ON CHAMBER BANQUET PROGRAM

TOPS IN COMMUNITY

William E. Shiver, superintendent of the Post schools, and Mrs. A. C. Surman, chairman of the Garza County Historical Society Committee, were honored as the year's "Outstanding Man and Woman" at the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Happiness, industry are banquet theme and topic

Relating to a theme of "Happiness is..." approximately 250 persons attended the annual banquet of the Post Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night at the Elks Club.

The crowd heard Harry Clark, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, give five reasons why "you, as individual citizens, should be interested in the industrial development of Post."

They also saw School Supt. William F. Shiver and Mrs. A. C. Surman presented with plaques as Post and Garza County's "Outstanding Man and Woman of the Year" and heard Vernon Scott, newly installed president of the Chamber, present an eight-point program for 1967.

IN BETWEEN, the crowd enjoyed the music of Bernie Howell and the Trilins, and other program highlights, with Dick Dickson, master of ceremonies, keeping the program moving at a lively pace.

Clark, at the outset of his talk, had a good word for the new Post Industrial Foundation. "It may not solve all your problems, but it definitely is pointing in the right direction," the speaker said.

The five reasons given by Clark why individual citizens should be interested in the industrial development of Post were: (1) Self-interest.

(See CofC Banquet, page 8)

This is to say a sincere thank you to the six members of the Garza Memorial Hospital board — Giles McCrary, Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, Jack Lott, Ed Sawyers, Dave Sanford and Sexton Huntley — for all your efforts during the last year to "solve" local hospital problems.

We've never seen a board work harder together in the public interest than you six — and we've watched hundreds of community boards struggle with all sorts of problems over 25 years of newspapering. Total it up and you have given hundreds of hours of effort and even driven a considerable total of miles in your attempts to find new physicians and problem solutions. Your assignment was one almost to defy solution, and not of your personal making, but you accepted it and worked hard together to find some paths of progress. While it has cost taxpayers of the county money to keep the hospital open these past two years, you HAVE kept it open — and through good stewardship, you have saved taxpayers thousands of added dollars by good, businesslike operation of the hospital through this difficult period.

You deserve community commendation, rather than the public abuse you have been subjected to from too many sides.

Maybe the hospital "problem" is not over the hump, so to speak. (See Postings, page 8)

Loan is approved for water project

Telegrams received by The Dispatch from Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough and Rep. George Mahon announce that the Farmers Home Administration in Washington has given final approval to a loan of $12,800 to the Caprock Water Supply Corp. to develop a water distribution system and storage facilities.

The corporation was formed some time ago by several families living just north of the city limits. With the FHA assistance, the corporation will construct a system to tie in with City of Post lines and will purchase water from the city.

Dr. Tubbs extended appointment for use of hospital by trustees

Appointments to board are made

Garza Memorial Hospital trustees Monday morning at a special meeting extended a temporary appointment for the use of hospital facilities here to Dr. Harry A. Tubbs with the understanding the appointment will become permanent upon acceptance by all parties concerned of a new set of hospital by-laws and medical staff rules and regulations.

Dr. Tubbs admitted his first patient to the hospital Tuesday morning.

This action came only hours before the Garza County Commissioners' Court named two new hospital trustees to two-year terms on the board and reappointed Sexton Huntley to another two-year term.

NEW HOSPITAL trustees named by the court Monday afternoon on a unanimous vote of four county commissioners are Earl Chapman

New board organized

Dave Sanford was elected chairman of the Garza Memorial Hospital board for 1967 at its organization meeting held yesterday afternoon in the dining room of the hospital.

Ed Sawyers was elected vice chairman and Mrs. Don Robinson, one of the board's newly appointed members, was named secretary.

of Post and Mrs. Don Robinson of Justiceburg.

They will replace Giles C. McCrary, who has served as hospital board chairman for the past year, and Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, who has been the board's secretary.

The hospital trustees held three special meetings in six days to work out new hospital by-laws and rules and regulations and adopt them prior to the commissioners' court meeting Monday afternoon at which new trustee appointments were expected.

The board wanted to complete its action on the by-laws and regulations so the reorganized board would not have to go back over the same ground with the new trustees before taking final action.

HOSPITAL trustees held their third and final special meeting at 8 a. m. Monday and upon motion made by Ed Sawyers and seconded by Dave Sanford rescinded all previous hospital medical staff by-laws, rules and regulations, and adopted a new set of by-laws, rules and regulations. The motion passed unanimously.

The new by-laws and rules and regulations are those recommended by the American Hospital Association and the Texas Hospital Association for hospitals of 25 beds or less. The by-laws, rules and regulations also were recommended to the hospital trustees by a special committee of the Lubbock, Garza, Crosby Medical Society and by the Garza Memorial Hospital Staff in consultation with Dr. Tubbs.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1967

It was an outstanding banquet

The annual banquet of the Post Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night was undoubtedly the most successful one held here during our 10 years of attending such functions.

We haven't heard a single complaint yet. The food was served quickly. The music was excellent both to eye and ear. The speech making was top quality, to the point, and not unduly lengthy. The master of ceremonies kept it moving right on through the awards presentations. Even the location—in the former bowling alley—was ideal. The decorations with the "Happiness" theme were quite appealing.

One came away, just two hours after sitting down to the table, feeling that the civic organization and community has some 1966 achievements in which we could all take pride—the new airport, an industrial foundation, and a public library.

But best of all, everyone departed with a good feeling about the new year, too.

Incoming president Vernon Scott didn't just accept the leadership reins from outgoing president, Glen Barley; he stepped up to the microphone with an articulate eight-point program for the 1967 Chamber year.

He called for community unity and individual participation in community-building. He set as the Chamber's No. 1 new project the realization of a community center for Post. He also called for the consolidation of 1966 gains, promotion and support of existing industries, a strong coordinated effort by the Chamber to work with the new industrial foundation to seek new industry for Post, creation of a cultural affairs and fine arts committee, and the seeking of new ways for better service to farmers and ranchers.

If Scott's eight-point program is followed—1967 can be another highly successful community year too.

If he implements that program by putting every dues paying member of the Chamber of Commerce to work on at least one Chamber committee, Scott can provide the necessary opportunity for real community participation this year in the Chamber's program of work.

Except for a small number of well functioning committees, the Chamber in recent years has become an organization in which the board of directors is not only asked to make all the decisions but do most of the work as well.

If the work load can be spread over the entire Chamber membership, the organization is going to benefit by renewed interest on the part of almost every member.

The best way to interest a citizen in community betterment is to put him to work at the job.

The Chamber's civic center project, too, is within reach. A sign hanging from the ceiling above the banquet diners read: "Happiness is making this a community center."

Acquiring the building—the former bowling lanes with its adjacent parking lot—would provide Post and area with a civic center which could be readily developed without too much additional expense.

The Chamber, through Pat Walker's committee, "sold" the community on the need for a civic center several years ago.

What is needed now is a practical method of acquiring the building for community use. Certainly, this is an attainable goal if we are willing to unite and work for our community as Scott has asked.

It was an outstanding banquet—and a good start for a new Chamber year.—JC

Best is yet to come, electrically

Electricity is something most of us take for granted, a good reason, perhaps, being that the average person knows so little about it. Yet, it is the unlimited power and versatility of electricity that makes possible the wonders of our age and puts them at our fingertips.

But as exciting as today's wonders may be, the best is yet to come, according to leaders in the electrical industry, which observed National Electric Week, Feb. 3-11.

Imagine selecting a steak for dinner by calling the market with your picture phone which lets you view the entire meat tray from your kitchen. You place the order by slipping a punched dialing card into a machine. Using other punched cards, you order your entire grocery needs. You pay the bill by dialing the bank, pushing buttons to indicate the amount and the store's code number.

Consider reading the latest best-seller by simply dialing the library with the picture phone. The book is projected on a screen in your living room and you turn the pages by pushing buttons.

The housework is done by a robot maid, a self-moving appliance with a variety of telescoping arms, fingers, brushes, suction tubes, optical and audio receivers built into its anatomy. On your signal, the robot glides from the storage closet and begins dusting, vacuuming, scrubbing and all of the other chores in a programmed schedule.

Your car of the future gets its power from a fuel cell. There is little noise and no fumes. For the out-of-town trips you just turn the car over to the electronic driver, and the vehicle straddles, electromagnetically, a cable buried in the middle of the traffic lane.

The electrical industry leaders emphasize that the predictions are not figments of free-wheeling imagination. Rather, they are based on responsible reports by scientists, industrial leaders and technical editors.

These reports also forecast electrical progress that will benefit business, education and medicine.

To insure this progress, the electrical industry spends more than $2.5 annually for research. Manufacturers of electrical machinery and supplies employ one-fourth of all engineers and scientists engaged in research and development work in all American industry.

The extensive research is also credited with reducing the cost of producing electricity. This cost reduction has benefited the consumer. In the past 25 years, the cost of living has doubled, but the average price of electricity to residential users has been cut by more than 40 per cent.

As a result of its low cost and abundance, electricity produces over 90 per cent of all energy used in power production machinery in the United States.

As the electrical industry moves forward, so will America. For history has proven—electricity powers progress.

The Dispatch salutes the electrical industry, particularly those phases of it in operation in Post and Garza County.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

Recently in idle time at home I have been watching television less and started reviewing some old books on journalism, selecting only the columns pertaining to the "community press." These hours have been refreshing. The authors, in one manner or another, point out that the country weekly reflects the life of the people who pass the time of day with neighbors. They are interested in the newborn baby, the death of a friend, the marriage of a young girl or boy, which is of paramount importance. This kind of reading always brings a person back to the basic function of a newspaperman: reporting from the standpoint of his hometown and of the area which surrounds it. We are criticized occasionally for not carrying in our news columns items of interest on area, state, national and international wide scope. These are reported in the daily press. We are primarily interested in reporting that which is closest to us, and making it a matter of history—Herschel A. Combs in The Memphis (Tex.) Democrat.

Adam Clayton Powell had his expense accounts scrutinized by Congress. The rest of us have it done by the Internal Revenue Service.—James Roberts in Andrews County News.

They say that Portland, Ore., is a town of well-dressers. Particularly, all of the men keep their shoes smartly shined. Wonder what connection this has with the fact that Portland now has a shoe shine parlor with "topless" shine girls?—Afton Richards in The Jayton Chronicle.

NOTHING, IT seems, comes easy any more. Instead of winning the District 4AA basketball championship outright, the Post Antelopes must share it with the Stanton Buffaloes and go into a one-game playoff to determine which team will represent the district in bi-district play. This column is being written Monday, so the whole picture could change with Tuesday night's games, but it isn't likely to. The Antelopes are heavily favored to beat Frenship, and the Buffaloes have the home court advantage in their game with Slaton.

If district championships came too easy, though, they wouldn't be worth as much.

THE MAN UP the street says you know a man is successful when the newspapers start quoting him on subjects he knows nothing about.

If, after reading this far, this column is leaving you so flat you're saying, "I'd like to write a column myself," then you probably could use the following rules for newspaper columnists:

1. Don't use no double negatives.
2. Make each pronoun agree with their antecedent.
3. Join clauses good, like a conjunction should.
4. About them sentence fragments.
5. When dangling, watch your participles.
6. Verbs has to agree with their subjects.
7. Just between you and I, case is important, too.
8. Don't write run-on sentences they are hard to read.
9. Don't use commas, which aren't necessary.
10. Try to not ever split infinitives.
11. It's important to use your apostrophes' correctly.
12. Proofread your writing to see if you any words out.
13. Correct spelling is essential.

I SOMETIMES wonder, though, if correct spelling is as essential as it's made out to be. Last Thursday night's Chamber of Commerce banquet probably was no less successful just because "optimism" on a big sign over the speaker's table was spelled "optomism."

The week of Feb. 18-25 has been designated as FFA Week in Texas by Gov. John Connally, and The Dispatch salutes the fine Future Farmers of America chapter at Post High School and its advisor, E. A. Howard Jr. One reason Future Farmers are held in such high esteem in their community is because they practice these:

1. Belief in God as we understand Him.
2. The importance of the individual.
3. The dignity of work.
4. Private ownership of property.
5. The government as a protector, not a provider.

IN GATHERING old records and photographing them for compact storage, Missouri's new records management agency at Jefferson City came up with some dandies. Included were these from old vital statistics records of death causes: "Went to bed feeling well, but woke up dead." "Died suddenly, nothing serious." "Don't know. Died without the aid of a physician." "Blow on the head with an ax. Contributory cause, another man's wife." "Had never been fatally ill before."

Spelling of the name of the country in southeast Asia where United States forces are fighting has plagued newspapermen and others for some time. Is it spelled Viet Nam? Viet-Nam? Or is it spelled Vietnam?

Each is correct in its own way, and we've used both Viet Nam and Vietnam here at The Dispatch, but not the hybridized Viet-Nam.

From now on, however, we will use the one-word form, Vietnam, since we've learned that the two-word Viet Nam came into use only about 10 years ago by such authorities as the National Geographic Society, while Vietnam has come into more frequent use in U. S. reference books, and is more akin to the derivative word "Vietnamese," which rarely is spelled hybridized or as two words.

So, if you see it spelled Viet Nam instead of Vietnam in The Dispatch, you'll know that our proofreader slipped.

Not that it makes a whole lot of difference.

Hilarious Knotts comedy showing

Don Knotts' talents are given full play and the result is Universal's hilarious comedy in Technicolor, "The Reluctant Astronaut," now showing through Saturday at the Tower Theatre.

While it is the star's antics that do most to tickle the funny-bone in the title role, he gets outstanding support performance from his costars, Leslie Nielsen, Joan Freeman, Jeanette Nolan and Arthur O'Connell.

In "The Reluctant Astronaut," Knotts is a timid soul so afraid of heights and flying that he has to muster all his meager courage to retain a job as operator of a space ride at a children's amusement park.

Without his knowledge, Knotts

Through a bizarre set of rib-tickling circumstances he finds himself chosen to man a fully automated capsule rocketed into orbit. His numerous hairbreadth escapes from disaster are presented in Knotts' celluloid style of the galloping jitters, with even greater entertainment than in his former Universal picture, "The Ghost and Mr. Chicken."

It's My Turn

— By MRS. G.

Anyone who hasn't gone through the medical clinic is either missing out on an interesting sideline or is a lucky, I'm not sure which.

One usually doesn't go through the clinic if one is in prime health. Perhaps a few do to be sure they are the exception. So, for the most part, clinics are faced by people entering with fear and trepidation.

Arriving for the first time, one quickly looks around the waiting room to see what other kind of people are there. One sees that the waiting area is white, brown or black, wealthy (just a few), middle class (whatever that is) or just.

After checking with the receptionist one is usually given a long slip to fill out asking questions one would be hard-put to answer if one weren't just a mite worried about what one was doing there. However, this form does give one something to do besides staring into space or wondering if the person sitting next to you has TB — he must have something serious with a cough like that.

If you're at a big clinic a social worker puts in an appearance and explains most of the procedure to you and leaves you with a number to call in case any problems arise that you can't solve. This gives one a feeling of warmth as you are no longer just a number as someone knows your name and seems to care a little about you.

FINALLY your name is called and you jump up eagerly, anxious to get on with it. The anxiety remains quickly though as you realize you have only entered the "inner sanctum" and back you go to the waiting area. An abundance of magazines are placed strategically to keep you while away the time but most of them just turn pages as they gaze around wondering if their appointment card said a. m. and here it is almost 4 p. m. and all you have done is sit and wait.

FINALLY, when you are sure you have lost your card, you're alone with several others, some over the loudspeaker and some on your way. To what, you wonder.

As you might have had a faint idea, you are ushered into an examining room and dispelled with a glance down the hall you have entered. The walls of this hall are lined with chairs and on these are sitting people who are waiting. You feel like they've been left over from yesterday, as you haven't seen them before. The little group that you've been moving along with has almost become old friends of yours though so words have been exchanged. Weak smiles passed and give you a feeling that here is this together.

Most of the patients leave their material behind when called to leave the "inner sanctum" because they just know they are going to see the doctor right away. The hall-sitting becomes even more. Magazines left behind, by one in the know, are seldom read as one would choose. Anyway, light is so poor in the hallways one can barely see to read after an hour or so you begin to think that this clinic is in cahoots with all the eye doctors.

Vectors run up and down this hall shooting in and out of examining rooms and so one can play a game to relieve the monotony. The name of the game is "Which is the Doctor?"

This last waiting period is also made up by "lab" work and being weighed right out in front of everyone. One wonders how they get all that blood straight and if they really got the right name on the slides. All this is so routine to the technician that they sometimes forget to smile or even notice they have a new finger in front of them.

FINALLY, one is put into an examining room, told what to take off or leave on and then one settles down to waiting again. And then, at least two to three hours after one has arrived, you meet your doctor. If you've played the game right while sitting in the hall you're delighted that "you got who you wanted." For the first time since entering the clinic one feels like an individual again. The "herd" has been left behind.

If one has to go to the x-ray department all the waiting commences again. After giving your slip to a receptionist one waits until called and then is taken to a small cubby-hole with a letter on the door. After undressing and putting on a long sleeveless gown one goes out into another dark hall and waits until the technician calls you. Here, you find that clothes do make the people, because everyone is dressed identically in long sleeveless gowns, men and women alike. The women, more or less, take this in stride, but the men mostly sit there staring into space, being a bit embarrassed about the whole thing.

If one goes to x-ray often enough one can play another game here. It is called "What Will These People Look Like When Dressed?" If you're cagey you can pretty well figure this out by the shoes and sometimes by the hairdo.

Another game which can be played here is "Who Will Remember Which Cubby-Hole They Left Their Clothes In?"

One is usually dismissed after this for the day. It doesn't hurt anyone to eat lunch at 4 p. m.

If more trips to the clinic are demanded one can charge in like an expert, passing all the new members of the club with a knowing glance, be prepared for waiting by taking a good book, and cut a few minutes off the total time by knowing where you are going and why.

Someone should write a book for the title: "Games People Play in Clinics". The possibilities are unlimited. Umm . . . ?

Q. My husband died this past month. I have received his pension check. Must I return it, and if so, will it be reissued to me?

A. You must return the check. If you are eligible for widows pension, your first check will be issued at your husband's rate of payment, if his rate was greater than yours. Thereafter, check will be at widows pension rates.

Q. When will I receive my first payment for educational assistance?

A. After completion of first month of schooling, upon receipt of attendance certification, the first check will be released. This means you will receive it about the 20th of the following month.

Q. I understand Congress passed a law allowing veterans to apply for special insurance known as "GI" insurance. Is this true?

A. Yes, but the date for application for this type insurance expired May 2, 1966.

642 hunting violations marked up in record game harvest of 1966

AUSTIN — The official wrapup of the state's most elaborate hunting season disclosed some unhappy proceedings to sandwich in with the record game harvest.

The final full month found 642 hunting violations, 101 of which were dated to night hunting.

The major numerical categories involved:

- 84, lacking hunting licenses;
- 54, discharging firearm on a public road;
- 44, killing doe deer;
- 28, killing untagged deer;
- 28, killing quail in closed season;
- 23, killing deer in closed season;
- 17, having unplugged gun;
- 12, deer with evidence of sex removed;
- 11, exceeding quail bag limit;
- 11, exceeding bag limit on grouse;

In addition to the closed season violations on quail and deer, there were 32 cases for hunting out of season for most species, including one each for antelope and pheasant. Game wardens are watchdogging areas where pheasants have been stocked to bulwark upland game species.

Two were caught using another's hunting license, two were charged with shooting geese with a rifle, three were filed on for killing a protected bird, one person was caught trapping quail and one hunter tried to make legal game of an extra buck deer by using his bonus or antlerless deer permit.

All 32 juveniles got probation or outright dismissal for assorted charges, including discharging a gun on a public road and hunting after legal hours. But such was not the case for 101 adults who should have known better. They lacked fishing licenses.

Following the adoption of the new by-laws, rules and regulations, Sanford made a motion, seconded by McCrary that the board extend to Dr. Harry Tubbs a temporary appointment for the use of the facilities of Garza Memorial Hospital. This motion also was unanimously passed.

HOSPITAL trustees have been working with a special committee of three Lubbock physicians, representing the Lubbock, Garza, Crosby Medical Society, since November in an effort to write new hospital by-laws, rules and regulations.

The recommended regulations were received here recently from the committee of the three-county medical society.

Hospital trustees first met in a lengthy session Wednesday, Feb. 8, to read and review the proposed new by-laws, rules and regulations.

A few changes were made in the proposed regulations. The board then submitted the proposed by-laws and regulations to Dr. C. H. Bauman and Dr. A. C. Firman for their suggestions as medical staff members, although Dr. Surman is now retired from medical practice.

HOSPITAL trustees met again Tuesday afternoon, incorporated into the by-laws and rules and regulations additional suggestions by Dr. Bauman and Dr. Surman, and then at the board's invitation to Dr. Tubbs, met with Dr. Tubbs and again went over the proposed by-laws, rules and regulations and received Dr. Tubbs' suggested revisions.

Dr. Tubbs suggested that trustees submit the revised by-laws to Dr. Bauman and himself to meet in committee to agree on a final form.

Dr. Tubbs told trustees that if the two physicians are in agreement, then he would suggest that the board ask all physicians to submit applications to the medical staff.

He said he would accept a nomination on the hospital staff on an "emergency basis" (trustees termed it a "temporary basis") pending final adoption of the by-laws, rules and regulations by the hospital staff, the hospital trustees, and action of the credentialing committee of the Lubbock, Garza, Crosby Medical Society.

AT THE THIRD special meeting Monday morning, the proposed by-laws, rules and regulations, incorporating the revisions suggested and approved by Dr. Tubbs at the board's Thursday meeting, were read and discussed. Dr. Bauman then met with the board and said he approved of the by-laws, rules and regulations in the revised form.

It was at this point, trustees voted unanimously to adopt the new by-laws, rules and regulations and extend to Dr. Tubbs a temporary appointment for use of hospital facilities.

Apparently, all that remains for the by-laws, rules and regulations to be accepted by all parties is for the approval of the Lubbock, Garza, Crosby Medical Society of the rules and regulations which provide:

(1) All applications for admission to the hospital's medical staff are to be examined by the credentialing committee, which shall be composed of the active staff and a duly appointed medical committee of the Lubbock, Garza, Crosby Medical Society.

(2) In the event of a one-physician medical staff, any changes, additions or deletions to these staff rules and regulations must be done only in conjunction with duly approved committees appointed by the Lubbock, Garza, Crosby Medical Society.

THE COUNTY physicians' Monday afternoon, besides naming three hospital trustees in permanent terms, also unanimously presented the action of the hospital trustees in extending hospital privileges to Dr. Tubbs.

Three of the four commissioners nominated persons to serve as hospital trustees from their commissioner precincts. Precinct 1 Commissioner Ben Sanchez did not nominate anyone from his precinct, saying that some of the people he had talked to about it wanted to serve on the board.

Other nominees for hospital trustees were McCrary, Mrs. Newby, each of whom served one two-year term, DeWitt Caylor and Hubert Anthony.

Holdover hospital trustees for another year are Jack Lett, Ed Sawyers, and Dave Sanford.

Vandalism last summer and early last fall at the Post schools cost $1,410.51. Supt. William F. Shiver said this week after getting the repair bill.

Most of the damage was from windows being broken out by rocks and BB's and window screens being cut, the superintendent said.

Not a single building escaped damage from the vandals, Shiver said. Sixty-seven window screens were slashed.

"The peace we are enjoying today is because of the industrial might of America," Clark said. "The main reason we are not now engaged in World War III is because of our industrial might."

"Industry represents the best with for Post and for hundreds of other small towns," the speaker said in predicting that by 1980 four out of every five people will live in metropolitan areas.

"THE GREAT natural resources of this state are available to Post and in other small towns and can help offset urbanization," Clark continued.

The speaker said the odds against any small town getting an industry next year are 700 to 1, but that Post has reduced those odds through its organization of the Post Industrial Foundation.

In speaking of community pride, Clark told his listeners, "You need to make Post a better town even if you don't get a single industry."

"Take your God-given talent and donate it to the building of Post and you will be accomplishing your purpose in life," the speaker said in closing.

The Outstanding Man and Woman awards, made for the first time here in several years, were presented by Pat N. Walker and Mrs. Tjilman Jones.

IN AWARDING the plaque to Mrs. Surman, Walker called attention to her service as chairman of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee from the time it was organized in 1962 until the present.

Walker said the many awards won by Mrs. Surman's committee in recording and preserving history have contributed to civic improvement.

Shiver, in his third year as superintendent of schools, was praised by Mrs. Jones for the "excellent training and education" he is helping provide for the community's young people.

Scott, the new president of the Chamber, presented his eight-point program after accepting the accolade from outgoing president Glen Barley.

"We are proud of our 1966 accomplishments, but this is another day and another year," Scott said in presenting his program, which included:

1. CONSOLIDATE our gains.

2. Promote and support existing industries.

3. Cooperate as Chamber of Commerce members, with the new Post Industrial Foundation in its hunt for new industry.

4. Make a community center the Chamber's No. 1 project.

5. Create a cultural affairs and fine arts committee within the Chamber organization.

6. Seek ways to be of better service to the farmers and ranchers of the area.

7. Unite—work together.

8. Individual participation by members in Chamber activities.

Service plaques were presented outgoing directors Pat N. Walker, Buddy Pierce, James Mitchell, Bob Collier and Earl Chapman. Introduced as new directors were A. C. Cash, Robert Cox, Dick Holman and Bill Pool, and holdover directors, Glen Barley, Giles Denny, Reyer Martin, David Newby and Elwood Wright.

THE INVOCATION was by the Rev. George Miller, First Presbyterian pastor, with Barley giving the welcome address. Outgoing visitors from Lubbock, Brownfield and Slaton were introduced.

Thanks went to the Postex Mills for the souvenir banquet program, and to Bryan J. Williams, business chairman and his committee, Helen Livingston, Chamber secretary, and the Future Homemakers of America for their help with the banquet.

A Little League baseball meeting has been called for 7:30 a. m. Friday, Feb. 17, at the Pioneer Gas Co. office.

Officers will be elected and other plans made for the coming season, league president Charlie Campbell said.

Everyone interested in Little League baseball is invited to attend the meeting.

Post's tornado alarm will be tested at 1 p. m. this Friday, if the weather isn't stormy. Mayor Harold Lucas said today. The mayor mentioned that the alarm will not be tested if the weather is threatening, because it might cause undue alarm.

Cage playoff—

(Continued From Front Page) The winner of Tuesday night's bi-district game will advance to the Conference AA regional tournament in Lubbock on Saturday, Feb. 25, where the Post-Dimmitt winner will play the District 7-8 playoff winner at 1 p. m.

The regional tournament championship game will be at 8 p. m. Saturday, with the winner qualifying for the state tournament in Austin.

Coach Bigott's Antelopes clinched the District 4AA crown Tuesday night by defeating Frenship while Slaton was nipping Stanton in Austin.

SEMINOLE HERE FRIDAY The Post Antelopes will play the Seminole Indians at 8 o'clock Friday night in the high school gym here. Seminole, a Conference AAA school, won its district and wound up its regular season by beating Monahans, 76-60, Tuesday night. The game here will be a bi-district "warm-up" for both teams.

over time. A Stanton victory would have made a playoff necessary between Post and Stanton to determine the district representative in the bi-district playoff.

Dimmitt on the other hand wrapped up the District 3AA championship two weeks ago for their 20th district championship in 28 seasons. The Bobcats are 28-4 for the full season, one of their wins being a two-point victory over Post in the Plainsview tournament early in December.

Tuesday night, the Bobcats defeated Class B power Quitaque by 11 points in a practice game.

Couch Cleveland has four starters back from last year's Bobcat club, which almost made it to the state tournament. Three of the starters, John Howell, Ronnie Kemmore and Tommy Stafford are averaging in double figures. The other starters are Kent Lindsey and Bill Gildewell.

As a team, Dimmitt is averaging over 72 points a game to their opponents' 55.

The district championship wrapped up by Coach Bigott's Antelopes Tuesday night is their first outright district championship since the 1959-60 season. The Antelopes shared the championship with Denver City last year, but lost to the Mustangs in a one-game playoff to determine the district's representative in the bi-district clash.

Post has three starters back. They are all-state Ronnie Pierce, who is averaging about 30 points a game; Donny Windham and Davis Heaton. The other two starters are Norman Tanner and Duke Altman.

NEW CUB PACK needs sponsor

A sponsoring group is needed for the newly organized Cub Scout Pack 314. Cubmaster Jack Bishop said today.

The pack was organized with 37 new Cubs and with a number of others from Cub Pack 316, which has disbanded.

The new Cub pack, which is still in the organization process, has six dens, which meet each week. Pack meetings are held on the last Monday night of each month at 7 o'clock at the City Hall.

Any club, church or other group interested in sponsoring the new master Bishop by telephoning 3454 or 2808.

Postings—

Those Slaton Tigers, usually referred to as Post's arch rivals, proved to be friends indeed Tuesday night when they upset the Stanton Buffaloes at Stanton to hand the Antelopes full possession of the district cage crown. It saved a Friday night playoff game at Snyder with Stanton to see which club would go into post-season AA competition representing the district. A meeting of Post and Stanton school officials had been set up for Snyder yesterday morning to work out details — but it didn't prove to be necessary. Our congratulations to the Antelopes and Coach Bigott for winning the championship. Most of the town will be on hand Tuesday night to see that bi-district playoff with Dimmitt.

The First National Bank on page 11 expresses the sentiments of a whole lot of folks following last Thursday night's Chamber of Commerce banquet. Congratulations certainly are in order. Incoming President Vernon Scott's call for community unity and individual participation in community building was well put. The Dispatch heartily agrees with the bank — "let's keep our town going."

As the women readers will note on the society page, Mrs. Markey Rasbury has purchased Bertha's Beauty Shop from Mrs. Bertha Robinson, who by the way is moving back to Odessa. Mrs. Rasbury is an experienced operator and invites all of Bertha's customers — and others too — to keep calling the same number for beauty appointments. The Rasburys have lived in Post for a while. Mr. Rasbury is employed by American Petrofina.

Sponsors emphasize that this year's fair is county-wide — not just a club fair. Anyone — men, women or children — are invited to enter as exhibits anything they have made or grown. Art pictures will be accepted this year, along with potted plants, provided the exhibitor has owned the plant for at least six months.

The Home Demonstration Club members of Garza County will be on hand at the 4-H building to accept entries from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Friday, March 17. Fair catalogues, listing the various divisions, may be obtained at the Extension Service office in the courthouse.

Judging of the fair entries will begin at 3 p. m. and no other items for exhibit will be accepted after that hour.

The fair exhibits will be on display all day Saturday — until 6 p. m.

The Home Demonstration clubs of the county will operate a concession stand the two days of the livestock show and fair.

Antelopes win district crown with assist from Slaton

Post defeats Frenship, Tigers surprise Buffs

The Antelopes ran away from Frenship Tuesday night while Slaton was upset by the Tigers to give the team its first district basketball championship since 1960. Frenship won left the Antelopes with a 9-1 conference record and an overall mark of 21-4 for the season. Going into Tuesday's games, Post and Slaton were tied for the district lead, each with an 8-1 mark. Slaton's victory over the Buffaloes left Slaton in second place with an 8-2 record. The 102 points Coach Will Biggers scored against Frenship marked the second time this season they have gone over the 100 mark, the first time being against Slaton here, when Post scored 104 points.

Slaton gets revenge in overtime battle

The Dispatch called Slaton Coach Kenneth Housden long distance yesterday morning to extend Post's congratulations for the overtime victory over Slaton Tuesday night at Stanton, which handed Post's Antelopes complete possession of the District AAA cage crown.

The Tigers broke the game wide open in the three-minute overtime period to win 88-79 after the teams were knotted 75-all at the end of regulation play. The newspaper's sports department also was seeking additional information on the Slaton victory when it placed the call to Housden.

Team falls to Denver City

The Denver City Mustang "B" team walloped the Post Antelope team, 62-45 last Friday night in a game that preceded the varsity contest here.

Denver City led all the way, building up a 20-9 first quarter lead, increasing it to 40-25 at the end of the first quarter and to 66-35 at the end of the second quarter.

Wick Pantoja of Post and Emler of Denver City each scored 23 points for scoring honors.

The scoring summary: DENVER CITY—Emler 8 7 23; Taylor 2 3 7; Yarbrough 7 2 16; Smith 4 1 9; Daigh 2 0 4; Wolf 1 1 3; Richards 1 1 3; Benson 1 1 3; Johnson 0 4 4; Lumpkin 0 0 0; Housden 0 0 0. Gooch 3 2 8. TOTALS 62-45.

Post Antelope "B" team even with the Slaton Tiger players throughout the first half Monday night, but the team was pulled away in the second quarter to win, 63-51.

The teams were tied 16-16 at the end of the first quarter and Slaton outscored Post 18-13 in the third quarter and 17-10 in the fourth.

Pantoja led the Post scorers with 19 points. Mike Scott hit 11 points. Emler, Eibert Rudd, Kenneth Mitchell and Delbert Smith each had two apiece, and Jimmy Pollock had one.

and were ahead, 53-22, at the half-time intermission. Post hit 27 points in the third period to the Tigers' 12 to lead, 80-34, going into the fourth quarter.

Ronnie Pierce was high point man with 25, although playing only a little more than half the game. Norman Tanner hit 20 points for his best scoring night of the season. Two other Antelopes, Duke Altman and Donny Windham, also hit in double figures.

The scoring summary: POST—Heaton 3 1 7; Altman 5 4 14; Pierce 9 7 25; Windham 5 2 12; Tanner 8 4 20; Sappington 0 0 0; Bartlett 2 4 8; Johnson 2 0 4; Smith 2 0 4; Harper 2 4 8. TOTALS 38 26 102.

The charity toss was missed, Stanton took the rebound, came down the floor with Buffalo ace, Allen Springer, firing the tying basket with only three seconds still to go.

In the overtime period, Slaton quickly took the lead and just as quickly moved out of reach as Stanton frantically tried to catch up.

The game was close throughout. Slaton led at the half, 35-33. At one time in the first period, the Tigers moved out in front by five points and early in the fourth period a Buffalo surge put the home club eight points up on the Tigers.

Housden reported the game moved at a fairly slow pace through the first three periods, but that it broke wide open in the fourth period and continued at a blistering pace in the overtime.

Jack Mason tallied 28 points for the winners and Richard Washington stuffed in 27 more for the Tigers. Springer led Stanton with 25.

A gym-packed crowd was quiet and disappointed when the final buzzer sounded.

Stanton's coach came into Slaton's dressing room after the game and congratulated the players on their fine play and said they deserved the victory. Housden said.

Housden admitted the triumph which brought the Tigers to an even 5-5 mark for district play, was a vindication for what happened when the two teams first met at Slaton.

The Tigers had a technical called on them in the final seconds with a one point lead because they tried to call one too many time outs. Stanton hit the free throw and went on to win that one in overtime.

Other scorers for Post were Sharon Windham, eight; Jan Wilks and Pam Petty, five each, and Kay Herron and Linda Sanchez, two each. Kathy Jones and Susan Valdez also played at the forward positions.

Seeing action at the guard positions were Kay Altman, Nancy Hart, Nina Young, Debbie Hays, Daisy Smith, Janet Cheshire, Janet Ray and Amelia Morales.

Longhorn coach signs Antelope griddler

Donny Windham inks Texas pre-enrollment

Donny Windham, a member of the district champion Post Antelope football team, signed pre-enrollment papers Tuesday afternoon to attend the University of Texas.

The pre-enrollment blanks were brought here for Donny's signature by Mike Campbell of the University of Texas coaching staff, with the signing taking place at the old airport, north of town, where Campbell's plane landed.

Campbell had piloted the plane here from Odessa, accompanied by its owner, Albert Dale, whose son, an Odessa Permian High School star, had signed his pre-enrollment papers to attend the University.

Present at the airport when Donny signed Tuesday were Coach Glynn Gregg, Supt. William F. Shiver, Donny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Windham, and his twin sisters, Karon and Sharon, and a representative of The Dispatch.

Campbell said Donny will be sent a letter of intent to sign as soon as he has finished his high school sports eligibility.

Donny, a three-year letterman on the Antelope team, played at a tight end position. He made the all-district and all-South Plains teams and the Class AA all-state third team.

The Denver City game was tight only at the start, with the Mustangs at one point pulling up to a 9-9 tie before dropping behind by five points, 25-20, at the end of the first quarter.

Doe cold streak heads off upset of loop champs

The Frenship Kittens, with the District AAA championship already sewed up, defeated the Post Does, 59 to 50, at Frenship Tuesday night, but it wasn't easy.

The Kittens had forged into a one-point lead, 26-25, by halftime, then outshot the Does, 19-11, in the third quarter for a 46-36 lead going into the final period.

The Does outshot the Kittens from the floor with 19 field goals to 18, but Frenship had the best of it at the free throw line, hitting 23 to the Does' 12.

Outbreak of mumps continues in area

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
 Hi there. Wouldn't you like to be the poor old weather man and try to predict the weather for our dear old West Texas? Quoting a man by the name of Jack Wilson: "The Weather Bureau has changed its name to Environment & Science Services Administration — and we still get six inches of snow when the forecast says partly cloudy."

MUMPS! That seems to be the word for today. It sure is going around in school and quite a few students are out with them. Some of the students are Mickey Mason, Maria Shelton, Kirk Wheeler, Kelly and Katrina Chaffin, George Basinger, Bobby Flores and Todd Taylor. The word "mumps" makes us all nervous because the several girls on the basketball team that haven't had them, and they have all been exposed and with the district tournament coming up... need we say more?

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Barton went to Balmorhea recently to visit their son, Jack, and his wife, Nell. They reported that some farmers down that way are still pulling and ginning cotton. Doesn't that sound strange?

Lynn Stabeno of Wilson spent the night with Yours Truly recently.

Last Tuesday night our high school basketball team traveled to Wilson to play the Mustangs. Our girls won and the Wilson boys won, keeping them both in first place in this district. The district tournament started Wednesday at Rousesville. Good luck kids!

The Freedom Gospel Singers will present a program Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Southland Jerusalem Baptist Church. Everyone is invited.

Darrell Wilke attended a "Sweetheart" banquet at the Roosevelt Clubhouse Saturday night.

Mike Mason spent the weekend with Gregg Reed in O'Donnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Deeb were Thursday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Mason.

Variety Week is being observed by show people

The week of Feb. 12 to Feb. 18 is a very special one for people in the entertainment business, according to John Hopkins, manager of the Tower Theatre here.

The reason: It is Variety Week — the time that show business takes time out to celebrate the wonderful charity work it does for children via its Variety Clubs throughout the world.

Texas are familiar with the two Variety "Tents" located in Dallas and Houston. These Tents are a part of a large international organization, some 19,000 strong, which has spent more than $5 million dollars in the past 38 years supporting dozens and dozens of charitable projects in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Great Britain and Ireland.

"The aim of Variety is to offer services to others less fortunate," said Bill Williams, who heads the Dallas Variety organization. "A Giving for all purposes reached $64,855,000 — an increase of $5,296,000 over the preceding year.

The Nazarenes showed a net gain of 37 new churches which brought the denominational total to 4,926. Easter Seal appeal will open Monday

The 1967 Easter Seal Appeal will open in Garza County on Monday, Feb. 20, according to Mrs. Martha Compton, who serves as Easter Seal representative for the county. Mrs. Compton said that Easter Seal Appeal letters would begin arriving at homes in the county about March 1.

As Easter Seal representative Mrs. Compton is the person to contact to request rehabilitation services from the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. These services include physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing program and special information services to help solve the many problems faced by the families of handicapped children and adults.

Screwworm case found in Texas

The first case of screwworm in the United States this year was found in Willacy County, Texas, the Agriculture Department said last Thursday.

The department warned that more cases of the parasite in livestock can be expected. Livestock producers were being asked to inspect their animals, treat wounds and submit larvae and egg samples to the screwworm headquarters in Mission.

The department said a mild South Texas winter and pasture conditions in Mexico are factors which may add to the screwworm problem. An outbreak of over 1,000 confirmed cases of screwworm during the last four months of 1966 was eliminated, the department claimed, "but screwworm overwintering area in Mexico continues to be a threat to Texas livestock."

The Acquisition Committee has been struggling with the problem of book-buying. It is a more difficult than we thought. The amount of material from the various publishers is staggering. It is a vast variety of books, magazines, and newspapers to deal over and over. The selection seems to be kind of a jumble. The books which are being made are being purchased. We do hope you will be pleased.

Committee members are: Chairman, Helen Cornish, Rosemary Chapman, Pat Kirkpatrick, Ruth Newby, Marge Lee, George Newby, Betty Scott and Beth White.

We have now completed our edition of Reader's Digest book-club and will not need it. Many thanks to the numerous who have helped with this project.

Book donors this week were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cornish, Rev. and Mrs. George Miller, Mr. and Mrs. David Newby and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steele.
 In addition, Mr. and Mrs. Elvus Davis were inadvertently omitted from our list two weeks ago.

Total library cards issued to date: 969.
 The circulation record for Monday, Feb. 6 through Saturday, Feb. 11 was 79 books. Fair, Thursday night (Juanita and Pee Wee) was high with 20. Let's all go down and help Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Solid state electronics to bring new conveniences in near future

COLLEGE STATION — Con you imagine a television set that turns on and off, is tuned and adjusted, by a wave of the hand?
 Or, a temperature sensitive oven that cooks to perfection? How about a washer-dryer combination that cleans the clothes, discards the water, dries the clothes, and turns off when the correct dryness is reached? And a home computer that keeps your bank account and household budget up to date, works out your tax return, keeps stock of household supplies, and decides the best way to store food in the refrigerator—all automatically.
 Sound impossible? Not according to Miss Joy Arrington, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University, who says Space Age solid state electronics will bring these conveniences into the near future.
 In 1967 appliance lines, solid state systems are providing washing machines and small appliances with variable speed controls, clothes dryers that turn off when the right dryness is reached, dishwashers with devices that adjust them and cleaning power according to the job size, and gas ranges with ignition devices which make the pilot light obsolete.
 In solid state systems, which are similar to transistorized ones, many electric and mechanical operations are combined into electrical circuits. These circuits are joined into one solid chip of silicon. The chips

DOG'S KEEN SENSE
 A dog's sense of smell is four times as efficient as a person's, reports the Purina Pet Care Center. A dog can detect an odor diluted to as little as one part in 10,000,000.
 Radio City Music Hall early in 1967 reached the landmark box office total of 200 million paid admission since the theater opened on Dec. 27, 1932.
 are usually no larger than the head of a pin, but each can perform work previously done by many vacuum tubes or transistors.
 These systems make it possible to reduce size and weight of equipment and appliance controls, while increasing reliability and ease of operation. Deterioration with age is almost eliminated, and repair requirements are very low. Some warranties on solid state products are for as long as three years.

Cub Scouts make exhibition plans
 The exhibition at Crosbyton March 18 was the main topic of discussion at a called meeting of committeemen, den mothers and leaders of Cub Scout Pack 314 at 7 p.m. Feb. 7 in the Community Room.
 Pack 314 is planning to have a display booth at the Crosbyton exhibition and needed to make choices of what they will display so each den can begin work on its display.
 Bailey Mayo will be at the exhibition during the time Pack 314 is represented, along with Cubs from the pack. It was decided that two Cubs from each of the six dens here will take hourly turns with their booth.
 Each Post Cub Scout is urged to attend the meeting at Crosbyton where tickets for the exhibition will cost 50 cents. Each parent will be responsible for getting his Cub to this meeting.
 The Cubs are making a Pack 314 banner for use at the Crosbyton exhibition and other future events.
 Cubmaster Jack Bishop appointed Ray Garner, Dean Sterling and Russell Donahoo as members of the refreshment committee for each monthly pack meeting.
 Pack 314 expresses its thanks to Pack 316, now inactive, for the flags which it turned over to them.
 Those attending last week's pack meeting were Mmes. Anita Blanton, Mary Mayo, Dorothy Shuler, Maudie Faye Ross, Carolyn Hafford and Sofia Martinez and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Garner, Jack Bishop and Dean Sterling.

Congratulations Are In Order

To GLEN BARLEY, left, outgoing Chamber of Commerce president, for our solid community achievements for 1966—airport, industrial foundation, and library—under his efficient Chamber administration. It was "a very good year."

To HARRY W. CLARK, center above, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, for his inspirational Chamber banquet, address on the five reasons why all of us should support new industry for Post. Mr. Clark is one of our staunchest community "allies" in our now-under-way search.

To VERNON SCOTT, right above, incoming Chamber president for 1967, for his eight-point action program for the Chamber this year. His sincere call to join ranks in real community UNITY and his invitation for individual participation in the work of community betterment is a challenge to all of us.

Musical at Graham is well attended

By MRS. GLENN DAVIS

We are sure everyone enjoyed the snow and rain we received last week. There wasn't much of either but we try to be thankful for even a little.

The musical was very well attended in the community center last Saturday evening. We thank all the musicians who came and invite them back.

Capt. Joe Almo, who is stationed in Germany, is in the states on business and is also visiting his relatives. He spent from Tuesday of last week until Thursday with his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan. They called his wife and children at midnight Tuesday and they were just getting up as it was morning there. Joe went on to Arizona to visit his relatives.

Sunday evening after church, relatives and friends honored Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ledbetter with a salad supper in the community center. Bruce left for the service on Wednesday and he and his wife were presented with a piece of luggage. Seventy guests registered.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter White and Sherry visited one evening last week with the Chuck Miller family.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Ferguson Jr. of Laverne, Okla., are announcing the birth of a son, Clyde Lee. The infant is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ferguson, former residents of this community now living near Laverne. Congratulations to all.

Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Cowdrey were the Donald Windham and Bobby Cowdrey families and Mrs. Viva Davis. Afternoon visitors were the Delmo Gossett family and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Taylor and baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett, Mrs. Dunlap and Miss Bonnie McMahon visited Sunday afternoon in Lubbock with the E. A. Dunlaps.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ledbetter recently visited one evening with Mrs. Willie Mason. Sunday visitors of Mrs. Mason were the Jody, G. T. and Lewis Mason families. They helped Jody celebrate his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Peel were Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Young. They drove out to the dam in the afternoon.

There wasn't a morning service at the Church of Christ Sunday as Bruce Evans couldn't leave Lubbock because of the illness of both of their children. He did make it to the evening service and reported the children were feeling better.

Stephanie and Patricia Davis are on the sick list. Mrs. Carl Fluit has been feeling rather bad with a cold and complications. We hope all those who are ill will soon feel much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Parish and family of Cotton Center spent the weekend with his parents, the A. O. Parrishes.

The Jimmy Byrd family were Sunday guests of the Elva Peels. Mr. and Mrs. James Stone visited most of last week in Irving with their son, Jerral, and family and in Abilene with relatives.

ADVERTISING PAYS

Dear Editor: The White River Restaurant can certainly testify to the fact that advertising pays!

In fact, the response to our opening and the tremendous turnout was beyond all expectation.

We were so sorry we could not serve all those who called Sunday and do hope they will visit us again and have that free cup of coffee we promised.

We estimated over 500 persons visited the steak house Sunday and understand more came down and were unable to get in.

The interest and well wishes of all of you has certainly been appreciated during the construction and the hectic opening day which was overwhelming.

Thanks for the fine advertisement and we hope you and your readers will give us another opportunity to serve you soon.

Aurelia Fay and Jack Hash

How did you like the snow? I was in Post a week ago Tuesday at a Past Matrons party and when we came out to go home we could hardly find our cars as they were all covered with snow — and I mean covered. It was beautiful and so was the snow Saturday.

The flakes were as large as a 50 cent piece. So it can snow in Texas, and we will get a rain in time. Don't lose faith. Good ole West Texas always comes through.

Rotarians to mark anniversary here

At its regular weekly meeting Tuesday, Feb. 21, the Rotary Club of Post will mark the 62nd anniversary of the founding of Rotary, the oldest of the service clubs, in Chicago, Ill., on Feb. 23, 1905.

Jimmy Willson of Floydada, past-district governor of Rotary International, will be a guest of the Post club on the occasion.

Announcing the milestone, Ansil O'Neal, president of the local Rotary Club, said: "The Rotary Club of Post, is linked with more than 12,600 other Rotary clubs in 134 nations around the world. Rotary meetings marking the anniversary will be held in many languages, including Arabic, Danish, Finnish, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Japanese and Persian."

Richard L. Evans of Salt Lake City, Utah, president of Rotary International, outlined a program for Rotary clubs everywhere at the beginning of the year last July 1. It includes extending Rotary to new communities, especially youth, developing friendship across national borders, and doing something for someone somewhere.

Rotary clubs carry out these service programs both through individual and united action.

By Marcia Newby
Post High is pretty busy now with lots of things going on, but nothing I can think to write about. In other words, I have a terrible memory, as most everybody knows. But surely there are some interesting activities that I could put in my not-too-newsy column.

Post High did undergo a minor adjustment last Friday, because we seemed to have been taking advantage of our privileges. From now on, we are not allowed to stand around in the halls after lunch, but must stay outside.

The dance at Teen Town last Saturday featured the "Hustlers", and some of the couples there were: (please don't be hurt if I leave you out — remember my memory isn't the best) Mickie Sterling and Norman Tanner, Dennis Altman and Donna Stewart, Larry Johnson and Janice Gordon, Sherry Woods and Charlie Wallace, Elaine Bland and Gary Don Donelson, Jane Hutchins and Curly Odom, Betty Sue Hutchins and Kenneth Cook, Karen Lee and Willy Miller, Vicki Martin and Jo Bilbo, Jackie Huff and Sullinda Little.

Ray Altman and Sue Eubank, Ronnie Petty and Debbie Eubank and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Wilson.

Last Friday night after the Denver City Mustangs vs. the Post Antelope's ball game, "Jay and the Renegades" played in the old mill office. The band was great and the cost was very reasonable — nothing! With a combination like this, it's no wonder that the place was packed.

We are all very proud of the Antelopes, who received their letter jackets in last Friday's assembly. Coach Gregg presented the jackets, giving each letterman a "congratulations", and closed the assembly by saying something to the effect of, "You boys be sure and give your girl friends these fine new jackets as soon as the assembly is over." Right, Coach.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITORIAL

with enthusiasm. They really care about their grades and strive to keep them up. They care about the success of their club and they support it by attending all the meetings and putting their best into its projects. They care about their fellow-students and go out of their way to be friendly and to help them out when they are in need. They care about the reputation of their school and try to bring honor to it.

Others couldn't care less what happens. They don't care what happens to the other person. It doesn't matter to them whether they pass or fail. They don't care whether the clubs they belong to amount to anything or not and make no special efforts to attend the meetings. They don't care whether they win or lose a ball game. Above all, they don't think it is their responsibility to make the school reputation respectable.

What about you, which category are you in? Do you care, or could you care less? I sincerely believe that every student in PHS cares, but do you care enough? Do you care enough to put your absolute best in everything you do from now on?

Do you care what happens to you five or ten and maybe twenty years from now? If you do you are probably making plans right now, deciding whether or not to go to a college or a finishing school and just what vocation you are going to be in. You are giving serious thought to the matter, to make sure that this is the right place for you in this world.

On the other hand, if you don't care what happens to you, you will go from day to day with no hope for the future. You might even come across a great opportunity, but since you didn't care before, you probably would not be able to recognize it.

This is also true in our school lives. Some people go about their school work and school activities

Problem solved
on parking lot

By Ann Usery
In the past years, complaints arose constantly over the parking lot. The Juniors were parking in the Seniors' places or the Freshmen and Sophomores were in someone else's place.

This year the Student Council met and found a solution. The Seniors and Juniors were issued stickers which contain a number. For instance, the Seniors have the two-digit numbers and the Juniors have the three-digit numbers.

Seniors have the front row and both sides of the building. Juniors have rows 2 and 3. The Freshmen and Sophomores have the rows south of row 3. From there, it's on a first come, first served basis.

Archeology Club makes second visit to site

By Eddie Jennings
Last Sunday, 22 members of the Archeology Club of Post Junior High School went on a field trip. We traveled to a site about five miles southeast of Justiceburg. Prior to this, a few weeks ago, we made our first successful attempt at excavating this site.

Pieces of charcoal, several chipmunks and a few scrapers were found. Also, some Indian photographs were located, observed and evaluated.

This is a part of a program that our club is conducting to try to preserve these historical drawings.

Western Day set for
Feb. 24 at Jr. High

Friday, Feb. 24, will be Western Day at Post Junior High School. The PJHS Student Council is planning this special day for the students.

Let's all think about this and remember to dress in western attire Feb. 24.

Marcia Newby chosen
Valentine Sweetheart

Saturday night, Marcia Newby, representing the Letterman's Club, was chosen as the Valentine Sweetheart in the Future Homemakers of America's annual contest.

The first runner-up was Beth Peel, representing the Freshman class, and the second runner-up was Linda Altman, representing the senior class.

These three were chosen from seven finalists, who were Donna Mathis, Elaine Bland, Debra Britton, Jane Hutchins and the three winners. These seven were chosen from a group of 21 girls.

Each of the top seven was required to present a talent so the judges could make their final decisions.

Marcia Newby sang "Mama," Beth Peel sang the theme from "A Summer Place," Linda Altman sang "The Sweetheart Tree," Debra Britton recited "The Touch of the Master's Hand," Jane Hutchins presented a skit on "Mary Had a Little Lamb," Donna Mathis played "Under the Rose Arbor" on the piano and Elaine Bland read "The Tell-Tale Heart."

Before the seven finalists were chosen, each of the 21 contestants answered a question she had drawn earlier.

The judges graded on beauty, poise and personality as each contestant walked across the stage and answered a question.

Each class and club in Post High School sponsored a representative in the contest. Sponsors included: junior class, Nedra Childs; sophomore class, Sharyn Bilberry; Future Teachers of America, Donna Stewart; pep squad, Nancy Hendrix; band, Belinda Lee; Spanish Club, Adrienne Cook; Future Farmers of America, Natha Jo Mears;

FFA Greenhands, Edith Johnson.

In the acting department there's Sellers, fresh from the comic skulduggery of "The Pink Panther" and "What's New Pussycat," to both of which "After the Fox" is said to compare highly favorable.

Sellers is aided and abetted by Britt Ekland, his wife in real life, who makes her first co-starring appearance in this picture, and Victor Mature, who returns to comedy for the first time in years in the new opus.

The Chicago public school system employs approximately 20,000 teachers and enrolls about 550,000 children annually.

The Supreme Court was enlarged from seven to nine members by Congress in 1837.

FHA girls serve at C-C banquet

By Jane Cannon

Twenty-two FHA girls served tables at the Chamber of Commerce banquet last Thursday night. The food was catered so all the girls had to do was take the plates to the people seated.

Much to the girls' surprise, there were no major accidents, just a few baked potatoes rolled off the plates. The girls were awarded with a free dinner. All in all, the girls had a lot of fun.

Those serving were Edith Johnson, Lorna Anderson, Doylene Fry, Sue Gilmore, Jane Cannon, La Gayluah Young, Debra Britton, Kay Lofton, Sue Lofton, Sue Linton, Kathy Blacklock, Martha Jo Walls, Donna Maddox, Martha Miller, Beth Peel, Nancy Norman, ha Tipton, Loretta Gatlines, Nin Marsha Tipton, Loretta Gatlin, Helen Hodges, Nina Young, Barbara Lucas and Beverly Allen.

'After the Fox'
to open Sunday

Top cinematic talents?

The best! It would be hard indeed to beat the combination of acting, directorial, writing and production talent assembled for the new Peter Sellers comedy triumph, "After the Fox," which opens Sunday at the Tower Theatre.

In the acting department there's Sellers, fresh from the comic skulduggery of "The Pink Panther" and "What's New Pussycat," to both of which "After the Fox" is said to compare highly favorable.

Sellers is aided and abetted by Britt Ekland, his wife in real life, who makes her first co-starring appearance in this picture, and Victor Mature, who returns to comedy for the first time in years in the new opus.

Cheryl Martin of Post, head cheerleader at South Plains College, Levelland, is one of 17 coeds who have been nominated for homecoming queen at the college.

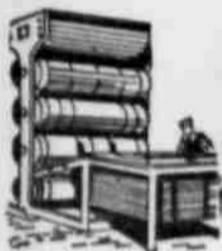

The queen nominees and their escorts will be presented at half time of the basketball game Tuesday, Feb. 21 between SPC and Lubbock Christian College.

Five finalists will be chosen the next day by an all-school vote and they will be presented to the student body Feb. 24. The coronation of the queen will precede the homecoming game Saturday, Feb. 25, between the SPC Texans and Clarendon Junior College.

Cheryl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Martin of Post, is a sophomore at South Plains College and is treasurer of WRA. In her freshman year she was a cheerleader, a Caprock beauty contestant, Ag Sweetheart and a member of the Drama Club.
