J. C. Harrison, Pioneer Citizen, Died Sunday

Joseph Coulter Harrison was born May 20, 1848, in Missouri and died July 17, at the Crowell Sanitarium following a brief illness. Mr. Harrison came to Texas in early manhood and made his home in this state the remainder of his life. At the age of twenty-one he was married to Miss Mary Sides of Lampasas, Texas, who died May 11, 1908. Three boys and five girls were born to this union, three of whom survive, W. H. Harrison and Mrs. H. E. Ferguson, of Crowell, and J. B. Harrison of Paducah. All were present at the funeral. Walter Huntley, son-in-law of Mr. Harrison, and wife and youngest daughter of Tulsa came for the funeral. Mr. Huntley's oldest daughter, Mary Lee, had been here for several weeks visiting relatives.

Mr. Harrison moved to Foard County with his family about thirty-three years ago, and has made his home here since that time, being one of the pioneers who underwent many hardships in pioneering the building of a new country.

The deceased joined the Presbyterian Church at an early age. He was a good man, retiring in disposition, and was loved and respected by all who knew him.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. W. J. Mayhew, pastor of the church being in charge. He was assisted by Rev. E. L. Mayfield, pastor of the Baptist church, and Rev. L. Guy Ament, pastor of the Christian Church. Interment was made in the Crowell Cemetery.

Sweet Clover Makes Good Stock Pasture

M. L. Cribbs, who lives in the West Rayland Community, has a sweet clover pasture that is giving excellent results for grazing. The clover, which is the white blossom variety, was sown about four years ago on some land that was turned out of the field due to water rising and making it too wet to cultivate. Mr. Cribbs sowed the clover without any preparation of the land. He merely scattered the seed by hand over the pasture, and since that time it has reseeded itself each time until it is a better stand than when it was first sowed.

From fifteen to twenty pounds were used per acre on this land. Mr. Cribbs thinks that best results will be obtained by sowing twenty pounds per acre. Sweet clover seed are so small that many of them are very poor in germination, and this often accounts for the poor stands.

All stock on the Cribbs farm grazes the clover equally as well as they do alfalfa. In fact, Mr. Cribbs thinks that as a pasture it is superior to alfalfa. All of his stock is pastured on the clover, his hogs, cattle, horses, and mules.

General Meeting of Ch. of Commerce Called for Friday

A general meeting of the Foard County Chamber of Commerce has been called by President J. F. Long to be held Friday afternoon at 2 p. m., in the district court room. All members and the public in general are urged to be present.

There are a number of matters affecting the future of this town and county that will be discussed. The meeting will be especially open to suggestions and plans that anyone may have in mind at this time. Every one attending the meeting will have an opportunity for expression and it is sincerely hoped by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce that many suggestions from those in attendance as to what steps they think need the attention of the Chamber of Commerce, will be made as every suggestion will be given careful consideration.

This is the logical time to take advantage of the new opportunities offered us and co-operative action on the part of the county as a whole is needed to receive full value from them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harwell went to Benjamin Tuesday for a visit with Mr. Harwell's aunt, Mrs. M. Alexander. They returned home yesterday.

More Pledges Needed for Cemetery Assn.

The Crowell Cemetery Association met the first Tuesday in June in a desperate effort to devise ways and to finance the upkeep of our cemetery.

We finally decided we knew of no better way than to follow the plan used by the American Red Cross which has what is called the annual roll call. Since quite a few of our faithful women had already paid their dues we found it most convenient to have June the beginning of our cemetery year.

We mailed out circular letters to friends of our association explaining our plan, also enclosing a pledge card asking each one to subscribe as much as he felt he would like to give for the year 1927 toward this worthy cause. Some have hesitated to sign the cards, not caring to obligate themselves, while some have sent subscriptions who had received no cards.

We hope to mail these every year reminding the friends and loved ones of those who sleep in our city of the dead, that we want to keep their resting place both neat and attractive.

Perhaps next year we will have so prospered that we may give more, or should adversity overtake us any amount will be acceptable.

Don't be afraid our quota will be over-subscribed for should we have a surplus there's much else to do. We need city water, a portable tent, some comfortable seats and numerous other things. Now let's do our bit and put this thing over. Consider it a privilege and not a duty.

We are "carrying on" already for those who organized this association and soon others will be "carrying on" for us.

FIRST OIL WELL IN FOARD COUNTY FIELD BROUGHT IN THIS WEEK

Roxana Fain-McGaha Matthews No. 1 Hits Pay Dirt at 1475 Feet Sunday Night

CROWELL CENTER GREAT OIL ACTIVITY

Income from Leases Already Exceed One Million Dollars; Two-Thirds of Foard County Leased for Oil

Foard County has its first oil well and the thrilling news that has been looked forward to for some time has at last been realized, and the possibility of Crowell's becoming the center of the greatest oil activity known to this section is very promising.

Foard County's first oil well, the Fain-McGaha Roxana Matthews No. 1, about one and one-half miles north of Thalia, and approximately twelve miles from Crowell, is good for at least five to one hundred barrels daily as it now stands according to E. R. Fain, promoter of the well, who has spent considerable time at it since the discovery of oil Sunday night. Mr. Fain, with his partner McGaha, who is now in Europe, are founders of the Fluhman Field south of Vernon, and with this discovery much greater success is added to their promotion of wildcats.

The oil sand was struck at 1475 feet and is now standing at 1487 feet, which depth was reached Monday night, and will probably remain at this point until storage facilities can be provided, at which time the well will be drilled in. Arrangements for a number of large storage tanks are being made and it is also understood that it is very probable that a pipe line from the Matthews No. 1 will be constructed to the Fluhman Field line, which is about ten miles away.

Twelve hundred and seventy-five feet of oil stood in the well Tuesday morning and was swabbed out the same day. So eager have visitor been to see the well that "Keep Out" signs have been disregarded, and large numbers of people from all over this section have visited it continually for the past few days. The most enthusiastic visitors were those at the well early Tuesday morning when swabbing operations were started, and the spectators given the thrill of seeing the first large streams of Foard County oil pour forth into the slush pit. Many took home samples of the flowing gold, and those securing the first samples proudly exhibited them in Crowell, and a crowd was always at hand to see and even smell "genuine Foard County oil."

Interest has increased to a great extent already and even on Monday it was reported that John Matus sold one quarter royalty on his 160 acres east of the well for $10,000.

Oil activity in this section has already meant a great deal to Foard County, and its magnitude cannot be realized until one looks at the figures on the activity that has taken place in this section. Crowell has been the center of the greatest amount of leases

Three Cans Bass Minnows Received For City Lake

According to Mayor C. T. Schlagal, three cans of Bass minnows were received from the State Fish Hatchery at San Marcos Wednesday. These were placed in the City Lake.

The city property where the lake is located along with adjoining property is being posted this week in order that the fish and the purity of the water may be protected. Mr. Schlagal stated that when the proper time comes the lake will be opened to the public for fishing purposes. It is thought that about two years will be required before the lake can be opened.

Petitions on Pease River Project to Be Circulated Soon

At the meeting of the directors of the Pease and Red River Valley Irrigation Association held in the dining room of the Wilbarger Hotel at Vernon at noon, Wednesday, July 20, boundaries of the proposed irrigation district were agreed upon and it was voted to prepare petitions as required by law, and that these petitions be circulated in the several communities included in the proposed district. Although the law requires only fifty signatures of property tax paying holders it is planned to secure several thousand signatures before presenting the petition to the State Board of Water Engineers. These petitions will be circulated in the districts surrounding Vernon, Electra, Burkburnett, and Iowa Park.

The proposed district will be called Pease Water Improvement District Number 3 and will include approximately three thousand acres of land and will also provide an almost unlimited water supply for the cities of Vernon, Electra, Iowa Park, Burkburnett, Quanah and Crowell. According to Floyd and Lochridge, consulting engineers from Dallas, the final district to be irrigated will include approximately one hundred fifty thousand acres to be selected from the preliminary district of three hundred thousand acres after a detailed survey of the project has been completed. The report of the preliminary survey of the project prepared by Floyd and Lochridge was presented at this meeting and approved by the directors of the association. Assuming that the cities and towns included within the preliminary district vote to stay in the permanent district, it is estimated that the per acre cost of the project will not exceed thirty seven dollars per acre, which was the approximate cost of the Wichita Irrigation project district.

When a sufficient number of signatures have been obtained on the petition these petitions together with the report on the preliminary survey will be presented to the State Board of Water Engineers requesting authority to organize the district, vote on issuance of notes to finance the detailed survey and to vote on the election of five directors of the district. The petitions will probably be ready by the last part of this week, and it is assumed that several months will be required in circulating these petitions and explaining the project to the property owners in the proposed district.

The directors of the irrigation were entertained at luncheon as guests of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce, Mr. W. W. Anderson, President of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce, opened the meeting with a short address of welcome assuring the association of the support of the local people. Among those attending the meeting were: from Vernon, Les K. Johnson, J. A. Dixon, R. H. Coffee, Grady Shipp, W. W. Anderson; from Crowell, J. W. Beverly, Mack Boswell; Burkburnett, R. K. Henry, W. K. Roberts, A. H. Lohofner, Ed Williams, O. J. Key; Electra, C. E. McDaniel, Edward Stofke, F. P. Merchant, R. R. Cook, Byron Johnson; Iowa Park, A. C. Golden, C. C. Hudson; Wichita Falls, Judge Harvey Harris; Wichita for the irrigation association, Joe Ward, A. H. Wolverton, H. R. F. Helland, O. N. Floyd of Dallas, Chief Engineer for the irrigation association. The business men of Iowa Park having recently voted to be included in the preliminary district sent Mr. A. C. Golden to this meeting, and Mr. Golden was made a director of the Irrigation Association.

BOY GORED BY COW

Lorraine, thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carter, was injured by a cow last Monday morning while attempting to separate the cow from her calf. The boy had gone with his father to the farm 1 mile north of town to milk some cows and was separating the calves when one of the cows made a rush at a calf, seemingly not intending to strike the boy, but one of the cow's horns pierced his leg making a painful wound, which required several stitches to close. The wound, although very painful, is not serious.

Mrs. G. W. Tate of Henryetta, Okla., is here visiting her son, S. E. Tate, and family. Mrs. Tate was 80 years of age Wednesday. Mr. Tate and Ed Manard went to Ardmore, Okla., last Friday to get Mrs. Tate, returning Sunday.

Contracts for New School Building Let By School Board

Contract for the construction of Crowell's new school building for which $80,000.00 bonds were recently voted was awarded last Thursday night to Kugler and Smith of Amarillo on their bid of $55,038.00. The heating and plumbing contract which also provides for a heating system for the old building was let to Young and Pratt of Lubbock on a bid of $12,000.00. The West Texas Electric Company of Vernon secured the electrical contract with a bid of $1350.00. Voelcker and Dixon of Wichita Falls are architects for the new structure.

The school board met Wednesday night to approve contracts and other details before construction could start. Construction on the new building which will be located on the present school site, southwest of the old building, will soon be under way and Mr. Kugler, one of the contractors, says that the building will likely be completed by the first of the year. A large number of bids by contractors from various places were made to the school board on this project last Thursday.

Protein Ration Proves Profitable In Hog Production

The ton litter contests that have been conducted in the last year or two in the production of pork has given some valuable information in regard to feeding hogs.

E. R. Eudaly, swine specialist of A. and M. College, who has charge of the ton litter contests in Texas has figured out a ration which is called the "supplement protein ration" that is giving some excellent results in production and also in the economy of feeding. Practically all of the ton litter contestants have fed this in connection with their grain rations.

In mixing small quantities the supplement is mixed as follows:

One-fourth pound tankage, one-fourth pound pure wheat shorts, one-eighth pound cotton seed meal, one-sixteenth pound bone meal, three-sixteenths pound ground oats, one-eighth pound alfalfa meal.

In feeding this mixture for best results it is recommended to feed it with ground corn, maize, or barley. Grind the grain very fine and mix one pound of the protein supplement with about the amount of the ground grain that each pig will clean up. One pound of the supplement per day for each pig regardless of size after they have reached fifty pounds of weight.

After the supplement and the ground grain is mixed it should be mixed with water or skimmed milk in a slop and fed for best results.

Mr. Eudaly gives the following points to observe in making the most from the hog business: 1. Use well bred hogs; 2. provide a good pasture; 3. provide clean drinking water; 4. feed a balanced ration; 5. control lice mange and worms; 6. provide suitable farrowing houses.

Co-Operation Needed to Prevent Sewerage Troubles—Schlagal

Mayor C. T. Schlagal has asked the aid and support of every citizen of Crowell in preventing any troubles in our sewer system as it was found during the flushing of the sewers this week that a great many things are thrown into the lines that stop them up which has been the cause of the trouble in the past.

Mr. Schlagal stated that all lines have been thoroughly cleaned, the work having been completed by a crew of men who have been flushing out the mains with fire hose this week. The trouble was found to be in the lines and in the future this trouble can be prevented, according to Mr. Schlagal, by co-operation on the part of Crowell citizens by not throwing anything in the sewers that will prevent water from circulating in them freely.

Dr. M. M. Hart has been here this week from Newport visiting his son, M. M., Jr., and wife. Dr. Hart says his health has not been good since having the flu and pneumonia about two years ago. He has been away from home about a month and visited his brother, Turner Hart, in New Mexico.

OUT-LOUD THINKINGS, ETC.

Crowell is facing the most critical period of its development. Right now this town has a chance to become an outstanding city or it has a chance to remain a mediocre "good town" with no other particular virtue. And what is the determining factor between these two courses? It is the man-power of Crowell. We say this positively, and without fear of contradiction.

Just think! Here we are with a real oil well, three other tests going down and two-thirds of Foard County leased for oil by thirty-two major companies, and Crowell right in the "big middle" of all this oil activity, and then in addition to this, the practical assurance of being placed on a paved highway, not just through the county, but on one of the longest stretches of pavement in the state which really means as much as a railroad, and then while somewhat speculative but nevertheless to be seriously considered is the bright prospects for a new railroad, strengthened especially by the probability of a new oil field in this section, and now are we going to take full advantage of the opportunities offered us?

"Cities do not happen, they are built," said some one. No greater truth was ever spoken. Behind every great enterprise, and a city is a great enterprise, is a man or a set of men. The Panama Canal is an enduring monument to the wisdom and zeal of Col. Goethals. Behind our great railway systems we find the indomitable spirits of Gould, Herriman and thousands of others. Just so with cities. Behind the success of every city we find the hard work of some man or group of men with a vision and a determination to see that visions come to pass.

What Crowell needs, or any city for that matter, is for the proper men to catch the vision of the greatness that could be Crowell's, and then having caught it, to set about with the determination to make that come true. Then and only then will Crowell occupy the place in the sun that it should occupy. We do not believe in what is called luck. Things do not just come to pass. They are brought about. Nature doesn't work outside of the plan of cause and effect. We can't just sit here and hope that things come to Crowell. We must go after them.

No doubt, the thought that has been uppermost in the minds of the greater part of the people of Crowell since the discovery of oil has been our need of a modern hotel. Do we have the facilities required to become headquarters for the substantial side of oil development, that of the "big guys" who really develop the oil fields and naturally bring a great deal of money to the centers or headquarters of activity? Have you ever heard of a city being built by oil where this desirable class did not have headquarters? Of course you have heard about the "big booms" taking place in the other class of oil towns, but have any of these really made cities? They are to be compared with sky-rockets in most cases, rapidly rising and then scattering and slowly descending. Crowell has the geographical location to become an oil center and to substantially benefit, we must work and work hard. Do you know where directing headquarters for the new oil well are? Did you know that workers on this well go over twenty miles to even file their reports and telephone calls? We do, and suppose that you can form an opinion as to where they go. If we wait for the oil boom to bring us a hotel, we may just keep on waiting. Yes, Panhandle waited, and then they got their hotel but too late, and what should have been their's went to Borger and a number of other little places, and the big piece of the cake to Amarillo. Any number of oil men will tell you that several places in the same locality had the same opportunity to benefit from oil as did Tulsa, but Tulsa had the hotels, now look at it and can you even call to mind the other places.

Santa Claus is a good fellow but he doesn't bring us hotels and no other person is likely to and if we are to get this necessary factor when we need it most, we are sort of the opinion that it will be largely through and by our own men and money, but we may be mistaken and know that it would be nicer if someone would come and build our hotel for us and this is possible but not probable. There are different ways of building hotels in communities and great care must be taken when any of these different plans are considered as many and costly mistakes have been made by cities everywhere. We want a hotel and the best plan in securing it, which we believe is that in which the local investor will receive the greatest dividends, directly and indirectly, and one where we can save delay in getting this hotel constructed. Now let's get

Strictly Cash

After August 1st

Knowing and realizing that a business conducted on a strictly cash basis is able to give its customers a far better price has enabled us to reach a decision to go on a strictly profit in any present-day business is so small that it is un-cash basis on August the 1st.

No business is able to run at a loss. The margin of able to absorb losses incurred by uncollected accounts, forcing the merchants to add this percentage of loss to the cost and eventually to the selling price. Thus the man who does pay his bills or pays cash also pays the losses incurred by the merchant or the man who does not.

Do you want to pay this? We, the Fox-Harrell Filling Station, will go on a strictly cash basis on August 1, 1927. This applies not only to some customers but to all.

However, at the same time, we are reducing our prices on all tires, tubes and accessories. Thus your cash enables you to obtain more for your money.

We want to take this method of thanking our customers for the business you have given us, whether this has been cash or 30-day accounts. We also request that you continue to do business with us under the new system.

Dr. Kincaid's Opinion On Amendment

It is my opinion that the amendment to the Constitution allowing the Legislature "to separate objects for purposes of taxation" would be of great benefit to the people of West Texas.

If it carries it would be a mandate to the Legislature to allow all taxes derived from homes and land to be used exclusively for county purposes. The State to get its taxes from intangible sources—corporations, occupations, etc.

At present a certain part of all taxes on land and homes goes to the State. This is based on the county rendition. Densely populated counties having lots of wealth in commercial and transportation enterprises, with no more roads, and very little more in courthouses and school houses, and these mostly paid for, can maintain their home enterprises with a rendition of from 20 to 30 per cent of their value. While thinly populated counties whose sole source of taxable wealth is land and homes, must render them from 30 to 75 per cent of their value. This allows older and well developed counties to pay proportionately a small part of the State taxes.

West Texas is just building or paying for courthouses, school houses, roads and other improvements and has no wealth except its homes and land, consequently must render these from 30 to 75 per cent of their value in order to get enough money for these improvements and hence must pay a disproportionate part of the State's expenses.

There are about one hundred counties that pay no state tax, or receive back more money than they pay into the State treasury. None of these counties are in West Texas.

If the purpose of this Amendment is carried out the State would be run by taxes derived from commercial, transportation, occupation and other intangible taxes which are now escaping their just part of the burden. West Texas having no large transportation or commercial enterprises or corporations, would pay very little State tax.

Mr. Norris has eight trees of Elbertas that he estimates will produce about six bushels per tree. Valve Grinding

We have the latest method of grinding valves. Tools that are up-to-the-minute in every respect. But that is not all. After a valve is seated perfectly, if it does not open and close at the proper time you do not have a good running motor. We have a new method of timing valves to piston travel. We time every set of valves we grind.

We would be glad to show you these tools and talk to you about valve grinding.

A RECEIVERSHIP THAT IS ADDING VALUE

The Orient Line lacks much of being a giant railway system. But it is nearer to robust health today than it has been since it left the dreamland of its originator's imagination. Considering the sad consequences of its collapse which Texas was so recently forced to contemplate as almost inevitable, it is pretty nearly a miracle that it should have gathered strength. After a long, weary term of receivership, it is on the point of solvency and even of dividend paying. Indeed, the chance of its being united across the Mexican border for a through sweep from Kansas City to the Pacific is better now than ever before. It is about to become a real railroad.

The Courts have been considering what the road ought to pay the two men who have worked this wonder in the midst of obstacles of the first magnitude. Presumably the legal argument over that determination is not ended. But it appears to be conceded rather widely that the receivership has been singularly able and resourceful in the handling of a very difficult problem in railroading and finance. At one time money to the Orient was like borrowing trouble. As a transportation system it began at somewhere and petered out in the general direction of nowhere in particular, with the middle of the line erased by winds of ill fortune and miscalculation. But the Orient of today is no longer yesterday's failure. It is tomorrow's success. And to the receivership belongs the credit for transformation.

The Orient has done as much as any other one thing to make Texas tolerant toward railroads. People of this State no longer look upon the transportation lines as oppressors of rich and poor. To the cry of agitators that the Government guarantees a profit to railroads the Orient has stood as an answer embodied in rusting steel and rotting ties. That it stands so no more is due less to governmental benevolence—although the governmental agencies have been sympathetic in so far as they lawfully could—than to the will of Kemper and Histed, who have staked some ten years of their lives on the determination that the Orient shall not die. An enterprise is not hopeless as long as it is backed by men who hope.

President Coolidge attended a South Dakota rodeo and watched fearless cowboys tame wild horses and cattle. He doubtless now has a better understanding of how to deal with a recalcitrant congressman.

"Texas Farmer Is Using His Head!"

"The Texas farmer is using his head," says J. A. Moore, in a recent interview in the Dallas News in which he stated that the general outlook for the farmer was the best that it had been for 27 years.

"The people have more money. They have in sight the best all round crop of cotton, corn, wheat and oats in a generation. There is more food in the gardens and orchards and more feed in the barns than ever before at this time in the history of Texas," asserted Mr. Moore, who had just returned from a trip throughout the state in the interest of the State Fair of Texas, he being superintendent of the agricultural department thereof.

"The farmer is really diversifying," he continued. Feed crops were planted almost everywhere, gardens were made and attended, cows, pigs and poultry were added to the farm. The farmer is becoming really a farmer and not a one-crop man.

"All this, I believe, is the result of three things—intelligence, economy, and hard work. When the farmer realized last Fall that he would have to go through this year with little or no help from the banker, he began to use his head. He began to think of the things he could raise to feed his family and his stock and supply something he could sell. Then he set to work in the old fashioned way, out in the fields early and late. And he went into debt as little as possible. Thus by returning to the ways of the days of old he has won through and now stands to reap the reward."

Mr. Moore predicted that with good times in sight for the farmers and live stock men of the state and with the best line of exhibits ever assembled for any State Fair, the attendance at the State Fair of Texas, October 8 to 23, should be the largest in its history. "I think we are modest in estimating it at a million," he remarked.

Have You Ever Bought a Coupl'a Pounds of Eggs?

"Give me a pound and a half of eggs."

That is the way the good wife will be ordering her eggs from the grocer in the future, according to Walter Burton, known throughout the state as the superintendent of the poultry department of the State Fair of Texas.

Mr. Burton, addressing a large meeting of poultrymen at Troup last week, told them that in all the large marketing centers, eggs were now selling by weight and that Texas would have to come to it. Local produce dealers buy eggs by number, it is true, he said, but the prices paid the producer are based upon what the eggs will sell for by weight in the large cities.

"You must not be content to produce eggs weighing less than 24 ounces to the dozen. You will be penalized if you don't do this, for you will not get as much for your eggs," warned Mr. Burton.

"You can beat the game by raising the right kind of hens, of standard weight, which is four pounds per hen among the Leghorn breeds. Hens of the right weight, of good varieties, well fed, well sheltered and well kept will produce eggs of good weigh," he said.

Mr. Burton told the poultrymen that they could depend upon seeing at the State Fair, Oct. 8 to 23, one of the best, if not the very best poultry shows ever held in the Southwest. He also said that farmers everywhere in Texas were stocking with good poultry and that thousands of them would attend the fair to learn all they could from the breeders an exhibitors and to study the advantages of the various breeds.

A. and M. Man Likes Jersey Cattle

Last week John R. Edmonds, who is with the Extension Service of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, visited quite a few of the members of the Boys and Girls Jersey Cattle Clubs and inspected the Jerseys recently purchased by them.

Mr. Edmonds stated that the quality and breeding of the animals are excellent. Although rain prevented Mr. Edmonds from visiting all the club members, he saw an average of their heifers, and he pronounced them good specimens. He saw only two of the bulls that were imported by these clubs. He was highly pleased with them and thinks that they are a valuable asset to the communities and the county in general.

The duties of Mr. Edmonds carry him over a large portion of Texas, and as conditions now look, he thinks that there is a bright future during the next few years for the cattle and practical farm dairy business. However, he thinks that the diversified program is the only safe route and advises against extremes in any line.
