Great Interest Shown in Exhibits of Home Demonstration Clubs Here Wednesday; Ten Communities Represented

Substantial proof that an enormous amount of home foods can be preserved and canned, even in the driest of years, was shown at the exhibit of home raised and home canned foods that was held in Crowell Wednesday with every home demonstration club of Foard County participating.

Ten communities were represented with exhibits in the McLaughlin building on the east side of the square. Foard City won first place; West Rayland, second, and Gambleville, third. A great crowd was present throughout the day, in spite of threatening weather, and all who viewed the hundreds of different varieties of home foods on exhibit left with a greater appreciation of the work being done among the rural women by the A. & M. Extension Service, through its home demonstration agents. Judges for the event were Miss Elsie Phillips of Quanah, Hardeman County home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Homer Ferguson, also of Quanah.

Two hundred and seven different varieties of home canned preserves and fresh products were exhibited in the winning booth, with a total of over 250 entirely different products in all of the booths. The average for each display was 148 varieties, garden, poultry, pantry, dairy and field products were included in the exhibits.

The home demonstration clubs participating in the event and the number of products exhibited by each follow: Foard City, 207; West Rayland, 155; Gambleville, 149; West Side, 132; Thalia, 131; Vivian, 128; Wimodausis, 121; Margaret, 193; Two-in-One, 105, and Ayersville, 133.

The exhibits were judged on the following basis: variety—35 points; general appearance—35; and quality—30, total 100.

M. S. Henry & Company gave a $2 by 12 Congoleum rug as first prize. One hundred No. 2 cans were given the winner of second place by Lanier Hardware Company, and two dollars in cash, from an anonymous giver, were presented to the third place winner.

In announcing the winner Miss Phillips complimented the exhibits very highly and stated that it was exceptionally difficult to pick the winners as the competition was very close.

In every way the exhibit of food products proved much more successful than anyone had expected, both from the standpoint of the quality of the displays and the attendance.

Particularly outstanding about the exhibit last week in the News, the following was said: "Exhibit officials are hoping that around one hundred different varieties of foods will be on exhibit at this time." It is interesting to note that this "hope" was more than doubled when the event actually took place.

Particularly outstanding about the exhibit were the facts that Foard County has just gone through one of the driest years in its history and SonCon P&G—that the foods exhibited by the club women were the "left-overs" since a great part of the home products have been consumed during the winter.

All of the displays were unusually attractive and reflected much work on the part of the clubs. Five booths lined the walls on each side of the building. The 4-H club colors, white and green, were carried out in most of the decorations. The name of each club was displayed at the top of its respective booth in a number of clever manners.

Club Women Speak at Rotary Luncheon Wed.

Mrs. John Ray of Rayland and Mrs. T. W. Cooper of Vivian, prominent Foard County club women, were the principal speakers at the luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Ray was the first speaker and told of the growth and the work of the Foard County Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Ray was president of the County Federation in 1929 and is the present chairman of the Foard County home demonstration club council, an organization made up of the officers of the home demonstration clubs of the county, which acts as an advisory and suggestive board for the home demonstration agent. Mrs. Ray was also the chairman of this organization when it was first started in 1929.

Mrs. Cooper, who was recently elected president of the County Federation, spoke on home demonstration club work in the county. She told of the many benefits that she had derived from the club work and also discussed the food exhibit that was being held in Crowell on that day.

Short talks were made by Miss Elsie Phillips, home demonstration agent of Quanah; Miss Dosca Hale, local demonstrator; T. M. Hane of Thalia; John Myers and Jesse Owens of Vernon. Mack Boswell was in charge of the program.

CALVES WILL BE GIVEN 4-H CLUB BOYS AS PRIZES

As an incentive to encourage boys 4-H Club work and especially feed production and beef feeding, J. K. Johnson of Vernon, who has a ranch in Foard County, and R. L. Moore, manager of Waggoner Estate, have each offered a white face Hereford calf as a prize to be given to boys competing in grain sorghum production, with the understanding that the boys who are winners put the calves on feed and finish them for market.

The competition is open to any club boy in Foard County or any boy who may enroll as a club member and will grow not less than five acres of either milo maize, legari or kaffir. The calves will be given in the late summer or early fall, when the crops are completed.

Foard County should finish out a number of good calves each, according to Fred Rennels, county agent. The club boys of the county can play an important part in the development of livestock feeding, especially on some of the smaller farms and ranches.

Other ranchmen may offer calves as prizes in the grain sorghum contest.

'East Lynne' Sponsored by Legion Auxiliary

The popular story, "East Lynne," will be shown as a talking picture at the Rialto Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The picture is being sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and the proceeds from it will go into the Legion's status fund. When enough money is secured, soldier and sailor statues will be erected on the concrete pedestals where the German gunner on the court house lawn is now located. These statues are very expensive and much effort will be required to secure sufficient funds.

LARGE EGGS

A great amount of interest is being shown in this contest and as was the case with the food show, it is expected to be a very successful event.

YOUTHS BLAZE BURRO TRAILS

El Paso, May 6 (UP).—A highway of adventure will be mapped out by three Los Angeles youths as they travel over a 11,000-mile pack trip through Latin-America.

Heading the youthful adventurers on their 18-months trip is William J. Robinson, 24 years old. He is accompanied by his brother, E. H. Robinson, 21, and J. R. Kane, 26. The two brothers formerly lived in New York and Kane formerly resided in Cleveland, Ohio, but in recent months they have made their homes in Los Angeles.

The youths obtained most of their equipment here for the long trek before starting out for Mexico City. At Salina, Cruz and Tapachula additional equipment, such as the burros, will be obtained.

Then will begin the pack trip proper about the first of May. From Tapachula they travel toward the west coast with their burros, following the coast to the Panama Canal.

The youths will be trail blazers much as the early pioneers that made their way over this continent years ago. Adventure is their main objective. The leader of the expedition plans to write a travel book on Latin-America.

"I want to live with the natives and get a true picture of their lives," Robinson said. "There are many books on Latin America but they deal only with the romance of the land and not the realities. I want to picture true conditions."

The most dangerous part of their journey, they believe, will be thru the land of the Sanlas Indians, just south of the Canal Zone.

When they reach the South American continent, they will journey down the west coast to La Paz, then cross the Andes into Argentina, go to Buenos Aires, then to Montevideo, and back up to Rio De Janeiro where they expect to take a steamer to New York.

WHAT IS OVERPRODUCTION?

A great many interpretations are being placed on the word "overproduction" as applied to the agricultural situation. Many claim that nothing has been overproduced and that there is a crying need in some parts of the world for every bushel of wheat, corn, or other grain; for every pound of wool and cotton and for every pound of meat. No one can take issue with that statement. The world has never had too much of the necessities of life, but that does not change the situation for producers, there is an overproduction of wheat when the elevators are full and buyers scarce. It does not make any difference if there are millions of hungry people.

There may be millions in rags, but if there are not enough people to buy and consume all the and wool produced, then there is overproduction. However, there is any satisfaction in calling der-consumption, let it go. The effects are the same. Ranch.

League Meet Will Draw Large Crowd

Austin, May 6, (UP).—Nearly 2000 high school students from all over Texas are looking forward to a trip to Austin this week-end, and the chance it gives them to try their skills against the best in the state.

They are coming to the 21st annual Interscholastic league state meet, May 7, 8 and 9. At least 250 high schools will be represented.

Seven hundred and fifty entrants are husky lads whose speed and muscular ability on track and field qualified them, in county and district contests, for state finals. Another group, both boys and girls, are semi-final winners in tennis matches.

About a thousand are experts in debating, declamation, spelling, type-writing, music memory and other literary contests.

Roy Bedichek, general director, and Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the league, spent last week preparing the 60-page program for the state meet, and in finding places in Austin homes for visiting students and their convoy of teachers.

Entry lists for athletic events closed April 28. Henderson was still receiving a few belated entries in his mail Friday.

Some of the tennis semi-final matches were still to be played during the week-end. As the time for the state meet neared, Henderson reminded that a new arrangement will be followed in tennis final play. Boys will report Thursday afternoon but girls will not begin their play until Friday morning.

MATRON SAYS OLD TYPE WOMEN PRISONER GONE

El Paso, May 6 (UP).—Women prisoners in the county jail today aren't the "refined ladies" that used to be incarcerated, according to Mrs. Margaret DeCoursey, matron in the El Paso county jail for more than 14 years.

"About 10 years ago the women prisoners were more refined," she said. "Then the prisoners were women of 20 or 30 years of age. There were not nearly so many insanity cases.

"But now we get young girls that start out in life when they are nothing more than babies. They range from 15 to 25 years of age.

"Disrupted families and unwise parents are the cause of it all, I believe. I don't think cigarettes and booze or automobiles have much to do with it. At the bottom of every case there is always a story of separated or divorced parents, no home life and a lack of proper training."

Victoria Is Site For Latest Fight Between the Bugs

Austin, Texas, May 7.—The battle of the bugs, stratagem of the state department of agriculture in its never-ending fight to keep down plant pests, will have Victoria as its latest site.

At the request of a floral company there, several colonies of Vedalia beetles, enemy of the cotton cushion scale, will be sent to Victoria from the department's insectory in the Rio Grande Valley. Before many days passed these colonies will have multiplied to several thousand beetles, living almost exclusively on the cushiony cotton scale.

Setting a bug to catch a bug is a favorite practice when ordinary means to kill out a pest fail, according to J. M. Del Curto, state entomologist.

The Vedalia beetle, imported to Texas several years ago when the cottony cushion scale appeared in the citrus groves, is cannibalistic as well as prodigious. When they eat up all the scale in sight, the bugs frequently turn on each other, the stronger eating the weaker. For this reason, and for the further reason that ants attack the vedalia beetle, the bugs are artificially propagated.

The cottony cushion scale sinks its beak into the tissues of a shrub or tree and sucks away the sap, spreading over the plant until it is covered and completely hidden. Entomologists traced the scale to Australia, where it was not regarded as a serious pest, because its natural enemy, the Vedalia beetle or ladybird, outnumbered the scale. The scale had been imported, but the ladybird was left at home, hence it was necessary to bring it to the new scene of the scale's activities.

Texas has eleven counties with areas of more than 2,000 square miles—Brewster, Crockett, Culberson, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, Val Verde and Webb.

OUR WORLD-WIDE TIES

A banker in a small Ohio town sent a telegram the other day to the United States Department of Commerce in Washington asking this question:

"Do the slaughter houses of Antiochia make a profit?"

Within twenty-four hours the banker had on his desk a complete report of the earnings of the State of Antiochia in the Republic of Columbia, South America.

"The Department had been prepared for months to answer just that question," Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, told a luncheon gathering in Washington the other day.

Through its commercial agents in Columbia it knew that an issue of Columbian government bonds was about to be offered in the American money market, and that the security behind these bonds was all of the government owned public utilities in the State of Antiochia, which include, besides electric light, gas and water works, the public abattoirs.

The bond issue had been sold in Wall Street, and the Wall Street bankers had apportioned the bonds out through their correspondent banks, and the Ohio banker wanted to satisfy himself of the value of the security back of the bonds before offering them to his local investors.

That is an example not only of the kind of information which the United States Government, through the Department of Commerce, supplies to business and industry, but it is also an example of the international interdependence of all business. We cannot put any kind of a wall, tariff or other, around the United States. There is hardly a sale over the counter in a country store that hasn't some bearing upon the commerce and industry of some remote corner of the world.

Every time you buy a chocolate nutbar or a chocolate soda, you are contributing to the prosperity of Ecuador and other nations where the cacao tree grows. And this makes it possible for the people of Ecuador to buy our automobiles and radio sets and sewing machines.

So interdependent is commerce, in fact, that it is now always possible to tell American business from the business of some other country. The Prince of Wales recently attended an exhibit of British products in Argentina, in which many of the articles were made in British factories which are owned by American capital, and whose products are of American invention and design.

This country is manufacturing artificial silk for the whole world, in factories most of which are owned by Germans. The product goes on the records as American, but the profits go to Germany and come back to us in the form of payments on the war debt.

It is a very common thing to hear people say they are not interested in international affairs. It is certain, however, that those who will succeed most conspicuously and rapidly in the world of business and industry are those who do take the trouble to keep themselves informed about the relations of each corner of the world to all the other corners.

TARIFF BETWEEN STATES

The United States Constitution expressly prohibits State from levying import duties in the following language:

"No tax or duties shall be laid on articles exported from any State."

Notwithstanding this Constitutional guarantee of free and unrestricted commerce between States, North Dakota and other States in the grain and corn belt are finding means to prevent the sale of vegetable oil shortening, which comes in competition with hog lard, by taxing the article when sold. It is one way to violate a provision of the Constitution without suffering any penalty the law may impose.

According to producers of cotton and cottonseed products, the imposition of this tax invites retaliatory measures.

The boycott is considered un-American, although it has been frequently resorted to by individuals and organizations. The boycott of products produced in one State or in one section of our common country by another State or section is something new. The situation is filled with dangerous possibilities. Germany broke all rules of warfare when she introduced poison gas as a weapon of offense. The Allies, while condemning gas as unnecessary, cruel and contrary to the spirit of international law, adopted the same weapon themselves. On this basis, the South, producer of cottonseed products, might justify itself by taxing products from the offending States and boycotting other products not subject to tax. Farm and Ranch is not an advocate of the kind of warfare. That kind of competition is cowardly. Taxing the products of one section of the country by another adds to the difficulties and complications producers must overcome in the distribution of their products.

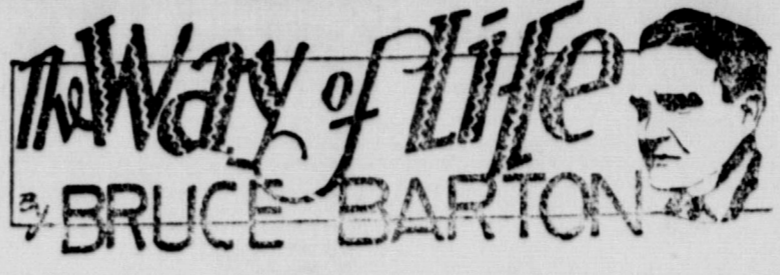

VISIONING NEW RAILROAD SERVICE

For many years prior to the World War railroads were subject to mass attacks by politicians and demagogues. For several years after the war and up to 1929, due to economies and exceptional management, their earnings increased, their securities became popular and they obtained needed money for improvements by sale of stocks.

The present depression, coupled with new methods of competition, have caused some people to think that the railroads are now ready to go the way of the horse-drawn cab and the streetcar.

The thoughtful person can see that this pessimistic picture is overdrawn. It is true that the railroads have new conditions with which to deal but figures show that about 80 per cent of their traffic is still not competitive and that they are the backbone of the nation's transportation system.

Leading railroad executives are exerting their energies to bring about a new era of railroading through co-ordination of transport—rail, highway, water and air. Such systems are already visioned and progressive roads are definitely moving

THE VACANT LOT

Ten years ago, in the midst of the depression of 1920-21, I made a talk before a thousand men, representing one of the country's basic industries.

For weeks they had heard nothing but bad news from their salesmen. Their only mail was cancellations. It was a tough assignment for a speaker.

I showed these hopeless gentlemen a photograph of a vacant lot, a big corner, a couple of hundred feet square, in the very center of New York.

I said to them: "Doesn't it strike you as strange that here, in the heart of the greatest city, where land is worth thousands of dollars a front foot, there should be this vacant lot?"

They were only mildly interested, but I took a deep breath and ploughed ahead.

"I'll tell you why that lot is vacant," I continued. "It was part of a farm. Just a hundred years ago the farmer died; his will gave definite instructions to his heirs. They were at liberty to do as they wished with his other property, but this particular corner of his favorite pasture was to remain forever unencumbered with buildings, as a resting place for his bones and the bones of his wife."

"Stop and think what that means," I said to my downhearted audience. "Only a hundred years ago... only a little more than a life time, this island was farms. Moreover, the people who lived on it assumed that it always would be farms. Now look at it, a city of six million people."

"Yet you men sit here in the midst of it and assume that because business has slowed up a little America is never going to buy any more shoes, any more houses, any more automobiles. Don't be like the owner of that farm. The country which was pastures only three generations ago is going to step ahead. This is the time to make plans for a bigger future."

They looked at me as much as to say: "Here is a bright young man trying his best to cheer us up. But, of course, he doesn't know what he is talking about."

The other day, by a curious coincidence, I was invited to address the same convention, in the same hotel. I made the same speech.

"You thought I was talking through my hat ten years ago," I said to them. "But just look at the last ten years. Every man in this room has done more business than he would have dreamed possible in 1920."

I told them about the vacant lot again. They looked impressed, and clapped their hands. But I suspect that most of them still think that I was talking through my hat.

in that direction. Federal and state co-operation is necessary in a final adjustment.

With an investment of 25 billion dollars in the railroads of the country, government and industry cannot sit idly by without taking a hand in this vital problem.

ONE THOUSAND POUNDS UNDER AVERAGE

The latest figure on average production for cows in Texas is approximately 3,400 to 3,500 pounds per annum, or 1,000 pounds under the average for the United States. In average milk production Texas ranks about forty-second among the States. We also call attention that our average butter fat production is 156 pounds, too little to pay for commercial feedstuffs at present prices.

When it is considered that Texas has a large number of heavy producing cows, both as to volume of milk and butter fat content, we know that from our low average, some exceptionally sorry cows are being milked. There are two ways of improving our average, therefore our profits. First, we must get rid of unprofitable animals. Many of these cows can be picked from the herd without doing more than looking at them. Others will require the test to determine whether or not they are costing more than they produce.

Another way of increasing production is to feed properly. Milk and butter fat can be produced cheaply where good pasture is available. Good pasture will make possible the cutting of the grain and cottonseed meal ration in half. The silo, in winter and during the hot months, can be made to take the place, in a measure, of good pasture.

Milk cows consume a large amount of roughage; therefore profitable production hinges on the amount of feedstuffs produced by the owner of the cows, the kind of feedstuffs and the manner in which they are fed.

If the Southwest is to succeed in dairying, owners of cows must make a profit, or at least be able to sell their feedstuffs to their cows at a profitable price. To do this they must be fed the right kinds of feeds in quantities suitable to their size and capacity.

Progress is being made in Southwestern States. In Texas the average production has increased 1,000 pounds per animal the past ten years. Maybe, in another ten years, we shall equal if not exceed the National average. Then, with good management, owners of cows will find them profitable investments.—Farm and Ranch.

REMEDY IN HANDS OF PEOPLE

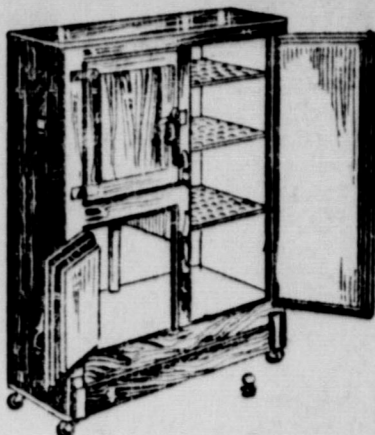

The average retail price of gasoline has decreased more than 48 per cent in ten years, while the gasoline tax rate has increased 2650 per cent, adding 13 to 52 per cent to the price of fuel. These two facts are the highlights of a survey recently made in fifty representative cities of the nation. On March 1, 1931, the average retail price of gas, exclusive of tax, was 14.46 cents per gallon as compared with 28.25 cents in 1921. The average tax was 3.86 cents per gallon as compared with .0014 in 1921 when only 16 states taxed gasoline.

The gas tax is justified in behalf of good roads, but legislators are busy running it to death. Last year the states collected $522,110,961 from the tax, a new high record in spite of the fact that less gas was used in 1930 than in 1921. This represents an income of about 400,000 a day and takes no amount of taxes collected by counties and municipalities.

Gasoline producers, through increased efficiency, have been saving motorists money that the states have been busy taking away. "Prices of gasoline" today are "high gas taxes." The cure is in the hands of the voting public.

OHIO DOCTOR VISITS IN C. D. STEPHENSON HOME

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Detrick and two sons, Gerald and Max, and Miss Elizabeth Gillespie, all of Quincy Ohio, spent the week-end visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stephenson. Dr. Detrick was the family physician of the Stephenson family years ago before they moved to Texas. The party was returning home from an automobile tour of many states. They visited all places of interest in South Texas and had a short trip into Old Mexico. The doctor was greatly impressed with the wonderful possibilities of Texas, this being his first trip to this part of the country.

INTERESTING PUBLICATION

The Foard County News is in receipt of an interesting little news- paper, "The Royal Palms," that is published by the Wailuku Elementary School of Hawaii. Mrs. Taze Holtberg, sister of Mrs. J. R. Bever- ly of this city, is the principal of this school.

The paper is put out each month by the school children themselves. The publication is exceptionally well edited and reflects a great amount of credit on the school. One of the news items of interest in it follows: "Mrs. Holtberg, principal of the school, is leaving Maui on the 10th of June to attend the National Educa- tion Association, which will be at Los Angeles, Cal. She was elected delegate of the Maui teachers' asso- ciation. She expects to spend the rest of her vacation studying at summer school in Los Angeles."

Local Men Working For Southern Prison Co. in Bisbee, Ariz.

Mel Housouer and John Diggs left Crowell last week for Tombstone, Arizona, where they will assist the Southern Prison Co. in tearing out the steel of a jail there to be placed in a new jail at Bisbee, Arizona.

Guy Housouer, brother of Mel, received a letter from him this week telling some interesting things about Tombstone as follows:

"We got here O. K. and went to work Friday. I am sure tired and short winded. The elevation here is nearly 5,000 feet and at Bisbee it is nearly 7,000. This town has been dead for 30 years. There is block after block of empty business houses, most of them have been empty 25 years. They say there used to be over 15,000 people here and now there are not 800. I will send you some pictures of Bisbee when we move over there. It is built in a narrow canyon not over 300 yards wide and is over two miles long. There are about 8,000 people there. The houses are built like stair steps, one above the other, until the cliffs get too steep."

Crowell Loses Close Game to Chillicothe

Chillicothe came from behind two- run lead to defeat Crowell 4 to 3 in a ten-inning baseball game here Sunday. The score was 2 to 0 until the seventh inning when Chillicothe took advantage of a number of Crowell errors and scored three runs.

In the ninth inning Button Henry, pinch hitter, singled and advanced Graves to third. Hysinger, another pinch hitter, sacrificed to score Graves and tied the score at 3 and 3. In the tenth inning L. Morrison got on base and F. Morrison's hard grounder slipped through a Crowell infielder's legs to permit the winning run.

Thalia Wins 11-Inning Contest from Truscott

Thalia won its third consecutive victory of this season by defeating Truscott 3 to 2 in an 11-inning up-hill baseball game at Thalia Sunday. The relief hurling and hitting of Roy Mints featured the game.

Going into the ninth inning trail- ing by one run, Mints stepped to the plate with Lee Mints on second and smacked a triple to deadlock the game. Thalia won out in the elev- enth when with two men out and Lee Mints on third, Mason lined a single to score the Thalia outfielder.

LIKE THE DRUG HABIT

The Portland Oregonian points out that when a high public official in the discharge of his duties, sets an example of economy and retrenchment, it will soon be reflected in lesser subdivisions of government and by lesser public officials.

Too many states governments, like private citizens, for some years past bought recklessly on the installment plan—loading the payments onto the future. For two years we have been "paying up." Legislative bodies, however, are still mortgaging the future on the theory that borrowing and spending will benefit the present.

There are cases where such public mortgaging is necessary. But mort- gaging just to spend, in order to keep money in circulation, is something like the drug habit—the victim en- joys the sensation until the effect has worn off and then his condition is worse than before.

DANGERS OF PROSPERITY

By auto and plane we are swiftly whirled,
And the distance is shortened around the world.
The modern means of travel today
Makes nations akin although far away.
Since science, art, all lines of trade

The tendency is to ride the wave
Of this prosperous age and not to save.

Christian Science

Sunday, 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Subject for Sunday, May 10, "Adam and Fallen Man."

Sunday School at 9:30. Wednesday evening service at 8:00. The public is cordially invited.

Christian Church

Next Sunday is Mother's Day and it is hoped that everyone in whole community will honor mother by attending church. We plan a full day of fine services with special singing, a Mother's Day sermon, special music by Mrs. Sam Crews' band, special decorations etc., and as our extra special feature we are to take the pictures of the mothers, the whole Sunday school and perhaps some of the classes. Don't fail to be with us.

The Foard City meeting is progressing nicely. Attendance and interest are fine and great results are expected. Attend some of these services and hear the fine messages these gospel team speakers are bringing.

Don't forget that Pentecost Sunday, May 24th, is to be decision day. Let's talk to our unsaved friends about accepting Christ.

State Convention, May 12 to 15 at Wichita Falls is a chance to attend one of our great conventions that does not often come our way. It is hoped that many of our brethren will attend.

Dr. Paul Henry Packard is to preach for us during our 1931 revival beginning the first Sunday in August and that we may realize the most out of that meeting, we should begin studying, praying and working now. Just as 1931 is to be our greatest year in the history of the church, we must make the 1931 revival the greatest revival in the history of the church. We can if we will. One hundred conversions would be an appropriate goal. Let's set such a goal and reach it.

C. V. ALLEN, Pastor.

Presbyterian Church

We are glad to see interest growing and attendance increasing at the morning services of the church, and also to see good interest manifested at night services and the singing on Tuesday night. All are invited.

SERMONETTE

NOBODY CAN RUIN YOUR LIFE BUT YOURSELF (By Arthur B. Rhinow)

The sign board on the church lawn carried an arresting legend.

"Nobody can ruin your life but yourself," it said.

I am sure many a passerby shook his head in disagreement. We often hear the accusation, "He ruined my life," and oftener still, "She ruined my life." And we cannot deny the truth in those sad reflections. There are men and women who make life hard for others, but we need not surrender to their gibes and jabs. Something within us remains our own, a citadel of life, until we weakly yield it to an enemy or untoward circumstances. And on that something is based our true happiness.

The career of a young journalist with a New York newspaper was very promising when he was called back to his old home town in the Middle West because his wife believed she ought to return to take care of her old and feeble parents. He tried to establish himself in the old town, but with indifferent success. One day, he pointed to the grave of his father-in-law and said, "He ruined my life."

Many of his friends agreed with him. "But was he justified in making the doleful accusation?" No. He had given himself up to circumstances. With determination he could have made his very disappointments serve his purpose. He would probably not have been as prosperous as in the East, but he would have gained immensely in strength of character.

Every disappointment is an opportunity, not the least of which is an additional urge to avail ourselves of the help of God.

International Sunday School Lesson for May 10

THE PARABLE OF THE POUNDS

Luke 19:11-26

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

A good story with a real point is effective in its teachings. Jesus often made use of a parable to drive home the truth. A parable can be defined as "An earthly story with a heavenly meaning." This time it is about a man of means who went away to receive an additional inheritance. Before leaving he handed over a pound, about $17 in value, to each of ten servants, and told them to make use of the money until he returned. It was mutually understood that there would be an accounting at that time. A pound then represented pay for 100 days of unskilled labor, and was an amount to command real attention.

We may idle time away or be busy meanwhile, but at last the hour comes when we must face the auditor. When the nobleman returned from the far country he asked for an accounting from the ten who had been trusted for their use of the remaining funds. All do not have the same ability and equal results ought not be expected. A bit of understanding and sympathy would help the plodder who may be equally faithful as the one who can produce the larger result. The first man presents ten pounds as the result of his trading and is heartily commended for his ability. The next man declares that his stewardship resulted in a gain of five additional pounds, and he too is praised.

The last man to meet the auditor comes with excuses only as he returns the original pound without any increment. Fear is the reason that he gives for the failure to even attempt to accomplish anything. His lack of energy shows that he is unworthy of any advancement and he is further distressed by utter condemnation.

WOMEN: watch your BOWELS

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish, and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all drug stores keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

FORD BRAKES ARE UNUSUALLY EFFECTIVE

Reliability and safety due to simple design and careful construction

ONE OF the first things you will notice when you drive the Ford is the quick, effective action of its four-wheel brakes.

They are unusually safe and reliable because they are mechanical, internal expanding, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed. This prevents mud, water, sand, etc., from getting between the band and drum and interfering with brake action.

Other outstanding features of the Ford are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, torque-tube drive, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, Rustless Steel, reliability, economy, and long life.

Musings of The Owl

A few of the dignified group of seniors made the remark that the Owl tried to hand them a package in the last issue. Thanks. Now just to be friendly we are going to dedicate this week's column to the seniors.

We understand that it is difficult for the staff to gather news at present as everything is getting older.

Mitchell Allee says that in order to get in training for next year's football team he will engage in a tree sitting contest for the summer months.

As we walk down the street the people we meet: A former teacher of Crowell, a part of Post's Crimson Tide, a slight wave with a gay ripple.

A few more days and the seniors will have to choose other fields of endeavor, some will go to college, some to work, and even, it seems, some may choose matrimony.

Sometimes a diploma means that one has spent four years in successful study and sometimes it means that one has had four years of successful football.

We wager that some of the boys who make the trip to Austin will try to bring back the state capitol as a souvenir.

It will probably be well that they have a chance of bringing that back.

The fellow who insists that he doesn't believe this Santa Claus gag has probably never been in a senior play.

A fellow made the statement the other day that he didn't believe all that the Owl said. Neither do we.

It takes inspiration to write this column, if you think the column is poor, then give us more inspiration. Our girl friend says that star gazing will keep one's thoughts on a higher plane. Who cares about the stars in the spring time?

Ta Hoot, Ta Hoot, Ta Hoo,

THE OWL.

T. A. is having a bakery sale Saturday at M Store No. 2 and will appreciate it very much if the people will attend and buy what they can of cakes, pies, chickens and candy.

Food Show Statements

"In my estimation about two of the biggest events in the history of Foard County have taken place here in the past two weeks," stated T. N. Bell Wednesday in commenting on the 40th anniversary celebration and the food exhibit. "With the present prospects we should soon harvest a million and a half bushels of wheat and Foard County will again take its place on the front row," he said.

"It just proves that one person doesn't know it all," said G. W. Scales of the Thalia community, at the food show Wednesday. "We have made a wonderful canning record at our farm this year and like everyone else here, we have secured a world of new ideas as a result of looking over these exhibits."

"I am thoroughly convinced that the work of the home demonstration agent and county agent will do more toward making farmers and farm women independent than any other thing," was the statement made by M. S. Henry at the food show Wednesday. Mr. Henry states that he has carefully watched this work and the wonderful results that have been received by those following the programs advocated by the extension agents.

"If Hoover could see all these food products, he would start a campaign to feed the world," was a statement heard at the food exhibit Wednesday.

THE GOLD AND SILVER PROBLEM

In the opinion of many experts sound world economic conditions depend largely on restoring a fair balance between the value of gold and
