Reading and Thinking

Some people read much, but they do very little thinking. They see the words in print before them, but they do not grasp the great fundamental truths that inspire those words.

The habit of reading is one of the most estimable values to the individual. It should not be carried beyond the point where intelligent thought can dissect the subject and master the secrets that are not otherwise revealed.

Cramming the mind is like jamming the cylinder of an engine. It comes too tight to function, and is thus rendered useless.

Read a little, think a lot, and you will travel easier and go farther on your way.

A False Report

—was widely circulated over Crowell early this week that the Crowell Steam Laundry would not open its doors Monday and even Monday morning the report was being circulated that the local laundry had closed down and as a result of such reports we lost considerable business to out-of-town laundries because a number of our regular customers were informed that we had quit business.

We do not know who started the report, but nevertheless it proved damaging to us and we take this method of informing the public that we have no intentions of closing and you can always safely turn your laundry and dry cleaning over to us.

There is more reason than ever for the people of Crowell to co-operate with each other with times as they are now. Many people here are suffering for lack of employment and of course the same is true at Quannah and Vernon, but we are obligated to look after our own needy first. Naturally we could add to our local force if we had all the laundry business that is leaving Crowell.

Why not let us do your laundry work when we pledge ourselves to give you as good work as you can secure elsewhere, with much quicker service and at no extra cost?

Conditions in Crowell will be better if everybody here will patronize local firms. If there ever was a time that we should co-operate with each other, it is now!

THE VALUE OF FORESTS

The forest has been the basis of our most important industries. Life and that which goes to make life worth living are founded upon industry.

Our coal, oil, iron, gold and silver may some day become exhausted, but not so with our timber, wool, cotton, wheat and other crops of the soil.

They can be grown, harvested and regrown forever if we handle them intelligently.

The forest is a renewable resource and such can be enhanced in value and productivity through proper care and management. We can always have a plentiful supply of wood for use to replace many other resources which may become exhausted, and so, we may realize how generous a friend the forest is to mankind.

If we perpetuate our forests wisely we can always have lumber mills and wood working plants to furnish industry for a large proportion of our people. The forests are not only generous friends because of the raw material they furnish; they are useful in the conservation of water for domestic use, for irrigation, navigation, and water power they add greatly to the scenic beauty of our land; they furnish a home for many of our birds and wild animals; they offer a wonderful place for healthful recreation.

The forests are a part of our lives, our happiness and our comfort. Without them we should experience the inconvenience and even suffering that resulted from the destruction of the forests of southwestern Europe, Palestine and China.

Monday's newspapers used to publish a review of all the Sunday sermons. Now all of the space is taken up with automobile accidents on Sunday.

Miss Florence Griffith of Turkey visited here over the week-end. On her return she was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Griffith, Wayland Griffith, and Misses Gusta Davis, Lottie Russell and Mrs. Wesley Lovelady, who returned to Crowell Monday.

Rev. Frank Statter, Hewell Taylor and Roy McCullen spent Sunday night with Lee Roy Statter. They were returning from Rogers, N. M., where they took Mrs. Frank Statter to teach school. Rev. Statter is pastor of the First M. E. Church at Faxon, Okla.

Mrs. J. D. Maddy, Mrs. Joe Farabee and little son, Joe Jr., and Jas. Maddy of Wichita Falls and Miss Vella Woods of Dallas were guests of Mrs. S. O. Woods and Miss Lottie Woods Thursday. Miss Vella Woods teaches in the Dallas City schools and will remain here for a few days' visit. The others returned to Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon.

Gambleville School Opened Mon., Sept. 1

The Gambleville school opened Monday, September 1, with twenty-seven students enrolling. A large number of patrons were present, including the board of trustees, Lee Morgan, Mack Gamble and Jim Bailey. The teachers for the school are Mrs. Virgie Morgan and Mrs. Lena Davis.

Thalia Boy Injures Foot on Motorcycle

Willie Cato, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Cato of Thalia, received a severe injury to his left foot Monday afternoon when his foot caught in the chain of the motorcycle on which he was riding with Leland Stovall, who was driving it. Leland turned out of the way of an automobile in front of the Shultz Drug Store and through some manner the machine overturned and caught Willie's foot in the chain. His shoe was torn entirely apart and severe cuts resulted about the toes and ankle.

Thomas Asks People to Observe Fire Plug Law

R. J. Thomas, city marshal, states that violation of the law, regarding parking near fire plugs is occurring frequently, especially on Saturdays when there are many automobiles in town. This habit is not only endangering lives, but also endangering property but also endangering lives, for in case of a fire much time would be lost in attaching the pumper on the truck to a fire plug with cars parked near it, according to Mr. Thomas.

NEW STORE FOR FOX BROS.

A new grocery store was opened by Fox Bros. at Knox City Saturday. Lloyd Fox has moved to Knox City to take charge of the grocery. Part of the stock of the store was moved from the store formerly operated at Margaret. Dennis Hairston, who was in charge of the store at Margaret is now with the Fox Bros store in Crowell.

Stubborn And Painful Stomach Ailment Readily Yields To Power Of Famed Compound stomach. Gas formed and I often belched violently. My nerves were upset and little things upset me terribly. I did not sleep well at night.

"The number of local people getting results attracted my attention to Konjola. I noticed a change for the better in my condition after I had taken the first bottle. I have taken four bottles to date and my health is again normal. I eat what I wish without a trace of indigestion or bloating. My nervous condition is much relieved and I sleep well at night. No medicine ever helped as did Konjola."

The files of Konjola contain thousands of such statements. It is recommended, however, that this medicine be given a thorough trial, in the average case over a six to eight week period.

Konjola is sold in Crowell, Texas, at Ferguson Bros. drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

UNIFORM ROAD SIGNS

Many attempts have been made to unify the existing system of road signs throughout the United States without any degree of success.

Such commendable government should be given wider support than it has ever received, for obvious reasons.

In almost every state in the union different types of warnings for intersection roads, railroad crossings, curves and dangerous places are displayed.

A plan whereby all signs would be standardized, so that a railroad crossing in the east the same as one in the west, would be of immense advantage to the drivers and might be the means...

of saving lives.

Those who are charged with authority to mark roads should also follow a uniform system to be of greatest service to motorists.

For example, if one side road is marked, every other side road should be similarly marked. Too often one marking leads the driver to believe that all intersecting roads are marked, and he never slows his speed until he sees one.

The danger of collisions are great, when the automobile depends on the markings which are not there. Of course, the driver should be expected to use some judgment, but lack of uniformity in marking roads is misleading and dangerous.

A PROFITABLE UNDERTAKING

Not long ago, citizens representing various sections of Texas met with citizens of Fort Worth and Dallas in dedicating a large dredge which began immediate work in digging a turning basin in the Trinity river. To some it would look as though friends of the Trinity river navigation project were a trifle too optimistic, inasmuch as the Government has not yet signified its willingness to declare the project feasible.

Of course, there were other controlling circumstances which entered...

into consideration when it was decided to construct the turning basin at this time. It was necessary to have the dredge in the construction of a new channel which is part of the reclamation work now going on along the river in Dallas. Having the big dredge handy, it is cheaper to dredge the basin now than it would be later. The excavated earth can be used very nicely in filling up the old river channel.

There are good reasons for the people living in Dallas and Fort Worth and in other Trinity river points to have faith in the ultimate completion of a navigable channel from Fort Worth to the Gulf. Congress has appropriated $20,000 for a survey and citizens will be ready with the necessary data to prove that such a project has splendid possibilities for profitable operation. Surveys show that under present conditions a saving of $8,000,000 per year will be made with the completion of the channel. Much of this saving in transportation costs will be of direct benefit to the farmers living within the influence of the water rate area. According to this estimate, if the completed channel were to cost as much as $80,000,000, it would pay for itself within a period of ten years. Of course, a complete canalization of the river will cost a much...

It has been pretty well determined that the project is feasible from every angle. Deep and substantial banks make the construction of locks and dams merely a matter of money and labor. There are no great engineering problems. There is a sufficient average flow of water to keep the channel at a proper depth. Therefore, about all that is needed to insure the work being done is the enthusiastic support of the people. As such a project holds forth promise of tremendous savings to agriculture in transportation costs both on commodities sold and on those that are purchased, those engaged in this industry should lend their aid in bringing about favorable...

THIS WOMAN IN FOUR WEEKS LOST NINETEEN POUNDS OF FAT

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewiston, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

"I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239...

lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

"I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.

"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince any one."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at Ferguson Bros. or any drug store in America.

SCHOOL TIME—SHOE TIME

Between now and the 1st of November, you'll buy a new pair of shoes, probably two pair. As to the kind you will buy and where you'll buy them, there are just a few things that should influence your decision.

- 1st. The shoes you buy should fit perfectly to give you comfort.
- 2nd. The shoes you buy should be well styled so they will look nice on your feet.
- 3rd. The shoes you buy should be worth the money you pay for them. That's the other important point.

We have shoes that come up to these standards and we appreciate the opportunity to serve you. Start school with "STAR BRAND."

Our reports for the year were given by our chairmen and we were delighted with the year's work of our women and the progress of our society. We urge all women who are members of the church to come and be with us.—Reporter.

"Mistrust Is Cause of Disturbed Conditions in World"—Rev. Rodgers

Vocal numbers by Miss Elsie Schindler, with Mrs. John Ray as accompanist, and talks by Rev. F. G. Rodgers of Spur and Grady Graves, local high school coach, featured the luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday. Fred Rennels had charge of the program.

"A Disturbed World" was the subject of Rev. Rodgers' talk. He stated that conditions throughout the world were disturbed and that confidence, love and trust were needed to bring conditions to a normal state. Mistrust among individuals and nations has affected conditions over the world more than anything else, according to Rev. Rodgers.

"We are living in a safer day than did our forefathers," Rev. Rodgers said. "We need brave-hearted men who will give service above self in bringing the breach that now exists together. In concluding Rev. Rodgers stated that our savior, Jesus Christ, was the one today that could solve our problems and that we should go on and not stop. Rev. Rodgers is conducting a revival at the Baptist Church here.

Grady Graves talked on the football prospects for Crowell High School this season and asked the cooperation of the Rotarians in attending games and offering encouragement to the boys coming out for football.

John Rasor, president, read a letter from Ray Nichols of Vernon, district governor, congratulating the local club on its one hundred per cent attendance record for August.

MODERNISTIC FABRICS

A nation-wide survey of drapery and upholstery sales for the year ending with July has been carried on by the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and the results have been announced to show the "trend of sales." Two-thirds of the stores visited sold modernistic fabrics. Fifty-five per cent of the stores stocked modern art cretonnes; 41 per cent, rayon and cotton damask; 11 per cent, rayon-decorated sheer case-ments; 90 per cent, sheet cottons, and 17 per cent sheer fabrics. Case-ment fabrics, which include sheer cottons, silks and rayons are used all year round and the survey showed that they took about 25 per cent of the total sales in each season, or period.

The survey shows that women prefer domestic draperies which took over 95 per cent of the total sales, while imported fabrics represented less than four per cent of this business.

As was expected, sheer silks and rayons were more popular in the large cities and exclusive stores, while sheer cottons revealed their greatest strength in small cities and popular priced stores.

OUT OF THE MIST

The man or woman surrounded by better thoughts and things, but who continually ignores them, is like a lost soul wandering in the mist.

The newspaper is always full of ideas that other men and women have thought out for your happiness. Think of all you miss when you overlook these things.

Read the advertisements. They are the voices of hundreds of thousands of looms, mills, foundries, shops, laboratories, where millions of minds are turning their thoughts to your comfort and convenience.

The advertisements bring you cleaner food. They improve your personal appearance. They make your daily task easier. They take the humdrum out of your life. They tell you where, when and how to find things pleasurable and profitable.

change to go to town but very little. I believe I will like to go to school here. School will start Monday, Sept. 8.

"I sure was surprised when I arrived here. I thought I was rather large but my gosh you ought to see this bunch. I look like a little boy. Many of them weigh around two hundred pounds. The football team here has the brightest prospects in its history. They have the light system for night games installed and we are to work out under them Wednesday night.

"Training Camp 'Tough'" "This training camp sure is tough. We get up every morning at 6 o'clock, take a two mile walk before breakfast. We eat breakfast at 7:30. We then get suited out by 8 and on the field by 8:30. We run a mile then take about an hour of calisthenics, then we practice blocking with shoulder and body, then we tackle a lot, then run about 200 yards at 10-yard dashes, up and down, it sure is tough. We then run signals. We come in about 11 and take showers and get ready to eat dinner. We then rest until 3 o'clock. From 3 to 4:30 we have skull practice. We then go for another workout until 6:30. We sure get plenty of working-out.

"It sure did make me sore for the first week but I am not very sore now. I believe we will all make pretty good. I have been working with the first eleven. I believe I can make it. We weigh four times a day, every morning before going out and when we come in and the same thing in the afternoon. I have gained ten pounds since I came up here. I weigh 181 stripped. We sure have plenty to eat.

"We got to go to town Saturday night from 7:30 until 9:30, the first time since we came up here. We are not allowed to leave the campus without special permission. We hiked about five miles Sunday and then we got to go to town from 4 until 7.

"Well as this is all the time I have I will close for they are fixing to turn out the lights. All the boys said to tell everybody hello.

YOUR FRIEND,
ERNEST PATTON.

The News also received a letter from Robert Oswalt shortly after the beginning of the camp. He stated that he lost four pounds at the first workout but in a recent letter to his parents he stated that he now weighs five pounds more than he did upon his arrival at Plainview.

CONFIDENCE NEEDED

Some periods of business depression in this country have been called "purely psychological." And there have been occasions when boom times have been termed a "psychological" condition.

Whether "psychological" or what-not, when business is good people have confidence in the future and are willing to take risks that they would not otherwise take.

Confidence is the very heart of American business, down to the smallest transaction.

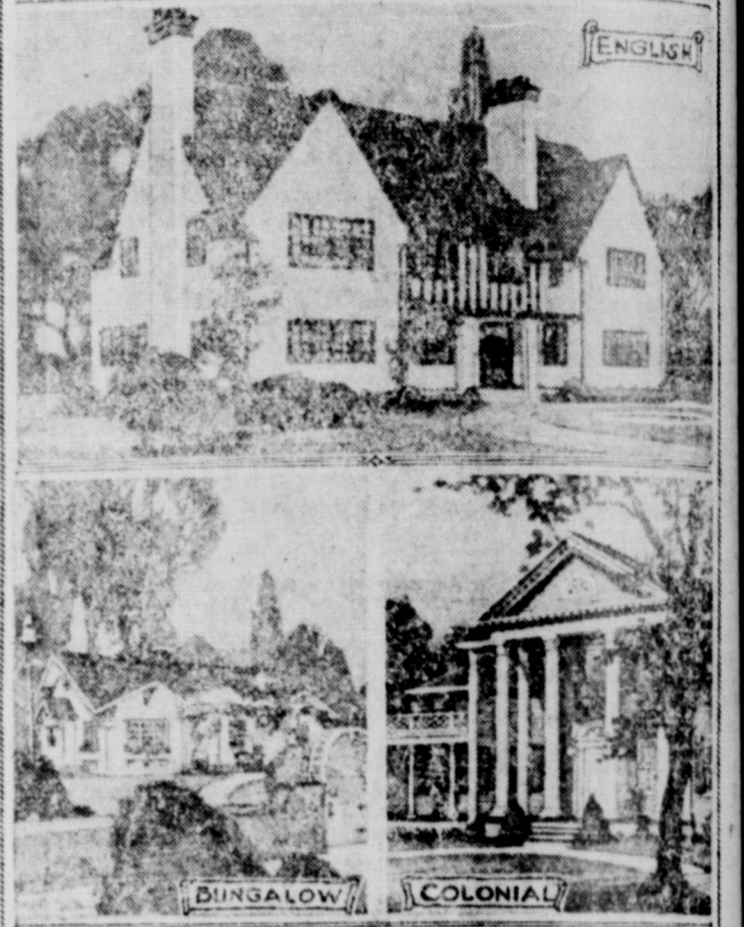

When people deposit money in the bank, they have confidence in the institution and believe that it will be able to pay whenever the money is demanded.

When one man accepts a check from another, he has confidence in the man with whom he is dealing.

With confidence gone, the whole business structure of the country crashes to earth.

Confidence moves mountains; drives away pessimism; enlarges the vision of the future. It is the first ingredient of progress.

CARE IN COLOR CHOICE FOR HOME

The selection of a color treatment for the exterior of the house should be an agreement between personal preference and the requirements of the particular situation. This does not mean that for any one house there is only one ideal color combination. As a matter of fact there are often several alternative arrangements of color that conform with good taste. There is actually so much to be gained in added pride and satisfaction through careful color selection that the slight extra effort of careful choosing is well worth while. The fundamentals of decoration as applied to the exterior of the house may be classified under three groups. These three are, the size of the house, the type of house and the surroundings. The influence of size is of prime importance. Small houses are made to appear larger if painted with light tints. On the other hand, dark shades make a house appear smaller and there are times when their use on a large house is desirable to bring its apparent size into proportion with the surroundings. In all cases the paint used should be Dutch Boy white lead and linseed oil. It can easily be tinted with the regulation colors-in-ol to any desired shade or color. The tall narrow house is brought into better proportion when accorded a two-color treatment. In carrying out such a treatment it is well to bear in mind that too great a contrast will look awkward and that the two colors should not contrast too greatly. Certain types of houses such as the Colonial and the English half-timbered have become associated with certain colors, but grays and light greens can be employed on the Colonial and painting the English type in shades such as buff, light tan or warm gray gives a pleasing effect. (Herbert Photos, N. Y.)

Burglars Don't Seek the Limelight

DARKNESS is their stock in trade. They work by stealth—unheard and unseen—their movements cloaked in secrecy. It's honest folks that seek the light. They are the only ones who can risk it.

It's the same way in business. The manufacturer or the merchant who is not sure of his goods does not dare to advertise. Advertising would hasten the end of his business career—put him to a test he could not meet.

The man who advertises, deliberately invites your inspection. He tells you about his product or his merchandise and then lets it stand on its own merits. You can depend on him. He knows his product is good.

That's one reason why it pays you to read the advertisements you find in the columns of this paper. It is through advertising that you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business men are spending their money to introduce and to keep before you.

Advertisements are interesting, instructive and profitable. They throw a powerful light on the very things that concern you most. Read them.
