

Bond election to be sought for Community Center

$225,000 project would not require any tax increase

The Chamber of Commerce directors last Thursday unanimously endorsed the report of its civic improvements committee calling for construction of an 1,800 square foot Community Center to be built on the City-County Park at an estimated cost of $225,000.

The committee recommends the Community Center be jointly financed by the city and county. IT DECLARED BOTH the city and county can finance their portions of the bond indebtedness with no increase in either city or county taxes.

Frank Blanton, Post Chamber president, said the organization will in the near future for a joint meeting with the Post City Council and the Garza County Commissioners Court at which time the construction will be fully explained and these two governmental bodies will be asked to call special bond elections for the Community Center.

The course of action also was a recommendation of the civic improvements committee which has been working for a year on the project.

Frank Walker, chairman of the civic improvements committee, presented the written report to Chamber directors at their monthly session and discussed various items in the report with them.

Other members of the committee are Louis Burkes, E. R. (Buster) Henshaw, Mrs. Tillman Jones, and the other ladies, not listed in the report, who gave active support to the project.

Frank Blanton, Post Chamber president, said the organization will in the near future for a joint meeting with the Post City Council and the Garza County Commissioners Court at which time the construction will be fully explained and these two governmental bodies will be asked to call special bond elections for the Community Center.

ment. During the year's study by the civic improvement committee, members of the committee met with 17 different local and area clubs, groups, and civic organizations to determine citizen thinking on the Community Center proposal. These included a number of Home Demonstration clubs.

Of the 316 persons polled in these 17 organizations by the committee the project had near unanimous support. Three hundred and twenty-four said they favored Post and Garza County building a community center. Only two were opposed to the plan.

GUIDED BY THE thinking of the 326 persons polled in the 17 club visits, the civic improvements committee recommends that such a Community Center should include:

- (1) A banquet room that would seat up to 600 persons.
- (2) A library.
- (3) Complete kitchen facilities.
- (4) Clubroom facilities.
- (5) Such other items as technical development might show to be feasible.
- (6) Small living quarters for a caretaker whose wife might serve as a part-time librarian and museum operator.

The committee recommends the new facility be built in the east end of the city-county park and be controlled and operated under the auspices of the existing city-county park board.

AS TO FINANCING the committee recommends that county provide $150,000 of the cost and the city $75,000 on a 2-1 ratio basis. The report said that the committee (See New Center, Page 8) fieldman for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, told The Dispatch.

Duncan conducted all nine workshop sessions. He announced he would have a full report and analysis of workshop suggestions to make to the Post Chamber's board of directors in about ten days.

THE LOCAL CHAMBER will consider "every suggestion made" in setting up its 1964 Program of Work. Frank Blanton, Chamber president, said at the conclusion of the workshop.

Duncan had nothing but praise for the turnout at the workshop. "It was a good attendance," he declared late Tuesday afternoon after the last of the nine sessions, "and included a good cross section of people."

Duncan termed the workshop as "one of the best we've ever seen." He added that it had "one of the highest degrees of participation we've ever had."

After a preliminary check of suggestions turned in on cards by the over 300 workshop participants, Duncan said that the Community Center was obviously the top need in the people's minds.

OTHER PROJECTS ranking high on the cards was off-street parking lots to relieve down town traffic congestion, a county library, downtown store front modernization, an all-age recreation program with emphasis on a "youth program", continuation of the city's paving program, an industrial development program, widespread publicity to distribute brochures about Post's many advantages, an improved and expanded rural telephone service, and the reorganization of the local Chamber of Commerce.

There was some discussion of the possibility of a woman's division for the local Chamber of Commerce. This has been tried successfully in other Chambers.

Another of the suggestions heard with a considerable degree of frequency was the development of the tourist and recreational potential of the new White River lake.

Throughout the sessions, Duncan stressed the need for strong community leadership to carry out an active program of work by the Post Chamber.

SHELLEY CAMP was chairman of the Chamber's Community Workshop. (See C-C Workshop, Page 8)

Tom Power, Wallace Simpson and Tom Greenwood have been appointed to the City of Post's board of tax equalization. City Supt. Eddie Warren said today.

The tax board will meet at the City Hall on June 16, with representatives of the Pritchard & Abbott firm of tax evaluation engineers present, Warren said.

Ralph Welch in voter statement

Ralph Welch, who earlier announced his candidacy for the office of Garza County sheriff, this week makes his formal statement to the voters, as follows:

"I bought a small ranch in Garza County in 1936 and moved here with my wife and four small children in 1943, and have lived here continuously since that time.

"As to formal education, I finished two years in business college and still go to trade school every few years. If elected your sheriff, I will go to a peace officers' school this summer.

"I have tried to see each one of you, but to those of you I have missed, I want to say that I will appreciate your vote and influence, and sincerely hope for the privilege and opportunity of serving as your next sheriff.

"I want to thank all of the citizens of Garza County and especially my opponents for making my campaign such a pleasant one."

An overlooked public service

Probably one of the most over-looked public services in this county or any other county is the supply of helpful publications—many of them free of charge—at the offices of the county Extension Agents.

We've been reminded of this service by receipt of a news release on a new U. S. Department of Agriculture publication titled "A Consumer's Guide to USDA Services."

The new publication is described as "a gold mine of information—in a compact, 50-page booklet" by housewives, farmers, doctors, deliverymen and others who have seen and read it.

But don't let the title mislead you. The booklet not only tells of the many USDA services from which you benefit—a lot of which you are unaware but are important to your well-being all the same.

The booklet contains ideas and tips a-plenty which you can put to use in your home, on the farm and even in getting a loan. Some of the many chapters include: "Shopping for Food," "Clothing and Fabrics," "House and Home," "Pest Control," "Gardening," "Family Finances"—and several other fact-filled chapters.

In addition, at the end of each chapter, is a list of publications which can be obtained from USDA and your local county Extension Agents' offices, which are on the second floor of the courthouse here.

In this age of "Do It Yourself," such booklets as those you'll find on the racks at the county agents' offices are helpful. Make use of them. —CD

Heavy scoring in Science Fair

The Post Public Schools have just made their best showing in history in the South Plains Science Fair, and congratulations are due not only the youthful winners, but also their teachers and the school administration as well, all of whom have combined to bring the schools' science department up to a high standard.

Post's top honor was won by Elisabeth Tubbs, a high school junior, and by winning first place in the high school physical science division she has earned for herself a trip to the National Science Fair in Baltimore, Md., where her project will be on display. That is quite an achievement and one of which the school and the entire community may well be proud.

Another Post individual exhibitor, Bruce Ledbetter, won third place in the high school biological division. And, in the primary division, Mrs. Lucille McBride's room from the Post Elementary School won the top award with an exhibit on "How Plants Grow." So, from the bottom to the top—from the lower grades through the high school division of the regional Science Fair—the Post Public Schools' exhibitors did themselves proud.

It also reflects to the credit of the local science department that Post science teacher James E. Pollard was director of this year's South Plains Science Fair.—CD

Friday, May 1, is Loyalty Day

For the 12th consecutive year, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States are observing Friday, May 1, as National Loyalty Day.

Gov. John Connally has issued an Official Memorandum designating the day as Loyalty Day in Texas, and Mayor Harold Lucas of Post has affixed his signature to the docket to call attention to the local VFW Post's observance of the day.

"Loyalty Day," the memorandum reads, "is set aside to inspire a greater love of country and rededication to the principles of freedom. This observance also shows, by patriotic and peaceful assembly, our unrelenting opposition to anti-American influences and subversive movements. It gives each of us an opportunity to renew our personal pledge to uphold our God-given rights, in defense of which thousands of Americans have died on battlefields throughout the world."

The VFW Post here is due a vote of thanks, along with the hundreds of others throughout the nation, for calling attention to this Loyalty Day.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

About the only thing you get right from the horse's mouth is the horse's laugh.—Marvin Tomme in The Rails Banner.

We blow a lot about our democracy, but it's a sad commentary that only about half the eligible voters in America even bother to go to the polls, whereas in some of the European countries, France for instance, up to 95 per cent of the people vote in elections.—Frank Hill in The Lynn County News.

Frequent washing of the hands is an ideal sanitary measure, but in no way should the practice be associated with a clean conscience.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

Did you see where the little boy was spelled down on the word "beetle" in the contest at Dover, Ohio? He spelled it "beatle" and thereby became a victim of, would you say, the times?—Porter L. Oakes in The Haskell Free Press.

It has been proved beyond a doubt that smoking is the major cause of statistics.—James Roberts in The Andrews County News.

THIS IS THE week that is! Friday is the first day of May and it'll no sooner be here than things will start happening. It'll be the day before the big primary election, with Garza County's larger-than-usual number of candidates making last-minute vote appeals.

Friday, itself, will be quite a day—not only here, but elsewhere. May Day is a big occasion in Russia, and our Comic Almanack says whatever you do—don't wear red on that day! Locally, May 1 has been designated Loyalty Day by the Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

SUNDAY, MAY 10, is Mother's Day, with the month's only other holiday, Memorial Day, falling on Saturday, May 30.

May is traditionally the month for feverish school year-end activities, and it'll also mark the opening here of the Little League and Babe Ruth League baseball seasons. The last day of the month, in this case the 31st, is Fifth Sunday, which doesn't happen very often.

THE MAN UP the Street says middle age is that difficult period between juvenile delinquency and senior citizenship when you have to take care of yourself.

The editor of a weekly newspaper in Idaho changed his tabloid-sized page to a standard eight-column size. An editorial explained that the change was made to accommodate those who bought the paper only to have something to wrap around their whiskey bottles.

AND THIS IS from the Titusville, Pa., Herald: "Just to keep the record straight, it was Whittaker's Mother, not Hitler's, that was exhibited at the recent meeting of Pleasantville Methodists. There is nothing to be gained in trying to explain how the error occurred."

President Johnson is an apt and eager storyteller, according to Tom Wicker in the New York Times. Wicker wrote as follows:

"To make the point that you can push some things just so far, he (Johnson) recalled not long ago an incident he said happened to the late Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, a perfervid orator. 'The Senator was speaking down home,' the President said, 'about the beautiful piney woods of East Texas. Then he moved on through the bluebonnets and out to the plains and down through the hill country to the Gulf Coast, and then he got back to the piney woods and started all over again. After he got all around the state that time and started in again about those beautiful piney woods and bluebonnets, a little fellow rose up in the back of the room and yelled out, 'The next time you pass Lubbock, how about letting me off?'"

"YOU TOLD US in a recent column," writes a reader, "that one can tell how fast a train is going by counting the clicks as the car passes over the rail joints. Well, did you know that the chime of a cricket will tell you how hot it is? Just count the number of chirps in 15 seconds and add 40. That will give you the temperature in Fahrenheit degrees."

(I didn't know that, but I think so much of it that I am filing it under the heading of "Useful Information.")

On the same subject (almost), us folks in West Texas don't think much of that new calypso-type hit tune, "Don't Let the Rain Come Down."

THE DALLAS JAIL continues to outdo itself as a place where headlines are made. No sooner do they get the newest prisoners' riot quelled than Jack Ruby tries to butt down a jail wall with his head.

I was intrigued at the titles of some of the projects at the recent school Science Fair here, but have learned by reading a newspaper from another town that the Post students were not alone in their fanciful science project titles. Here are a few of the titles in that other school's Science Fair:

Do Does Have Blood Types?
The Effects of Sleeping Pills on Mice.

The Effect of Benadryl on the Regeneration of Tadpole Tails.

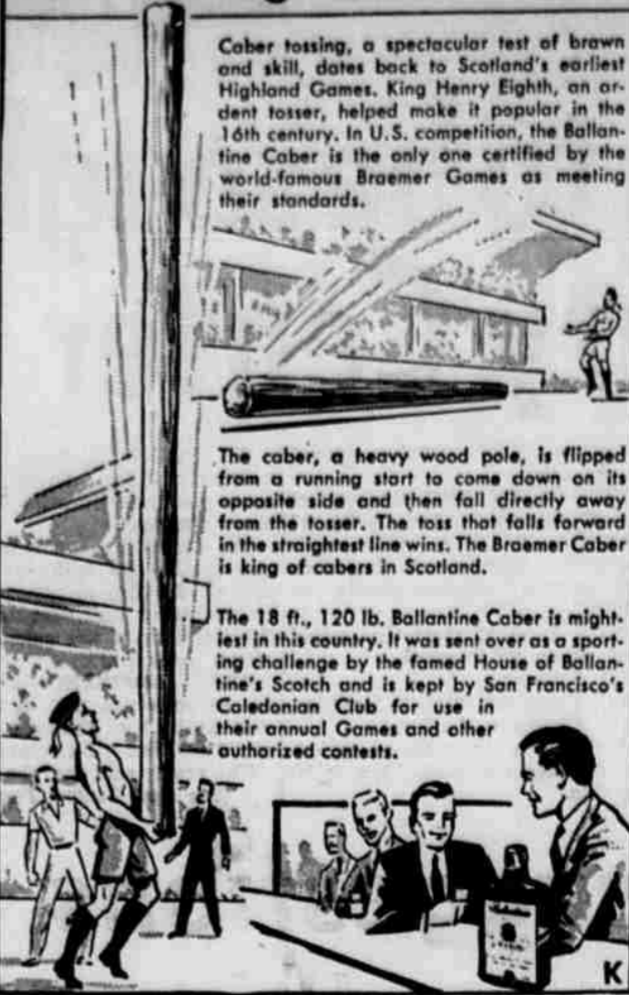

The Structure and Functions of the Gas Bladder of a Channel Catfish.

Hardness of Elm Creek Water.

THE READER'S DIGEST says that at a meeting of businessmen in Memphis, Tenn., a councilman from a small neighboring town was asked what he thought was outstanding about his town. "Gentlemen," he replied, "we have done the best job of resisting progress of any town in the United States."

The Tossing of the Caber

Caber tossing, a spectacular test of brawn and skill, dates back to Scotland's earliest Highland Games. King Henry Eighth, an ardent tosser, helped make it popular in the 16th century. In U.S. competition, the Ballantine Caber is the only one certified by the world-famous Braemar Games as meeting their standards.

The caber, a heavy wood pole, is flipped from a running start to come down on its opposite side and then fall directly away from the tosser. The toss that falls forward in the straight line wins. The Braemar Caber is king of cabers in Scotland.

The 18 ft., 120 lb. Ballantine Caber is mightiest in this country. It was sent over as a sporting challenge by the famed House of Ballantine's Scotch and is kept by San Francisco's Colossian Club for use in their annual Games and other authorized contests.

POISONS ACT FAST

"Children act fast, and so can poisons."

That's the theme of National Poison Prevention Week this year. The same child who won't drink his fruit juice will cheerfully and quickly gulp such unappetizing things as detergent, insect spray or kerosene.

One review of 2,133 cases of accidental poisoning, conducted by the National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers, found that in 63 per cent of the cases the offending substance had not been returned to its customary storage place after use.

The problem of accidental poisoning is becoming so acute that the American Academy of Pediatrics lists it as the most common medical emergency among youngsters.

National Clearinghouse authorities say prime poisoners of children are not the bug killers or insect sprays which are clearly stamped with the skull and crossbones, but the headache pills, the caustics used to clean drains, the fluid used to fill lighters.

"Skeptics must be convinced of this fact," says the Clearinghouse. If you're convinced, the Clearinghouse recommends a clear course of action: clean out the medicine cabinet, keep toxic materials under proper storage, keep them labeled and in their proper containers, and when dealing with children refer to medicine as medicine rather than as "candy."

Meanwhile, it is well to understand that 23 poison control centers (PCC's) are in operation in Texas to help physicians handle poisoning emergencies. PCC's work like this: Operating under local physician's guidance, the close, and answer questions the physician attending the not from the patients.

From 1,500 to 2,000 called died each month in PCC's. Some will undoubtedly be potential hazardous compounds marketed for use.

Official Memorandum

By JOHN CONNALLY Governor of Texas
AUSTIN, TEXAS

GREETINGS:

The right to vote is a treasured instrument of a democracy, and a solemn responsibility on the part of every American citizen of voting age. Unfortunately, it is a responsibility that is often treated lightly, for many eligible voters consistently fail to exercise their right and duty to cast their ballot.

Texans will vote in the primary elections on May 2 to select their nominees for public office at the local, state and national level.

On the same day the party precinct conventions will be held to select delegates to the county conventions and to consider resolutions affecting state and national policy. These conventions are the genesis of our entire political and governmental structure.

It is vital to our state and nation that as many persons as possible participate in these essential functions of representative government.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate Saturday, May 2, 1964, as

and urge all eligible voters to participate in the primary election and precinct conventions of the party of their choosing.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 29th day of April, 1964.

John Connally

and sharp drill teams.

However, the most novel thing about this parade was what followed the riding groups. There is no need to go into detail about what the streets were covered with after the horses had passed. But cleaning machines followed the last of the horse brigades and were greeted with loud cheers from the parade-watchers as they left everything spic and span.

The parade ended with big street cleaning machines washing down the street almost before we could get out of our seats and head for a nice cool swimming pool at our motel.

We took in the zoo and Sunken Gardens at Brackenridge Park. Both of them worthwhile. The "gardens" are a beautiful sight and I don't know why we haven't been there before.

The nicest thing about San Antonio is that one never really sees it all in one trip so one can keep going back and not be a repeating sightseer unless one wants to be.

After eating much too much and helping Miss C the elder celebrate her birthday, we headed back to dry, windy and I'm sorry to say, dirty West Texas—which I'll take any day over hot, muggy, pretty San Antonio.

Mrs. Emma (Granny) Ferguson, a long-time resident of Garza County, was honored with a surprise birthday dinner upon her arrival home from church Sunday.

Guests greeted the honoree singing "Happy Birthday" and hymns. Mrs. Arville Ferguson led the group with a special prayer.

The table was laid with an antique cloth and featured an arrangement of flowers in a large antique bowl. A birthday cake with lighted candles was the focal point. Cut flower arrangements were placed throughout the house.

Mrs. Ferguson was presented with an array of gifts. During the noon hour, she received telephone calls from her grandson, Jimmy Ferguson of Chapel Hill, N. C., and a granddaughter, Mrs. Mitchell Malouf of Plainview, who was unable to attend due to illness in the home.

Those attending the party were: Mr. and Mrs. George Sartain, Mr. and Mrs. Arville Ferguson, Mr.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Don't forget Tippy's treat!" Even if we're a bit late leaving for church, Susan and Mark must take their paper bag of surprises for Tippy the squirrel. Tippy lives in the park beside the church, and he's one of many happy, heart-warming things that our family looks forward to on Sundays.

We are rearing our children in the Christian faith because we know from our own experience how much it means to young people growing up. Without a right sense of values, youngsters are so likely to get into trouble.

Already Susan and Mark are learning to trust in the loving protection of God, and to turn to Him with their little problems. Through the stories of Jesus they are beginning to understand what it means to follow Him. We pray that this childhood pattern will strengthen and form a steadfast foundation for the whole of their lives. No parents could ask for more.

Down in that rugged, hilly country of Texas north of San Antonio, around Boerne and Bandera, there grows a strange kind of animal. Scarcely any humans ever have seen one of these elusive critters. In some of these elusive critters, indeed, many find it difficult to believe that they exist at all. But they do exist, all right, and you can take the word of Bob Snow for that. Bob has killed more than 100 of the wild creatures and in the process has had some hair-raising experiences. This animal of which we speak with awe is the Russian wild hog, a lean and muscular animal with the speed of a race horse, unbelievable stamina and a viciousness when cornered that has led many pursuing dogs bloodied and dead.

DESPITE MAN'S best efforts to eradicate the Russian hog, its numbers continue to rise. According to Bob, there are more today than ever before. So many, in fact, that hunters openly are soliciting hunters to come to their ranches to hunt the hogs.

Snow, who is from Kerrville, is a hunter of wide and varied experience. For many years he was with the Texas Game and Fish Commission. But today he is retired to a life of hunting. He has traveled to Mexico after

INSTANT PUMPKIN MIX
There's a new instant dehydrated pumpkin mix on the market in flake form. Pumpkin for the product is specially grown at the new plant of Produce Processors Inc., at Windsor, N. C., and selected for color, flavor, and optimum rehydration properties. Efforts to produce pumpkin flakes have up to now been unsuccessful because of the high water content of fresh pumpkin, which ranges from 90 to 93 per cent. The flakes are made possible by controlled amounts of starches and sugars added to the cooked puree.

THIS HOG GOT an inglorious start in Texas. Legend has it that many years ago a man with a traveling exhibit came to San Antonio. He was down on his luck and wished to get rid of his animals. Included in the lot were several Russian hogs.

A rancher bought the hogs and transported them to his ranch in the Bandera area. He hoped to crossbreed them with domestic stock. But soon thereafter the Russian hogs escaped and vanished into the underbrush. They all but disappeared for several years. Then ranchers started seeing the elusive hogs. Their numbers had increased appreciably.

Hunters like Bob Snow have found the Russian hog to be a sporting big-game animal. A few are slain each year by deer hunters. But in most instances the hogs have to be pursued by trained dogs which trail them in the dense oak and cedar brush characteristic of this part of the state.

There are no special dogs used in hunting the Russian hogs. Just about every kind of breed imaginable might be represented in a typical pack. Snow usually carries a new dog on a hunt and if it shows any aptitude for hog hunting, it becomes an official member of the pack.

BOB FOLLOWS along on horseback as the dogs take off into the underbrush, noses laid against the ground, trying to pick up the fresh scent of a hog. The porkers leave telltale evidence of feeding by ground burrows where they're rooted along the side of draws or along ridges. Sometimes they even kill young goats and sheep. This is one reason they are causing some concern among ranchers. Another is that they tear up fences.

The Russian hog has a long snout for digging. It also carries two imposing tusks rising from the corners of its lower jaw. When engaged in a close-in fight, the hog will sling its head back and forth, swishing these tusks through the air like sabers.

A Russian hog might bay immediately. Or it may take off and run for miles. Snow says it isn't unusual to trail one an entire day. One thing for sure . . . when it does come to bay, it is spoiling for a fight.

As Bob puts it, this is no place for the timid. An angered Russian hog will attack with the slightest provocation, and when it comes running, it means business.

Space travel will affect man's concept of time! While an astronaut on Mars grows two years older, for example, his brethren on Earth will be aging nearly twice as fast!

What a difference a day makes on the planets Mercury and Pluto! A year is just 88 days long on Mercury—but a year on Pluto equals 90,484.81 days on Earth!

Psychologists say that of the time you are asleep, 22 per cent is spent dreaming. Your first dream lasts about 5 minutes . . . then come a few more, lasting 20-35 minutes each, at 90-minute intervals.

Springing ahead for daylight saving time, Americans will be setting their favorite alarm clocks, the newly designed Big and Baby Ben, one hour forward on Sunday, April 26th.

THE ELM LEAF BEETLE
The elm leaf beetle seems to be on the rampage again this year. This pesky insect caused severe damage to elm trees in many parts of Garza County last year and looks as though it can be expected to do the same this year.

The adult elm leaf beetle is about one fourth inch long, yellowish to olive green, with a black stripe, sometimes, indistinct, along the margin of each wing cover. The eyes are black and the antennae and legs yellowish.

The insect overwinters in sheltered places, such as plant debris or buildings where it can get protection from the weather. In the spring, they emerge and fly to elm trees with unfolded leaves. Here they feed and lay eggs. When the eggs hatch the larvae emerge and began feeding on the leaves.

The destructive insect can be easily controlled if the chemicals are applied at the proper time. Chemicals that can be used include malathion, Seven, chlorodane, Dieldrin, lead arsenate, DDT, and toxaphene. The safest ones to use are Seven and malathion—especially if used around the home.

The chemicals should be applied soon after the insects are found in order to prevent tree damage. Also, early applications are essential for good larva kill, as young worms are much easier to kill than old worms. When applying the chemicals, use sprays rather than dusts and spray the base of the trees in addition to the foliage, to eradicate worms coming down the trunk to pupate in the ground.

IN CONSTANT CHANGE
Farming and ranching are dynamic businesses and as long as our economy continues to grow they will change constantly, say Texas A&M University agricultural economists.

New center—

tee secured, without cost, the services of one of the best municipal bond representatives in Texas in the person of J. M. Barker, who made a complete study of the bonded indebtedness of both the City of Post and the County of Garza, and prepared schedules showing how both city and county can finance their share of construction costs without any increase in taxes.

The report says that the county can assume its $150,000 share of this indebtedness without a tax increase because the 15 cent levy now allocated to paying off county hospital bonds will terminate this year.

The committee said if 10 cents of the 15 cents now allocated to hospital indebtedness were applied to this new bond issue, the tax rate of the county could still be reduced 5 cents, or the 5 cents could be used for other purposes as the commissioners court might deem wise.

As to the city's ability to meet its proposed $75,000 indebtedness for a Community Center, the report says that "the City of Post likewise has street bonds and indebtedness that will accrue and mature this year or next year, which would make available additional tax dollars within the existing tax rate and tax structure for the city to carry a $75,000 portion of this indebtedness without increasing taxes in any way."

THE COMMITTEE reported that there is legal authority for the city and county to join together in the building of such a center and for the financing of the same through bond issue.

The report recommends that the county and city pay for the cost of operations of such a center on the same 2 to 1 ratio as for original construction.

The committee in its report urged immediate action in the belief that if not started this year the tax funds which are to become available will be set aside for something else and the future construction of any such Community Center will call for additional or increased taxes.

"Under no circumstances," the report declared, "should this property be built in conjunction with or on the public school grounds for the simple reason that to do so would in all probability place our schools in a position of being involved in politics which might or could be detrimental to our school system."

"The location in the park area is, in the opinion of the committee, the report said, "ideal for the reason it would allow this small community to concentrate all its civic interest in one small area rather than fragmenting them over the town."

The committee reported that in its opinion "the rodeo grounds are not suitable as a site for the reason they would be extremely expensive to maintain, there being no existing lawns or utilities available, and that such a building so located would be subject to a greater degree of vandalism than if located within the park."

THE REPORT FOR "purpose of clarification" said that it was made amply clear to all parties before which the committee has appeared in the last year that "this facility would be owned by the public, some of whom are colored and some of whom are not, and that to build such a facility and expect to restrict the same to the use by persons of the Anglo-Saxon race would not only be a violation of the law but would in all probability prohibit the building of the same."

"Not once," the report said, "was an objection raised to the idea that the facility, once built, would be used by all the citizens of Garza County."

The report also made another interesting point:

"It was further called to the attention of all groups that we appeared before that members of the public, being human, some of them drink and some do not, and that if any group sought to control the matter and to inflict their moral views upon the public then such facility not only could not but probably should not be built."

"It was the consensus of the people before whom we appeared that such a facility should not have any more restrictions placed on the use thereof than was absolutely necessary for the efficient operation of the same, and that the laws of the State of Texas were ample in most cases to provide for the proper decorum and use of the property."

THE COMMITTEE in its appearances before 17 different organizations to sample public opinion on a community center asked some 325 persons to fill out a seven-question questionnaire.

In each of seven instances, the committee followed majority recommendations.

The 325 voted: 324 to 3 in favor of such a community center; 196 for an 18,000 square foot center, as against 78 for a 15,000 square foot size, and 41 for a 12,000 square foot size.

Locating center in city-county park, 162; school grounds, 35, rodeo grounds, 4, and other 17.

for construction of a Community Center here.

The report has "built-in support" because the committee started with the people and through appearances before 17 clubs and organizations, both city and rural, got the opinions of 325 local folks on a Community Center.

The majority opinion was followed by the committee in making their recommendations to proceed immediately to vote bonds and build such a center in the city-county park as a joint city-county project WITHOUT ANY ADDITIONAL TAXES to either city or county taxpayers.

The Community Workshop Monday and Tuesday was a real success with over 1,500 suggestions for the betterment of our community and area. Ralph Duncan of the West Texas Chamber said it was the most responsive clinic audience he's ever had. Duncan said Post has a whole lot of things "going for it" and that there is a lot of potential leadership available here. Such compliments from an "old pro" like Ralph should hearten everybody who's been manning the community trenches lately. Let's keep up the momentum. The workshop was just the first step of a recommended plan for Chamber reorganization submitted some weeks ago. Let's keep it moving.

Second Lieutenant Bryan J. Williams III recently drew a "dream assignment" for a duty order at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., where he is stationed. He was assigned as escort for 29 foreign officers on a nine-day trip from Fort Harrison which included a visit to the opening of the World's Fair in New York City, a visit to West Point, and a visit to all points of interest in Washington, D. C., including a Pentagon tour. All told there were 84 foreign officers from various U. S. Posts and six escorting American officers on the tour. The Post youth wrote his reports. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan J. Williams, that "you should have seen us trying to stay together on the subway in New York City."

Sorry, The Dispatch was "late" getting out today. We had a press-room "accident" this morning in which two pages were spilled on the floor. This required resetting all the news and ads on the society page and page 8. It also cost us a good picture of 300 and 500-hour winners of the Garza Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, which was torn to pieces in the "accident." The whole staff pitched in, worked through the lunch period and we have finally made it "out" early in the afternoon.

Two candidates, John C. Harrison and Edward (Eddie) Shaw, are in the race for Precinct I constable, where J. A. Johnson is not a candidate for re-election.

Neither N. C. Outlaw for county Democratic chairman nor any of the candidates for precinct chairman has an opponent on the ballot.

The precinct chairman candidates are: Claud Collier Jr., 1; J. H. Haire, 2; Dale Cravy, 3; Henry Key, 4; W. D. Livingston, 5; J. W. McMahon, 6; Clark Barton, 7; Loucille Morris, 8; and Mrs. Billie Cross, 9.

While none of the state candidates have visited Post on their campaign tours, interest is fairly high here in most of the races.

In his bid for re-election to the Governor's office, John Connally has three opponents, the chief of whom is Don Yarborough.

U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough is opposed for re-election by Gordon McLendon.

Preston Smith, seeking re-election as Lieutenant Governor has an opponent in Albert Fuentes Jr.

Five candidates are in the race for U. S. Representative-at-large. They are Joe Pool, Bill Elkins, Robert W. Baker, Bob Looney and Don Sullivan.

Election of next year's cheerleaders was completed at Post High School Monday with Linda Blas defeating Julia Childs in a runoff for one of the two cheerleader positions from the Junior class.

Earlier, Dee Ann Walker had been elected as head cheerleader for 1964-65; Meredith Newby, senior cheerleader; Beverley Duncan, junior; Linda Altman, sophomore, and Micki Sterling, freshman.

Dee Ann, the new head cheerleader-elect, has spent all of her school years in Post and has proved herself an outstanding student and citizen.

Mrs. Lucile McBride's first grade room won first place in the primary division with its project of "How Plants Grow."

Bruce Ledbetter placed third and Beverly Duncan fourth in the high school biological division. Both of these students received a medal, as did Elisabeth, and also several science books.

We are all proud of these students and are hoping that Elisabeth will arrive home with a first place medal from the National Science Fair.

Pros and Cons of Growing Beards

"Let the man who woos to win, woo with an unshaven chin." Do you want to do something that can't be taken over by the females? Growing a beard is one thing a man can do that a woman can't.

Beard-growing is becoming popular at Texas Tech. In the past years, only the beatniks and Cuban rebels wore beards. Now it is very stylish.

The beard allows the man to change his appearance just like the woman does with make-up and clothes. If you want to change your style, try growing a beard—if you can.

But, before you take the big step here are some comments on growing a beard:

The face is the mirror of the soul... I grew it because I wanted to... for the heck of it... self-fulfillment... people with beards are those people who want to be individualistic, but who lack the necessary qualifications.

The above remarks, from the men, were for the beards. Now for the comments against them, by the women:

Beards don't look intelligent... men with beards neither look neat nor well-groomed... when I see a beard I think of a beatnik... who wants to get close to something scratchy?

A fully developed beard is not scratchy. Usually it is smooth, if taken care of properly.

One co-ed said, "I think a beard makes a man look strong." This proves that women married to men with beards are not dominating. Women married to men without beards are dominating.

According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, the beard is the best sign of manhood; the youth is always beardless, the bearded woman a witch.—Jean Rolan.

- Post Highlights -

On Thursday and Friday nights, April 23 and 24, the speech classes of Post High School presented their individual one-act plays. If you missed them you missed a treat.

Saturday, April 25, Mary Beth Ford, Betty Jo Hill, Curtis Hudman and Danny Stone suffered through the ACT college entrance examinations.

As an introduction to a busy week, the Post High band gave a concert on Monday night. It was followed on Tuesday by a choir concert given through the combined efforts of the Post and Slaton high school choirs. Both events were outstanding successes.

On Tuesday, members of the Choir makes tour to two nearby schools

The Post High School choir spent last Wednesday on a tour to two nearby towns.

The choir arrived at Ralls at 10 o'clock and sang several numbers for the students. After lunch in Ralls, the choir traveled to Lorenzo and performed there.

All the members of the choir seemed to have a nice time, but were glad to get home early that afternoon.

Sections winning the attendance contest saw the Walt Disney movie, "Merlin Jones" Friday afternoon at the Tower Theatre. Those being honored were Section 6-D with a 97.90 per cent attendance record. Section 7-A with a 95.30 per cent record, and Section 8-C with a 96.00 per cent record.

Mrs. Gordon, our school nurse, has been working in our building since last Monday. It is always fun to have her check us, unless she recommends a visit to the dentist. Several will be wearing new glasses as a result of her visit.

Seventh grade Science students got a low blow when Coach Black assigned ten-page research papers to be turned in about May 15. Maybe we will work so hard that we won't be thinking about the end of school being so near.

VINYL PLASTICS

Vinyl plastics that stay flexible even at low temperatures have been made of chemicals prepared from fatty acids of crabs. Crabs are a member of the mustard family and is now under development by USDA and state agricultural experiment stations including the Texas Station as a new oilseed crop potentially valuable for both oil and meal. A USDA chemist said that many of these crabs chemicals called plasticizers, proved equal to best commercial products for use in making polyvinyl chloride (PVC) sheets.

Delightful doubles Jr. High mystery

These delightful doubles were born in the month of January in the year 1952. They go around Post Junior High confusing most of their teachers and friends.

They are both quite vivacious and pretty, outstanding students and members of the band. Since the talent show, they can be dubbed good singers.

Their present ambition is to become basketball coaches. Of course they plan to play basketball for our school.

This is the give-away clue—look for the dark freckle.

LET'S HELP KEEP A TEXAS PRESIDENT

DON YARBOROUGH

by Nominating DON YARBOROUGH for GOVERNOR

A 100% Democrat Who Supports President's Johnson's Program

Saturday, May 2

For the first time in history, the President of the United States is a Texan. Party leadership in his home state will affect his own future.

President Lyndon B. Johnson must be returned to the White House in national elections this November. To carry other states, he must have unquestionable support from Democrats in Texas.

The eyes of the United States are upon Texas in its nomination of a Democratic candidate for governor. The gubernatorial nominee will most likely be called by the National Democratic Party to go into other states to campaign in behalf of the national ticket.

This means the Democratic nominee must be a man who supports President Johnson and his program—a man who would be recognized throughout the nation as an asset to the Democratic Party—a man who is 100 per cent Democrat.

That man is Don Yarborough.

Texas needs the aggressive leadership of Don Yarborough to take the state government away from the lobbyists and return it to the people. And Lyndon Johnson needs Don Yarborough's leadership to win the confidence of the nation.

Don Yarborough is on record as a Lyndon Johnson Democrat. He has always been a Democrat, Don Yarborough has always supported the National Democratic Party and its nominees. He has endorsed President Johnson's administration.

This is not the case with John Connally. Connally would contribute toward a possible defeat for President Johnson. Although Connally has mouthed support for President Johnson, he has deserted the Democratic Party before and the who knows when he may do so again? Democrats in the other 49 states know he is antagonistic to the President's program. They know he led Democrats into the Republican Party in past national elections. They know about Connally's conspiracy with Allan Shivers this year to recruit a former Republican to try to defeat Texas' only Democratic U. S. Senator, Ralph Yarborough, in the Democratic primary.

Democrat Don Yarborough is the only candidate for governor of Texas who would help carry the nation for Lyndon Johnson's election this fall.

It's the Law in TEXAS

LAW IS ADAPTABLE
We are all familiar with the fact that there have been a multitude of changes in the past few years which have altered the course of industry and science—in fact, the changes of human history. Natural changes also have called for changes or modifications in the law of the land.

Fortunately the original makers of law knew they couldn't possibly foresee all that the future held, so they provided methods of changing the law. In this way, if a law became outdated it could be modified or even scrapped. A body of inflexible laws could be worse than no law at all.

Some persons feel the law is too rigid even with the changes permitted. However, most will agree that the entire body of law should be changed overnight or without some thought. For instance, when you make a will you want to be certain that its terms will be carried out after you are gone.

When you buy a house you certainly don't want your ownership upset overnight by an abrupt, illogical change in the law. As an example of adaptability consider a familiar object, the airplane. Years ago, a farmer in one state believed his property rights belonged straight up—to outer space. Then came the airplane. It was thought that he considered the property.

The law had to adapt to the airplane and specify just how high it was "up" when it came to property rights. Conceivably, if the farmer owned the air, he and other property owners could charge a toll and air travel could become statistically expensive. In this case, not only were existing laws modified, but an entire body of new laws was set down to govern air travel, etc. The overall process took much time and research. In fact, the changes are still being made in this area.

The advent of the atomic age has created a new set of laws. Federal maritime navigational methods have called for changes in the admiralty laws to mention another area where the flexibility of the law has been at work. With all these changes, new laws, etc., it is little wonder that the law's office is jammed with new books, periodicals and special materials. However, if it were not for the flexibility of the law, the world as we know it might not exist.

Soil Stewardship Week

We all share in land and water resources

The following article, "We All Have a Share," was written by Donald A. Killiams, administrator, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, in connection with Soil Stewardship Week.

Never is there a moment in our lives when we are not sharing in some way in the benefits from our land and water resources. Our Nation, from its beginning, has drawn its strength from these gifts which God put at our disposal. Their bountiful supply has enabled our people to thrive. And there is no reason why this should not continue to be so.

God gave us authority over His gifts. We are His stewards. In the Divine plan, we have much to do with what happens to His gifts. We can destroy their usefulness, or we can bring about for ourselves manifold blessings from their use. Tillers of the soil many years ago recognized the need for soil and water conservation on their land. They recognized also that some soil and water problems did not end at the fence line—that they and their neighbors shared a problem. And so they worked together to find a solution. They were quick to realize the interdependence of adjoining tracts of land.

The adoption of soil and water conservation systems has become a community event—the responsibility for which is shared by all. As population increases and cities fan out into the country, we become less of individuals and more a part of a community. We build our community to provide opportunities to be shared by all. We recognize the interdependence between rural and urban and between farm and nonfarm, just as between one farm and another. To accept stewardship brings great fulfillment. It brings a sense of well being when our land and waters are protected and productive, and sharing the job brings the brotherhood of man closer to

Permanently creased cottons offer a brighter sales and utilization picture for the product this spring.

A leading national sportswear manufacturer will soon market permanently creased, 100 per cent cotton semi-dress and work trousers. The new trousers, which the manufacturer claims will never need ironing, are the result of an improved delayed-cure treatment which resulted from a 1963 Cotton Producers Institute-supported research project. Some 835,000 bales of cotton are used annually in men's and boys' trousers, according to Rhea Merle Boyles, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University. Synthetics and blends threaten to reduce this total sharply, since they offer advantages over untreated cotton in appearance and ease of care. Research tests conducted at two centers, however, show that the new, permanently creased all-cotton trousers proved far superior to competitive materials in wash-wear performance.

This research also points to a greater consumption of all-cotton men's suits. Now undergoing extensive testing are durably creased all-cotton experimental suits developed in another CPI-supported study at Harris Research Laboratories, Washington, D. C., in cooperation with a high style cotton fabric house. Test results are encouraging.

The big problem in both suits and trousers has been the crease itself, the specialist says. Cotton can readily be made wrinkle resistant and given wash-wear properties by resin or chemical treatment, but once made wrinkle resistant, the fabrics are difficult to crease. The delayed-cure type finish permits the treated, dried, but not cured fabric to be manufactured into garments. After the garment itself is creased, curing permanently sets both the crease and wash-wear properties into the product.

BEEF IS FEATURED

The U. S. Department of Agriculture features beef on its List of Plentiful Foods for both April and May.

All cuts of beef rank about the same in nutritional value—lean for lean, fat for fat. The caloric content, however, depends upon the amount of fat which interlaces the lean.

Don't scorn beef with fat; marbling makes the meat more flavorful. And a well-balanced diet needs a certain amount of fat for proper digestion and utilization of the nutritive goodness in all foods.

Even ground beef needs to have a little fat in it. Choose a package with about 20 per cent fat. It will provide the most satisfying juicy flavor.

Vote For Howard Freeman

FOR Pct. 1 Commissioner GARZA COUNTY

I would like to take this means of representing myself in behalf of my candidacy for Precinct 1 Commissioner of Garza County.

I have lived in Garza County about 48 years, having engaged in farming and as a wage worker for a number of years.

I have also worked for road contractors helping build roads, and at one time worked for the Texas Highway Dept. for seven years under Jake Webb, foreman here in Garza County.

I have a fair education and think myself qualified to fill the duties of the office at both ends of the job—overseeing the county roads and also the county problems and business affairs.

If elected, I will devote my entire time to the duties of this office.

DECISION IS NEAR

The top four communities in the Texas Community Improvement Program will be known by the latter part of May. The judging process, first on the county basis, then on the district and finally on a state basis will determine the winners, reports Reanan Brown, Extension rural sociologist. He said 251 communities participated in this year's program. Awards to winning communities on each of the three levels of competition will be provided by the electric utility companies operating in Texas.

SPACE FLIGHT SUPERLATIVES

Brunswick, Ga.—The biggest caisson-type pit ever dug is being completed south of here to accommodate a 12-story-high solid fuel rocket motor to be built right in the 120-foot deep pit (photo left). The pit will also serve as a giant test bed for static firing of the six million pound thrust rocket motor. The Thiokol Chemical facility has been designed to build the largest most powerful rocket engine to date. To keep in step with the projects superlatives, the 50-foot diameter pit has eaten up 525 tons of construction steel and 23.5 million pounds of concrete. A 15-foot deep concrete plug seals the bottom. Photo on right is Jack Carlton's artist's conception of a NOVA-type rocket launch with a cluster of 108-foot tall solid fuel rockets from the Brunswick facility making up the first stage booster. SURVEY SCHEDULED FOR JULY

University of Texas research class will conduct school study in Post

Dr. Ken McIntyre, director of the Foundations of Educational Administration group at the University of Texas, has announced the Post Public Schools have been chosen for an intensive survey in July. The research study is sponsored by the Kellogg Foundation.

Post was chosen from numerous applications from throughout the state. The research task force is composed of 35 young graduate students who have been selected from throughout the state. They will be assisted by Dr. Mike Harris and Dr. Bill Barron. The group will be in Post for three days in July. Supt. Barry B. Thompson was advised of Post's selection Friday of last week.

The research task force will study birth and death ratios, future enrollment trends, the tax structure, public opinion and public support of the public schools, faculty training, facility utilization, class size, curriculum, etc. The findings of the research study will be submitted to the Board of Education and the administration in the form of a printed treatise.

Transportation and expenses will be paid by the Kellogg Foundation. The Post Public Schools and interested patrons will furnish lodging and meals to the group while they are in Post. The Kellogg Foundation sponsors one such study each year in Texas. School patrons who have an extra bedroom are asked to contact the superintendent of schools so that each researcher will have lodging for two nights.

Dr. Mike Harris will be in Post in the next two weeks to make final arrangements for the visit and research study. Supt. Thompson says the information gained by the study will be invaluable in predicting future growth and school needs for the next seven years. Final dates of the study will be announced in the near future. This study is another in a series to make the quality of education in Post second to none. The study will expedite planning on the part of the responsible officials.

Student, teacher to attend symposium

Southwestern Public Service Company is providing funds and transportation for two representatives of the Post Public Schools to attend the annual Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas, June 7-10. Outstanding students from throughout the state will be in attendance as several eminent scientists will speak.

Civil Rights Bill hit by candidate

Gordon McLendon concentrated his fire on the pending civil rights bill in the waning days of his campaign for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator.

He followed a schedule designed to reach, through personal contact and communications media, the greatest possible number of voters before the May 2 primary. His itinerary calls for thousands of miles of travel into all sections of the State by plane and helicopter.

"My opposition to the bill being debated in the Senate actually is a crusade for civil rights," he declared. "I'm not in favor of denying any of our citizens the rights granted them by the Constitution, but I am against the passage of this bill because certain sections of it threaten the civil rights of all citizens. Those provisions would deny everyone, regardless of race or national origin, the right of trial by jury and deprive us all of control over our property—including our very homes."

State Capital NEWS
By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Texans will have ample opportunity to give their views on how the state should be divided into 33 congressional districts of equal population.

A seven-member study group of Texas Legislative Council (research arm of the Legislature) plans to begin extensive hearings over the state soon after the May 2 primaries.

Congressmen and party officers already have been invited to make suggestions as to how districts should be drawn with approximately 418,000 population each.

U. S. Supreme Court has supported a Houston federal court ruling that the districts must be formed to provide "equal representation for equal numbers of people" as nearly as possible. The Houston court on April 1 agreed that the Legislature in point of service, heads the study committee which will conduct the hearings. Other members are Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. of Lardo, and Reps. Paul Floyd of Houston, Tommy Shannon of Ft. Worth, Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, Richard C. Slack of Pecos, and G. F. Mutscher of Brenham.

Gov. John Connally praised Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr for his representation of the state during the redistricting case. He said work of Carr and his assistants made it possible for the state to "hold our 1964 congressional elections without the requirement of a special session or at-large (statewide congressional) races."

COURT REFORMS — U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark came to Austin for the Texas Conference on Judicial Selection, Tenure and Administration, sponsored by the State Bar of Texas.

Two hundred and fifty lawyers, judges and laymen talked about how to improve the Texas judicial system.

Court organization and administration, and judicial selection, tenure, retirement, discipline and removal were discussed. Lawyers and judges from a dozen other states where court reforms have been enacted participated.

AGING — Governor Connally revealed that 1,400 of the 3,500 senile patients in state mental hospitals have been moved to private nursing homes in the last year.

He told his Committee on Aging that this is one method being used to better the lot of older, ill persons. Many have been sent to mental hospitals because there was no place else for them to go. But under the new Federal-state program of paying nursing home costs of the ailing aged, those not really mentally ill can be taken out of the state hospitals.

He urged the committee, headed by Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, to find further ways of bettering the lot of older Texans.

COURTS SPEAK — Fifty-third District Judge Herman Jones granted the first injunction sought by the state to enforce the new small loan act.

Action was against E. L. Praker, operator of an Austin liquor store, whom Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell alleged was lending money at rates in excess of 10 per cent without obtaining the required state license.

State Supreme Court knocked out a state law granting a landowner, whose property is surrounded by another's, right of way across the neighbor's land. Its decision, overturning lower courts, denied Baylor County rancher Wilmer Cleghorn authority to a road through the W. T. Waggoner Ranch.

An El Paso army sergeant convinced the Supreme Court it should hear arguments on April 22 in his suit for Texas voting rights. Many servicemen have complained about state regulations which permit them to vote only in the county where they resided on entering service.

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals rejected the third appeal of Billie Sol Estes from an eight-year prison sentence for swindling. However, the court made technical corrections in its earlier opinion which enables Estes to file another motion for rehearing.

Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for a Bandera County man convicted of sheep theft. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the theft of one sheep after the jury learned he had two prior convictions for passing bad checks.

Court ruled that state's attorneys had failed to prove the man's guilt, since the sheep-theft charge was filed by one rancher but testimony centered around "suspicious activities" of the convicted man in the pasture of another rancher who had not filed charges.

WATER — Oil operators in the New and Old Batson and Sour Lake Fields of Hardin County were given a warning by Texas Railroad Commission to dispose of their salt water "in satisfactory manner". However, the commission decided not to issue an order banning the use of open disposal pits.

Lower Neches Valley Authority asked for the hearings on the ground that oilfield salt water was polluting streams from which Beaumont and its industries get water.

VETERANS LAND SALE SET — Twenty-two forfeited veterans land tracts in seven counties will be offered for sale on May 12, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has announced.

Bids on the tracts in Guadalupe, Hidalgo, Maverick, Uvalde, Wilson, Zavala and Culberson Counties must be received at Sadler's office by 10 a. m. on date of sale.

OIL ALLOWABLE SET — Texas Railroad Commission set May oil production allowable at 2,800,000 barrels daily for prorated wells, based on production at 28.5 per cent of potential. That's a decrease from the 29 per cent formula of the last three months and 2,900,000 barrels daily for April.

Figure still is the highest for May in the last five years.

OPINIONS — The attorney general held in opinions:

That the new Ector County detention facilities for juveniles and adult women do not properly separate the boys from the girls and juveniles from grownups;

That county court misdemeanor defendants do not have an absolute right to see the prospective juror list before trial;

And that prison inmates are eligible for parole consideration after serving two years (one-fourth) of a two-to-eight year sentence.

Physician and wife attend convention of TMA, Houston

Dr. and Mrs. Harry A. Tubbs were in Houston last week to attend the annual convention of the Texas Medical Association, held April 22-26.

Dr. Tubbs served as chairman of the convention's general practice session and as a member of a committee appointed to study the operation of medical laboratories. He arranged the programs and presided at the presentation of lectures and also was a member of a panel on present-day treatment of the menopause.

Emphasis at the convention was on recent advances in medicine and surgical techniques, Dr. Tubbs said.

The convention speakers included Dr. Edward Annis, president of the American Medical Association; Dr. Edwin Teller, popularly known as the father of the atom bomb, and Dr. Saul Krusman of New York University and Bellvue Hospital, who was a classmate of Dr. Tubbs in medical school. Dr. Krusman is a professor at NYU and head pediatrician at Bellvue.

Dr. and Mrs. Tubbs left Post Saturday afternoon, April 18, visiting in Eagle Pass with Mr. and Mrs. Errol Elkins, formerly of Post, and then making a brief visit to Mexico. They drove to Corpus Christi over the new Padre Island road and from there to Houston.

Insurance rates to vary, board hearing indicates

AUSTIN — North and northwest Texas residents may pay 25 per cent more for homeowners and extended dwelling coverage as a result of hail and tornado damage.

Counties on the Gulf will experience a 4.4 per cent hike for the homeowner package coverage, but dwelling extended coverage is due to drop 3.6 per cent. The State Board of Insurance indicated after a hearing with industry representatives.

In other parts of the state, homeowner rates may decline some 5.2 per cent and dwelling extended coverage 16.1 per cent.

The home fire insurance loss experience rate increase was seen as 3.3 per cent statewide.

Screwworm program is labeled great success

AUSTIN — Seven samples of screwworms were confirmed in March by state and federal animal health officials, who figure this is an indication of phenomenal success of the screwworm eradication program.

Dr. Ted Rea of the U. S. Department of Agriculture office in Austin said a March total before the program would have come to about 3,000 screwworm confirmations and, back then, reporting was only about 10 per cent. Now, the reporting rate for Texas livestock producers is up to about 97 per cent.

In other parts of the state, homeowner rates may decline some 5.2 per cent and dwelling extended coverage 16.1 per cent.

The home fire insurance loss experience rate increase was seen as 3.3 per cent statewide.

New Prometryne herbicide works wonders for Texas cotton

Prometryne® 80W brings a new dimension to cotton weed control in the South Plains. It offers a one-herbicide program that will take care of most weeds from planting to picking. Apply Prometryne preemergence or postemergence or at layby, or at all three times if weed conditions so dictate.

Gets tough weeds...including carelessnessweed
Three years of research by State and Federal researchers in Texas proved the effectiveness of Prometryne in controlling most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses in cotton. It does an outstanding job, for example, in handling carelessnessweed (pigweed).

Versatility of application
Prometryne is extremely versatile. You can use it as preemergence spray at planting. You can use it as a directed postemergence spray after both weeds and cotton are up. You can spray it at layby to control weeds through the rest of the season. Use it once, twice, three times...whatever weed conditions dictate.

How Prometryne works
Applied preemergence, Prometryne is carried into the soil by rainfall or overhead irrigation. It is absorbed by germinating weed roots and soon they die. No need to work Prometryne into soil. Applied after weeds are up, Prometryne kills by direct action on weed foliage and through roots.

Safe to use
Prometryne is safe to cotton when used according to label directions. It leaves no residues in cotton seed. It is safe to handle and non-irritating to humans and animals. A fall seeded crop should not be planted in the same year following the application of Prometryne 80W.

Available this spring
Since this is the introductory year for Prometryne, only limited quantities are available. Plan to make a preemergence application to at least a portion of your acreage at planting. Then follow through with postemergence and/or layby treatments if necessary. See what outstanding, economical weed control you can have.

To order Prometryne, or for more information, contact your supplier, or: Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Division of Geigy Chemical Corporation, Saw Mill River Road, Ardsley, N.Y.

Screwworm fly barrier endorsed by Yarborough

AUSTIN — Sen. Ralph Yarborough today expressed strong support of the proposal that the Federal government assume full responsibility for maintaining the screwworm fly barrier south of the Rio Grande since eradication has been achieved in Texas and the Southwest.

The livestock producer groups of the Southwest asked the agriculture sub-committee of the House Appropriations Committee to increase the money budgeted for the program from $2,750,000 to $5,500,000.

"The ranchers of Texas and the state government had the imagination to set this program started with federal matching money," Senator Yarborough said. "Now the screwworm fly has been driven south of the Rio Grande. It has become a national problem and an international one."

"I believe this is a proper function of the federal government, and will so urge when the bill gets to the Senate. It must be carried on."

Senator Yarborough noted that his Democratic primary opponent, Gordon McLendon, said when asked at a press conference in Austin about the screwworm program that it is "a local issue I am not fully informed on."

"He is seldom informed on problems of Texas," Yarborough said. "Texans do not want an uninformed senator who has not bothered to learn about these important programs."
