This Week In Washington

(Autocaster Service)

Washington, D. C., February 13th. With less than three weeks left before the present "Lame Duck" Congress comes to an end on March 4th, the outlook for the passage of any important legislation intended to relieve the economic depression becomes more and more remote. It is now thought likely that the program of balancing the budget, revising the Volstead Act submitting a resolution for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, the Glass banking bill, the strengthening of tariff protection against nations operating on depreciated currency, the modification of the bankruptcy laws, the domestic allotment farm relief bill, the proposals for direct relief for the unemployed, and all so-called inflation measurers, will be passed over to the new Congress.

This seems to make a special session of the new Congress, immediately after the Presidential inauguration, absolutely necessary. President-elect Roosevelt had urged several of these measurers upon the Democratic members of the present Congress, saying that if they would pass satisfactory laws balancing the budget, providing aid for farmers and revising the Volstead Act he would not call a special session. But apparently that cannot now be avoided.

The Roosevelt Program
Out of the conferences between Mr. Roosevelt and party leaders in Congress just before he started on his fishing trip have come some rather definite forecasts of the legislative policy which the new President will advocate in his inaugural address. Of course, Mr. Roosevelt may propose something entirely different, but those closest to him believe that he will recommend higher income and inheritance taxes, balancing the budget by reducing Federal expenditures, legislation to restore the purchasing power of farmers, to increase the return from agricultural production, to scale down the principal and interest of farm mortgages and extend cheaper credit for new farm operations.

Mr. Roosevelt will also probably recommend negotiations with other countries for tariff revision and the removal of foreign exchange obstruction to our export trade. It is regarded as definite that he will advocate the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the immediate legalization of beer with a view of making it possible by July 1st to levy a tax on beer which is estimated to yield $150,000,000 a year of revenue.

There seems also to be little doubt that he will recommend vast projects of reforestation and conservation of flood waters, to provide employment decentralize industry, readjust the use of land and redistribute the population.

Whatever Mr. Roosevelt proposes will, at least for a year or so, be put into effect as fast as the new Congress can act. That is always the case when a new party comes into power with control of both houses of Congress. So long as there are any Federal jobs left undistributed, Senators and Representatives are eager to do the President's bidding. After there is no more patronage to be handed out, they often lose their enthusiasm for the Presidential program.

Shoals and Pensions
Mr. Roosevelt's statement, after his visit to Muscle Shoals, that he would advocate an extensive plan of development for the entire Tennessee Valley which, he said, would give employment to 200,000 men, has started a great revival of interest in that football of politics, the Wilson Dam and the Government Nitrate Fixation Plant at Muscle Shoals.

Just how far Congress will go in the direction of putting the Government directly into the electric power business as a commercial venture remains to be seen. A bitter fight is expected to be waged over this proposal.

running up to as high as $750,000,000.

Bonus and Taxation
It will not be long after the next Congress meets before the demand for the immediate payment of the bonus to which every man who wore a uniform during the war will eventually be entitled, will be put forward vigorously. This is a demand upon which Mr. Roosevelt has not as yet specifically expressed himself. It is not regarded as likely, however, in view of his declarations for economy and the reduction of the Government's expenses, that he will favor that program. It will, however, furnish another opportunity for acrimonious debate in Congress. Mr. Roosevelt is understood to favor greatly increased tax rates on large incomes, but to be opposed to forms of taxation, like the sales tax, which would distribute the tax burden proportionately among all of the people.

Washington gossip is perhaps more interested in the reconciliation between the two wings of the Roosevelt families than in such apparently unimportant matters as how to get the nation and its people out of debt. Kermit Roosevelt's presence as one of the guests with his fifth cousin, the President-elect, on Vincent Astor's yacht, is regarded as a public gesture on the part of both branches of the Roosevelt family that the breach between them has been healed. Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt is credited with an important part in this reconciliation. She is more closely related to the Theodore Roosevelt family than is her husband, and she and her first cousin Alice, now Mrs. Longworth, have always been warm friends. Mrs. Longworth is reported to have been greatly pleased at the letter she received from her cousin, Franklin, in response to her note of congratulation on his election, and it is regarded as likely that she will be a frequent White House guest and lend the aid of her intimate knowledge of the ins and outs of national politics to her newly inaugurated relatives.

George Washington

The one heroic figure in our national hall of fame, whose memory transcends all partisanship and sectionalism, is that of George Washington. It will be many years before any other great American soldier or statesman becomes such a figure of national honor. Indeed, we doubt whether, even after the lapse of ages, our nation will ever have produced another character commanding such universal respect and esteem.

Yet Washington in his lifetime was the target for abuse and vilification such as few Presidents since his day have had to bear. A British traveler and author, writing in 1795, told how many men refused to drink to the President's health at the celebration of his birthday. When Washington retired to private life at the end of his second term as President, one of the foremost of the newspapers then in existence declared that this was a time for public rejoicing, "for the man who is the source of all the misfortunes of our country is this day reduced to a level with his fellow citizens and is no longer possessed of a power to multiply evils upon the United States...if ever a nation was deceived by a man the American nation has been deceived by Washington."

Very few men in high place escape such calumny. There is something in human nature which resents the idea that one man is superior to others. But it did not take the American people long to realize that in George Washington they had had a leader who was probably the only man who could have successfully led the revolt against British domination and establish our nation on an independent basis so sound that the foundations laid by him have never been seriously shaken.

The wisdom of Washington's warnings and admonitions to the young Republic of which he was the first President become more and more clearly apparent as time goes on. Particularly at this time we are impressed with his warning to the young nation to avoid entangling alliances with Europe. That was not intended, of course, as an admonition to detach America from the rest of the world; it was rather an admonition that we should maintain friendly relations with all nations and not be allied with some in opposition to others. We think this an opportune time to remind our political leaders and the people of America again of Washington's warning against foreign entanglements.

Independence Day Program Suggested

The Texas Centennial Committee urges all Texas schools, luncheon clubs, women's clubs, patriotic and other organizations to give appropriate Texas Independence Day programs on March 2, especially in view of the approaching Centennial year of 1936.

While every organization should adopt its program to its own ideas and to the time and place of its meeting, as well as to the character of its audience, an outline something like the following, or as much thereof as may be desired, is suggested:

1. Song—"America."
2. Invocation.
3. Song—"Texas, My Texas."
4. Address or Essay—
(a) Texas, 1836-1936.
(b) The Day We Celebrate.
(c) Austin in History.
(d) Houston, Man of Destiny.
(e) Why Commemorate Deeds of Heroism?
5. Pioneers in Costume, Charads, Tableaux, Drills, etc.
6. Texas Poems by Texas Poets.
7. Recreations of the Pioneers—Their Music, Dances and Plays.
8. Address—Texas Looks Forward.
9. Song—"The Eyes of Texas."

National Cattle Show Comes To Texas

After having been held for seventeen consecutive years at the breed headquarters at Des Moines, Iowa, the annual national show of Polled Hereford cattle will be held this year for the first time at Fort Worth, Texas, March 11th to 19th in connection with the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

This national livestock event comes to Texas at the insistent invitation of Texas breeders of Polled Herefords who number over 700. These men for several years have been urging the officers of the American Polled Hereford Breeders Association, whose home office is at Des Moines, Iowa, to bring the big yearly show and sale to Fort Worth, thus giving to many who could not get to Iowa in mid-winter, an opportunity to exhibit their cattle and to see the best specimens from other herds in all parts of the country.

For several recent years there has been a sale and a sectional show of these naturally hornless purebred Herefords held in connection with the Stock Show at Fort Worth, but never heretofore has the official national exhibition been held at any other point than Des Moines, Texas breeders are pleased that this first show to be held away from breed headquarters should be held in Texas.

The Polled Hereford breed has been making rapid growth in this state for the past several years, until now Texas ranks fourth in number of herds and second in number of members of the national breed association. Nearly 75 Texas breeders are active members of the American Polled Hereford Breeders Association.

An auction sale of about 35 carefully selected specimens of the breed will be held on the Show Grounds at Fort Worth, Thursday, March 16th in connection with the show. The sale cattle are mostly from prominent Texas herds with a few head consigned from northern herds. Texas breeders who have consigned cattle to the show and sale include: Burleson & Johns, Whitney; J. E. Epperson, Llano; Wm. Y. Fowler, Jr., Llano; Halbert & Hoggett, Mertzon; R. C. Harvey Farms, Wichita Falls; P. S. Kendrick, Albany; Joe LaRee, Kaufman; Geo. Trenfield, Follett; and Hugh White, Keller. It is likely that a few more herds will make entries between now and the time of the show.

"SHARE THOSE JOBS" CHEAPER THAN CHARITY

A total of 2,700,000,000 marks ($640,000,000 at current exchange) is to be mobilized by Germany during 1933 to provide jobs for as many as possible of the nation's 5,600,000 unemployed. The leader of the movement is to be given wide powers in order to free the program from bureaucratic red tape. A great part of the money is to be spent on major public works.

The United States government has also thrown its resources into the fight to reduce some excellent results. But it is against unemployment and has probable that Germany will discover what we have—that government relief projects can be of but temporary benefit. The solution for aggravated unemployment lies to a much greater extent in such a movement as the present "share the work" drive. Here is an endeavor that strikes toward the root of the matter—turn one job into two or more.

To "share the work" costs nothing and "providing jobs is always cheaper than charity," not to mention the social profits accruing therefrom. Its influence on purchasing power is tremendous, aside from what it does to prevent and overcome distress and poverty. It is a recognition of the fact that all must cooperate to defeat depression, and must not lose sight of the general welfare which always precedes individual welfare. The fact that the movement is rapidly growing, in large business and small, puts America at the forefront of the nations in solving the unemployment problems of today.

It is reported that some one stole some harness and saddles from Lonnie Childress' farm on Crooked Creek, Monday night.

Obituary

Death has again visited our Church and taken from us our Sister, Mrs. J. C. Jones. Miss Eleanor Hood was born in Mississippi Jan. 17, 1854; and died at Admiral, Texas Jan. 22, 1933. She was married to Mr. J. C. Jones Nov. 10, 1870. To this union were born nine children. Two children and her husband have preceded her in death. Five boys and two girls are left to mourn her going.

Mrs. Jones was converted when a young girl; she joined the Baptist Church in Mississippi in 1874. She, with her husband and family moved to Callahan county in 1898. Mrs. Jones united with the Admiral Church in 1900; she was a devoted and faithful member until her death. Sister Jones was a good neighbor, a good wife and mother and a true Christian character. She had been in bad health for a number of years, but was always cheerful and bore her affliction well, and we feel that not only our Church, but the entire community will miss her.

We tender our sympathy to the bereaved children, grand-children and friends, and point them to the Savior that she loved and served so well.

Committee of Admiral Church.
Dearest Mother, thou hast left us, And our loss we deeply feel. But it is God that had bereft us, He can all our sorrows heal. Yet again we hope to meet thee, When the day of life is fled. When in Heaven in joy to greet thee, Where no farewell tear is shed. Her Children.

EULA LOCALS
"Patsie"

Well, how is The Star force? We are froze up out this way. My, we have had a touch of real winter. At this writing we can't tell how much damage has been done to the small grain; a plenty I guess.

We farmers have had a set-back, only one day that we could work last week. I think we have plenty of time to make more than we can get a good price for.

Seems like the farmer has the sympathy of Congress, but sympathy "ain't worth a D—" if they don't help us get a price for what we sell. Heres hoping things will work around and help us all for I know we all need it. What we farmers need right now, is to have some weather so we can go to work and make a good crop. Time may bring a good price and then we can pay our debts, and live at home then we can look a man in the face and feel good.

F. L. Smith and wife, R. P. Stephenson and wife, spent last Sunday, a week ago with Mr. and Mrs. Rod Kelton at their beautiful ranch home. We went over to the oil field which was a wonderful sight; but those white-faced cattle took my eye. Mr. Kelton and Mr. Hickman have some fine cattle on their ranches.

Mr. E. O. Battles made a business trip to Sherman, Texas last week. L. M. Farmer made a business trip to Spur one day last week. W. E. Ferguson was glad to say is improving.

Lee Coffman of Abilene, was a business visitor at Eula this week. Sure glad to hear that Mayor Schwartz will soon be on his feet again. Baird needs a man like Herman Schwartz, for he is a man that puts his whole heart in the mayor's office.

Well when spring time comes again we will come again. You know when we have a spell of weather like we have just had, we cant think of much to write.
