Shall the People Rule?

Under the above caption appears an article in the Wood County Democrat by the County Superintendent of public Schools in that county touching on the proposed constitutional amendment relating to public education in Texas, which is to the point and is worthy your attention. With reference to the expression, "Shall the people rule?" he said:

This great question is the paramount issue in the present campaign, both in the state and nation. The rule of the people can not be one man's rule or the rule of a set of men other than the majority.

Majority rule is a time-honored tenet of democracy. Jefferson taught that acquiescence in the will of the majority is the vital principle of Democratic government. Minority rule is so unfair, so un-American, so undemocratic, that (Democratic) Texas alone legalizes it, and she permits it only on the question of better schools for the education of her children.

A vote for better school conditions and equipments counts for one-half as much as a vote against these things. A majority can vote a road tax; a majority can vote stock law; a majority can vote bonds for a court house; a majority can amend the constitution, elect officers, etc; but it takes two-thirds to build a school house or improve same in order that the children may receive the full benefit of their school fund and become intelligent and useful citizens.

The amendment does not levy a tax, it gives the majority the majority the power to do so if they choose. If a majority do not want a tax, the minority will be satisfied, but it can never be satisfactory in a republic like this for a minority to dictate and control.

There are many schools in the state that do not want or need local taxation, yet such should not prevent those schools from having it that needs this help. Education is not a selfish matter, for it is clearly to the interest of all that every child in the state be educated. Education of the masses is necessary for the protection and preservation of the liberties and rights of the people. A vote for the amendment is a vote for the children of Texas. The defeat of this amendment will be a calamity to the schools of this state.

9000 BALES FOR THE FIRST YEAR

A shipment of 9000 bales of cotton from Crowell the first year after becoming a railroad point! That's not bad is it? But someone says, "Show me." Doubtless such a fellow has nothing to do and always stands ready to be shown. Let him therefore stand and doubt until shown and then if he can fall into line with the progress Foard county is making right before his eyes, he is fit material to become a contributor to such progress, otherwise he should take up his abode with the moss-backs of eastern

But that is not what we intended to say.

According to the estimate made by the Orient people here the shipment of cotton from Crowell this year will not fall far short of 9000 bales and it may possibly go beyond that amount. Of course a large percent of that will have come from neighboring counties. This is largely the result of a little expenditure of money in the improvement of the roads west. We are getting the trade of a country which we might have lost by a little negligence. It has cost practically nothing to secure for our town this trade and it should be a lesson to help guide us for the future in steps for the further advancement of our town and county.

The New Cook Book

The ladies of the Cemetery Association have undertaken a new enterprise which speaks in most commendable terms of their tireless efforts to improve the cemetery grounds. The plan is to publish a new cook of about 160 pages, which will be made up of recipes for cooking contributed by home talent. Any one may contribute one or more recipes. The book will be sold at 50 cents.

If their effort succeeds, the Association will get out a fine publication and it will be worth many times the price at which it will sell. Every one who gives a recipe will certainly know that it has merit before she affixes her name to be attached to the book. We think this book will be an invaluable addition to the library of every home and will meet with a ready sale. The price for the book will be used for the improvement of the cemetery grounds. The ladies of the Association are not offering this to avoid the accusation of acting on the charity plan of securing money for cemetery purposes, but they are offering a piece of work that intrinsic value, and the half-dollar you pay for this book will be hard earned money and will go directly into the improvement of the cemetery grounds. We believe their effort will be a success, as it should be.

Independent Elected

R. L. Collier, Democratic nominee in Dickens county for the office of County Judge, was defeated at the election last week by W. C. Ballard, an independent. The vote stood 123 Collier and 157 for Ballard. His opponents at the last July.

IMMIGRATION A CERTAINTY

It will be but a few days until the Orient road will be running trains from Kansas City to Sweetwater, and it may be expected that when good service is established on the road something will take place along the line. And it is probable that Foard county will witness a large share of the activity. Our immigration will be from the North. The fertility of our soil and the geniality of our climate will be conditions too much in our favor for the northern homeseekers to ignore. Coming as they will from a latitude much higher and from a country where the soil is less fertile, Texas will offer them opportunities not surpassed by those of any other countries. It will mean more rapid settlement of the country and more rapid growth of the town. And that will expand business generally—bigger business houses, better hotel accommodations and more employment for mechanics, workmen and wage earners. But let the town and country expand, there is plenty of room for the town to grow; and thousands of acres of the richest soil in the world whose abundant yield is only awaiting the man with the hoe.

Closes at Crowell

Judge S. P. Huff came in Saturday from Crowell, where he has been for three weeks in the fall session of the district court, which has just closed. He tells us that Crowell is building very rapidly and the present prospects bid fair for that place to make an objective commercial point. The new railroad has widened the territory, so that cotton that heretofore went to Quanah, Childers and Vernon, is being marketed there. A town without railroad facilities is almost as bad as no town at all, and happy is that people who happen to be fortunate enough to possess a number of these live wires to commerce.—Vernon Record.

Thinks Price Will Advance

Atlanta, Ga. Nov. 8.—Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Association, speaking tonight on the outlook for marketing for cotton crop said:

The National election is passed and millions of dollars of orders for manufactured goods have been placed in the past few weeks. Raw cotton will feel the impetus given to other lines of industry. While the ginners' report indicates a larger amount of cotton ginned to date than at any previous period in the history of the Census Bureau, the ginners for November and the succeeding months of the year will indicate a heavy and continuous falling off. The total yield this year will, in my opinion, fall far short of the two big crop years of 1904 and 1906."

Mr. Jordan emphasized his belief that the price of cotton will rise speedily.

New Line Charter Approved 000 acres of land in Jack and Young counties, which has been exploited with drills and found to be rich in coal. The road will touch Henderson, Tyler, Canton, Kaufman or Terrell, Dallas, Jacksboro, Olney, Seymour and Vera with a branch line to Ft. Worth. Mr. Cain stated that the line would have the greatest diversity of Tonnage of any other railroad in Texas, pointing out that it starts in the heart of the pine country, insuring heavy lumber tonnage, thence through the fruit belt, traversing the iron section; then entering the black lands, intersecting the commercial centers of North Texas, followed by the rich section producing coal and fine building stone, and its terminus in the cattle and grain country. —Dallas News.

An Agriculturist's Decision
We have always believed that Foard county is a wheat country, although some have doubted it even in the face of facts before us. As to yield it has never been questioned that this county is hard to surpass. And having the decision of an agriculturist as to quality, we ought to be able to place this county where it belongs.

G. T. Crowell, who was in charge of our exhibit at Dallas, during the fair, tells us that an agriculturist in the employ of the government, having heard of Foard county wheat, made it a point to examine our samples of wheat at the fair and stated that he would be willing to take Foard county wheat anywhere and compare it with that of any country, knowing that it would not suffer from the comparison. We believe that a little more effort on our part next year to get this county properly before the world will establish it as the undisputed wheat country of the State.

Diferent Opinion as to Bryan

Perhaps Mr. Bryan's defeat for the presidency, while due in part to the array of the money powers against him, is due also to some extent to the fact that the party has never been altogether united on him. There are a great many Democrats who admire him for his sincerity and honesty, who do not regard him as being good presidential timber, and therefore have not given him their support at the election. It is not always the best statesmen that can get to be president of the Nation. This has been demonstrated in the case of Henry Clay, James G. Blain and appears to be true with Mr. Bryan. These men seem to have occupied a position, by reason of their native endowments, that placed the presidency beyond their reach.

We give the following from the Ft. Worth Telegram:

"Defeat, or maybe it is just experience, is making a philosopher out of Bryan.

"Some months ago a writer in the Outlook declared that there is a real need in America for men who can serve as critics. There are enough creative men in the country, men who are doing things, he said, but there is a real need for men who have breadth, intelligence and patriotism to weigh the work we are now doing and point to mistakes we are making as we pass along.

"And as Mr. Bryan is becoming philosophic, as he is a man of large industry, a man of breadth, he is a man of the most part empty.

"One is not required to hold office to do big things," said Mr.

J. K. Quinn

Bryan Wednesday. "One is simply required to do those things within his reach, and that much is within the reach of us."

"And this is the essence of sound philosophy, a good motto for any would-be useful citizen. To do the thing within reach as well as one can, surely that is greater than acquiring some large opportunity for the sake of equipment alone."

"Enough to be able to afford some serious, sober judges in the garb of laymen to commend the new things that are good, condemn those that are wrong, point out dangers and point to higher endeavor. For such a place Mr. Bryan can well qualify. The work within his reach is a big one because he has a long reach."

"Just what occupation Mr. Bryan will seek has not been announced. He may continue on the lecture platform where his influence is useful and helpful. He may identify himself with some newspaper and in it comment upon public affairs. Whatever he does, if he continues to be actuated by motives of patriotism and real desire for the good of the American public will be better."

A Profitable Peanut Crop

Tulsa, Oklahoma, Nov. 8.—B. D. Wymore, a prominent farmer living near the city, experimented this year in raising peanuts. On two acres of land he raised a crop of 100 bushels, for which he will receive $200, or an average price of $2 a bushel. This is the first experiment ever made in this section of Oklahoma in raising peanuts. It has been demonstrated that the soil is adapted to the well growing of the crop. Being grown in the Arkansas

A Tank of 100,000 Bbls.

Quannah, Texas, Nov. 7.—Superintendent Hammond of the Central Foundry Company of Birmingham, Ala., is in Quannah superintending the building of the concrete foundation which is to support the 100,000 barrel steel tank and the municipal water tower. The water tower foundation is being built on the city hitch lots which front on King street. The pipe for the water mains has arrived and has been distributed along the streets and alleys where it will be laid. There will be ten fire hydrants. Two reels and 1,000 feet of Eureka fire hose have been purchased. The contract for the water works plant calls for completion and test on Dec. 15.

To the Farmers of Foard County.

I have farms in Tarrant, Coleman, Wise, Cook, Grayson, Montague and Palo Pinto Counties, Texas, and several in Oklahoma to trade for Foard county farms. If you want to dispose of your farms, come to see me, first door north of Post Office.—J. E. Bray.
