Battle Ground of Ross with Indians Marked

Last Thursday while the News was being printed Chief Baldwin Parker, son of Quannah Parker and grandson of Cynthia Ann Parker, with a number of his people and about a thousand white people from Crowell, Vernon, Thalia, Rayland and Margaret, was officially marking the spot near the mouth of Mule Creek, 3 miles east of Margaret, where Cynthia Ann Parker was recaptured by Sul Ross in a battle with the Indians.

About six years ago the News gave a story of the recapture of the white woman, as it was told by John W. Davis of Nocona, and who was here visiting his daughter, Mrs. Bush. Mr. Davis and a number of others from Crowell and Margaret, including John W. Wesley, went to the grounds where Cynthia Ann is thought to have been recaptured and Mr. Davis pointed out the grounds. He was in the battle at which time the white woman was taken by Ross.

The same spot was marked by the Indian chiefs Thursday and is hereafter to be recognized as the officially marked spot over which there has been some dispute. It is near the mouth of Mule Creek 3 miles east of Margaret and is in Foard County. School children of Margaret and the entire Boy Scouts' organization of Vernon were present.

Chief Parker Talks
On arrival at the historic battle ground John Wesley, 88 years of age, and one of the oldest settlers of Foard County, who came to this county when the Indian tepee poles were still scattered around on Mule Creek, pointed out the spot where Cynthia Ann had been recaptured and ceremonies for the day took place there. Millet Soy and Koy Pitty, Comanche Indians, opened the meeting with a lengthy prayer in their native tongue. Mack Boswell, secretary of the Foard County Chamber of Commerce, followed with an address of welcome.

Chief Parker made the first talk in which he reviewed the history of the event in which Cynthia Ann Parker, his grandmother, was captured by the Comanche Indians and then recaptured by Col. Sul Ross.

"I am glad we are American citizens," said Chief Parker, "and that I have the opportunity to meet with you today on this spot as friends instead of as the enemies that we were 50 years ago. The Comanche Indian used to be mean, but now he is the best and most honest Indian living," he added.

Grady Shipp, secretary of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce, followed with a talk in which he pointed out that the event that was being commemorated was one of the brightest pages in Texas history and that it was the duty of citizens of this section to work toward having the spot properly marked and to have the battleground made into a state park.

Visits Recounted
John Wesley, owner of the site on which the battle took place, was next on the program and made the principal address of the afternoon. He told of the time when he arrived in 1880 and of finding the Indian tepee poles and of later having Sul Ross and Texas Rangers that took part in the last battle with the Comanches visit him. He recounted his friendship with Quannah Parker and stated that while he had visited with the Comanche chief on numerous occasions he had never been able to get him to come near Mule Creek, the spot where his mother was captured. "I am glad that I have lived long enough to meet the descendants of Quannah Parker on this ground," said Wesley in concluding his talk.

Mrs. Frazier Bell, Vernon, grandniece of Cynthia Ann Parker, was next introduced. Frank Rush, an outstanding friend of the Indian, who now lives at Craterville, Okla., followed with a short talk in which he pointed out that the Indians are not treated fairly in our histories.

Pipe Marks Spot
Following the speaking program an iron pipe was driven on the historical spot with Mrs. Frazier Bell of Vernon holding the pipe while Chief Parker made the first drive that placed it in the soil that once belonged to his people.

After the day's events had been completed a meeting of Vernon and Crowell citizens was held with Chief Baldwin Parker and John Wesley, in which plans were started to erect a

Vivian School Scores High for Standardization

It is no doubt a matter of interest to some to know that there has been a bit of outstanding progress made in the Vivian school this year.

The district embraces 147 sections, which has an assessed valuation of $335,000. The tax rate of one dollar on the hundred is maintained. The school has four teachers, and this year's school census shows that approximately 118 children of scholastic age are now living in the district.

Early in the year a Parent-Teachers Association was formed, and this organization has been very optimistic in the school work in general. It has proven highly beneficial in supporting any improvement program undertaken. During the year the school has had the cooperation of the entire community in all phases of the work undertaken. Approximately $200 has been raised and invested in playground equipment and other improvements which have not been had heretofore. The association has been largely responsible for the upbuilding of the school, and this is an instance in which it has demonstrated its real worth for the public in general.

In his recent visit, the State School Supervisor stated his satisfaction and pleasure of the condition in which he found the school and also paid his compliments on the cleanliness and attractiveness of the premises. He recommended that the school receive $300 State aid, which will be sufficient to maintain a school term of eight months. All his requirements had been met.

In meeting the regulations as set down by the State Department of Education for Standardization, the school passed the inspection of the County Superintendent, scoring 941 points out of a possible 1,000. According to Mr. Atcheson, this was the highest score made by any of the schools in the county. In order to become recognized by the Department, it is necessary that a school make at least 800 points, some of which are absolutely essential. The standardization movement follows closely in common with the things suggested by the State school supervisor in recommending a school for State aid. The Vivian community has seemingly taken great delight and a great interest in working toward the end of standardization.

The entire community is to be commended for the efforts put forth in bringing the school up to its present condition. It did not seem that the aim was merely to meet the approval of the school supervisor but to really place the school on a higher plane of efficiency.

Is Pleased With Poultry Profits

J. C. Davis of Antelope, a farmer and poultryman in that locality, is realizing steady profits from a flock of 275 English White Leghorns. They are not big profits and nothing to brag about he says, but he is pleased with the results of his investment and the work he is doing to increase his poultry products. Mr. Davis has only 275 hens, some of which are young and have not come to produce a profit, but from those that are laying he is selling a good quantity of eggs daily.

His record for three days recently was 38 dozen eggs for which he received a premium of 5 cents because of the fact that they are infertile eggs, and from them he realized a net profit of about $5.55 for the three days. His profit would have been at least a dollar more had he been successful in raising his own feed, but unfortunately his crop was cut short and now he must buy feed. But notwithstanding that fact, there is profit in poultry, and Mr. Davis plans to increase his flock from time to time and make the products of his chickens a source of dependable income. Just at the present time the market is at the lowest point expected and within the near future he expects to realize ten or twelve cents per dozen more for his eggs than at present.

monument at Mule Creek. A committee of Crowell citizens, composed of T. N. Bell, B. W. Self and H. E. Ferguson, and one at Vernon composed of R. L. Castleberry, S. W. Bailey and J. E. Lantz, was appointed to work out details on this matter.

Consolidation Would Mean a Heavy Burden

Tomorrow, Saturday, March 7th, is the day set apart on which Crowell and Black will vote on the proposition of consolidating the Black school and the Crowell school.

If there are those who have not taken the time and interest to look into the matter and see just what that consolidation would mean, it might be well to consider the following figures:

The money derived from property tax in the Black school district for 1927 was $1225.32. That district has the 75-cent rate. By consolidation it would be increased one fourth, by reason of the $1.00 rate in effect in the Crowell Independent school district, which would increase the revenue $306.33, giving $1531.65 as property tax. In addition to that, the valuations would be increased one-third over the valuations for the county, as they have been increased in the Crowell Independent school district, to take care of the needs of the school. This would bring another increase of $510.55, which, added to the $1531.65, would give $2042.20 as the total amount to be derived from taxation in the Black school district. We are told that about $1,000 is the amount to be derived from the State. This added to the $2042.20 gives a total of a little more than $3,000. That is the amount of money that would be added to the Crowell Independent school district by reason of the consolidation.

Now, what will be the liabilities? First, two additional teachers will have to be employed. Suppose we figure them at $2,000, one thousand each. Then, suppose we add the cost of two trucks at $250 per month. This adds another annual expense of $2250, which added to the cost of the two teachers gives a total of more than $4,000. That would be the cost to the Crowell Independent school district. It is plain that the district would sustain a loss of practically one thousand dollars each year, figured on the basis of the present valuations and the scholastics of the Black school.

These figures are submitted to the voters of both the people of Black and the people of Crowell for their consideration. If any one wants to take the time to make further investigation he may go to G. A. Mitchell's office in the court house and get all the information he may want on the matter. It is up to the voters to vote as they please, but it can mean nothing but a financial loss to the district at the present time.

As the county develops valuations, of course, will increase, but unless future advantage can be seen in consolidation, it is doubtful if the consolidation would be a wise move.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday will mark the return of another Easter Day, a time when the heart grows tender in memory of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus from the dead, when new light and hope ushered in upon our troubled and sorrowing world. Surely this Sabbath above all others be remembered by all our people and kept holy.

The Easter sentiment and feeling will characterize all the services Sunday at the Methodist church.

Sunday School at 10 o'clock under most capable and careful management, with special departments for each age group.

Vernon Editor Would Make Park of Battle Ground

There was much of interest in the return of Comanche Indians to the Mule Creek battle ground for the first time since the capture of Cynthia Ann Parker by Sul Ross' command in 1860, Chief Baldwin Parker, grandson of Cynthia, the first of his race to return to that memorable spot where Chief Nocona was slain and his white wife recaptured by her own people, rode back to the scene in automobile, with every evidence of the progress of civilization at hand. Chief Peta Nocona, said to have been the last Comanche to stand under the tree near where Cynthia Ann Parker was recaptured, fought off his attackers with bow and arrow. Sixty-eight years have wrought a great change.

The marking of the spot where Cynthia Ann Parker was recaptured from the Indians after twenty-five years of captivity has recalled an event in the history of Texas which should be kept alive in memory. It recalls the fact Texas history was written here in this section of the state as well as at the Alamo, Goliad, and other battlefields which have been featured by historians. Of course these major engagements overshadow all other incidents in early Texas history, but no history of the state is complete without reference to other phases of the pioneer's activities in developing the state.

A movement has been started to make a state park out of a four-acre tract at the site of the recapture of Cynthia Ann Parker. West Texas has never been credited with contributing much to early Texas history, and this movement should be given the support of the entire section. The proposed park site is located on the Wesley ranch in Foard County, and when Lee Highway is paved, will be easily accessible from every section of the state.

Cynthia Ann Parker is worthy a place in Texas history. Her son, Quannah Parker, became one of the greatest chiefs of all times, and his activities throughout this section form an important page in history. So it is fitting that this place where the white woman was retaken after twenty-five years of captivity should be marked, and preserved for future generations.

It is easy to forget the hazards and dangers encountered by the pioneers. Last week when the hundreds of people drove in their automobiles to the historic spot on Mule Creek, it is doubtful if many recalled the incident which took place there in 1860, and appreciated the contrast between the country and the people and their environment then and now.

Texans of the future will be interested in Cynthia Ann Parker, and her life. One of the high spots in her life was the recapture. Those who aid the movement to make a state park of the site will be contributing to the preservation of the memory of one of the important events in the history of this section. —Vernon Record.

Two Cottle Co. Men Killed in Auto Accident Last Sun.

Paducah, Texas, April 1.—Bill Carver was instantly killed, his companion, Van Porter, was fatally injured, and G. T. Davidson was seriously injured near here late Sunday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on the old Quannah road.

The car is said to have overturned when it encountered a stretch of loose dirt in the road.

News of the tragedy reached here when Porter's father, who was riding with the boys, and who escaped injury, was brought here by a passing motorist. An ambulance was immediately speeded to the scene of the wreck, and the dead and injured brought here.

Porter, who sustained a crushed skull, died shortly after reaching the hospital. Davidson, at last reports Sunday night, was still unconscious. All of the victims are farmers residing near here.

Mrs. G. W. Thompson is reported critically ill at her home here. She has been sick for several days but her condition yesterday was thought to be more serious than at any time before.

Sees Outcome in Crowell Within Last Few Years

E. L. Lilly and his son, E. F., were here from Tulia last week and for several days this week visiting Mr. Lilly's father, S. T. Lilly, and other relatives in the Foard City country. Mr. Lilly comes down on a visit every two or three years and this time he notes very marked improvements in Crowell. He says one who is away and returns only occasionally can appreciate the growth of our city more than one who is here all the time.

Thalia Man Gets Threatening Letters

For some time M. L. Self at Thalia has been receiving letters demanding that he put at a certain place $1500 or suffer the consequences in case he does not comply with the request. Four or five letters have been received, either through the mail, tacked on the barn door or put into his car.

The letters were poorly written with very incorrect spelling. Little is thought of the matter, but it is a very dangerous thing for the parties doing it. Should the guilty parties be apprehended, and that is not impossible, a good lengthy penitentiary sentence awaits them. Then, too, after threats are made in that way, it places the threatened party on the defensive and increases the risk taken by the one threatening as to the safety of his own life. It is too dangerous for one to indulge in such a thing just for fun, to say nothing of the cowardliness of the act.

Mr. Kugler's Death Interrupts Crowell Hotel Proposition

It was a great surprise, as well as a severe shock, to learn of the death of C. I. Kugler of Amarillo, who had made Crowell a proposition of the erection of a modern hotel for this city. It had been learned that Mr. Kugler had undergone an operation for appendicitis, but it was reported at first that he was doing very well and it was expected that he would recover until the news came that he had died on Monday and was buried Wednesday of last week. The news did not reach the paper here until we had gotten off the press.

The following letter was written by Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce Mack Boswell to Mr. Kugler's daughter, expressing Crowell's sympathy for her and her mother:

"Crowell, Texas, March 31, 1928.
"Miss Jane L. Davy,
"220 Oliver Eakle Bldg.,
"Amarillo, Texas.

"Dear Miss Davy:
"On behalf of the citizens of Crowell, may we express our sympathy and sincere regrets to you and your mother for the loss of your father.

"We came to know Mr. Kugler as one of our citizens and had greatly enjoyed working with him on our hotel proposition. His splendid character and excellent work in our town will be everlastingly remembered here, and while we consider our loss a great one, we realize that it cannot compare with that of his family.

"With deepest sympathy for your great loss, we are,
"Sincerely yours,
"MACK BOSWELL.

"Sec. Foard Co. Chamber of Com."
Other information of a personal character, including pictures taken of Mr. Kugler the last day that he was in Crowell, were also sent to Miss Davy by the Chamber of Commerce.

BRING ON YOUR EGGS

The world's record for big chicken eggs, held here for the last several years, has again been broken by a Foard County hen. The hens of no other portion of this earth have a ghost of a chance with Foard County hens when it comes to laying big eggs.

Some of them say it is a turkey egg, but Mrs. J. A. White, the owner of the big Buff Orpington, knows better. It was her own hen that broke the world's record when she deposited in the nest a big egg that measures 9 1/2 by 7 1/2 inches and weighs an even half pound.

We'd like to see the color of the man's eye that could gulp down more than one or two such eggs, and ordinarily half a dozen is only a moderate meal.

While this is the biggest egg ever laid by a chicken hen, there is a future for more egg laying and it is doubtful if the hundreds of sisters to this bird all over Foard County are going to sit down and not try to break the record again.

It is up to the owners to keep a sharp lookout for big eggs. When you find one bring it straight to the News office. We want all the big eggs in the county.

Rascoe and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Boman were called to Commerce last week on account of the serious illness and death of their niece, Louise Howell, 14-year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Howell, of that city, who died last Tuesday. The cause of her death was pneumonia following an operation for removing her tonsils. Mr. and Mrs. Boman returned Saturday and Mr. and Mrs. Rascoe returned Monday.

Bettie Sue Gamble, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Gamble, was born January 4, 1927, and died Wednesday, April 4, 1928, of pneumonia. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Gamble, with interment in the Crowell cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Self went to Dallas Monday, being called there by the critical condition of J. W. Allison, Mrs. Self's father. In addition to the serious operation which Mr. Allison has undergone, he was attacked by the flu. He was reported better Tuesday.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST ANNOUNCES THIS SALE ALL OVER THE NATION

THE FOARD COUNTY NEWS
KIMSEY & KLEPPER, Owners and Publishers

Entered at the Post Office at Crowell, Texas, as second class matter

Crowell, Texas, April 6, 1928

The minds of some voters in the Crowell Independent school district are made up to vote against consolidation with the Black community tomorrow. They see no good reasons why we should add territory that would increase the expense of operating the school unless there is a corresponding increase of revenue to take care of the situation. In all probability some of the voters in the Black community are opposed to consolidation for the same reason, for it would mean a raise in both the taxable values and the rate. If consolidation is voted it means that a raise in taxable values all over the district will follow, for that will be the only means by which sufficient revenue can be derived with which to operate the school. On the first page of this issue are submitted some figures procured from the tax assessor and these will serve as guide for those who may not have taken the time to inform themselves on the matter. Any information relative to the matter can be secured from him if you are not willing to accept the figures we have here printed. Know where you are and then vote as you please. In that case everybody should be satisfied.

The fact that this paper gets a large portion of its revenue from "foreign" advertisers is conclusive evidence that these advertisers recognize the value of advertising in this paper. They are informed as to correct figures representing its circulation and they all pay the rate without quibbling. These rates are no less than those paid by other advertisers. Thousands of business concerns have made money without doing much newspaper advertising, but they are losing the opportunity of increasing their business by not advertising. More people read newspaper advertising now than ever in the history of the world. It has become a necessary part of the business of the most successful establishments.

The matter of taxation has always been a difficult problem to solve to the satisfaction of all people. It is not likely that very much property is rendered too high, but the difficulty comes at the point of equalization. It is not popular to advocate a raise in taxable values, and yet it looks like it is hard to get around the necessity of doing that. In all probability there is too much idle property in the county, property that is being held for increases in values, and taxation is fought by these people because they are not making their investments profitable. To hold land for speculative purposes hinders development and makes it hard to get a revenue from it that it should be producing.

The Childress Daily Index and the Childress Semi-Weekly Post have consolidated. Experience has taught many that the newspaper business is no longer a play thing. It takes money and time to run a paper. It also requires capital. No longer can one run a paper with a hatful of type and a hand press and where the field will not justify the investment of sufficient capital, the tendency is towards consolidation.

A number of us capable and worthy fellows could never be elected to an office, but we can help save the country by staying out of office. We can stay at the mud bank and fling the stuff into the eyes of rascals who are trying to get in. Of course, the country will never appreciate the good service we have rendered, but we can find ample remuneration in having been a benefactor (?) in the private ranks.

Mass Meeting to Discuss Boy Scout Monday Night

George Self, chairman of the local committee of the Boy Scouts, announced Wednesday that a meeting will be held in the district court room Friday evening at eight o'clock, to which every man or woman who is interested in the boys of Crowell or Foard County is not only invited but urged to attend. The Boy Scout program, its aims and purposes, the way the program is carried out and the results to be expected will be discussed. Among the speakers will be Arthur Keys, Organization Chairman, of Quanah, Ben P. Parrish, Scout Executive, Navajo Mountain Council, Altus, Okla., and E. D. McIver, Organization Executive, assigned to this district by the National Council of the Boy Scouts.

Scouting is a movement that has grown from a beginning eighteen years ago to one of the movements of the century. There are over a million Boy Scouts in America today and the United States is only one of fifty-six nations who use the Scout program. The scouting idea of learning by doing is becoming recognized as one of the best means of education. All over the United States the towns and cities are realizing that Scouting can be made a permanent institution in the community life by organization under the Council plan, a full explanation of which will be given Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones of Tilia spent Friday with his parents Hiram Jones and wife, Nell Clark, Buddie McLarty, Buddie Derrington and Mr. Batsy's children on ill with the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Crisp visited Elmer Key and family Sunday afternoon.

Forest Sides, Lee Hines and Miss Gracye McWilliams of Vernon visited Miss Marie Clark Sunday. They attended the singing at South Vernon Sunday evening.

Bob Hutley, who has been ill with a fractured skull at Crowell hospital, returned home Sunday evening.

CHORAL CLUB

The Choral Club which was recently organized met last Thursday evening at the high school auditorium. There was a good crowd, including a number of new members. The vice president, Mrs. J. R. Beverly, occupied the chair and after hearing a report of the nominating committee, the members voted for a president of the organization and Mack Boswell was elected to that office. The naming committee appointed to choose a name was not ready to report and after a motion that they have another week in which to consider a suitable name, it was voted that they should.

After this and other business was transacted, our director took charge and work was commenced in earnest. We are already at work on two numbers and with the enthusiasm and interest which is manifest, we will accomplish much. We are anxious for still more members and it is hoped that all those who are already members and many more will come.—Reporter.

The Way to Save

The man who works with hand or brain,
Yet never saves, will never gain
The things of life the thrifty do;
His dream of life will not come true.
The way to save is to pass by
The things you want that are too high.
For present needs use less amount.
Saving is storing for future account.
The First State Bank will help you plan
A way to save the most you can.

Save the Baby Chicks

(By F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas)

Brooder House Ventilation
 As a general rule a house with wood floor is recommended and so constructed that there are no floor drafts. Floor drafts are very dangerous in a brooder house. Allow the fresh air to enter several feet above the floor. A house that is poorly ventilated is almost as dangerous as one over-ventilated. Chicks cannot live without plenty of fresh air. A close, foul smelling brooder house is a death trap for chicks. The air should be fresh, sweet smelling and comfortably warm.

Make-Shift Brooders
 To save is always commendable.

but to save to where it causes waste is not so commendable. It is poor economy to try to raise chicks, with make-shift brooders, such as lamps, lantern, kerosene stoves, hot water jugs, etc. If you are going to raise several hundred chicks or even as many as 150, it will be a profitable investment for you to buy a good brooder. In the raising of chicks the proper brooding temperature is just as important as the feed and other essentials. Why invest in good chicks and good feed and then take a chance on a fire trap for a brooder.

Milk
 Milk is a wonderful feed for chicks, nothing quite as good. As a general rule, in the case of chicks in brooders, it is best to give it sour. Provide both water and milk to drink. Sour milk is best given in crocks, wooden troughs or aluminum dishes. Milk may be given as sour milk, sour buttermilk, semi-solid buttermilk, dry skim milk or dry buttermilk. If fresh products are not available locally, try some of the semi-solid products. Milk is valuable for its mineral contents, growth promoting qualities, also because of its value in controlling coccidiosis.

Green Feed
 Chicks do not need any green feed before they are 3 or 4 weeks old, however, it is a good idea to start feeding small quantities of fine cut tender green feed of some kind when they are three weeks old. Providing green feed, help keep the chicks busy, increases and aids indigestion, has some food value from vitamin contents and mineral standpoint. Any green feed will answer the purpose. At this season cut up burr clover is wonderful, but green oats, lawn clippings, sprouted oats, in fact, any green and succulent vegetation will answer the purpose. In some of the arid regions fine cut cactus has been fed to great advantage. Green cabbage, yellow carrots, tomatoes, alfalfa, clover, bermuda grass, sudan grass and many others will be satisfactory.

THIEVES STEAL HARNESS

One morning last week when E. L. Ribble went to harness up his team he found that he had no harness and was compelled to come to town and buy before he could put his team to work. Thieves had stolen several collars and other pieces of harness.

Best Car of Wheat in U. S. Is Belief

A car of wheat that is believed to be the best raised in the United States in 1927 was recently shipped from the Self Grain Company at Crowell to the Burrus Elevators at Dallas. According to a certificate just received by B. W. Self from the Southwestern Laboratories at Dallas, the car of wheat had a protein content of 17.27 per cent which local grain men state is the highest that they have ever heard of for a car of wheat. The grain was raised near Crowell.

The car was dark hard, winter wheat and contained 1400 bushels and was sold before the recent rise in the price of wheat, bringing $1.70 per bushel. At the present time the same car would bring around $1.90 per bushel according to B. W. Self as wheat with a heavy protein content demands an excellent premium. In the past year wheat has sold largely according to its protein content which will likely be the basis for the price of wheat from now on.

B. W. Self of the Self Grain Company states that he has sold over 100,000 bushels of Foard County wheat from the 1927 crop and that all of it has had an average of fifteen per cent protein. Fort Worth is the principal market for wheat raised here and grain men there state that Foard County wheat has a heavier percentage of protein than any wheat they receive. This grain is in wide demand for milling purposes and for strengthening the protein of weak wheat, and usually Foard County wheat sells considerably above the regular market price due to the premium secured on account of its quality.

J. W. Bell, owner of the Bell Mill and Elevator Company at Crowell, in speaking of this fact said, "fifteen per cent is considered exceptionally high for protein in wheat, however, all wheat that I have sold or used for milling purposes has averaged above that mark." Mr. Bell has been connected with wheat farming in Foard County since 1887 and for a forty-year period, he states that he has averaged around twenty bushels per acre. He does not believe that there is a section anywhere that will produce as much wheat per acre and as good quality as that raised in Foard County.

Foard County is the heaviest wheat producing section below the cap rock and has an acreage estimated at 40,000 acres in wheat this year. Wheat is in good condition at present, however, a few rains during the Spring will be needed to insure a heavy yield.

According to the U. S. Census of Agriculture for 1920 and 1925, Foard County has the heaviest per acre yield in wheat of any county in Texas where wheat is a major crop. This census is taken only every five years and the figures for the crop of 1919 and 1924 are a fair index to ten years' production. According to the official figures Foard County in 1919 had 47,699 acres in wheat from which 941,970 bushels were produced for an average of 19.74 bushels per acre. In 1924, 834,091 bushels were produced from 33,434 acres for a per acre yield of 24.94 bushels.

Preparations are already made in Foard County for handling the 1928 crop. Several carloads of combine harvester-threshers have already been assembled at Crowell and shipments of these machines are arriving continually.

Don't Neglect Your Kidneys!
 You Can't Be Well When Kidneys Act Sluggishly.

Do you find yourself running down—always tired, nervous and depressed? Are you stiff and aching, subject to nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizzy spells? Are kidney excretions scanty, too frequent or burning in passage? Too often this indicates sluggish kidneys and shouldn't be neglected. Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Doan's are endorsed everywhere. Ask your neighbor.

Long Oration Spoiled Evening for Senator

A prominent man in public life—a senator, it may be said without fear of embarrassing him—was the principal speaker at a recent banquet. More than that—he was the victim of one of those persons whose duty it is to speak as curtain-raiser to the main attraction of the evening and who forgets himself in his own flow of oratory.

High Buildings Cause of Freak Whirlwinds

One may learn many interesting things about air currents and the way storms develop by watching the movement of pieces of paper or perhaps his hat as it is whirled about the street. A variety of miniature wind storms are caused by the high buildings of our cities or the forms of streets which well repay study.

Joy of Exploration Found in Adventure

One is often asked what is the attraction and what are the joys of polar exploration. The answer is—Adventure—going where man has never gone before. Achievement—discovering something of value to mankind such as the whale-fishery of South Georgia; or ramming your way through ice or any difficulties under steam or sail. The wonderful pure beauty of these regions . . . and last, but not least—comradeship—the comradeship of men. Men who fight alongside you, toil with you, laugh with you, and chaff you. . . . Puls who stand by each other through thick and thin; who share trials, hardships, joys, dangers and food, and are determined, at all hazards, to "see it through" together. For such men you feel a great affection, and the results are teamwork and loyalty of the finest, highest quality, with joy of memory that never fades away.—From "Under Sail in the Frozen North," by Commander F. A. Worsley.

Beauty From the Beas!

What so free, do you think, as a reptile gliding along in its own Southern swamp? Yet ever these wild creatures are being trapped and killed and made into leather shoes.

The tanning of a reptile's skin is accomplished by means of secret mixtures known only to manufacturers. English and Dutch merchants first put on the market goods made from the skin of a water snake of Java and Sumatra. The women of Paris carry bags made from the skin of the terrible python, and probably never think of it, though they would shrug their shoulders and tell you they were terrified of snakes. Even the fearful bear constrictor contributes its skin to the call of fashion.

No Written Constitution

England and France do not have written constitutions in the generally accepted sense of the term. The present government of Great Britain is based upon a series of acts and fundamental laws passed since the signing of Magna Charta. Parliament, however, is supreme and can make laws which do not agree with those acts often spoken of as "the British constitution." The government of France is based on several organic acts passed after the fall of Louis Napoleon. These acts do not constitute a written constitution in the sense of our constitution.—Exchange.

Inert Gases

Both nitrogen and helium are inert gases, without chemical action on other substances and they would probably remain indefinitely unchanged in sealed containers. Nitrogen may be obtained by removing oxygen from the air or by the decomposition of certain ammonium compounds. Helium is found in certain natural gases, from which it is obtained, or it may be separated from atmospheric nitrogen by passing it over heated magnesium, or from liquid air by means of fractional distillation.

Tribute to a Pretty Girl

I know a pretty girl not a day over eighteen, and the most impudent human being I have ever known. Not bad impudence; it is the beautiful kind of "nerve" smart women know how to exercise. The impudence she displays, in a young man would be rudely exposed, but when exercised by this pretty girl, men almost regard it as divine.—A shadowy word they use a great deal and know little about.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

America's Motto

When John Adams was minister to Great Britain in 1787 it was suggested to him that the Latin phrase meaning "out of many, one" would make a fitting motto for the new independent colonies. On his return to America he transferred the suggestion to his friend, Charles Thompson, secretary of congress, who in 1792 reported his design for a government seal in which the ribbon, E Pluribus Unum, appeared on a ribbon held in an eagle's beak.

Over-Expression Mark of the Inferior Writer

But all over-expression, whether by journalists, poets, novelists or clergymen, is bad for the language, and by over-expression I mean the use of words running beyond the sincere feeling of writer or speaker or beyond what the event will sanely carry. From time to time a crusade is preached against it from the text: "The cat was on the mat." Some Victorian scribe, we must suppose, once wrote: "Stretching herself with feigned grace and emitting those sounds memorably connected with satisfaction, Grimalkin lay on a rug whose richly variegated pattern spoke eloquently of the Orient and all the wonders of the Arabian Nights."

Crows Unaffected by Gas

Crows have no fear of toxic gas. The chemical division of the army at Washington experimented with crows and gas. The crows were gassed but immediately flew high in the air where they escaped the fumes which clung to the earth. During the war pigeons returned to their cages safely when liberated in a gas cloud. This mystery was solved when the birds were seen to rise quickly above the gas. Tests show that crows fly out of gas clouds in much the same manner.

Took Indian Appellation

Perth Amboy was settled in 1683 and was expected soon to outstrip its neighbors and become the London of America. It was named Perth, after James, earl of Perth, but Amboy, the original Indian name for the place, was soon added. It was the capital of the province from 1684 almost continuously up to the time of the Revolution. William Franklin, the last royal governor, was captured there in 1776. Perth Amboy was incorporated as a city in 1718.

Why pay $1000 more...when CHRYSLER "72" at $1545 gives you greater performance

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" performance out-Chryslers even Chrysler. It has joined the public's preconceived notions of what its money should be able to buy.

Here is a truly marvelous car, in body styles priced from $1545 to $1795, which gives in performance all and more than you have been led to expect from cars costing $1000 more.

Here is a Chrysler triumph that overshadows the foremost accomplishments of the industry.

72 miles and more per hour. 75 brake horsepower. Acceleration that leaves every other car behind. Vibrationless smoothness that only a Chrysler counterweighted 7-bearing crankshaft can give.

Experience for yourself the thrill of this brilliant performance. Chrysler enthusiasm invariably follows the realization that even $1000 more than "72" prices does not get you as much in performance, in quality, in style, in value.

Saw Heaven as Land of Perpetual Summer
 In religion as developed by the Assinibolin Indians those who were good went to a hot place after their death and those who had been at odds with established customs went to an eternal punishment of frigidity. This tribe frequented the Northwest, where the higher altitudes and mountain climate impressed them with the idea that continual sunshine and freedom from winter's icy blasts constituted about the highest happiness obtainable, says Father De Smet, a missionary who lived for a while with the Assinibolin. "They believe that in this heaven the climate is tropical and game is abundant and the rivers are well stocked with fish. Their hell is the reverse: its unfortunate inmates dwell in perpetual snow and ice and in the complete deprivation of all things," he wrote. Thus, this tribe, instead of saying that a departed one had "gone west," referred to his having "gone south."—Detroit News.

New York Had No Show
 Towns as well as persons have always shown a disposition to get the "big head" on any possible provocation. When the Erie canal was in course of construction Governor Clinton of New York visited Lockport, which the citizens dreamed was to be the great inland city of the continent. Buffalo was hardly born. Lockport was to be the key of the commerce that was to flow from the Great Lakes and the true seat of the great flouring mills and manufactories north of Mason and Dixon's line. The governor did not throw any cold water on their enthusiasm, but ventured to remark that New York city would derive immense advantages from the canal. Whereupon the wiseacre shook their heads and said to him: "Too far from Lockport, governor. Too far from Lockport!"

The Taste Test
 Walter and Lawrence were in the habit of saving a part of their dessert from the evening dinner for consumption the next afternoon, and, in accordance with this custom, two small cakes had been placed in the cracker jar for them. William, being the first on the scene the next afternoon, went to the jar. He found only one cake, and a large piece had been bitten out of that. Full of wrath, he went up stairs and roused his brother.
 "Say," he demanded, "I want to know who took that big bite out of my cake?"
 "I did," sleepily answered Lawrence.
 "What'd you do that for?"
 "Well, when I tasted it I found it was your cake, and so I ate the other one."

*First at the get-away
 First on the straight-away*

No car in the Victory price class can match the all around brilliance of Victory performance.

The Victory is first at the get-away and first on the straight-away—faster on the hills, faster in traffic—smoother on rough roads.

And accelerates as no other car at the price has EVER done: 5 to 25 miles in 7¼ seconds! 10 to 45 miles in 13½ seconds!

The public discovered all this even as the stop watch proved it.

More power per pound of car weight made it possible. Rugged Dodge construction made it practical. And the Victory's unusual design made it SAFE.

For the Victory gravity center is lower and there is no body overhang... The chassis frame is the full width of the body—and the body sills are eliminated.

Exceptional charm of line and more headroom and seat width are further vital results of this unique construction.

Drive the car today and make your own comparisons!

MOTHERS' SELF-CULTURE CLUB
 Mrs. Adolphus Wright and Mrs. Leo Spencer were hostesses to the Mothers' Self Culture Club March 3rd in the home of Mrs. Spencer.
 Mrs. George Burress gave a good discussion on "Personality." This is something every one possesses. Some are very striking and noticeable while others are subdued. A personality can help or hinder the progress of society, but a helpful personality is the only one desired in society.
 The club was delighted to have Miss Lottie Woods, one of our primary department teachers, talk to us on manners and morals of children. Frances Allison gave a most vivid description of the grand opera which she had attended in Wichita Falls.
 Mrs. Adolphus Wright, accompanied by Mrs. T. B. Klepper, sang "I Love a Little Cottage," in a most pleasing manner.
 The hostesses served a tempting plate consisting of jello fruit with whipped cream and date cake and coffee. After which the club adjourned to meet March 16 with Mrs. Arthur McMillan.—Reporter.

When the Stamford Leader finds out that clever people, in whatever legitimate line they take, are in town, or around here, it likes to tell about those said clever people; does The Stamford Leader.

The Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hopkins are in town and they, with the other twenty-three people, are giving some fine entertainments at the tent on East McHarg Avenue and South Ferguson streets, on the Judge B. P. Davenport lot.

The engagement opened Monday night with "The First Year," which is but depicting the first year of some married lives that some of the audience seemed rather familiar with, according to the way they enjoyed it, for the most of those familiar with it seemed to have passed along that way at some time.

Monroe Hopkins and wife are far above the average players. So is the entire company. Mrs. Hopkins is a sister to Hila Morgan, whose show has been here several times. We learn that show is now not traveling. Mr. Morgan having passed on some few months ago. Monroe Hopkins is one of the most versatile men on the stage, tent or house, today. He can sing, dances along the pathway of George Primrose's best days—dances the older dances, dances the dances that were rife in later days and can come on down through "Charleston," crossing "Black Bottom" and get into Stamford's latest, which generally comes off the reel about as often as chickens hatch, so frequent are the inventions in that line in Stamford. Then Monroe can and does act. He makes a fine speech before an audience. Topping this with being a business man, what has George M. Cohen got on him, environments considered? Put Cohen here and he might go broke; put Hopkins in New York and he might not do better. The lady who takes the part of Mrs. Tommy Tucker will always "get white bread and butter" for such good acting and specialty work with her teammate. The orchestra is a good one—much better than some of the tent show orchestras. True, it is so jazzy sometimes that it almost makes you dizzy, but that is what the majority of folks, especially those of the junior incline or those who dream they will never get old, want, so there. The orchestra can play other music besides jazz, however, and now and then it looks to us like the orchestra would like to believe there are people in the audience who would appreciate "William Tell Overture," "Poet and Peasant," "Cavaleria Rusticana," and some of the later ones along those lines. The orchestra need have no fear, for there are many out there in the audience every night who would like "Tales from Hoffman," or "Gems from Herbert's Operas" and they would not sniff if "tore," or any of that sort. They could get a snatch of "Il Trovatore." The specialties all the way through were excellent.

Then there are the other features, but you go and see; maybe you will not agree with us. If you do not, it will be perfectly all right, for you may be a better judge than we are, and that might be easy for you to be. Mark you, we say YOU might be a better judge than we; not the other fellow.

Oh, yes. Meet Mr. Axtell with the show—"the man in front." The best race horse you ever heard of was named Axtell. One of the best advance men on the road is named Axtell.—Stamford Leader. advt.

PRESENTED PLAY AT SIMMONS UNIVERSITY AUDITORIUM

Last Friday night at 9:30 the cast of "The Valiant" presented that play in the Simmons University auditorium as the Interscholastic League contest play. Each character portrayed his part with unusual ability, and the play won more applause from the audience than any other except Abilene high. J. T. Carter, as the valiant, played a strong part. Eva Todd, as Josephine Paris, was very appealing. Valton Wallace, as the warden, had a difficult part to interpret but he pantomimed it well. Ernest Johnson as the prison chaplain, was also a strong character in pantomime. Charles Ferguson and Herman Bell, attendant and jailor, respectively, played their parts in a commendable manner.

There were about fourteen large high schools entered this tournament at Abilene, and although "The Valiant" presented by Crowell did not take the first place, the presentation was a great step forward for Crowell high school as this was the first time Crowell had entered the Little Theatre tournament.

The cast, accompanied by the coach, Miss Anthony, and Morris Diggs, returned Saturday from Abilene.

"What Price Glory"
Is Picture Drama
Without a Villain

"What Price Glory," the merry war film at the Rialto next Monday and Tuesday, is a screen play without a villain. Another novel feature of it is that you can use your own discretion in picking the hero. Nobody will dispute that the fiery Charmaine, played by Dolores Del Rio, is a more than adequate heroine, and that Privates Kiper and Lipinsky supply all the comedy necessary.

But who's the hero? Is it Captain Flagg, the hard-boiled Marine who uses profanity by preference, gets gloriously drunk at Bar-le-Duc and leads his men into battle as light-heartedly as though he were going on a picnic? Or is it Sergeant Quirt, the rough and blustering leatherneck, who knows all the card tricks in the deck, steals his superior officer's sweethearts when he gets a chance and takes his war as a matter of course?

Victor McLaglen plays the first and critics say it's his best performance yet, while Edmund Lowe is "the shifty baby" of the second part, and so cunningly did Laurence Stallings, one time captain in the Marines himself, and Maxwell Anderson construct the play that even on the stage the audience could choose its own hero.

In making the film, Raoul Walsh resolutely stuck to the same idea. There wasn't going to be any villain in his scheme of things, and if a hero or heroes were necessary they wouldn't be of the mold commonly visible upon the screen. And so the audience can take its choice of the big hearted, bombastic Flagg, and the handsome, unscrupulous Quirt. But whichever is the hero, they have one thing in common—they are both real men. See this Monday and Tuesday. (Advt.)
