Schedule of Prices For Pigs Announced By U. S. Government

Information concerning the sale of pigs and sows to the Government under the Emergency Hog-Marketing Program has been received by Fred Rennels, county agent.

Information at present is limited, however, farmers proposing to sell pigs should get in touch with Fort Worth commission firms before shipping, since the number processed in one day is limited.

Sows due to farrow within the next few weeks will be bought as packer sows, less the usual dockage plus a $4 premium per 100 pounds less 60 cents freight differential from Fort Worth to Chicago. No sows weighing less than 275 pounds will be accepted.

The government is offering the largest premium on small pigs in order to reduce the prospective hog supply in the face of a short corn crop.

The scale of prices, less a 60-cent per 100 pounds freight differential was announced Monday as follows:

Weight	Price per 100
25 to 30 lbs.	$9.50
31 to 35 lbs.	9.25
36 to 40 lbs.	9.00
41 to 45 lbs.	8.75

Telegram Received

Thursday morning of this week, County Agent Fred Rennels received the following telegram from Fort Worth:

"Owing to surplus government pigs exceeding processing facilities, shippers are warned delay further shipment until next week and then only on definite permission from their commission firm. This will prevent incurring heavy feed charges and possible death losses. The program allows ample time for orderly marketing and shippers must cooperate.—E. M. Regenbrecht."

APPLICATIONS FOR TRANSFER TO BE REFUSED

Any future applications for transfers of school pupils for this year will have to be made to the county board and State superintendent of public instruction, according to County Superintendent Vance Swaim, who states that he will not accept the applications for further transfers. In taking this action Mr. Swaim made the following statement:

"The budgets for all common school districts in Foard County are being made and will be ready for the approval of the trustees of each school respectively on Saturday, Sept. 2. Each budget is based on the sixteen-dollar per capita apportionment allowed by the State and in deriving at the income of each school it was necessary for the superintendent to know how many scholars each school would have.

"For the reason stated above, the county superintendent will not accept the application for further transfers. All future applications for transfer will have to be made to the county board and State superintendent."

On the question of repeal, the Foard County vote was 234 for and 442 against. In regard to legalizing 3.2 beer in Texas the vote was 239 for and 428 against. The question of permitting the sale of 3.2 beer in Foard County was defeated 2 to 1, the vote being 462 against and 220 for.

The driest majorities in the county were registered at Good Creek, Thalia, Margaret and Black. The dries were victorious by only slight margins at Foard City, Rayland, Southeast Crowell and Vivian.

For home rule amendment ..... 316
Against ..... 149

For relief bonds ..... 394
Against ..... 239

For homestead exemption ..... 552
Against ..... 80

Good Turn-out

Considering the number of poll taxes paid for this year, the Foard County vote was heavier than generally expected.

A total of 691 votes were polled at the twelve voting boxes in this county. This is 42 more than the total number of poll tax payments for this year which amounted to 649.

The vote by precinct on each of the questions in Saturday's election appears on the bottom of this page.

State Goes Wet

The final State vote gave Texas a substantial majority for the wets, thus making Texas the 23rd state to approve repeal. Every proposed amendment carried with many votes to spare. The State results, according to late reports, were as follows:

For repeal 279,567, against repeal, 165,082.

For beer 283,725, against beer 155,419.

For home rule amendment 250,189, against 100,611.

For homestead amendment 322,693, against 63,285.

Legal beer will start flowing in Texas on the stroke of midnight, Sept. 14, in communities where local option does not forbid it.

Counties in this section of Texas voting for the sale of beer within their boundaries were: Wilbarger, Cottle, Wichita, Archer, King, Clay, Stonewall and Baylor. Most West Texas counties voted dry. Every South Plains county scored victories for the dries.

Hen Egg of Unusual Color Produced on Farm of J. R. Ford

Big eggs, little eggs, eggs inside of eggs, funny shaped eggs—in fact The News felt that most every kind of freak in the poultry product line had found its way to this office until J. R. Ford, who lives southeast of Crowell, came in Saturday with an entirely different egg freak.

The egg was of normal size and shape, however, the shell was half white and half brown. The division in the colors followed a straight line in almost the exact center of the egg.

Mr. Ford stated that a Rhode Island Red hen laid the egg on his farm last week. To look at the egg, one would guess that its mother was half White Leghorn and half Rhode Island Red.

APPEAL FILED BY MILLER IN AUSTIN COURT

Que R. Miller, former sheriff and tax collector of Foard County, sentenced to seven years' imprisonment for misapplications of public funds, has appealed to the Court of Criminal Appeals, according to an Associated Press dispatch dated Aug. 24 from Austin.

Miller was given this sentence at district court in Quanah on May 25. The case was to have been tried in Crowell on May 9, but a change of venue was granted on motion of the defense on the contention that a fair and impartial trial could not be secured in Foard County. The amount involved was $16,461.

He was indicted for misapplication of public funds on four counts in Sept., 1931. In Oct., 1931, he was convicted in district court here in one case and was sentenced to four years imprisonment. On appeal the Court of Criminal Appeals reversed and remanded the conviction in Oct., 1932. Trial of Miller in the February term of court of this year was continued due to the fact that a U. S. attorney at Beaumont declined to release Miller, who was being held at Sherman on a counterfeiting charge at that time. Next action in the matter came when a change of venue was granted here on May 9 and the beginning of the trial in Quanah on May 25.

Twenty Years Ago in The News

The items below are taken in whole or in part from the issues of the Foard County News for Aug. 21.—Sept. 4-11, 1913, The Aug. 14 and 28 issues are missing from our files.

The ice cream supper given by the ladies of the Cemetery Association Saturday resulted in a clear receipt of $65.

At the Commercial Club meeting Tuesday the matter of cleaning up the cattle on the town section was the principal subject discussed and a committee was appointed to take the matter up and see that it be done as early as possible. The committee is G. A. Mitchell, Gordon Witherspoon, J. F. Hays and John W. Cope.

It is time for Crowell, Foard County and the entire country to realize that cattle must be cleaned of ticks.

The singing convention met at Catesville Sunday. Officers were elected as follows: Austin Beasley president; W. F. Newell, vice-president; T. J. Cates, Chaplain; Miss Bertha Cates, organist; Miss Eva Brown, secretary.

From Cottonwood items—The Orient is coming. We can hear the bell as it moves up Salt Draw.—Grover Owens happened to a serious accident Saturday by falling from a house, breaking his thigh.—Alfred Lefevre has the boys out on the road this week. Hurrah for him.

A Mean Mule

Uncle Ben Meason came from Quanah Tuesday, where he and Henry Hays had gone with a load of wheat. They stopped at a Quanah wagon yard. After dark Mr. Hays started with an arm-full of hay into the stall where one of the mules was tied, and it is supposed that the hay touched the mule, frightened it and causing it to turn its heels loose on him. The mule struck him several times before Mr. Hays hardly knew what had happened, cutting ugly gashes in a place or two. Mr. Hays was not able to come home until Wednesday. The mule was thought to be perfectly gentle.

Dr. W. C. Kincaid of Trent visited his son, Dr. R. L. Kincaid, last week.

Pease River Up

M. L. Roberts arrived yesterday with part of his newspaper plant. But owing to the fact that Pease River was up, the wagon carrying the press was floated down the river and partially overturned and failed to arrive as expected.

Visit to the Orient

A lively crowd of Crowell's younger people went out the other day to view the work on the Orient. They were: Misses Bessie Rash, Bessie Perry, Ora Dunn, Essie Thacker and Eula Mitchell; Messrs. Abe Allee, Russell Beverly, John Cope, Dr. Schindler and Tully Klepper.

At the camps they were joined by Messrs. Little, Essary, Hancock and Ray, all jolly good fellows, who aided them in securing hand-car, etc. for transportation to Truscott. Fun came their way in such volume that each felt as though such a thing as fatoids never existed.

Truscott's ice cream man disposed of his ice water in great quantities, as he was out of everything in the cold drink line which was certainly appreciated. The rest of the evening passed without event, excepting Abe and Russell's usual accident, but as luck would have it the break-down occurred near a farm house and an old gentleman kindly lent his lantern and assistance to our boys who soon repaired the carriage and came on with the rest of the party to Crowell.

New Businesses Coming

With the approach of the Orient Railroad, men are coming to Crowell to go into business with real earnestness. A. H. Clark & Co. have established a gent's furnishing store. The Wm. Cameron Lumber Co., one of the strongest in the State, is preparing to put in a large stock when the road reaches Crowell. T. L. Agerton will manage the business.

The C. T. Herring Lumber Co. will establish a yard across from the Cameron Co. and will soon put in a large stock. Williams & Rogers of Quanah have rented the Moore Hotel building and when it is repaired they will put in a large stock of furniture.

J. M. Rutherford of Kansas City is making preparations to build a grain elevator. We understand that the two banks here will build modern substantial houses in the near future.

Outsiders, just keep your eye on Crowell. You will see her grow.

Maybe Another Railroad

Prospects are excellent for a railroad westward from Vernon through Crowell to Roswell, N. M., according to two promoters, J. M. Ross and J. W. Gillespie of Enid, Okla. For the past ten days they have been traversing the country between here and Vernon.

Welcome to Crowell

Hughston, Henry & Co. have purchased the Crowell Hdwe. & Grocery Co.'s business and will continue the business at the old stand. Mr. Hughston is of Plano and Mr. Henry is from Quanah. These men are good business men and we predict a splendid business for them.

Dud Greening of Joy, Texas, is visiting here.

Get a lot in Orient Heights before they are all sold.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Roberts and Miss Leona Young returned Wednesday from a visit at High Rolls, N. M. They also saw a bull fight at El Paso.

Sold for $1,000

Dr. Adams sold a town lot on the east side of the square last week for $1,000 and it is reported that a business house will be placed thereon. That's his business. We shall not be surprised to see the east side of the square solid with business houses within the next 12 months.

T. L. Hughston, who has bought an interest in the Crowell Hdwe. & Gro. Co., wife and two little boys, Merrian and Thomas, arrived here Saturday to make their future home.

Enrich His Impoverished Blood

Sickly, weak, underweight children are usually lacking in rich, red blood. When blood becomes poor, a child becomes rundown. Already weak, he loses appetite, which makes him still weaker. Take no chances on a child gaining strength by himself. Start giving him Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic right away. This famous tonic contains both iron and tasteless quinine. Iron makes for rich, red blood while quinine tends to purify the blood. In other words, you get two effects in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Put your child on this time-proven tonic for a few days and see the difference it makes in him. Good appetite, lots of pep and energy and red roses in his cheeks. Children like Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic and take it eagerly. It is absolutely harmless and has been a reliable family medicine for half a century. Get a bottle today at any store.

ARCHAIC COURT RULES

To the intelligent laymen the rules of procedure in American courts are so antiquated as to be positively ridiculous.

Consequently there is a growing lack of respect for courts and for law itself. Most people believe, and not without reason, that lawsuits naturally involve trickery and sharp practices on the part of lawyers.

What about these pleadings that ramble on for thousands of words, wherein every point must be stated just so, or the case is thrown out of court? Are they necessary?

Anyone with a sense of humor can find quite a bit of entertainment by spending an hour in an American courtroom when pleadings are being bandied about.

FIFTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

Tuesday, September 12, will mark a notable baseball anniversary, for on that date Cornelius McGillicuddy, universally known as "Connie Mack," will complete fifty years in the game.

A half century ago Connie Mack began his baseball career as "a gangling kid catcher" with an East Brookfield, Mass., team.

And what a record he has made as manager of the Athletics! Nine league pennants and five world championships. In 1914 his team had become so superior that he deliberately broke it up and started to build another from new material.

While Connie Mack always appreciated the ability of his own players, he concedes that the two greatest players were not of his team. He picks Matthewson as the greatest pitcher, and Ty Cobb as the best all around player of all time.

THE CAREFREE HOBO

In this day of government regulation of everything, and fear of transgressing some sacred code, the life of the carefree hobo seems rather attractive. He doesn't have to worry about meeting payrolls, nor does he fear a boycott because he can't display a Blue Eagle.

There was a big hobos' convention in Chicago a couple of weeks ago, and one philosophical delegate, known only by the name of "Slim," told in a few words the story of a hobo's life.

The three classes—tramp, bum and hobo—have been described thus: The tramp is a traveling non-worker; the bum is a stationary non-worker, but the hobo is a traveling worker, who accepts stasonable or temporary employment wherever he can get it.

But let "Slim" tell about the hobo in his own words. He says:

"The hobo may be defined as the stiff who built the railroads and rides the rods; who built the highways and hitchhikes; who stacked the wheat and eats stale bread; who mowed the hay and sleeps on it. About the only surplus remuneration he ever received for his essential services was his freedom, and he will not easily part with it."

And, come to think of it, there are some compensations for the hobo's rather precarious existence. He does not have to dress up in uncomfortable clothes; he doesn't have to conform to a lot of foolish social customs; he doesn't have to listen to luncheon club orators or other speakers who bore us superior folks stiff. Maybe it's fun to be a hobo, after all.

There are still a few old-fashioned folks who have never had an operation.

The most universal delusion is that which makes folks think they can write poetry.

A fair knowledge of human nature may be required by trying to lead a bull calf.

State Fair of Texas Scene of Champion Cowboy Competition

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 29—The Southwestern Champion Cowboy Contest will be staged here at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7 to 22, when the best cow hands in the entire country as well as many others from the Southwest will compete for the $7,000 in cash purses and the silver mounted saddle trophies, it has been announced here by Otto Herold, president of the exposition.

The Southwestern Champion Cowboy Contest will be produced and presented in the Livestock Arena by Mike Banes of Chicago, one of the best known rodeo producers in the entire country, who has named his managers for the show—Joe R. Greer and Candy Tammer. These two managers are widely known both as rodeo contestants and managers.

The saddle trophies will be awarded in the bronc riding, calf roping, steer riding and steer bulldogging events. Winners of the contest features will also receive the title of Southwestern Champion. The saddle trophies will be awarded at the completion of the contest events.

Some of the best contest rodeo hands known in the business have already sent in their entry blanks for the championship events, according to advices received here from Chicago. In addition to appearing in the fancy roping, the fancy riding and other contract events on the program, many championship rodeo performers will be entered in the contest events.

NUMBERING GRIP OF ANCIENT CREEDS

Ask any ten people what Jesus meant by his "Father's business," and nine of them will answer "preaching." To interpret the words in this narrow sense is to lose the real significance of his life. It was not to preach that he came unto the world; not to teach; nor to heal. These are all departments of his Father's business, but the business itself is far larger, more inclusive.

If human life has any significance it is this—that God has set going here an experiment to which all His resources are committed. He seeks to develop human beings, superior to circumstance, victorious over Fate. No single kind of human talent or effort can be spared if the experiment is to succeed. The race must be fed and clothed and housed and transported, as well as preached to, and taught and healed.

Thus all business is his Father's business. All work is worship; all useful service prayer. And whoever works wholeheartedly at any worthy calling is a co-worker with the Almighty in the great enterprise which He has initiated but which He can never finish without the help of men.

It is one thing to talk about success, and quite another thing to win it. Jesus spoke of crowns and died on a cross. He talked of his kingdom, and ended his days amid the jeers and taunts of his enemies. "He was in all points tempted like as we are," says the Epistle to the Hebrews. We have read it often, heard it read often, but we have never believed it, of course. The conception of his character which Theology has given us makes any such idea impossible.

He was born differently from the rest of us, Theology insists. He did not belong among us at all, but came down from Heaven on a brief visit, spent a few years in reproving men for their mistakes, died and went back to Heaven again.

A hollow bit of stage-play. What chance for temptation in such a career? How can an actor go wrong when his whole part is written and learned in advance?

It is frightfully hard to free the mind from the numbing grip of ancient creeds. But let us make the effort. Let us touch once more the high spots in this finest, most exalted success story, considering now the perils and crises of success.

He was not at all sure where he was going when he laid down his tools and turned his back on the carpentershop—unless we can believe this, his struggle ceases to be "in all points" like our own; for each of us has to venture on Life as on to an uncharted sea. Something inside him carried him forward—the something which has whispered to so many small town boys that there is a place for them in the world which lies beyond the hills.

Federal Home Loan Saved Their Home

WHEAT PLAN

Suppose you had 60 acres in 1930 and produced 1000 bushels, 65 acres in 1931 and produced 1500 bushels, 55 acres in 1932 and produced 800 bushels. Your average production bushels for the three years was 1100 bushels and your average acreage would be 54 per cent of 1100 bushels or 594 bushels. This, however, is on a three year basis and the Administrator of the wheat act make the allotment on a five year average. So in Foard County to bring this figure to the five year county average it would be necessary to take 63 per cent of 594 bushels which would give you 374 bushels as the final allotment on this particular farm.

On this 374 bushel allotment you would be paid by the Government in the form of an extra premium of not less than 28 cents per bushel nor more than 30 cents less the cost of local administration. You would receive from $104.72 to $112.20, less the local cost of administration which should not run more than one cent per bushel in this county. You would be free to sell your wheat crop when, where and to whom you please. If you have sold your wheat crop in 1933 that would not matter. However, your acreage for the 1933 crop must have been sufficient to produce, at the yield figured above, and amount equal to 374 bushels.

In return for the payments and similar ones which may be authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture for 1934 and 1935 you would sign a three year contract by which you agree to reduce your wheat acreage as directed by the Secretary not to exceed 20 per cent. Your three year average acreage was 60 acres. If unofficial reports are correct the 1934 acreage reduction has been set at 15 per cent, therefore you would reduce your wheat acres to 51, leaving 9 acres to be planted in some crop which is not commercial, but to be used for producing feeds or food but not for the market, or it could be planted in soil building and erosion preventing crops.

If you perform your part of the contract the Government will make the payments on the crop described whether you make a crop or not. The payments will be made this fall and next spring whether the 1933 crop failed or not.

The contract attaches to the farm and not the farmer. If you move to another farm the tenant who follows you must abide by the contract. If you move to a farm where the contract is in force you must abide by it. Landlords and tenants share in the benefits in exact proportion to their rental contracts.

Will Organize County

The county will be organized for the administration of the plan. As soon as sufficient number of contracts are signed, the farmers will hold community meetings at which time permanent committeemen will be elected. The chairmen of the community committeemen will form the county control committee which will have the responsibility of making the adjustments of the individual contracts to conform to the five year average of acreage and production for the entire county.

The county organization will have for officers a president, vice-president, secretary and a treasurer. The committeemen will hold office for a period of one year. It is probable that the county will be divided into only four wheat communities. Crowell, Margaret, Thalia and Foard City, will likely be that which will be organized, however, the county will be a part of those living in the other communities one of the above mentioned wheat communities.

NO DEDUCTIONS FROM CHECKS IN WHEAT PLAN

College Station—Adjustment payment checks for those growers who qualify under the wheat production control program will be made directly payable to wheat farmers, and no deductions will be required to off-set governmental loan indebtedness, according to officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

This decision will make an estimated difference of millions of dollars in the cash payment which will be made available to wheat growers this year. Under the terms of the wheat contracts, growers who agree to cooperate in the governmental program of acreage reduction will receive cash payments of 20 cents a bushel this fall and between 8 and 10 cents late next spring on their individual wheat allotments, less the cost of local administration of the plan. Deduction of sums owed the Government on loans would have reduced greatly the amount of cash to be made immediately available.

The Farm Credit Administration is asking wheat farmers to apply as much as they can of the proceeds from the adjustment payments to their debts to the government, but there is nothing compulsory about it.

There is a legal distinction regarding government indebtedness in the case of wheat adjustment payments as compared with similar payments in the cotton reduction program. The cotton payment checks will be made payable jointly to the grower and to the Farm Credit Administration, with some of the government debt claims subject to negotiation where private interests are involved. In the case of cotton, part of the loan security is destroyed when growers plow under a portion of the crop. The security is not thus destroyed under the wheat plan.

"To err is human." But few are human enough to admit the error.

an accredited high school. In such a case pupils will be entitled to transportation aid of not to exceed $2.00 per pupil per month, according to the rural aid law, and also according to information in a letter to Supt. I. T. Graves of Crowell from A. A. Bullock, director of Rural Aid in the State Dept. of Education. The state department also agrees to pay the tuition of pupils coming under the above classification in addition to sharing in the cost of transportation. The purpose of this part of the rural aid law is to make it possible for pupils, whose high school grades are not taught in their own district, to secure a high school education in an accredited high school, without causing a financial burden on the parents of such pupils, according to a recent statement by Warner Rasco, State deputy school superintendent.

Due to the fact that information about provisions of the rural aid was late in getting to school patrons over the state, emergency transfers have been permitted after the expiration of the regular transfer date by the State Dept. of Education.

Information released on Aug. 18 by L. A. Woods, State superintendent, in the form of questions and answers in regard to the rural aid law, had the following question and answer:

How are transfers made now?
Answer—As emergency transfers by county board with consent of county superintendent and state superintendent.

In regard to transportation aid, the following information was given:
How much transportation aid will be allowed for high school pupils transported into another district?

Answer—If the grade to which the high school pupil belongs is not taught in his home school, transportation aid not to exceed $2.00 per month per pupil will be allowed, provided the district shows need of such aid, and further provided the sending district is levying some local maintenance tax.

As announced in The News last week, a new ruling has been passed by the State department calling for certain classification requirements of rural schools, in regard to teachers and the number of grades taught, however, this classification is not scheduled to become compulsory until next year, although it is recommended for this year.

In the information released by Mr. Woods on Aug. 18, the following information in respect to this matter was given:

Will state aid be granted this year regardless of number of grades taught, if county superintendent and county board had already classified schools and employed teachers before the Deputy State Superintendent went on the field last week?

Answer—Yes, if eligible otherwise.

Mrs. John Church of Rensselaer, N. Y., testified in her divorce suit that her husband had been hurling plates at her for 29 years.

Christian Science Churches

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 3.

The Golden Text is: "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with God?" (Micah 6:8.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them" (Genesis 1:26,27).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God fashions all things, after His own likeness. Life is reflected in existence. Truth in truthfulness. God in goodness, which impart their own peace and permanence. . . . Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth" (p. 516).

Mrs. Katherine Woods of Addlestone, Eng., has again been barred from the baseball grounds because she attacked an official for his decisions.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DAVID

Lesson for September 3rd. 1 Samuel 16:1-13.

One of the supreme stories in the Old Testament is that of David, the lad who rose from a humble station as shepherd boy to the highest office at the disposal of the people.

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

What were the qualities that made his spectacular rise to the fame possible? and the most cherished place in their affections. Little he was at first, a pygmy among giants. What chance had he in competition with seven stalwart brothers? Yet this country lad rose to be king.

First of all, he was faithful in little tasks. He made himself an expert shepherd, and became so skilled with the sling that he felled Goliath with one perfect shot. Such men always advance to responsible posts. Then, too, David had plenty of courage. Both in his fight with the lion and the bear, and in his famous combat with Goliath, he exhibited plenty of pluck.

Again, he had a genuine capacity for friendship, as shown in his inspiring affection for Jonathan. "Thy love to me was wonderful," he cries, after Jonathan's death, "passing the love of women." And it is pleasant to recall that he was kind to Jonathan's son, a cripple.

Furthermore, David was generous.

Soon he had to face the fierce jealousy of Saul, who determined to put him out of the way. But he would not kill Saul when he had the chance, checking his men with the words, "The Lord forbid that I should stretch forth mine hand against him, seeing he is the anointed of the Lord."

Finally, our shepherd-king had religious devotion. David was far from being a perfect man, as the record makes abundantly clear. His career reminds one of a kaleidoscope so varying and contrasting are its scenes. Certainly he had much of the earthy in him, for he was very human. Guilty he was of adultery, murder, and deceit. But, in the midst of all his sins, there shines a redeeming piety reflected magnificently in the psalms. He made many mistakes, but his face was often turned upward toward God. He fell only to rise again, through penitent contribution, into fellowship with the Eternal.

SERMONETTE

THE ORNAMENTAL

By Arthur B. Rhinow

The young man in the subway told me the curtain trade was weathering the depression. It is doing well. At my request he enlarged on the latest patterns and prices.

"Isn't it strange," I ventured, "how much money is spent on the ornamental? More than on the necessities of life."

A shade would keep out the glare of the sun very well, but we add the curtain because it lends softness to the room as well as the light, but we are not satisfied until we have made it beautiful. Mere necessity would call for a simple covering of the body, and even that is disputed by certain extremists, but a woman insists upon dressing with tasteful adornment. The first columns used in architecture were probably nothing but posts, but before long they were embellished.

What is this within us that ever seeks to adorn the plain things of life? It is the urge of the soul to make matter its own. Adding beauty to the common is like pressing the seal of the human spirit upon the material. The nudist may point with scorn at the pretty gown the lady wears, and say, "Be yourself." But as she admires her dress in the mirror, say may well answer, "This is myself."

Some may well argue that nature itself is beautiful, without the adornments that man's spirit may add. Yes, but it is beautiful only to those that can see the touch of the Great Artist in nature.

Give your soul a chance. Cherish the beautiful. It will enrich your life, for beauty is of God.

WORRIES

We all know that worry shortens life. It is said to encourage heart disease—man's chief enemy today. Worry don't get one any where; it never pays dividends. It is the contented mind that yields the golden profits.

I knew a man who was constipated—I should put the word in capital letters; he declared that "dynamite" would not set his intestine in motion! He took everything he could hear of with only meager results—the condition grew steadily worse.

Finally he felt that he could work no longer; he went to a justly famous western clinic—submitted to the most searching examination, X-ray, and most critical blood-tests.

There was NOTHING physically wrong with this man; his doctors told him so.

"What," he almost yelled; "do you tell me there's nothing wrong with me?" I who haven't a decent bowel movement in three years of time? Here I've come hundreds of miles, to be told this I KNOW BETTER."

The neurologist took him in charge. "How many times do you get angry in a day?" the doctor asked.

"How many? I'm angry right now. Who wouldn't be?"

"Look here," said the specialist. "There's nothing organically wrong with you; your organs are absolutely normal. You stop at your secretions with your nasty temper! Now you go home, and stop that system of grouch. Go to the toilet every morning at 7 o'clock. Stay there till the bowel moves. Do that every morning. And stop fighting." There was nothing left to do. The fellow obeyed orders to the letter—was cured. Told me himself. Mind over matter—worry—does the harm.

Fifth Installment

Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of a three-quarter interest in an old ranch, left to her in the will of her only brother, reported to be on business in Mexico. Her ailing husband and small son goes to Arizona to take advantage of the climate, thinking the climate would be beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the ranch, she learns that the "Dead Lantern", is 85 miles from the desert. Charley Thane, a rancher and rural mail carrier, offers to take them to "Dead Lantern", which was 5 miles from the ranch house. As they nearly passed a huge overshadowing gulch in a gulch in coming to the house, a voice whispered "Go back." Their reception is suspicious. Snavely and Ann are the only occupants of the gulch.

work whatever, but as a matter of plain fact she was afraid to do anything else. That morning at breakfast she had asked if Ann could help her and, Snavely had replied, "I reckon she can, if you need help."

All day this reply had rankled. She told herself that Ann was merely a servant employed on the ranch and that Snavely's interest in the ranch was only one-quarter. Yet, while this was in some ways a comforting reflection, it could not put from her mind those pale, jerking eyes.

Suddenly he stooped low and disappeared from sight.

Warren and David were spending the day under a great live oak which stood on the western bank of the gulch and was visible from the doorway of the old adobe. It was a beautiful tree, its wealth of shade made even more inviting by the cool green of its leaves. Warren lay back in a canvas chair, lazily improvising on his guitar. Little David was tremendously busy making things with the small acorns which covered the shaded ground.

Often Ruth glanced toward the oak tree, and once she had gone part way over and shouted to Warren to watch out for snakes. She returned to the adobe reluctantly. She rather felt that she also should be under that tree.

Anyway, the adobe looked quite clean and pleasant compared with its appearance the evening before. Only last evening? Ruth could hardly believe that she had not yet twenty-four hours on the ranch; it seemed a month. Well, the cleaning was over. She supposed that a storm would come in a few days and the whole place would fall down. In such an event she could imagine Snavely suggesting that she move her family into the barn—after cleaning it out.

Since rising that morning, she wondered constantly what Snavely had been doing the night before. But she had not gone to the bushes to investigate, she had not mentioned the incident to her husband, and she had not the remotest intention of asking Snavely. And just as she told herself that the voice in the gulch was an echo, she told herself that Snavely was probably attending to some neglected ranch chore—well, such as putting something away in a box which made a clank when the lid was dropped.

Ruth did not know what she thought about Ann. The giantess both fascinated and frightened her. She was fascinated by the skill with which Ann drove nails and she was frightened when the woman bent her back and tossed aside a huge chunk of fallen adobe which partially obstructed the doorway, as though the heavy earth were cork. It was hard to think of the giantess as a woman; her enormous strength and size were so foreign to the girl's idea of femininity. And always Ann felt that but for her presence Ann and Sugarfoot would have carried on a continuous conversation. Several times Ruth had tried to start friendly talk with Ann but with no success. She did her work like a relentless machine, but a machine with thoughts of its own.

From the corner of her eye she saw Ann loading trash from a pile near the door into a wheelbarrow. She stepped to the threshold and asked casually, "What in the world shall we do with all that stuff, Ann? It won't burn; that's certain."

Ann grunted and lifted the wheelbarrow. Ruth fell into step beside her as the giantess wheeled her load toward the clump of bushes beyond the woodpile. "You know, Ann, we ought to have a regular place for putting trash—something out of sight where we could put things we didn't want to see any more."

Ann said nothing.

"I've often wished I had a place where I could put things I've done that I shouldn't have done." The that I shouldn't have done. The haughty cast of Ann's features softened; she looked into the girl's eyes and nodded slightly.

Inside the encircling fringe of underbrush a half dozen sun-bleached planks lay upon the ground. Ann turned back to the nearest of these disclosing a black hole. She tipped the wheelbarrow and the trash slid from sight. Ruth caught her breath without knowing why—there was something weird in the silent way that load disappeared—perhaps there was water in the hole, very close to the top. Ruth took a step forward, just as a sudden roar of sound belched from the blackness. She screamed—the trash had just struck bottom.

Ann looked at her. "It ain't nothin'—jes' an ol' well we throw stuff into."

"How—how deep is it?"

"Way deep—a hundred feet, I reckon. The folks what built the 'dobe dugged it years ago, but they never found no water jes' here 'bouts."

The girl shivered. Something in Ann's face caused her to turn quickly—Snavely was coming through the bushes. His pale eyes glinted dangerously.

"Now, Ann"—he spoke in a high voice—"I think you'd better be tendin' to the milkin'. You best finish with the cleaning to-morrow. We got to butcher this evenin' too."

Ann left at once. After a moment in which he stood as though half stupefied, Snavely smiled on the girl. "Ann'd rather do most anything than milk—seems to me. She don't know how lucky she is to have somethin' to milk—it ain't every cattle ranch that's got a milk cow."

As he was speaking he walked away from the well and Ruth followed. "I got that Jersey for milk—solely for milk—traded a long yearlin' beef for her to a Mexican who was goin' to slaughter her. Besides," he smiled again and stopped beyond the bushes, "we've got good milk for our victuals."

"Oh, I see. It seems like good business to have a milk cow, then, Mr. Snavely, about that well, I—"

"You're dead right it's good business. I told Grey that when we first started up. While he was puttin' in a new windmill, and the tank, and the cement water troughs I looks around and got hold of that Jersey—she's already paid for herself in the poor little weak calves she's nursed."

They were passing the woodpile and Snavely stooped to pick up the ax. "I came up for this—me and Ann're going to butcher. We need meat. Can't keep it more'n a couple of days in this weather, but Ann'll jerk a lot of it. But we'll have fresh meat for supper." He smiled. "Don't reckon you ever had a chance to eat beef a half hour after it was killed. You want to come down to the corral and watch us butcher?"

"No—no, thank you, Mr. Snavely, please fence that horrible well! I won't let David out of my sight until you do. And when you begin I'll get him out of the way—I don't curious. He must never go into those want him to know about it or be bushes. You'll fence it right away, won't you? Please."

Snavely nodded. "That's a good idea, Mrs. Warren. I'll attend to it."

myself to-morrow—we never expected to have kids on the place and just threw loose boards over it to keep the stock out. But I'll fence it sure."

"Make a very strong fence—one David can't get through of over. Couldn't you use boards? These barbed wire fences look so insecure."

Something terrible flashed into Snavely's face. "Barbed wire"—he spat the words—"ain't goin' to be used for nothin' on this place! What wire is here can stay but by God I ain't never touched it an' I ain't never going to!"

"Well—I'm glad you will use boards, Mr. Snavely," said Ruth uncertainly, and left him.

That evening when the girl and her family went into the ranch house for supper, they were sorry to see that Ann had a long cut on her cheek. Snavely explained that she had done it on the 'catch of the kitchen cupboard.

The girl shivered. Something in Ann's face caused her to turn quickly.

Many New Books Are Given to Library as Result of Book Hour

About one hundred books were added to the county library as a result of the Book Hour, which was sponsored by the County Federation and held at the Methodist Church on Thursday afternoon. Of this number of books, fifty were contributed by Ferguson Bros., the remaining number being individual donations. About $5 in money was also received and part of this has been spent for a subscription to "American Boy" for the library and the remainder for juvenile books.

An interesting program was rendered. A number of children's books were reviewed and numbers from various books given by Margaret Claire Shirley, Joyzelle Tysinger, Mary Evelyn Edwards, Mary Katherine McMillan, Mary Frances Bruce, Joyce White, Tom Alton Andrews and Joe Wallace Beverly. Ruth Ferguson also gave a concise book review. Miss Lottie Woods gave an interesting review of "Forgive Us Our Trespases," by Lloyd C. Douglas.

The officials of the County Federation are gratified over the results of the undertaking and appreciate the interest and co-operation of those who attended.

A color scheme of blue and yellow was used with bouquets of marigolds and petunias in the living room, where games of "42" were played. Mrs. Sam Crews was high scorer and Mrs. S. J. Ferguson held low score and each was given an attractive favor. Guest prizes were presented to the honor guest and Miss Novella Woods of Dallas and Mrs. R. C. The revival at Truscott was opened on Aug. 20 by Rev. C. V. Allen of

CROWELL HIGH TO BEGIN GRID PRACTICE MON.

Coach Grady Graves has sent word that active football practice will begin Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and requests all candidates for the Crowell High School team of 1933 to assemble at the school at that time in order that uniforms may be issued.

Coach Graves is now visiting relatives in Stephenville and will return to Crowell the latter part of this week. He attended the recent coaching school at Texas A. & M.

About eight boys reported for a preliminary work-out under the direction of I. T. Graves on Tuesday of this week. Other work-outs will be held on Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week and all candidates possible are requested to report for these preliminary work-outs which consist mainly of setting-up exercises to get the boys in shape for regular practice.

Only three letter men, Capt. Bill Dunn, Dick Todd and Lester Patton, are back from last year's squad, however, there is some very promising new material and as usual Crowell fans may expect another good team this season, although it will have a very difficult task to measure up to the record set in 1931 and 1932 district races, in which Crowell suffered defeats only to Olney, the district winner for the past five years.

Olney, Chillicothe and other district teams have suffered greatly in the loss of veteran material the same as Crowell, and a closely fought district race is again in prospect for the coming season.

Crowell's first game will be played here with Knox City on Sept. 22. The following Friday, the Wildcats will probably meet the strongest opposition of the season when they play Quannah High School at Quannah.

Fourteen boys who lettered last year will be missing from this year's squad. They are: Bill Middleton, Mitchell Allee, Dan Callaway, Lorraine Carter, Hubert Smith, George Carter, Melvin Joy, Neff Middlebrook, Lewis Gibson, Crockett Fox, Francis Todd, Fred Spears, Orville Orr and Glenn Rasberry.

Regular practice was started on Monday of this week by Olney, Chillicothe, Seymour and a number of other high schools of this section.

Truscott Wins Over Crowell in 3 Games

The Truscott baseball team was victorious over Crowell in three recent games. In a game at Truscott last week, Truscott won 19 to 0. The Knox City team again had things their way with a 19 to 2 score here Sunday.

Crowell showed improvement in the game here Wednesday and lost by the narrow margin of 9 to 8. The two teams will meet again at Truscott Sunday.

A recent improvement in the manufacture of bricks of clay for building purposes, removes all air from plastic material and the result is that the brick is greatly improved in strength and wearing quality.

Kidnap and Murder

Above, Harvey Bailey, captured by Federal Agents near Dallas, Tex. Below, Albert Bates, taken at Denver, both charged with being principals in the kidnaping of C. F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma oil man for whose release a large ransom was paid. Bailey will likely be tried for murder committed in Kansas City depot machine-gun massacre.

This-That, Etc.

By Typo Wrighter

Editor's Note—Our Mr. Typo Wrighter forgot that he was conducting a column in The Foard County News until Thursday morning and then it was too late for us to permit him to start out on another brain storm for this week, however, he states that he will be back next week with some low-down on the high-ups or high-up on low-downs—in fact we didn't catch exactly what he said.

He did mention that it was his purpose this week to inform his twenty seven million readers that Foard County is going to have a wet fall this year and that Charlie Gafford is likely to win the donkey relay race in Crowell on Trades Day—that is if Charlie is old enough to enter the race, since no one under 40 is permitted to enter this event.

NEW FIRE HOSE HERE

A siamese extension fire hose was received by the local fire department this week. This extension when attached to the regular two and one-half inch hose gives two separate lengths of one and one-half inch hose, each length being 100 feet.

Such an extension does much to increase the efficiency of a department in fighting fires.
