Rain Last Thursday Made May Total the Heaviest Since 1914

The News was too early in publishing the total rainfall for May in its issue last week for not more than two hours after the paper was off the press, a rain amounting to 1.20 inches started falling which brought the total for May to 8.85 inches, the heaviest rainfall at Crowell for May since 1914 when 10.43 inches fell. The News mentioned last week that the rainfall was the heaviest since 1914 when the total amounted to 8.87 inches according to records of the First State Bank.

The rainfall last Thursday was not so heavy over the rest of the county as it was in Crowell.

Good Start for June

Rain amounting to .30 inches fell here Sunday afternoon and was general over most of the county. Another rain started falling at about 1 a. m. Wednesday and before stopping, had amounted to .95 inches.

The rain Wednesday night amounted to .20 inches bringing the total for June to 1.45 inches. Over six inches of fast falling rains fell here last year in June, but it came in such a manner as not to give the maximum benefit from the moisture.

The last rains are reported to have been general over this section.

Bridge Out Again

Rains over this section have been heavy and again have caused Pecos River to rise to the extent of damaging the Orient Railroad bridge. This time eight bents were washed out Wednesday morning and Thursday afternoon the water was still rising. The bridge will be repaired just as soon as the water recedes as equipment for that purpose is already here.

The recent rains will be of considerable benefit to various crops. Cotton is growing rapidly and other row crops are showing improvement.

Paving to Start In Foard County In About 6 Weeks

McClung Construction Company Man Was Here Monday Arranging Preliminary Details

Ned Hoffman, treasurer of the McClung Construction Company of Ft. Worth, was in Crowell Tuesday to arrange preliminary details relative to paving the Lee Highway from Crowell to the Wilbarger County line.

The McClung Construction Company was recently awarded the contract for this work at Austin. Mr. Hoffman stated that it would likely be 5 to 6 weeks before paving would be started.

The contract for the paving of the Lee Highway from Vernon to connect with the Foard paving was also awarded to the same company and the paving in both counties will be completed at about the same time.

Mr. Hoffman stated the distance from rail facilities would necessitate long hauls and that the job would require more men and trucks than usual. Two separate crews of men will be used on the Wilbarger and Foard paving programs by this company and paving will likely begin at the county line and then work towards Vernon and Crowell. There are 15.83 miles to be paved in Foard County and 13.50 miles in Wilbarger County.

If more rains do not fall within the next few weeks, it will be necessary to apply water to the road by artificial means. While here Tuesday, Mr. Hoffman looked over the water situation for this purpose, truckage facilities and various other preliminary details that will be necessary to work out before paving can start. He was taken over the route by Byron Reese, local engineer.

Russell Morgan of the Trinity Portland Cement Association of Wichita Falls was also here with Mr. Hoffman.

NEW $25,000.00 BRICK HOTEL FOR CROWELL ANNOUNCED BY GRIFFITH

Construction to Begin Immediately on Two Story Structure

W. W. Griffith, owner and operator of the Commercial Hotel of this city, announced Wednesday that he had completed arrangements for the construction of a new two-story brick veneer hotel on the site of his present hotel, one block east of the square. He stated that the new structure would contain a total of thirty-six rooms with twenty-six guest rooms and that the total cost with furnishings would be around $25,000.00.

Poland and Housouer Gets Contract

Contract for the construction of the building has been awarded to Poland and Housouer, contractors of this city, who will start the construction of door and window frames and other preliminary work immediately. In about ten days the work of tearing down the old two-story frame structure, which has served as a hotel for Crowell since about 1908, will be completed and soon as that work is completed the work on the new structure will be started.

The hotel will be built in the shape of an L and will face 78 1/2 feet on the north and 50 feet on the west and will be 30 feet in width. Each room will have running hot water and will be equipped with gas heat. About one-half of the rooms will contain shower and tub baths.

A large dining room is provided which will cover the greater part of the west end of the L. It will be 16 by 43 feet in dimensions. At the south end of the hotel and adjoining the dining room, a spacious kitchen is arranged, and a special dining room will occupy a space adjoining the main dining room. The lobby will be 20 by 30 feet and will be next to the dining room with the main entrance to it from the north.

Complete in 70 Days

Mr. Griffith stated it would require about sixty working days to complete the building and that in about 70 days it should be open to the public.

He is especially anxious to have it completed by the time when the Lower Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs meets here on August 21st and 22nd and believes that it will be ready by then.

Seventy-four lodges will be represented at this meeting and the following counties will be represented here: Hall, Hardeman, Clay, Wilbarger, Wichita, Archer, Baylor, Knox, Foard, Cottle, Motley, and Collingsworth. Over 40 visitors are expected and this number will include such men as Barry Miller, lieutenant governor; Whit Davidson, former state senator and other well known men of the state.

The plans of the hotel have been arranged so that an addition can be easily made when necessary. Face brick will be used.

Will Give New Name

A new name will be given the hotel according to Mr. Griffith although it has not yet been decided upon.

The new hotel will serve one of Crowell's greatest needs and should prove of inestimable value to the town as a whole. Good hotel facilities have long been needed here and the step that Mr. Griffith has taken to provide these facilities is one of the most progressive moves for Crowell in many years.

Henry E. Gribble, 52, succumbed after a long illness Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the family residence in West Vernon. He had been seriously ill for the past seven weeks, since his return from the Mayo Hospital.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the local Baptist Church with Rev. J. E. Billington of Cleveland, Oklahoma, officiating, assisted by Rev. Woodie W. Smith, local pastor of the Baptist Church. Rev. Billington was pastor of the local church here when Mr. Gribble was living here and a member of the local church, The Vernon Lodge No. 333, I.O.O.F., of which the deceased was a member, had charge of the funeral.

Tremendous Crowd

One of the largest crowds to ever attend a funeral in Crowell was present at the Baptist Church which was filled to overflowing with many people standing on the outside. W. R. Womack, local undertaker, brought the body from Vernon, and his hearse was followed by around sixty automobiles from Vernon, Wilbarger County and the eastern part of Foard County to the Baptist Church.

Mr. Gribble left Crowell about five years ago and has lived in Vernon since that time having been employed by Napier Brothers Auto Company as a salesman for Ford automobiles.

He is survived by a widow and six children, all of whom live in Vernon with the exception of Henry Gribble, Jr., who lives on a farm south of Crowell. The other children are: James, Lewis, C. D., Mrs. Clyde Fox, and Mrs. Dawson Beach.

Two brothers, J. T. Gribble, of this city, and W. L. Gribble, Childress; three sisters, Mrs. L. M. Johnson, Tell, Mrs. E. M. Chastain, Grace, Okla.; and Mrs. J. N. Johnson of this city; and one cousin, Miss Thelma Gribble of Florence, Colorado, were all at his bedside when death came.

Mr. Gribble was one of the best known men in this section, having hundreds of friends all over Foard and Wilbarger Counties. His many friends and the high esteem in which he was held was reflected by the many floral offerings and great crowd present at the funeral.

Local Rotarians Tell Of Dallas Convention

The principal part of the Rotary luncheon at the Commercial Hotel Wednesday was taken up with reports of the convention of Rotary International at Dallas last week. Local men attending this convention were John Rasor, H. E. Ferguson, Tom Bell and M. S. Henry. Messrs. Ferguson, Henry and Rasor made reports of the convention which were very interesting. Allen Vannoy, Rotarian of McAllen, Texas, and a former resident of Crowell, also gave a short talk on the improvement of Crowell since he was here last.

President Henry gave the most complete account of the convention which he termed as truly the greatest meeting that he had ever attended. He discussed the way the convention was handled, the many different conferences and meetings, experiences with foreign delegates and many other interesting items. Rotary has now reached 52 nations and according to reports of foreign delegates is serving as the greatest influence for international peace, Mr. Henry stated.

Mr. Henry stated that close to ten thousand visiting Rotarians from all parts of the world registered at the convention and that of the entire group he did not see or hear of an intoxicated person. The pageant given before over 15,000 people in the Fair Park Stadium when the flags of 52 nations were placed in the Rotary wheel to the music of all the national anthems from the bands, was described as the most beautiful part of the convention.

The other speakers stated that the convention was just too great to describe and expressed regrets that all could not attend it.

John Williamson of Fort Worth was a visitor at the luncheon and told of the growth in Rotary spirit that he had noticed while traveling over several states.

Use of Fertilizer In Texas Is Gaining

College Station, June 6.—An increase of nearly 55,000 tons in fertilizer sales in Texas for the present crop year as compared with sales for the preceding year is shown in a report on fertilizer tag sales issued by Dr. G. S. Fraps who, as state chemist, has administration of the Texas fertilizer law.

Records of the state chemist show a total of 194,377 tons of fertilizer sold in Texas for the period beginning Sept. 1, 1928, and ending June 1, 1929. This compares with 139,477 tons for the nine months period ending June 1, 1928; with 79,213 tons for nine months period ending June 1, 1927, and with 123,712 tons for nine months period ending June 1, 1926.

More than half of the fertilizer used in Texas is used for cotton, Dr. Fraps pointed out, much of the remaining being used for fruits and vegetables.

While the use of fertilizer in Texas shows a steady upward trend, this state is far behind others of the United States in the amount used. One reason for this is in the fact that Texas soils are relatively new to farming in comparison with soils of some of the other states. Fertilizer used during the calendar year 1927 in some of these other states amounted to 1,171,499 tons in North Carolina, 726,000 tons in South Carolina, 713,000 tons in Georgia, 408,000 tons in Virginia. For that year 80,000 tons were used in Texas.

Is Happiest Woman In Wichita Falls Mrs. Jackson Says

Feels She Would Be Ungrateful Not To Tell Others of Orgatone

"I believe I'm the happiest woman in Wichita today, and it's all because of what Orgatone has done for me," said Mrs. Blanche Jackson, residing at 606 Travis St., Wichita Falls, Texas.

"For several years I suffered from a complication of troubles which finally developed into a general run-down nervous condition. I had awful pains in my side which I was told was caused from gall bladder disorder. I took all kinds of medicine and treatments but just continued to get worse all the time, and I hardly ever had a minute's rest. I was so nervous and restless I was upset a great deal of the time and it seemed impossible to get a good night's sleep.

"Orgatone was recommended so highly by people right here in Wichita Falls, by people who have used it I decided to give it a trial, and it is simply wonderful what this medicine did for me. I began to feel better after the first few doses, my nerves became calm and I could sleep better. As I continued taking the medicine all the pains in my sides and stomach disappeared, and my strength has been restored. My stomach seems to be in perfect condition and I'm like a different woman. I am recommending this wonderful medicine to all my friends and if everybody knew what a fine medicine Orgatone is there would be less suffering in this world."

MARGARET CLUB

Mrs. Curtis Bradford was hostess to the Margaret Home Demonstration Club Friday the 24, at her home with eight members present and one visitor. Mrs. Arthur Bell was leader for the evening. After a short business session we took up the value of good appearance and how to cultivate a good taste in dress. There were several good talks made on the two subjects.

Miss Freeman, our county agent, was with us and gave us a demonstration on testing and altering a pattern which was a great help to all. We hope every member of the club will be present at our next meeting. It will be the 2nd Friday in June and we will work on our house dresses and exchange ideas about them.—Reporter.

CROWELL, TEXAS

Crowell, Texas, June 7, 1929

REMEMBER JULY 16th

Every qualified voter of Texas should consider the two constitutional amendments that have been submitted to a vote of the people by the 41st Legislature at its regular session and then vote upon these amendments at a special election on Tuesday, July 16th.

The first amendment provides for a Supreme Court to be composed of nine members, instead of the present supreme court of three members, assisted by six commissioners, drawing substantially the pay of Supreme Court judges, but whose work must be reviewed and approved by the Supreme Court.

Proponents for the amendment state that it would not materially increase the cost of our Supreme Court, and that it would largely reduce the injustice resulting from the law's delay under the present system. The amendment would also provide that the Supreme Court shall be open throughout the year instead of for only nine months, as required by the present provision of the Constitution.

The second amendment provides that the governor of Texas shall receive a salary of ten thousand dollars per year. It seems that the adoption of this amendment is necessary in order to provide a living wage for the governor of Texas, and to make it practicable for a citizen, not possessed of great wealth, to serve as chief executive without ruinous sacrifice.

At present the governor of Texas is given a salary of $5,000 a year and is one of the most poorly paid governors in the United States. We believe that such a small salary for the chief executive of one of the nation's greatest states is a disgrace to the people of Texas and is really false economy. An efficient executive at the head of our government can save the state sums many times that of his salary and naturally a better salary is going to be an inducement for more capable men to seek the office.

QUANAH TRIBUNE-CHIEF

The first issue of the Quanah Tribune-Chief since the transfer of the paper to its new management reached our office Wednesday. It was a sixteen-page edition full of live news matter and liberally patronized by the business men of Quanah with large ads welcoming the new editor and publisher, Carl Gallagher, and expressing regret that Harry Koch, veteran editor, was severing his connection with the paper after spending 40 years boosting Quanah and building one of the best newspaper plants in West Texas.

Not only do the people of Quanah regret to lose Mr. Koch from the newspaper field but a pang of regret is felt by the newspaper fraternity throughout West Texas, but all join wholeheartedly in extending welcome to Mr. Gallagher. The hearty welcome and liberal advertising patronage given the new management by Quanah business men, together with the ability of Mr. Gallagher as a newspaper publisher, insures Quanah one of the best semi-weekly newspapers in the state.

KNOW TEXAS

Roasting-ears are being shipped from the Rio Grande in car lots. From some part of Texas roasting-ears will be shipped from now until fall, making it almost a 12-month roasting-ear season in Texas.

Nearly 3,000,000 acres of Texas land have been terraced in the interest of soil conservation and farm and ranch is getting under way a summer terracing campaign for stubble land.

Since January 1 over 32,000 carloads of fruits and vegetables have been shipped from South and Southwest Texas and the entire state is expected to ship 60,000 carloads before December 1. The average out-turn is about $1,000 a car, representing an income of $60,000,000 from this one source.

The Texas pecan crop in 1928 was of estimated value of $2,040,000 for the 450 car loads shipped. The crop is variable, according to weather and other conditions, and within the past ten years has ranged as low as 25 cars, valued at $200,000 (in 1922). The largest production in that period was in 1919 with 500 cars valued at $1,850,000.

Wilbarger Pioneer Died In Vernon Last Friday

C. F. Doan, 80, one of the first settlers of Wilbarger County and widely known among the pioneers of West Texas, died Friday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bertha A. Ross of Vernon. He had been ill since receiving a fall last Tuesday which injured his hip bone.

Funeral services were held at Vernon Sunday at the Methodist Church with over one thousand people present.

Mr. Doan moved his family to Wilbarger County in 1878 from Wilmington, Ohio, and established the Doans trading post on the old Western Trail near the Red River crossing where he remained until about two years ago. He has been with his daughter, Mrs. Ross, since that time but retained his farm and other property at Doans until the time of his death.

As a keeper of the Doan trading post at the Western Trail's crossing, Mr. Doan saw some of the largest herds of cattle ever driven from Texas to eastern markets pass along the trail. Indians once raided the post while Mr. Doan and his family spent several hours hiding in the hills near the river.

Mr. Doan had the distinction of being the first postmaster of Wilbarger County and was also the founder of the annual Doans picnic, the first of which was held in 1884 when six were present. The affair has been held each year since with attendance swelling to thousands. He has also been Justice of Peace at Doans, was a past noble grand of the Doans Odd Fellow Lodge and a past president of the Lower Panhandle Association of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. He was a member of the society of Friends, Quaker Church.

M. S. Henry & Co. Offers Canning Prizes

In promoting a live-at-home program in Foard County and recognizing the value of the canning movement, M. S. Henry & Company has announced that its store will offer first and second prizes to the Foard County women winning in a county-wide canning contest that is to close on August 15th.

The first prize for the best jar of fruit will be a waterless cooker and the second prize will be a 27 by 54 inch Axminster rug. The same prizes will be given for the first and second best jars of vegetables.

Rules of the contest specify that all entrants must live in Foard County, that all fruits and vegetables must be grown in Foard County and must be home canned, and that only wide mouth, one quart glass jars are to be used.

OKLAHOMA VISITORS

Harmon, and niece, Miss Helen Harmon, are residents of Shawnee, Oklahoma, while her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jennings, Rowena and Junior, reside at Wainwright, Oklahoma. The visitors motored through and were very favorably impressed with good roads and courteous treatment that Texas offered.

NOTICE

All Odd Fellows and visiting brothers are requested to meet at the hall at 2 p. m. Sunday for the purpose of attending and taking part in the Memorial services at the Baptist church.—A. L. Davis, Noble Grand.

Some of the Egyptian mummies show marks of tattooing.

Cowpeas Important In Enriching Light Soils

College Station—In many sections of Texas, particularly where lighter soils prevail, crop yields are very materially and profitably increased by growing cowpeas for turning under green, so hundreds of demonstrations are showing. In general farming sections this practice is usually regarded as too expensive of land, time and money if the land is exclusively occupied with peas during the summer months. In such regions they are often drilled in between the corn rows when the crop is knee high or planted in the third row in the two-row-and-skip-one plan, or sowed after oats or wheat as a catch crop. Livestock are often used to graze these fields after the corn or grain sorghum crop is gathered, with profit to both the stock and the land.

"The two-row-and-skip-one method with cowpeas in the wide row," explains E. A. Miller, agronomist in the Extension Service, "is being widely demonstrated in many parts of West Texas. Every third row is left blank when grain sorghums are drilled, and later in the season if moisture permits, cowpeas are planted down this open row. Demonstrations in Martin and other counties of the West testify to larger yields the year following this practice.

fy to larger yields the year following this practice.

"In East Texas, on the other hand, the velvet bean is most favored for inter-cropping with corn, although cowpeas and soy beans are also utilized for this purpose. Franklin County farmers are among those using velvet beans very successfully in this way, turning under the entire corn stubble and bean crop in the fall.

"The growing of cowpeas exclusively on the land for the sole purpose of turning under is used most extensively in South Texas where intensive farming prevails in certain sections. This system was almost universally established in Dimmit county a few years ago following county agent demonstrations which showed that old onion land planted to cowpeas during the summer produced onion yields the next year. In Cameron county the practice is coming rapidly to the front, with 1800 acres thus planted last year. W. E. Macomb harvested 93 sacks of Irish potatoes from old cowpea land this spring, and only 78 sacks on old corn land. He says it paid, for he made $29.88 per acre more on the enriched land."

Will Lay Orient Rails In Less Than Month

Austin, June 6.—The Orient Railroad will begin laying rails from Alpine south to Presidio on the Rio Grande River in less than a month. Senator Benjamin F. Berkeley of Alpine announced here Friday. A few days ago this line was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to construct the extension, which will be 90 miles long. The Orient now is owned by the Santa Fe system. "President Storey of the Santa Fe informed me that construction of the line would begin immediately after a permit had been received," Berkeley said. "We have a little work to do in getting the right-of-way in a place or two, but are expecting no difficulty. To complete the line probably will require one year.

"The only town on the stretch between Alpine and Presidio is the mining place of Shafter and the country will offer a good chance for settlement, and it is rapidly developing into a goat and sheep country. As to mining we have only scratched the surface.

"There is no place in Texas that compares with Davis Mountains, which lies within a few miles of Alpine, and with improved highways and new rails tourists will flock there from all over the country. The Highway Commission is to soon improve the road through Lympia Canyon and efforts are under way to obtain a state park of 20,000 acres in this mountain vicinity."

STANDARD SCHOOL TERMS

As straws show how the winds blow, so inquiries from country people coming into the Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, show the trend of their thoughts on matters concerned with the education of their children.

During the past there has been an unusual number of inquiries concerned with the minimum and average length of school terms in the different states. The inquirers are seeking arguments to present to patrons or school officers in the hope of securing longer school terms in their state or district.

Fortunately, more and more states are setting up through state laws a standard minimum term of 8 or 9 months. There are, however, still some states in which there is no such law and in which there are many poor, isolated districts which maintain school 6 or 7 months only. Indeed, reports from a few states show some districts in which schools are open even fewer than 6 months in the year.

In considering this matter of the length of school term it is important to remember that the ordinary school organization and expectancy of school achievement is planned with the idea that a standard school term is 9 months in length. Children can not accomplish in 6, 7 or 8 months time the seventh or eighth year of school. At the age of 12 or 13 years when they should be entering high school they become discouraged and drop out of school altogether. Good teachers, good schools, and good buildings are important factors in education, but they can not fully compensate for precious opportunities lost through short terms.

PLANTING A TREE

"Who plants a tree, loves posterity." That seems to be the fact. The trees we see about us today, were not planted by us, but by the unselfish ones who lived and wrought yesterday.

These men and women did not live to enjoy the shade of the trees they planted but looked ahead to the days to come when some one else would perhaps, sheltered from the rays of the noonday sun, be thankful for some one's thoughtfulness, and plant another tree that would bless some other pilgrim over life's dusty highway that might want to rest awhile from the stress of the pilgrimage.

One of the compensations that come with years of maturity is that one is not so much interested in demanding immediate results, but from the long look that comes at the top of the hill content comes with placing a bench here and there along the way where some one may rest, or planting a tree that may be matured by the time the "other fellow" finds need of rest and recuperation.

Human nature, after all, is a lovable thing, and in its developing are some of the beauties that are akin to divinity.

LEAVING AN IMPRESSION

One often wonders how Crowell impresses the motorist who passes through here, and has only a chance for a few glances about him as he drives through the streets.

Will he say, "What a burg! No chance for me to do any business in this place!" Or will he say, "Well, this look like a live business town. Ought to be a good place to live, too!"

It ought to be the ambition of every citizen to contribute all within his or her power to make the first impression a stranger receives a favorable one.

The first view of any town is generally in the vicinity of the railroad station, although the traveler nowadays may approach from almost any direction, with the increase in automobile transportation.

Therefore, it behooves us not to slight a single section. Every resident should have enough pride in home and community to keep it making the best appearance possible every day in the year.

Beautiful lawns, attractive shrubbery and shade trees, well-kept houses, good streets, ornamental street lights, business houses in good repair and with up-to-date show windows—all have a part in leaving a good impression with the stranger, so that he will not soon forget the place.

"Trail of '98" Will Be Shown at Rialto 3 Days Next Week

The motion picture, "The Trail of '98," described as the year's picture sensation will be shown at the Rialto Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture deals with the amazing epic of the Klondike gold rush and is claimed to be mightier than "The Big Parade" or "Ben Hur." This claim is met by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the producers of all these pictures.

Fifteen thousand people were used in cast of this story of romance and adventure. It is said that the gigantic snowslide in this picture is positively the most colossal scene ever filmed. Such scenes and the "Chilkoot Pass," the mountain over which thousands of gold seekers trudged to reach the Klondike, "The White Horse Rapids," the most perilous part of the trail in the great gold rush; and the burning of Dawson City, are shown in the picture.

Dolores Del Rio, Ralph Forbes and Herry Carey are the featured players of this great epic of the gold seekers.

Miss Gladys Bailey of Thalia became the bride of G. C. Jobe of Farmers Valley Sunday evening in Vernon. The marriage took place at the parsonage of the First Methodist Church with Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor officiating. Walter Tole and Miss Opal Lee Greenway of Rayland accompanied the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey of Thalia. Mr. and Mrs. Jobe plan to make their home at Farmers Valley where Mr. Jobe is engaged in farming.

OUTDOOR MANNERS

From the time they are able to comprehend anything, children are taught that they must have "good manners." They are threatened and warned and cajoled into behaving when "company" comes and to act like they weren't little savages when they go to call on friends.

"Good manners" have always been regarded as one of our best known "indoor sports." But this a changing world and now we find that "manners" are classified. There is the "indoor" variety and the "outdoor" variety. And some of the grown-ups are lacking in the "outdoor" quality.

The American Automobile association estimates that six million people will heed the call of the road this summer. If one-sixth of them are careless, an immense amount of damage will be done. Beauty spots will be defiled, probably destroyed and the way made rough for tourists who have good "outdoor" manners.

The thoughtless camper who forgets to put out his fire and leaves behind paper plates, tin cans and the remains of his lunch is the horrible example of "bad manners," and a type that must be swatted in order to keep tourists as a class in good standing.

Nothing is more disheartening than to find some picturesque spot among the trees left by automobile travelers and picnickers littered with refuse.

The rights of property owners in the country must be respected as religiously as they are in town and city. This children can be taught. Some of their elders may be too hard crusted to admit of teaching.

But the coming generation, at least, ought to grow up with the idea that the abuse of outdoor hospitality of parks and secluded spots in the country is as much a breach of good manners as to mistreat a home where one has been entertained.

THE STRAIGHT PATH

Young men budding into manhood should remember that it is just as easy to go straight as it is to be crooked. And there is everything to gain by going straight and everything to lose by being crooked.

Parental influence has its effect, but a youth approaching the crossroads of manhood makes his own choice as he enters the great main stream of life. He has reached the age of self determination and is resentful of interference with his desires.

At this age it is well for him to remember that the man who is successful and honored today is the one who chose the straight path and denied himself the fictitious indulgences of youth, while the one who is without honor and without fortune followed the gilded will-o'-the-wisp to the destruction of his manhood and of his hopes.

There is no middle of the road course.

A knowledge of the law of health does not come by instinct, says a leading authority. It must be taught. Every child should be taught to desire cleanliness instead of accepting it under protest, for cleanliness leads to health, and health enriches the power of mind and paves the road to success.

Last week marked the passing of one of the few remaining old time characters of the Southwest, Sheriff Jack Allen was killed in a car wreck at Wink. Jack Allen, formerly postmaster at Alpine and later sheriff, established the post office at Texon. Jack lived here at the time he moved to Crane to take one of the toughest jobs in the southwest. He was one of those tough and ready, hard riding and fighting champions of those in the past and forever ready to defend his thought was the right even at the risk of his life. He was formerly a Texas Ranger and professional officer. The toughest character of the Southwest held Jack in esteem through fear and respect of his ability with a gun. He was a World War veteran and commander of the American Legion post at Alpine at which place he was killed Sunday. Such fearless, unflinching old timers were the builders of our new great Texas and the southwest mourns his death.

Ex-Sheriff Feels 20 Years Younger

"I am 63 years old. Take a man my age, down and out physically, and let him find some medicine that puts him on his feet like Sargon did me, and he is going to tell about it," said Henry C. King, 2112 West 11th St., Oklahoma City, an "old timer" who for 50 years as cattleman and deputy sheriff has maintained a reputation as a "straight shooter."

"When I saw myself begin to get old and puny a few years ago, I began to try nearly every medicine I ever heard of to get me straight but I couldn't get anything to do me any lasting good.

"Then I tried Sargon, and it soon had me feeling twenty years younger! Today, two months since I quit taking Sargon I feel just as good. A friend met me the other day and said 'Why Henry, somebody told me you had been sick. He must have been mistaken. I never saw you looking better.'

"We old timers learned to help one another so I want people to know what Sargon did for me. I couldn't digest anything I ate, my skin was yellow and spotted, and I was so weak that when I lay down I didn't care whether I got up or not. I never had a natural action of my bowels and had to get up all during the night on account of my kidneys.

"Sargon made me gain fourteen pounds, I eat more and digest it with no trouble; my kidneys have stopped bothering me and my bowels are regular as clockwork; and mind you it has been two months since I quit taking it."

Sargon may be obtained in Crowell at Reeder Drug Co. (Adv.)

A NATIONAL DISGRACE

One person out of every twenty-four in the United States in 1929 could not read or write, according to the Federal census of that year. Nine years passed, and another census will soon be taken. What will its findings be? Will it again reveal to us 5,000,000 illiterates within our borders? Will it again place us tenth among the great nations of the world?

Adult illiteracy can be wiped out in the months that remain in 1929, according to the statement of the National Illiteracy Crusade, which is actively engaged at its Washington headquarters in stimulating all responsible officials and volunteer organizations throughout the country to make every effort to reduce the illiteracy totals.

The crusade points with particular emphasis to the most pathetic of all illiterates—the 1,000,000 mothers who can neither read nor write. While children are young, the mother's ignorance is a dreadful handicap in training them, and when the children have grown up and left home her loneliness is pitiable. She is separated from them by more than mere miles. She cannot write to them, she cannot read the letters they send. She cannot turn to her Bible for consolation.

Surely these million mothers, many of them native born Americans, are worthy of the education which is with the power of literate adults to give. The National Illiteracy Crusade has demonstrated that adults can be taught to read and write in from four to six weeks. It has placed suitable text books at the disposal of the volunteer teachers. It has developed an easy method of instruction.

If the patriotic citizens of this country will cooperate by devoting the necessary time to the instruction of the illiterates in their community there is no reason why the Federal census of 1930 should not show a reduction in illiteracy about which the entire nation may be proud. And although illiteracy is an end to be desired, it is bound to bring with it many other benefits—improved standards of living, more intelligent care of children and better understanding of American ideals.

LITTLE DAY DREAMS

Authorities on health matters and children's hygiene are not inclined to pass over lightly and dismiss the subject of children's day dreams. Most parents have marveled at the vivid imaginations of their children. A physician tells of an experimenter with a four-year-old youngster who insisted that her grandmother was in heaven in order to lessen the sting of the family sorrow. There are thousands of such strange cases every day. This physician believes that fabrications of children in the shape of day dreams should be carefully checked up by parents. "It is neither necessary nor desirable to make the child admit the lack of reality in his dream," he says, but he thinks it a good plan to let the child know that the parents do not believe that the child is recounting actual conditions. It will be helpful to the child if it is impressed upon him that the day-dreaming story which amuses you, but which at the same time the child is made to know are not accepted as the truth.

Healthy exercise for the child's mind is desirable and the physician calls attention to the helpfulness furnished by the great variety of toys, many of which are light, strong and entertaining to the child, and increase the spirit of play.

The physician says that the danger of the day dreams of children is that they too often create self pity and drive the youngster further and further away from reality.

County Agents Told Value of Printed Word

Washington, D. C.—Advertising does pay! The Department of Agriculture has just discovered that long known fact and is passing the information along to county farm and home demonstration agents and agricultural teachers all over the country.

Country weeklies and city dailies which have been pleading with farm workers to send in stories and pictures of achievements in better farming and livestock raising now have powerful assistants in the Department of Agriculture itself which has found that one hour of a farm or home demonstration agent's time spent in preparing stories for the press has more effect than three hours spent in any other way.

Study Made of Methods

Publicity is one of the most effective methods used by agricultural extension agencies in "selling" new ideas on farming and homemaking, according to M. C. Wilson of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Wilson recently completed a study of the relative effectiveness of the numerous methods employed by the extension forces of the department and state agricultural colleges in introducing new and better practices in farming and home economics.

Publicity brings improvement. Methods classified as publicity, he found, were the cause of the adoption of 30 per cent of the 27,032 improved practices introduced on 8,738 farms in 12 states. The remainder of these practices were adopted as a result of personal service methods, object lesson methods and indirect influence, these three groups being about equally influential.

In the publicity group, which includes such mediums as news stories, bulletins, circular letters, posters, exhibits, general meetings and radio, the printed or written word proved strikingly effective. News stories, bulletins and circular letters caused the adoption of 18.32 per cent of all practices involved in the study, the news story alone being credited with 10 per cent of the changes. General meetings were credited with causing 13.8 per cent of the changes; radio, 1.53 per cent; exhibits, .61 per cent, and posters, .04 per cent.

20 Millions Spent Yearly

"More than $20,000,000 is being expended yearly for extension work," Wilson says, "and it is important that we know not only the relative effectiveness of the different methods, but also the relative cost in time and money."

The study showed that a unit of time spent by an extension worker in preparing news stories and interviewing local editors resulted in the adoption of three times as many practices as the same unit of time spent on farm and home visits, and 15 times as many practices as the same time devoted to extension exhibits.

When all costs were considered, the news story was found to be the most economical means of influencing farmers and farm women to adopt the desired changes.

CARELESS DRIVING

More than forty percent of the accidents involving motor vehicles in three states during a period of eight months were due to reckless or careless driving.

This fact is gleaned from statistics compiled from newspaper accounts of accidents by the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture.

It is a severe indictment against drivers of automobiles. The increase in the number of accidents due to thoughtless operation of automobiles means but one thing—that more stringent requirements for drivers of automobiles will have to be enforced.

When it becomes necessary to restrict the operation of motor vehicles and burdensome and expensive examinations are required, the careful driver will suffer equally as much as the reckless and careless.

Thoughtlessness that jeopardizes the lives of others is inexcusable. Why persons drive automobiles without giving consideration to the rights of others is past understanding.

Their selfishness in refusing to recognize the rules of the road and use good judgement to prevent accidents deserves the severest condemnation.

They may risk their own necks if they wish—that is their business, but it is not their right to increase the hazard of motoring for the careful driver.

Public sentiment will have to outlaw the reckless driver because the toll he takes is entirely too large.

Disease is apparently unknown among beavers in a wild state, but in zoos these animals have been known to die of tuberculosis.

A Statement to the Public:

Concerning Hunting, Fishing and Camping on the Waggoner Ranch

The Waggoner ranch, lying in Wichita, Wilbarger, Archer, Knox, Foard and Baylor Counties is primarily a cattle range. There are a number of streams running through it, and is used for grazing purposes.

Located on the ranch is Lake Kemp, one of the largest inland bodies of water in the entire country. The lake itself covers something like 23,000 acres of land.

The owners of the Waggoner ranch have no desire to interfere with legitimate hunting and fishing in and around Lake Kemp. In fact, they have set aside 10,000 acres lying around Lake Kemp and fenced it off from the remainder of the ranch in order that here around this wonderful body of water people may camp for hunting and fishing outings, without in any way interfering with the main business of the Waggoner Estate, namely cattle raising. They have built roads throughout the park and are still building. They employ competent men to look after the park and visitors.

This tract of 10,000 acres surrounding the lake is called Cara Blanca Park. A fee of $1.00 per car load is charged for admission into the Park, not for the purpose of making money but in order to meet necessary expenses and to keep the recreational privileges around the lake on a satisfactory basis for the thousands of people who annually visit Lake Kemp.

The owners of the Waggoner Ranch feel that this arrangement is fair to the people. Ten thousand acres ought to be enough to set aside for this purpose, it seems, and it is their hope that the people will respect the rest of the ranch and not interfere with its operation for the primary business of raising cattle. Some people, however, seem to be of the opinion that it is all right to hunt, fish and pitch camp anywhere on the Waggoner Ranch. Roads have been cut into all sections of the Ranch, campers have destroyed grass and wood and these innocent depredations have caused considerable expense in handling cattle, keeping fences repaired and through loss of grass.

The owners of the Waggoner Ranch seek the co-operation of the people in handling this matter by confining their hunting and fishing to the area set aside for these purposes, leaving the rest of the ranch for a cattle range. It is not the wish of the Waggoners to interfere with the legitimate pleasures of hunting and fishing within the proper areas. In return the owners of the Waggoner Ranch ask the people to be considerate and not interfere with the ranching business carried on by the Waggoners on the remainder of the ranch property.

There is plenty of room for everybody. The Cara Blanca Park is set aside for hunting and fishing and camping parties. The rest of the Ranch is set aside for the cattle business. There is no reason why these interests should clash. The Waggoner Estate has bought and paid for the lands under fence. Taxes on these lands are paid in all six of the counties and the Estate should be allowed to use its property for ranching without interference. Of course, the law protects these rights, but it is not the wish of the owners of Waggoner Ranch to resort to the law and ask prosecution of trespassers. We ought to get along as neighbors and friends and we ask simply that hunters and fishermen have their recreation in the area set aside for this purpose and let us raise cattle on the rest of the ranch. That ought to be fair and we feel sure our friends and neighbors and the visitors who come to the Lake will cooperate with us in this reasonable arrangement. It hurts no one and leaves ample facilities for recreation and plenty of room for cattle raising.

"To Be Better Looking" Is Club Girls Slogan

College Station—A peck of garden stuff and a quart of milk is the recipe for becoming beautiful given to Texas 4-H club girls by Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist in the Extension Service. Asked what this has to do with clothing work, Mrs. Barnes replied, "You must have a good looking clothes rack if you want clothes to look well. The slogan in club work this year is 'to be better looking' but we can't make clothes 'do their stuff' for the girls with bad complexion and poor posture. "Complexion and posture come with health, and that comes from right diet, hence the recipe. To be an all-around good looking girl she must develop physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. It may sound funny but there is the foundation for good dress, and that is one reason why home demonstration agents are getting the girls to grow garden plots; to properly can and cook the products; and to learn the essentials of a healthful diet." More than 15,000 club girls are making part or all of their own clothes this year in Texas, and hundreds of them are doing the family sewing besides. The appropriateness of dress to the wearer is emphasized in this work and girls are learning that simplicity of design and choice of color and line have much to do with good looking clothes. The cost of the clothes made by club girls is only nominal, for home agents everywhere stress the point that taste and workmanship count more than money. Last year the average cost of school dresses made by girl contestants in the 4-H Appropriate Dress Contest was only $1.90 and the complete school costumes only $3.48. The more elaborate party gowns averaged $2.85 and the entire costume $5.31. This year nearly 2000 girls are entered in the contest in about 100 counties. Local winners will bring their costumes to A. and M. college this summer to enter the state-wide contest directed by Mrs. Barnes.

CHAIN-FARMS NEXT?

The Chain store has threatened to supplant the local merchant in the cities. Will the chainfarm be the next step in the march of progress under the present system of commercial and industrial development in America? Will the individually owned farm be forced into the same type of competition that the individually owned store meets in the chain system? This is a matter of serious thought for farmers as experiments along this line are already being conducted. The Aetna Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., recently foreclosed loan mortgages on fourteen Monroe (Indiana) county farms. One farm was a tract of more than 1,000 acres. Instead of going into the real estate market and selling the farms in an effort to recover the money loaned on the property, the insurance company is going into active agricultural pursuits. An office has been established in that city by the company. A car of tractors and other farm equipment has been shipped there to be used in actually working the farms. A car load of fencing and a large amount of paint for buildings has also been received there. Soil experts are being sent by the insurance company to Monroe county to determine the kind of crops best suited to the section of Indiana. A foreman will be appointed for every three farms to direct the work of planting and harvesting by the latest and most approved methods. Loans on these farms were made several years ago. Some during the war at what was thought to be 40 per cent of their true value. Land prices fell. Real estate values fluctuated and many found it more convenient to lose their farms than to pay the heavy mortgages and interest that accrued. The Aetna company is said to have taken over more than 600 farms in Indiana on which it had loaned money. If the company goes into the field of actually farming these tracts of lands, using the aid of science and big business to run them on a strictly commercial basis, it will force the individual farmer out to where he is meeting competition in his own backyard just as the store keeper is finding himself face to face with the chain owned and operated commercial enterprises. A heavy rain, once caused the Black Warrior river at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, to rise sixty-five feet in a night. Aluminum is coming into more extensive use in automobiles, to replace the heavier metals. Neanderthal men, who lived 50,000 years ago, had bigger skulls than modern men.

NOT ALWAYS THE CROSSING

The common mistake made by most people in dealing with automobile accidents at railroad grade crossings is that they consider the crossing instead of the driver. A railroad crossing is a danger only when and to the extent that it is made by careless driving. The automobile is what we must think about, and not the crossing. We must change practices instead of grades. Ninety per cent of all auto accidents occur on the highways. Not over 10 per cent occur at grade crossings. Grade changes will not prevent accidents at intersections and elsewhere on the highways, but improved or safe practices in driving will prevent them everywhere. Grade changes would heavily burden the taxpayers and tie up a large amount of money for unproductive purposes, while yet leaving 90 per cent of the hazard of automobile accidents uncared for. Let us require safe driving, which costs nothing, yet will remove the hazard not only at grade crossings but on the highways also. Limburg cheese originated in Belgium.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PICNIC

Our Sunday School picnic on Tuesday afternoon, though not as well attended as we expected, was a very interesting and lively affair. There were about forty-five in attendance and all had a fine time.

Fashionette's NOTES OF FASHION and Store News

Now that golf is the uppermost thought in the minds of the majority—a few suggestions as to what is the proper costume for this sport is timely. A well dressed player believes that suitability and comfort are the first requisites, and without them no golfer can be chic.

Waste silks and men's shirting fabrics, often with a stripe or tailored design, make excellent golf dresses. The sleeveless tennis dress is adapted for golf by many women who wish to sunburn. Hats are simple with lower crowns and wider brims.

A new golf cap for men is of straw—making an exceedingly light and cool head piece.

The low lines in milady's hats are the fishermen's brims and the long sided hat. They come in both straw and felt.

Vogue gives us some notes on colors for this season.

"Black is the smart woman's color and is still the smart dress color. Beige and beige and brown mixtures are now definitely classics. Blues are both bright and deep—yellow has lived up to the predictions about it. Black and white is a good combination as ever—navy blue and beige is better than navy blue and white."

Catcher answers correctly he is out, if the catcher misses also the batter gets his base on balls, etc. It proves a very interesting as well as instructive game.—C. V. Allen.

FAMILY REUNION

On last Sunday, a family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hunt of near Margaret where four of Mr. Hunt's children with their families were present. This is the first reunion held in the family in fifteen years and there were still three children who were unable to come at this time.

WEST RAYLAND CLUB

The Home Demonstration Club of West Rayland met on May 28, at the home of Mrs. A. E. Dunson with 9 members and four visitors present.

Miss Freeman, home demonstration agent, gave an interesting lesson on the alteration of patterns.

Refreshments of sandwiches and lemonade were served. The next meeting will be held on June 11th, at the home of Miss Bertha Dunson.—Reporter.

SWASTIKA CLUB

Mrs. Alton Bell was the host to the Swastika Club at its last regular meeting. High score in bridge was won by Mrs. Gordon Bell with the second highest score going to Mrs. Lawrence Kimsey.

Delicious refreshments were served to the members and the following guests: Mesdames Byron Reese, D. R. Magee, George Self, George Williamson and Misses Elsie Schindler and Allison Self. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. W. Roland, Jr., of Waco, Mrs. H. W. Cotner of Hollis, Oklahoma, and Miss Elizabeth Marshall of Gilman, Texas.

OUR GOLDEN AGE

In their getting disturbed over the changing ideas in the world about them, people often fail to notice that in some respects the material world about them has changed since they were children.

To one who has not followed closely the various steps in which our education system has been changed within the last quarter of a century both in what is being taught and in the manner of teaching, it is disconcerting to find that much has been changed which in his day he considered the essence of school training.

This tendency to paint the past as the golden era, to picture it as perfection made perfect, is active of course in all fields. Whether the critic has in mind the church, or politics, or the schools, he can and does with equal facility in all three fields paint the past in rosy colors, and generally has little to say that is commendatory of the present.

To pick out the present shortcomings of any institution like the church or the school, and to imply that these institutions had no shortcomings at all in an earlier generation is show ignorance which may be excusable but is none the less ignorant. Even when we taught the three R's in the golden era of perfection it is doubtful whether education was then any whit more efficient than it is today.

A glance about him when switches on the electric light snaps on a switch that turns on radio, or when he sees the telephone or when he drops thirty floors in an elevator, rides in an airplane, drives his automobile through a traffic jam, the very sight of which has terrified his parents a few years ago—these things ought to convince him that other things besides the three R's aren't what they used to be.

A little thought from the life which we lead as compared with the way in which our ancestors lived, might make us all a little more sympathetic toward institutions which are not finding it easy to keep up with those rapid changes.

"THE HOME OF SPLINTERS"

R. J. ROBERTS, Local Manager

Dear Friends:

This is a funny world, folks will complain about the sandstorms and dry weather and then let it come a little shower and they complain about getting their feet muddy.

LUXURIES BEFORE HOME OWNERSHIP?

You can't sleep in a RADIO or cook breakfast in a COUPE, keep warm from the fire in DIAMONDS—YOUR HOME SHOULD COME FIRST!

It would indeed be fine if every person in these United States could have a radio, an automobile and all the jewelry desired. But one would begrudge any individual the pleasure of those luxuries. But don't you think a home should come FIRST and those things afterwards? Get out from under the monotonous burden of rent, it will weigh heavily on you in your declining years. There will never be a better time to start making preparations for having a home of your own.

When your lawn mower needs sharpening or adjusting bring to us for we have an expert mechanic that will fix it for you at an early date.

There was a young fellow, named Pat Who hadn't the brains of a cat; When he squaked on his sister Because a boy kissed 'er, She dusted his pants with a slat.

Yours truly,
