Ticket Campaign for Lighted Football Field and Bleachers Opens This Afternoon

PUBLIC ASKED TO BUY HOME GAME TICKETS

A lighted football field and comfortable bleacher seats will be installed at the Crowell High School athletic grounds in time for the fall season next fall, according to present plans of the local school board.

Projectors, poles and other equipment for the lighting system already have been ordered and arrangements for providing 30 seats will be made at an early date if sufficient interest on part of local people is shown for the project.

Instead of asking for donations, as often done in cases of this nature, local fans are urged to buy tickets for home games. These books will go on sale this week under the direction of the local athletic council, N. J. Roberts, Chas. E. Gafford and L. A. Andrews, and may be secured in them or at local drug stores.

The books will sell for $2.50 each, or at the rate of 50c per ticket, which will be the admission price next fall. Tickets have already been signed for the strongest assortment of games in many years, including the following teams: Matador, Mah, Paducah, Burkburnett and

The five tickets in each book may be used one at a time or all at once, since they are all alike and special home game is specified in any of them.

The reason for selling the books is to secure cash in buying.

OTAL COTTON INNINGS FOR 1934 ANNOUNCED

Cotton ginnings in Foard County for 1934 amounted to 4,352 bales, according to final figures reported by the Bureau of the Census at Washington.

This was the best cotton crop in Foard County since 1918, when only 2,485 bales were ginned. The next best crop was 1930 when 4,345 bales were ginned.

The total cotton crop in Foard County last year exceeded the total of 19,000 bales. Total of 23,343 bales were ginned from 1933 crop, which was the highest in Foard County history, although it did not reach the 24,000-bale figure of 1926. However, the 1934 crop would easily have exceeded the 1926 figure had it not been for the government cotton rationing program, which reduced production by about 5,500 bales.

County ginnings for 1925-17, 1926-24,298; 1927-21,147; 1928-9,596; 1929-14,190; 1930-4,429; 1931-12,322; 1932-19,389; 1933-23,343; 1934-4,352.

Innings for 1934 and 1933 in this area follow:

County	1934	1933
Adkins	4,352	23,343
Barker	16,331	62,995
Berman	8,747	42,947
Cole	3,376	41,277
Crowell	11,027	56,374
Dunn	2,888	16,130
Edwards	4,519	36,670
Ellis	8,911	26,740

One-Act Plays to be Presented Tonight

A program consisting of two one-act plays will be presented at the high school auditorium tonight, starting at 8 o'clock by casts from Crowell and Oklaunion high schools.

The Crowell cast, directed by L. T. Graves, consists of Peg Cooper, Frank Hofues and P. Rennels, Jr., and will present "Country," the play that will well High will present in competition here at the district one-act play tournament on April 12-13. The Oklaunion cast recently won the Wilbarger County championship with the presentation of "Blue Teapot," the play that was presented here tonight.

After paying royalty charges for the two plays, all proceeds will go to the Crowell High for expenses of the dramatic club.

Leaders of New C. H. S. Project

N. J. Roberts, L. A. Andrews and L. I. Saunders, pictured above, have a major task ahead of them as leaders of the Crowell High athletic field improvement project. However, if their efforts in this respect prove as successful as they did in putting over the local gymnasium project, then a fine lighted football stadium for Crowell is assured.

Chas. Gafford, who is not in the above picture, will also have a large part in the improvement program, since he is a member of the athletic council of the local school board. Mr. Andrews and Mr. Roberts are the other members. Mr. Saunders, local contractor, will supervise actual work on the project.

Over 52 Per Cent of Crowell Taxes For 1934 Collected

Collection of 1934 city taxes up to March 19 amounted to $6,854.85, which was 52.4 per cent of the total 1934 assessments, $13,075.20, according to figures announced by J. T. Billington, city secretary and tax assessor-collector.

Delinquent payments amounted to $2,246.02, making total payments of $9,100.87 during the recent taxing season. March 19 was the final date for city tax payments without penalty or interest.

Payment of current city taxes this year was slightly better than for last year. Collections this year were 52.4 of the total assessments while the collections up to Feb. 1, 1934, of 1933 taxes represented 50 per cent of the total assessments.

MISS BARBARA CRYER'S FATHER DIED MONDAY

H. M. Cryer of Goldthwaite, father of Miss Barbara Cryer, who is principal of the primary department of the Crowell schools, passed away at his home Monday evening, following a lingering illness of several months' duration.

The funeral took place at Goldthwaite Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Cryer is survived by his wife, four sons and two daughters.

Miss Cryer was at her father's home when he passed away having gone Sunday in response to a message that his condition was worse. She returned to Crowell Thursday.

New School at Texas Plant Will be Built by Good Creek Dist.

Foard County will have a new school house for the 1935-36 term as a result of action of the Good Creek school board in deciding to build the new structure at the Texas Company's plant in the western part of the county.

Miss Kathryn Woods of Crowell has been employed to teach at the school during the 1935-36 term.

The regular Good Creek school will continue to operate in the future at its present location. The necessity of new school facilities for the Good Creek district came as a result of several new families moving to it in connection with the operation of the Texas Company's natural gasoline plant and other oil activity by the Texas Company in that section.

Members of the board considered that it would be more satisfactory to build a new school than to provide transportation facilities from the plant to the present school building.

Members of the Good Creek board are A. C. Hinkle, H. K. Black and O. G. Whitley.

District Meet at Childress April 5-6

Childress will be the scene of the District No. 4 Interscholastic meet on Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6. Many of the winners in events at the Foard County meet last week will compete in this annual event.

CITY ELECTION WILL BE HELD HERE TUESDAY

A mayor and three aldermen are to be chosen for two-year terms at the city election in Crowell Tuesday. All of the men whose terms expire are candidates for re-election. They are, Mayor C. T. Schlagal and J. C. Self, Geo. F. Allison and M. S. Henry, aldermen.

Other candidates are W. W. Griffith for mayor, and Clyde McKown, E. M. Crosonoe and W. F. Thomson for aldermen.

Monday of this week offered the last opportunity to file names with the city secretary that are to be printed on the official ballot.

The election will be held at the city hall with J. H. Self as presiding judge.

Only 2 More Days For Motorists to Get License Tags

Only two more days remain for motorists to secure motor vehicle license plates for 1935, without penalty, since Saturday, March 30, will be the last day that the tax collector's office will be open prior to the registration tag deadline, April 1, Monday. Motorists operating vehicles after March 31 with 1934 plates will be subject to arrest.

All who have not yet registered their cars and trucks are urged to bring their last year's license receipts with them in order to prevent long delays in securing their 1935 tags.

FINANCIAL SUCCESS

With all expenses paid, twenty-two cents remain in the County Interscholastic League fund, according to I. T. Graves, director general.

Total receipts at the Thursday and Friday night programs were around $50, which was 22 cents more than enough to pay for ribbons, silver loving cups and expense of judges.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Grover Cole was called to Clayton, N. M., Thursday of last week to attend the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Cole, 86, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ben Haney, Wednesday. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at the Baptist Church in Clayton with interment made in the Clayton cemetery.

Mrs. Cole was a pioneer resident of Foard County, coming here in 1886, leaving here in 1908 for Beaver County, Okla., where she had resided until two years ago when she went to Clayton to live with her daughter.

Tubercular Tests For Cattle to be Started in Foard

Testing of all cattle in Foard County for tuberculosis will begin about April 8, according to Dr. L. R. Noyes, who called on county officials this week to complete arrangements for the tests.

Grade cattle found to be infected and condemned, will be valued at $20.00 per head and registered cattle at the rate of $50.00 per head and owners paid accordingly.

WILL RELEASE 41 BALLOONS WITH $15 CASH

Forty-one balloons with attached slips worth a total of $15.00 will be released from some point in the business section of Crowell on Trades Day, Monday, between 4:30 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Although Trades Day comes on April Fool's day, there will be no fooling about this opportunity for First Monday visitors to literally grab money out of the air in addition to realizing substantial savings on merchandise through the numerous bargains offered by local business institutions.

Twenty-eight of the balloons will have slips attached worth 25 cents each. Ten of the balloons will have 50-cent slips and four will have $1.00 slips.

Those catching the balloons may present their slips to the Trades Day treasurer, H. E. Ferguson, and receive in cash the amount indicated on the slip taken from the balloon.

The force and direction of the wind, Trades Day afternoon will determine just where and how the forty-one balloons will be released.

Free Auction Service

As usual, Trades Day will offer the people of this section an unusual opportunity to make worthwhile trades on items that they do not need or to sell them for cash by taking advantage of the "free auction service" that will be conducted during the day by Dave Solis, who has been engaged by local business men to direct this feature.

Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald of Olton, Texas, has accepted the call of the Crowell Baptist Church and will assume his duties here Sunday, at which time he will preach at both the morning and evening services.

There will be a general dismissal of services at other Crowell churches Sunday evening in order that local pastors and their congregations may join in welcoming the new pastor at the services in the Baptist Church beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Fitzgerald achieved outstanding success as pastor of the Baptist Church at Olton for the past few years. He made a very favorable impression with local Baptists when he preached here on March 17.

Rev. and Mrs. Fitzgerald and children will arrive in Crowell tomorrow.

LARGE CROWD

Thrift Day in Crowell Saturday attracted one of the largest crowds that has been in this city in the past few years. All available parking space in the business section was taken and the side walks were jammed with people throughout the afternoon.

Farm Records Will Be Discussed Here April 8

"Keeping Farm Records" will be discussed with Foard County farmers by S. A. McMillan, A. & M. College Extension farm record specialist, in Crowell on Monday, April 8, according to announcement of Fred Rennels, county agent.

A complete farm record book for keeping of crop and livestock production is available without cost to all signers of wheat, cotton and hog contracts.

VIVIAN COMMUNITY FARM ASSOCIATION MET THURS.

A meeting of the Vivian Community farm association was attended by about thirty-five farmers at the Vivian school house last Thursday night. A discussion of farm records and 1935 reduction contracts was given.

G. J. Benham, chairman of the organization, presided. A regular meeting will be held each month for the discussion of current problems of interest to the community.

Rambling 'Round New York With HUGH KENNY

Trusting souls, these New York apartment house managers, in the lobby of one we know, chairs in the reception hall are chained and padlocked to an eye that is sunk in the composition flooring. Two pairs of sisters, middle-aged, now, have known each other from childhood. Each pair has an apartment, one very like the other, and twice a year they trade with each other, leaving furnishings and equipment intact. One apartment is in New York. The other is in Atlantic City. The world's highest kitchen is on the sixty-fifth floor of the RCA building in Rockefeller Center. Among the chefs who prepare food there for three dining rooms, there isn't a single woman. Connoisseurs of that sort of thing say that the smartest night club in town is the Rainbow Room at the top of the RCA building. They have a "cellar" of fine wines and liquors, in spite of the fact that it is sixty-five stories up!

"Polly is just a name, like Smith or Jones." That's what they say at the State Charities Aid Association about one of the prettiest little four-year-old girls you might ask to adopt. And because the doctors can't agree about her nationality, they've been unable to decide what sort of home to put her in. The policy of the association is to place children in foster homes of the same nationality as the children, and they place hundreds every year.

Want to buy something special? Try New York, where they've recently put a combination knife and fork on the market for one armed people! Crossword puzzles go on. And they go on at an astoundingly increased rate of popularity since contents and prizes have increased the zeal of the fans. In fact they have increased the ardor to such an extent in New York, that the Public Library has banned the use of its reference books to puzzles. And librarians won't answer puzzle questioners, either.

GAMBLEVILLE (By Opal Carroll)

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Jones and son, Billie Wayne, who have been residents of this community for several years, moved to the Arthur McMillan place west of Crowell Wednesday. Don't Prolong The Agony!

Next time you suffer from Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, a Cold, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains; That Tired Feeling, That "Morning After" Feeling. Get a glass of water and drop in one or two tablets of

Alka-Seltzer

The New Pain-Relieving, Alkalizing, Effervescent Tablet Watch it bubble up, then drink it. You will be amazed at the almost instant relief.

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hope. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.

H. D. and 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Officers of FOARD COUNTY HOME DEMONSTRATION COUNCIL Mrs. A. L. Davis, Chairman Mrs. H. H. Beggs, V. Chairman Mrs. Tom Russell, Secretary-Treasurer Miss Myrna Holman, Home Demonstration Agent

COUNCIL MEETING

One hundred and forty-two members and 44 visitors attended club meetings of 7 different H. D. clubs during March, according to the reports given at the Council meeting in Miss Holman's office Saturday afternoon. Reports were not secured from two other clubs. The following were appointed as members of the committee to work out a plan for the canned vegetable and fruit contest of 1935: Mrs. H. H. Beggs, Mrs. Dave Sallis and Mrs. Jim Cates. Eight clubs were represented at the meeting Saturday.

GOOD CREEK H. D. CLUB

The making of a foundation pattern was demonstrated at a meeting of the Good Creek H. D. Club at the home of Mrs. W. M. Cox, March 19. The pattern was made for Mrs. Cox, the club's new wardrobe demonstrator No. 1. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Glenn Jones April 2.

COMMUNITY H. D. CLUB

"The state highways are improving all the time," said Mrs. Parlin McBeath at the meeting of the Community H. D. Club at the home of Mrs. Austin Wiggins on March 20.

In addition to cutting patterns, a short pre-Centennial program was led by Mrs. Jim Shook. The trees, grass and other things that have been put out on the highways are making them more beautiful, stated Mrs. McBeath. A talk about the Alamo was given by Mrs. Tom Russell.

One new member, Mrs. Earl Davis, was added to the roll. Five visitors, Mesdames Sam Knox, R. L. Taylor, C. D. Stephenson, H. W. Green and W. C. Baker, were present.

GAMBLEVILLE 4-H CLUB

The Gambleville girls 4-H Club met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Garrett March 7. A Texas flag was made. A new member, Robbie Lee Stewart, was added. Seven members were present. The next meeting will be at the home of Hazel Gamble March 21.

Foard Club Girls Active in Various Projects for 1935

Lavoyce Lefevre "I planted my garden after that little shower," says Lavoyce Lefevre, garden demonstrator for the Foard City 4-H Club.

Carrots and beets were the "other" vegetables planted. In addition to these Lavoyce has planted a supply of the June Pink tomato as the large tomato best adapted to the county.

Lavoyce is doing other things besides garden work as shown by the fact that every goal thus far except one has been completed and it has been started.

Norma Boren

"My record book is up-to-date, my dresser scarf made, and I am planning other sewing," stated Norma Boren in giving a report of her work as clothing demonstrator for the Black 4-H Club. "I am planning one dress and when that is finished, I will make a nicer one for the dress contest," Norma continued. She also plans improvements in storage space. She will use a chofferope, put divisions in the drawers, and make a shoe rack.

Maggie Starnes

Planning ahead is a good policy according to Maggie Starnes of the Ayersville 4-H Club, Maggie has already been planning for her dress to be made for the girls' dress contest in May. Maggie entered a dress in the contest last year, receiving honorable mention on it. She has already completed the other two goals for co-operators in clothing work.

Ora Mae Owens

A long step toward having "A place for everything and everything in its place" has been taken by Ora Mae Owens of the Foard City 4-H Club.

This step was in the form of divisions for dresser drawers. These divisions are made of heavy cardboard turned one way at one end and the opposite way at the other and put in the drawer with thumb tacks. The divisions vary in height and placing accord-

Remove Farm Families From Relief Rolls to Rural Rehabilitation

Austin, March 26.—Removal of all farm families from the general relief rolls to the rural rehabilitation program was a step nearer this week as officials of the Texas Relief Commission announced that henceforth all farm families residing on farming acreage will be classed as rural rehabilitation families, and will receive aid only in the form of credit advances.

As a result, these families will come under all regulations of the rural program, and notes in favor of the rural corporation will be taken from these clients for all such subsistence or any other advances from the relief administration.

Relief officials have estimated that from 35 to 50 per cent of the state's caseload consists of rural farm families and that the general caseload will be reduced by approximately 100,000 cases when all of them have been included in the rural plan.

"We want to include all of our rural cases in the rural rehabilitation program and get away from further outright relief grants," said E. A. Baugh, assistant director of the Texas Relief Commission.

"Under the rural plan, we analyze the needs of the family, set up an operating budget and farming plan for a year and provide management to enable the family to maintain a sufficient income to meet the notes given for all advances made from relief funds."

"Since many of the families affected by the new order are tenants located on farm plots, landlords will be required to waive claims on this year's crops before any further advances will be made by the Relief Commission. If the landlord, or other lien holders, refuses such waivers, the client family will be removed from the relief roll and the lien holder so notified in writing, according to instructions issued by the Relief Commission.

Mrs. Val M. Keating, director of social service, said national relief officials have severely criticized the State of Texas for the size of its caseload.

"The major portion of the increase has been in rural areas," she said, "and we believe that many landlords have taken advantage of the relief organization in refusing to finance tenants."

THE BOOK
the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible," and which contains Four Great Treasures
by BRUCE BARTON

CHARACTER IS BORN
A million sermons have been preached about Adam, berating him for his lost innocence. Adam was innocent in the Garden, in the same sense that the sheep were innocent, and the sheep are just as innocent now as they were then. But Adam in Eden had no character, and character is the one good thing which God alone does not create. It is a joint product.

Just what the sin was which is recorded under the symbol of the tree and its fruit we do not know. It is an admirable symbol. The birds in Eden pecked holes in the fruit of that tree, as of many others. No fruit-eating beasts held it in special regard. Adam's sin was something which was wrong for him but not wrong for beasts and birds, some act of unbridled lust or bloody revenge; and having done it, he knew instantly that it was wrong. Somehow, in this new green universe, remorse and repentance entered into the soul of a living creature; and character began.

"A being such as I should be capable of something better," he said to himself.

Why did he say it?
What made him say it?
How was it that he knew himself to be different from the beasts that perish? Why was he so sure that it was wrong for him and not for them to use his brief opportunity for all it was worth? What persuaded him that God cared?

No matter if the story in Genesis be an allegory; no matter if it summarize in the experience of one man a process which worked itself out through generations or centuries. The central fact remains, that one day somebody stood out against a background of innocent and contented animalism and assumed the self-consciousness and reproach which go with a moral nature. To that somebody, that Adam, we owe a debt which we can never repay. He was earth's first great hero.

Adam in the Garden, fattening on the fruits that grew without labor, has had too much attention. We care little for that brief inglorious period in his existence. It could not last long. Let us rather remember the later Adam, contending with thorns and thistles, trying hard to govern the rising generation which perplexed him as it has perplexed succeeding fathers, the Adam who earned his bread with the sweat of his brow, the Adam whose eldest son killed his younger brother, the Adam who courageously, uncomplainingly carried and handed down to his descendants a nature capable of responding to law and duty. That Adam is the first in honor as well as in time. He and Eve sent down to us the qualities that lift us out of the dust from which they came and back to which we, like them, return.

BETTER LIGHT MEANS BETTER SIGHT
BUT GLARE IS HARMFUL . . . YOUR EYES GET ALL THE LIGHT BUT NONE OF THE GLARE WITH . . .

THE DUALENS
This new spectacle lens, optical science's latest contribution to improved vision, helps your eyes to give you comfortable, lifetime service. . . The Dualens transmits all of the light, but none of the glare. Around the margin the finest absorptive glass blends delicately and gradually inward to a clear center. It is thru this clear center that the eye receives all of the light, while the tinted margin eliminates the glare. . . In addition, the Dualens is the most inconspicuous and becoming of all lenses. You can recognize the Dualens by its two tone appearance—pure white center—delicate tinted margin.

Foard City-Truscott Methodist Church News

The following services are announced at the Truscott Methodist Church for Sunday, March 31, 1935: Sunday School at 10 o'clock a. m. Guynn Hickman, superintendent. We have classes for every age and group and we most cordially invite all those to be in our church school who are not now in any Sunday School service. The pastor will preach at 11 a. m. The Pre-Easter revival has been announced to begin on Wednesday evening of April 10th at 7:45. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. Hubert Thomson of the Tolbert charge. He is a young man and a good preacher. He comes highly recommended and we believe by the help of the Holy Spirit, the prayers of God's people and the preaching of this fine young man, we are going to have a real revival of religion in our church and community. I believe we need a great improvement in the spiritual life of the people generally in our community and we need the sympathy, the prayers and harmonious co-operation of all Christian groups in our little community. Won't you help by being present at all the services possible and invite your friends and acquaintances to these services? We shall endeavor to have good song services throughout the meeting and where there is

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 31.

The Golden Text is: "Thou, O Lord, shalt endure for ever; and thy remembrance unto all generations." (Psalms 102:12.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Remember the former things of old; for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me." (Isaiah 46:9.)

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. That only is real which reflects God." (pages 335 and 478.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Life and Letters of Peter. Lesson for March 31: 1 Peter 5:6-11. Golden Text: 2 Peter 3:18.

For three months we have studied the life and words of Peter. It is fitting that we should now attempt to pass in review what we have learned.

Recall the promise of Peter: Taking the lead in the apostolic band from the first, he maintained it to the end. Of course, his fame is overshadowed by the brilliant genius and wider influence of Paul, that towering giant. But Peter though eclipsed by Paul, ranks very high as a herald of the gospel.

To be sure, we fully recognize his faults. His impulsiveness was so pronounced that he was easily moved to hasty action and rash speech. He was also too proud. Pride inspired him to rebuke the Master for accepting the approaching ordeal of the crucifixion, and later, in the very shadow of the Cross, to deny Him like a coward. Moreover he was fickle. In the bitter controversy over the admission of Gentiles into the fellowship of the church he at first acted with commendable wisdom and generosity of spirit, championing Christian liberty. But later he allowed himself to be intimidated by those who insisted on conformity to Mosaic regulations, and so incurred the censure of Paul. (Gal. 2:11-14.)

But what great qualities he had! First of all, he was a born leader with a natural gift for gathering his fellows about him, and inspiring them to action under his guidance. Now a leader needs two significant traits, courage and initiative. Peter had both of these. Think of his courage! It was moral courage that led him to make the great surrender, and give his life to Jesus. Later we note how gallantly he cast himself in the water to come to the Master, and how bravely he faced the fanatical fury of the Jerusalem mob to preach a crucified Lord. But he was also an initiator. While others trifled and delayed, Peter acted, and acted with decision.

OPSIS: Young Ed Maitland of a New England sea family, and the hardened Speed Malone, met on a river to the Yukon gold '97, when word of the rich coast. Maitland was determined to win back his lost before he returned home, so men became partners, promising not to get tangled in the law if he could help clear out from the part if he did. Frenchy, the an whose smack took the north; Lucky Rose, the girl who had given a ring and as a keepsake; Fallop leader, resentful of attention to Maitland; the money lender; young and his drunken partner Bill Brent, old-time prospector, well-to-do traveler Maitland and Speed to things over the mountains are the principal figures. Malone, Maitland and hauled part of his stuff canvas camp on the Skagach over the trail to the hills called Liarsville, all was in bad condition, wanted to close it and mend on wanted to push on.

ON WITH THE STORY

"I bet a thousand on Bill to win," the dealer's eyes, which had returned to the game, quivered upward as a clear draw suddenly spoke over the heads of the crowd. "I'll bet a thousand on Bill to win."

The discovery that it was Speed who had spoken astonished no one quite as much as Maitland, who knew the limits of his resources. The offer had been made to the dealer, but Fallon wheeled around with a scowl that darkened when he recognized the speaker. Cocking his cigar, he drew a large roll from his pocket and slapped down a counted sum on the table. "There's a thousand says you're a cheap four-flusher," he said. "Look out!" The words fell from the dealer's lips in an involuntary murmur. "Oh, he won't shoot," said Fallon easily. "He's one of them would-be-gunsmen. Chews a lot but ain't got no fangs. Ain't got no money neither."

Speed, in fact, had not moved except to reach into his pocket for money that was not there. He had not looked for this exact result, and was still framing his next move. None the less, his composure remained perfect—even when, to his surprise, his fingers closed over a wad of bills. Fortune sometimes favors the absolute gambler. This time the means of her merical was Garnet, who had quietly slipped the roll into his pocket. "I mean money," growled Fallon, at the first hint of delay. "You can't run a whisperin' bluff in this game."

Doubt struggled with fear in the dealer's face when the insult was ignored. Speed walked up to the table stripping a sheaf of clean one-hundred dollar bills from Garnet's roll, and laid it alongside Fallon's. Then his eyes pinned the dealer. "You can deal this any way you figure healthy," he said. "Only remember I'm backin' Bill to win."

The dealer's pale visage turned paler; he lowered his head to conceal a twitching of his mouth. There was a craning moment of silence. A hum ran through the crowd as the dealer lifted the shells. Fallon ripped out an oath of chagrin and unbelief. Bill had won. Speed picked up his own and the other's stake, and was turning away when Fallon called him back. "What I took ye for," snarled the camp boss. "A brag-and-run gambler. Pull up there, fellow. The play ain't through yet."

A slight twist in the corner of Speed's mouth showed that this was not unexpected. "No," he said, "the play ain't through yet, only it's a new game. They's a stretch of trail between here and the bridge up the line that needs fixin' almighty bad. Horses, and outfits has been lost in it. You're the boss of this camp, and you've blocked the move to fix it because you've a big string of mules and can take a chance of lightin' through in one haul. You don't give a damn for the small miner who has to relay his pack over that slew with one horse or none. Well, some of us figure different. Four day's work with the camp drafted will put the trail in shape. It's the only chance for a lot of the boys who've sunk their last red to get here. You can't run a white miner's camp without takin' count of the common prospector. That's rock bottom—stampedede or none. If you doubt it, Fallon, and want to gamble, I'll bet you this yer thousand the camp ain't back of ye."

The stillness in the canyon was complete, save for the gush of the river. Quietly as the words had been spoken, they had touched every instinct of the crowd at once. Shrewd malice curled Fallon's eyes. "I'll take your bet," he said. "These men know what a delay would mean. If you think you can halt 'em, the idea will cost you a thousand and somethin' more."

Now that it had an outlet, the response of the crowd broke loose. "I'm with you, brother," a man called out to Speed. "That's talkin'..." and similar endorsements mounted over the voices of dissent.

"Hold on," barked Fallon, above the tumult, "and swivel your muzzle-loadin' brains on what this crook's playing for. Who is he? where's he from? Blowed into camp two days ago a busted drifter; now he's flashin' money. Ever meet a 'fixer' on the gold trails? Well, the inside crowd in the Yukon is workin' hard to plaster ever' good location before the stampedede arrives, and here's a slick frame to freeze you out."

The argument was far-drawn, but cunningly gauged to an audience of credulous, impatient, gold-fevered men.

Speed parried it promptly. "That won't hold gravel," he declared. "The river don't freeze till the first week in October. Four days won't hurt that margin, and most of the camp will gain time on a good trail."

"What you ain't primed to answer," returned Fallon, "is who you are and what you're doin' here with that bunch of money and no outfit."

The outlaw creased a cigarette paper. "You're switchin' your bet," he said evenly. "The question is whether the boys want to make a trail. How does it come that a man who's so all-fired anxious to see ever' one get to Dawson, spends his time makin' this mither drunk and persuadin' him to bust himself at a skin game. Another is that coward's lick you took at the kid a while back. The cool temerity of the challenge held the crowd in a spell. "You ask where I come from," Speed continued. "I come from a state where a man loud enough to do a thing like that would be booted out of camp of horse thieves."

Fallon's hands flashed to his guns and stopped there, a puzzled seam deepening between his eyes. He could not imagine anyone offering such a challenge unless he were sure of an advantage. On Speed's part it was sheer gambling—one of those reckless yet clear-headed gestures of which instances are not unknown in the annals of the West, where gunmen have sometimes been challenged and told without the touching of a weapon.

The hush was suddenly broken by Brent, who had arrived with his backers, and judged it time to cut this fuse. "Who's fer fixin' the trail? Make it who's waddowd boys!"

The uproar forced Fallon to suspend dealings with Speed while he met a different threat. Heads were counted in a confused din. A majority showed for Brent's proposition, but many had not declared themselves either way.

"That's no showdown!" yelled Fallon. "To fix the trail you've got to bar it. Try that and you'll damn soon find how much of the camp's behind me. You can't bar it."

"We'll go to bedrock on that point right now," Brent shot back. "We've got the man who'll see the job done, and the miners' committee sure needs a new chairman. Get behind this, men."

There was a tangled burst of enraged and jubilant shouts. In the confusion it was a moment before Speed could make himself heard. This was more than he had counted on. "I ain't the man for the job," he said. "I'm a stranger and I ain't patient enough to argue with suspicious. Put up one of your own men."

"Patience be damned," growled a sun-browned Arizona miner. "Who all's askin' you to be patient?"

Fallon, sure of himself now, lit a fresh cigar and flicked the match meditatively in Speed's direction. "The man don't live," he said complacently, "who can bar a trail when my outfit gets ready to go through. As for this meddler, he don't amount to a puff of smoke, and I'll show you he don't—" and the camp boss put his hands on his guns. "I called him yesterday for a liar and a horse thief, whichever was his fightin' word. But that was too mild, I say now that he's a sneak'n' liar and a yellow coyote, both."

"Wild Bill" Cummings Drives Second Chevrolet

Danger Is Attached to Whooping Cough

Austin, Texas, March 26.—Whooping cough is a disease of the spring and summer months. It is a real problem in households where there are a number of very young children. Statistics show that cases terminating fatally are greater among females than among males. The younger the child when attacked by whooping cough, the greater the cause for alarm for its recovery. Babies, therefore, should be safeguarded and kept away from persons known to have been exposed to whooping cough. The dangerous malady is spread through contact with the secretions of the nose and mouth, which may come from sneezing, the use of contaminated handkerchiefs, toys, cups, and in fact from any agencies which allow close contact.

There are three or more distinct stages noted in whooping cough. The symptoms of the first or catarrhal stage are similar to the ordinary cold, with an attendant cough. If the trouble is whooping cough, the cough grows worse instead of better as in an ordinary cold. The expulsion of mucous or vomiting commonly ends the attack of coughing.

Pneumonia and convulsions most frequently occur among children who are suffering from malnutrition. There is no communicable disease which exacts a higher toll among very young children than whooping cough.

Whooping cough is a highly communicable disease and the young and poorly nourished should be protected in every way from coming in contact with this infection.
