Mike Mulligan and Patsy Dugan Make Great Hit

Visitors from Crowell and Foard county to the West Texas Chamber Commerce Convention at Wichita Falls returned last Monday night, Tuesday and several on Wednesday, reporting a wonderful time and enthusiastic over the showing that Foard County made at the convention.

Monday was without a doubt the biggest day of the convention and the attendance has been estimated at around 75,000 visitors. The delegation parade, which featured the convention, took place on this day and passing one point the parade lasted for one hour and thirty minutes. Forty-eight bands, floats, delegations, and hundreds of different contrivances etc., were in it. While Crowell did not make elaborate or expensive plans for the convention yet their "Mike Mulligan and Patsy Dugan" stunt was generally acclaimed by convention officials and the public in general as the most popular single stunt of the convention. Their appearance in the parade kept the thousands of spectators they passed in an uproar of laughter and applause. Crowell also had a beautifully decorated automobile in the parade carrying Mrs. T. B. Richmond, sponsor for Crowell, and her escort, Mr. Richmond. Geo. Self drove the attractive car. About ten signs bearing various facts about Foard County were carried by delegates.

There could never be enough praise given Jimmie Ashford and Harvey Sikes whose voluntary impersonations of Patsy Dugan and Mike Mulligan, characters made famous on the comic page of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, an outstanding feature of the convention. Sikes in his checker-board suit and low crown derby with Crowell hat band resembled almost exactly the famous "Mike" and no less can be said of Jimmie Ashford, who, with his pink dress, lavender hose, ear puffs, etc., attracted as much attention as anyone at the convention.

Officials of the convention were so carried away with the impersonation that they made arrangements with local chamber of commerce officials to have an official royal wedding of the convention, with these two characters taking the leading roles, in keeping with Winnie Winkle comic in the Star-Telegram, as Patsy and Mike in the original comic have been planning their marriage for some time. Six thousand cards bearing the picture of Jimmie and Sikes and an invitation to the "Royal Wedding" to be held Tuesday night at the final business session, were printed and distributed during the two days by the happy couple. The picture with "Patsy and Mike, Crowell, Texas" printed below took up one side of the card while the invitation to the wedding was printed on the other along with the statement that the future home of the couple would be in Crowell, Texas. The demand for the cards was so strong that they were all given out several hours before the wedding.

The wedding of the charming couple took place just before the selection of the next convention city and was made an official feature of the program of the convention. The convention hall was so crowded for the event that standing room was not left and hundreds of people were turned away. After announcement from Pres. Dugan, the Ft Worth Ladies' Band played "Here Comes the Bride." The grand march was made somewhat difficult by the crowded condition of the hall however the stage was reached and after laughter had subsided the ceremony began and was performed by W. P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church of Lubbock. Col. C. C. French of Fort Worth gave the bride away; Loretta Sheppard, Fort Worth beauty, acted as bridesmaid, and Mack Boswell, C. of C. secretary, struggled through the part of best man. After kissing the bride, Mike Mulligan announced that their future home would be in the wonderful city of Crowell. Rev. Jennings handled the ceremony most wonderfully.

Wichita Falls doctors report that Mike Mulligan and Patsy Dugan were responsible for a number of loosened ribs among their patients on Monday and Tuesday.

Russell Beverly and Bert Self were unofficially acclaimed the champion orange ade drinkers of the convention.

Heard in the parade: "Boy howdy! Is that Miss Crowell married? I know darn well that I can beat that fellow's time with her."

Also heard "My gosh! this parade has already lasted over an hour, and it's getting better all the time."

Commonly heard: "Is that Patsy really a girl?" "Are they really going to be married?"

Looking for Great Development Along Orient Railroad

J. M. Rutherford and wife of Chillicothe were here Saturday visiting in the home of Mrs. Fannie Thacker.

Mr. Rutherford is Industrial Agent of the Orient and says the road is in the best financial condition it has ever enjoyed. He thinks the road will some day be one of the great trunk lines of this country. That belief is based largely upon the expectation that all this country will undergo the most rapid development within the next few years. Undreamed of riches are stored in the soil and under the surface that will be developed and brought to serve man within the next decade if Mr. Rutherford's dreams come true.

Thousands of others share that belief with him. The Orient has already taken its place as one of the essential carriers of West Texas. It has had its struggles but every one not prejudiced against it will be glad to see it come into its own. The interest of the Orient and this country are very largely mutual.

Grady Halbert Makes a Splendid Showing

Grady Halbert, Crowell's representative in the "My Home Town" speaking contest at the W. T. C. C. convention, made a splendid showing at the convention and Crowell may well be proud of the excellent manner that he represented us. The forty-eight speakers for various towns of West Texas were arranged in four groups and Grady finished in the group of the twelve best speakers which is very creditable especially when the large number of entrants are considered. Walter Ely, Jr., of Abilene won first place.

Sidelights of the Convention

Jesse Owens came near receiving a severe drubbing at the hand of the mighty Mike Mulligan, on arousing Mike's jealousy when he could not resist the temptation of throwing his arms around (partly) fair Patsy, fiancée of Mike. Hundreds of people witnessed the scandalous scene in front of the Kemp Hotel. Interference of police no doubt prevented a tragic act. Jesse soon realized the seriousness of his act and plead with Crowell people to keep the matter a secret.

Geo. Self was busier than a soda dispenser Monday morning decorating the automobile for the sponsor, completing arrangements for the polo team, et cetera. George reports wonderful assistance from a number of Crowell's delegates. You can always depend on George.

H. B. Pool took the responsibility of having the banners for the parade put in carrying shape. Sign painters failed to brace the canvas, so quick and responsible action was needed and Mr. Pool proved a life saver and you can tell the world that he sure fixed things up.

Doyle Kenner and Louie Blaw arrived at the convention Sunday and arranged for the snappy banners used by Crowell in the delegation parade Monday.

Patsy embarrassed many a country boy by his familiarity, and Mike would add to the embarrassment by coming up and threatening to whip the boy for flirting with his girl.

Wichita Falls doctors report that Mike Mulligan and Patsy Dugan were responsible for a number of loosened ribs among their patients on Monday and Tuesday.

Russell Beverly and Bert Self were unofficially acclaimed the champion orange ade drinkers of the convention.

Heard in the parade: "Boy howdy! Is that Miss Crowell married? I know darn well that I can beat that fellow's time with her."

Also heard "My gosh! this parade has already lasted over an hour, and it's getting better all the time."

Commonly heard: "Is that Patsy really a girl?" "Are they really going to be married?"

Remains of Frank Greening Buried Here Last Monday

Lewis Frank Greening was born in Grayson County, Texas, in 1888, moved to Foard County with his parents in 1900 and was married to Miss Etta May Dunivan in 1913, and died Sunday morning, May 15, 1927, at 11:40 o'clock.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. E. L. Mayfield, pastor of the Baptist church, conducting the services. A large company of friends assembled to pay their respects to the remains of this loved and respected citizen who had resided in our midst for these years.

Mr. Greening had been carpentering all this spring and became ill while at work at the home of W. A. Wheeler in Crowell and was taken home on Saturday afternoon of May 7th, with a severe headache and with fever. His condition grew worse until death came.

The deceased is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mabelle and Syble, 12 and 7 years of age, respectively. He is also survived by two brothers, J. D. and Ben M. Greening, and one sister, Mrs. Frank Meason, all of this city.

Those from a distance to attend the funeral were Mrs. Dunivan, mother of Mrs. Greening, and two sons, Elzie and Earl, of Spur, and Mrs. Will Watts of Vernon, whose first husband was Clarence Greening, who was taken by death some years ago.

The large company of friends and splendid floral offering were unmistakable evidences of the high esteem in which Mr. Greening was held. His going is a source of sorrow not only to the relatives but to all the friends of the family.

Couple Married in New York Come to Conduct Business

H. Meisels and Miss Fannie Fish were married in New York City about two weeks ago and immediately left for Crowell, driving as far as St. Louis, at which place they took the train for Crowell.

The young couple is now here and they will have charge of the Famous Store, which is opening up for business.

Mr. and Mrs. Meisels were both here two years ago, both at that time working in the store.

Haynie Chosen As the Next President

R. W. Haynie of Abilene was elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the convention Tuesday, succeeding Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield. C. C. Small of Wellington gave Mr. Haynie a close race and the committee took three ballots on the presidential contest, Mr. Small withdrawing on the third ballot.

Forth Worth was a unanimous choice for next year's convention. Abilene was considered a strong candidate until Tuesday when it was announced that that city had withdrawn in favor of Fort Worth.

Dr. Hines Clark Attending American Medical Association

Dr. and Mrs. Hines Clark left last Friday morning for Washington, D. C., where the doctor will attend the American Medical Association which convenes in that city. They will return about the 25th of this month.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

The members of the Farmers Co-Operative Gin met in the district court room in Crowell last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The president, S. Moore, made a talk on the progress of the organization and told of its accomplishments in the past year. He explained that a new boiler is being installed in the plant and a new cotton house was built last year which holds 125 bales.

The following directors were elected: C. D. Stephenson, re-elected; H. E. Hays succeeded A. P. Barry; Chas. Hunter succeeded S. W. Gentry; E. A. Dunagan elected to fill place of R. B. Bell, who has moved from the county; G. C. Owens succeeded Jno. Daniels.

Dallas Boosters Visit Crowell Wed. Morning

In keeping with the announcement that a special train was to arrive Wednesday morning bearing Dallas boosters, at 6 o'clock the whistle of the locomotive was the signal that the train was approaching. The train consisted of ten coaches, bearing 125 boosters, and scores of Crowell citizens had gone with their cars to the depot to meet them. The boosters were taken to town where they had the opportunity of meeting with the business men of Crowell in their stores.

Among the enjoyable features of the visit was the music rendered by the Dallas Municipal Band. A number of pieces were played on the streets while the visitors mingled with the people of the city.

The train was scheduled to reach Dallas Wednesday night. It passed over the Orient as far south as Hamlin and from there went to Cisco and back to Dallas.

The visitors were a lively bunch and they seemed to enjoy their two-hours' stay in Crowell and the people of Crowell were more than glad to have them visit the town.

500 Acres Promise Yield of 20 Bushels

H. J. Crosnoe brought to town Saturday specimens of his wheat which indicated that a yield of something like 20 bushels may be expected.

Mr. Crosnoe says he has 500 acres of wheat like the sample he brought and that he has 200 acres more that promises no yield at all.

It seems this year that the late wheat is the poorest. Some of the farmers say they have never seen conditions as they are, the early wheat looking so well and the late wheat so bad. One farmer told us that if there was any difference in the manner in which his late and early wheat were sown the difference was in favor of the late and it is by far the poorest. And he said, too, that the last sowing was by no means late, since he has many times sown a month later and made good yields.

There will be some wheat made in the county, but it begins to look now that we can not count on a bumper crop. The cool weather however, is favorable, but it needs rain and must have it to make a heavy yield.

Former Crowell Boy Finishes at S. M. U.

Among the list of 134 to graduate from Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, is the name of Theodore Yoder, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Yoder, of Snyder, Texas.

The family resided in Crowell for a number of years and Theodore was a pupil in the Crowell high school.

Disposition of Criminal Cases

In the district court here last week Jake Robinson was sent to the pen for stealing a car. Euel Harris associated with Robinson was cleared.

L. C. Kelly and Willie Vurleson, colored, were convicted on a charge of burglary, Kelly getting five years and Vurleson two years in the pen.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

J. F. Long returned Monday from Dallas where he had been with his wife at Baylor Sanitarium for an operation. Mrs. Long underwent a very serious operation Tuesday of last week and is now improving as well as could be expected.

Mr. Long saw Mr. Andrews who is also there waiting to be operated on and he says he is coming along all right. He will likely undergo an operation within ten days or two weeks.

Barber Shop Moved to New Quarters

The Elite Barber Shop, owned and operated by Jeff Bruce, was moved Monday to a newly prepared room just west of the old stand in the Bank of Crowell building.

The new room is furnished with sewerage connections, bath, etc., and will be a very attractive place for an up-to-date barber shop.

All Day Beef Canning Held At Earl Steele's Farm

Last Tuesday at the home of Earl Steele in the Four-Corner Community a number of families of the community and several visitors from Crowell met for an all-day beef canning demonstration. The beef had been killed the day before and everything was in readiness to place the meat in cans. All kinds of meat preparations were canned including steak, roast, chili, chili and beans, soup, etc.

Mr. Steele has just recently purchased a complete steam pressure canning equipment. The retort is of sufficient capacity to cook thirty No. 3 cans at one time. He has the Burpee sealer which seals either No. 2 or No. 3 cans. Mr. Steele says the mistake that he has been making in farming, and that many others in his opinion are making, is trying to make too much money and not giving enough attention toward living at home. With the canning equipment that he has he can preserve any vegetable, fruits or meat that he cares to. During the years that he has been making, he intends to lay in a good supply for hard years.

Another very interesting feature of the meeting was a fish fry. Mr. Steele has a large tank near his house which seems to be well stocked with fish. About 10 o'clock a few men went to this tank armed with the proper equipment for bringing in the fish and in a short time returned with a bountiful supply. They were fried in due time and together with barbecue, cakes, pies, pickles, etc., everybody believed very strongly they had attended a real picnic.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cates, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. Will Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cates and Miss Jessie Cates, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rennels, Mr. and Mrs. Nesbit, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Brown, Mrs. Frank Cates, Roy Steele, M. C. Hickman.

Representatives of League Will Attend Clarendon Meeting

At the close of the program rendered by the Senior Epworth League Sunday evening at the Methodist church it was announced that two delegates had been selected to attend the Annual League Assembly at Clarendon, commencing May 30th, and continuing for a week thereafter.

Miss Ila Lovelady and Edward Huffman were selected as representatives of the League.

Tom Bell Elected W. T. C. C. Director

Tom Bell was elected to the board of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Tuesday at the convention in Wichita Falls. New officers of this great organization were installed at the final business session Tuesday night.

Resolutions of the organization were adopted after their reading by the newly elected president, R. W. Haynie. The resolutions committee which is composed of leading men all over West Texas spent two days in compiling the resolutions which explains in detail every department of the work of the organization and plans for the coming year. Questions of vital interest to all West Texans are taken up in the resolutions and the staff of the W. T. C. C. will follow the work outlined in them.

These resolutions will be printed in many of the leading papers of Texas and everyone should read them in order to better understand the work of the organization. Everyone interested in the welfare of West Texas owes it to himself to read these facts.

Too Busy to Run For U. S. Senate

Governor Dan Moody is quoted as having said he is too busy being Governor of Texas to run for the United States Senate. He wants the public to know that the use of his name as a possible candidate for that office is without authority. Governor Moody has only commenced to be Governor and he should not be pulled from that office until he has served at least two terms.

Sermon Sunday Was One of Very Practical Value

The baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. Chas. A. Powell of Abilene at the Methodist church Sunday morning was one of the most practical heard on a similar occasion here in a long time.

The sermon was based on the familiar story of the Prodigal Son who demanded of his father that portion of the goods that fell to him when he had reached his majority.

The subject was "Income versus Outcomes."

The speaker departed from the custom of speakers on occasions like this in directing their sermons to the graduating class of the high school and included the parents also. The first portion of the sermon dealt with the child's rights under parental care and at the age of maturity. Children have a right to demand their portion of the goods that falls to them when they become of age. Parents have no right to bring children into the world without giving them a chance in life.

The child has a right to ask for material sustenance in proportion to the ability of the parents to give.

He has a right to ask that his hands be strong and healthy so far as it is possible for them to give it. He pointed out here that parents who love their children make great sacrifices to give them sound bodies and often spend their last cent to correct some physical defect.

The child has a right to ask for mental training as a portion of his income, and the schools and institutions of learning all over the land are a strong attestation of the fact that parents are spending much money and effort to grant the youth that portion.

Lastly the child has a right to ask for his moral portion. The speaker emphasized the value and importance of a good name, that it is a good name that makes it possible for the child to make the best use of all the other endowments of his parents, and that all is worthless without a good name. If he has that he has a fortune.

But what about the outcome? Attention is now given the child. What will he do with the strong body, the mental training, the noble moral character, the good name and the material blessings with which he has been provided with sacrifice, perhaps, upon the part of struggling parents? Will he be a prodigal or a preserver? It is his to not only preserve these but to use them with which to bless others and make the world better. He can lose a good name, he may dissipate the body, he may squander riches, but education is one thing that he can not lose. It will stay with him when all else is gone.

The speaker placed strong emphasis on the proper using of that portion of all the goods that have come into his possession at the hands of his parents. It is not what one has but how he is going to use it that counts.

AMERICAN GENEROSITY

Once again it has been demonstrated that there is no generosity in the world that quite equals the American brand. When the cry of distress came from the people of the Mississippi valley, who were divested of their property—and many of their lives—it was answered with alacrity. By the time the second appeal was made by the American Red Cross, the first quota had been raised, and now the second, making a total of ten million dollars for flood relief, is as good as raised.

Although much of the giving for flood sufferers represents sacrifice on the part of the givers, the raising of such a sum of money in America, so liberally blessed with this world's goods, is not much of a strain upon the people. Americans learned to be generous during the war. They were urged to "give till it hurts," and the record is that they always did. During the period of the war and afterwards they answered every call with an over-subscription. Their giving recognized no nationality and completely obliterated lines dividing countries. The appeal for the crushed Armenian found as ready response as that for the rehabilitation of war-torn Belgium and France.

This is a fine heritage for America, and though sometimes not appreciated abroad, the generosity of Americans during the last decade in never turning a deaf ear to human distress, will get deserved recognition some day, when the hatreds engendered by war have been healed.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

(By West Texas C. of C.)

Amarillo—Through its weekly traffic bulletin, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has directed attention of its members to the meeting of the Southwest Shippers Advisory Board which will be held in this city May 21, the day following the meeting of the Panhandle Grain Dealers Association. The Shippers Board gathering will be the fourth annual meeting and the fifteenth regular meeting of that body, and all members are urged to attend.

Rails—A modern sanitary sewer system is being installed here, with two digging machines on the job. Four modern residences have just been completed and others are to be started within a few days. A paving project will be taken up soon. Conditions in the section are ideal and the general outlook is good.

Stamford—The May issue of "West Texas Today", off the press May 14, was in the form of the ninth annual convention program number, and contained the yearly report of the president. Copies of the official West Texas Chamber of Commerce magazine were distributed to convention visitors at Wichita Falls.

Snyder—Snyder's new $25,000 structure for a combination round and square bale gin is complete here. Machinery will be moved into the new plant at once.

Carlsbad, N. M.—Four big bodies of visitors will see the famed Carlsbad Caverns during May. These are: the State Medical Association, Dallas Trade Trippers, New Mexico-West Texas District United Christian Missionary workers, West Texas Geological Society members with the Bureau of Economics of Texas University. In addition to this, increasing numbers of daily tourist travelers will visit the noted caves.

Lockney—Work will start immediately on erection of a main building for the Lockney Cotton Oil Company. The contract price for the structure is approximately $75,000. In addition to this building, seed houses, ware houses and other elements are to be built to the plant.

Eastland—June 1st has been set as the tentative starting date for construction of Eastland's $300,000 Connellee Hotel. Final plans and specifications for the building have been approved by the local committee, and preparations are being made to receive bids.

Lamesa—A Dawson County Poultry Association has been perfected here, and committees are now at work on problems of handling and marketing eggs. Five officials make up the executive corps of the organization.

On the U. S. murder front the wives seem to hold the advantage just now.

Ignorance of the law excuses no one, but knowledge of the law confuses everyone.

DUTY WELL PERFORMED

The compliment paid the press associations by President Coolidge in his recent New York address, for the part they have had in the growth and development of America, was merited. The American news distributing agencies have had an important duty to perform as the world has grown smaller and their obligations to their patron newspapers have increased.

The story of American journalism in the last two decades has been a story of development unrivaled by the press of any other country, and in this the American press association has had a significant part. The newspapers of this country, indeed the people themselves, have been singularly fortunate, for at no time has the press been cursed with a governmental subsidized agency. The newspapers have never been blighted by the deadening hand of monopoly which sought to control the news distributing resources of the country.

This condition, working with a free press, has influenced greatly the continuation and strengthening of democratic ideals with which the people of this country were blessed by the far-sighted men who wrote the constitution.

The world is hungry and thirsty for that which money can not buy.

Many public prayers are spoiled by lack of private practice.

It is more important to do a thing well than to do it first.

Announcing CONOCO AMALIE MOTOR OILS

CONOCO dealers can now supply you with Conoco Amalie Motor Oil in the proper consistency for your particular motor. It will be worth your while to try it, for this oil has the unqualified approval of the experts who have designed and perfected motors for 207 automotive vehicles. These engineers have learned by actual tests that Amalie, 100% pure Pennsylvania oil, does a 100% lubrication job. And these engineers know that oil is the life-blood of the motor. If the oil breaks down, so does the motor.

Made from premium crudes from the famous Butler and Franklin fields in Pennsylvania, Conoco Amalie Motor Oil gives lubrication unsurpassed by any other oil in the world. It stands up under the most intense heat. It retains its viscosity—thus sealing the pistons and greatly reducing crankcase dilution, the cause of so much costly wear and tear on the motor.

Conoco Amalie is not a "tramp" oil. Every batch is sampled and tested in the laboratory before being packed in the drums and cans from which you get it. Look for the Guaranteed 100% Pennsylvania Oil trade-mark on the Conoco Amalie container—at your service station or garage. Then you will be sure to get the right oil for your motor—the kind of oil that the manufacturer of your car wants you to use.

A New Record in Chevrolet Sales

Spurred on by the greatest demand in its history, Chevrolet in April again set up a new production record with a total output for the month of 111,937 units. This exceeds by 4,037 units the best previous record of the company and establishes an all-time record for the monthly production of gear-shift cars.

Equally as spectacular as the remarkable production feat and dividing the spotlight with it was the mark established April 29, when in the short space of a day's working hours, the factories built 5,347 Chevrolet cars and trucks. This was 272 units in excess of the best previous day's record.

It was particularly fitting that the record day happened to be the same one that Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation, chose for a visit to the Flint plant. Mr. Sloan, with C. S. Mott, vice president of the General Motors Corporation, arrived at the factory early in the day as guests of W. S. Knudson, president, and C. F. Barth, vice president of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

Before Mr. Sloan had completed his inspection of the big Flint plant, where men and machinery were combining to build the eight types of Chevrolet cars now available, it was evident that a new production record was in sight.

Mr. Sloan waited for number 5,347 to come off the line, congratulated Mr. Knudson on the remarkable showing being made by the Chevrolet Motor Company and its product and rode off the line in the epoch-making model which again happened to be a coach.

Things Worth Knowing

The longest suspension bridge in the world spans the Delaware river between Philadelphia and Camden, connecting the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey. It has a span of 1750 feet.

The struggle of the church and the state in Mexico goes back to 1857-59 when a new constitution containing provisions to regulate the church came into effect. It has gradually been made more stringent, resulting in the present crisis.

Washington's birthday was celebrated in 1817 in a Philadelphia ball room lighted by 2,000 wax candles. The cost of the illumination amounted to $150 and we obtain the same illumination power with electricity today for approximately 50 cents.

American production of motor vehicles last year amounted to 2,480,000, with a wholesale value of $3,056,950,000. Of these, 530,000 were trucks, and 3,950,000 were passenger cars. The total number of motor vehicles in use in the world is about 27,500,000, of which 22,300,000, or 81 per cent, are in the United States.

Canada is the only dominion in the British Commonwealth of Nations which is represented by a minister at Washington. Due to the close relations existing between the two nations, this plan was found necessary. Vincent Massey is the first minister to the United States and William Phillips is the first U. S. minister to Canada.

Chinese leaders of all shades of belief are agreed on one goal—that treaties with sixteen nations granting consular jurisdiction, control over the customs tariff and administration and the grant of most favored nation treatment must be revised. Numbered among them is the Chinese treaty with the United States which embodies all things complained of as being unfair.

White Deer—Road signs have been placed recently at strategic points on highways entering this city. This is in line with a Road Sign Placement Campaign inaugurated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which advocates establishment of road markers and mileage information in order to save strangers perplexion, loneliness, and loss of time. The White Deer Chamber of Commerce sign committee is taking action at this time to prepare for the tourist season now opening.

Crowell—Extension of sidewalks is underway here on North Main Street. This development gives the city nearly a mile of pavement from the northern portion of town to the depot.

TAMED CHEYENNE IN DAYS OF OLD WEST

Early Exploits of Collier Trophy Winner Recalled.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—"The Man Who Made Cheyenne Behave!" Thus early residents of the days when the two-gun man held sway in the West recall Maj. Edward L. Hoffman, who at the White House recently received from the hands of President Coolidge the Collier trophy, emblematic of the year's outstanding achievement in aviation.

By his development of the "free type" parachute, which all army aviators are now obliged to strap to their back before "taking off," Major Hoffman stands unofficially credited with saving the lives of no less than 42 airmen.

But wild and woolly Cheyenne of the old days remembers Hoffman for quite different reasons. For when the town was closing its saloons only on Sundays for a few hours so the bartenders could go to church, he won the distinction of taming the place, using, for the first time in its turbulent history, something besides the traditional "shootin' iron."

At the time Major Hoffman was a "ranker," a private serving at Fort D. A. Russell. The army post was located a distance of three miles from town. Oddly enough, already there was a trolley in operation, supported largely by the patronage of the soldiers. But a crisis in the affairs of the "short line" management was precipitated when its cash customers were ordered out for summer maneuvers along the Mexican border. To meet the emergency the company raised the fare to 10 cents. On their return from field service, the soldiers were informed they, too, must pay the higher fare. The army decided to fight.

After some dickering a soldier committee, which had raised Private Hoffman to its chairmanship, walked into the offices of the company and laid down this ultimatum: "A 5-cent fare or we walk!"

The Boycott Was On.

And walk they did. Hoffman won the support in the fight of Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, World war hero, then commanding Fort Russell. General Edwards saw the justice of the men's side. That support was a big factor in the success of the boycott, too. On the first day a very disheveled and indignant captain stamped into the general's office and reported that soldiers had roughly handled him when he alighted from a trolley car.

Though no court-martial orders were ever issued against the rude soldiers, one result was that Cheyenne residents soon noticed the cars were running back and forth to the post with no passengers aboard. But well trained as the doughboy is to long hikes, when off duty he prefers to ride.

So Hoffman hit upon an idea to force the issue. Each month the 3,000 soldiers were spending about $200,000 with the merchants of Cheyenne. Hoffman would ask the business men to aid the soldiers get the 5-cent fare back. They listened to his plea, then politely said, "No." Whereupon the boycott was extended to every commercial activity in town, excepting one lone movie house.

By this time Hoffman was something of a celebrity throughout the region. In Denver, news of his general boycott reached the ears of more progressive business men, who offered to ship out merchandise at lower prices than they had been paying in Cheyenne.

Then the Union Pacific stepped in and offered special rates to soldiers traveling over its lines. So the larger city of Denver soon saw more and more soldiers trooping in to spend their week-ends there.

Cheyenne is "Taken."

Meanwhile the bronco-bustin', gun-totin' town of Cheyenne, that had defied Billy the Kid and other notorious bad men, was being "taken" without the firing of a shot.

The end came when Hoffman agreed to meet a committee of business men and listen to their peace overtures. They submitted invoices and bills of expense to show they were almost giving their wares to the soldiers at cost.

Hoffman's answer was a complete surprise. Before their dumfounded eyes he held aloft two lots of their own sales slips. One, he explained, showed the prices charged civilians and the other the prices soldiers had to pay for the same goods. He pointed out the higher prices were almost twice as high.

Their rout was complete when Hoffman further compared the Cheyenne prices with those offered by Denver merchants.

The trolley car company, however, still held out, even after the discomfited merchants had called in a body and urged the lowering of the fare. Finally a compromise was reached whereby the soldiers were invited to look over the books of the company. They agreed to reduce the fare if the books showed a reasonable profit would be possible.

It may be that they visioned a group of bewildered soldiers tumbling into the office, puzzling over the intricate columns of figures, at length admitting they had wronged the company.

Hoffman, however, came accompanied by an expert public accountant from Denver. After one look at the accounts he announced a 5-cent fare was not only possible but also highly profitable. The boycott was over.

Present-day style hints have ceased to be style hints—they are open exposures.

Spring is also the time we frequently hear: "I don't think good enough for her."

LOW RATES for time payments on these cars

ANY FAMILY entitled to credit may buy a General Motors car and pay for it while using it, under the GMAC Plan.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION MUST HAVE SUPPORT

The ladies of the Cemetery Association are forced to abandon their efforts to keep the cemetery up on account of a lack of general interest enough to give them the financial support they must have.

Those who are familiar with their work know that they have labored unceasingly for many years to keep some one employed to take care of the cemetery and have done mighty well, but it has been a struggle. Plan after plan has been studied out whereby they might finance it, but now they feel that they are at the limit of their resources. They must have a more business like arrangement that will give the support the proposition must have.

At least $500 a year is the budget they must have. With that amount they feel that they can go forward as they have in the past, keep a man employed to look after and keep the cemetery in good condition. That is a small amount. In all probability there are at least 500 people in the county that could take an annual membership in the association and pay the small sum of $1.00 per year. That is a sum that would hurt nobody. Then, too, this is something that concerns nearly everybody in the county. Not only is Crowell interested, or should be, but the interest should be widespread over the county, for hundreds of people in the rural communities have loved ones buried in the Crowell cemetery. And many others who may not have loved ones buried there will have some time in the future.

If something is not done within the next few weeks to put the financing of the work on a dependable basis we shall find ourselves without a sexton and no care will be taken of the property and there will be nobody to call on to dig graves when it must be done.

If there are those who wish to help or would signify their interest in the matter, let them see the president, Mrs. Ben Hinds, or the secretary, Mrs. R. L. Kincaid, and talk the matter over with them. They would appreciate any suggestion as to how to proceed further, but the thing they want is co-operation, and they must have it or our cemetery must go neglected.

According to reports of the wheat situation in the county, we are assured of a fair crop, even though we have no more rain. The fact is rain would do no good now unless in the case of the late wheat. We are told that some wheat in the county will be cut next week. Those who have been over the county examining the wheat are confident that we shall have a 75 per cent crop. The wheat is said to have long heads and good grains. It is expected that the sample will be much better than it was last year and since the acreage is largely increased over that of 1926, the estimate of the entire crop in bushels is not far from last year's. Then, also the price is expected to be better. In view of these reports we have little cause to feel discouraged over the injury that appears to have resulted to the crop by reason of a shortage of moisture for the last month.

Crowell got some mighty good advertising at the big convention at Wichita Falls. The thousands of people who attended the great event need not be ignorant longer of the fact that there is a town called Crowell and county known as Foard County. In a great way the town and the county were largely represented.

GRAND JURY REPORT

To the Judge of the District Court, Foard County, Texas.

We, the grand jury, sworn and empaneled at the May term, 1927, of the District Court, Foard County, Texas, desire to report as follows:

We have inquired into all violations of the law known to our body or brought to our attention, and we herewith return 6 felony indictments and 1 misdemeanor indictment.

We find in our investigations that some school and church property in some localities in our county are being destroyed and mutilated. This action, we find, has been taken by young boys who played about the school houses and churches and loitered and loafed thereabout. We want to call the attention of the parents of our county to this condition and ask their hearty co-operation in putting an end to this kind of conduct on the part of the boys of the various communities of our county. To destroy or mutilate public property is a serious violation of the law, and the boys who participate in these actions do not realize the seriousness of their actions, and we wish to ask their parents to keep a closer check on them and their conduct in order to prevent these occurrences in the future.

We have had it brought to our knowledge that some people are permitted to vote in our elections who are not qualified voters. We desire to call the attention of the future judges and clerks of elections in our county and city to this fact and suggest a closer scrutiny of those presenting themselves at the polls to vote. We find this condition existing particularly as to some of our city elections, in that residents of other parts of the county than the city have apparently been permitted to vote in city elections that they require legal affidavits to be made, in conformity with the law, where the poll tax receipt is not presented at the time voters appear at the polls to vote.

It has come to the knowledge of our body that some of our merchants are apparently selling extracts for beverage purposes, which is a serious violation of the law and inconsistent with good morals. We want to ask the merchants of our county to co-operate with the officers in their efforts to curtail the drinking of intoxicants, and to be very cautious about selling extracts and other liquids containing alcohol for beverage purposes.

We desire to request our county commissioners court to have an audit made covering all funds received and disbursed in connection with the schools of our county. We find there has been no audit made of these school accounts for several years, and it is the opinion of our body that these funds should be audited as to the past and in the future we believe such an audit should be made annually. We believe this should be done in order that the taxpayers who contribute to the upkeep of our schools will be in a position to know to their own satisfaction just how the matters and finances pertaining to our schools are handled and kept.

We have concluded our labors and ask to be finally discharged.
C. P. SANDIFER, Foreman

A REAL MISSIONARY

Last Thursday night at the First Christian church Miss Ruth Musgraves, a returned missionary from Africa, delivered one of the best missionary addresses that Crowell has had. The address was a very practical talk. She just told of the conditions as you may see them and then made a comparison of the heathen village on the one hand and the Christian village on the other hand. It was rather a contrast of the two. She showed that the heathen villagers were dirty and filthy and holding to all the superstitions of the dark continent. The women are the slaves of the men. A man is counted rich or poor according to the number of wives he is able to have. But when these people become Christian the man takes but one wife and wants to live in a house as the missionaries have. The heathen house has no windows or openings except the opening to enter. But when he becomes a Christian he wants windows and furniture such as chairs and tables and bed off the floor or ground. Then, too, the heathen wears but scant clothing but the Christian wants clothing as the white man. Miss Musgraves just gave the conditions as they actually existed. The parents or father sells his daughters to men for wives. They are sold when mere girls, and they become the property of the man buying them just as cattle do here.

Miss Musgraves came home for medical treatment and a surgical operation. She is to return to her work June 28th. She goes with our prayers and support. This will be her third term in the African mis-

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, MAY 22

(By Mrs. Allen Sanders)

The lesson took place during the summer of A. D. 30.

The place was at the beautiful gate of the temple, Solomon's porch, and the judgment hall of the San Hedrin.

Moody has said that it has yet to be shown what a life fully consecrated to God can do. This lesson is a good example of what a church or individual Christians can do if fully yielded to God.

Peter and John went "up" into the temple because Solomon had built it on Mt. Moriah. The Jews observed three hours of prayer daily—morning, noon and evening—and the ninth hour would correspond to our three o'clock in the afternoon. Definite time for prayer helps us to carry out the command to "pray without ceasing." The cripple had been taken for the greater part of forty years every day to the temple to beg, and had become well-known. He knew that he would receive the most alms where the kindest people were, so he chose the temple. This gate, according to Josephus, was the eastern one and was made of Corinthian bronze, and surpassed the others which were overlaid with silver and gold. When the man asked for alms Peter, the oldest apostle, and John, the youngest, looked intently at him to see if he had the faith necessary for the miracle. Satisfied with what they saw they said, "Look on us", for concentrated minds are the ones which receive the blessings. When Paul healed the cripple at Lystra, he used this same plan. The man at the gate gave heed and received a blessing, the people of Nazareth did not and Jesus could do no miracles there.

Peter performed his miracle in the name of Christ, he knew well from whence his power came. But he not only gave the command to walk, but extended his hand and gave the man a start; he did that in the case of Dorcas, Jesus took the hand of the daughter of Jairus. On Solomon's Porch, where Jesus once walked, Simon Peter again preached repentance to the crowd who had gathered, and the rest of the apostles were talking to others elsewhere in the temple. The Jewish leaders became disturbed because they dared preach, and the Sadducees, who did not believe in immortality, were offended because he said Christ had risen. So they were arrested and probably all twelve were cast in prison. As they could not have a legal trial at night they waited until morning. Two thousand more had been added to the church—five thousand now. The next morning they were brought before the Sanhedrin, the Jewish senate consisting of seventy-one members. Annas and Caiaphas before whom Christ appeared were among the members present. The elders marveled at the apostles' boldness and threatened them with punishment if they continued to preach. But they obeyed God rather than man. When the disciples were released they went to their own company and after prayer and thanksgiving, the Holy Spirit again visited them.

Tragedy of the Deep

Burned Into Memory
The following vivid description of a sinking ship is taken from "A Chequer-Board," by Robert Clay.

Almost at the same moment the planking under their feet quivered, rose, and tilted to a violent lurch of the vessel; and from deep within her an ugly gurgling made itself heard. Snatching the woman up in his arms, the captain sprang to the side. "Below there!" he shouted; "steady the ladder, and make ready to shove off!" While he awaited his turn the mate glanced about him. The prize was settling fast. A thrashing of waters in the hull grew louder and more ominous; and the slant of the deck increased until the detritus upon it began to shift and roll; the dead to slide grotesquely toward the scuppers. Not before a shout of warning roused him did he move, and putting a hand upon the shattered bulwarks, vault over and drop lightly among an impatient crew.

The black ship had drifted farther from its victim, and the distance was not lessened by oarsmen who, reacting to the inertia of a stifling noon, pulled sluggishly, their furtive eyes upon the woman by their captain's side. Of the three persons in the stern-shoots, only Paul Shelve kept his head turned to watch the doomed merchantman find a grave. He had seen many vessels suffer a like fate, but the passing of this one, for some unknown reason, fascinated him. The very slowness with which she sank, plumes of spray that rose to a sudden lurch, and reflected sunlight as the water swathed her decks. Heralded by a crash of rending timbers and a weird and prolonged sibilance as if some Titan mourner sighed, the end came unexpectedly. For a fraction of time the sea gaped open in a pit, whose edges seemed of glittering green ice, and above which, like a pointing finger, a top-mast showed. Then the sides rushed in upon each other, met, broke in a high ridge of boiling foam, and fell. And all that remained was a cask or two dancing like corks amongst giant bubbles, spinning on a swirl of waters. Of the dead there was no trace; only the darting fins of the sea-giants vanished as they gathered to a feast.

Cut Off Short

Jerome K. Jerome, the English humorist, dislikes American hotels, and on his last American visit he said to a New York reporter:

"Your hotels are magnificent architecturally. Nothing like them for architectural magnificence. But they are a little too high-handed in their treatment of the public. Heaven help the man who makes a kick in an American hotel!"

"Once, in a hotel restaurant of onyx and gold, my waiter was so intolerable that I had to send for the manager. The manager swaggered to my table, looking pretty fierce.

"Well, sir?" he said.
"I began in a mild way."
"I have a serious complaint."
"But the man must have disliked my English accent, for he cut me off short."

"This is a restaurant, this is," he said. "This ain't no hospital, see?"
"And he gave me a threatening kind of nod and swaggered off."

It is said the artificial blond is passing. Yes, she passes often and we always recognize her.

Are They?

Recently, in one of the small change stores, a young woman, while selecting several pairs of the simple style of shoe trees, noticed an elderly woman watching her with avid curiosity. Finally the elderly woman said:

"What are those things?"
"Shoe trees," she replied.
But the puzzled expression failed to lift from the wrinkled face, and the elderly woman murmured, "Oh," as she turned one of them over and over in her hand. Then, subtly trying for more information, she queried: "Are they comfortable?"—Exchange.

Study Esperanto

The need of a universal language for the Young Women's Christian association world committee meetings prompted the organization to urge their international representatives to study Esperanto. Delegates from all parts of the world attend these meetings, representing countries using more than 25 languages. English, French and German have hitherto been the official languages of the gatherings. It is hoped to form an Esperanto group at the 1928 meeting.

STANDING IN OUR OWN LIGHT

There is vastly more in the slogan "Buy at Home," than a mere appeal to local pride, local patriotism and public spirit and local self-interest. It ought not to be necessary to point to any of these things as the duty, or rather the high privilege of every resident of the community in keeping it prosperous. And it ought not to be necessary to point to the further reason for keeping money earned in this or any other town at work in and for the community, because the reason is self-apparent. Aside from considerations of pride and duty, the proposition involves a clear case of self-preservation.

If the money we make here is to be sent away to enrich other places, we are standing in our own light. We do not believe the evil is as great here as it is in some other cities, perhaps, but every individual case in which goods are purchased out of town when they could be procured here at no greater, or even at less cost, is a black eye for the business community.

It must be borne in mind that purchases made from door to door salesmen have precisely the same effect as though the money were sent direct to the mail order houses out of town. This city is poorer by the aggregate sum of all such purchases and the effect upon local trade and local prosperity is too obvious to require comment.

Thoughtlessness is responsible for it, but that is a poor excuse for making it more difficult for the local merchant to give full service, to carry full stocks, to expand his business and bring here the class of merchandise he desires to carry.

Another injustice is that the mail order business is all cash whereas the local merchant is accommodating to his local trade. It is unfair to use the local man's capital for certain necessities and then to send away cash for the other things that could be had here. The practice is economically unsound and sooner or later those responsible for it will regret that they have ever been so blind to the best interests of their own town.

CATTLE DRAWN BY INSTINCT OF AGES

Stampede Brought About by Rainstorm.

A country of sudden darkness, where tragedy and comedy run side by side, where drought follows fortune, and the unexpected lurks behind the corner is the gulf region of Australia. And nowhere are there more contrasts, more dramatic or abrupt, than in the living merchandise of the gulf—cattle.

In the valleys of the Leichardt, near the Cumberlands, the cattle from the dry ranges, farther out, are known as "storm cattle." For these are animals that are born in a hot wilderness, where the only water comes from the sky, and where, when cattle want a drink, they chase a rainstorm.

For most of the year—in dry seasons, throughout the year—these cattle have to depend on showers for their water. Their senses are sharpened, their instinct specialized, their noses trained to detect that one great necessity of life, drinking water. Away from their dusty ovens, in strange pastures, they still retain those habits which have been burnt into them by the brands of thirst.

A herd of these cattle was taken out of the ranges once to a station where water was plentiful, from mountain streams and springs. For a time, in the winter months, they seemed to have settled down completely. They drank this astonishing profusion of water with satisfaction.

Then, with the approach of summer, the "dry" storms peculiar to Queensland and the Gulf country began to flash in the sky. These flying showers are reflected in the sky miles from their actual location. The Queenslanders of this region is used to the storm, which seems to be just round the corner, but in reality is many hours of traveling away.

The cattle were not so used to the phenomenon, however. And at the descent of the first "dry storm" away went the herd, true to its instincts. In a few moments, every beast in the herd was racing madly away to the spot where the rain seemed to be falling. The fact that water was close at hand did not deter them. This was the deeprooted instinct of thousands of ancestors of the gulf country, whose very lives had depended on their speed in reaching the area licked momentarily by a mocking shower.

Ten years ago the United States entered the war and there is no way to tell when we will get out.

WITH THE LITTLE FOLKS

About 25 or 30 little folks were entertained by Mrs. Adolphus Wright on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carter. The occasion was the 4th birthday of Mrs. Wright's little daughter, Theda Lavern. Many games were played, after which the birthday cake was cut and the guests served with ice cream and cake. The little hostess received numbers of nice gifts, for which she thanked her guests sweetly. It was a happy occasion for all and each little boy and girl thanked their hostess for it.

Mrs. Evans Mitchell entertained a number of little boys and girls Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Mitchell in honor of the 5th birthday of her son, Van Hines. Games and other amusement features, entertained the little folks for some time. Then they vied in blowing out the birthday candles and ice cream and cake were served. After wishing their little host many happy birthdays, the guests departed for their homes. Van Hines received many nice birthday gifts.

The members of the beginners' department of the Methodist Sunday School were entertained last Saturday afternoon by their teacher, Miss Emily Purcell, at her home. A happy time was had by the little tots and pink ice cream served in cones constituted the refreshments, much to the delight of those present.

About 15 or 20 little school mates and friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKown last Saturday afternoon in response to invitations to a birthday party for Dorothy Pauline McKown. It was Dorothy's 8th birthday. A happy two hours were spent in playing games and having a good time after which Mrs. McKown served refreshments on the lawn, picnic style. The hostess received pretty gifts and each boy and girl wished her many happy birthdays.

Aelphian Club

The Adelphian Club met Wednesday May 11, with Mrs. R. D. Oswalt as hostess.

Mrs. R. E. Palm had charge of the program, which was on "The Art Colonies" and artists of Taos and Santa Fe, New Mexico. Interesting descriptions were given of Taos and the Taos Indians, also the city of Santa Fe. These places are being recognized as established art centers of the Southwest and have already produced a number of eminent artists. The cities themselves are closely associated with the earliest history of the Texas Indians and the Spanish settlers and are full of color and historical romance. An account of the annual Fiesta held at Santa Fe was given. This is a celebration lasting three days. The first day is Indian day, the second Spanish and the third Spanish-American, thus presenting the three stages of its civilization.

Mrs. Palm sang the state song "Fair New Mexico," by Elizabeth Garrett, a blind poet of that state.

The next and last regular meeting of this year will meet Wednesday, May 25, at the home of Mrs. Joe Johnson. Every member is urged to be present at this meeting.

The hostess served brick ice cream, angel food cake and punch.—Reporter.

Initial Pease River Survey Completed

Vernon, May 15.—A preliminary survey of the Pease River irrigation project has been completed to a point on one of the proposed canals, about five miles south of Vernon, J. L. Lockridge of the engineering firm of Floyd & Lockridge of Dallas announced Wednesday during a visit to Vernon. A canal which, if the project is completed, will supply this section with water and will extend on to Electra, Iowa Park and Burkburnett, is now being surveyed. It will show the approximate limits of the land which will be available for irrigation from the canals, Lockridge said.

The field work of the survey will be completed in about a week, but about 60 days will be required to compile maps and other data, it was announced. This survey and the report to the State Water Board will be the basis for the organization of the preliminary district and for the voting of short term notes to finance the detailed survey.

The project, which includes the construction of a big dam across Pease River between Quanah and Crowell, is planned to furnish water for irrigation purposes in the Pease and Red River valleys, and permanent water supplies for several cities of this section, including Vernon, Crowell, Quanah, Electra, Iowa Park and Burkburnett.

Detective Stories

There is a weakness in everybody's armor, and it is detective stories, says a Detroit librarian. "No matter how staid or how learned, or how much a client may prefer philosophy or history, once in a while every reader likes a detective story, a rattling good one," says this same librarian. "Maybe it is once in ten years, or once a year, but they all fall on occasion. I think it is because a detective story takes them completely out of themselves, and that is good for everybody, once in a while."

Locked-Up Old History

The muniment room at Westminster abbey contains a collection of historical documents that probably has no counterpart the world over. Closely guarded in locked, iron-bound chests, the papers kept there number over 100,000, and some of them date back to the Eighth century.

These documents are now being prepared and edited for publication, and Doctor Scott, the librarian of the British museum, is making a careful précis of 57,000 of the more important.

Cars Traveled Together

Four occupants of a small coupe narrowly escaped injury on the Torrington road, about two miles from Winsted, Conn., when the driver of the car lost control, in attempting to pass another machine, ran up an embankment at a sufficient rate of speed to cause the coupe to leave the ground, overturn and land upside down on the machine in the road. The second car, which was a sedan, continued for about twenty feet with the coupe on its top.

There are plenty of people who work themselves to death looking for amusement.

Many an astute business man never displays any of his astuteness at home.
