for this is to break the land early, thus disturbing the breeding quarters of the pest and making it possible to practically exterminate it during the hot summer season.

The damage done by this worm has never amounted to much and there has been little cause for alarm at any time here, but it is well to know about this and take such action as may prevent its becoming a dangerous pest to wheat.

900 Sections in School District

Tom Hampton said to a News representative Monday, "I see you have been having some school problems at Crowell, one of which is the matter of financing a new school building. We are never bothered with a matter of that kind, we have 900 sections in our independent school district at Rock Springs and a local rate of only 65 cents on the $100 and that takes care of all the expenses, bonded indebtedness of the district and maintains a school of the first rank."

All Candidates to Speak at Foard City

In last week's issue a typographical error occurred in the paper that might be misleading and that was that the paper stated that the Foard City candidates are to speak at Foard City Saturday night, June 5th. This should have said all the candidates of Foard County, instead of Foard City.

Our attention was called to this by one of the Foard City candidates who said he did not want anybody to think that the two candidates in that community were going to have a speaking of their own and that nobody else would be permitted to speak.

Everybody is to go and all candidates are to speak if they wish to, as it is for all.

N. R. TISDALE DEAD

The Panhandle Herald reports the death of N. R. Tisdale, who has been county agent of Carson County for the last several years.

Mr. Tisdale was at one time county agent of Wilbarger County and was known to some of the people of this county. We remember his coming to Crowell before we had a county agent and insisting on the commissioners court employing one for this county.

He was a good man and a splendid citizen.

WHEAT BURNS

Possibly through the carelessness of some one in throwing a lighted cigarette into the dry wheat, F. G. Borchardt came very nearly losing a lot of wheat Monday.

The grain happened to be just a little too green to burn rapidly or it would have gotten beyond control. The fire was discovered by parties at work near the field and they soon whipped the fire out. About ten acres are said to have been destroyed.

will be in the run-off with, Culberson or Mayfield," and further said: "If I am in the run-off with Culberson I will have to take sides with you dem kluxers, but if I am in the run-off with Mayfield I will have to give you hell." I am quoting this conversation to show that at that time Ferguson had no convictions with regard to the Klan question, but was leaving himself in a position to take either side of the issue as political expediency might demand in the run-off primary.

Work on Big Dam Is Making Good Progress

It is expected that the dam will be finished and everything will be ready for the water by July 1st. The dirt work is nearing completion. Pipe is being laid from the dam to the pumping station and the chlorinator will be finished at once.

This plant will be placed at the pumping station and will be for the purpose of purifying the water. It does not make the water clear but it kills all germs and makes the water safe for domestic purposes.

That is about all that can be said about this project now, further than has already been said. We shall not realize the value of the dam until it is filled with water. Human effort is doing its best to get the dam ready for the rains when they come so that we may have more water. And that we shall have by and by. It will be necessary to exercise a little patience in waiting. Crowell is not in danger of a water famine. The fact is, according to information furnished us, that we have as much as we ever had but the consumption has increased until a shortage might be expected should we go along without making provision for more.

One of these days we shall see a beautiful large lake of soft water lying at our door for the city's needs.

Byrd Tells How He Felt at Pole

"I felt very elated," said Commander Richard E. Byrd, "when assured by my compass and other reckonings that I was over the pole. I wrote a note to my companion, Bennett, to whom I could not speak owing to the noise of the engine, saying, 'we are at the pole.' He shook hands with me and smiled.

"I then saluted in honor of Peary, first discoverer of the pole. We flew around for several minutes and then started on our flight back and landed at King's Bay. An hour before reaching the pole we had a bad oil leak on one engine, but Bennett and I decided to push on to the pole. I also had snow blindness in one eye.

"The sun shone throughout the flight, which meant that I could use my sun compass the whole time. I am quite convinced that we reached the pole."

Foard City Elects Teachers for Next Term of Its School

The trustees of the Foard City school have elected the teachers for the next term as follows: H. M. Goode, superintendent; Mrs. R. E. Sparks, primary; Mrs. T. E. Davis, Mrs. Leta Russell and Mrs. E. C. King.

All these are the teachers of the last term re-elected except Mr. Goode. And since he is not a new teacher in the county it might be said that the entire faculty is one that has been tried. Mr. Goode was at one time teacher in the Crowell schools and made an excellent teacher.

Foard City has a well selected group of teachers that will assure that community of another successful school term.

STEPHENSONS HEARD FROM

Mrs. Ben Hinds has heard from her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stephenson, who left last week for Rosewood, Ohio, in answer to a message that Mr. Stephenson's brother's wife, Mrs. George Stephenson, had been killed in an automobile wreck, and the decision of the doctors is that Mrs. Stephenson died of fright. It was thought here that she had been physically injured. A sister of Mrs. Stephenson sustained a broken leg.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stephenson stood up under the trip well.

Mrs. Glen Shultz and Mrs. Roy Ricks and little son, Roy Joe, all left in Mrs. Shultz' car Monday morning for a visit, Mrs. Shultz with her parents at Hedley and Mrs. Ricks with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Hamblen, at Clarendon.

M. L. Bird and son were here Monday from Vernon on a business trip.

Farmers Advised to Guard Against Work of Hoppers

It is always well to look out for the grasshoppers, and that the cotton farmers may be aided in fighting the hoppers this year we are here reproducing a formula for fighting them which has been handed to us by the county agent. It follows:

Coarse Wheat bran..... 25 lbs.
White arsenic or Paris green..... 1 lb.
Cane or sorghum molasses, (avoid corn syrup)..... 2 qts.
Water enough to make a wet mash that can be readily sown.

Lemons..... 6 fruits.
Mix the poison thoroughly with the bran. Squeeze the lemons and grind the rinds in a fine meat chopper, and add both to two gallons of water, add to this also the molasses. Now mix the liquid thoroughly with the bran-poison mixture so every particle is wet. The mash should be thoroughly moist, yet so that when sown it readily falls apart.

Application of the Mash—Damage may be expected to crops over patches where weeds or grass were growing just previous to soil preparation or weedy fence rows. Here it may be well two or three days before the crops appear above ground, to sow the mash broadcast using twenty-five pounds to two or three acres. In case the worms attack the plants after these show above the ground, whether in garden or field, place about one-fourth teaspoonful of the mash at the base of each plant, or in the case of row crops, apply a thin stream of the mash along the rows.

Wingless May Beetles—The same poison bran mash will control the wingless May beetle, otherwise known as the "Four-o'clock Bug" if sown where they are found doing damage. We anticipate an infestation of these this spring.

Grasshoppers—We do not expect a general heavy infestation of grasshoppers. Sow the bran mash if they appear.

To Graduate from Oklahoma University

Wade Fox, a former Crowell boy, will graduate from the School of Medicine of the University of Oklahoma at Norman, Okla., according to invitations received here this week to attend the Thirty-fourth Annual Commencement Exercises, Tuesday, June 8th.

Wade was practically reared in this county and the many friends of the family will be pleased to learn of his graduation from this excellent institution.

Truscott Gets Street Lights

The West Texas Utilities Company have put in four street lights and two alley lights at Truscott. This was finished Tuesday and Truscott became a lighted city for the first time Tuesday night.

In a short while a clock will be installed that will automatically turn off and on the lights. This is now attended to by the night watchman.

Former Crowell Lady Married in Ft. Worth

Mrs. Ora B. Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Mitchell of this city was married in Fort Worth last Thursday to Mr. John S. Williamson of that city.

Mrs. Williamson is well known in Crowell where she lived for many years but for several years she has lived in Ft. Worth where she has had employment as saleslady in a big department store.

Although Mr. Williamson has never lived in Crowell he has been making a short stay here during the summer for many years and is well known to Crowell people. He owns a big wheat farm near Foard City.

The News joins the many friends in hearty congratulations and best wishes for their future happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson arrived in Crowell by automobile Monday from Fort Worth and have engaged rooms at the home of Mrs. Ida Cheek and will remain in Crowell for several weeks.

School Picnic to Be at Vivian Today

The school at Vivian closes today with a barbecue and picnic. Everybody who wishes to attend will be welcomed and the candidates are expected to be present and speak, according to information given the News. It will be an all day affair.

The place at which the picnic will be held is in the John Walling pasture about 2 1/2 miles south of the school house.

This closes one of the most successful terms of the Vivian school of 8 months duration. Three teachers have been employed and there will be four for the next term and the work will include a tenth grade course next year. In addition to this there will be added a laboratory.

The teachers this year are Prof. Winston, supt., Misses Cora and Claude Carter.

"Ferguson Ant" Bites Davidson

Robstown, Texas, May 31.—Lynch Davidson Saturday night completed a week's swing through the Rio Grande Valley, during which he presented his claims to the governorship.

Mercedes and McAllen citizens heard the closing addresses of Davidson at Mercedes for an unscheduled talk, the candidate unwittingly took a position in an ant hill, not discovering his predicament until the ants began to sting. At McAllen he pitted his vocal powers against the noise of a busy switch engine with fair success.

"Pat Neff told me to fill myself chock-full of my subject and let nature cut her capers," Davidson informed the Mercedes gathering in describing how he had planned his campaign. "Now I'm so chock-full that it's liable to be an hour and a half before nature quits cutting her capers."

When Davidson discovered the presence of the ants, a hearer called: "Those are Dan Moody ants; they won't hurt you, but they can't help you."

The candidate expressed himself delighted with success of his invasion of the valley, crediting Judge S. L. Gill of Raymondville with a major responsibility for the gratifying results. The trip was arranged and conducted by Judge Gill.

FOARD COUNTY FAIR TO HAVE BIG CARNIVAL

The date for the Foard County annual fair has been set for Sept. 30 to October 2nd, inclusive.

Those having the matter in hand have contracted with the Donald-McGregory Shows, a six car and 150 people carnival, to be here on those dates. The fair will be free but the carnival people will make charges, of course, for their shows and rides, giving the fair association a per cent of the receipts. They have a ferris wheel, merry-go-round, merry mix-up and whip as riding attractions, making four rides. There are 50 concessions and 8 shows. The carnival people will furnish a large per cent, 30 by 60, as a place for the merchants to exhibit their wares.

This is said to be one of the large carnivals and plays such towns as Altus, Stamford, Vernon and others of that class.

Those who have always been sponsoring the fair proposition have found that some attractions are indispensable and it is with that knowledge that they have decided to get the best thing they could as a means of drawing a crowd and securing funds to pay the expenses of the fair. They have never found anything that beats a carnival.

Fred Rennels will have as a part of his work securing the co-operation of the various communities and will try to get each one to come in with a community exhibit. This always stimulates rivalry and brings out the best of every community. In the recent years many have been surprised at the fine exhibits made by the communities and it goes without saying that the next county fair will surpass all former ones in this respect.

SEEKING TO MAKE PEASE BRIDGE FREE

A number of Crowell and Foard County citizens went to Quanah Tuesday to meet with Quanah and Oklahoma people relative to getting the road from here to Quanah designated as a state highway and getting the bridge across Pease River made a free bridge.

The people of Quanah are anxious for this and there are others in Oklahoma also who want to be connected up with the Lee Highway and the FFF. The connection can be made at Crowell if the road from here to Quanah becomes a state highway.

Hardeman County, it is understood, is ready to put up its portion of the money with which to purchase the bridge across the river. It is owned by Austin Brock and we understand that that company is ready to sell the bridge, the cost of which will be $12,000. And since the State is supposed to pay half the cost, that will cut the cost to the two counties to $6,000, $3,000 each, a small matter.

Hardeman and Foard will send representatives to take the matter up with the Highway Commission which meets on June 14th. Judge Welch of Quanah and Judge Owens of Crowell will represent the two counties. Senator J. D. Parnell is also interested in the matter and will do all he can to get it through. Those who went from here to the Quanah meeting were Dave Solis, Ernest Crossnoe, A. B. Wisdom, all commissioners, H. E. Ferguson, Judge Owens, O. O. Hollingsworth, Leo Spencer and George Doty.

Mr. Hampton moved away to that country some six years ago and went into the goat and sheep business. He has made a success of the business and is doing well and likes the country.

It is generally thought by people living in this country that that country is too dry to sprout peas, but according to Mr. Hampton it is about as seasonable as any of West Texas. He says last spring is the first time his barns have been caught without plenty of feed for his stock since he went to that country. One of the most valuable features of the country he says is its fine climate and good water.

The favorite food of the bald eagle is fish and some of the flappers look upon bald men as fish.

Few young men are ever refused because they have a house and lot, a car and a fat bank account.

Resolutions of Respect
To the Worshipful Master, Wardens and Brethren of Thalia Lodge No. 666, A. F. & A. M.:
In memory of our esteemed brother, R. F. Box, who passed away Sunday, May 25, 1926, and whose body was interred in the Thalia cemetery. He has finished the course; he has kept the faith. May we in loyalty to his memory strive to seek the truth which he loved and practiced; and the Brotherhood which he exemplified.

To Mrs. R. F. Box and family, we extend our love and sympathy in their bereavement, although our words of love and acts of kindness can not heal the broken, bleeding hearts, they can help to bridge the chasm over which our beloved Brother has passed.

Oldtime Pocketbooks

Under Charles II of England purses were supplanted by flap-pockets, which were worn over the hips, and ladies favored quilted pockets which were perfumed. Years later, purses of netting again came into vogue, and were carried by men and women alike, even to the days of our grandparents. These were displaced once more by small, book-like cases made with several divisions, to each of which the coinage of the day was regulated—gold in one, silver in another, and bronze or copper in a third. When banknotes and bills became common the shape of the purse was modified. It was made larger, had more compartments, and became card case and purse combined, or what we know as the modern pocketbook.

The BULL'S EYE

The Farmer Can't Stand Much More Help Like He Has Been Getting

Congress say they are helping the farmer. They are in Washington ON salary. He is home trying to pay it. Farmers have had more advice and less relief than a wayward son. If advice sold for 10c a column, Farmers would be richer than Bootleggers. And when they get all through advising, there is just one thing will help the Farmers. That is eliminate some of the middlemen and let the two ends meet. The Consumer and the Producer are two men in America that have never even seen each other. Cut out the middle and tie the two ends together.

When a steer starts from the feed pen to the table, there is about 10 to take a bite out of him, before he reaches the family that pay for him. Who wears the best clothes or drives the best car, the fellow who raises a bushel of wheat, or the working fellow who goes up to buy a sack of flour? Why neither one of them. The ones in between these two have their private Tailor and "Straight Eight's."

The Government just told Agriculture, "You are in a hole." They didn't offer to pull them out, but they did say, "We will get down in there with you."

I want to tell you right here, I don't know what would have happened to the poor farmer if it had not been for his old friend, "Bull" Durham. It's the only thing he has been absolutely able to rely on. And I want him to know that myself and "Bull" Durham are with him right to the poor house door.

INSECTS STAR AS MOVIE ARTISTS

Films of Plant Pests Rival Screen Thrillers Made by Humans.

Washington.—When Uncle Sam wants to stage an agricultural movie thriller he selects a nasty insect for a villain and puts the pest through rehearsal. Some of the pests are natural movie actors; others are as temperamental as any Hollywood star. The primary reason for this, Department of Agriculture officials explain, is that certain insects shun light, whereas others exult in the glare of the studio Kleigs.

Consider the case of the common clothes moth. The department desired to make a picture showing the destructive habits of this pest, but the insects refused to work under the bright studio lights. Moths placed on an article of clothing flew so rapidly into a seam of goods that the close-ups were a failure. The camera man then hit upon the novel idea of chloroforming the insects to retard their speed, and the picture was a success. Cotton boll weevils, on the other hand, perform best under the intense lights. They are regarded as star actors, only close-ups seeming to satisfy the vanity of the pest. Not content with flying close to the lens, the boll weevils fly into the machine so that it is necessary every now and then to stop cranking in order to clean out the camera.

Bees Are Hard Subjects.

Honey bees are catalogued as bad actors. In the midst of a picture one day last summer the bees descended en masse upon the unprotected camera man, who fled and hid in a cellar. The picture could be completed only by erecting a canvas shelter over the camera so as to make shade. Bees will not fly into shady places.

More than 20 motion pictures featuring insects in star roles have been made by the Department of Agriculture. They include pictures of pests such as the pink boll worm, which destroys cotton, the Mexican bean beetle, the European corn borer, stable fly, bedbug, poultry louse, cockroach, grasshopper and others. The pictures are distributed free to agricultural colleges, county agents, and other agricultural agencies, some of the reels being exhibited all over the world.

Recently the department camera men made a special trip to Grasshopper glacier in Montana to photograph some of the frozen prehistoric grasshoppers. This glacier is famous. It is believed that these pests were swept up the canyon through the ages by strong winds, which dashed them against the precipitous walls, the grasshoppers then falling into the glacier and becoming frozen in the ice.

Grasshoppers hundreds of years old, but not unlike the grasshoppers of the present day, have been found there, perfectly preserved. The melted ice at the end of the glacier deposits the grasshoppers on both banks, tons of the insects having been piled up in this way. The department camera men made an ascent of 12,000 feet to take their pictures.

Live grasshoppers are difficult to photograph. The lady grasshoppers, in particular, are camera shy. Recently in making some movies of a female laying eggs it was necessary for the camera man to crawl along a roadside trench on his stomach and "shoot" close range, catching the insect unaware.

Working Far Afield.

Federal quarantines on pests, such as the European corn borer and the Japanese beetle, are strict and the department camera men are prohibited from bringing them into the District of Columbia so as to work on them in the studio. This results in considerable expense, in that the movie force must sometimes go far afield to take pictures of the insects in their natural environment.

The expense is, however, justified, say the department movie men, who point out that it is much better to take authentic pictures than to "fake" insects in the laboratory. Faked insects are used occasionally, but only in animated cartoons. An amusing incident in this connection was the construction of a mechanical reproduction of a Mexican bean beetle, so life-like that it fooled even the department entomologists, who thought it real.

The occasion for this deception was the building of an outline map on which it was desired to show graphically the spread of the pest since its introduction into the United States. The habits of the beetle were studied carefully by the movie men, and an imitation was made that bore a life-like resemblance to the original. It was made to crawl around the map at will, and the entomologists wanted to know how the photographers had contrived so perfectly to train the insect.

Bedbugs, like the clothes moth, refuse to act under the glare of the studio lights, or even in ordinary daylight. In order to make them perform it was necessary to build a miniature bed in which a ferret wearing a nightgown was placed. The ferret had to be chloroformed to insure its remaining stationary, and the bugs, scenting easy prey, readily came out for a feast, despite the bright lights.

Making Up the Rat.

Outside the insect family, but among the pests that destroy millions of dollars' worth of property annually, is

Modern Purses Traced to Rome and Greece

Purses were known to King Solomon or he would scarcely have warned the young man of his day against casting their lot together so that they might all have one purse. But the exact kind of purse meant is not known. It may have been a purse of chain mail, a bag of netting or a pouch of leather or some other skin. The biblical references to purses are numerous, but none throws any light on the shape or construction.

The first authentic description of purses comes from ancient Rome and classic Greece. There the first purses were little bags of leather which could be closed at the mouth by strings. At a somewhat later date these bags were made of network and were put to all kinds of uses, on which, to a considerable extent, depended their size. Some were worn over the hair by women, from which practice is derived the fillet of modern times.

Then, again, others were used by hunters as game bags. From this purpose to one of general use as a convenient receptacle for carrying the lawyers' papers or merchants' provisions, the net bag grew until its proportion became immense and for purses, as such, custom reverted to the little leather pouches first used.—New York Times.

London's Chief Charm

London owes much of its charm and fascination to its plan, or rather its lack of a plan. Much of it was built before the days of town planning and before the invention of the deadly "gridiron" which makes hideous so many American cities, and as London's streets, squares, places and lanes developed apparently by no fixed plan, the buildings which face them were built with apparent defiance of all rules of architecture, and yet they possess charm and distinction which it would be difficult to secure today, when the world's building customs are changed, and design itself is in a state of flux.

Unfortunate Genius

One of the greatest female geniuses of the early Nineteenth century was Louise Brachman, who was born in Rochlitz, Germany, in 1778. She was an intimate friend of Schiller and Novalis and was herself a writer and poet of great ability. In her case, as in many others, genius brought with it an unevenness of temperament, at times bordering on insanity, with long and continued fits of melancholy. Having been disappointed in two love affairs, the blasting of another fond hope of hers in 1822 drove her to suicide by drowning in the River Saale.—Chicago Journal.

Astonished Audience

A man who usually dictates his business letters into a dictaphone was recently asked to say a few words at a public meeting.

He had had no previous experience of facing an audience, but he consented to speak, thinking that, if he were to imagine he was merely addressing his remarks to an inanimate recording machine, he would find things go quite easily for him.

When he had been introduced by the chairman, he stood up, cleared his throat, and began:

"Ladies and gentlemen comma it is a very great underlined pleasure to me to be present here tonight dash although I am naturally somewhat nervous at addressing a public meeting for the first time semicolon but trust it will not be my last full stop."

Poison for Pigs

The cocklebur, long known as a bothersome weed, but not regarded as poisonous, has been convicted of causing the death of numerous hogs as well as other farm animals, by experiments conducted in the experimental pens of Purdue university. It is poisonous, however, only in its youngest stage, when the two thick, fleshy seed leaves are all the foliage it has. Later, when the true leaves make their appearance, its poisonous qualities diminish.

The man of today who, as a boy saw the game through a knot hole, has a son who gets it play by play over the radio.

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN

Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 35c. Sold by

THE SIMPLICITY OF LINCOLN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WITHOUT perfection such as fame Would give you now, nor yet to blame
For errors charged against you then,
You loom so high o'er other men
That men may oftentimes forget
Your greatest greatness: It was met
Not in the greatness many see
But in your great simplicity.
To that high office that we call
The highest eminence of all You brought a spirit lowly, brought The simple truths that Nancy taught,
And touched a title with the gleam
Of brotherhood, and made it seem Indeed a nobler thing to be
Than any crown of majesty.

For that we love you, Lincoln—for The plain humanity you wore
In all your greatness, standing thus Beside mankind, not over us,
And this I truly have believed:
That all the good that you achieved,
The things accomplished, came to be Because of your simplicity.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE SILENT CONFLICT

AS BETWEEN the roaring guns of contending armies on the field of battle, and the silent conflict which noble men and women have with the evil spirit in the solitude of night, or in the bustle of the busy day, there is but slight difference.

When all things are considered, the contentions of the armies and the intentions of the lone individual, the silent conflict is frequently the more difficult of the two.

Accustomed for years to look on pernicious habits with complacency, the thoughtful man or woman frequently awakens to the terrible wreck he or she is making of opportunity and life.

There is born in an instant a resolve to break the trammels, to pull away from perilous positions and seek a new haven of peace and safety.

Then begins the stern struggle in a world hushed from the ears of others, who may pass by without suspecting the tumult in the soul of him or her who is making a last stand, fighting valiantly inch by inch to overcome the invisible enemy.

It is easy to read about a conquering hero, but it requires hard exertion of will power and unyielding strength to become one.

Hitherto the man or woman had found it good policy to drift along blindly, but now, in the new light, all things are changed.

That which was seductive is now repulsive, hateful, horrible.

The good, sunny part of nature lifts up its trembling hands to the sky and cries earnestly for deliverance from galling bondage.

And if the shackled soul be true to itself true to the faith which was born in a night, this fine spark of nobility will eventually find the freedom it craves, for there is nothing impossible to him or her who can out-ride the shadow of doubt.

The ride may be hazardous, up dizzy elevations, down dismal gulfs, over treacherous quicksands, through lands of temptations and shared pits of Iniquity, but the clean, cool summit in the distance is waiting with outstretched arms to bestow on him or her who presses on in belief, the unspeakable peace for which the silent conflict is waged.

Ride on through the minutes of Time, ye brave, and the ages of Eternity will give you enduring bliss!

BURBANK

Fifty-one years ago a man about 26 years old arrived in Santa Rosa, Calif., looked the place over, liked it and decided to settle down. Santa Rosa did not then realize that it was to become world famous because of the decision of this frail, obscure young man.

Luther Burbank, whose name has become a household word in a half century, lived to see himself acclaimed the world's greatest naturalist.

His death was hastened by a religious controversy which developed when he recently announced his disbelief in a life hereafter. He brought down upon himself an avalanche of criticism, and endeavoring to reply to every personal letter received, the plant wizard weakened himself and did not possess the vitality to regain the robust health he had acquired through outdoor work.

The basic principle of Burbank's work was the Darwinian principle of "unit characters" in heredity. The principle is simply that certain characteristics are transmitted from parents to descendants as units and do not divide in hybridizing.

For example, the "angora" or long haired characteristic in cats, rabbits and goats is a unit character. If an angora cat can be mated with a common cat, some of the progeny will probably be long-haired and a part short-haired, but there will be none with hair half way in length between the two. But in all animals occur what are sometimes called "freaks" or varieties that are reversions to the characteristics of some ancestor. It was obvious, therefore, that the primary problem of Burbank and others who did similar work was to discover and perpetuate desirable unit characters.

This is the work in which Burbank spent his life. He did not make new laws of nature but adapted existing laws. The work required a vast amount of study and experimentation.
Burbank's success was due largely to the scale on which he worked, for it is rare for nature to bring together in a plant or animal a number of unit characters that are desirable.

In his experiments with blackberries, Burbank raised 40,444 hybrid plants and from these he obtained but one having the properties that he wanted. The rest he pulled up and burned.

The results he obtained were worth all of the effort he expended.

The United States department of agriculture once estimated that his improvements in the potato alone were worth over $17,000,000 to the country. The Carnegie Institute granted him $10,000 a year for ten years to be used for his experiments.

Burbank never became materially wealthy, though he had an opportunity to make a fortune. His love for what he was doing so engrossed him that he lost sight of any financial gain. And to this fact, more than any other, may be attributed his signal success as a naturalist.

NO-NOX

MOTOR FUEL

STOPS KNOCKS

Turns Mountains into Mole hills

OR many years mechanical engineers struggled to build automobile engines of higher compression. As compression is increased the power line goes up and the fuel consumption line goes down —ordinary gasolines would not withstand this higher compression without knocks, clicks, or detonations—accumulated carbon deposits increased this compression by decreasing the size of the combustion chamber —and the audible sounds of the engine distress grew louder.

It has been our good fortune to produce a gasoline that positively eliminates clicks, pings, and knocks.

Gulf No-Nox and Carbon are Power Twins

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel withstands compression to a high degree; carbon, increasing the compression of the engine, ceases to be a nightmare as long as it does not interfere with valve action. In other words, it puts carbon to work. More power and greater efficiency is thereby accomplished, resulting in greater mileage.

With GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel in your tank—step on it—you will get the story better than we can tell it.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—that it positively will not heat the motor summer or winter.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

CONSERVATIVE YOUTH

The president of Mount Holyoke college, in a recent address intimated that young girls are much more conservative than old women.

She said that it was not uncommon to hear a parent say, "I do not want my daughter unsettled."

This, however, is not the great danger, but the real peril is to have the daughter settle down in a rut. One has only to try to interfere with some of the conventions of youth to find how rigidly they are adhered to.

Youth is frequently a little dazed at the thought of life when maturity is reached and clings to conventions through a sense of safety. Old people who are sure of themselves are more adventurous.

Day of Glory Gone

The Cinque Ports was the old collective name for the five English channel ports—Sandwich, Dover, Hythe, Romney and Hastings. They were enfranchised by Edward the Confessor, and granted special privileges by William the Conqueror. Up to the reign of Henry VII their chief duty was to supply the country's naval contingent. In the time of Edward I they provided 57 fully equipped ships and often extended their powers by equipping practical expeditions. Dating from the revolution of 1688, their privileges and powers waned.

All Ages Poetic

For my part, I can call no age absolutely unpoetic; how should it be so since there are always children to whom the acorns and the swallow's eggs are a wonder always those human passions and fatalities through which Garrick as Hamlet in bob wig and knee breeches moved his audience more than some have since done in velvet tunic and plume? . . . To be quite fair toward the ages, a little ugliness as well as beauty must be allowed to each of them, a little implicit poetry even to those which echoed loudest with servile, pompous, and trivial prose.—George Elliot.

A CHANGED ATTITUDE

One of the trying experiences of the fair-minded person is the effort in conversation to get the other fellow to be fair. Now it used to be considered quite the thing years ago for a Republican to call all the leading Democrats hard names and vice versa, but in the war period we had to pull together in a common cause, and the more sensible part of our people since then have modified or cast off the former attitude of partisanship.

It does no Republican harm to admit that Woodrow Wilson was a great president both in peace and in war. Nor does it harm a Democrat to admit that Theodore Roosevelt also was one of our greatest and most useful Americans, although here and there an original Taft man is still bitter against him.

Narrow partisanship blinds one's eyes to the real truth about the other side and is the mark of a small mind. Big broad souls can afford to admit the other man's true worth.

Once they married in haste and repented at leisure. Now they marry in haste and get a divorce the same way.

LOOK OUT FOR WEB WORMS

The farmers of the county should be on the lookout for web worms. In some parts of the state they are reported to be doing considerable damage. These worms hatch out in weed patches and in alfalfa fields and later spread to the young cotton principally, however, sometimes they attack feed crops.
These worms are hard to control with spray materials, especially on crops with tender foliage, such as young cotton. A spray mixture of Paris green or arsenic that is strong enough to be effective against the worms would be too strong for the young cotton. The weeds at the end of the cotton rows can be sprayed with poison, and also the first few rows of cotton might be poisoned.
A very effective way of controlling the worms if they are discovered in time is to plow two or three deep furrows around the field, leaving the straight side of the furrow next to the field so it will be difficult for the worms to crawl out of the furrow. The worms will fall in these holes and they may be killed by spraying them with kerosene. A few of these worms have been noticed in this county and it would be well to keep a sharp lookout for them.

MRS. REID WILLIAMS HONOREE OF '42' PARTY

Mrs. George Self entertained for tables of "42" the afternoon of May 26, 1926.
The artistically arranged home was profusely decorated with bouquets of roses.
Mrs. Self greeting her guests at the door immediately presented them to Mrs. Williams who was beautifully gowned in a charming frock of ecru fillet lace over black charmeuse with extra skirt draperies of black meline, while a bunch of variegated flowers at the left side of bodice gave the touch of color that was needed to complete the lovely gown.
Two hours were spent in pleasant reminiscences exchanged over the tables while games were being played.
Mrs. Williams, who is of Loveland, Colo., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Self, of this city and other relatives.
The hostess added a fitting finale to the occasion by serving a beautifully arranged two course luncheon. Miss Clark favored the guests with several enjoyable numbers on the piano. The guests present are indebted to Mrs. Self for a delightful afternoon.—Contributed.

Bilious dull feeling
"MY old stand-by is Thedford's Black-Draught—I have used it off and on for about 20 years," says Mr. W. S. Reynolds, of R. F. D. 2, Arcadia, La.
"I get bilious and have a bad taste in my mouth. My head feels dull. I don't just feel like getting around and doing my work. I know it isn't laziness, but biliousness."
"So I take a few doses of Black-Draught and when it acts well, I get up feeling like new—full of pep and ready for any kind of work."
"I can certainly recommend it." In case of biliousness and other disagreeable conditions due to an inactive liver, Black-Draught helps to drive the poisonous impurities out of the system and tends to leave the organs in a state of normal, healthy activity. Black-Draught is made entirely of pure medicinal roots and herbs and contains no dangerous or harmful mineral drugs. It can be safely taken by everyone. Sold everywhere. Price 25c.
