AND CROWELL INDEX

VOL. XX. NO. 32.

CROWELL, FOARD COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1910.

FINE CATTLE SOLD BY FOARD CO. MAN

When a cattle feeder goes out to search for cattle that are to be exhibited in prize contests, it is very certain that if he knows his business he will handle no scrubs. One of our farmers, or more particularly a cattle man, B. J. Smith, sold last week 55 high-bred calves to an Illinois feeder. These calves will be put on exhibition at the International Stock Show in Chicago this month in the feeder class. They will then be fed for the prize contest to be had in Nov. 1911.

Mr. Smith has been breeding up his cattle for several years and now has a ranch of the best breeds in Texas. Those 55 high-bred calves will be a big advertisement not only for Mr. Smith but for Foard County. It will be demonstrated that we can raise as fine stock as anybody when these calves are fattened for the prize contest. The idea with Mr. Smith is not to raise all the cattle he can but to develop the very best high-breds possible, and he is making splendid success.

Married

Mr. W. R. Rouse and Miss Mattie Wier of Benjamin were married at this place Saturday, T. D. Britt officiating.

Mr. E. L. McGuire and Miss C. B. Wright of Maagert were married Sunday, Rev. G. G. Hamilton performing the ceremony.

Night Prowlers

Of late the inmates of a number of homes in the city have heard soft footsteps on back galleries and suppressed tones about the premises late at night. Some of the women folks have been a little bit frightened by these noises, but so far as we have learned nothing has been stolen. Whether burglary is the aim or whether the night visitors are just some mischievous boys wanting to scare somebody we don't know, but in either case it is not safe to prowl. Any one ought to know the danger of such ventures, and for the boys' good, if indeed it should be our home boys bent on what they might term mere "fun," we advise them to let their business be known when they make unexpected visits. If you do not, you are likely to suffer the fate of a burglar.

Streets Crowded Monday

Last Monday being Trade Day a large crowd as usual was on the public square. A great deal of interest is shown in the exhibition of live stock in the county, and most of the stock was good. It is clearly demonstrated that there is no better stock country than Foard County but everybody seems not to have realized this. We shall be glad to see the time when more interest is taken in raising hogs. It would be surprising no doubt to know just what fine hogs could be raised in this county, and it is hoped that we may some day have exhibits of such of these as can be brought to town and exhibited with the other stock.

PROCLAMATION FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

Washington, Nov. 6.—The vigorous growth and progress of the country, as reflected by the records of population and harvests and the general conditions of international peace, are things for which thanksgiving is especially due for the year 1910, according to the annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation issued by President Taft today. The proclamation is as follows:

"This year of 1910 is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvests, which are the index of progress, show vigorous National growth and the health and prosperous well-being of our communities throughout the land and in our possessions beyond the seas. These blessings have not descended upon us in restricted measure, but overflow and abound. They are the blessings and bounty of God.

"We continue to be at peace with the rest of the world. In all essential matters our relations with other people are harmonious, with an ever-growing reality of friendliness, depth of recognition of mutual dependence. It is especially to be noted that during the past year great progress has occurred in the cause of arbitration and peaceful settlement of international disturbances.

"Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the wise custom of the civil magistrate since the first settlements in this land and with the rule established fresh from the foundation of this Government, do appoint Thursday, Nov. 24, 1910, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, enjoying the people upon that day to meet in their churches for the praise of Almighty God and to return heartfelt thanks to him for all his goodness and loving kindness.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this 5th day of November, in the year of our Lord, 1910, and of the independence of the United States the 135th.

(Seal) "William Howard Taft.
By the President:
Alvey A. Adee,
Acting Secretary of State."

House Burned

Last Monday morning about 3 o'clock the alarm of fire aroused the people to witness the destruction of a dwelling in the northwest portion of town by fire. The building had been vacated a short time ago by a family having rented it. The house belonged to Jim Gafford. It is not known how came the fire to break out.

For Example

In the early part of March, 1855, a native of Ireland arrived in New York with eight dollars in his pocket. He struck off into the country, asking at every farm for a steady job and paying for a meal and a night's lodging with a few hours' work. He finally found a place at fifteen dollars a month, board with the farmer's family, and a room in the garret. Out of his pay, in the course of time, he bought a hundred acres of land at a hundred dollars an acre. It was practically new land. He built a house with his own hands, a barn with the timber on the land and with the help of his neighbors, dug the ditches and built the fences. He raised nine useful sons and daughters and led a happy life. Today any man can get twice the wages and buy the farm, with all its improvements, at half the price: only one-fourth the period of saving and waiting is required of the man who makes the effort today. What comparison is there between that Irish farmer's corn-fields, the cattle on his hills, his peaceful Sunday afternoons, and the harried life of the underfed city workman? No laws helped the immigrant except harsh ones which caused an economic situation that pushed him from his home and put him upon his own initiative and self-help. Collector's.

A DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE

According to the latest dispatches in the daily papers, the election in several of the northern and eastern states has resulted in a democratic landslide. New York, the state towards which all eyes have been turned, is claimed as democratic by a plurality of 65,000, Ohio by 70,000 and New Jersey by 30,000. Massachusetts is reported to have gone democratic, while Tennessee is claimed to be republican by 15,000.

Prohibition Lecture

Hon. W. P. Lane of Fort Worth, State Comptroller elect, will deliver two addresses in Crowell next Sunday, November 13. At 11 a. m. he will speak at the Methodist church and at 7:30 p. m. he will speak at the Christian church, on the Prohibition Status in Texas and the dangers confronting the Pro and "How to win in 1911." Mr. Lane is one of the most forceful and effective speakers in the state and those who hear him will be delighted. He led the state ticket at the late primaries, notwithstanding he has been in the thickest of the liquor fights in Texas for many years.

Crowell has a great opportunity next Sunday to line up and show the state how it stands on this great question and to hear one of Texas' best speakers.

Mrs. Adah Perry Dead

Mrs. Adah Perry, wife of Heard Perry, died Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock, after an illness of only a short time.

She leaves a husband and father and a number of brothers and sisters of this place, and a brother, Warren Dunn who lives in California, to mourn her death.

The remains were shipped to Coleman, Texas, Wednesday, accompanied by the relatives, to be laid by the side of her mother, Mrs. J. C. Dunn, who died here only a short time and buried at that place.

The bereaved ones have the sympathy of the people of Crowell in this sad affliction.

Runaway Accident

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. S. P. McLaughlin and little daughter were driving along Commerce street west when near the East Side rooming house the horse became frightened. Leaving the street not far from the News office the horse ran in the direction of Mr. Parson's home when he suddenly turned, upsetting the buggy and cooping Mrs. McLaughlin and the child under the top. Fortunately the shafts of the buggy broke as it turned losing the horse. Neither of the occupants sustained any injuries.

CHIPS OF WISDOM

Every farm should own a good farmer.

This world is God's workshop for making men in.

A man who does not love praise is not a full man.

A man without self restraint is like a barrel without hoops and tumbles to pieces.

The pursuit of ignoble pleasures is the degradation of true happiness.

The examples set by the great and good do not die; they continue to live and speak to all generations that succeed them. It is idleness that is the curse of man—not labor.

Sloth never climbed a hill nor overcame a difficulty that it could avoid.

Even leisure cannot be enjoyed unless it is won by effort. If it has not been earned by work the price has not been paid for it.

Idleness eats the heart of men, and consumes them as rust does iron.

Power belongs only to the worker; the idle are always powerless.

It is the laborious, painstaking men who are the rulers of the world.

Perseverance is the best school for manly virtue.

The greatest misfortune of all is not to be able to bear misfortune.

Method is the very hinge to business, and there is no method without punctuality.

Idle moments are the openings through which the tempter finds readiest entrance with the citadels of the soul.

If a man be gracious to strangers, it shows that he is a citizen of the world, and that his heart is not island cut off from other lands, but a continent that joins them.

Nothing is more penurious, nothing more anxious than carelessness, and every duty which is hidden to wait returns with seven fresh duties at its back.

Today is a king in disguise. Today always looks mean to the thoughtless in the face of uniform experience that all good and great and happy actions are made up precisely of these blank todays.

BEAUTIFUL THOUGHTS

The Countess Irma is one of the characters in a German novel entitled "On the Heights." In her journal are found the following beautifully expressed sentiments:

"Modern culture cannot take the place of religion; religion makes all men equal, culture unequal. There must however, some day, be a system of culture which will make all men equal; then only will it be the right or the true. We are only yet at the beginning."

"So long as we can say 'father,' or 'mother,' there is a love on earth which bears one up in its arms. It is only when the parents are dead that we are set down on the hard ground."

"We only see all the good nests when the trees are bare, and there is nothing more in them."

"Every man, wherever, he may be, is standing, unforeboded, on a height, from which he does not see the signs of mortality. If one always saw them there would be no more work in the world—no more song."

"The most mysterious, dreamy thoughts are like a bird on a twig; he sings, but if he sees an eye watching him he flies away."

"A man who allows himself to alter his sentiments, and permits the hunger of his character to be changed, is conquered by the world, and exists no longer as himself."

HINTS FOR WIVES

Perchance you think that your husband's disposition is much changed; that he is no longer the sweet-tempered, ardent lover he used to be. This may be a mistake. Consider his struggle with the world—his everlasting race with the busy competition of trade. What is it that makes him so eager in the pursuit of gain—so energetic by day, so sleepless by night—but his love of home, wife and children, and a dread that their respectability, according to the light in which he has conceived it, may be encroached upon by the strife of existence. This is the true secret of that silent care which preys upon the hearts of many men; and true it is, that when love is least apparent, it is nevertheless the active principle which animates the heart, though fears and disappointments make up a cloud which obscures the warmer element. As above the clouds there is a glorious sunshine while below are showers and gloom, so with the conduct of man—behind the gloom of anxiety there is a bright fountain of high and noble feeling. Thinking of this in those moments when—clouds seem to lower upon your domestic peace and by tempering your conduct accordingly, the gloom will soon pass away and warmth and brightness take its place.

THE DEADLY COLD BED

If trustworthy statistics could be had of the number of persons who die every year or become permanently diseased, from sleeping in damp or cold beds, they would probably be astonishing and appalling. It is a peril that constantly besets traveling men, and if they are wise they will invariably insist on having their beds aired and dried, even at the risk of causing much trouble to their landlords. But, it is a peril that resides also in the home, and the cold "spare room" has slain its thousands of helpless guests, and will go on with its slaughter till people learn wisdom. Not only the guest, but the family often suffer the penalty of sleeping in cold rooms and chilling their bodies at a time when they need all their bodily heat, by getting between cold sheets. Even in warm summer weather a cold, damp bed will get in its deadly work. It is a needless peril, and the neglect to provide dry rooms and beds has in it the element of murder and suicide.

MEN AND WOMEN OF SCIENCE.

Dr. Harry W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, is deprived of part of the power he has been exercising by a clause in the agricultural appropriation bill. Doctor Wiley, who heretofore has issued citations to hearings whenever examinations made in his bureau seemed to justify him in demanding of the manufacturer an explanation of any article of food or drug product which it was thought did not come up to the standard of purity required by the food and drug act, will now confine his work practically to his laboratory. His other powers will be transferred to the solicitor of the department.

MOST DEADLY SERPENT.

Probably no other spot in the known world has such a death-dealing reptile as has the French island of Martinique, in the Caribbean sea. It is the fer-de-lance, scientifically known as "trigonecephalus lanceolatus," that can lay claim to being the most deadly serpent of the earth. There are eight distinct varieties, the most common being a dark gray and black speckled, which coloring enables it to conceal itself easily among roots and stumps of trees.

CHARM OF FRENCH WOMAN

Often It Depends More on Good Dressing Than on Natural Grace of Person.

We have heard much about the grace with which the French woman holds up her skirt. Not long ago one of our well known actresses posed seriously in a number of pictures showing how the trick is accomplished. As a matter of fact, the French woman holds her skirt almost any way, just as other women do in crossing a street, only she holds it much higher. Before she starts from home she sees that her hems are all intact and well brushed, that her petticoat is fresh and pretty and also that her stockings are good to look at, and out she goes. At the first corner she grasps her skirt on either side, pulls it well up, almost to her knees, and proceeds totally unconscious that she is the cynosure of all eyes.

The subject of petticoats is one that occupies much time and attention in Paris. Manufacturers exert much ingenuity in designing pretty models. In the Bon Marche or the Louvre one will find 20 or 30 different styles in silk skirts alone to choose from and innumerable lingerie skirts. The latter, made of white, are always given a touch of color by an under flounce of silk in pink, blue or lavender to match the trimming in the hat or the parasol of the wearer. While the shoes of the French woman are invariably the extremely ugly, long, narrow, square toed type, two or three sizes too large for her, they are always in good condition. The streets of Paris are so clean that it is possible for the woman to wear light shoes, blue, gray or lavender, to match her costume. Sometimes she wears shoes with plaid tops.—Harriet Quimby, in Leslie's.

 "No; and he doesn't act like one, either."

EDUCATION OF DAUGHTERS.

Logic, impersonality, magnanimity, qualities which result from close and constant contact with men and facts, various and many, are qualities noticeably lacking in the average feminine make-up. The old-fashioned ornamental education of women, a smattering of literature, a few accomplishments, a little general knowledge of a half-dozen subjects, was surely not calculated to remedy the deficiency. The ornamental education is being slowly but surely ousted. The day is approaching, if, indeed, it is not here, when any girl who doesn't receive a college education will feel that it is as great a disadvantage to her as it is to a man to forgo the university. Whether or not we educate our girls for self-support, we educate them for knowledge, resource, character, ability, power. It is important that the mothers of the race should have these qualities to hand down.—Louise Collier Wilcox, in Harper's Bazar.

FOR THE VACATION TRIP.

An all around, useful blouse for vacation wear that is smart is made from Shanghai pongee in the natural shade in a plainly tailored style, cut out slightly at the neck and fitted with sleeves cut away at the wrist with the edges trimmed with a little Persian ribbon.

The waist is cool, easily laundered, does not quickly show dust or soil and has the additional merit by reason of its neutral coloring of forming an agreeable contrast to a skirt of almost any color that may be worn with it.

Such colors as brown, navy blue, dark red, green, tan and black will all harmonize.

THE Day of Cheap Cotton is Over

Every month in the year cotton and cotton seed products are finding new markets. There is only a comparatively small portion of the earth's surface that will grow cotton. So the man who invests his money in land that will grow cotton will never see the time when his investment will depreciate in value. Mining enterprises and city property may be changed conditions lose their value. Not so with a cotton farm. We have a large lot of land specially adapted to cotton growing. Come and see us.

WOMEN AS ARCHITECTS.

An exposition of work by women architects was held recently in St. Petersburg. The exhibits ranged from beautiful watercolor drawings of plans for landscape gardening to technical designs for heating and ventilating installations in large business buildings.

Many women students showed colored drawings for banners, which are distinctive of Russian churches. Several exhibitors were engaged by firms of good standing to supervise the construction of buildings, especially decorative structures, in progress in St. Petersburg.

Foard County News

KIMSEY & KLEPPER, Publishers

Entered at postoffice at Crowell, Texas, as second class mail matter.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1910

The Socialist note in this county shows that they are not so strong as they are loud. They just can't cut 'er.

It will be a much easier matter to keep the wolf from our door by studying business along with politics. Too many jack-legs are trying to explain what "economic determinism" is who ought to be trying to learn how to head spray barrels. It's the solemn truth.

A prominent Socialist agitator of Oklahoma recently said that the Socialists would have to raise the negroes up to their level or else they would sink to the level of the negro. Wrong again, Bud. Perhaps the negroes will regard you as fit for social equality with them when, if indeed it is possible, you are brought up to their level.

We have no patience with the man who sits around on his southern hemisphere and cusses folks for "not doin' nothin'." For goodness sake keep your mug closed or get out of the way! It is better that you get into a little hole, if you can find one small enough to fit you, and stay there. In this bustling, rustling age an atom is liable to fall on you and squish the life out of you.

The term "Dry Farming" does not mean farming without any moisture but is understood to mean most successful farming with the least amount of moisture. It aims at the conservation of the moisture that comes to the soil annually. Ordinarily we get a sufficient amount of rain through the run of a year for the growth of abundant crops, and the method of what is called dry farming is to utilize as much as is possible. This is a great movement for West Texas and will cause this country to blossom when the method becomes one of general practice.

It is our business to represent facts as they are in this county, and in this connection we say, as we have always said, that this county offers opportunities not surpassed anywhere else in Texas. Are you making a strong effort to get people here? Just 'fess up. Don't just keep sitting down and saying the other fellow is doing nothing. Just tell the truth: say, "I am doing nothing." Crowell ought to have a live commercial club, and when we say a "live club," we don't mean a dead one. We need a club that will go after capital and enterprise. We need a commercial club with a salaried secretary whose business and whose only business it is to perform that work. Let that man be whomever he may be, so that he can make good, and if he fails in that, let him go. Then we need enough public spirit and country and city pride to tear the moss from our backs, rise up and give our heartiest support to an organization that means life and growth to the entire country. Then something can be done, and when something gets done, the News may find itself in the ranks of bigger boosters. See? We'll tell it to 'em and don't you forget it, Sallie, when the great awakening comes.

Lively Proceedings

A pretty lively time was experienced Thursday afternoon of last week just as a Socialist agitator was closing his speech in the court house. In the face of conflicting reports by eye witnesses as to just how the disturbance commenced or who started it, we think it would be useless for us to offer a correct report. We shall therefore give a few interesting happenings, according to reports, as they transpired.

The report indicates that Ed Mercer touched the little thing off when he differed with the speaker on a certain proposition, and then and there so expressed himself. Some of the socialist brethren being of a nervous temperament, were very much disturbed by Ed's lawless conduct and went to pieces. It might be well to state just here that complaint was made against Ed for disturbance of public worship; was tried in the court next day and acquitted of the grave charge.

Going back to the beginning of the game, we find shortly after Ed's break, that new interest suddenly seized the participants in an instantly-revised program. Among other things that happened was the attempt to persuade Steve Bell to wear a cane-bottom chair on his head by Ed Thomson. Not being particularly fond of that sort of head gear, Steve desisted and soon convinced Ed that further attempts at that kind of thing was useless. In the mean time a man of small stature, one J. D. Brown, crept up as close as his good judgment led him to believe it was safe for a small man, and with a piece of plank struck Mr. Bell, thinking that coercion would accomplish perhaps what Thompson's persuasion had failed to accomplish. Seeing that he had also failed, the little man was not slow to obey the spirit which seemed to suddenly seize him to learn if he was wanted in the jury room. Whatever business was transacted there in the jury room behind closed doors by Mr. Brown alone was of sufficient importance as in his good judgment, to allow no admittance. It may be of interest to state that business in the jury room was concluded some time after proceedings had been suspended in the court room.

During all this time there was another program being carried out in which Ben Wheeler was the most attractive figure. About a half dozen Socialists were trying to measure the circumference of Ben's arm just above the elbow, but could not get enough strings together and abandoned the effort in disgust.

When things were nearing the climax the Socialist agitator mounted the table and pled for recognition and soon got it, but it never came just as he wanted it, which after all was not so strange, since life itself is one endless chain of disappointments. He took, however, what was coming to him and then asked leave of absence, which was very cordially granted. It was feared that he felt slightly irritated over the turn things had taken and left abruptly without the promise of a return. Unfortunately some of the boys had their wives with them and could not stay for the valedictory and benediction. The lengthy exercises having caused the women to contract a severe headache, it was necessary for his husbands to go along to see them safely home. Such was the case with Kumrid Pinkerton. Thus ends the first chapter of the "revolution." On with the battle!

Plow Deep, Says Edmonson

Joe Edmonson of the Department of Agriculture before the Dry Farming Congress at Haskell, among other things, said: "Not as much is required to produce good crops as many farmers think, for some sections have too much rain. From my experience in the black land belt for 16 years and considerable observation and information as to Western Texas, I can safely say that one inch of rainfall will go from three to five or six inches deeper into soil that is well and deeply prepared to receive it than it will into a field not so prepared. My observation in Western Texas is that its most successful farmers, as a rule, are those that prepare their land early and deep. But few, if any, prepare it deep enough. It is hardly possible to plow your land too deep the first time, in the fall or winter, if it is in condition to pulverize. Put your plow down deep, follow right behind with the harrow or something that will pulverize the clods and put a mulch on it. Do this as soon as possible after your crop is harvested, then you have it in condition to drink all the rain that falls on it. Whenever it rains on it go over it again as soon as you can, before the moisture dries out, with harrow in order to prevent evaporation and loss of that moisture. Keep on imprisoning the moisture in that way as you catch it. There are but two ways for moisture to get out of the land, one is for the growing plants to take it up, the other is by evaporation. Land allowed to lie too long without siring the surface, or to form a crust, loses more moisture by evaporation than is used by the plants. Evaporation goes on most rapidly when there is a crust on the land; prevent the crust and keep the surface well pulverized and you can retain the moisture almost indefinitely, except as it is consumed by growing crops on the land. That is "dry farming," so-called, getting the full benefit of all the rain that comes to you, and not allowing it to waste in evaporation. You understand this stirring the surface must be continued through the growing period to keep the moisture in for the nourishment of the crops, the mulch keeps it there."

The above was the substance of the speaker's remarks. He related his experience in a thorough test of the method of cultivation with most gratifying results. Mr. Edmonson also spoke from observation, giving one example where a farmer had cultivated his land with this method, with a rainfall of only 41-2 inches during the growing season, and produced 40 bushels of corn to the acre while his neighbors with the same rainfall produced about 5 bushels.

We believe there is something in dry farming, and we hope our farmers will take it up and get all that is coming to them.

building. A few cents saved are worth retaining our prices for the benefit of the above mentioned solicitor.

If our friend's advice is to be taken seriously, where must we commenced the ripping? But this is a personal matter. We must not dwell on matters that affect the bread and meat proposition with us alone; we must help fight the battles of our townsmen, for that is our duty.

Co-operation is the first law of town building, and we don't understand the meaning of the term not to embrace the great principle of support of home enterprises. We advocate a condition of trade, so far as people have anything to do with it, that will make business for home people, that they may thus be enabled and encouraged to spend both energy and means for the upbuilding of the town.

When a man gets to the point where he wants everything for himself he is a poor co-operator and consequently not only not a town builder but a town destroyer.

WOMAN RUNS BUSINESS.

LIFE IN COLONIAL VIRGINIA

Where Social Distinctions Were as Rigidly Defined as Anywhere in the World.

In no part of the world were social distinctions more rigidly defined than in colonial Virginia. The founders of that colony stepped from the brilliant court of Elizabeth into the forests of Virginia. The lord-proprietor transported to his estate a little army of gentlemen and indentured servants, and afterward came the negro slave. Each formed a class apart from the others, and almost at once there was created a quasi-system of aristocracy. The proprietor obligated himself to protect his tenants from the Indians; they in turn agreed to follow him to battle—precisely the system inaugurated by William the Conqueror for the military defense of his realm. His environment naturally bred certain habits of command, fostered a capacity for directing the efforts of others, and imposed a sense of responsibility upon the planter for the lives that were in his keeping. Above all else, the planter jealously guarded his rights as an English freeman. When liberty languished in England, the Virginians stoutly resisted every aggression of royal tyrants. One husband, one wife, one home, one king, one God—this was the planter's creed. But he reserved the right to renounce a monarch who violated the ancient compact between king and people. No other people, numerically as unimportant as that group of Virginia settlers, has given to humanity so many statesmen, soldiers, orators, patriots and philosophers.—Everybody's Magazine.

GIRL WITH A SLENDER WAIST

Can Wear a Flower Girde But Her Stouter Sister Should Shun This Adornment.

The girl with the slender waist should make herself a flower girde. These are attractive on the slim young girl, but let her stouter sister wear a ribbon or mouseline ribbon, wide, and cut off soft crush belt, or highly in the center of the body into a looped rosette like a full rose, as large as a giant's foot. The smaller flower for are six inches in diameter, the larger. There are also two ends, one to the bottom and front and the other quite short at back.

The loops are tied in double tiers on each side of the center, which is tightly tied with a cross piece. They are then turned back and curled to resemble flower petals and made into round shapes.

A bunch of yellow stamens, such as are used in millinery, is tied through the central piece, standing out in both directions. A few sprays of green leaves are added at the back to peep from beneath the ribbon.

REPEATING THE EXCUSE.

The eye of the father grew steely as he stared at his hattered young hopeful.

"You've been fighting again, I see."

He bit off the words with a snapping movement of the jaw.

"Yes, dad," the boy coolly replied. "I've been fighting again. Me and Willie Mortimer mixed things this afternoon in the alley back of 'Bif Henderson's'. An' he beated me, dad—the did, for honest."

The father's brow darkened.

"Why, you're older and taller and heavier than he is. And you let him whip you?"

"Yes, dad. It couldn't be helped. You see, dad, that while I was physically perfect, my mental condition was punk!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WOMEN IN DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Wellesley college has had a professor of domestic science as a member of its faculty since 1891, and she is said to enjoy just the same rank that any of the other professors do. Most of the colleges in the country that are exclusively for women have such a professor, and many of the state universities have a domestic science course, with properly accredited professors.

COLLEGE BOYS AND INCOME

Place of Education Should Surely Not Base Social Distinctions on Money.

If "efficiency" were the object of education, as it so clearly is in Germany and as it so clearly ought to be here, it would be recognized at the outset that frugality was conducive to it and luxury hostile. In England, Froebel said that university education fitted a man extremely well for the grade of gentleman, but for no other that he knew of. And in that Osonian classic, "Tom Brown," we find one of the hero's heroes telling him: "Three years at Oxford, my boy, will teach you something of what rank and money count for, if they teach you nothing else." That lesson is one which, of all lessons, should in America be postponed to a post-graduate course and not inserted, either as compulsory or as elective, in the undergraduate curriculum. Things are by no means as badly off with us yet in what a Rhodes scholarship would not enable its holder to get the full benefit of the institution, socially as well as scholastically and athletically.

If any American undergraduate should complain to his parent that he "could not live" on that allowance, the parent, if he had any sense at all, would promptly withdraw him from that seat of learning. The sense of honor has, among other definitions, been defined as a sense of proportion.

And the sense of honor on which we pride ourselves ought to suffice to prevent the spending by any youth engaged in preparation for the battle of life of more than three or four times the yearly amount that he could reasonably expect to earn in the open market after his preparation was completed and he had entered the battle.

Most certainly it is not good that different standards of living, depending on different amounts of "private means," should be encouraged, or even tolerated, by the faculty of an American university. A place of education is the last place in which there is room for a set of social distinctions based on money.—Scribner's.

War, on the 30th day of January, 1838, to Frederick Rudge for 320 acres of land. Plaintiff alleges that he is the owner of all said land in fee simple, that he and those under whom he claims have had and held the actual, peaceable and adverse possession of said land for more than ten years next preceding the filing of this suit, claiming the same under the location made by virtue of land certificate No. 31-2843 issued to the Houston and Texas Central Railway Company, and mesne conveyances from said Railway Company down to plaintiff, and giving plaintiff chain of title to said land from and under the sovereignty of the soil, and also under the three, five and ten years statutes of limitation of the State of Texas. That defendants are asserting some kind of claim to said land of plaintiff's on account of its conflict with the location of said Frederick Rudge survey, the nature of which is unknown to plaintiff, which constitutes a cloud upon plaintiff's title.

Plaintiff prays that defendants be cited to answer his petition and for judgment divesting all title and interest in and to said land out of the defendants and each of them and investing same in plaintiff, and that the cloud heretofore existing upon plaintiff's title on account of any claim or claims of defendants to any adverse estate or interest in said land be removed and that plaintiff be quieted in his title and possession of said land.

Herein fall not, but have you before said court, on said first day of next term thereof, this writ, your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness my hand and official seal at my office in Crowell, Texas, this 29th day of September A. D. 1910.

THE NEGRO'S COMPROMISE

Chiefly Tapering His Rattlesnake Story Down to a Believable Basis.

Joseph A. is a pikaninny of many virtues, but sadly given to exaggeration. One day when I had him pulling weeds in the front yard he ran into the house with eyes big as moons and cried:

"Law, Miss Minnie, what do you think? I dun kill three big rattlesnakes out in de yard."

"Now, Joseph, you know that is not so."

"Well, now, Miss Minnie," he insisted insinuatingly, "it wuz two terrible big snakes, an' I killed 'em fo' sho'!"

Determined to convict him, I insisted, "You know you did not kill two snakes, Joseph."

He thought a moment, then said impressively: "Well, now, I did kill one powerful big snake in dat very front yard."

"Ga away, boy; you are an outrageous story teller!" I cried, indignantly. He was not one whit abashed by my vehemence, but cheerfully replied:

"Well, law, for goodness, Miss Minnie, hit was a powerful big worm!"—Delineator.

ONCE A STORE HOUSE.

Big setting of fat around the stomach in ancient times was a great storehouse and magazine against famine, for some folk might live on drinking water alone from Christmas till spring shoots sprouted. A camel's hump is bitter fat, and after a camel travels hard and long the hump shrinks down to nothing but skin. Now, what was once a storehouse of food, comfort, a dinner table, a banquet, a consolation inside of man, in those days of scientific economy and providence has become everything but a blessing. Man no longer faces famine bravely to eat his own self up, as he were. Nor has he time and inclination to sit around and laugh to grow fat to enjoy it against lean times of the year. What was once an unspeakable comfort and economy has grown to be an embarrassment of motion, to say the least. Railroads and ships are mostly the cause of all this overeating trouble.

WHERE HONOR IS DUE.

"I see," said the man at the corner desk, "that they've got old Brown at last."

"Who's got him?" said the book-keeper.

"The suffragists. Here's a newspaper notice that proves it. The stork left a girl at his house the other day, and the announcement reads, 'Born to Mrs. and Mr. Brown.' Take notice of that? Mrs. and Mr. That's the suffragist's way of spreading the news."

HERO AVERTS DISASTER.

The prompt bravery of a fireman on the Swiss Federal railway system averted a terrible disaster. The fireman in question was working on the engine of a passenger train one day recently and had just thrown a shovel of coal into the furnace, when he saw in the midst of it a dynamite cartridge. Without a moment's hesitation he thrust his hand into the fire box, and, though terribly burned, succeeded in pulling out the cartridge before an explosion could occur. The railway directors have awarded him a large sum of money for his heroism.

You are hereby commanded to summon Frederick Rudge, the unknown heirs of Frederick Rudge, and all persons who claim an adverse estate or interest in the property hereinafter described, by making publication of this citation once in each week for eight consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 46th Judicial District; to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Foard County, Texas, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Crowell on the 4th Monday in November, A. D. 1910, the same being the 28th day of November, A. D. 1910, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 28th day of September, A. D. 1910, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 687, wherein W. T. Rasor is plaintiff and Frederick Rudge, the unknown heirs of Frederick Rudge, and all persons who claim an adverse estate or interest in the property hereinafter described, are defendants, and the cause of action being alleged as follows: A suit in trespass to try title for the purpose of determining the adverse estate or interests claimed by defendants, or either of them, and to remove cloud from plaintiff's title, to the following described tract or parcel of land situated in Foard County, State of Texas, and being a part of section No. 485, in Block A, located by virtue of certificate No. 31-2843, issued to the Houston and Texas Central Railway Company, by the Commissioner of the General Land Office of the State of Texas for 640 acres of land. Said part of said survey sued for by plaintiff being described by metes and bounds as follows: Beginning at a point in the North boundary line of said section, No. 485, 658 varas west of its northeast corner thence south 1139 varas to the N. B. line of the J. T. White survey; Thence west on the N. B. line of said White survey 1245 varas out to the west boundary line of said section No. 485; Thence north on the west boundary line of said section No. 485, 1050 varas to its N. W. corner; Thence east on the north boundary line of said section, No. 485, to the place of beginning. Plaintiff alleges that said part of said section No. 485, Block A, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. also described and owned by plaintiff is wholly in conflict with a survey of 320 acres of land located by virtue of certificate No. 2188, issued by Bernard E. Bell, Secretary of

ON TEXAS DEVELOPMENTS

Texas Commercial Secretaries Association

Texas is the seat of utility birds. The stork occupied the spot lights during the census enumeration and made the State famous with its remarkable achievements. Now comes the Texas Thanksgiving Turkey, whose gobble is heard throughout the nation. Texas is preparing to ship 2,000,000 turkeys to the northern and eastern markets for Thanksgiving. When the nation arises to thank God from whom all blessings flow, they should remember that Texas makes Thanksgiving possible. Our cotton clothes the world; our meat feeds both hemispheres and our Turkeys banquet the nation. Texans have something to be thankful for besides long lives and perpetual sunshine.

The high cost of living is not troubling the Texas farmer. With 20c cotton and 15c hogs in sight and all other products in proportion, he is in a position of independence, and when committees appointed to inquire into the high cost of living investigate him, they will find him with a good bank account. The wise men in the East who are racking their brains over this problem, should come to Texas and buy a farm and get on the right side of the ledger. There is a farm and an easy living here for all of them.

Good roads are developers as well as time-savers and money-maker to the farmer. The improvement of public highways decreases profanity in a community and enables the farmer to attend church regularly. Good roads help to save his soul and keep him saved, and when he reaches the paved streets of the New Jerusalem he will be "road broke" and will not cry at the splendid thoroughfares of that immortal city. Bad roads vex him in this life and torment his spirit in the world to come. Build roads and be good.

Notification has been received at the headquarters of the Texas Commercial Secretaries Association, from Stamford that the West Texas clubs will charter a special train for the accommodation of delegates from that section who will attend the annual membership meetings of the Texas Commercial Secretaries Association at Waco, Nov. 18-19. To secure a special train, 200 tickets must be sold but the number is already spoken for and the clubs expect to load the train to its capacity. The West Texas clubs are alive to the importance of public discussion and concerted action in the work of upbuilding the State and they have a number of propositions of importance which will be submitted to the convention for their endorsement.

Preliminary arrangements for sending a body of Texas business men to the North and East to invite homeseekers and capitalists to Texas are being worked out by the Texas Commercial Secretaries Association. The proposition was made by Governor-elect Colquitt, who will head the delegation and the arrangement contemplates that the party leave Texas the latter part of Nov. The Commercial Secretaries have asked State organizations such as the Farmer's Union, Texas Bankers Association, Cattle Raisers Association and all other organizations working for the material welfare of the state to send a representative with the party, and the results of the correspondence will be submitted at the annual membership meeting of the Association at Waco on November 18-19 for final action. No itinerary has been prepared but it is proposed to visit all the large cities and financial centers of the east and north, and present the advantages of Texas opportunities and explain Texas laws to homeseekers and capitalists.

Hon. O. B. Colquitt will be in attendance at the annual membership meeting of the Texas Commercial Secretaries Association at Waco on November 18-19 and will deliver the opening address at the opening convention. The Governor elect will deliver a message of importance to the people of Texas and one that will form the key note of Texas development during the next four years.

League Entertainment

The Epworth League members were entertained on last Thursday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hines Clark.

After a short business session there was a contest of authors, prizes being awarded to Misses Bennie Wright and Mabelle Baker.

A most enjoyable feature of the occasion was a vocal solo by Miss Mabel Wilhoite. Music was also rendered by Misses Susie Talley, Maybelle Baker and Maye Klepper. Refreshments consisting of punch and cake were served. Miss Willie McKown presiding at the punch bowl.

At a late hour the guests departed hoping the time for another social not far away.
