Dispatch Editorials

THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1963

It's simple enough, Harold

Our good friend, Harold Hudson, publisher of the Perryton Sunday Herald, asked a question in a recent editorial, "What's a Vote Worth?". We're giving him the answer.

Harold, who is worried about replacing the $1.75 poll tax with a permanent Texas registration law, wondered in print how voting lists would be purged to get off the names of those who had died or moved away if Texas enacted a permanent registration law.

By a permanent registration law is meant one in which the voter does not have to register each year as long as he stays in the same precinct, stays alive, stays in the same party, and

The answer to Hudson's question is that the "purging" comes when the voter fails to vote in a general election. After such elections all who failed to vote would be removed from the rolls and would have to register again to become eligible to vote.

That takes care of the move outs, the deaths, and the lazy.

What permanent registration does is to save whole lot of bookwork on somebody's partbookwork that costs the taxpayers a lot of money They have been paying for it directly with the poll tax. When the poll tax is gone-which won't be long because its ban soon will become a U. S. constitutional amendment when ratified by only six or seven more state legislatures-the bookwork will have to be paid through some other taxes.

For the life of us we can't see why so many folks are scared of dropping a tax for a change and getting along with less bookwork .-- JC

Forgery spree brings a warning

The law enforcement officer who gave The Dispatch its number one news story last week, of the ex-convict being charged here on two forgery counts, said at the time he hoped the story would serve as a warning to merchants to be careful about cashing checks for strangers.

The forger might never have been apprehended if an employe at the last of five firms at which he passed a forged check before leaving town had not taken down the license plate number of the car the man was driving and had not been suspicious enough to telephone the bank about the check the man had given him.

Many check forgers are smooth operators and sometimes succeed in bilking even the most astute business man. But they wouldin't have a chance if every business man they came up against exercised the same caution as the one here who was responsible for the forger's apprebension

"Merchants can be a big help to us in apprehending check forgers and passers if they'll just demand identification and use other precautions,"

Also a big help, if all members will take full advantage of it, is the Retail Merchants Association's telephone alert system on suspicious check passers. The way it works is that if one member of the RMA sees good reason for turning down a stranger's request to cash a check, he is asked pick up his tlephone and relay a warning to another RMA member, who, in turn, will call an-

Lets give our park a name

More often than you might think, one of The Dispatch's back-shop employes comes up with a good idea, and when one of those ideas plants. the germ for an editorial then we consider it doub-

"Why don't you write an editorial this week about us needing a new name for the park?" one of our back-shop employes asked Friday.

Until the question was asked, we hadn't stopped to consider how many years we'd referred to the park as the City-County Park, but after we'd given it some thought we realized it had been ever since the City of Post and Garza County had combined their efforts to develop the park and that's been four years ago at least.

We've referred to our steadily expanding and developing park as the City-County Park for want of a better name and because we wanted to give both branches of local government due credit for taking over the park and for developing it.

Honestly, though, don't you agree with our back-shop employe that we could come up with a better name for the park?

What does the park board think? Why not conduct a contest with a modest, but attractive, cash prize offered for the best name? You'd be surprised how many parks, lakes, dams, thoroughfares, freeways, shopping centers, streets, etc. have been named that way

Our City-County Park has developed and is being used to the extent that it is worthy of a more attractive name -CD

School banquets better than ever

April, which rarely brings showers in this part of the country, is giving way to May, and May is the month in which things begin picking up at the schools for the big summer vacation 'let-down.

We've noticed that schools finally have caught on and try to get as many year-end activities as possible out of the way from about the middle of April on, so that the final three weeks of the school term won't be too crowded.

have been held within the last two weeks, and what we're really trying to get around to saying is that school banquets are better than ever from the standpoint of attendance, program-attraction, student participation, and so forth.

A lion's share of the credit for better school banquets must go, of course, to the students and to their faculty sponsors. But some of the credit is due the patrons themselves, especially the parents, whose interest and sacrifices in banquet Take banquets, for instance. At least four preparations help make them the success they are.

What our contemporaries are saying

Raising a beard is about the only thing left in this modern age that a woman can't do .- Al Hinds in The Haskell Free Press.

Seeing all these 1963 cars on the road makes you realize that you certainly have to give the American people a lot of credit.-Harold Hudson in The Ochiltree County Herald.

The Golden Rule is old, but still some of the best advice in the world. In fact it is as good as ever because it has not been used enough to wear it any -The Hamilton Herald-News.

Hard work may not kill anybody, but, occasionally, it sure wears one down.-The Olney Enterprise

Really, what makes America great, and enables us to mass produce, is the enlarged buying power of American consumers, brought about by skillfully developed consumer credit.

For every dollar bill in circulation in this country today there is at least "nine credit dollars" keeping the wheels of business and industry turning.

An important part of this credit is consumer credit—extended by merchants to their customers to enable them to enjoy the good things of American life as they pay for them.

Your Post merchants offer you consumer credit on a broad scale.

The Retail Merchants Association of Post primarily is a credit organization, affiliated with state and national RMA organizations. Through its readily available credit information, RMA enables your merchants to extend credit to all who want it—and qualify for it—more quickly and efficiently.

IF YOU'RE STILL around and not utterly confused, you should be thankful that you're not living in one of those areas of the United States that have just gone on Day-light Saving Time, because if you were you more than likely would be - utterly confused, I mean.

Clocks were moved up an hour Sunday in those areas observing daylight time and the annual period of confusion about what time it is began. The idea, of course, is to take advantage of the longer daylight of summer, and the practice gives everyone who works an extra hour of daylight to engage in whatever activities he may wish.

THE CONFUSION arises principally from the fact that Daylight Saving Time is not observed na-More than half of the states do observe it, but a number of cities and counties in some of the states which have not adopted also turn their clocks up. Additional confusion is caused by the fact that 11 states observe Day light Saving Time from the end of April to the end of October, but 17 others begin or terminate it in other months.

The net result of this scattered observance of Daylight Saving Time is that nobody ever is quite sure what time of day it is without stopping to do a little figuring and determining whether standard or daylight time applies.

"Building Christian Character"

The steps for building were outlined last week. Now, consideration should be given to factors that influence de-

Early training as a child has the greatest amount of influence on the final structure. Religious training should begin before birth. A child will not depart from his early training Prov. 22.6.

Another factor is the influence of the present environment. This is simply the conditions in which one lives-the school, recreation, friends, or society in general. The general character of these influences the general character of the individual. Bad influence has as much effect as good influence

Another factor is the influence of inward stimuli. This involves one's emotional make up—his desires, aspirations, temperaments, and convictions. The mind is also an inner factor. Someone has said, "We are what we think about all day long." This idea comes from the Bible. Prov. 23.7.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

IF YOU KNEW WHAT HE KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING THE 1963 TOTAL PERFORMANCE FORD

Ford is traditionally the nation's Number One police car. The reason: Total Performance!

When it comes to cars the police don't take chances, Put yourself in a State Trooper's shoes. Every day you must patrol hundreds of miles in your cruiser. Mileage and time grind into a man and his machine, but when the bell rings you've got to be ready. Chase. Turn. Corner. Quick stop. You've got to be able to do it all if you're going to do your job. Listen to a trooper list the reasons why he prefers a Ford and you realize how difficult it is for any car to measure up to his standards. The car must be strong ... it has to stand up to big mileage. It must be silent . . . when you practically live in a car a rattle can sound like a kettle drum. It must be swift ... powerful enough to catch any car on the road. It must be sure... dependable even in the face of the unexpected. Strong. Silent, Swift, Sure. A four-word outline of total performance The police demand it. That is why they choose the total performance Ford. Why should you settle for anything less?

Whatever your special demands and needs, the total performance Ford is the car most likely to satisfy you all the way down the line. You can prove this for yourself

First, look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's, and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance could roll up so many impressive wins.

Second, before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery - if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance . . . total performance.

I hurriedly explained to Mrs. Jones that I was no expert but just loved flowers. She had been interviewed and had pictures taken of her iris gardens by two "experts" from Lubbock the day be fore and I didn't want her to think she had to speak in the same language to us.

Even with the wind blowing at gale speed, one felt at peace with the world amid all that beauty, I learned that Mrs. Jones really started her gardens after the death of her husband and a year of living in Post. Back to the farm the went and created her lovely gardens. The roses and irises can't be described. You'll just have to go see

Mrs. Jones belongs to two groups that write an iris-robin (sort of like a chain letter) passing along hints and information about growing irises. She also corresponds with others that have gardens, One interesting bit, I thought, was when she pointed out several guestirises. These plants belong to a man in Oregon and they are visiting Mrs. Jones. If he needs them to sell, he can write and ask her to send them to him. If at the end of three years he hasn't sent for them, they become permanent guests in her garden. She reports to him on the condition, so suppose this all ties in with what type grows best where.

Down the road a piece we drop-ped in on Mrs. C. M. Greer, I thought nothing could compare to what we had just seen, but I was wrong. Iris and roses, bluebonnets and larkspur were everywhere. Mrs. Greer had another specially she'd never mentioned if we hadn't noticed all the potted plants in her front windows as we were leaving-this speciality was African violets and who doesn't love Our last stop was the home of

Mrs. Cleo King. Again I thought, this can't compare to the other three gardens and again I was wrong. The beautiful iris were everywhere but so were the most gorgeous white, blue and pink larkspur I have ever seen. They didn't just look double, they looked quadrupled and were so heavy they could hardly stand up in the stiff wind that was blowing. Mrs. King also has day lilies that should be blooming in about a month and are a joy to behold. These ladies were all delightful our guides and are happy to share the beauty of their gardens. Take them up on it and GO. I could see their influence all over that area. Most everyone has an iris garden and it is contagious. I've decided that is what we need to do with our big empty back yard. However, my thumb is a very pale shade of green. I'm convinced that Mmes. Hoover, Jones, Greer and King have green hands.

I'm sorry that I didn't get to see Mrs. Walker's garden. I've heard so much about it and know that she invents (that shows how much of a gardener I am) her own in-ises. I saw one she presented to Mrs. Jones appropriately named "Emma", Mrs. Jones' first name.

The proper time to go view these gardens is early in the morning before the sun and wind take their toll. I'm toying with the idea of jumping out of bed about 6 a. m. in the morning and taking Mr. C sleepy head me might have trouble

Who needs muscles?

Do you know how easy it is to take a corner with a Corvair or park one? Turn this newspaper sideways and it will give you a pretty good idea. The wheel handles just about that easily. The Corvair's engine is in the rear, for not only greater traction, but more balanced weight distribution. And that's what makes the steering so completely effortless.

The engine is air cooled, too. No radiator. No water or antifreeze. No boiling over or freezing up to worry about. It takes the weather and the terrain as it comes.

So think about those trips to the beach this summer, those bright sunny days and balmy recondit nights.
