STAR-TELEGRAM ALL-STATE TEAM INCLUDES TODD

Dick Todd has received another honor from his fine football team on the Wildcat team this year. The Star-Telegram placed him on their All-State Grid Squad Monday's edition. Although there were more than eleven players selected for this squad, this is high honor, in as much as there has not been a Class B player selected on this mythical team since Class B quit competing for State championship several years ago. The Star-Telegram had this comment to make: "By reason of the fact that he was the greatest back class B circles have seen in many years, Dick Todd of Crowell draws the berth. Although as a rule only class A players are selected, so understanding was Todd that in all instances he must be included. He did everything well. His flashing punts accounted for more than 100 points during the season, and no player who can score that much, no matter what the opposition, must be considered among the best."

Todd was also given special commendation by the Dallas Morning News recently in its All-State report, although the News did not select a specific All-State team. John Gould in the Wichita Falls Daily Times had this to say in Monday's paper, relative to the Saturday game between Amarillo and Corpus Christi at Dallas: "Northwest Texas fans who have seen Dick Todd in action can take an observer's word for it that no backfield performer as talented as he was appeared on the field at Dallas Saturday afternoon. Haas of Corpus Christi was just another football player; that term applies with courtesy only to his work in the last half. The Amarillo backs staged a wonderful show, but without any one of them individually attaining the heights to which Todd soared in the Graham and Plano games. The Crowell boy would be a great help to S. M. Urdue, T. C. U., Duke and Rice later on."

A. R. Fairbairn Commends C. H. S. Football Squad

Captain Lester Patton received the following letter from A. R. Fairbairn, manager of the "Estate and Business Analysis" of Kingsville, Ont., which is a credit to the Wildcat team as a whole: "My dear Patton: No lifelong citizen of Crowell could possibly have been prouder and happier over the record of your team than I was. I brought you I want to congratulate every one of the boys and wish them success for the coming year. "Your last game with Plano was classic; a team with a spirit like that just can't be beaten. "I will follow your career, and that of several of your team-mates, with a great deal of interest. You are as good as I think you are and should go a long way."

ORGANIZATION OF PENSIONERS MONDAY NIGHT

A Foard County Chapter of the Texas Association for Old Age Pensions will be organized in Crowell, Monday night, January 7th, at 7 o'clock, according to John R. Smith, West Texas chairman of the Association, who was in town Thursday afternoon.

The meeting will be held in the District Court room at the court house and E. B. Scales will preside. "Our Aims," according to Mr. Smith, "are, first, letting the people of Texas know the vital necessity for an Old Age Pension system in this state; second, to prevail upon the Texas Legislature to permit the people to vote on a constitutional amendment that will permit the legislature to pass an Old Age Assistance act in Texas; third, to present facts and figures to the voters that they may intelligently vote upon such a constitutional amendment when submitted; fourth, after ratification of the submitted amendment, to present to the Legislature a model Old Age Pension bill that will be in harmony with any National legislation that may be adopted by Congress."

High Federal Administration officials have urged the states to adopt necessary legislation for Old Age security, but Texas is one of the few states that must first amend her constitution before such legislation can be adopted in Texas.

Local chapters of the Texas Association are being formed in every part of the state, and public sentiment is found to be greatly in favor of adequately caring for the aged of Texas, according to Mr. Smith.

All interested are urged to attend the meeting.

Lynchings for 1934 Show Big Decrease

Fifteen persons were lynched during 1934, according to information furnished The News by R. B. Moton, president of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama. The number was 28 the previous year. For 1932 the number was only 8; for 1931, 13, and for 1930, 21.

There were 51 instances in which officers of the law prevented lynchings. Seven of these were in Northern and Western States and 44 in Southern States. In 46 of the instances the prisoners were removed or the guards augmented or other precautions taken. In five other instances, armed force was used to repel the would-be lynchers. A total of 74 persons, 14 white men; 57 Negro men, and 3 Negro women, were thus saved from death at the hands of mobs. Of the 15 persons lynched, all were Negroes. LIBRARY RANKS WELL

According to a report given to the County Federation by Mrs. M. S. Henry, the Foard County Library is one of the best of the small libraries in the state. Recently added to the library are the following books: Robinson Crusoe, Defoe; Hans Brinker, Dodge; Robin Hood, Gilbert; Gulliver's Travels, Swift; Anne of Green Gables, Montgomery; A Star in a Prison, Wilson; Roughing It, Twain; A Trump Abroad, Twain; Following the Equator, Twain; The Book of American Poetry, Markham; Familiar Quotations, Bartlett.

Farm Census Work Will Start Soon

The farm census work will start soon in Foard County, the work being conducted by the Department of Commerce. Accuracy in giving information regarding the census is urged by Fred Rennels, county agent. Over-estimates or under-estimates may work equally harmful to farmers in the county, as much of the information used in the Agricultural Adjustment programs may be based on census figures by Administration officials. Sample copies of the Farm Census blanks are now available at the county agent's office.

WORK BEGUN TO SECURE RADIO FOR SCHOOL

The pupils of the Crowell schools yesterday began to work for a new R. C. A. Victor Duo—Radio-Photograph combination—to be used in connection with several courses. The work started as the result of an offer recently made the school by the R. C. A. Victor Company and their local distributor has agreed to install one of the fine new Duos if the students would collect a certain number of old Victor Records, regardless of size, type or age.

The students will begin at once to canvass the city in an effort to collect enough discarded records to win a 1934 Duo.

I. T. Graves, superintendent of the schools, states that a Duo instrument will be valuable supplementary equipment in the teaching of music and other courses in which educational radio programs are useful. The students are enthusiastic in beginning their record collecting, and are confident that the citizens of Crowell will cooperate by turning over their out-of-use Victor records and thus help the school obtain one of the Duos offered.

Students will call at the homes of those likely to have old Victor records and a telephone call to the school will result in a student calling at your home if you have records you care to contribute to this worthwhile cause. The school phone number is 261. Or, if it is convenient, the records may be left at either of the school buildings or at the Foard County News office. This offer expires February 1, 1935, so it is necessary to get the records in as quickly as possible.

C. H. S. Athletic Fund Reaches $2,300 During Past Season

According to Coach Grady Graves, it certainly pays to have a winning football team from a financial standpoint as well as some other ways. The six home games gate receipts just about took care of the expenses of the games and the visiting team's guarantee. It was the six out-of-town games that paid off this year. Over $2,300 was realized by the High School athletic fund, which enabled the school officials to pay off a small debt from last year, buy $375 worth of football equipment, including eighteen pair of knit pants for the high school and regional games, $180 for traveling expenses, $150 for nineteen award sweaters, $125 for basketball equipment for this season, $181 for a new coat of stucco on the gymnasium, $400 payment on the gymnasium bond, and still have $900 to make payment on a football stadium that is being planned.

It is the school officials' desire to have a place to take care of the crowds that are expected to turn out to see the Wildcats play next fall. Quannah Matador, Olney and Burk Burnett have already contracted to play in Crowell next season.

DEATH OF MRS. TOM DOCKINS OCCURS TUES.

Mrs. Tom Dockins passed away at her home a short distance west of Crowell at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening following an illness of two weeks. Her illness did not appear of a serious nature until a few days ago, when pneumonia developed, resulting in her death.

Mabel Justine Roberts was born Jan. 12, 1895, in Hardeman County. Her family moved to Crowell in 1901. She was married to Tom Dockins on March 29, 1919. This union were born three children, Humphrey 14, Lowell 12, and A. J. 4, all of whom survive. She is also survived by her husband, her father, S. M. Roberts, and three brothers, Leonard, Glenn and Hubert Roberts.

Mrs. Dockins was converted at the age of 7 and joined the Methodist Church at Crowell during the pastorate of Rev. C. E. Lindsey. She was a consecrated Christian, faithful family and loyal to her church and Sunday school. Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with the pastor, Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine, officiating. Pall bearers were Julian Wright, Maurice Kenner, Charles Thompson, M. S. Henry, D. R. Magee and Grady Magee. Interment took place at the Crowell Cemetery.

Those who have anything they want auctioned off are urged to bring it to town on that day. This service is free, and it is hoped that the people of the county will take advantage of it. CROWELL AND QUANAH MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Six members of the Big Seven basketball conference, non-Intercollegiate League organization, inaugurated the circuit's initial campaign with games Tuesday and Wednesday nights. On Tuesday night, Olney travelled to Quannah to go down for the count of 23 to 22 and Harold won over Wichita Falls, 29 to 27. On Wednesday night, Vernon was beaten by Childress 31 to 25.

Harold definitely assumed Electric's place in the Big Seven double round robin schedule with a conference between Coach S. P. Vick of the Hornets and Ted L. Jefferies of Wichita Falls, conference president, at Wichita Falls Sunday afternoon. Electric withdrew from the circuit on December 12 and at the time Jefferies announced that teams with contests with Electric would observe open dates on days scheduled to play. Later, it was rumored Harold would replace Electric and Sunday the Hornets definitely entered the league. The entrance of Harold means the addition of another formidable quintet to the circuit.

The Crowell Wildcats will wait until Friday night to have their first game, at which time they will best to the strong Quannah team, which has been picked by the Vernon Record to be co-favorite with Childress to win the championship. Although the Wildcat squad, last year district winner, has lost Todd and Dunagan from the regular team and Barker from the reserves, they are due to have another good team, as Taylor and Russell from Margaret and Wiggins, Brown, Zeibig and Albert Dunagan, new men, are showing up well.

QUANAH POWERFUL

Quannah has a well-rounded quintet of lettermen, the tallest in the conference, with fine all-round ability. Their starting line-up, composed of five lettermen, will average well above the six-foot mark in height.

Watch it bubble up, then drink it! You will be amazed at the almost instant relief.

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hopes. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

NOW ON DISPLAY

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is especially designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.
 2. New location of seats by which the rear seat is moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.
 3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the springbase to 123 inches.
- The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.
- There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive. New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal.
- A new type of easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle. New, wider, roomier seats.
- The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements, but no change in basic design. You buy mium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full horsepower and capable of miles an hour. All Ford cars for 1935 come equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.
- We invite you to see New Ford V-8 for 1935 at showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in new experience in motoring.

Strike "Black Gold" in Poor House Grounds

MARIETTA, O. . . John Hupp, 69, and J. W. Yerian, 61, (above), trudged "over the hill" to the Washington County Infirmary, 3 years ago. They were both veterans of the oil "rick rigs and they "allowed there was oil in them grounds" after they had looked about a bit. Superintendent L. A. Hall listened to their story, loaned them funds . . . and they "struck" a 30 barrel-a-day well. Now the Pauper Oil Company has been organized and another well will be sunk if the first well continues to flow.

SALABLE EDUCATION

To young people who are anxious to forge ahead during 1935, business should make a big appeal. Each day brings new adventures—new challenges to your ability and new opportunities for achievement. While the starting salaries are attractive and make the young man or young woman self-supporting, it is the opportunity for advancement and early success which offers the greatest attraction in business. How we are helping many other young people into such opportunities will be fully explained if you will call, phone or clip and mail coupon for a free copy of "Planning Your Future"—a new booklet we have just published for ambitious young people. FOLKS HARD TO PLEASE

Some appear to think that running a newspaper is easy, but from experience we can say that it is no picnic, because readers are hard to please.

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves.

If we don't, we get stuck on our own stuff.

If we stick close to the job all day, we ought to be out hunting news.

If we do get out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office.

If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate true genius; and if we print them, the paper is filled with junk.

If we make a change in the other fellow's write-up, we are too critical.

If we don't, we are asleep.

Now, like as not, some guy will say we swiped this from other newspaper.

And so we did.

COLLEGE EDUCATION

President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale has made a valuable contribution to the current discussion concerning the advisability of trying to make "college men" out of unsuitable material.

It would naturally be supposed that the head of a great university would stress the importance of a college education regardless, but it is an encouraging sign that leading educators are coming to realize that for the vast majority of young people the four years required by a college course is largely a waste of time, money and effort.

We quote Dr. Hadley in part: "People engaged in public instruction are inclined to go too far in thinking that everyone should be encouraged to pursue his schooling to the furthest possible degree. They lament what seems to them the highly inadequate proportion of elementary school children who go to the high schools and of high school pupils who proceed to college; and they glory in any increase of these proportions. They seem to forget that the classroom is not the only means of education; that a youth may get more intellectual and moral training from practical work that he likes, than from formal lessons that he loathes."

Now, this does not mean to depreciate in the least the value of higher education to those who by intellect, temperament and inclination are capable of acquiring it and putting it to practical use. It simply means that unless a young person has the native ability to work with his brains, he had better be taught to work with his hands.

Chosen as "America's Personality Girl of 1934" at the national convention of the Mystic Order, Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, at Atlantic City, Miss Isabelle Coffey of Buffalo has received a movie contract.

THE GANGSTER'S FATE

This has been a bad year for gangsters, especially those who at various times have been tagged as Public Enemy No. 1. Death at the hands of officers of the law, legal executions and suicide have greatly depleted the ranks of gangland's big shots.

The latest to meet his fate was "Baby Face" Nelson, shot to death in a gun battle in which two brave Federal officers also lost their lives. A partial list of gangsters who have been removed from the earthly scene since the beginning of the year includes these desperate criminals:

John Dillinger, Jack Klutas, "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Herbert Youngblood (Negro), Eugene Green, Tommy Carroll, Howard Van Meter, Charles Makeley, Clyde Barrow, Nelson, and others were shot to death by officers of the law. Verne Cankey and Willie Sharkey committed suicide in prison. Harry Pierpont was electrocuted. The Touhy and "Machine Gun" Kelly gangs went to the penitentiary. Many lesser criminals met similar fates.

If the thousands of other criminals now at large could be brought to realize that crime doesn't pay, and death or imprisonment are its only rewards, greater progress in the suppression of crime might result.

Unfortunately, it seems that as soon as one gangster is put out of the way another springs up to take his place.

EFFECTS OF TOBACCO

Almost anything can be proved by statistics and examples. This appears to be particularly true with respect to the effects of tobacco, an investigation of which is being made by a distinguished group of scientific men and publicists.

So far as physical consequences go, its effects seem to depend largely upon the individual. Many who lived to an extreme old age were users of the weed, while others were not. Leading physicians and scientists report that little influence is exerted upon the intellectual powers by the use of tobacco. Many literary men believe that smoking is a stimulant to their creative impulses.

Among the outstanding figures of the past may be named the following smokers: Washington, Bismarck, Kitchener, Spurgeon, Huxley, Keats, Browning, Carlyle, Dickens, Stevenson, Howells Grant and Mark Twain the last two being inordinate users of tobacco.

Among the non-smokers were Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, Wilson, Greeley, Wellington, Tolstoy, Ruskin, Haeckel, Whittier and others.

An interesting trend of the tobacco habit in the last few years is shown by the increasing and almost universal popularity of the cigarette. In spite of strenuous attempts to discourage its use, more than 100 billion are manufactured in the United States annually.

While tobacco is no doubt injurious to the young, its detrimental effects, physically or otherwise, upon mature persons have perhaps been greatly exaggerated.

COUNTIES OF THE U. S.

There are 3,072 counties in the 48 states, of which Texas has the greatest number, 254, and Delaware the smallest number, 3.

San Bernardino county, in California, is the largest, with an area of 20,175 square miles. New York county is the smallest, with an area of only 22 square miles. Bristol county, in Rhode Island, is the next smallest, with 24 square miles.

Citing another case of extremes, Armstrong county, in South Dakota, with an area of 540 square miles, has no postoffice, while Allegheny county, in Pennsylvania, with 725 square miles, has 150 post offices.

And speaking of postoffices, Leadville, Colo., is the highest, being 10,190 feet above sea level, while Calipatria, Calif., 175 feet below sea level, is the lowest.

North Carolina and Virginia have exactly 100 counties each. States having more than 100 counties are Illinois, 102; Kansas, 105; Missouri, 114; Kentucky, 120; Georgia, 161; Texas, 254.

In Louisiana these subdivisions are called parishes, of which the state has 64.

CONVERSATION TOPICS

Investigators classified 500 conversations overheard in public places to find out just what men and women talk about, in Cleveland and New York. They found that the subjects varied little in the two cities.

Men's conversations were 48 per cent about business, 15 per cent about sports and amusements, 12 per cent about other men, these being the most frequent topics.

Conversations of women were most frequently about men, this topic showing great variation in the two cities, 22 per cent in Cleveland and 44 per cent in New York. Clothes were the subject of 20 per cent, and other women 15 per cent.

In mixed company, men talked most to women about amusements, next to business and money. Women conversed with men about themselves and other women.

The above results were published in a business men's magazine, but we can not say whether they fairly represent the facts or not. At any rate they are interesting.

What do you talk about?

CONFUSION OF CODES

There is plenty of food for thought in the report of the National Planning Board, appointed by President Roosevelt, himself, which has made a comprehensive survey of the general situation of the country. The board points out many defects in the operation of various recovery agencies, and is especially critical of the NRA, concerning which it says, in part:

"One of the basic problems of the NRA is that of wages as a factor in fair competition. But the NRA has made little progress so far in settling the difficult problems of wage differences between industries and sections.

"As regards long-range objectives, it is difficult to find any semblance of planning in the NRA. In fact, the NRA has set up new difficulties in the path of industrial planning. To begin with, the process of code making for the purpose of recovery was so directed as to impede, rather than advance, the planful reconstruction of industry.

"The codes were set up hastily on the assumption that a bad code was better than none at all.

"There was thus much guesswork and a lot of bargaining in their making. As a result, the NRA has brought about a rift in the interrelations of industries. Each industry is supposed to contrive a solution of its own problems, and the 475 codes in existence are a complex and confusing system."

FARM MARKET PROBLEM

Thoughtful students of the farm problem, including great numbers of farmers themselves, are questioning the motives of so-called farm leaders who continue to advocate destructive measures against the tried and long-established system of marketing grain, without proposing an acceptable substitute.

It is being freely charged that selfish reasons underlie such moves and that if the false leadership is followed the farmer himself will prove the chief sufferer.

In a recent article Homer B. Gremmon, president of the Farmers Grain Dealers Association of Illinois, declares there are leaders today who are advocating legislation that would entirely remove our present system of grain marketing, but suggesting nothing concrete or practical to replace it, except a monopolistic or governmental directed system of handling. He also says:

"Neither monopoly nor governmental control of farmers' grain has ever been good for the farmer. These leaders are taking this position because of advantageous arrangements with a combination that is receiving certain emoluments from their official connection."

It is being more and more realized that whatever plans may be adopted for the rehabilitation of the farmer and the increase of his purchasing power must include the utilization of the existing marketing machinery, which has been developed by an experience of 86 years. All efforts to discard this time-tried marketing system have proved disastrous for the farmer.

New Ford V-8 on Display at Self Motor

The new 1935 Ford cars are now on display at the show room of Self Motor Co., local Ford dealer. According to George D. Self, who attended the pre-showing of the new Ford in Dallas last week, the new Ford is by far the most outstanding motor car the Ford Motor Co. has ever introduced. There are one hundred and twenty improvements over last year's car, among which is the improved "center poise" riding, new ease of steering, new brakes, new body lines, new luggage compartments, more room and everything which the buyer of any modern motor car might desire. The new car is eight inches longer from bumper to bumper and is finished in five different colors. Also every car or truck built by Ford is now equipped with "Safety Plate Glass."

Mr. Self further states that there will be no waiting period on deliveries of these new cars as the factory is now building over 5,000 cars per day. Several new body types are expected to arrive soon.

Our new pastor, Rev. L. W. Bridges, will preach for us for the first time next Sunday. Rev. Bridges has been pastor of the church at Paducah during 1934, formerly of Marfa and Fort Worth, a man of wide experience and proven ability, a diligent worker and one consecrated to the Master's cause. Let us give him a good welcome by all being present.

At the Sunday School hour we will have a report of the work of 1934 and a talk, "The Gist of This Quarter's Lessons." May we all start the New Year off right by being present at both Sunday school and church service, extending our interest in the church to include every Sunday in the year by making this resolution, "I will attend Sunday school and church service every Sunday during 1935, unless I have a reason I can give my Master."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Peter's Conversion and Call.
Lesson for January 6th, John 1:29-42.
Golden Text: Mark 1:17.

The aim of the lessons of our first quarter is to help each student to familiarize himself with the stirring life of Peter, the leader of the Christian church.

Now we must not overlook Andrew, Peter's brother, who the twelve disciples. This Sunday we study the conversion and call of this large-hearted, impulsive figure who became a veritable Rock of Gibraltar in his life. It is easy to disparage Andrew in view of his lack of special gifts. A commonplace man, he was "a negligible cipher," as Dr. Grenfell says. So far as we know he preached no sermon, wrote no letter, performed no miracle, founded no church. Yet in bringing Peter to Jesus he performed a service of the highest significance.

Many a minister is an Andrew. Not gifted enough to write important books, or preach great sermons, he nevertheless performs important routine work behind the scenes. A certain curate of Trinity Church, Boston, made famous by the eloquence of Phillips Brooks, could not preach well, and had no gift for organization. But he was a tireless pastor. In and out of the homes in that great parish he went with systematic fidelity. And when he died 1800 people crowded into the church for his funeral. Few of us can be Peters. But all of us can be Andrews, using our inferior capabilities with a noble devotion.

Turning now to Peter it is well to remember that he took the lead from the first. He is the disciple who appears most often in the gospel story. And he was close to Jesus, for he belonged to that intimate trio, Peter, James and John, who were with the Master in the home of Jairus, on the Mount of Transfiguration, and in Gethsemane. Peter loomed large in the heart and mind of Jesus.

LAXATIVES

This little conversation is for adults only—not children. It is at intervals, users of laxative medicines.

After more than forty years' active experience, I believe I am able to offer some suggestions productive of good, on this subject, telling you of the kinds of laxatives that accomplish their purpose with the minimum of harm.

Of course, correct diet of soft, easily-digested food should be a part of the "laxative" nature. But, we do not always eat in this way.

Probably the best all-purpose tablet for simple constipation is a well-known Aloid, Strychnine, Belladonna and Cascara, laxative. I believe this tablet may be found in the most of the drug stores of the land. The dose, one to three tablets at bedtime, is "coated" tablets. They retain their strength longer.

Don't acquire the habit of trying every purgative pill you hear of. A "pill-habit" is indeed bad company for the expert. Ask your doctor. The tablet above-named is reliable and harmless.

One class of constipated patients—those with trouble in the rectum, . . . should not take pill of any sort. A diseased rectum should be cared for. But not with pills—remember that.

These people should use only mineral oil, magnesia, or castor oil—all liquids—that contain no aloe. Rectal patients should avoid all rectal irritants—and should observe strict diet rules: tough fibers, no seeds, no tough skins of fruits, but all soft: this is most easily digested. See your doctor.

Cast-iron roads are being built in Duisburg, center of the iron industry. More than 1,000,000 attended school of some kind in the United States during the school year.

Seventh Installment

SYNOPSIS

Ellen Church, 17-year-old, finds herself alone in the world with her mother's last warning ringing in her ears, to "love lightly." She has lived alone with her mother in an old brown house in a small rural community. All life, first as a new baby, then as a blubbing child, then a charming girl, she had posed for her mother's magazine cover paintings through the art agent in the city. Mrs. Church's broken life... the faithful husband, his disappearance... announcement of his death... the news of the husband's death... Mrs. Church... alone, turned to the only person she knew, the art agent in New York. Posing, years of posing were only talent so she was lured to two leading artists, Alven and Sandy Macintosh. She used her as a model and both fell in love with her. But Ellen, to follow the warped philosophy of her mother to "love lightly," resists the thought of marriage. Her circle of friends is small, and two or three girl models. Ellen attends a ball with Sandy, and dancing a tall young man, she and her romance is born. In the park, proposal, the day marriage to Tony, and Ellen told herself. She would let him know how desperately she loved him, even though she was his wife. Ellen insists upon living her own life, maintaining a home in her small room, even though Tony is wealthy. Jane, Tony's wealthy set, is disapproving in Tony's sudden marriage to Ellen.

W GO ON WITH THE STORY

Tony was standing. Why," he grated, "must you say bring Jane into it, at a time like this? Why can't you let us be? And if you don't care for me, can you kiss me," his voice ke. "as you've just been kissing?" How, in all decency and need?"

Ellen answered. And it would be taken a fan far cleverer than badgered, heart-hungry boy, know that she was answering first part of his speech—rather than the last.

"Because," said Ellen, "I'm a girl. That's why!"

Tony was laughing, and in his anger was hurt pride and injured dignity and a black and blue bruise.

"Well," he said, "since you think I'm a fool, so soon, perhaps I'd get away from here. I don't care that as long as you don't care for me, I'll be glad to go. I've always talked things with Jane. She—understands the old, old come-back. She understands me! Ellen, hearing it the first time, flinched under even though she had precipitated it.

"If he loved me," she said to herself, "he couldn't go. It could be possible for him to leave if I was right—if he could go, to see another woman, why not?"

Poor little Ellen. She was right about herself! She was a fool. Because, she said—

"I'm sure Jane understands you. All means go to see her."

Tony was reaching for his hat. "I suppose," he said, "that you'll phone for me. I have no doubt that he understands you as well as Jane understands me."

Ellen was blinking to keep back tears.

"Dick always leaves his receipt-off, in the evening," she said. "It's like to work at night—he can't like interruptions, I could reach him by phone if he finds it. That ought to be a comfort to you!"

"So it is," said Tony. He had had that in his hand. He was fussy with the brim of it.

"So it is," said Tony again. He was blinking.

Ellen was speaking. Out of turn she said, but she couldn't help it. "Either or no, she couldn't help it. "Tony," she said, "believe this, you mustn't think that I phone to you—that I have them come up here, alone, with me at night. Dick stayed just once, after a little party. He stayed to talk about work. He asked me to marry him—at that time. But I sent him home. I—I've never had any of these sessions, Tony, like that night, and this evening. Except with you. I haven't lived in a city very long. Only three years. I'm—I'm not used to the city, I suppose. But I've always wanted to keep myself, Tony... r—" she paused. But up over a white little face a heavy flush came creeping.

Tony, fascinated, watched that white face. He saw it cover her chin, then her very ear lobes.

"Keep yourself," he echoed rapidly, "keep yourself—for Ellen?"

"The whole heart was reaching out her hands were reaching. She couldn't help it. She was love. This desire to give and give...

Air President

"To keep myself for my husband, Tony," she answered. "The boy was laying down his hat. He wasn't blinking, any more, but he moistened his lips with his tongue, as if they were dry, before he spoke.

"You don't want me to leave, do you?" he said, and he was whispering, too. "You would feel badly if I went to Jane, now?"

Ellen was retreating, somehow, before his advance—for Tony was advancing. But she had crossed, for the moment at least, her Rubicon.

"Yes, I would mind," she said. "Just as much as you'd mind if you knew that I were going to stay here, with Dick!"

She was back against the wall, now. But her eyes were lost in Tony's gaze. They were bluer than ever, Tony's eyes. Perhaps because they were wet.

"Darling," said Tony huskily, "you do love me!"

Ellen tried to deny it. To say that she didn't love him. She tried to but the words stuck in her throat. With her eyes lost in his gaze, with the lovely color staining her childish throat, she nodded. Mutely, but vehemently.

She was held tightly in Tony's arms—so tightly that it hurt, that felt her breathless. Or was it the pounding of her heart that made breathing so difficult?

"Darling," Tony was saying, and his voice seemed to come from ever so far away. "I love you. You're my wife."

"You're my wife!" Tony was saying. But she couldn't answer now, not the way the walls of the room were closing in, not the way the lights were dancing.

And then the lights had ceased to dance. For Tony's hand, feeling along the wall, had found the electric switch, and the world was all darkness—a sweet, warm, throbbing darkness.

Sanity always comes with the moment when, sometimes it would be better, far better, if it didn't! Life can't just be left to slide along by daylight. Sanity brought Ellen back to earth with a thud. Her eyes were sober as she surveyed Tony, across her little breakfast table.

Tony wasn't sober. Tony wasn't sane. His eyes had a deep warm glow that lay back of them. No, Tony wasn't sober, that was why Ellen found it so hard to say what she felt she must.

For Ellen, this morning, had many things to say. Ellen had waked this morning a woman, and all of the fears that are woman's heritage lay on her heart.

Always, to almost every bride, comes a moment of terror. A moment when, looking at her new husband, she asks an age-old question, "Will it always be like this?" she asks. Even though she knows, in her soul, that no fire can burn at fever heat eternally.

"O God," she prays, "let it be like this forever." Even though she knows that even God can not put the stamp of forever on earthly things!

Ellen was asking the same question that every bride asks, was saying the same prayer. But in her case, it wasn't a question—and it wasn't a prayer. It was a cruel fact that she was telling herself, and telling God, too.

"This won't last," she was saying in her soul. "It can't last. Oh, I won't let it hurt me—it mustn't kill me—when it's all over!"

Tony was speaking.

"I've got to go to the office this morning," he said, "for just a little while. I bet, honey, you're surprised. I bet you didn't have any idea I really worked! And then we'll take the car and start off somewhere, for a honeymoon. We'll just go—we'll not plan where. We'll start for the place where the blue begins. We may end up a couple of other places. But it doesn't matter—as long as we're together!"

Ellen gulped down some coffee.

"Tony," she said, "I—I hate to throw cold water on your plans, but I think it might be better if we put off the honeymoon for a little while..."

Tony's voice was hurt.

"But why?" he questioned. "We, of all married folks, need a honeymoon. To get acquainted—"

All at once he was out of his chair, was on Ellen's side of the improvised breakfast table, was on the arm of her chair.

"I didn't know," he said, "that being married was so—so swell. I didn't know that love could be like this!"

His head ducked down, he was snuggled into the curve of Ellen's throat. He was kissing the place where a pulse throbbed crazily.

"Don't, Tony," she said, almost sharply. "Please don't. That's over."

Tony's arm tightened. His voice came in a muffled fashion, because his lips were against her throat.

"You mean that kissing's over?" he questioned, "the first day after we're married?"

Ellen tried to make the tone of her voice seem hard. It was time to make herself clear, at last. Her whole life might depend upon the stand she took—her every chance at happiness! She should love lightly.

"I told you," she said, "night

TEXAS HEALTH SERVICE

It is not new to those familiar with the reports issued from the White House Conference at Washington as to national health conditions, and figures published by the United States Bureau of Census that our State stands under an indictment for the crime of neglecting the matter of protecting the public health.

It is an astonishing fact that Texas, first in area, natural resources, agricultural and cattle raising, and fifth in population; enjoying enviable climate, and boasting of rugged ancestry, is recorded as having a higher death rate per capita from preventable diseases than is true of few other states and twice that averagely experienced by the Nation as a whole.

Twice the number of our people, per capita, die each year of typhoid and other fevers, diphtheria and other communicable diseases, such as infantile diarrhea, dysentery, smallpox, and hydrophobia, than are sacrificed on the average in other states, thus resulting in untold economic loss, and distressing depopulation, due as it would seem to short-sighted financial consideration or indifference to humanitarian appeals. A careful and somewhat exhaustive examination discloses the ready answer to the problem. Everywhere the results in health protection are in direct ratio to the support given departments of public health, and Texas is entitled to and must insist upon at least an average opportunity. New York, Delaware, Maryland, Alabama, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Florida, Maine, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Louisiana, Tennessee, Virginia, and Vermont, appropriate from twelve to forty cents per capita for public health, while the Legislature of Texas, limits its State Department of Health to the pitiful and insignificant sum of three cents per inhabitant for a public health service which should more efficiently serve and save the lives of our people.

A number of other states not enumerated spend more than three times per capita than our legislature allows for the health service of Texas, and we trail our four neighboring states, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas, with discreditable direful results.

We do not complain of the provisions made in the interest of livestock, and the fish and oyster industry, but it is intolerable that more money is appropriated for the care of horses, cows, pigs and goats than for the protection of families from ravages of preventable disease and that a larger appropriation is awarded the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission than is provided for the humanitarian purpose of safeguarding the lives of men, women, and children; and if this unthinkable situation is to continue the Board of Health must protest this crime of carelessness, and if possible arouse public sentiment and secure co-operation.

The London fire department has adopted use of an asbestos uniform for its firemen. An asbestos umbrella is part of the equipment.

HOLDING CRIMINALS

It is exasperating to note the frequency with which desperate criminals are allowed to escape from prison to resume their careers of murder and robbery, after great effort and expense have been incurred to place them behind the bars.

That so many do escape is due principally to the stupidity of prison officials, although inadequate jail equipment is a contributing factor. The federal government is endeavoring to remedy the latter defect by using tool-proof steel in the construction of new cells.

The new federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., will have cells made of such steel, which can not be cut by any tool which it would be possible to smuggle into the prison. Tools which would easily cut through ordinary steel leave the new bars barely scratched. Hacksaws and files are rendered useless after a few strokes, acids are futile, and even a metal lathe makes little impression on the resistant bars.

The cost of installing such cells in local jails might be prohibitive, but in any event the best equipment that it is possible to afford should be provided. Even with ordinary cells, in good condition, increased vigilance on the part of prison authorities would eliminate or greatly reduce the number of escaping inmates.

Last year the nations of Europe spent over $3,000,000,000 or more than 16 per cent of their total governmental revenue for "national defense."

Attendance at Protestant and Catholic churches and Jewish synagogues in the United States is now estimated at 30,000,000 weekly.
