Read What This Owner Says About His FARMALL

"I want to express my thanks for the kindness and help rendered me when you sold me the Farmall tractor. I had told you that I could not farm without a tractor but could not think that the Farmall would do all that you recommended it to do."

"But after seeing the Farmall do the work, I at once became interested and bought. I want to say to you that this tractor has already paid me big interest on the investment. It paid for itself some two or three times over in the 1928 crop. I understand that you now have Farmall equipment to do most any job on the farm. I am going to get a mowing machine and the sweep rake, and am thinking now of buying another Farmall this year."

"Last year I cultivated 105 acres of corn in three days and did it about 50% better than I could with my teams. No one will go wrong in buying a Farmall. It is the real 'farmer's friend' of today, and I believe that when more of the farmers buy the Farmall and use it there will be more work done and more money in the bank to their credit."

British Law Demands Long Bows
 London.—Another peril of over legislation was turned up here when it was discovered that householders are liable to fines if they have too many long bows in the house in case it becomes necessary to defend the earth.
 Under an old law, never repealed, the Bowyers company still has the right to search houses within three miles of London and demand of the occupants that all long bows on the premises be produced.
 The company of Bowyers is one of the smallest and oldest of the many medieval guilds that still exist in London. The date of its establishment is lost in antiquity, but it is known that it was in existence long before 1371, at that time it separated from the fletchers (arrowmakers), perhaps because of disagreement on the reform effected at that time which shortened the workmen's hours of labor "by reason that bows could not in any manner be as well or as profitably made for the King and his people by night as by day."
 The present members of the Bowyers company are descendants of the old bowmakers, but they pursue their ancient calling no longer, despite modern interest in archery. The company wins a prize each year at the Royal Coxophyllite society's competition, but the ancient cup of the old company is now contested for yearly at Aldershot with modern rifles instead of bows and arrows.

Wooden Shoemaker Busy in Iowa Town
 Orange City, Iowa.—The sturdy sons of the Netherlands in this little Flemish community clutter about in their wooden slippers at their tasks on their farms and truck gardens. J. Van Hoff has built up quite a wooden shoe business. He turns out a pair in 45 minutes. And he sells 'em for $1.

 Spalding, England.—The craze for a slim figure has caused a notable decrease in the consumption of potatoes, an official of the board of agriculture stated at a potato show luncheon here.

A CONTRAST IN CLEANLINESS
 Tales brought back by expeditions into the kingdom of the past make our modern press reflect the wonderment of Marco Polo's adventures. The spade and shovel are uncovering marvels of civilization long lost to history. Revelations of these comforts and luxuries lead the pessimist to shake his head and declare that all modern advances are shallow compared to the splendor of Greece, Babylon or Egypt.
 What the pessimist forgets is that most of the regal luxury of those days is the commonplace possession of the ordinary men and women of today. The Harvard University Expedition discovered that the queens of Egypt had cosmetics, rouge, lipstick, ointments, baths, and all of the paraphernalia of the modern beauty parlor. Cleopatra enjoyed these sumptuous luxuries, but only the wealthiest of her subjects could enjoy them with her. Today they are not only within the reach of every girl but actually a part of her everyday life.
 No vast fortune built up on the sweating backs of slaves is needed to make the stenographer and salesgirl as beautiful as nature meant her to be. Her tub may not be as elaborate as a Roman bath, but it is here to bathe in, and she turns on the faucet with considerably less trouble than it cost Cleopatra's maids to carry jars of water. Soap and water are probably the least costly items in her beauty budget, and the most frequently used. While critics may lament her scant apparel, what little she does wear is likely to be clean and dainty with daily laundering. These habits take no great wealth or time, yet they are as truly typical of our modern civilization as the baths of Caracalle were of Rome.
 We'd like to have seen Cleopatra in her hey-day. And yet we are ready to believe that "somebody's stenog" is as lovely as a queen of Egypt—and probably cleaner.
 The wife that wonders why hubby isn't like he was before they were married probably has a husband that wonders why two can't live as cheap as one.

The lobbyist revelations are enough to convince anybody that something ought to be done. How about a lobby against lobbying?
 It is just about the time of the year for some of the genuine spring garden fiends to begin to show signs of the same complaint.
 If the supply of speedsters continues to increase the demand for pedestrians will make them extremely scarce.
 We really regret to say so, but we fear that it will take more than public opinion to keep the nations straight.

BANDIT BEAR ROBS MAIL OF SWEETS
Climbs Tree With and Digs Out C...

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—Yellowstone park's "holdup bears" have developed a new branch of the desperado business.
 One of them recently robbed the United States mails. Park Naturalist Dorr Yeager tells of the occurrence, which befell one of his colleagues, Dick White:
 "It seems that some days ago Dick stopped at the West Thumb road camp for lunch. The season being closed and the regular mail delivery having ceased, Dick was obligingly carrying a bundle of mail with him for the members of the different road crews around the loop. He left the mail in the car and, after enjoying a good meal, returned to continue his journey to Lake.
 "Imagine his surprise, however, to find the package of mail not in the car, but between the paws of a black bear in a nearby tree. Bruin was examining the packet intently, sniffing and turning it over in an inquisitive manner.
 "Suddenly he began to tear at it and, disregarding the shouts and threats of the man below, continued until he had extracted a box from its contents. The tree was shaken, clubs and threats were hurled, but the bear, utterly unmindful of the commotion he was causing, tore open the box and feasted happily on the contents, which proved to be chocolates.
 "Having emptied the box thoroughly, licked his paws and minutely inspected the remainder of the mail for further delicacies, he reluctantly dropped it into the arms of the waiting man below and with a contented grunt settled himself down on the limb until such time as his tormentor should retire."

Dollar Bill Holding Its Purchasing Power

Washington.—The dollar bill, which was made one-third smaller last July, lost none of its purchasing power in its shrinkage, according to Ethelbert Stewart, chief of the United States bureau of labor statistics.
 Stewart said that data compiled by his department showed that the cost of living in the United States had varied but a fraction of 1 per cent within the last year and that the dollar was about holding its own.
 "The index number for the cost of living, based on 100 prior to the World war, is now about 170," Stewart said. "Food costs about 55 per cent more than it did in 1914, clothing is up about 61 per cent, rent 53, fuel and light 75, housefurnishing goods 98, and miscellaneous items 107 points.
 "There have been only a few minor changes in the index figures recently that do not effect the cost of living one way or another."
 Stewart said that other reports indicated there was more employment this year than in 1928. He said there was increased employment in the bituminous mines, while there has been a decrease in the number of workers in the automobile industry.
 "It is impossible to estimate the number of people unemployed, but there certainly are more people working this November than a year ago," he said. "Of course, we reach the natural conclusion that when there is more employment there are fewer people out of work."

Jersey School Chiefs Probe Teaching Tests

Trenton, N. J.—Personality, "it," seems to be attracting so much attention that it is affecting the entrance examinations of prospective young school teachers.
 When it was noticed that a large percentage of candidates for normal school, from Glassboro, failed to pass their tests, it was pointed out that 16 per cent were rejected after tests which include written examinations and "personality tests."
 The Glassboro examinations are now to be looked into by the state board of education to see if it was the "it" part of the quiz that caused the flunks, and a report is to be made.
 One education commissioner said: "If this be so, an examiner who disapproves of short skirts or bobbed hair might easily refuse to pass favorably on a candidate."

Leaped in Time

Kendallville, Ind.—Four members of the family of Homer Fredericks, Kendallville, jumped from an automobile when it stalled on a railroad crossing here. They escaped injury. The machine was demolished.

Lack of Radio Basis of Her Divorce Plea

Los Angeles.—It is cruelty to be forced to live without a radio or a phonograph, Mrs. Alice A. Barker asserts in her divorce complaint, on file against Allie C. Barker.
 Because Barker refused to allow a radio in the house, failed to have the phonograph repaired, and would not let her take a ride in the family automobile, her existence was "one of isolation and obscurity," she asserts in her complaint.

BIRDS IN THE WINTER TIME
 Insects cause an annual loss of $700,000,000 to the agricultural interests of the United States, it has been estimated and if it were not for our ordinary birds, this loss would be much higher.
 Winter months prove a serious handicap for most birds, especially in the states where the ground is frequently covered with snow and ice, and farmers as well as townpeople should remember these feathered friends during the period when starvation faces them.
 The crow is mischievous in spring and sorely taxes the farmer's patience and ingenuity to prevent him from pulling up the newly planted corn. Moreover, the crow destroys the eggs and young of useful insectivorous and game birds; but, on the other hand, he eats many insects, especially white grubs and cut-worms, and destroys many meadow mice, so that in much (although not all) of the region he inhabits the crow must be considered more useful than harmful.
 Most of the hawks and owls even-birds that have received so bad a name that the farmer's boy and the sportsman are ever on the alert to kill them—are very useful because they destroy vast numbers of rodents.
 An unusual abundance of grasshoppers, for instance, in a given locality soon attracts the birds from a wide area and as a rule their visit ceases only when there are no grasshoppers left. So also a marked increase in the number of small rodents in a given neighborhood, speedily attracts the attention of hawks and owls, which, by reason of their voracious appetites, soon produce a marked diminution of the swarming foe.

Call, Write or Tell Us About Any News Items

A staff of fifty reports on the Foard County News could not get all the news that happens in Foard County if it did not have co-operation from the public in this matter.

A great number of people, all over Foard County, have been very loyal in furnishing or calling attention to news items, and if such were not the case we would not have had one-half the news items that we have had in the past issues.

The News has had wonderful cooperation from its summary correspondents and their work has been of great value to the paper. Those living in the country should help their correspondents secure as much live news as possible.

We want to give the people the best newspaper possible and are sure that our readers likewise want to have a good paper with plenty of local news in it.

Don't hesitate to call 41, our number, or the News correspondent in your community, any time you have any news, whether it is about a trip you have made, someone visiting you, or anything else that you think would interest other readers of the News. These attending parties or other social functions, please see that someone present furnishes a report of the affair to the News, so that the particulars are given to a reporter so that it can be written up.

Too many people take it for granted that members of the News staff have already heard of some piece of news and fail to mention it and in a number of instances some good news items slip by without being published. Every day we hear the explanation, "Why I thought you had already heard about that."

We must have a source of information for all news we print and are not, in some cases, to think like a radio set that can catch things just out of the air.

From a news standpoint, this is as much your paper as that of anyone else, so help us to make it a better paper by calling, writing or directly telling us of any kind of news that you know. Forget your modesty and tell us about something you have done. It will be of interest to others. Too many people think that it will look to the reporter as if they are seeking publicity to mention something about themselves. This is not the case by any means.

Your co-operation in helping us to get all the news will certainly be appreciated.

Of course without the co-operation of those furnishing advertising in this paper, it could not exist and it would be ungrateful to finish this article without paying tribute to those who really make the newspaper possible—the advertisers.

INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Ralph Cogwell was painfully injured in an auto accident on the highway near Luckett at about 4 p. m. Tuesday. His nose and hand were badly cut and while very painful, his injuries are not serious.

He was with his brother, Walter, who was driving the car at the time of the accident. A flat tire caused the car to skid in the slippery pavement and overturn. They were on their way to Vernon to meet their brother, Allen, who was coming to Crowell from Dallas.

Crowell Scores 99 Points in Only 2 Basketball Games

Crowell High School won its eighth consecutive basketball game Friday night by defeating Quanah High School 54 to 34 at Quanah. Just the night before the Wildcats defeated Paducah here by the score of 43 to 9. In just two games Crowell amassed scoring one hundred points by only one.

Paducah Game—Crowell had no trouble at all in defeating Paducah and it was late in the second quarter before the visitors even scored. The first quarter ended with the score 22 to 0, the half, 22 to 2, the third quarter, 36 to 3 and the final score 43 to 9. Crowell scored 2 of Paducah's 3 field goals in the last quarter.

Regulate Lanner started out as Crowell's main scoring threat but had to leave the game in the second quarter when he again received an injury to his knee which has been giving him trouble all year. Although he played less than two quarters, Bill Wadsworth was high point man of the game and one of the outstanding stars. He scored thirteen points in the short time he was in the contest.

Crowell basketball fans are particularly pleased at the smooth manner in which the Crowell boys went to victory. All of the players seem to have made thoughts of individual glory in working for the interest of the team. The boys continually pass to many apparently good shots at the goal in order to pass to another boy who has a better chance to score.

Dairy Calendars to be Distributed by Agent

Fred Remick has received ten dairy calendars from the Extension Service of A. and M. College and is now distributing them to the farmers of Foard County. These calendars are similar to the poultry calendars that were distributed last year and makes it easy for a farmer to keep an accurate record on the production, profits and cost of production of their dairy cows.

There are spaces on the 12 calendar sheets of the calendar for entering each day's result. These are spaces for the records of as many as twelve cows. Helpful advice is given for every month in caring for the cows in order to secure maximum production. Feed rations are also given on the calendar.

The information from this calendar that will be mailed monthly to A. and M. College will not only prove of great value as a source of statistical information but will be even more valuable to the farmer keeping these records, as it is not how cows women helping each other. Reports from the business houses, that sell pressure cookers, show that about 30 cookers or stoves were sold in 1928. The women's clubs earned 18,412 quarts of fruits, vegetables, meats, preserves, pickles and jellies. This earning is valued at $11,134.10.

According to the women's reports, there were 34 spring gardens, 1,002 cucumbers, 251 new tomatoes, 77 fall gardens with 181 tomatoes.

During 1929 eight of the women's clubs raised funds to send a representative to the Short Course at A. and M. College, which was held August 1-5. Their means of securing funds were by concerts, food sales, plays, negro minstrel, and other methods. Every club has also had as many as two socials, treating their husbands and children.

An encouragement for the 4-H club boys and girls of the county was held in August 1928 with a good representation present. Sixteen women and girls received free trips to the Short Course at A. and M. from Foard County, making the largest representation that this county has ever had at the Short Course.

Home Improvement

The continued home improvement work for the 4-H club girls for 1928 was well improved, since spaces for clothes and arrangement of dresser drawers, bedroom work was also a feature and a demonstration team from Foard County composed with other counties at Quanah in this work. From the club reports handed in, 15 women took part in home improvement work. The agent gave a number of demonstrations along this line and the results have been splendid.

Various forms of literature were distributed at the office of the agent and other work done during the year.

In commenting on the outlook for 1929 in the report, Miss Freeman said: "The first year of the home demonstration work in the county with its goals, methods and procedures established, the 1929 outlook is high. All the clubs are reorganized and ready for the new year. The times of meeting in each club will be the same as they were last year and the members are beginning to look forward with anticipation for club meetings. The women and girls are understanding parliamentary rules and will be able to carry on their programs more intelligently next year. Each club will be capable of financing, managing and working out its own club problems without fear that they are doing something wrong."

Peace Program Is Given at Rotary Club Wednesday

Que Miller was in charge of an interesting program at the Rotary club luncheon Wednesday. Rotary clubs all over the world are observing peace programs this week in connection with the tenth birthday of the League of Nations.

In opening his talk Mr. Miller stated that he was a partisan to the League of Nations and then followed with facts about this organization that were very enlightening.

He said that Woodrow Wilson conceived the League of Nations shortly after the World War, in which the soldiers believed that they were fighting a war to end war. After being adopted by all other major nations, the United States rejected Wilson's plan and is still out of the League.

The great record of service of the League of Nations was reviewed by Mr. Miller. Its service in stopping wars between Jugo Slavia and Albania in 1921; Turkey and England; and Greece and Bulgaria, were mentioned. Greece and Bulgaria were actually marching to war when the League halted hostilities.

Other services mentioned were: saving Austria and Hungary from bankruptcy; removing over a million Christians out of Turkey that faced death; stopping of opium traffic; bettering health conditions and others.

The United States, Russia, Turkey and Mexico are the only nations that are not in the League of Nations now. Mr. Miller stated that the League of Nations was the most powerful organization in the world and that its organization was the greatest step ever taken for the furtherance for world peace. Seventy-five per cent of governmental expenditures now are for military purposes, according to Mr. Miller. He concluded his talk by stating that the past decade is the first in the history of the world in which there has not been a major war. The League of Nations is now ten years old.

World Court
Dr. R. L. Kincaid was the second speaker on the program and discussed the work of the World Court. He stated that it worked under the League of Nations and was organized in 1922. It contains eleven judges and four others under these eleven. In 1926 Elihu Root made changes in its system, these were accepted and the U. S. Senate then passed resolutions to affiliate with the court on condition that the United States be permitted to look after conditions in the Western Hemisphere affecting the Monroe Doctrine. This did not exactly meet with the approval of the other nations, however, the United States was accepted and in principal, is a member of the World Court.

Charles Evans Hughes of the United States is the supreme judge of this court. Dr. Kincaid pointed out that here before there has been a sort of unwritten international law, but that there was no organization to rule upon it. The World Court passes upon treaties and interprets various forms of international law.

Sunday School at 9:30. Wednesday evening service at 8:00.

Christian Church

The services at the Christian Church for the past two Sundays have certainly been inspirational ones.

The teaching service of the church which is the Sunday School period begins at 9:45.

Morning worship at 11 o'clock. All urged to attend this service whereby we may worship God together.

The evangelistic service of the church is at 7:15. Come and bring your unsaved friends to the church.

Strangers and friends, we welcome you, one and all. The friendly church. JOHN G. CLARK.

At The Methodist Church

If you are looking for a place to worship where you will be welcome, and the people really want you and will try to make you feel welcome, come to the Methodist Church Sunday morning.

Preaching will be at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Hi-League at 6 p. m.; Senior League at 8:30; W. M. S. meets Monday at 3 p. m. and Prayer Meeting at 7 p. m. Wednesday evening.

Sunday at 11 a. m. we will begin a series of sermons on "The Apostles' Creed." The purpose, primarily, is for the benefit of the membership of the Methodist church.

These messages will not be what may be termed petty doctrinal preaching, but a discussion of fundamental truths that practically all protestant churches believe.

Every church has a creed. "Creed" is what I believe. "Belief" is what I live by. A man without a creed is a "make-shift."

Be at church Sunday and start with the first message. We shall try to help you as well as interest you.

"Passion Play" Life of Small Bavarian Village

The Passion play, a dramatization of the sufferings in the life of Christ, takes place in the little village of Oberammergau, nestled in the Bavarian Alps.

The original text and arrangements were probably made by the monks of Etal. The music was composed by Rochus Doderer, schoolmaster of the parish in 1814.

The play is a stupendous manifestation of religious worship and the moral character of each actor is considered as well as his histrionic ability.

The purpose of the play is to fashion the crucifixes, rosaries and images of the saints to sell to the tourists who flow through their quiet little city year by year.

Simple—What?
On the simple life in New York—an advertisement clipped from a publication:

To an exclusive few this announcement is directed. A lofty triplex of three rooms designed for the discriminating person who desires a permanent and complete town house high in the clouds. This unusual suite occupies the entire 30th, 31st, and 32d floors of the hotel—New York's newest and smartest apartment building. No other apartment suite in New York has its spacious grandeur, and is only in the larger private houses. Rental, $45,000.

Excited
The trials of a dramatic critic are limited always to seeing bad plays. At a recent opening of the show's agent halted a critic in order to meet the producer—a newcomer in a game. The producer in turn presented the critic to Mrs. Producer—glittering-looking young woman with appealing eyes. "Oh," she sighed, "we always heard how terrible critics are. If you only think as much of the play as I do..." And here emotion stifled the words in her throat. The producer interceded sympathetically. "Just feel her pulse," he offered. The critic dashed in to his room. The play was quite bad.

Back-Pats
A pleasant little practice, which is a grown-up cousin of putting gold stars on schoolboys' report cards, has been established in the building industry. Carpenters, bricklayers, steamers and whatnot are decorated every so often by the New York building congress. For superior craftsmanship they receive certificates and buttons, and they are named to take them. The awards are made when a building job is near completion. Impressive exercises are held—usually just before lunch—which representatives of the owners, the architects, the building commission and organized labor, cheer the workers up to making bigger and better buildings.

All in the Game
When Al Capone, the Chicago gangster with a large scar on his face, was visiting a wide social swath in Miami last winter, he met a young debutante one of the parties. This young lady, knowing who he was, was very much impressed by the hard-boiled detective. On the beach the following day she was telling Mr. Charles Dillingham, the producer, about the attractive man she met the night before. "What was his name," said Mr. Dillingham.
"Capone," replied the young lady.
"Oh, yes, I know him," replied Mr. Dillingham. "Did he have a large scar on his face?"
"Yes," answered the debutante, "he had."
"Of course," said Mr. Dillingham, "you know how he got it? He is a great polo player and was playing in a game in England when the prince of Wales hit him with a mallet and left that scar."

A $50,000 Golf Game
A well-known horseman whose colic has been frequently in front at New York tracks, in going to play a game of golf with another horseman recently, tried to get a knacker on the telephone to make a bet on a horse which was quoted thirty to one. He had difficulty in finding the bookmaker, and his golf companion, becoming impatient, said: "Come on, let's play golf. I'll take a bet, that nag can't win anyway." The horseman agreed to this and one thousand dollars across the board. The horse won at thirty to one, and proportionately long prices in place and show, and it cost his neighbor in the neighborhood of $50,000 to settle it, which he did promptly. It proved to be an expensive game.

Texas Now Building Roads for Traffic

NEARLY SEVEN TIMES AS MANY MOTOR VEHICLES IN STATE TODAY AS IN 1917

State Now Constructing Twice As Much Concrete As All Other Kinds

More than sixty-five per cent of the mileage of State highways for which contracts were let by the State Highway Commission during the past year, was for concrete highways, or nearly twice as much mileage of concrete as of all other types of roads put together, according to an article on "The Biggest Highway Job in History," by P. J. R. MacIntosh, which appears in the December number of The Texas Monthly.

This was more mileage of concrete than was built in Texas during a period of eight years prior to the time the present State Highway Commission went into office three years ago. Not more than ten per cent of the State highways built during those eight years was of concrete.

According to this writer, the reversal of policy which the present highway commission has made represents a recognition that the enormous traffic of Texas requires the highest type of roads of the most durable material, and that such roads are the only economical kind to build.

BIG INCREASE IN TRAFFIC
There are nearly seven times as many motor vehicles in Texas today as there were in 1917, the year of the first State registration, and probably ten or twelve times as much traffic. Both the number of vehicles and the traffic are increasing, the writer points out, and the State Highway Commission has adopted a policy of building for the traffic.

During the past three years contracts have been awarded for more than twice as much mileage of concrete highways as was built in the State during the previous eight years.

Approximately 57 per cent of the mileage of new construction contracted for since the present commission took office has been for concrete roads, or fully thirty per cent more than the mileage of all other types.

The contracts for concrete highways awarded during the past three years involve the investment of nearly four times as much money as that spent for all other types. And during the past eleven months the amount authorized to be spent for concrete roads was practically five times as much as that to be spent on all other types.

ENORMOUS MAINTENANCE COST
As the chief reason for this new policy, the writer cites the increased traffic, and points out that during the three years ending September 1, 1929, the State was compelled to spend $34,400,000 in maintenance and betterment of inadequate roads and bridges. He estimates also that an enormous mileage of the State highways is costing the motor vehicle owners of the State a great deal more in increased operating expense than it would cost to pave that mileage with the highest class paving.

NOBODY TO BLAME
"In criticizing the men who directed the spending of that money," he says, "it must be remembered that within four years, by 1923, there were twice as many motor vehicles as there were in 1919, and that since 1923 the number has doubled again. It would have been a miracle of foresight if 110 different local groups, made up of county commissioners, engineers, local advisory committees, and what not, had decided to build for such a future as that, and then had carried out that decision in a way that would be above criticism today."

The writer describes in detail the organization of the present highway department, and points out that it has reached a high degree of efficiency and that politics and other undesirable influences have been banished in relation to the awarding and execution of contracts.

"In adopting this policy and in building up an organization capable of applying it efficiently," he writes, "the commission has effected a revolution in highway building in Texas. But this was absolutely essential if it expected to make any progress in doing the big job it had undertaken. And it will be essential that the same standards be maintained and applied with the same rigor during the years ahead, if Texas is to complete this biggest of all highway jobs."

The detailed figures quoted in the article show that 2,253 miles of highways were contracted for during the past three years, of which 1,282 miles were of concrete. The cost of this concrete mileage, about half of which was contracted for during the past year, totals $34,201,152. A total of 624 miles of concrete at a cost of $16,195,976, was contracted for during the first eleven months of 1929.

"In the face of the past," the writer concludes, "this is an amazing record, and more than justifies the statement that Texas at last has come to grips with its big job of providing an adequate highway system for its growing motor traffic."

Breckenridge Man Says He Is Surprised

Retired Jewelryman States He Never Saw Anything in His Life That Gave Such Relief as Orgatone

"It's the honest truth, before I had taken this Orgatone a week I was feeling so much improved I could hardly believe it myself," said E. O. Greene of 300 E. Dyer St., Breckenridge, Texas, a well known retired jewelryman and optician, the other day.

"I had a very bad case of stomach trouble that had been with me since I was a small boy," he continued, "that about every 30 days knocked me out so I simply wasn't worth a cent as far as my feelings were concerned. My stomach was in such an awful fix everything I would eat disagreed with me and made me miserable all the time. I would get deathly sick during these spells and develop a very severe case of constipation. Sometimes I would get so dizzy I was just like a drunken man and tried doctors and everything I could hear of without relief."

"One of my friends had been taking Orgatone and told me it had done him a world of good, so I got me a bottle to try. Well, sir, it sure surprised me, for I began to feel better right from the very first dose and before the week was out I was feeling like a different person and have been improving ever since. I never saw anything in my life before to give such relief as this Orgatone and I haven't had a single symptom of my old trouble since I finished my third bottle."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Crowell at the Reeder Drug Store. (Adv.)

THE LEANING TOWER

Dr. Edouard Imbeaux, ex-professor at the government engineering school and corresponding member of the Academy of Sciences, has a plan to keep the famous "Leaning Tower of Pisa" from toppling over, as it seems certain to do if its foundations continue to sag as they have done for 600 years.

Dr. Imbeaux goes on the assumption that the sagging is caused by the flow of subterranean streams flowing toward the sea and preventing the slate and clay which form the foundations from hardening sufficiently to uphold the heavy structure. He proposes to freeze a broad band all around the bottom of the tower to a depth of 20 or 30 feet and then inject liquid cement between that band and the walls of the tower.

Completed in the year 1350 the tower, which is 189 feet high, is now almost five feet out of plumb, the southern side sinking on an average of one millimeter a year. Unless something is done to stop it there will inevitably come a day when the equilibrium of the tower will be disturbed to such an extent that it can no longer remain erect.

-Chevrolet announces THE GREATEST CHEVROLET IN CHEVROLET HISTORY

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with beautiful new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for there are scores of vital improvements which contribute to comfort, performance, endurance and safety.

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires—

—these are typical of the many improvements found throughout the entire design.

But most impressive of all—this smoother, faster, better Six is available—

--at Greatly Reduced Prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—ride in it—and judge for yourself the sensational value it represents.

ONE-ARMED MAN IS EXPERT AUTO THIEF

Cripple Given Year Sentence for Two Thefts.

Brentwood, England. — Frederick Charles Elton, twenty-six, has proved that a man of spirit can overcome a physical handicap, even if he did it in criminal matters. Elton, who has one arm, has just been sentenced to one year at hard labor for the following enterprises: Stealing two motor cars. Breaking into a house and stealing a revolver. Possessing the revolver. Possessing the second of the two stolen cars. Driving without a license. All of which occurred in more or less sequence and should have been enough charges to send away two two-armed men instead of one one-armed man.

One-Legged Criminal.

The accomplishments of cripples in the field of crime have been remarkable. One of England's best house-breakers a generation or two ago was a one-legged man. He was a veritable captain of crime and led a gang. If the gang complained that a "job" looked too hard he was wont to scorn such hesitation and turn the trick all by himself.

The activity of Elton along the line of car stealing has brought up the subject of how the licensing authorities should treat applications for motor car or motor cycle licenses by persons who are otherwise afflicted. A great argument is still in progress about whether deaf and dumb persons should receive licenses. Those who oppose them say that the affliction prevents such from hearing signals or commands. Supporters of the deaf and dumb drivers say that their very defects make them extraordinarily vigilant about reading signs, watching crossroads, etc.

Runs Into Car.

Hard and fast rules for or against licensing would-be drivers who have physical defects are not difficult to lay down, even if they cause a vast amount of contention, but how shall the license authorities determine the mental qualities of an applicant? Not long ago, in England, a young man driving a motor cycle was in a collision and injured a man. The cyclist had become mentally confused over nothing at all and ran smack into a motor car.

When the cyclist was tried before a magistrate, his father admitted that the son was feeble minded and subject to fits, but he said he did not see that those defects should cause his son to lose the pleasure he derived from using his motor cycle. Nobody asked the father if he had any consideration for the persons who might be injured or killed by his mentally deficient son. Nobody ever asks questions about those injured by wrongdoers. The feeble minded youth still has his license and will probably be allowed to keep it because he has not been officially declared deficient, and he is not insane.

Pennsylvania Man Owns Rare Edison Product

Sunbury, Pa.—Prof. Harry L. Keefe of the faculty of Sunbury high school is the possessor of one of the six electric light globes first made by Thomas A. Edison in his pioneering work. Professor Keefe says that the globe came to him through E. A. Wardlow, who was secretary of the Edison Pioneers.

A few years ago Mr. Keefe organized a Thomas A. Edison Science club in this city, and he has been keeping well informed on the pioneer work of Mr. Edison in this locality. The local electric light plant was started here in 1882 by Thomas A. Edison, and he worked in it in 1883. The first dynamo used in the Edison lighting plant here are on exhibition in Dearborn, Mich. They were used here for many years and were sent to the Chicago World's Fair, after which they were stored in a city car barn. Later they were shipped to the Edison Pioneers.

In 1923, when Sunbury celebrated its sesquicentennial, Mr. Edison was invited to attend, and upon his arrival the city commemorated the fortieth anniversary of the first three-wire lighting system in the world by unveiling a tablet in front of the City hotel.

TAXING IN FRANCE

The question of what becomes of the residence taxes paid by foreign visitors to certain designated cities and watering places in France coming under the heading of tourist resorts has been asked by many Americans who have had to pay the tax. It consists of from five to ten per cent of the hotel bills in addition to all the supplementary charges. French people, who are, of course, subject to the tax just as foreigners, also are asking the question.

How important the question is may be seen when official records are studied. The town of Nice, for instance, took in 3,244,700 francs for residence tax. Vichy got 1,325,900 francs and other cities, smaller amounts, the total for the year being about 17,000,000 francs, or about $700,000. Deauville paid a comparatively small amount, only 178,000 francs ($7,000) because the season there is only a couple of weeks in midsummer.

According to the terms of the law authorizing the collection of this special tax proceeds are to be used for the "development, beautification and salubrity of the resort."

The money is turned into the coffers of the municipalities and the prefects of the respective departments are held responsible for the use to which it is put. But there is so much red tape and cryptic regulation about the making of reports that even the National Tourist Bureau, which initiated the tax, admits its inability to tell what has been done.

In an official report on the tax in the town of Enghien-les-Bains, near Paris, which amounted to 20,945 francs ($800), it is announced that the money was used to construct a drainage system. "But," asks Robert

Guesin, who made an exhaustive study of the subject, "would Enghien have gone on forever without a drainage system if the foreigners had not gone there and paid the tax?"

TEXON TALES

Well, well, haven't got anything much to say this time. Never do, for that matter but just honest about it this time. Lots of people don't have much to say but never realize it. When a guy really has something to say it don't take him very long. One thing that keeps the cost of living from being higher than it is is the fact that air and information is both free. We got plenty of both out here where it don't rain too much sometimes.

I reckon everybody has got their taxes paid by now. That is, everybody that pays taxes. Some folks spend all they make and don't have to pay taxes while others save their money and then pay it out in taxes. However there is still another class—those who drive automobiles. They once had money.

Our telephone girl says she has good connections with lots of big people. Somehow that doesn't ring just true. I know for a fact that this girl has been divorced three times. Of course it is because she doesn't take rings seriously. She has practiced wrong numbers so long. She says people won't mind getting wrong numbers so much when we get to where we can see over the telephones. However, television will be a blow to announcers, no doubt. There's no telling what television will tell.

I guess half the folks in Crowell is talking hard times. It is the time of year for it. Mighty good plan to figure on the little end of the horn before you get to it though if you aim to squeeze through. It is an embarrassing moment when you find yourself at the little end when you had your face fixed for the big one. Any of us get along fine while we are prosperous but it takes a real man to do well in hard times. I believe most of us are better people when we are in bad circumstances. Nevertheless, I wish you a prosperous year and another and another for a long, long time to come.

TEXON TATTLER.

MOUNTAINLIKE BUILDINGS

New York is destined to become eventually a city of gigantic mountainlike buildings each occupying a city block, according to Fortunat Strowski, a member of the French Institute, who spent several years in the American city, studying its people and their problems.

M. Strowski believes the day of the skyscraper construction has passed, the architects having reached the height limit of about 800 feet and the loss of sunlight and air in the "canyons" of downtown New York being a menace to public health.

As an admirer of the hilly country in south central part of France, M. Strowski takes his inspiration from the terraced mountains abounding along the banks of the Dordogne, Lot and Tarn rivers. They slope gently from the water to a height of several hundred feet, then comes a level space, after which another ascent and so on to the peaks.

He stresses the gradual disappearance from the New York skyline of the private homes built on European lines, their place being taken by immense buildings adapted to the needs of the day. Soon, he says in an article in the "Renaissance," those also will vanish, giving way to vast, solid edifices, constructed on the model of the hills he loves. In years to come, he predicts, the island of Manhattan will be given over to these structures for business purposes only, the New Yorkers living in their homes on Long Island or New Jersey.

Women house painters and decorators are planning a union in Britain as they have become so numerous.

AN APPEAL

For Fair Play from the People of Crowell and Foard County

Is it asking too much that you support a local firm when that firm pledges itself to give you as good a product and service as an out-of-town firm?

Don't you feel that a local firm that pays local taxes in supporting our schools, our county and city, and one that has never turned down a donation for local churches or any other progressive move, should be given preference over an out-of-town firm which does not pay taxes in Crowell and Foard County and which does not support any local moves by donations or otherwise?

The fact that a Vernon bread truck makes regular trips to Crowell and is being supported by Crowell people prompts us to put before the people of Crowell and Foard County, in as fair way as possible, the facts in this situation.

Orr's Bakery was established in Crowell on October 1st, 1928, and in more than a year of its existence here it has done everything possible to make a real creditable institution for Crowell and Foard County.

We sincerely believe that our bread and bakery products are as good as those to be found anywhere and all are handled under the most sanitary conditions. If these conditions did not exist we would not dare ask the people for their support. The statement has even been made here that the Vernon bakery puts out a larger loaf of bread. This is not true. Besides a state law requires all loaves of bread to average a pound each.

We have added costly equipment since coming to Crowell and are continually doing things to give the best service possible. We give employment to local people who in turn spend their money here and help make the town and county what it is.

Why, then, should Crowell and Foard County people spend their money in developing another community that gives nothing in return in helping to develop our own town and county? What would Crowell be worth without its business firms? What would Foard County be worth without its towns?

Tests have demonstrated that a dollar circulates TWENTY times within a community during a year. The dollar sent away moves ONCE and never returns. We are not only hurting someone else, but are also indirectly hurting ourselves when we let our money leave our community. Why not help Crowell and Foard County first? What will our town, county and property ever amount to if we refuse to support our local firms?

We came to Crowell because we were told that there was a crying need for a good bakery here. As stated above we have done everything possible in putting out only the best products and have co-operated to the very limit in all community enterprises.

Let's all pull together for Crowell and Foard County. Why not?

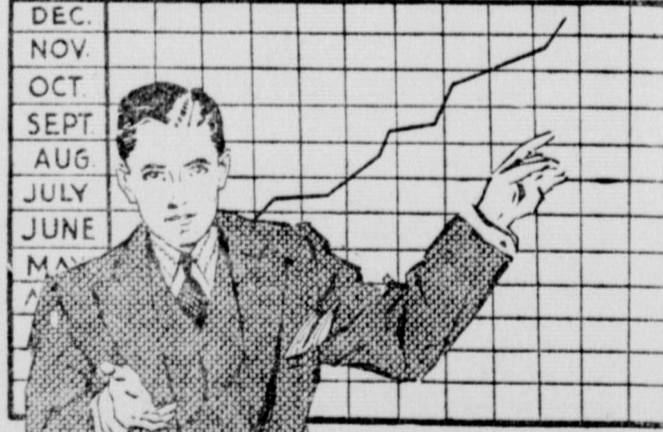

Isn't it only fair then for you to insist on Crowell bread?

All we ask is fair play.

WE THANK YOU

Orr's Bakery

HER HUSBAND KILL HER BROTHER

Woman Witnesses Fatal Climax to Old Dispute.

When Joseph Flood married Catherine Lantry, several years ago, her brother, Francis, made a tremendous to-do about it. It didn't help matters when the couple went to live with the bride's father, John Lantry. For Francis reasoned that the couple were planning to work John Lantry's house away from him. And that, of course—he made hold to announce to the couple—meant that he might lose his share of the inheritance.

That dispute developed rancorously through the years. It reached a tragic climax one morning recently. And late in the afternoon Magistrate John Flood of New York city stood alongside his brother, Joseph, before Justice of the Peace Edward T. Neu in Lynbrook and entered for him a plea of not guilty to a charge of murder in the first degree in the shooting of Lantry.

Held Without Bail.

The defendant was held without bail for the action of the grand jury which began to take testimony to determine whether the case was one of murder or, as the defendant and his wife insisted, an accidental death resulting from a tussle of the two men for a revolver with which Joseph Flood menaced his brother-in-law.

John Lantry, owner of the disputed house in this village, is sixty years old and retired. His son, Francis, was thirty-five, a plasterer, married and the father of one child.

Joseph Flood is forty and manager of a steamship ticket agency in New York. He has two children, the oldest a girl of five. He occupied a room on the second floor of the three-story home of John Lantry with one of his children. His wife and the other child slept in a room directly across the hall.

For the last few years Francis Lantry had held silence in the presence of his sister and brother-in-law, speaking only when it was necessary and then usually engaging in a wrangle over his suspicion that the Floods were trying to acquire the house into which they had moved on their marriage.

He rarely visited the home of his father. But he told his wife the night before the shooting that he would go over and "have it out with the Floods." The quarrel endured for hours. Francis Lantry informed his father, in the presence of the Floods, that the latter were plotting to get the house away from him. He demanded the Floods move out.

Breaks Out Again.

The dispute finally quieted down and Mrs. Flood went to her room. Soon after, her husband went to his own room. Francis Lantry helped his father, who was ill, toward the father's room. To reach it they passed through the room occupied by Mrs. Flood and her small daughter.

The elder Lantry stumbled and fell to the floor at the threshold of his room. His son, Francis, engaged with his sister in a new dispute. Their words came in furious tones. Across the hall, Flood, according to his story later, believed Francis Lantry was about to beat his sister. She corroborated her husband on this score.

Flood took a .38 calibre revolver from a chiffonier. He stepped into the hall just as his brother-in-law, too, came into the hall. The latter saw the pistol in Flood's hand, leaped across and wrestled for it. The weapon was discharged. Lantry fell to the floor, a bullet through his right temple. His sister lay screaming in bed. His father lay on the floor in a stupor. The children were asleep. There was, then, only one witness besides Flood, and his wife. She telephoned Police Lieutenant Edward Blunt immediately.

Neither husband nor wife made any concealment of the fact that Lantry died of a wound inflicted by a weapon held by Flood. Both, however, maintained unswervingly that the killing was an accident. Flood said he had no intention of firing, planning only to menace his brother-in-law with the revolver so that he would leave the house.

Speedy Aerial Train

Invented by Scotsman London.—With the idea of vastly increasing the speed of passenger transport between big cities, there is being constructed near Glasgow an experimental overhead railway on which will be driven by airplane type propellers. The new system, called the George Glasgow railplane, is the invention of a Glasgow man and is designed to carry passengers 120 miles an hour. The monorail is being conducted over the Northeastern Railway company's track at Milngavie, Glasgow.

Texas Book Shelf

By Phoebe Shawver

There was a time when writers in their stories spoke of Texas as a place from which to escape. That is all changed now. Texas is producing and has produced some red-blooded, vigorous, spiritual minded writers of her own. These have been able in the various books now on the market to determine and present the spiritual values of her soil, livestock, industries of various sorts and the heritage of legends and deeds of her sons and daughters. Texas is raising her own voice in the literature being produced in the Southwestern part of America and if one listens well that voice is in the lead of a great following. Had we been born with radio ears we might have heard that voice sooner. Our sense of appreciation has been blurred by the static of overwhelming production in other sections of the United States.

In this column each week we will try to review current fiction and other forms of writing by Texas and Southwestern writers with the hope that it may be of value to readers in enlarging their fund of knowledge and also carrying out this paper's program of being useful to each subscriber.

"The Raven"—A biography of Sam Houston, by Marquis James. When you studied Texas History did you feel, after reading the exploits of Sam Houston that the story was incomplete, that more should have been said to give you a clearer picture of the man whom all Texans should delight to honor? At last this desire has been filled.

Seventy-five miles across the line from the Cherokee strip, Okla., over in the state of Missouri, was born Marquis James. His folks moved over into this strip and lived neighbors to the sons of Sam Houston. Mr. James' parents told him of the struggles of the pioneers and in his youth he watched the coming and going of men who were making this country livable. In this atmosphere the author grew up and added to this a university training, a soldier in the World War, doing his bit, gives him the prerequisites of a truly great biographer.

In this new story of Sam Houston (there have been many hastily and carelessly written accounts by various writers) every phase of his career is revealed with a new searching, closer sympathy and an eye for exactness although it sounds like fiction. Few writers are able as Mr. James has been to catch facts from a life so lately removed from public eye and weave these into romantic pictures, yet retaining that interesting halo which requires time to ripen.

With a delicacy indicative of a more seasoned writer, Mr. James handles the very intimate personal life of the man Houston, his first marriage and its influence on his political career, his second marriage and the effect of his home life on his career, all without the hint of scandal but with the high resolve of picturing a great man, a Texas citizen and also a national character. It is to be a better citizen for having read Mr. James' story.

Tiny "red spiders" that feed on cotton leaves may cause as much as $2,000,000 damage to the southern cotton crop in some busy years.

WHY IS THE WINTER COLD?

Why is it colder during the winter months than it is in the summer? Many will immediately reply by saying that it is because the sun is farther away. As a matter of fact, the sun is nearer in winter than it is in summer, but strikes the earth at a more decided slant in winter and thus does not warm us as does the sun of June, July or August as it beams from directly overhead.

importation of pure bred Jersey cattle to Foard County about two and one-half years ago was given. At that time there were 40 choice heifers and ten bulls located in the county. One bull circle was organized consisting of 24 members. The four bulls of this circle have already sired over 275 calves since they were imported and a great part of these calves are from grade cows. There are many farms that have a few registered cattle now, whereas a few years ago it was impossible to find a registered dairy cow in the county. The fact that there are plenty of good bulls by which a farmer can keep his purebreds up has greatly stimulated interest.

There are more farmers milking cows and selling butter and cream, according to the banks and business men than ever before.

Charlie Hassloff of the Margaret J H club purchased a registered Jersey heifer two and one-half years ago. He now has 2 registered heifer calves from the original heifer. Walter Hysinger, also of the Margaret club, purchased a registered heifer at the same time. He now has 3 registered females and one bull. The original cost of the heifers including his interest in the 4 bulls, was $124.50. At a conservative figure the Hysinger Jerseys are now worth $325.00.

Other Activities

Besides the projects mentioned above the county agent has looked after many others, such as the development of the poultry industry, culling of flocks, furnishing plans for poultry houses; experiments with new farm crops for sections subject to droughts; club work with over 125 club members; assistance in minor veterinary work; furnishing of advice on great numbers of farm activities and others.

Detailed statistics on a number of other activities were also given in the report.

SOCIETY

MRS. AYERS IS ELECTED CLUB COUNCIL HEAD

All Home Demonstration Clubs to Gather for Special Meeting on February 12

Mrs. Henry Ayers of the Ayersville community was elected president of the Women's Home Demonstration Council of Foard County at its meeting Saturday in the office of Miss Virginia Freeman, home demonstration agent. She succeeds Mrs. John Ray in this position.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Kelley Erwin of the Catesville club, vice-president; and Mrs. John Ray of the West Rayland Club, secretary. The council this year will be made up of the president, secretary and vice-president of each of the women's home demonstration clubs of the county, instead of just the president and secretary as heretofore.

The council acts as a suggestive council and advisory for the home demonstration agent in her extension work over the county.

A decision was made at the meeting to hold gatherings of the home demonstration clubs of the county on February 12th. The place for this meeting will be determined at a meeting Saturday. Present plans call for the women assembling in the morning at about 11 o'clock. A short program will then be given after which a covered dish luncheon will be served and then a more lengthy program will be held in the afternoon.

A program committee composed of Mrs. M. C. Adkins of Thalia; Mrs. E. A. Dunagan and Mrs. E. W. Burrow of Gambleville, was appointed for this meeting; Mrs. Tom Russell of Catesville and Mrs. J. B. Rasberry of Vivian were appointed on the arrangements committee. Each club of the county is to present a special number on the program.

MR. AND MRS. A. Y. BEVERLY ENTERTAIN THURS. EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Beverly delightfully entertained a number of their friends last Thursday evening with a dinner party. After all were assembled, the guests were served to a delicious four-course dinner, the first course of which consisted of soup. This was followed first by a salad course, then a turkey dinner which was served cafeteria style, and completed with a dessert consisting of boiled custard and fruit cake. After the dinner, tally cards were passed for "600" and several pleasant hours were spent in the game. The following enjoyed the hospitality of the host and hostess: Mr. and Mrs. George Self, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hughston, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hughston, Mr. and Mrs. John Long, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McKown, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shirley and Mrs. J. A. Johnson.

SEYMOUR GIRL HONORED

Miss Gene Ballew of Seymour was honored with a 600 party Tuesday night by Mrs. Esca Brown, with whom she is visiting.

Games of 600 were played at three tables after which delicious refreshments were served to the following: Misses Frances Hill, Winnie Self, Martha Schlager, Frankie Kirkpatrick, Thelma White and the honoree, and Messrs. Henry Black, Edward Huffman, Nimray Higdon, Granville Lanier, Mack Boswell, Esca Brown and the hostess.

Miss Winnie Self and Edward Huffman were awarded prizes for winning high score. This couple also remained at the head table throughout the evening. Miss Ballew was also presented with a gift by the hostess.

NEW YEAR'S TEA

A delightful affair of the holiday season was the beautiful New Year's tea given at the home of Mrs. R. L. Kincaid, Wednesday afternoon, January 1st, from 3 to 5 o'clock, when Mesdames Kincaid, A. Brian, H. Speck and D. B. Miller were hostesses.

The spacious living room was attractively decorated with pots of ferns and flowers while above the fireplace a motif formed of silver bells and tinsel heralded the arrival of the New Year. In the dining room a color scheme of pink and white was carried out. The tea table, with its silver appointments, was spread with a cloth of lace over pink and was centered with a vase of pink and white carnations surrounded by four candle sticks holding pink tapers.

The guests were greeted by Mesdames H. Speck, M. L. Hughston, and H. Clark, and the receiving party, made up of the president and past presidents of the Columbian Club, included Mesdames R. L. Kincaid, E. D. Miller, Q. R. Miller, T. L. Hughston, M. O'Connell, N. J. Roberts, and C. R. Ferguson. Mrs. H. Schindler directed the guests to the dining room where pouring tea and coffee were Mesdames J. R. Beverly and S. J. Ferguson alternating with Mesdames Gordon Bell and T. P. Reeder.

In the group passing the tea dainties were Misses Mary Sam Crews, Elizabeth O'Connell, Elsie Schindler, and Mrs. M. N. Kenner. Mrs. T. E. Klepper pinned on each guest, as they departed, a charming little nosegay of pink and white sweet peas and fern.

Refreshments were served to more than sixty guests.—Reporter.

Judging Will Start Soon on State-Wide Living Room Contest

At least one woman from each home demonstration club of Foard County will be entered in the state-wide living room contest that is being sponsored by the A. and M. Extension Service through its home demonstration agents.

Miss Virginia Freeman, local agent, reports that the following women have already entered the contest: Mrs. Cap Adkins, West Rayland; Mrs. C. B. Morris, Thalia; Mrs. E. A. Dunagan, Gambleville; Mrs. Vernon Pyle, Gambleville; Mrs. J. B. Rasberry, Vivian; Mrs. Tom Russell, Catesville; Mrs. Henry Ayers, Ayersville; Mrs. J. R. Merriman, Foard City; and Mrs. Grover Owens, Clay-tonville.

All of the women have entered in the Class 1 division, which requires each not to spend more than fifty dollars on improvements. Judging will be made by three women judges of the county within a few days, before any improvements are made and then again in about the middle of April the final county judging will take place to determine the woman making the greatest improvement.

The winner of the county will then compete in the district contest and the winner there will in turn compete in the contest to determine the state winner. At the next meeting of the home demonstration council of Foard County, a prize for the winner of Foard County, will be agreed upon and set aside at that time.

A prize of $50 is offered the district winner and the state prize is $50. Special prizes are also offered from other sources, such as the Semi-Weekly Farm News of Dallas.

Miss Bernice Claylor of College Station, state home demonstration agent, was here several weeks ago and explained the contest to the women's clubs. The home demonstration work of the state this year is having living room improvement as one of its features.
