TRADES DAY IN CROWELL MONDAY

Final Details Being Completed for District P-T Meet Here April 11-12

Delegates From Over 130 P. T. A. Units Expected

With delegates now being appointed by the 135 P. T. A. units in the 13th District of the Texas Congress, the P. T. A. units are perfecting plans for their convenience and will be held in Crowell during the two-day annual conference of the district on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 11 and 12.

Present indications are that there will be over 250 delegates and visitors in attendance here from the following counties: Archer, Baylor, Clay, Foard, Hardeman, Haskell, Jack, Knox, King, Mitchell, Wilbarger, Wise and Young.

This will be one of the largest and most outstanding conventions that Crowell has ever entertained and numbers from all over the county are expected to do their part in making this year's annual conference the most successful in the history of the 13th district.

The local committee on homes reports that it has met a hearty response from Crowell people in opening their homes for one night to the delegates. This committee has not yet completed its work but feels sure at sufficient rooms will be available.

"The co-operation that all local citizens and organizations have shown in helping with the many details of this conference has exceeded our highest expectations," stated R. L. Kincaid, district president, and we feel assured that Crowell will gain hundreds of friends through a section of Texas as a result of contact with the representative men who will be our guests during this conference.

A very interesting program for the two days of the conference has been completed and will be announced in our next week's issue of The News. This program will be of general interest and all sessions are open to the public.

Chick Hatchery to Open in Crowell on Monday, Trades Day

The Foard Chick Hatchery, owned by L. D. Fox, will begin operation here Monday at its location on the north side of the square. Eggs to be placed in the 18,000 egg electric incubator will be received Saturday, Monday of each week will be the regular setting day.

R. Hayden Fortenberry of Stamford has been engaged by Mr. Fox to operate the hatchery. Mr. Fortenberry has had many years experience in this business. He arrived here Tuesday and will move his family here soon.

GINNINGS FOR THIS SECTION SHOW BIG GAIN

Large gains in cotton ginnings for the 1932 crop over 1931 are shown in production figures just released by the Census Bureau at Washington, although the production for the entire state is smaller, 4,303,589 bales being ginned for 1932 compared with 5,068,779 bales in 1931.

Foard's ginnings were 7,017 bales more for 1932 than for 1931. Ginnings in Foard and nearby counties for 1932 and 1931 follow:

	1932	1931
Foard	19,339	12,322
Knox	65,873	33,872
Wilbarger	54,410	48,469
Hardeman	38,273	28,772
Cottle	39,741	25,265
Childress	35,862	30,462
Baylor	18,369	11,125
King	7,400	5,007
Wichita	23,802	21,203

Gains have been shown in all of these counties during the past two years. Due to the 1930 drought, the crop then was very short. Foard produced only 4,429 bales that year.

Crowell Baseball Team Prepares for Season Opening on April 16th

The Crowell baseball club, a member of the newly organized Red River Valley Baseball League, is in active training to be prepared for the first game of the season that is to be played on April 16. Quannah will play Crowell here at that time.

Practically all of the members of last year's club will be back again, with the addition of a few new players. The following is a list of the local players: Lewis Sloan, Chas. Ashford, Wm. Bell, Grady Graves, Pete Bell, Herbert Fish, Horace Eubank, Jimmie LaRue, E. F. Henry, Pat McDaniel, Everett Meason, Skeet McBerry, Haskell Norman, all back from last year, and the following who are trying for the team this year: Dude Moseley, Henry Ashford, Jack Russell and Otis Coffey.

Gotche Mints, star third baseman of Thalia, will be with the Crowell club this year, according to O. O. Hollingsworth, local manager.

Teams in this league are: Quannah, Chillicothe, Vernon, Burk Burnett, Electra, Paducah, Crowell and Tipton, Okla.

Although the lumber at the old park is being used in the construction of the local gymnasium, it is probable that play will continue on the same grounds, however, the diamond will be at the northwest corner, instead of the southeast.

Names that may be listed in the school census and the co-operation of the public is asked in helping the enumerators to secure all eligible names for the census of their district. New families may have moved into districts since the census was started and in other ways it is possible that names have been overlooked and if citizens of the county know of such instances, it is hoped that they will report them.

State school aid is based on this census and each eligible name left out means the loss of many dollars to the school system of this county.

The census enumerators are: Crowell—L. A. Andrews. Four Corners—Margaret Cates. Thalia, W. M. Bralley. Gambleville—Dave Sollis. Fish—Mrs. J. H. Lewis. Margaret—W. E. Taylor. Black—J. M. Bostic. Vivian—T. C. Davis. Ayersville—C. L. Cavin. Foard City—Tom Callaway. Beaver—Florence Griffith. Good Creek—H. K. Black. West Rayland—C. L. Adkins. Claytonville—Gertrude Connell.

More pupils took part in the Foard County Interscholastic League Meet last Friday and Saturday than at any other time in the history of the organization, according to L. T. Graves, director general of the meet. Practically every school in the county was well represented in this annual event.

Crowell, the only school in the Class A division of the county league, scored a total of 455 points. Ayersville took first place in the rural school division with 282 points and Thalia won first in the Class B high school division with 144 points.

The debating part of the meet took place at Thalia on Wednesday night with the boys and girls teams of Crowell and Thalia high school competing. #### Mother of 91 in 3 Years Is Record of Sow on Foard Farm

Wm. Godwin, who lives 17 miles southwest of Crowell in the Good Creek community, claims the record of having the most maternally inclined sow in West Texas and possibly an area far greater than that.

Tuesday of this week the sow gave birth to nineteen pigs, making a total of ninety-one that it has farrowed in its six litters, the first of which came about three years ago.

Last fall the sow, which is three-quarters Poland-China and one-quarter Duroc-Jersey and one-quarter pig. Two were dead at birth and four were given away since there were teats enough for only 12. Of the 19 pigs born in the last litter, 7 were dead and the remaining 12 now appear to be in the best of health, according to Mr. Godwin.

This sow weighs about 600 pounds and was bought from Dr. R. L. Kincaid of this city three years ago for $500. Mr. Godwin left the hog on the R. L. Liles farm in 1931, two litters, one of 16 pigs, being farrowed during that time.

Merchants Offer Bargains in Many Different Lines

A successful Trades Day in Crowell on Monday is in prospect for the people of this section and all indications point to the fact that a large crowd will be present to trade items that they have and do not need for something that they do need.

The primary object of starting these First Monday events was to afford the people of this territory an opportunity of coming together at a central point and at a designated time in order that they might get together in trades that would be of real benefit to both parties to such deals.

With everyone co-operating in this manner, the opportunity for beneficial trades is greatly increased and by swapping, great numbers of people will be able to secure needed items without parting with precious money.

Look around your place now and find those things that you do not need. They may be the very things that someone else wants and that "someone else" may welcome the chance to swap you something that you really need. Trades Day in Crowell Monday will afford you a wonderful opportunity to make the proper connection.

As an added inducement to come to Crowell on Trades Day, practically every Crowell merchant is offering real money-saving bargains. The ads in this issue are a fair index as to the values that are being offered. If you want to save money—just read these ads and then take advantage of the bargains that are offered.

Free Auction Service

Anyone having something they wish to sell may take advantage of the free auctioneer service on this day. Dave Sollis has been employed by local business men to conduct this service for the people of this territory and all are welcome to use it. His services are available any time during the day.

All conveniences necessary for handling of livestock have been provided. The lot just south of Loyd's Hotel is headquarters for livestock.

J. M. JONAS DIED THURSDAY AT CROWELL HOME

J. M. Jonas, 76, resident of Foard County for the past 26 years, died at his home in Crowell at 4 o'clock on Thursday morning of this week. Although he had been in ill-health since early last fall, his death came suddenly. Lately he had been confined to his home most of the time, however, he was able to come to town Monday.

Mr. Jonas is survived by his wife and five children: W. J. Jonas of Wichita Falls, F. J. Jonas of the Gambleville community, Mrs. W. B. Clark of Denton, J. M. Jonas Jr. of Altus, Okla., and Mrs. C. D. Hall of the Black community. One son, Jack, died in 1918 when a young man. Seventeen grandchildren, 6 great-grandchildren and two half brothers, E. B. Hall of Decatur, and Earl Hall of Stinnett, also survive.

The deceased was born in Butler County, Missouri, on Dec. 31, 1857. At an early age he came to Dallas County, Texas. He was married twice during his life. His first wife died three years after their marriage. Two sons were born to this union, both of whom are dead. One died in infancy and the other was killed in the Spanish-American War.

In August, 1932, he and his wife, who now survives, observed their golden wedding anniversary. They were married in 1882 and five of the six children born to them are now living.

Mr. Jonas and his family came to Foard County from Duncan, Oklahoma, 26 years ago and settled in the Black community. They had previously gone to Oklahoma from Dallas County. Besides farming activities, the deceased was engaged in cotton seed buying for a number of years and was a former partner of J. H. Olds in the feed business here. He moved to Crowell about 11 years ago and had since lived here.

He was converted and joined the Baptist Church early in life. Mr. Jonas is a former commissioner of Precinct 4 of Foard County.

Funeral services will be held at the Baptist Church Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Hardly had she leaned back in the chair, when the bell rang again. She listened anxiously. A rather coarse feminine voice replied to the maid's quiet "Yes?" saying, "How's Mrs. Packard this morning, Roxie? Can I speak to her? Tell her it's Kate Belmain."

"Sorry Mrs. Belmain, but Mrs. Packard is sleeping and gave orders not to be disturbed."

"Oh, well, I'll call again later. . . . Say, Roxie," in a conversational tone, "washed up in a fall like that? I felt sick when I heard about it. Didn't break a thing, did she?"

"No, ma'am, she hit her head, but I guess it wasn't a bad blow."

"Well, I'll tell the world she's lucky! Well, tell her I called, will you, Roxie."

awake, of course. . . . I just want to find out how she is and if I can do anything for her. . . . Did you, say she'd had anything to eat today?"

"That must be Laurie! The voice moved nearer as if its owner were approaching the stairs. Joyce, in a panic looked wildly about for some escape. Couldn't she have one day to herself? She thought of locking the door. Then, afraid to delay another second, she dashed out to the sleeping porch, pulled down the covers of the neatly-made bed, and slid between the sheets. With thumping heart she half-buried her face in the pillow, shut her eyes tightly and tried to compose herself into a state where she could breathe quietly.

Firm steps sounded approaching the door, and a voice said, "Frills? Where are you? . . . Oh!" The voice trailed off into a soft murmur as the speaker evidently discovered the sleeping form in the bed. The caller stood quietly by the bedside for such a long time that Joyce grew nervous.

And then Joyce hung up her own receiver, breathing a sigh of relief at her escape.

the family. Her voice sounds middle-aged and . . . fat . . . uncultured," thought Joyce, critically. "I wonder who else will call up? All I need to do to learn who are the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Packard is to sit here and listen to the telephone conversations! I'm finding things out anyhow. I know now that the maid's name is Roxie and that 'Malt' is Mr. Maitland and that there's a couple named Art and Kate Belmain."

She continued her explorations, which disclosed three more bedrooms, each with its own bath—one decorated in green, one in orchid, and one in pale yellow. "I'm lucky; there are not any guests in the house," she thought thankfully, finding nothing but unoccupied rooms. "I'd hate to run into somebody staying right in the place. Well, I'll go back to my boudoir and see if I can dig up any more news of what the charming Frills has been perpetrating. Wish I could discover what the date is and how long it has been since I . . . I left Philadelphia."

She sat down on the chair at the desk again and picked up one of the letters. The postmark on the first was too blurred to decipher, but the second one was clearly stamped. She stared at it bewildered, a sudden feeling of faintness seizing her. "Why, I left Philadelphia in November . . . That means . . . Oh, it can't be possible! April—nearly two years! Where have I been all that time? Oh, I can't understand it, it frightens me. . . . I don't like it. . . . Oh dear. . . . Oh dear. . . ."

Suddenly her overwrought nerves gave way, and slipping to her knees in front of the couch, Joyce buried her face in her arms and began to sob desperately, terror and loneliness possessing her entirely.

When Joyce awoke, she lay for some moments collecting her thoughts.

So it had not been a dream. It was something actual and inescapable which she had to face.

She sat up on the couch, wide awake now, and soberly tried to decide what to do next. As she stared about the room, she realized that the sun was no longer shining in. How long had she slept? There was no clock in the room. She remembered having seen, however, among the contents of the blue leather case on the dressing table a small diamond-set wrist watch. Returning to the bedroom, she caught sight of herself in the mirror. Her dress was badly rumpled, her hair stood up in curly confusion and her face was streaked from the tears she had shed.

Four o'clock. "Phew, what a long nap! I feel a lot better, anyhow. I wonder if anyone else called up. Oh dear, that Belmain woman said they were coming over this afternoon. They'll probably be here soon. I think I'll put on a different dress and see if I can get anything to eat. I'm perishing with thirst, too."

She pulled the crumpled dress over her head and went to the closet door to pick out something else to wear. When, suddenly, she heard voices downstairs. Stopping short, she tiptoed softly over to the door, which stood ajar. She could hear a woman speaking.

"Well, I'm glad she's been able to sleep, Roxie. . . . No, I'll just run up myself. She'll want to see me, if she's why didn't the woman go away? Couldn't she see that Frills was asleep? Or did she guess that she was shamming?"

Just as she felt that she could not stand it a minute longer, and must either giggle or choke, she heard the unseen caller depart.

"Thank goodness! . . . My, I'm roasted!" She threw off the covers and got up cautiously, creeping into the room to listen to what happened downstairs. She heard the same voice speaking but could not distinguish the words. Finally, however, the front door opened and closed.

So rested and so much more confident did she find herself that she decided to go downstairs, risking the meeting with any callers who might appear.

Roxie was by one of the windows reading a newspaper. Seeing Joyce, she stood up.

"I slept longer than I expected to," said Joyce, "and I'm sort of hungry," she said, finding it impossible not to slip into a conciliatory tone and attitude. "Is there something to eat I could have, I wonder?"

"Why, of course, ma'am," replied Roxie promptly, "would you like a regular lunch or just tea?"

"Tea, please." The very thought was luxurious.

"Certainly, ma'am. Would you like sandwiches with it, or just cake?"

"Oh, sandwiches, please. I'm so hungry. And I wonder if . . ." she went on, uncomfortably convinced that Frills never asked for anything in this apologetic fashion, "—er—I'd like some orange juice to drink, too."

"Yes, ma'am. Will you have it out on the terrace or up in your room?"

Joyce decided hastily that she would take a chance. "On the terrace, please."

She enjoyed the food almost more than her breakfast, reflecting with half-ashamed amusement that her appetite was good in spite of the shock of awaking to find herself Mrs. Neil Packard! Ought any one in her terrible predicament enjoy food so enthusiastically?

She was just draining the last drop of orange juice and wishing regretfully that she had more when a man's voice at the doorway startled her so, she nearly dropped the glass.

"My Lord, Frills, since when have you taken to drinking orange juice?"

A man crossed the terrace with quick steps, sat down on a chair close beside her and leaned forward looked at her with an expression of lively concern.

"Did I startle you? Sorry! I guess your nerves are jumpy after what happened. How do you feel, sweetheart?"

Joyce had been completely taken by surprise and, in her condition of excited apprehension, his entrance upset her so thoroughly that she could scarcely speak.

Tips on taxes
LEGISLATIVE NEWS SERVICE OF THE TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION, AUSTIN

(BY RAYMOND H. NICHOLS)

Austin—The Senate has started toward final adoption a constitutional amendment which proposes to arbitrarily limit the expenditures of the State government to $10 per capita per year. The basis of calculating the maximum of expenditures for any given year is the preceding United States census. This would mean that increases could be made only once each ten years. The 1930 census gave Texas a population of 5,800,000 plus. The adoption of the amendment in its present form would limit State government expenditures to approximately $58,000,000 annually.

The adoption of this amendment would bring expenditures back to the level of 1927. Doubtless some amendment will be made before final action is taken.

Another amendment has been introduced in the House that would lower the limit of State ad valorem (property) tax to 57 cents on the $100 valuation. At present the limit is 77 cents, divided as follows: 35 cents for schools, 35 cents for general revenue purposes and 7 cents Confederate pensions tax. This amendment would leave the school and Confederate pensions levies as they are now and would reduce the amount of the levy for general purposes to 15 cents, instead of the present figure of 35 cents.

These two amendments, with others which are under consideration, providing for reorganization of county government, together with legislation proposing a reorganization of the common school system, constitute the major items in an economy program intended to extend beyond the period of the present emergency.

Public school reorganization is provided in Senate bill No. 387, reported favorably to the Senate. Its principal feature is that it makes the county the unit for administrative purposes. Existing districts will continue to function so far as taxes, bond issues, etc., are concerned. Administration of schools would be vested in a county board of seven trustees, elected by popular vote for terms of six years, and a county superintendent, elected by the trustees.

This county board would exercise the functions now required of district trustees. District school taxes would continue to be levied, collected and expended, as at present. Bond issues would remain as obligations of the districts. There would be no pooling of finances or of outstanding bond issues. Essentially the measure is one for county unit administration and is intended to co-ordinate and reduce the cost of supervision and administration of the public schools. At present there are approximately 7800 school districts in Texas, with 28,000 trustees, employing 46,000 teachers and expending $80,000,000 of the taxpayers' money.

That there is unavoidable waste in a business of such magnitude that is as loosely organized as the public school system of Texas cannot be doubted. Savings as a result of co-ordinated administration would be considerable. It is claimed that salaries of teachers could be increased and better schools would result from the adoption of this bill. Most of the saving would accrue from elimination of much needless cost of supervision as a result of the duplication of staffs in the vast majority of the 7800 school districts. The measure contemplates a greater portion of school funds shall go into the actual business of teaching and less of it to non-teaching attaches and employes.

In addition, the change would provide for more uniform school privileges for all children in the State.

Analyses of school finances, together with the machinery of administration, furnish convincing evidence that what Texas needs is wise expenditure of money already available rather than an increase in financial support. Texas ranks well among states of the union in support of schools and value of property. Based on income, Texas is almost exactly where she should be in these respects, being ninth in earnings, ninth in school expenditures and eighth in school property value. Yet, in attendance, teachers' salaries, literacy and other standards of measurement she ranks from 35th to 42nd among the States of the Union.

An Industrial Necessity

A dependable and adequate source of electrical energy is not only a vital convenience to your home and business life—but a definite advantage from an industrial standpoint.

Major industries contemplating changes in location (as many now are doing) are looking toward the progressive small city as the ideal factory site.—And those cities which are assured an adequate and constant source of electric power—distributed over an interconnected transmission line system from strategically-located main generating stations—will be the choice of industrial engineers.

The West Texas Utilities Company is aiding industrial growth, through the rendering of this dependable and inexpensive power supply, in 161 progressive West Texas cities, towns and communities.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

EVADING GAS TAXES

Because the lack of uniformity among the states in the matter of gasoline taxes, a considerable traffic in "bootleg" gasoline has grown up...

The plan is, of course, to buy gasoline in a state with a low tax, transport it across the line and sell it in a state having a higher tax...

In Missouri alone $178,574 in evaded taxes and fines were collected in four years, while no one knows how many of the "bootleggers" escaped detection.

The practice will no doubt continue to a greater or less extent as long as different gasoline tax rates exist among the several states.

JUDGING OTHERS

It is trite to say that in judging the character and motives of another person we should try to imagine ourselves in his place...

An unknown author has set forth some thoughts in this connection which are worth repeating, as follows:

"When the other fellow acts that way, he is ugly when you do, it is nerves."

"When the other fellow is set in his way, he's obstinate; when you are, it's firmness."

"When the other fellow treats someone especially well, he is toady; when you do, it's tact."

"When the other fellow takes his time, he is dead slow; when you do, you are deliberate."

"When the other fellow picks a flaw, he's cranky; when you do, you are discriminating."

"When the other fellow says what he thinks, he is spiteful; when you do, you are frank."

It is really hard to apply to ourselves the same yardstick which we use in measuring our neighbor. But we ought to try to do it.

FASHIONS IN 1880

In a recent radio address in which fact and humor were delightfully combined a commentator described the "good old days" of a half century ago...

Recording the basques, polonaises, hoopskirts and bustles of a former day, reference was also made to an incident which occurred in Lyons, N. Y., in 1880. While trying to fit a customer into a new dress embodying the "wasp waist" effect...

In the homes of the period were seen wax flowers, embroidered mottoes, horsehair sofas, tating tidies, "what-nots" adorned with conch shells, kerosene lamps and "family albums" replete with tintypes portraying Aunt Sally with her head...

carefully held in position by a cast iron prong."

In 1880 the telephone was a new toy, and a European newspaper described Edison's reported invention of the incandescent lamp as "the latest American humbug."

Perhaps those who look back upon us from the vantage point of 50 years hence will find us as interestingly amusing as we beheld the folks of 50 years ago.

A QUESTION WILL DO

On many occasions Jesus won his case with a single question—one of the best weapons in the whole armory of persuasion and all too infrequently employed.

He would have that to recall when the crisis came. "Stand forth," he said to the poor chap.

The bigoted formalists pushed in close. This was their moment. They had dug the pit cleverly and now he was about to fall in.

He waited for an answer but none came. What could they say? If they replied that the law forbade a good deed, their answer would be repeated all over town.

On another day it was his own disciples who learned how he could compress a whole philosophy into a well-directed interrogation.

He brought them up short with a question. "Which of you by being anxious can add a single day to his life?"

How trivial seemed their concern and controversy after a question like that!

Banquet Here Monday Night Well Attended

The regular monthly banquet of the local Farmers and Business Men's Association was attended by about sixty men at the DeLuxe Cafe on Monday night of this week. D. R. Magee served as toastmaster for the occasion.

Dr. E. L. Kincaid was the principal speaker and gave an interesting talk on the financial outlook for the country. He discussed the recent nationwide bank moratorium and the cause of it and the measures that were taken to relieve the situation.

H. S. Henry reviewed the work of the association and other work that it could do, especially along the line of making Trades Days greater successes.

Following these talks, committee reports were made and a round table discussion took place. The name of "Farmers and Business Men's Association" was submitted and accepted.

A committee composed of Eli Smith, C. T. Schlagal and H. E. Ferguson was appointed to investigate the matter of helping the local band. H. K. Edwards, W. F. Kirkpatrick and Mack Boswell were named to arrange the program for the next ban-

Foard County officers were on the look-out Thursday for parties that robbed the bank at Knox City early Thursday morning. After blindfolding and tying the Knox City night-watchman, the men broke into the bank vault with the use of a torch and after taking several thousands of dollars in it, they departed, leaving the watchman in the vault. After freeing himself, he left to spread the alarm. All telephone wires leaving Knox City were cut and it was necessary for long distance calls regarding the robbery to be made from Benjamin.

"Unreality" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 2. The Golden Text is from Jeremiah 2: "Thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?"

Among the passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from Psalms 37: "Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him: fret not thyself because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who bringeth wicked devices to pass." The Lesson-Sermon will also include citations from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," one of which will be as follows (p. 71): "Nothing is real and eternal,—nothing is Spirit,—but God and His idea. Evil has no reality. It is neither person, place, nor thing, but is simply a belief, an illusion of material sense."

SUNDAYSCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Jesus Ministering to Jews and Gentiles.

Lesson for April 2nd., Mark 7:24-37.

Golden Text: John 10:16.

This Sunday we begin the second quarter of our year's studies, that will bring us to the end of the gospel of Mark. We shall study the latter portion of the energetic ministry of Jesus, where the dramatic intensity is greatly heightened, the dark shadow of the Cross falling upon the gospel record, an omen both of bitter failure and glorious triumph.

Our lesson today is one on world friendship, emphasizing, as it does Jesus' entire absence of race prejudice. We read of His entrance into Gentile territory, the region of Tyre and Sidon. There His fame had preceded him, so that He could not travel unnoticed. A Greek woman, we are told, flung herself at His feet, beseeching Him to expel the evil spirit from her daughter.

The reply of the Master, if considered by itself, apart from its setting, seems harsh. "It is not right," He said, "to take the children's bread and throw it to the dogs." Now the word "dog" was a term of contempt used by the Jews of Christ's day for the Gentiles. But this incident makes it perfectly clear that Jesus, in this metaphor, was speaking playfully, with gentle irony. It is worth noting that the Greek word for "dogs" used by the Master is a diminutive, literally meaning "puppies." Jesus thereby softened His allusion, employing a term for household pests. The woman was keen enough to sense His good humor, and to turn the metaphor so that it served her need. "True, Sir," she cleverly replied, "and yet the dogs under the table eat the children's scraps." Her point clearly was that if the Gentiles are to be treated as household dogs, then fairness demands that they be fed with the crumbs that fall from their master's tables. It was exactly the sort of reply Jesus wanted. He appreciated it to the full, and rewarded her at once. Her darling was healed.

Thus a Jew healed one considered pagan. Such magnanimity is an anticipation of that united, world society toward which mankind painfully marches.

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

SERMONETTE

EPAPHRODITUS
By Arthur B. Rhinow

In his letter to the Philippians, the apostle Paul pays a splendid tribute to one of his co-workers, a man by the name of Epaphroditus. He says of him that he has hazarded his life for the work of his Master. Others risk their money, lands, and even personal freedom in a game of chance, but Epaphroditus risked his life for his faith.

Not everybody believes in the cause represented by Paul, and we respect the honest faith of others; but we all admire and envy a man who has found something to live for that is worth a life's hazard.

Nobody truly lives until he lives for something for which he is willing to risk all. Such men always give of their very best, and they live. They pour themselves out continuously, and continuously experience an inflow from the source of life.

But it must be something worthy of the supreme sacrifice. The gambler risks his money, but even if he wins he is poorer than before. The gangster risks his life for thrill and gain; but even if he "gets away with it," he does not dare to face himself and rejoice. The glamor of the game fades away, and then all is dark.

But the missionary who leaves home and friends to carry the light into benighted regions and gives his very life in every effort to raise a people, he has espoused a great cause and he lives as he gives.

The scientist who bends over his task in the laboratory, as bee over a flower, in order to find a new cure, forgetting all about personal profit and promotion; his life is richer far than theirs that hug soft comfort.

And the plain man of the street, whose first and great love is to serve.

Crowell Is Growing

Again we halt long enough to tell readers of the amazing growth of this little city. We who are on the ground and hear the ceaseless sound of the carpenter's hammer, notice a contrast in its former and present state less than those who make occasional visits to the town.

Quite a number of our townsmen we recently been making and re-building dugouts, which does not necessarily show cowardice, but wisdom in preparation for the spring storms.

Miss M. Katner of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Have used Kruschen for the last 4 months and have not only lost 14 pounds but feel so much better every way. Even for people who don't care to reduce, Kruschen is wonderful to keep the system healthy. I being a nurse should know for I've tried so many things but only Kruschen answered all purposes." (May 12, 1932).

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't drink a morning—a bottle that lasts a week costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen for your health comes first—get it at any drugstore in America. If not fully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

COLD FEET

To the bow-wows with your "vitamins" and you "sex-hormones" and your invisible cells! Let's talk about something you can understand, that you meet every day.

"Cold feet" is most emphatically a SYMPTOM, and if you have them persistently it's a sign that your nerves are not up to normal, or that your capillary circulation is faulty—or both. Elderly and old individuals are often victims of this sort of condition. Many "nervous" women who are much younger suffer with cold feet.

It is worth while to pay attention to habitually cold feet. I am a believer in a salt-water bath for the feet before retiring, when feet remain cold in bed for a long time. The salt in the water stimulates the capillary circulation in the skin, and the nerve-endings there as well. Bathe the feet with the salty water, and dry them with a coarse towel. Get right into bed after treating. Keep up your attention to the feet—a month if you can.

Limited amount of blood in the feet means excess of blood in other localities. Some cold-footed individuals have congestive headaches. If your home is not built for cold feet, get a hot-water bag and warm the regoin inhabited by your feet in bed. If not that, a hot iron—even a hot brick! I have known warm feet to cure some forms of headaches.

Remember—some of you—we poor folks often adopt poor ways. We do not all have airtight houses and steam heated rooms. Some of us live out in the country, you know. I can't help feeling just a wee bit sorry for victims of cold feet—hence this letter.

Your physician will probably recommend a good nerve tonic in addition to my hints. He will know. Warm feet are good protection from kidney disease—bear in mind.

Resume of P. T. A. Work in Crowell For 1932-33

The Crowell parent-teacher association has had an interesting and profitable year's work, through the loyal co-operation of officers, teachers and members. This unit has met the requirements of a standard organization.

The programs stressed Child Welfare and Parent Education and have been carried through successfully by Mrs. T. B. Klepper, program chairman. The State birthday was observed with a night program, the district president, Mrs. R. L. Kincaid, bringing a message. The national birthday was observed with a silver offering and the candle lighting ceremony. Book week was celebrated with an exhibit of worthwhile books.

During the summer used clothes were gathered and distributed, thus enabling some children to enter school. A story hour, meeting once a week, was sponsored. The mother singers, led by Mrs. A. F. Wright, have been active throughout the year. A pre-school study group has also been a project of the local unit. A study course with Mrs. Kincaid, leader, has been completed. A course by Dr. Garry C. Myers was the subject of the lessons. Application for a traveling library has been made. Some other work of the unit for the year has been the buying of some books, balls, bats and other playground equipment, and helping the girl scouts pay their registration fee.

The teachers have cooperated with the room sponsors and the publicity chairman in having clever invitations to regular P. T. A. meetings, made by the children for the members; in making attractive covers for the year books and in supplying numbers for the programs.

The health chairman, Miss Lottie Woods, has stressed the five-point child. Twenty-five have already received their certificates and others are working to obtain one. Seventeen pre-school children were included in the Summer Round-up. Miss Beatrice Lott, State itinerant health nurse, began work in Foard County on Tuesday, March 27. She will work for four weeks among the different schools of the county. In accordance with Mrs. A. F. Woods' request, Letters and telegrams were sent to our senator and representative asking them to do what they could in not allowing the appropriations for the Bureau of Health to be lowered. Plans are now being made by Mrs. T. B. Klepper and Miss Lottie Woods, the general chairmen and other committee chairmen and by the entire citizenship, for the district conference to be held April 11-12 at Crowell.

Other officers and chairmen who have worked are Mrs. Sam Crews, vice-president; Mrs. M. L. Hughston, secretary; Mrs. C. V. Allen, treasurer; Mrs. A. Y. Beverly, finance chairman; Mrs. J. E. Harwell, hospitality chairman; Mrs. R. R. Magee, membership chairman; Mrs. L. A. Andrews, publicity chairman; Mrs. T. F. Hughston, publication chairman and Mrs. D. R. Magee, room sponsor chairman.
