Warren said that if resident with junked automobiles on their premises will call the City Hall arrangements will be made to have the abandoned autos hauled off before the clean-up drive starts.

He also said the city will haul off piles of old lumber or other waste matter if a resident does so by the people whose premises they are on.

Warren said plans are "a stage the clean-up drive" this month or early in June and that a more effective "can be done if junked automobiles and other "big loads" of junk are hauled away before the drive.

RUNOFF RACE LOOMS

J. E. Parker (left) and E. E. (Elva) Peel are in the June 4 runoff for Garza County judge following Saturday's first primary election. Judge Parker seeks re-election to the office.

Farmers help sought in check on weevils

County Agent Syd Conner called for the cooperation of Garza farmers today for the selection of 120 cotton fields to be checked at two week intervals June through August in the third year of the boll weevil control program.

He said the fields must be located in the boll weevil control zone, which means mostly below the caprock.

Conner said he would like farmers to contact his office or the crops committee by next week and "let us know if you want your fields checked and if so, which fields."

Conner explained the selection of the 120 fields must be made and certified to the control office by May 19 by the county.

It was pointed out by one of the board members that this is not the first year the situation has existed, but that the only time the school board has appealed to baseball league officials about it they were told that the early start is necessary for the local leagues to be affiliated with the national organizations because of playoff dates later in the summer.

Supt. Shiver said he had instructed the schools' teaching staff not to lower scholastic standards because of a student's participation in the baseball program. "But you're fighting a big problem," he said.

One board member suggested that the cutting down of the time of baseball practice sessions might help overcome the problem.

The resolutions of thanks adopted by the board, with letters to the board, will appear on page 8.

Dispatch Editorials

THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1966

Library will need volunteer help

Library developments here last week virtually assured the opening of a City Library in City Hall sometime early this summer.

The city council approved plans to remodel empty space in City Hall for library use last week and it shouldn't be long before the new quarter are ready for occupancy.

In the meantime, a field representative of the Texas State Library has come to Post, approved the location as "ideal", and promised the loan of state books to the library for a children's summer reading program and for adult reading too.

The Friends of a Public Library, the new local library "booster club", is busy at work on looking into the possibility of obtaining necessary equipment for a City Library, which already has a good book start in books now in the high school library under city ownership.

The city for the present cannot go further financially than to remodel the library quarters and provide its present book supply. The money simply hadn't been allocated into this year's city budget for the library development—as such action would have had to be made over a year ago.

That means that to get the library into summer operation this year volunteer help will be needed to catalog books, set up procedures, and to serve on the checkout desk during hours the library is open to the public.

This should not be any real problem either. The Pink Ladies of the Women's Auxiliary of Garza Memorial Hospital have set us an excellent example of what the women of this community can do and want to do in community service.

The library will offer a similar opportunity for real community service and the library should have no difficulty when the time comes in establishing some such similar volunteer group.

The fact remains there is not enough money in anyone's pocket to hire personnel. A voluntary effort will be the required answer and it can be done under supervision so that it will not require but a few hours of "woman hours" a week for each volunteer.

A library for the Post area offers unlimited opportunity for real benefit to this community and a real opportunity to serve.

Undoubtedly a thousand or more very usable books will be donated to the library when an organized call is made for books. Another avenue for library development is through both gifts and bequests.

Bequests in wills have accounted for the progress of thousands of libraries across the nation. How better could reasonable amounts of money left over from a busy lifetime be put to excellent use for the benefit of the community in which one has lived a rich and rewarding life?

These are just some of the many things the Friends of a Public Library will be tackling in the weeks ahead. One of the major immediate goals will be a greatly expanded membership to offer the opportunity for help and service to the hundreds here who are vitally interested in the establishment and steady growth of a good, community library.

Libraries grow best from small beginnings in which members of the community work together for its development. Post and its area is now embarking upon such a true educational adventure.

Don't you want to be a part under excellent leadership? There is room for everyone to share his talents for the benefit of all in this enterprise.

Why not join today if you haven't already and make your contribution in ideas, service, money, and books as the needs arise?—JC

Support cotton; vital to economy

Everytime you buy a cotton product, you're investing in the economic future of Garza County, this area and this state.

Sound far-fetched? It's not. Our economic growth is closely identified with that of cotton. And consumer demand for cotton products is important to the expansion of the cotton industry, not only in this area, but in the state and nation as a whole.

In Texas alone, cash receipts from farm marketings in 1964 amounted to $741,898,000. This was 27.9 per cent of the value of all crops and livestock produced in Texas.

There are 80,918 cotton-producing farms in the state, as well as 1,339 gins, 140 warehouses, 47 cottonseed oil mills, and 18 spinning mills, including our own Postex Mills, where the manufacture of sheets and pillowcases helps make "cotton big in the bedroom."

From cotton grown and processed in Garza County and the rest of Texas come end-use products that range from clothes to cooking oil (a major market for cottonseed oil).

Let's take a look at the contribution to the cotton industry of some of these manufacturers of end-use products.

—America's shirt makers used 322,000 bales of cotton last year—104,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's pajama makers used 282,000 bales of cotton last year—41,000 bales more than in 1961.

in 1961. —America's work clothes makers used 1,121,000 bales of cotton last year—131,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's auto makers last year used 166,000 bales of cotton—13,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's towel makers used 593,000 bales of cotton last year—175,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's bedding makers used 1,168,000 bales of cotton last year—184,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's coat and jacket makers used 130,000 bales of cotton last year—4,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's canvas makers last year used 149,000 bales of cotton—10,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's diaper makers used 91,600 bales of cotton last year.

—America's men's wear makers used 2,826,000 bales of cotton last year—311,000 bales more than in 1961.

—America's play clothes makers used 322,000 bales of cotton last year—59,000 bales more than in 1961.

As consumers, we can help support the cotton industry in our county and in our state by choosing cotton products when we buy. Let's remember that this national Cotton Week.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

One nice thing about putting words on paper, you don't have to remember what you said . . .

they stare at you when you goof.—The Danville (Ind.) Gazette.

SINCE I HAD a rather busy weekend with the election, I'm turning this week's column over to three contributors. One of the contributors, who was a candidate for county office this year, handed me one day last week the following clipping, which has appeared here before, but is always well worth reading again after an election. It is a report on campaign expenditures a candidate supposedly filed as required by election laws:

"Lost 1,347 hours of sleep thinking about the election; lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in a personal encounter with opponent; donated a beef, four pigs and five sheep to community barbecue; gave away two pairs of suspenders, four calico dresses, $50 in cash and 13 baby rattlers; chopped 132 acres of cotton; kissed 126 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; put up two stoves; walked 4,074 miles, shook 9,507 hands; told 10,101 lies; talked enough to fill 693 books; attended 16 revival meetings; baptized four times by immersion, twice in other ways; contributed $47.85 to foreign missions; made love to nine grass widows; spent $103 at box supper; hugged 49 old maids; bitten by dogs 47 times. Was defeated."

The other contributor was a newspaper clipping proclaiming the formation of the National Association for Clergybird Classification and Preservation (NACCP). The article was written by the Rev. John R. Hendrick, pastor of Covenant Church in San Antonio.

The Rev. Mr. Hendrick writes that many unsuspecting clergybirds are being fired upon, especially those who appear to have a pink hue. It was for their protection that the NACCP was formed.

Of the clergybirds' nesting habits, the Rev. Mr. Hendrick says they do not ordinarily build nests, but usually accept whatever nests are provided them by clergybird lovers. He claims that some clergybirds will not migrate while others never seem to become permanent residents anywhere.

They tend to court and mate like other species of birds except for the Ecclasticus Romanus, which significantly chooses not to mate.

The author has noted several different voice characteristics of clergybirds, one of which is "deliberate, slow, one-note and then fading out." Another clergybird's voice was described as "hoarse, nasal and resonant voice (like a donkey with a sore throat)."

Clergybirds, he said, can be domesticated with very little effort. There are clergybirds who will eat right out of the hand of those that feed them.

Clergybirds tend to flock together and are in their best plumage on Sundays, according to the writer. On that day each week they try to make pleasing sounds to everyone.

The San Antonio pastor classifies clergybirds as follows:

1. Two-year church switcher.
2. Limp-limbed handcripper.
3. Ivory-tufted hailfellow.
4. Double-chinned diet dodger.
5. Smooth-talking say-nothing.
6. Fosdick's sermon swiper.
7. Broad-smiling compromiser.
8. Wide-eyed member counter.
9. Yellow-bellied knuckleunder.
10. Preying member snitcher.
11. Strong-minded people pusher.
12. Swift-adding money minder.
13. Rosette do-gooder.
14. Broad-tailed office percher.
15. Long-faced killjoy.
16. Full-breasted bull shoveler.
17. Chicken-livered issue ducker.
18. Purple-throated pulpit pounder.
19. Scarlet-crested riot reader.
20. Speckled elder sniper.

KEEPING AN eye peeled for one or more of the above varieties of clergybirds should keep local bird watchers busy for weeks.

I'm running out of space, so I'll hold off on the third contribution until next week.

Certain restrictions in new GI Bill for post-Korean veterans

Post-Korean veterans planning to take advantage of the educational provisions of the new GI Bill should bear in mind certain restrictions, Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco said today.

The new bill does not permit apprenticeship courses and other on-the-job or on-the-farm training, such as were authorized under previous GI Bills.

Flight training by itself alone will not be permitted. It will become authorized only when it is part of a complete college or university program leading to a definite degree.

Veterans discharged from the Armed Forces after Jan. 31, 1955, will be eligible for benefits after June 1, 1966. To be paid for the month of June 1966, the veteran must continue in school for the entire month. Full information may be obtained in any VA office and in most colleges and educational centers.

Frost causes the cotton plant to shed leaves naturally.

COTTON FIBER—As the cotton fiber matures, the cell formed by the primary wall (A) is filled by successive daily deposits of cellulose in layers. (D) First layer deposited within original cell. (B) Central layers. (C) Innermost layer. (E) Lumen and residual protoplasm.

Cotton's strength is found within fiber

The secret of cotton's absorbency, wet strength, softness, durability, and hollow tube emerges from a cell in the seed wall—one tube from each of the thousands of cells.

As each tube grows, it must bend back and forth, for altogether about a million fibers are growing within the restricted space of the closed cotton boll.

The growing tube is filled with protoplasm, the stuff of life. When the tube has grown to its full length, nature begins to transform sugars of the protoplasm into layers of cellulose—a new layer each day.

Each layer of cellulose has a complicated structure of its own. It is made up of fibrils, too small to be seen through an ordinary microscope. These fibrils help give cotton its strength. Other cellulose between them gives cotton its flexibility.

As layers of the fiber build up, they form a complicated but orderly series of spirals, something like a spring. This complex structure gives cotton its combination of strength and durability with absorbency and comfort.

After 20 to 30 layers have been formed and the boll has opened, the fiber dries into a flat, twisted, ribbon-like shape. The fibers kink together and interlock, forming a strong compact thread, ideal for spinning into fine strong yarn.

Unlike artificial fibers, cotton can be improved through plant breeding. Scientists cross and re-cross various strains to produce varieties with greater length, strength, and fiber fineness. This means better spinning performance, superior yarns, and more versatile fabrics.

Further improvements result from chemical research and new manufacturing processes, producing a whole new array of cotton textiles.

Bonds sales total for quarter told

Savings Bond sales for the first three months of 1966 in Garza County totaled $32,643.75. Of this amount, $110,143.75 were purchased during March, according to a report released by J. B. Potts, chairman of the Garza County Savings Bonds Committee.

Sales in Texas for the first quarter of 1966 amounted to $38,640,779, which represents 26 per cent of the state's goal of $147.3 million.

"We are delighted to report that Series E and H bond sales during the month of March were 12.5 per cent greater than March 1965," Potts said. "This fine sales increase can be attributed to the fact that the interest rate on Savings Bonds was raised recently to 4.15 per cent, compounded semi-annually when held to maturity."

'Spy From the Cold' starts here Sunday

"The Spy Who Came in from the Cold," a stunning new age thriller, opens Sunday at Tower Theatre and runs through Tuesday.

The powerful film co-stars Richard Burton, Claire Bloom and John Le Carré, the best-selling author of the book. The play is a gritty, intense portrait of the chilling battle between the East and West.

The number of state and government employees has increased by about 4 million since 1960.

Also, more American citizens are putting part of their savings in U.S. Savings Bonds to help support our fighting men in Viet Nam.

ALL WEEVIL PROGRAM
Uniform cotton planting will aid the total boll control effort in Garza County. According to County Agent Syd Conner, said that entomologists have recommended that in the boll weevil control program their cotton planting be at least May 10 to May 20. Uniform cotton planting allows more weevil buildups and usults in larger weevil populations by mid-summer.

TOUR DALLAS

Mrs. Ethel Redman returned last week from a trip to Dallas with her daughter, Mrs. Carlos Aleyander of Lovington, N.M. They visited points of interest in Dallas and toured Scottish Rite Hospital where their daughter and sister, Wanda Redman, was a patient several years ago.

An estimated 20,000 new automobile mechanics are required every year to replace those who retire, die or are promoted, the Automobile Manufacturer's Association discloses.

The combination pasture has helped owner Harry Igo to greatly lower feed expense for his 66 head of registered Angus cattle this past fall and winter.

A few others are beginning to try interplanting of small grains in Midland pastures on the High Plains, says Hale County Agent Ollie Limer. However, Igo's system seems to be the most successful attempt so far, he said.

Forage production is not as great as with conventional wheat pastures, Limer said, but he believes the system could benefit hundreds of cattlemen in West Texas because it stretches Midland pastures for almost year around use.

A sod drill, fertilizer and good management are credited for the success of Igo's double-grass pasture, according to the county agent.

The drill used to plant the stand is especially designed for grass seeding in established sod and native range. It is equipped with large coulters and rugged shanks that penetrate the turf to give good placement of seed and fertilizer.

Igo's seeder plants four rows on 20-inch centers. When the field was planted in mid-September, the seeder was doubled back over some parts of the pasture to give 10-inch rows and driven both ways in other parts to make a criss-cross pattern.

The seeder also did a good job of renovating the Bermudagrass, Limer said. It tore up matted sod, he said, allowing aeration of the soil and improving water penetration, particularly on the caliche slopes.

About one bushel of wheat was planted per acre and 100 pounds of 18-46-0 and 100 of ammonium nitrate per acre were banded two inches below the seed.

Five hundred selected Texas high school students and teachers are invited to the symposium, which is presented by the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, of which the electric company is a charter member. The students are selected to attend because of their aptitudes and interest in science.

The nation's leading nuclear scientists will deliver the lectures and lead the discussions at the symposium. Among the subjects to be covered are nuclear physics, the atom and electric power, science and man's future and other fields related to thermonuclear research. In addition, those attending will have an opportunity to visit the laboratory facilities of the University of Texas.

Rickey is interested in athletics and a member of the National Honor Society, Science and Math Club, and is Student Council President.

To a motorist who still hasn't put a Tiger in his tank.

You're a skeptic. Good. Then you're going to be a good customer, if we can ever win you. We showed you proof on television that High-energy Enco Extra cleans your carburetor while you drive. (Probably you said, "So what? My car still runs.") We told you it improves firing power, helps prevent hot spots and misfiring and gives you the high octane to help you take off like a cat. (You drove right on by.) It's frustrating to develop a gasoline that gives this kind of performance and then not even have you try it. Did you know new High-energy Enco Extra is more powerful than aviation gasoline of just a few years ago?

That the Tiger is now the favorite of motorists all over the world? And that Jimmy Clark became the World's Champion Race Driver with a Tiger in his tank? So why not "Put a Tiger in Your Tank?" "Happy Motoring!"

1966 reporting plans on cotton pests told
COLLEGE STATION — Better and more complete reporting of the cotton insect situation in Texas is the objective of the 1966 insect survey program.
 For the purpose of reporting, the state has been divided into six areas, said Joe Rothe, state agricultural agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He added that the Service's area entomologists will serve as coordinators for the program.
 Don Rummel, Lubbock, will serve the High Plains area.
 Each of the coordinators will make a weekly cotton insect situation report for his area release on Tuesday of each week. He will also report to the state headquarters at College Station and a state-wide report will be prepared.

IN FAVOR—White is the No. 1 color in all fashion categories for '66, and Maid of Cotton Nancy Bernard chooses it for a dashing rain and shine outfit. In water-repellent cotton whipcord, the coat is distinguished by smart welt seaming and pocket detailing. By Peter Conte of Pumpkin Corner.

TIMELY FASHION—The all-important ensemble look is underscored in a three-piece cotton tweed boldly patterned in giant houndstooth checks. The flyaway short-sleeved jacket, sleeveless overblouse, and A-line skirt add up to a fashionable silhouette for Maid of Cotton Nancy Bernard. A Teal Trains design.

Maid of Cotton Fashions

Fashion wears a different look for all hours this season . . . and 1966 Maid of Cotton Nancy Bernard looks fashionably different in each style from her versatile new travel wardrobe.

As diverse as the designs are, they all have a common denominator: fabulous cotton.

Textures range from boldly-patterned tweeds to fragile laces. Colors go from the all-important whites to brights. Styles vary from the smartly tailored to the softly feminine. In all, Maid Nancy has the right outfit for any and every occasion on her activity-filled agenda that will take her to 37 cities in the United States and Canada as cotton's fashion emissary. She also goes to Europe this spring via Pan-American jet clipper for appearances in Italy and Austria.

How wonderful to see God through the eyes of a child. The wonder of bright blue eggs in a nest of twigs, the path of the wind through tossing treetops, moonlight dancing on a lake. All these are to him the fingerprints of God.

Too often we are caught up in a world of worry and concern. Worrying how to make ends meet, we forget to stop and see God in the world around us. Jesus said, "Whosoever shall not receive the Kingdom of God as a little child shall in no wise enter therein."

Your church offers you moments of worship and inspiration, so that you may see all things bright and beautiful and find for yourself the Kingdom of God as He reveals it daily through the beauty of His earth.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OUR READERS Write

FORMER RESIDENT WRITES

Dear Mr. Editor:
I was sent, through the courtesy of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee, the April 14 issue of the Post Dispatch. I very much appreciate their kindness in sending me this copy of your interesting newspaper, as I thoroughly enjoyed reading it.

I was particularly interested in reading of the dedication of the marker which was scheduled to be held April 17. I would have so enjoyed being present at that event, since three of my kin were remembered and honored by having their names inscribed on the marker, as well as the names of my old friends.

Judge J. M. Boren, whose name is on the marker, was — he and his family — old friends of my family. In fact, my sister, the late Joella Murray Berquist, was named for Mrs. Boren. My beloved father, H. B. Murray, was the first county clerk, and my well loved uncle, O. B. Kelly, was the first sheriff. He married my mother's sister, Lulu Elkins. Uncle Sam Wilks, or rather great-uncle, was on the board of county commissioners. He married America Elkins, a sister of my grandfather, Thomas Macey Elkins. I hope one day to see the marker. The Historical Society is to be highly commended for honoring our pioneers in this way.

I also greatly enjoyed reading a letter which was in your paper from Mattie Dyer Morris. Bless her heart. She worked for my father long ago. Mrs. Morris mentioned my aunt, Miss Dy Vena Elkins, stating that she was one of the first teachers in Post, but that she was Miss Elkins, not Mrs., and a lovely young lady. She is still Miss Elkins and a lovely lady, although no longer young. She has been retired now for some years and leads a very active life what with her club work and teaching an adult Sunday school class in the Baptist church in Denver. She flies down to pay my husband and me a visit occasionally and at such times we usually drive down to pay a visit to my cousins, Billy, Peggy and Bud Kelly, children of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Kelly.

Mrs. Morris stated, also, that my father, H. B. Murray, married an Elkins. He did; he married my beloved mother, Rena America Elkins. Further, she said, father and mother had two children, Hazel and Don. They also had John Thomas and Joella, as well as me, Mary Frances. Thank you, dear Mrs. Morris, for remembering my father and inquiring about him. For your information, Dad lived out his life as a newspaperman. He died on June 4, 1940, in Berkeley, Calif., at the home of my sister, Mrs. Kenneth McIntyre. Mother spent her last years with me. She died here at my home on July 23, 1956.

Reading of old times in Garza County brought back many memories to me. It is a lovely land, in spite of the sand storms, inhabited by unusual and wonderful people.

Mr. Editor, I would like to subscribe to the Post Dispatch, and enclose my check. I would like, also, if possible, to have four copies of the issue of the paper which contains an account of the marker dedication.

Wishing you and yours, and the dear people of Post, the very best of everything, I am,

Sincerely yours,
Mary Frances Murray Seward

KNOWING RIGHT FROM WRONG

Men live by moral values. The ideas of right and wrong, good and evil, true and false are as old as mankind. All who would find real meaning in their lives never give up the search for goodness and right and truth. The men who teach that these values do not exist have not only given them up, but they spend their lives trying to persuade their fellow men to join in their surrender.

Freedom and morality are partners; so are freedom and truth. Without morality and truth, freedom cannot survive. What is good and right and true is not just a task for philosophers; it is the responsibility of every constructive citizen and every thoughtful person. Those who would give up the very idea of goodness, right and truth because they are not satisfied with the way most people understand them now, would destroy the very meaning of life. Only by knowing right and seeking the truth can men make their lives worthwhile.

If the idea of right and wrong have no meaning, then justice has no meaning. If justice is merely a myth, then law will cease to serve it. The structure of law is based on precedent, which in turn is based on logic and a quest for the correct application of general principles to particular cases. This means that to every question asked in law, there is a logically right answer based on precedent and principle, as well as a just answer, based on general concepts of moral value.

Sometimes justice and logic of precedent seemed in the past to be on opposite sides and much was made of these comparatively rare instances by critics of law. Much more often, justice and the logic of precedent were in agreement. On one hand law and on the other disrespect for others' rights and property.

The history of law is the history of a constant struggle between the arbitrary whim of dictators and legislators of all kinds, and concept of justice. Justice is a profoundly moral idea; it is the foundation of a system for applying principles of what is right and what is wrong to a whole community.

Law is ennobled when it serves justice. Law is debased when it serves mere power seekers. Few seem to realize that if you do away with the very idea of good and evil, you will have no occasion to forgive and to be merciful, because no action that anyone takes can be morally condemned in the first place, no matter how evil and destructive it may be.

LUBBOCK VISITORS

Mrs. Mansil Richardson and children and Mrs. Bill Williams of Lubbock visited one day last week with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Stephens.

The low-priced high-price car.

Low-priced because it's a Catalina with a sticker that's within reach of a lot of low-priced car buyers. High-priced because it has the Pontiac name and everything that goes with it. Like a full 121 inches of road-leveling wheelbase. And 50 more standard horsepower than those low-priced cars offer. And steady Wide-Track ride and handling. With luxurious interiors you practically sink up to your knees in. (And, of course, standard safety items like a padded dashboard.) All backed up by Pontiac's legendary resale value that makes such exciting reading in the record books year after year. Makes you wonder why anybody would buy a low-priced car when you can get a Pontiac Catalina for the same money.

Wide-Track Pontiac Catalina
(A big, powerful Pontiac for less than $3000*.)

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Catalina 3 and 4 door sedans and 2 and 4 door hardtops are all less than $3000. These prices include excise tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charges. Transportation charges, title and local taxes, accessories and optional equipment additional.

How to add years to your life

100 years ago the average American could expect to live about 40 years.

Today—about 70. Modern sanitation, diet, drugs and medical practice have added 30 years to our life span. And note that 70 is average. Many die sooner. Many live longer. You up your chances of being a "longer" if you eat properly and get proper medical care. This means periodic check-ups by your physician. As pharmacists we are pleased to help by supplying the drugs your doctor prescribes—drugs unknown a century ago. We're so conscious of the effectiveness of modern medicine that we're shooting for a life span of 100 years.

How about you?

Cardinals tighten grip on Little League's top rung

The Cardinals defeated the Wildcats 5 to 3, Monday night for their third win against no setbacks to hold on to first place in the Little League standings.

The Wildcats, who had won their first two games before being bounced by the Cardinals Monday night, are in second place with a 2-1 record.

Tonight, the league-leading Cardinals are idle, while the Wildcats meet the Dodgers and the Red Sox on the Yankees, who have yet to win after three games.

Jerry Saldívar, who went all the way for the Cards in their victory over the Wildcats Monday, yielded only two hits, with Mike Hays getting both of them.

The Cards collected four hits off Great starter Branson and Mark Clayton, who relieved him. Clayton was charged with the loss. Two of the four Cardinal hits were doubles by first baseman Bertram and the other two were singles by outfielders Conner and Walls.

In Monday night's first game, the Cardinals edged the Yankees, 12 to 11, with Jimmy Dooley the winning pitcher and McAfee the loser. The Cardinals out-hit the Yankees, six hits to three.

The Dodgers swarmed over the Yankees 10 to 3, Saturday, with Phil Pollard getting a fifth inning home run for the Yankees and Kyle Josey blasting one for the Dodgers. Kim Owen, the Dodger starter, was the winner, with J. Collazo coming on in relief. Larry Hair, the first of three Yankee pitchers, was the loser, with Dudley and Smith also seeing mound duty.

Mike Clayton relieved G. Branson after three innings Saturday night to get credit for the Wildcats' 5-4 win over the Red Sox, with Danny Lee going all the way for the losers. Branson and Clayton limited the losers to two hits—singles by Earthman and Zachary—while the Wildcats collected eight safeties off Lee. Clayton and Mike Hays each got three of the winners' hits.

D. Wood held the Tigers to three hits Thursday night in pitching the Red Sox to an 8-5 win. Dooley and R. Torres pitched for the Tigers, with Dooley being tabbed with the loss. McMeans, Earthman and T. Zachary were the Red Sox hitting stars with three safeties apiece.

Robert Mindieta pitched the Cardinals to a 15-5 win over the Yankees in Thursday night's first game, with Larry Hair, who had relieved J. Smith, the losing pitcher. The Cards' big inning was the fourth, in which they scored eight runs—adding five more in the fifth. The winners got 11 hits, while Min-dieta limited the losers to six, two of them by Hair.

Indians capture lead in Babe Ruth League

Rains continue to play havoc with the Babe Ruth League schedule, with two games being rained out Tuesday night, one of them after two and one-half innings of play.

The game between the White Sox and Braves was halted after the White Sox had batted in the top half of the third and with the Braves leading, 4 to 0. The game between the Cubs and Indians never got started.

Through the first seven nights of the rain-shortened schedule, the Indians are on top of the league standings with a 2-0 mark and the Pirates are in second place with a 3-1 record.

In games Friday night, the Pirates shellacked the White Sox,

17 to 9, and the Cubs overpowered the Braves, 11 to 7.

Karl Hall pitched the Pirates to their win over the Braves, with Ray Altman the loser. Hits were few and far between in the high-scoring game, with errors and bases on balls accounting for most of the runs.

J. Hair was the winning pitcher and DeLeon the loser in the Cubs' win over the Braves.

Odom pitched the Indians to a 10-2 win over the Pirates last Thursday night, with the White Sox edging the Cubs, 7 to 6, in the first game behind the pitching of J. Ammons and B. Ammons. F. Hernandez was the losing hurler.

Teen-age team looks for another pennant

Manager Pat Walker, the field boss of Post's Teen-Age team, is firmly convinced the Post club which won the 1965 championship of its four-team Teen-age League can win the pennant again this summer even though the circuit has been expanded to include ten clubs.

Walker, who is assisted by Deamon Altman, has a squad of 16 boys between the ages of 16 and 19, including a veteran nucleus back from last year's title team.

"This season the league has been expanded to include Ralls, Petersburg, Idaloo, Shallowater, Abert, Roosevelt, Hale Center, and Cotton Center, as well as Post.

The league schedule is now being drawn and will be announced just as soon as it is approved.

Post will have a veteran mound staff of three righthanders back from last season, including Ronnie Pierce, 17, Phil Vargas, 18, and Doyle Nichols, 18.

Catchers are Donnie Windham, 17, and Jackie Huff, 17.

Infielders on the squad are Norman Tanner, 16, first base; Jimmy Bartlett, 17, first base; Duke Altman, 17, second base; Lewis Hise, 17, shortstop, Roy Sappington, 16, third base, and Davis Heaton, 17, third base who also plays in the outfield.

The fly chasing corps includes Clyde Cash, 16, Paul Walker, 17, Joe Hudman, 17, Bobo McWhirt, 18, and Bill Jackson, 17.

Newcomers this year include Tanner, Bartlett, Hise, who played with another team last year, Sappington, Cash, McWhirt, and Huff. Many are Babe Ruth League graduates.

Manager Walker said the club will play league games on Monday and Friday nights and non-league games on Wednesday nights. He explained he planned to schedule non-league contests with American Legion clubs from Triple A and 4A high schools to give his club tough competitive experience.

The club has divided a pair of practice games with the Slaton American Legion team with each squad playing all its candidates to get a look at them under game conditions.

Dick Tanner is president of the Post Teenage team organization. The board of directors for the club is composed of Tanner, Donald Windham, Altman, R. H. Sappington and Martin Nichols.

The players each pay $15 for a playing fee and the rest of the club's financial support is drawn from the Community Chest contribution to Post's summer baseball program.

No admission will be charged at the games, but a freewill offering will be taken, Walker said.

Area church selects its Mother of Year

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Mrs. William Bevers was selected as Mother of the Year and presented a red corsage on Sunday at the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church. All of us here in this community certainly agree with their choice.

Today (Monday) is another one of those freak days that are so well known here in West Texas. Sunday was such a nice warm day (in fact a little hot) and today it is just the opposite. Maybe we will get some more rain, sure hope so.

We would like to say congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson on the birth of their new baby girl.

R. D. Eckert, who underwent surgery recently in Houston, returned home on Sunday and is doing very well.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Anderson on Sunday were Sam Anderson and daughter of Bangs, Texas, and Mrs. Eunice Black of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Belk and children spent Sunday in the home of Mrs. M. T. (Grandma) Holly in Lubbock. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Belk of Levelland, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Conley of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Holly and five children from California. Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sam Holly and children came to Southland with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Belk for supper and homemade ice cream.

MR. AND MRS. CARL PAYTON went to Oklahoma this past week to visit with Mr. Payton's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hodges of Post spent Mother's Day with Mr. and Mrs. William Bevers and children. Mr. and Mrs. Hodges are the parents of Mrs. Bevers.

On May 15 there is going to be a big birthday celebration in honor of Mrs. S. S. Bevers of Petersburg. Her birthday is really on the 17th, but the children have decided to get together on Sunday, a couple of days early. Mrs. Bevers has children living in Snyder, Brownfield, Justiceburg, Post and Pleasant Valley.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Crawford on Mother's Day were their son James and family from Lubbock and Janet Hollingsworth from Slaton. The Crawfords have heard from their son, Webster, and he is already in Viet Nam. At present he is a machine gunner on a helicopter and has flown on five missions. He is a paratrooper.

MR. AND MRS. MARCUS WILKE are home from LBJ Lake. They came in on Sunday.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hargrove this week were Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Martin of Hart Camp on Thursday; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Robertson of Sundown, Mrs. Nina Broom of Amarillo, and Aldine Riggs of Lubbock, all on Friday; and Mrs. Doll Haire and Mrs. Winnie Tuffing of Post on Saturday.

We were so sorry to hear last Saturday that Claud Roper, son-in-law of Mrs. J. R. Rackler, is in the hospital and has been very sick.

The two little children of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Becker of Kansas City, Mo., have been sick and in the hospital for several days. We certainly hope that they are much better by now. They are the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker.

Coach and Mrs. Bob Dyess and two children spent Mother's Day in Spur visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Dyess.

Coach and Mrs. Dyess and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Callaway are going as sponsors for the Seniors on their trip after graduation. I talked to Mrs. Dyess this morning and she is very excited about the whole thing. I know they all will have a wonderful time, because they are going to some of the same places that we went to last year.

MR. AND MRS. JACK MYERS have gone to Van Horn to attend the funeral of Mrs. Wallace, mother-in-law of Mrs. Myers' brother, Berry Hart.

The Southland Baptist Church has a very nice yearly tradition. Each Mother's Day they present the oldest and youngest mother a corsage. This year Mrs. Ed Denton received a white corsage for being the oldest mother there and Mrs. Kenneth (Karen Gayle) Callaway received a red corsage for being the youngest mother there.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Susie Bradshaw is sick and confined to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Havis were in Corpus Christi last week visiting friends.

The Southland Methodist Church is honoring the graduating seniors on Wednesday evening at 6 with a banquet. Other guests will be the teachers, Rev. and Mrs. Hill of the Southland Baptist Church and Rev. and Mrs. Wilson of the Methodist Church.

Many edible end-uses for cottonseed oil

Salad and cooking oils are far the most important market for cottonseed oil, the National Cotton Council reports.

Baking or frying fats and greases represent the remaining the major edible end uses of seed oil.

Generally regarded as a quality cooking oil, cottonseed has a pleasant taste and smoke or odor.

100% versatile

Cotton is 100% right for any hour of the day or night. Cotton plays when you play—is formal when you're formal. Cotton always feels good next to your skin, helps you stay calm and confident, never becomes clammy or sticky. Laundering is so easy with cotton. Wash it in the hottest water and dry it any way you please. Iron it without worry, because cotton won't melt, discolor, or pull at the seams. Even after repeated launderings cotton bounces back bright and fresh—without dinginess or odor buildup. For 100% versatility—beauty, comfort, and washability—ask for 100% cotton.

Fresh young look arrives in style is the Mod, the Picadilly, or London look. By any name, it is the fresh young look that arrived in style on the teen-agers.

They have been inspired by the look, but now it's as unmistakably American as the Fred Astaire, the Monkey, or the...

varied as the dance steps, discotheque set are interpretations of the look which are turning from coast to coast. According to the National Cotton Council, the waists, short skirts, and silhouettes are those with ruffle circling sleeves and necklines.

Way out? Depends on your point of view. The look is actually a revved-up, modern adaption of old-time fashion ideas dating back to the Victorian era.

Slim skirts appear almost as often as softly loose ones. Sleeves are either trumpet-shaped or long and skinny with ruffles or lace cuffs. Contrasting ribbons or rick-rack often accentuate the Empire shape, and sometimes a lace-trimmed white pique bib gives a demure touch. Tiny jet buttons are another trademark of the new styles.

Soft fabrics take best to the straight mod lines and designers turn naturally to cottons for the swinging silhouettes. Bold plaids, stripes and dots for the scrambled look, tiny checks, and old-fashioned "granny" prints are favorites. They're shown in polished cotton, hopsacking, corduroy, denim, and poplin.

For the most part, colors are a bit more subdued than the music the go-go set is dancing to. But they're mixed in exciting, offbeat combinations with vibrant results. Olive greens, browns, and even somber black mingle with pinks, red, golds, and burnt oranges.

Thus, happiness is a young girl, lively music, a new dance step, and swinging cotton fashions.

CAREFREE—Here's a swinging shift designed for the lively tempo of the Watusi. In olive and black cotton hopsacking, it's spiced with lace-edged ruffles for a "mod" flavor. By Jody of California.

Majority nurses prefer cotton

Cotton is the fabric preferred and purchased most frequently by nurses, according to a recent study by the American Journal of Nursing Company.

The National Cotton Council reports that all-cotton fabrics accounted for almost 51 per cent of uniforms purchased by nurses. This included its resistance to static electricity, which ceases a danger of explosion when oxygen and anesthetics are present.

In addition, nurses like cotton because it's durable, does not need to be lined, and does not require hand-laundering. Other reasons for preference were that cotton stays whiter and is more resistant to yellowing or graying than synthetics.

Senior Class Day held last Friday

The Senior class journeyed to the remote city of Lubbock last Friday for a day of frolic and fun. The hour of departure was 8 o'clock for those who didn't miss the bus!

After a wild and rambunctious ride filled with water guns and cutting remarks, the "kiddies" arrived at MacKenzie Park around 9:15.

Everyone exercised their usual driving habits on the bumper cars. The Hammer, Tilt-A-Whirl, Scrambler, and Train upset a few stomachs but we all survived and journeyed on for a game of miniature golf. Golf is an international sport known for the exercise you get in following a ball. In our case, more time was spent chasing balls to keep from having to pay 50 cents for a lost ball! Although golf is a game of skill, Mr. Hopkins proved it was a game of luck with his fantastic score of 41 while everyone else shot 65 and 70.

Furr's Cafeteria thought a tornado had struck when this group of 50 hungry and dirty seniors selected their cafeteria to demolish! With all our tummies full and had no trouble digesting our food Furr's still standing, we strolled over to the roller skating rink. We for the falls and tumbles we encountered did it for us.

After a hot game of skating bingo we embarked with an abundance of blisters, scratches, and bloody noses. At this stage of the game, we had our choice of ice skating, bowling or even both if you were brave enough. At the bowling alley several people had trouble remembering how to bowl. Carol Camp had fun sliding down the alley. (She forgot to let go of her ball!) Fernando Raymundo rolled his bill into the stands instead of down the alley! Oh well, we can't have a perfect sense of direction!

Several people were mortally wounded in their brave encounter of ice skating. Besides having wet clothes and drippy hair there were sliced knees, stumped toes, and bruised elbows. A few were carried to the bus leaving the ice a colorful red!

Supper at the Zuider Zee sounded great until they served raw oysters and raw shrimp. However, the stuffed crab, scallops and the other seafoods were very tasty. Beverly Duncan had to have a bib to keep the messy hot crab she ordered from getting all over her.

With bloated stomachs we rolled downtown to the Lindsey Theatre to see "Flight of the Phoenix." As you well know the Lindsey is a dressy theatre but after a long wait we entered in our messy and bloody attire. We received many "hairy eyeballs" and we couldn't understand why. After all we were only our natural selves with stringy hair, dirty clothes, bare feet, and B. O. The movie took place in a desert and nobody could seem stay away from the water fountain!

After the show we crawled to the bus and wearily journeyed home. After a full day of activity we arrived in Post at 12:15 a.m.

A special thank you goes to our rugged sponsors who are Mr. King, Mr. Hopkins and Coach Gregg. Also to the brave mothers, Mrs. Cornell, and Mrs. Wallace, who risked their lives. After all, in their old age, it's hard to endure such excitement. Congratulations on your new gray hairs! Thank you again for an enjoyable day.

At party in gym

Post Junior High's favorites revealed

Post Junior High School class favorites for the 1965-66 school year were announced by Principal James E. Pollard at a party for junior high students held in the gymnasium.

The favorites, who were elected by each class earlier in the year and whose identities were kept secret until the party, are as follows:

Eighth Grade: Kay Herron and David Pierce.

Seventh Grade: Syan Thomas and Larry Bilberry.

Sixth Grade: Nancy Cook and David Hart.

Annuals were then distributed to all who had bought them, and signing began within each class.

Cookies and soft drinks were served and then all three classes mingled and continued signing annuals until 3:50, when school was dismissed.

The party was sponsored by the 8th grade and sincere thanks go to Mr. Pollard, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Gambin, Mr. Edgerton and Mr. Reynolds for their help the morning preceding the party.

Post teacher presents paper at science meeting in New Mexico

Charles R. Hutchins, science teacher in Post High School, presented a paper on "Preliminary Report on the Vascular Flora of Garza County" at the 42nd annual meeting of the Southwestern and Rocky Mountain Division, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the New Mexico Academy of Science held May 14 at New Mexico State University Las Cruces.

Hutchins' account, with emphasis on floristic origins and marked range extensions of the native vascular plants of the county, was presented in the botanical sciences section of the meeting.

The Post teacher's investigation was initiated in April of 1965, one of its objectives being to determine to what extent, if any, the vegetation of the Chihuahuan Desert had successfully invaded Garza County.

Hutchins stated in his paper that an examination of the species collected in the county during one year's work shows a number of species which reach their greatest development in the Chihuahuan Desert.

The teacher made use of slides, along with his paper, to present some of the selected range extensions.

Wendell Davies ranks among top scholars of Abilene graduates

Wendell Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert (Lefty) Davies of Abilene, is one of the top six graduating seniors at Abilene High School—the only boy in the top six.

Wendell ranked fourth scholastically in his graduating class of approximately 400 with a grade average of 93.113.

Davies and other top students in the Abilene Public Schools were honored May 3 at the seventh annual Top 50 Senior Student Banquet held by the Southwest Abilene Rotary Club.

Dwight Kinard, son-in-law of Mrs. Jewel Graham of Post, was a member of the Rotary Club's banquet committee and introduced the honor guest at the banquet.

Wendell plans to enroll in McMurry College for the summer session to major in history. His parents are former longtime residents of Post.

Custom canvas awnings are now treated for fire-resistance.

Music major's time at camp is exciting

(Editor's Note: Charlotte Taylor, the subject of the following feature story, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Taylor of Route 3.)

By PAT KELLEY

DENTON — Charlotte Taylor, a senior music major at North Texas State University, didn't know what she was getting into when she signed up to play in the dance band at Camp Waldemar for the summer following her sophomore year at college.

She soon realized that the job entailed for more than simply playing a trumpet in a dance band. She taught softball, doubled as a horseback riding instructor and served as a counselor for the 306 girls who attend the camp each year.

Camp Waldemar, located about 17 miles from Kerrville on the Guadalupe River, is a camp for girls ages 8 to 16. Established in 1922 by Miss Ora Johnson, the camp was the original site of the first world championship rodeo. Camp Waldemar was later taken over by Miss Johnson's niece, Miss Doris Johnson, who is still owner, operator and director.

Miss Taylor recalled that her first experience at the camp was not a totally pleasant one. She explained that she volunteered to go to Abilene to pick up a chartered busload of girls and escort them to the camp.

"I expected the bus to be loaded and waiting when I arrived," she said. "What I found was something quite different."

After arriving at the bus station, she found herself surrounded by 30 screaming girls carrying luggage, teddy bears, tennis rackets, softball gloves and other such paraphernalia ready and waiting to be loaded onto the bus. To complicate matters, each girl had a different question and all questions were hurled at her at once.

"I felt like a tennis ball in a tennis tournament," she said.

"After getting everyone on the bus, which was a miracle in itself," Miss Taylor continued, "I was taken by surprise once again—the bus driver didn't know how to get to the camp."

Much to everyone's dismay, Miss Taylor didn't know either. Just as panic was setting in, an 8-year-old girl stepped to the front of the bus and declared that she knew the way. With the aid of the little girl, the busload of excited girls rolled into the camp on time.

After arriving at the camp, each girl is assigned to a kampong, the girls' living quarters, and placed into one of three tribes—the Aztec, Comanche or Tejas tribe. Each girl draws for her tribe and remains in it for life.

All counselors become members of the Buzzard tribe. Miss Taylor said that learning the Buzzard song was one of the more difficult things about being a counselor.

"The song ends in a buzzard squawk and it takes practice to get it just right," she said.

Last summer Miss Taylor worked with the drama teacher to produce "The Sound of Music." She described the endeavor as her most challenging experience in music. She explained that she had to build the sets, make scenery and get all the props in addition to arranging the music and teaching it to the girls.

"We sang before breakfast, after breakfast, while playing softball, before going to bed and all the time in between," she recalled. "In the parts that were sung in Latin we just made up our own words to fit the music because none of us knew how to speak it."

Miss Taylor pointed out that the show was a success, and more important, everyone had a good time.

Miss Taylor related that the most exciting day of the summer was field day and all the girls looked forward to it. On this day the tribes compete with each other in such events as swimming, diving, archery, golf and tennis. Each girl may enter only three events.

Decorations are made for the day and each tribe flies its flag. The water canoe race is the last event of the day and perhaps the most exciting. Twelve girls are chosen from each tribe to form the teams.

"In this event the girls really have to work together," Miss Taylor said.

Parents are invited and the activities are usually well attended.

All Miss Taylor's experiences have not been pleasant ones, however. Her first summer at Camp Waldemar provided a hair-raising experience which could have turned into tragedy.

At the end of the summer the girls invited their families to the annual final banquet, which is held the last night of camp. The night before the banquet the rain began to fall and it didn't stop. By the next afternoon the roads to and from the camp were completely covered with water and the currents were so swift that cars were unable to travel the roads.

"The parents couldn't get into the camp and the girls couldn't get out," Miss Taylor said.

The girls had to stay an extra day at camp and were taken into town in highway department dump trucks because the currents were still so swift that a car would have been washed off the road.

After the camp had been safely evacuated and the excitement died, the counselors were faced with another problem — they still had enough chicken to feed 2,000 people.

Miss Johnson promptly solved the problem, however. She invited the town of Kerrville to be the guests of Camp Waldemar for a chicken dinner.

Miss Taylor described her favorite time at camp as being the moments following her playing of taps.

"Everything is quiet except for the voices reciting the Lord's Prayer," she said.

Miss Taylor went on to explain that as she passed each kampong on the way back to her quarters she could hear the voices reciting in unison a different line of prayer. By the time she reached her kampong, all was quiet.

This coming summer she will return to Camp Waldemar to serve as dance band director. Miss Taylor, who plans to be a band director upon her graduation in January, believes her job this summer will provide valuable experience in leading a band.

Although Miss Taylor is looking forward to being the director, she expressed one reservation. At the end of the summer each year, the band picks up the band director and throws him into the river.

"That's one tradition I hope we break this year," she said.

Students make visit to bank

By Syan Thomas and Judy Norman

Last Thursday and Friday, the 7th grade math class toured the First National Bank of Post.

First off, we were taken to the vault and shown everything there, then to the bookkeeping department, where it was explained to us how they do everything.

They also explained the signature card, a savings account draft and the deposit slips for our savings.

After that, we went into the community room and looked around. Then we asked questions.

We all had a good time and want to thank our bank officials for giving us their time.

Gary Simpson initiated into business society

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech business student William Gary Simpson of Post was initiated into national business honorary Beta Gamma Sigma here Saturday.

Initiation into the Society, founded in 1913 to encourage and reward scholarship and accomplishment among students of business administration, is the highest scholastic honor a student in business administration can win.

Undergraduates must rank in the upper 10 per cent of their class in order to win membership, and graduates must rank among the top 20 per cent.

Principal speaker for the initiation banquet was State Rep. Delwin L. Jones of Lubbock, who spoke on "Today's Election—Was it Important to You?"

To the People of Garza County

I wish to take this means of expressing my sincere "Thanks" for the wonderful support you gave me for County Judge in the Democratic Primary election May 7.

Thanks, too, for the encouragement you gave me that I may yet have the opportunity to serve and introduce my principles and the kind of government that our forefathers once fought and died for.

I am most grateful to you all.

Sincerely,

John N. Hopkins

Names chairman for poppy sale

The appointment of T. L. Jones as chairman of the VFW's annual Buddy Poppy sale was announced today by Commander John Wallace of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6797. Announcement was also made of the appointment of Johnnie Rogers as Auxiliary chairman.

Buddy Poppies will be sold on the streets of Post on Saturday, May 28.

Local VFW and Auxiliary officers expressed a desire to make this year's sale of Buddy Poppies the biggest in modern times. They point out that today, with boys fighting in Vietnam, we are reminded of our obligation to help those who gave, and are today giving so much on our Nation's battlefields.

Buddy Poppies are sold for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans and those who are attempting to serve them and for hundreds of orphans in the VFW's National Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Rites held for wreck victim

Funeral services for Mrs. Earl Ritchie, Springdale, Ark., were held April 30 at the Thompson St. Church of Christ with burial following in Center, Mo.

Mrs. Ritchie was the wife of Earl Ritchie, a former resident of this county and a brother of Mrs. A.O. Parrish and Aubrey Ritchie.

Ritchie is still listed in critical condition in a Springdale hospital following the two-car accident April 29.

The driver of the car that collided with the Ritchie station wagon, J. B. Courtney of Springdale, was charged with involuntary manslaughter, driving while intoxicated and no driver's license.

The car driven by Courtney struck the right rear of the Ritchie station wagon causing it to veer off the highway to the left and striking a concrete block pump house.

Mr. and Mrs. Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie and another sister, Mrs. Ruby Eckert, Ontario, Calif., drove to Springdale to be with their brother. The Ritchies and Mrs. Eckert are still in Springdale.
