Crowell High Sets Record With 4th Consecutive District Championship

WILDCATS WIN OVER CAREY IN DIST. NO. 4 FINAL

A fighting group of Crowell Wildcats set a new District 4 record last Saturday night by defeating the Carey Cardinals 28 to 17 to win the championship of this district for the fourth consecutive year, a record never equaled in West Texas, with the exception of El Paso High School, the only team of any consequence in a district.

Despite the fact that Carey was a heavy favorite to win the tournament, the small Wildcats put up one of the greatest fights in their history in the final game to down the Carey Cardinals, whose regular quintet of five players included four boys who towered above six feet in height. Friday night Crowell beat the Harlem County champions, King High, 18 to 22, and then downed Wellington 36 to 22 in the semi-finals Saturday morning. Carey won over Matador in the first game and then won the right to compete in the final game by beating the strong Turkey team. Turkey and Wellington beat Quitaque and Paducah in their first games.

The eight county winners at the tournament were: Crowell, Foard; Carey, Childress; Turkey, Hall; Wellington, Collingsworth; King, Harlem; Paducah, Cottle; Quitaque, Pecos; Matador, Motley.

Final Game
In the championship tilt Saturday night the confident Carey crew promptly took the lead with two field goals by Carrick and Pritchard. Owens drew first blood for Crowell with a field goal, followed shortly afterward by Meason's free toss. Middlebrook put the Wildcats in the lead with a long toss and followed it up with another. Todd's field goal was followed by Laningham's, to make the score 9 to 6 in favor of Crowell as the first quarter ended.

An air-tight defense on the part of both quintets featured the second quarter and the only score made by either club was Capt. Todd's field goal.

With the second half opening with the score 11 to 6, Owens' free toss and Todd's field goal extended the lead another 3 points. Carrick accounted for a free toss and then dropped in a field goal shortly after Todd had done the same again for Crowell. Meason tossed accurately from the side of the court to make the score 18 to 9. At this point of the game, the middle of the third quarter, Middlebrook committed his fourth personal foul and was removed from the game.

Bill Dunagan, who was crippled by an injury on the school grounds here last week, and who was not in proper condition to be in the starting lineup for the tournament games, was sent in at forward and Owens shifted from forward to Middlebrook's position at center.

Johnson missed both free tosses coming from the fourth foul. The third quarter ended with the score 20 to 13 after Foust had decreased the Wildcats' lead with two field goals. Todd accounted for Crowell's final field goal in this period.

With the Cardinals forging to the front, the situation looked mighty gloomy for Crowell when the Wildcats lost their second regular just as the last quarter opened as a result of Bill Dunn's fourth personal. Curtis Barker replaced Dunn and played the rest of the game in a manner characteristic of Dunn's fine work.

Carrick scored a field goal after Todd's free toss to make the score 21 to 15. Another field goal and a free toss by Todd and two field goals by Meason made Crowell's total 28 before Carrick accounted for the final field goal of the game, which ended with the count at 28 to 17.

Dedicated to Todd
Just before the championship contest, the Wildcats dedicated the game to Capt. Dick Todd, who was playing in his fourth and final district basketball game.

Begin Work Today on Crowell School Census

Work on the annual school census for the Crowell Independent School District will begin today and will continue through this month. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Andrews have been named by the local board to conduct this census.

Census takers for the rural school districts will be appointed Saturday. The census will include all who will be 6 on or before Sept. 1, 1934, or under 18 on that date. State aid is based on the school census. This year the per capita apportionment is $16.50 per pupil.

Crowell and Amarillo To Play First Game Of Regional Tourney

Four district winners, Amarillo of No. 1, Hedley of No. 2, Lamesa of No. 3, and Crowell of No. 4 will compete in the regional tournament at Canyon Friday and Saturday for the honor of representing the Panhandle and South Plains in the State finals at Austin the following week-end.

Crowell and Amarillo will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the tourney's first game, after which Lamesa and Hedley will play. Friday night the winners of the afternoon games battle for the lead and the losers fight to remain in the tournament. The double winner draws a bye Saturday morning, while the two remaining clubs play to determine which will go into the final game Saturday night.

This is a new plan inaugurated by the Interscholastic League this year. About 15 bi-district winners have competed in the state finals previously. Through the new plan, only 8 teams will go to Austin.

According to the plan of past years, Crowell would now be eligible to go to Austin, since the Wildcats won two victories this week over Wichita Falls, champion of District 9, which furnished the bi-district competition in past years.

According to reports from Canyon and Amarillo, Lamesa is rated as a favorite to win the tourney. Coach Grady Graves and eight members of the Wildcat squad will depart this afternoon for the tournament. Present plans are to spend the night in Plainview.

GENERAL RAIN RECEIVED OVER FOARD COUNTY

The first real rain for Foard County in several weeks started falling late Wednesday night and as The News went to press this morning at 10:30 o'clock an inch and six-tenths of moisture had fallen in Crowell with prospects of at least two inches or more for the county before the end of the day.

The entire rain thus far has fallen in such a manner as to insure maximum benefit from it for the crops of the county. Oil activity in the county will also be speeded up if sufficient rain comes to put a plentiful supply of water in the lake of the Texas Company.

Reports received here this morning indicate that the rain is general over this section of Texas.

The coldest weather of the year came here the early part of the week with temperatures of as low as ten degrees being registered on Monday and Tuesday mornings.

The February workers' conference of the Wilbarger-Foard Baptist Association in Crowell Tuesday proved to be one of the most successful events of the association in recent months. The excellent program for the day was attended by over 125 Baptists of the two counties. Vernon was selected as the site for the next conference, which will be on March 27.

Those taking part on the program during the day, including the W. M. U. program were: Rev. Marvin Brotherton of Margaret; Rev. George E. Turrentine of Crowell; Rev. S. J. May of Odell; Rev. W. A. Reed of Thalia; Rev. Sidney Martin of Wichita Falls; L. T. Graves of Crowell; Mrs. F. E. Eikin of Vernon; Mrs. Buford McDougal of Vernon; Mrs. W. J. Long of Thalia; Mrs. W. D. Howell of Crowell; Mrs. W. W. Griffith and Mrs. A. F. Wright of Crowell; Mrs. Adkinson of Thalia; and Miss Mary Parr of Vernon. Y. W. A. winner in the district stewardship contest.

The W. M. U. voted to pay the expenses of Mrs. McDougal, associational young people's leader, and Miss Parr to Fort Worth in March for the State stewardship contest and the State Y. W. A. house party.

Rev. Rives proved to be a very popular pastor during his service here for the past year and members of the local church and the friends he made here regret to see him leave.

Mother of Mrs. Sam Crews Died Tuesday Morning in Houston

Mrs. T. M. White, mother of Mrs. Sam Crews, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. J. Dodge, in Houston, early Tuesday morning. Mrs. White had been frail for some time, but was as well as usual upon retiring Monday evening, and her death came as a distinct shock to her family.

Mrs. Crews left Tuesday morning to be present at the funeral which was held Wednesday afternoon at Edna, Texas, the former home of the deceased.

Mrs. White was born in Jackson County, Texas, near Edna on March 31, 1849. She was reared in Edna, and made her home for many years in that section of Texas. She, with her husband, moved to Crowell and made her home here for a number of years. Mr. White died here and since that time, Mrs. White has resided with her daughters, Mrs. Crews and Mrs. Dodge.

She was a faithful member of the M. E. Church and identified herself with that church wherever she was. The survivors are the two daughters, Mrs. Crews, Mrs. Dodge, and two sons, H. S. White, of Victoria, and T. S. S. White, of Harlingen, and a number of grandchildren.

A Thousand Thanks

It's positively impossible to truly express our thanks to our advertisers and especially to those who got their copy to us Monday, which was done by several.

Such co-operation as this makes it possible to get the paper out on time and to also make a better paper. Please—may your co-operation in this respect continue.

Remember—we are trying to get the paper out on Thursday morning instead of Thursday afternoon, as has been the case for years and years past. This makes it possible for the paper to reach rural subscribers a day earlier than usual.

Those having church items are especially urged to submit them Monday, if possible, and not later than Tuesday morning. Others who have reports of any kind are urged to turn them in at the earliest possible time. Don't wait! The best thing to do is to prepare your report as soon the event it tells of is over and then mail it or bring it to this office—whatever day of the week it may be. In other words—if your meeting takes place

Farmers of This Dist. Repay 94 Per Cent of U. S. Gov't '33 Loans

J. L. Lane of Wichita Falls, field supervisor for U. S. Crop Production loans, was here Tuesday. He stated that Foard County farmers had paid their 1933 loans one hundred per cent with the exception of $1.29 on one loan and $1.03 on another and that he expected to collect this balance before leaving town that day.

Of the ten counties in Mr. Lane's district, four of them, Harlem, Knox, Baylor and Throckmorton, have paid up 100 per cent. The other counties in the district are Wilbarger, Foard, Wichita, Archer, Haskell and Young. One small collection was all that was lacking in Archer.

Six million dollars in crop production loans went to farmers in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona out of the Dallas office in 1933 and 84 per cent of the money loaned in Texas has been repaid.

Collections in this district have been above 94 per cent. The Childress district ranks highest with collections of 99 per cent.

Fire originating from a trash fire at the rear of the building at noon, Tuesday, Feb. 20, damaged the plant of the Benjamin Post to the extent of several hundred dollars last week. As a result last week's issue of the Post was published by the Munday Times.

Located in an old frame building, flames swept through the entire structure and type standing on the galleys and stones was melted down. The linotype and presses were also badly damaged.

Plans are being made to rebuild the plant as soon as possible. Wednesday, then don't wait until next Tuesday to send the report in.

50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED SAT.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cannon, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in this city last Saturday, have lived in and near Crowell for the past seventeen years.

Moving to Foard County from Gainesville in January, 1917, the couple established their home on a 320-acre farm two and one-half miles west of Crowell that Mr. Cannon had purchased. They lived there until coming to Crowell on Nov. 13, 1926, at which time they established the sandwich stand near the post office, in which business they are still engaged.

During this time Mrs. Cannon has missed only five days from work, three of these being on account of sickness and the other two days of absence resulting from a visit to Fort Worth and Cooke County a few months ago.

The following teams from Wilbarger, Harlem and Foard counties, competed in the tournament: Williams, King, Margaret and Five-in-One.

The Margaret girls have one of the strongest girl teams in this part of the state and have lost only one game out of the nine that they have played this season and have scored 249 points to their opponents' 107. The only loss was to King High and that by the narrow margin of only two points.

Coach W. A. Smart states that there is a possibility that the Margaret girls will compete in the State girls tournament at Plainview on March 16 and 17.

The Dollar Bride

Mary Inlay Taylor

Fifth Installment

To get fifteen thousand dollars to save the family honor, Nancy Gordon promises to marry the well-to-do Dr. Richard Morgan. Here beloved brother, Roddy, has come home from New York to confess that he has taken that amount from the bank where he works—because a woman needed it—and that he will be jailed if he is found out before he returns it. So Nancy, in love with the penniless Page Roemer, decides to borrow the money from Morgan, and pledges herself to marry him in return. He agrees to the bargain, feeling sure he can make her love him. While they are talking at his house, Roemer comes to see him. "Oh, Richard, don't let him come in here," begs Nancy when she hears his name. And as Richard looks at her the pitiful little secret of her love for Page is revealed to him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"If you stay—if they come to get you before you pay it back—it will kill them both—I mean father and mother. You must go, Roddy!"

"You're a trump, Sis!" he said thickly. "You've saved me—I feel like a brute to let you do it, I—I'll go, but I've got to tell them first, I mean the governor and mother."

"I'll tell them!" Nancy shivered. "You can't stop for it—if you lose this train they—they might arrest you, they may be on their way now!" She kissed him suddenly. "Oh, Rod, be good now!" she sobbed.

He could not speak, but he wrung her hand; then the gate slammed and he was gone.

Nancy rose slowly, steadying herself an instant with one hand on the old bench where she had sunk, and then she went slowly into the house.

Her mother was sitting in a rocker by the window, her face hidden in her hands. Her father sat in the same chair where he had slept that morning. His gray hair was standing up on top of his head and he had not shaved; he looked older than ever.

He stared around at Nancy. "Where's Roddy?" he demanded, hoarsely. "Where's he hiding? I haven't seen him this morning—pay God, I can't think where he got his streak from—my son a common thief!"

"You shan't say that of Roddy!" Mrs. Gordon cried for the hundredth time. "It isn't true, he never meant to take it, it's some mistake. He meant to pay it back!"

"Yes," her husband assented harshly. "He did. You're right about that, Sarah, I never knew a thief who didn't mean to pay it back. They all do." "We've got to pay it back then!" his wife sobbed, "we've got to save him—if I take the clothes off my back—if Roddy's sent to jail I shall die!"

"Die?" Mr. Gordon raised his haggard face and stared at her. "I'd rather see Rod dead this minute than a common thief. God knows I wish I had him in his coffin now—nailed down tight!"

"Papa!" Nancy's tone startled him, he raised his eyes again at her face, his lips twitching with intolerable pain.

She swayed toward him, her blue eyes beautiful and soft; she loved him in his agony. She understood it. He had lost his pride in his son and he was too poor to pay; he was thinking of her and of her mother. Nancy's lips shook but she commanded herself.

"Papa," she said softly, "Mama—" she held her hands out to them tenderly. "I've come to tell you—Roddy is safe; he's got the money, all of it, and he's gone to pay it back. I think he'll get there before they even find it out."

Her father merely stared, incredulous, but her mother uttered a choked cry.

"Oh, Nancy! How did he get it? Who lent him all that?"

Nancy held her breath. If she told them, she did not know what her father might do. He loved her, he might take it hard, he might even go to Richard about it, and he could not pay it back, it would ruin him. She looked from one worn white face to the other and her eyes misted! she was doing it for them, she knew it now, for all of them—because she loved them, she loved them so much it was an anguish to see them suffer.

"I borrowed it, Mama," she answered softly, "I got it and—Roddy and I will pay it back."

Mr. Gordon half rose from his chair. "Who did you get that money from, Nancy?" he demanded hoarsely.

Nancy backed away from them; they were both dazed but their eyes followed her. "I can't tell you today," she gasped, "that's part of it—the pledge, I mean, but I'll tell you next week."

She broke away; she must not tell them, she dared not—yet! She turned a little wildly and ran out of the room.

Nancy lay quite still, face downward on her bed, hands clasped close over her eyes, shutting out the light. Here had ached terribly, it ached so that the throbs ran down through her body and shook her with anguish. It was fearful, yet it was a blessing, while it ached like that she could not think. If she tried to think she would remember that she had promised to marry Richard on Monday. She did not want to think. Through her went the crashing and rushing of Roddy's train going to New York; she felt as if the steel wheels passed over her and left her bleeding. She had saved him, he would get there in time to pay the money back, they would never know. And she had spared the two downstairs, too.

It had crushed her father to think of his girl shamed for her brother. Nancy's lips twitched with pain at the thought; he had looked so like death in his sleep. The feeling had come to her with a horrible swift surprise—her father was growing old! She clutched at her pillows, shaking. Her world might tumble down and she would have no one left—no one but—It was too much.

Nancy stumbled to the window and looked.

She rose on her elbow and stared out of the window with pain blurred eyes—Richard! She gave a little cry and plunged her head down again into her pillows, sobbing and shaking with fear.

Then the pain in her head began again and she stopped thinking, she lay after a while very still and limp, like a shot bird unable to use its wings. Sheer exhaustion, a sleepless night and the long racking of her nerves had told. The girl had fallen into a heavy, dreamless sleep.

She was still sleeping when her mother quietly opened the door and came in. The huddled figure on the bed startled her; there was something in Nancy's very attitude that suggested misery and apprehensions. Mrs. Gordon came hurriedly across the room and touched her flushed cheek and her hot forehead. She had the skillful mother hands and she knew the feel of fever.

Nancy started up on her elbow. "What is it, Mama?" she cried feverishly.

Her mother shook her head. "Nothing at all now, dear. Papa went out to the bank for a while, he had to do something. He wanted to come up here and see you but I stopped him. Don't you think you ought to tell him—about the money you borrowed, Nancy?"

Nancy, sitting on the side of her bed now, slipped her arms about her mother's neck, laying her cheek against hers.

"I'll tell him—I'll tell you both next week—I promised that. Oh, Mama, don't ask me—I was so glad to get it for Roddy."

Mrs. Gordon drew a long breath, a sob in her throat; her face puckered and quivered with tears like a child's.

"Oh, Nancy," she sobbed. They clasped each other, weeping. They held each other for a long time and then Mrs. Gordon felt the girl's hot cheek. She drew back, looking at her.

"You're ill, child!"

"Only my head, Mama, I didn't sleep last night."

Her mother rose. "You lie down," she said gently, struggling to be herself again. "I'll get you a cup of tea."

The hot tea and toast revived her a little, and the touch of her mother's hands on her hot forehead soothed her. She felt like a child again, being comforted after a hurt.

"Don't go yet!" she whispered, and in the twilight Mrs. Gordon sat for a long time beside her daughter's bed, holding her hand.

They did not talk much. The older woman was thinking of her son; the girl, of tomorrow. But after a while they heard the front door open and Mrs. Gordon rose hurriedly.

"There's Papa; I'll go get his dinner for him, I hope he can eat! You needn't come down, child, if your head still aches."

Nancy let her go; her head did not ache so badly now, but she was glad to escape her father's questions.

She had work to do. She packed a handbag with a few things she would need and she hurried, tumbling things over. Her wardrobe was small enough and she had not much choice, but she selected the simplest things she had, a dark blue serge and a plain hat.

The moon had risen splendidly and across the window was stretched the long branch of the pine, etched black against the silver sky. It was very still in the house. Nancy knew her father and mother had finished dinner. They were sitting in the library now, on the other side of the house. She could not even hear their voices, but the pine trees swaying a little, tapped on her windowsill. Then she heard another sound, soft and sweet but penetrating, the faint notes of a love-song strummed on a guitar. Page! The girl trembled like a leaf; he had come, of course, with his guitar.

Nancy stumbled to her window and looked down. The moonlight made the old garden like day. Below her, the grass-plot looked as if a hoar-frost had whitened it. Nearer still was Page Roemer.

Nancy looked at him. How tall and slim he was—so much lighter in build than Richard. She could see his clean-cut profile and his white forehead. He strummed on the guitar again, calling her with the old soft tones appealingly. Nancy answered. Page stopped playing instantly, and in the moonlight she saw the joy in his face.

"Come down, Nancy; it's a lovely night!"

"She clung to the windowsill. 'I can't, Page, my head aches terribly.' 'The moon will cure it. Come down,' he pleaded. 'I've got something to say to you tonight, Nancy, please come down.'"

Nancy knew what he had to say to her; it had been trembling on his lips so long, and he had delayed it—because delay is sweet. They liked to wait; an unspoken love was so much more tender, more illusive, more desirable than mere words. But now it was too late.

"I can't come down tonight, Page. No, really! Didn't mother tell you?"

He drew down his brows anxiously. "Yes, but I didn't believe you'd stay up there—a night like this."

Where he stood, with his face lifted and unshadowed, she saw him plainly.

Nancy, when can I come?" he added gravely.

She trembled. She could make no more promises! "I—I don't know—don't ask me tonight, Page, my head aches so!"

He looked up earnestly. He could not read the eyes so far above him, but he felt a change, an incredible change, in her.

"Are you really ill, Nancy?" he cried.

Where he stood, with his face lifted and unshadowed, she saw him plainly. She could see the look in his eyes. It set her heart beating again and her fingers tightened on the sill.

"No," she said faintly, "not really—but my head did ache dreadfully. I can't talk to you tonight, Page, indeed—I'd come down if I could, but I—can't!"

Her voice broke and he caught the change in it. Hope mounted into certainty; he was sure she loved him, but she was coquetting with it, playing with it, like a girl. He lifted his handsome head confidently.

"Nancy, come down!" he cried.

She said nothing, and in the stillness the pine branch tapped against her window like a warning finger. Again he felt that there was something amiss.

"Nancy, come down!" this time his voice pleaded.

"I can't, Page, I—good night!" she waved her hand to him.

"Cruel!" he said, and then: "tomorrow, Nancy!"

She did not answer. She was leaning against the window now, watching him go. He swung his guitar under his arm, waving his hat to her. But half-way to the gate she called to him.

"Goodbye, Page," she called to him softly, "goodbye!"

She could see his figure receding down the long quiet street. He was going out of her life and he did not know it. It was incredible but it was true.

Texas Farmers Will Have Over 7 Million Acres Rented to Gov't.

Texas will have about 7 million acres retired from cotton, wheat and corn production on its hands this year. That is roughly one-fifth the total cultivated acres in the State. For what shall this land be used? Wisely and legitimately used, these acres may mean much to the farmer's welfare this year. Indifferently or illegally cropped these fields may bring losses. If handled with an eye to the future it is possible that the re-adjustment in farming brought about by the problem of these retired acres may lead to better balanced long-time farm systems.

That is about the way in which the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College views the retired acre question. The first point to get in mind, Extension workers point out, is that land is rented in these contracts for the purpose of getting it out of competitive production. A mere shift to other crops or other livestock production is against the interests of farmers as a whole and is just as illegal as it is possible for contract-writing lawyers to make it. On the other hand there are perfectly sound and legitimate uses to which this land may be put. The chief of these in case of cotton and wheat land, but not of corn land, is to use the land for making the home living and feeding the farm work stock. This can be done under two conditions, either that the farmer has not produced his own food and feed, or that he has produced only part of it and needs more land to complete the job. He cannot, if already producing food and feed enough, merely shift that production to retired acres and use the land thus released for competitive production.

The production of feedstuffs on retired acres, especially pastures, is certainly encouraged in the national program, provided this feed is not sold nor used directly or indirectly as the basis of increased livestock production. The spirit back of the contracts is to prevent the creation of additional surpluses.

If rented acres are taken this year to establish living at home firmly on every contracting farm, the foundation of a good permanent Texas farm system will be greatly strengthened. In addition many of these acres are made into good permanent pasture lands and otherwise used as a feedstuff balance to cotton and other cash crops. Texas farms will be shifting to a sounder base. While all this is going on there is many an acre that can be terraced and cover-crop-

f.o.b. Chicago

THE McCormick-Deering Farmall 12 has made a real hit as a tractor for small farm use and for auxiliary power on big farms. And no wonder, when you consider it does the work of four or more horses. It uses only one gallon of fuel an hour in the hardest kind of work. It pulls a 16-in. or two 10-in. plow bottoms, plants and cultivates 25 to 33 acres a day, and does other row-crop and general farm work in proportion. You can buy it for $525, f.o.b. Chicago.

Ask us for a demonstration. And whenever you need more power, there are two larger Farmalls in the McCormick-Deering line.

ly after the Civil War. The main event about this war that Mr. Cannon calls to memory was the returning of soldiers through Claiborne County and their offer to let him drink whiskey out of their canteens.

At the age of 16 he got in touch with a family coming to Texas and came with them by train to Dallas in Dec., 1875. In the family's attempt to find relatives, he went with them by wagon to Gainesville and from there to Whitesboro, where the hunt was brought to a successful end.

Returning to Gainesville the same day, young Cannon walked ten miles the next morning to take up work with a gin on Fish Creek, northwest of Gainesville. Shortly afterward he went to Ferris, Ellis County, remaining there until coming to Collin County in 1880.

Four years later, Feb. 24, 1884, he and Miss Lyles were married. They rented a farm north of Plano one year, moving from there to Richardson, Dallas County; from there to Cooke County, and from Cooke back to Collin. Trading for a place northwest of Dallas, they moved to and remained there five years and then established their home with Mrs. Cannon's mother at the old home place near Plano following Mr. Lyles' death.

After living with Mrs. Lyles for 3 years, they moved to a farm east of Plano, living there four years before going to Tarrant County, where Mr. Cannon bought a farm. They lived there for 5 years and then moved to a farm in Cooke County, 3 miles east of Gainesville, where they remained for 8 years until coming to Foard County in 1917.

Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Cannon, three of whom are living. They are: Harvey Lee Cannon of Fort Worth; Mrs. O. N. Baker of the Foard City community, and Boyce D. Cannon of Woodburn, Oregon. One child died in infancy and Clyde Ernest Cannon died here 12 years ago at the age of about 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Cannon have three granddaughters, Miss Addie Lorene Baker of Crowell, Mrs. W. O. Tyson of Fort Worth and Miss Marie Elizabeth Cannon of Gainesville; four grandsons, Johnny and Lowell Baker of the Foard City community, and Boyce, Jr., and Clifford Dean Cannon of Woodburn, Ore.; and one great-granddaughter, Patricia Jane, 2-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tyson.

Mrs. Cannon also has three living sisters: Mrs. Josie Trammell of Breckenridge, Mrs. S. B. Ray of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Sarah L. Pearce of Long Beach, Calif.; and two brothers, Robert Lyles of Stephens County and

Anniversary Celebration

In commemorating the 50th anniversary an interesting and appropriate celebration was conducted at the Cannon home Saturday night with about fifty persons present.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Tyson and Miss Addie Lorene Baker and escorted to the bride's book, which was in charge of Miss Beulah Patton.

The program for the evening consisted of a vocal solo, "The Old Spinning Wheel," by Miss Mildred Johnson, who played her own guitar accompaniment. A reading, "Rustic Courtship," was given by Edward Jones, after which Miss Baker played a reverie at the piano. "Memories" was sung by Miss Alma Walker, with Miss Baker as accompanist.

Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine, pastor of the Crowell Methodist Church, gave a biographical sketch of the couple, together with an interesting talk, after which Mrs. Tyson sang "Love's Old Sweet Song," with Miss Patton as accompanist.

The social hour followed, during which guests were escorted to the room containing the many beautiful and useful anniversary presents received from friends. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon stated that they were without words to express their appreciation for the way their friends remembered them on this occasion.

The room in which the gifts were located also contained a 100-year old walnut bedstead that was made by Mrs. Cannon's father and which is still used by Mr. and Mrs. Cannon.

Delicious refreshments of cake and ice cream in the form of a golden slipper were served. A sing-song in which all guests participated, brought the delightful occasion to a close.

Relatives from out of the county present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cannon, Mrs. W. O. Tyson and daughter, Patricia Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey B. Ray, Mrs. Sudie Ray, Mrs. Chas. Williams and Mrs. Virginia Harvey, all of Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hobson of McLean, Texas, Mrs. Una Cannon and daughter, Marie Elizabeth, of Gainesville, were unable to be present on account of Marie Elizabeth's illness.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cannon are hopeful that they will see many more happy anniversaries.

WICHITA FALLS LOSES 2 GAMES WITH CROWELL

Scoring 17 points in the last quarter to one for Wichita Falls, the Crowell Wildcats came from behind to defeat the District 9 champions 23 to 23 at the local gym Tuesday night in an unofficial basketball game.

On Monday night the two teams played an extra period game at Wichita Falls, which Crowell won 33 to 31. Last week Wichita Falls won the championship of its district and if the Texas Interscholastic League basketball race was conducted on the same basis this year as was the case last year, the Wildcats would now be eligible to participate in the State meet at Austin.

Last year Wichita Falls was defeated in two bi-district games by Crowell to give the local team the right to go to Austin. This year Crowell will compete in the regional tourney at Canyon and the winner there will go to Austin. Four district winners, Lamesa, Crowell, Amarillo and Hedley will compete in this tourney.

Wichita Takes Lead After Crowell had led 11 to 7 and 17 to 14 at the conclusion of the first two periods, in the game here Tuesday night, the Coyotes held Crowell to a lone field goal in the third period and scored 8 themselves to lead 22 to 19 as the last quarter opened. Crowell also lost Middlebrook in the third period on personal fouls.

Roberts' free toss gave Wichita a 23 to 19 lead as the last quarter got underway, however, that was the end of the scoring for the visitors. Playing in the fastest manner seen here this season, the Wildcats started a scoring melee that netted 17 points from 3 field goals each by Dunagan and Todd, 2 by Meason and a free toss by Todd.

Various Improvements In Bedrooms Made By Foard County Women

"Everything needs working over," said Mrs. R. L. Thomas, bedroom demonstrator for the Good Creek Home Demonstration club. Mrs. Thomas lives in the Good Creek community, about a mile from the school house. She enrolled in the bedroom demonstration in October, 1933, and has now started work on her room.

Two new windows have replaced the old one in the room. This, Mrs. Thomas says, adds much to the appearance and usefulness of her room as it is now light enough for reading and sewing even on dark days. She has the sheet rock for ceiling the walls and plans to improve the room in other ways such as papering, refinishing the floors and woodwork, refinishing the furniture, and building in a closet.

Refinishing the walls which are about fourteen feet high is one of the hardest problems of Mrs. C. T. Murphy, bedroom demonstrator for the Margaret Home Demonstration club, living about two miles northwest of Margaret. She plans to use colored white wash on these walls. She has tried this on another room and finds that it is quite lasting and a very inexpensive finish. The house is of concrete so that this type of finish is practical.

Other plans include the making of a piece of furniture from the top of an old cabinet that is of no service as it is.

"The old chair has no bottom and one leg is gone but I plan to remodel it and use it in my bedroom," says Mrs. John Lilly, bedroom demonstrator for the Foard City Home Demonstration club. Mrs. Lilly is enrolled in the bedroom contest for 1934. She is planning her room in cream and rose and is making two braided rugs from gunny sacks in colors to harmonize with her color scheme. The bedspread will be rose, the curtains cream and rose, and the paper of a harmonizing color.

Todd and Middlebrook Named on All-District No. 4 Basketball Team

Two Crowell players, two from Carey and one from Turkey were named on the official All-District No. 4 team, resulting from the vote of 4 teams, at the district tournament in Childress last Friday and Saturday.

The all-district quintet follows: Middlebrook, forward Crowell Hedrick, forward Turkey Carrick, center Carey Todd, guard Crowell Wegtherly, guard Carey

This makes the third consecutive year that Dick Todd has been named a member of the district's mythical team and the fourth year that he has participated in the district tournament. Crowell fans are now wondering if there has ever been another high school player in Texas to make the record of having played on a team four years that won the district championship each of those four years.

Todd came to Crowell High at mid-term in 1931 and played as a reserve that season, however, he participated in the final game with Childress for the district championship after being sent into that closely-fought contest when personal fouls were responsible for the removal of two of his brothers, Guy and John.

Last year Crowell placed four players on the all-district quintet and the year before that three Wildcats were selected.

ball tournament for Crowell. In each of the previous three years the Wildcats had won the tourney and the Crowell boys were determined to set a new district record and at the same time help Todd gain the honor of having played with a district winner each year that he was with the Wildcat cagers.

While all of the Crowell boys played unusually well, the performance of Todd was nothing less than sensational. Although he was continually covered by two and three opposing players, yet he broke loose to score 14 of his team's 28 points and his remarkable defensive work limited the scoring of the towering opponents.

This made the sixth consecutive year that Coach Grady Graves had carried the Crowell Wildcats to the district tournament at Childress. The first year Crowell lost a heart-breaker in its initial game to Hedley by the score of 31 to 29. Trailing by 9 points as the last quarter opened, the Hedley team started making shots from all parts of the court and dropped in the winning counter in the final seconds of play.

The next season, 1929, the Wildcats lost in the tourney final to Estelline, the team that won second in the state that year. That made Estelline's third consecutive victory in the Childress tournament, a record equalled by Crowell last season.

Since then Crowell has "ruled the roost" in this district.

The box score for the final game follows: CROWELL FG FT FTM PF TP Meason, f 3 1 0 1 7 Dunagan, f 1 1 0 0 3 Middlebrook, c 2 0 3 4 4 Todd, g 6 2 1 2 14 Dunn, g 0 0 0 0 4 Roberts, f 0 0 0 0 0 Barker, g 0 0 0 0 0 Total 12 4 4 12 28

Results of the entire tournament were:

First Round Games Wellington 40, Paducah 32 Turkey 37, Mataque 32. Carey 33, Matador 19. Crowell 28, King 22. Second Round Carey 32, Turkey 24 Crowell 36, Wellington 22. Final Game Crowell 28, Carey 17.

The Crowell-King High game was believed by some spectators to have been the best of the tournament. King had been considered one of the tournament favorites as a result of defeating the strong Quannah club for the championship of Hardeman County.

GOOD GARDEN PLANNED BY WEST RAYLAND CLUB GIRL

A garden plan including about twenty-five varieties of vegetables is a part of the plan of Elizabeth Writen, garden demonstrator for the West Rayland 4-H Club. This plan includes three new vegetables that have not been grown in home garden before. Elizabeth planned her garden so that she would have a sufficient supply of vegetables of all kinds for the family of nine.

Rev. Marvin Brotherton and two laymen from the Margaret Methodist Church will have charge of the Sunday evening service at 7:30. They will bring with them an orchestra. This ought to be an enjoyable and profitable evening. Won't you help make it so by being present and inviting friends?
Mrs. T. B. Masterson, Mrs. O. C. Stapleton and the pastor of this church will be the speakers at the Margaret Methodist Church. They will take with them special music.
The Vernon district has set for its goal 80 per cent of their church enrolled in Sunday school and 80 per cent of the Sunday school attendance staying for church service. Whether we reach this depends upon you. There are classes for every age in the Sunday school.
The revival meeting of our church has been announced to begin March 21st and running through Easter. Rev. Bascom Morton of Abilene, Conference evangelist, will be the visiting preacher. May we all pray that each one of us may have a revival in our own hearts and share these experiences with others.
O. C. STAPLETON, Pastor.

Christian Science Churches
"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 4.
The Golden Text is: "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (1 Corinthians 3:11).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord" (Luke 2:11).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Eddy: "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive. Mary's conception of him was spiritual, for only purity could reflect Truth and Love, which were plainly incarnate in the good and pure Christ Jesus" (page 332).

Geo. Washington Tea By Adelpian Club At T. S. Haney Home

The Adelpian club entertained on Thursday, Feb. 22, with a delightful George Washington tea at the home of Mrs. T. S. Haney as a compliment to the teachers and the young ladies of the town. Mrs. Haney, Mrs. Raymond Burrow and Miss Frances Hill were joint hostesses.

The guests were greeted by a receiving line composed of the hostesses and the president of the club, Miss Frankie Kirkpatrick, and presented to Mrs. Ab Dunn, who received the wraps.

Mrs. W. B. Johnson, program chairman for the afternoon, welcomed the guests and introduced a clever musical skit entitled "In Grandma's Time." This was presented by Frances Henry Johnson, reader, who represented the old-fashioned lady, Camille Graves, singer, who gave old-fashioned and new-fashioned songs and Wanda Bee Cobb, dancer, who interpreted new-fashioned dances. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Frances Hill.

Following the program the guests were directed into the dining room by Mrs. J. E. Harwell, where Misses Kirkpatrick and Martha Schlagal assisted in serving sandwiches, cookies and mints. Tea was poured by Mrs. Burrow. Plate favors were corsages of sweet peas and for-get-me-nots. The table was attractively laid, carrying out the patriotic colors. Red and white carnations and blue candles were placed advantageously.

The members of the house party were dressed in Colonial attire. Fifty or sixty guests enjoyed this delightful occasion. They were assisted to their wraps by Mrs. S. S. Bell.

Mrs. J. H. Cope of Vernon was an out-of-town guest.

Thanks to the Wildcats

It was not only great for our Wildcats to break all records for West Texas by winning four consecutive district championships, but we also consider it a personal favor to this column as a result of the prediction last week that the results would be just that.

If ever a team put up a real fight, then Crowell did in that final game with the Carey Giants. We believe this is the tallest high school team that Crowell has ever played. All talk that a person could hear at Childress preceding the game was to the effect that the Wildcats were certainly due to be dethroned and no group seemed more convinced of this fact than the Carey boys themselves, especially after they jumped right off to an early lead.

Somehow, the Crowell boys didn't let the opinion of the "crowd" worry them, nor did they give up when it really looked as if their opponents were going to get the best end of the deal. That old "Wildcat fighting spirit" soon got to clicking along with the boys' natural skill and it was just a case of "too bad" for most any team that might have been on the court.

If the boys will only keep up that spirit, they are going to be winners with us, no matter whether they are on the large or small end of the score when the game ends.

Crowell is running against the stiffest kind of competition at the regional tourney in Canyon, but we know that the Wildcats are going to make a record there that local fans can be proud of.

GOOD CREEK CLUB

The Good Creek Home Demonstration met on Feb. 20 with six members and Miss Holman present at the home of Mrs. Thomas. An interesting lesson on Lincoln was conducted and a wardrobe talk was given by Miss Holman. The next meeting will be on March 6 with Mrs. Rex Trawick. Visitors or new members are urged to come.
