Williams to head industrial group

Officers named by Foundation

Bryan J. Williams, who heads the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the new Post Industrial Foundation late yesterday afternoon at its organizational meeting.

J. B. Potts was named vice chairman and Harold Lucas treasurer. Mrs. Helen Livingston, secretary of the Chamber, was elected secretary of the foundation board as well.

The nine directors were elected by members of the foundation in mail balloting which ended last Friday.

Besides Williams, Potts and Lucas, the directors named by the membership included Giles Dalby, Victor Hudman, Louie Burkes, S. E. Camp, Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick and Pat N. Walker.

The nine directors "drew" for one, two and three-year terms on the board. As a result of the drawing, Dalby, Hudman and Potts will serve one year; Burkes, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Williams, two years, and Lucas, Camp and Walker, three years.

All nine foundation directors attended the organizational meeting.

The directors announced that interviews will be conducted in the near future with applicants for the salaried position to head the foundation's drive to attract new industry to Post.

The foundation has raised $50,000, most of which is expected to be earmarked for the salary and expenses of an experienced "industry hunter" for the next five years.

Directors decided to meet at 4 p. m. on the first Thursday of each month in the city council room.

First-year payments on the five-year membership notes will not be called for until a letter is received from the Internal Revenue Service listing the Post Industrial Foundation as a non-profit organization.

Once this letter is received, contributions to the foundation can be deducted as business expense for income tax purposes.

Election of directors and officers was necessary for the filing of the application for a state charter as a non-profit corporation. The application is now being made to the Texas secretary of state's office.

Two nights of Halloween

'Trick' balloons fly through air

"The great pumpkin" that Linus visualizes didn't fly in Post over Halloween, but thousands of water and shaving cream filled balloons did.

Local youngsters extended their annual fall celebration to cover a three-day weekend and despite special police patrols set fires which brought out the fire trucks ten different times.

Oh yes, the youngsters weren't "shut out" this year with their traditional Halloween outhouse burnings either.

They set two afire Saturday night and a third one Monday night. Two of them were on traditional West Main street intersections and the third was right in front of the home of Police Chief Leldon P. Miller at 711 West Sixth St.

Two local stores — Wacker's and Post Pharmacy — reported the sale of 17,876 penny balloons Saturday. That night several hundred youngsters roamed the business district for what was billed as the big "balloon fight."

Whether all 17,876 balloons were used is highly questionable but thousands of them were.

After the Saturday night balloon fight, some youngsters were reported atop downtown business buildings Monday night to peep passing cars with the water-filled rubber missiles.

Besides the outhouses, youngsters set tires, lumber, and oil ablaze in their Halloween revelry.

The "wee ones" waited until Halloween on Monday night for their annual "trick or treat" trek through the residential districts.

A "weather front" which blew in at the height of the Halloween festivities Monday night probably had a lot to do with the fact that all the kids — big and little — quit and went home by 10 p. m.

Mayor Harold Lucas said the fires actually caused little damage to the city streets. The most damaged occurred from the first one Saturday night when oil was set afire on West Third street near the swimming pool.

No arrests were made, despite the fact that the city had six special patrolmen added to its law enforcement arm Monday night with four radio cars used for constant patrolling.

Mayor Lucas said the Saturday night activities caught the city with its guard down. Police Chief Miller was out of town that night and no special patrolmen were called to duty.

All told there were five Halloween fires set Saturday night and early Sunday morning and five more Monday night.

Homecoming is set for Friday

Members of the Post Ex-Students' Association were decorating the All-Star Corral yesterday in preparation for what is expected to be one of the liveliest and most successful homecomings ever held here.

The homecoming event will get under way at 4:30 p. m. Friday with a smorgasbord and reception at the All-Star Corral, where it is just about all the activities will be held except Friday night's football game, in which the title-minded Post Antelopes meet the Slaton Tigers at 7:30 o'clock in Antelope Stadium.

Added attractions at the football game besides the usual half-time demonstrations by the bands will be the crowning of the high school football queen and the pep squad hero in pre-game ceremonies and crowning of the Post Antelope band sweetheart at halftime.

Following the 4:30 smorgasbord and reception at the All-Star Corral, the ex-students will hold a business meeting before going to the football game. Following the game, a homecoming dance will be held at the corral with popular and western swing music provided by Cliff and Jay and the Caprock Ramblers.

Enough food will be provided for the smorgasbord so that there will be plenty left over for the dance, according to Elwood Wright, ex-student president. Admission to the dance is $3 a couple, with the public invited.

Invitations to attend the homecoming were mailed approximately 1,400 ex-students. A number of classes plan reunions for Saturday in a continuation of the homecoming activities.

Jaycees' first hootenanny set

The first in a series of hootenannies to be sponsored by the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held at 8 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 5, in the old post office building on North Avenue 1.

Bands from throughout the area will play at the first hootenanny, which will be open to the public at no charge. The Jaycees will have a concession stand in the building, which has been made available to them for the hootenanny by Powell Stykes.

Postex Mills donated lumber for the stage, and Dub Ryan, Wesley Guthrie, Cephas Bilberry, Charlie Stice, Jimmie Smith and Jackie Braddock helped the Jaycees get the building ready for the opening hootenanny.

The Jaycees plan to hold a hootenanny on the first Saturday of each month. The public is invited to attend.

Anyone interested in performing in the hootenannies is asked to contact Hoyt Thomas, chairman, or committee members Fred Myers and Ronnie Morris.

HARD-TO-KILL DEER
G. W. Pennington uses an arrow shaft to show how an arrow had penetrated the face of a mule deer he shot in Colorado. The deer had miraculously recovered from the arrow wound when the Post hunter killed it with a rifle shot.

Deer survives arrow, but falls to bullet

A mule deer that should have already been dead was shot and killed by G. W. Pennington of Post on a recent hunting trip in southwestern Colorado.

The deer was fat and healthy when Pennington brought it down, but it already had been shot through the head with an arrow, with the four-bladed arrow point and part of the shaft still embedded in its face.

The Post hunter said considering the good condition the deer was in when he shot it, he figured it must have been shot with the arrow at least a year before.

The arrow had penetrated the deer's face just above the roof of its mouth and the sharp point was protruding slightly when Pennington killed the deer with a shot from a deer rifle. The arrow wound had completely healed, the hunter said.

With Pennington on the hunting trip were Si Usery and Marvin Blevis, both of Post, Buddy Usery of Lubbock and John Jones of Wichita Falls. Each of the hunters got a deer, but Pennington got the only one that some other hunter had tried hard to get before — with a bow and arrow.

Post woman's hip broken in mishap

Mrs. O. V. McMahon was reported recuperating satisfactorily yesterday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock where she underwent surgery late Tuesday afternoon for a broken hip received when she was knocked down by a wind-blown door.

The accident happened Tuesday morning at the Lavelle Shop, operated by Mrs. McMahon and her husband. As she started in the front door, the wind blew the screen into her and knocked her to the floor inside the store.

Mr. McMahon said yesterday that doctors at the hospital expected Mrs. McMahon to be up and walking again in about three weeks.

Dr. Bausman due to return home today

Dr. C. H. Bausman, local physician who underwent major surgery at the Plainview Medical Center Oct. 22, was expected to be released from the Plainview hospital today and returned to his home here.

No announcement has been made as to how soon Dr. Bausman will be able to resume his medical practice.

Dr. J. A. Strimman of Plainview tentatively plans to see Dr. C. H. Bausman's patients at the Bausman Clinic here today at 1 p. m.

RUNAWAY YOUTH IS FINALLY CAUGHT

Shades of the late President Kennedy's "vigah" program of physical fitness.

Five local law enforcement officers chased a 16-year-old local runaway boy for 90 minutes Monday afternoon—all on foot—before Highway Patrolman Max Knox chased him right into Deputy Bill Gordon's arms.

The boy was spotted by the Sternman Youngs at their farm home, two and one-half miles south of Post, hiding in a grove of trees.

They couldn't "talk him in". Officers figured he possibly wanted to steal a truck or car to make his getaway after running away from home here.

The officers chased him for 90 minutes before catching him and they reported it quite an exhausting procedure.

11 new wells in '66

E. R. (Buster) Moreland announced today that the George R. Brown oil interests plan to drill but one additional well this month and then get preparations underway for their 1967 drilling program in and around the city of Post.

He said with the F. B. Robinson No. 7 yet to be drilled in block 99 of the Fred Robinson addition, the George R. Brown interests will have drilled in 1966 five triple producers, five dual producers, and one single producer for a total of 11 completions.

All but one of the 11 new wells were inside the Post city limits.

Some time is needed, he pointed out, to complete the necessary unitization program before continuing drilling inside the original Post townsite.

Moreland also announced that potentials for George R. Brown's new triple producer, City of Post, Unit 39, Well No. 1, at Ave. Q and 12th Street total 381 barrels of oil daily from one zone of the San Andres and two in the Glorieta.

He reported a 91 barrels of oil potential with 26 per cent water from the San Andres zone, 142 barrels of oil and 19 per cent water from the S-1 zone of the Glorieta and 158 barrels of oil and six (See Drilling, Page 3)

Western Auto big loser

Burglars — apparently of the professional variety — broke in through the back door and hauled off:

- Twenty Timex watches.
- Approximately 20 transistor radios.
- Seven guns, including one 12-gauge automatic shotgun, a 20-gauge pump shotgun with choke, single shot, and three .22 rifles, a 38-30 lever action gun, a .410 including a Winchester automatic,

More than Halloween pranksters were busy in Post Monday night as T. B. Odum's Western Auto Store here was looted of merchandise valued at between $1,400 and $1,500.

Christmas fund drive launched

The Post Chamber of Commerce Retail Promotions Committee is attempting this week to raise a $700 budget for a Christmas Opening promotion here Saturday, Dec. 3.

Tentative plans call for some type of a big downtown musical for that Saturday afternoon, the official welcome of Santa Claus to Post, and some type of a gift drawing of both cash and merchandise prizes.

The committee is out to raise its promotional budget before finalizing its plans. Local business firms are being asked for contributions to meet the budget.

Big maize harvest is almost over

This area's largest maize crop since 1963 is almost in the bin, Mike Mitchell of Caprock Grain Co. reported yesterday.

He estimated the maize harvest as 75 per cent complete with the "big rush" now over.

Farmers are receiving a cash price of $1.70 per bushel, "redweight for the grain here" — cents above the loan price of $1.53.

The ASCS office reported 17,860 acres planted to grain sorghum in the county this year.

VETERANS' DAY SUPPER

The American Legion post here will hold its annual Veterans' Day barbeque supper at 7 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 18, at the Legion Hall. Legionnaires and all other ex-servicemen are invited.

Reception here Saturday for interested doctors

The Post Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a reception at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Reddy Room for all interested physicians who are interested in moving to Post.

Fernandez will be in Post Friday to "look over" the community and possibly Dr. Perez, a dentist, will also come here for same reason.

Fernandez is presently employed on staff of the McKnight Sanitarium, a state tuberculosis hospital in San Angelo.

He has been at the sanitarium since March and formerly practiced at Norton, Kunis.

Members of the Garza County Hospital board and Administrator W. C. Stiverson interviewed Dr. Fernandez at McKnight Sanitarium yesterday afternoon as a prospective new doctor for Post.

Fernandez' wife is an attorney. They have one son, age 10, lives with them, and a second son, who is now attending in Spain.

Those making the interview were Giles McCrary, Mrs. Dawsey, Sexton Huntley and Sanford.

New Chest board plan drive

The permanent board of directors of the Garza County Community Chest is scheduled to elect and formulate plans for financing 1967 Chest drive at a meeting today in the community room.

Members of the board are: Post Rotary Club; Jimmie Stice; Post Jaycees; Mrs. Marie Marks; Post Music Club; Barbara Babbs; Amity Club; Miss Melvita Floyd; Mrs. George Miller, Post Minors; and Mr. and Mrs. Thornton, representing the Garza County Farmers and Young Men's Association, respectively.

Four of these ten new directors met Friday afternoon and elected additional directors from the community room to complete a seven-man board of directors.

Those elected were Vernon S. Stice; Dick Patrick, and Lonnie Stice.

Those with the new directors are: Dave Sanford, 1965 Chest drive chairman; J. B. Potts, S. E. Camp; Fred Myers, and Howard Stice, to help the new board get the drive under way.

Interest on two races, 16 proposals

Garza countians will have the opportunity to go to the polls Tuesday for the non-presidential year general election, but with so little enthusiasm generated to date even the candidates themselves are wondering how many will turn out to mark their ballots.

The only unusual aspect of the election here is that it marks the first time in years, if ever, that voters will have a choice at the county office level in November.

Republican Max Chaffin is challenging County Judge J. E. Parker in Parker's reelection bid. John Hopkins also is conducting a write-in campaign for the same office to make it a three-way race.

The only state race which has created any interest is Democratic Waggoner Carr's challenge to Republican John Tower for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Tower.

Tower was a surprise winner a few years back when Democrats divided their votes in a runoff. But Tower is no longer any surprise. A lot of rank and file Texans, Democrats generally, like him and his record. A close race is in prospect.

Carr needs all the help he can get from other Democratic "names" because he doesn't seem to be "catching on" himself in this campaign. Of course Democrats are going to either elect him or reject him. If the Democratic liberals vote for Tower for purely future reasons (both candidates are solid conservatives), Tower may win. If President Johnson and Governor Connally don't do more than they've done up to now in Carr's support, Tower's chances will improve.

The most confusing thing about next Tuesday's election to the voters who do go to the polls is that they are trying to figure out what to do about that string of 16 state constitutional amendments which will be up for decision.

Amendment No. 1 has the solid support of farm folks and the organized opposition of the municipalities. It would provide that agricultural land would be assessed for all tax purposes on the consideration only of its worth for agricultural use.

City folks argue that if the farmer's tax burdens are lightened through lower property valuations, it will mean the city taxpayer will be handed the added burden.

Amendment No. 2 would provide two or more counties could go together to form an airport authority and operate an airport. This amendment is now needed by Fort Worth and Dallas and should draw no broad objections.

Proposition No. 3 is a technical one withdrawing Arlington State College from the A&M University system under the permanent university fund. The school is now under the direction of the University of Texas and the amendment should be approved.

Proposition 4 would change the maximum term of office for directors of conservation and reclamation districts from two to six years. This amendment would clarify a confusing situation in favor of longer terms.

Proposition 5 would authorize the legislature to provide a state-wide system of retirement, disability and death benefits for all officers and employees of counties and other political subdivisions of the state.

Counties can now vote to establish such systems by a majority vote of voters, and some counties have done so, but under the new amendment, which has the backing of all officer and employe organizations of the state, county voters would have no choice. The legislature would establish the system and counties would match employes' contributions into any retirement fund as prescribed by the legislature.

Proposition 6 would authorize payment by the state to spouse and children of law enforcement officers, custodial personnel of the Texas Department of Corrections, or full-paid firemen who suffer violent death in the course of their duties. The only objection we would have here is that families of volunteer firemen are not similarly protected, but it appears good as far as it goes. Certainly law enforcement personnel should have better protection than most Texas communities can now provide.

Proposition 7 on the ballot would repeal the poll tax as a requirement for voting and provide for annual registration of voters without payment of a fee. There is real opposition to this, too—from the Texas League of Women Voters, who argue that a permanent registration system as now in effect in 38 states of the nation is much superior to an annual registration system which would send millions of citizens back to the courthouses each year unnecessarily.

Proposition 8 would permit persons to vote for national and state offices who are temporarily disqualified by reason of residence. It is estimated that 75,000 Texans are disqualified from voting at each election because they have not resided in the county in which they live for six months. With our society now almost continually on the move, this change would seem logical enough.

Proposition 9 would increase the Court of Criminal Appeals from three to five judges and make some other long sought judicial changes. Proposition 10 is a school district tax amendment, generally minor, which deserves support.

The Dispatch, always a water advocate, is solidly in support of Proposition 11 which would extend the state water program to include filtration, treatment and transportation of water and authorizing an additional $200 million in bonds. Texas, we are proud to report, is looking to its vital water resources and their development for future growth. Proposition 11 will be another step forward along a proven way—which at its beginning enabled the White River dam to be built.

Proposition 12 would provide method for dissolution of hospital districts. At present, once a hospital district is organized there is no legal way to dissolve it. This doesn't make sense.

Proposition 13 would authorize the legislature to provide by statute for any county with 1,200,000 persons, to consolidate the functions of government. At present it would apply only to Houston's Harris County. But should the implementation of this amendment by the legislature be broad enough, it might produce economics that would set a statewide pattern for the future combining of many of the overlapping functions of local government, either by contract or by outright consolidation. Proposition 13 has our full support—as a hope for the future.

Proposition 14 would allow members of the U. S. Armed Forces who are residents of Texas to vote if they meet other voting qualifications. And why not?

Proposition 15 would authorize state acceptance of money from private or federal sources for assistance of physically or mentally handicapped people. Again why not?

Proposition 16 would establish the date when newly elected members of the legislature take office. This is a needed clarifying amendment.

The best suggestion we can offer to voters on this bevy of constitutional amendments is to vote your convictions on those amendments you know about and have an opinion about. If you have no opinion on some of the fuzzy ones, you don't have to vote either way.—JC

IT'S DOUBTFUL if the upcoming weekend can compete with last weekend for sheer excitement, but it should run it a close second. Saturday night, the pranksters got a jump on Halloween to make the weekend a rather eventful one, if setting fire to outhouses can be called "events." I'm writing this column Monday morning, so no telling what is going to happen Monday night, which actually is Halloween.

This weekend's big event is homecoming, of course, with the Post-Slaton football game as one of the highlights. General admission seats might be hard to come by at the football game, so you'd better get there early. There'll be several hundred Slaton fans accompanying the Tiger football team, and many of these fans will "pour over" onto the Post side of the stadium, as was the case when Denver City played here.

THE MAN UP the street says today's teen-agers come in three genders: Masculine, Feminine and Gues.

The fact that Frenship (Wolf-forth) does not have a newspaper probably is one of the reasons that they don't set much store by their press box out at Tiger Field there. A more fitting name for it would be the "noise box," since a representative of the press is someone they seem to think they can get along better without, as far as the press box is concerned.

I WAS ALL set up at Friday night's game at Frenship—and it is no secret that I don't take up much room—when a couple of fellows from the Tiger Booster Club blew into the press box with the announcement that "some different arrangements are going to have to be made."

The first arrangement these two fellows made was to take the tape recording gear of radion station KPOS, which Chuck Kenny and Don Kinard had already set up and plugged in, and move it onto a small stool of a thing, which they then moved over to the press box door. Neither Chuck nor Don were in the press box at the time, and when they returned a few minutes later, they were informed that the proper place for them and their gear was up on the top of the press box.

AFTER CHUCK and Don had climbed up to the top of the press box, where it got really chilly before the game was over, these two Tiger boosters set about to "rearrange" me so they'd be sure to have plenty of room for themselves and their spotters, who they said would be along "directly." In the meantime, I had learned that these two Tiger boosters were going to "announce" the game over the public address system, which Bud Davis does by himself at the Post games without any bother at all.

I went along with the arrangement plan outlined by these two fellows by moving to another seat to give them plenty of elbow room. They then informed me that where I was sitting was okay with them if it was all right with the clock and scoreboard man, who they said would be along "directly."

WELL, IT SO happened that the scoreboard man had neither spotters nor helpers, so I figured I was all set. About the time I started congratulating myself, however, one of the Tiger boosters (the one who did all the talking) informed me that the press box lights would have to be turned off so he and his helper could see the players' jersey numbers without any difficulty.

Well, even a mild-mannered fellow can stand just so much, and I'd had it. I told him I was there to do a job, which consisted of taking a play-by-play of the football game, and that I would have to have a light to see by. This fellow then asked the clock man, "Joe, can you see the scoreboard okay with your light on?" Joe said he couldn't. I said I'd never seen a press box before where it was necessary to turn out the lights to see what was going on down below. Joe said it was because of the way they had instal-

Post Antelopes vs Slaton Tigers

Friday Night — Nov. 4
7:30 P.M. KICKOFF

With Coach Glenn Gregg's Post High Antelopes aiming toward their first district football championship in 18 years, the homecoming game with the Slaton Tigers, traditional rivals, Friday night is an all-important "must" for the locals to win.

Slaton, coming strong after a slow start, has promised to upset the Antelopes and knock them out of an undisputed shot at the district crown.

Slaton will be the biggest club the Antelopes have played—as well as one of the toughest. Remember, the Tigers led Denver City at Denver City in the third period before going down to defeat.

But this is a game which the Antelopes are determined to take. The hard blocking, hard tackling Post eleven is coming strong down the stretch. Injuries have hampered—and are still hampering.

It should be a "doosy" of a ball game!

Gamma Mu chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha has spent a busy month with model meetings, rush parties and a Halloween Carnival.

On Oct. 5 the sorority met at the Community Room for a model meeting highlighted with a talk on "Virtues of ESA" by Kay Pace. The program was on "Table Etiquette" and was presented by Betty Bilbo.

Members and guests came dressed as hobos to the Oct. 20 rush social at the Community Room. The "hobos" sat on the floor around a simulated campfire and told tales of hobos. They were served from blue and white bandanas.

It's My Turn

— BY MRS. C.

Operating on the theory of "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em" I had more fun Halloween than I'd had in years.

I've found during the last few years that "trick or treat" night can be a chore. That is if you are trying to accomplish something constructive in your home and have to drop whatever you are doing to answer the doorbell every couple of minutes.

We also have to contend with Miss Sam Basset, who has to spend the evening baying on the patio.

I found myself thinking of all the doorbell ringers early Halloween morning while at the office and by noon I'd made up my mind.

I bought the last real live pumpkin in town and started going through discarded sheets during the noon hour.

While Mr. C carved the pumpkin face, I fixed an early dinner and prepared my ghost costume. By 6:10 I was seated on a comfortable chair on our front porch, flanked by a table with a bowl full of goodies and a sheet-draped stool holding the candle-illuminated pumpkin.

Just like that, I was in business.

Mrs. Bess Thompson was hostess to members of the Christian Fellowship Guild of the First Christian Church in the Ramsay home Thursday night.

Plans were made to send Christmas boxes of cakes, candies, etc., to two Post servicemen who are in Vietnam — Benny Owen and Bill Lockwood, and Christmas toy boxes to the Yakima Indian kindergarten children.

Monday is the deadline for bringing gifts for the boxes as they will be mailed that day in order to reach their destinations in time.

Edith Ramsey was in charge of the worship entitled "Give It Time." Ella Mae Hudman gave a program from the study book, "Acts—Here and Now" on the topic "The Holy Spirit in the Life of Today."

Refreshments were served to Beth Beggs, Nita Burress, Edith Ramsey, Rowena Pierce and Ella Mae Hudman.

'Snow White' seen by overflow crowd

The Post Music Club's original adaptation of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" played to standing room only Saturday night at the primary school auditorium.

As a special Halloween treat the show was repeated Monday morning at 9 o'clock for the primary and elementary school children.

The Seven Dwarfs and the animals stole the show at both productions.

A few changes were necessary at the Monday show due to school work. Mrs. R. L. Marks replaced Rosa Gambelin as narrator; Melvita Floyd played the piano in place of Boo Olson; Rosemary Chapman took Linda McMahon's role of the black cat, and Barbara Babb and Zoe Kirkpatrick were animals to replace Randy Hudman and Butch Heaton.

Beth Beggs played the role of the Queen (witch) at both productions.

TABOKA VISITORS

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Britton were Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Long and children of Taboka.

Mrs. Ellis hostess to Mystic Sewing Club

Mmes. Crawford, Ruby Butler, Nell Windham, Ruby Shedd, Nora Willingham, Opal Williams, Winnie Henderson, Jimmie Hudman, Aylene Runkles, Pearl Polk, Lillie D. Short and Lucy King, who will be hostess of the Nov. 11 meeting.

Victory Leaders at church entertained

The Rev. R. T. Heltsel, pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy, and Tim Pettijohn entertained the church Victory Leaders with a Halloween party Monday night at 112 West 6th St.

Approximately 40 attended and enjoyed a "spook house", games and refreshments.

The Credit Bureau and You

We are the builders of credit sales profits. Yet most of our members and prospective members think of us as giving credit information that keeps them from making sales and collecting or helping to collect, past due accounts.

We must continue to "preach" to our members and prospects that credit business is good business.

Here are some of the reasons why credit business is good business . . .

1. Credit customers do most of their trading with the stores where they have a charge account.
2. Credit customers are not so price conscious as cash customers.
3. Credit customers do not shop around so much, they buy what they need at the store they need it and say "charge it."
4. Credit customers can be sold four times more than cash customers. It is easy to say "charge it."
5. Credit customers, if selected well, are among the best people in town, and they have money to spend.
6. Credit customers stay with a store for a longer period of time if treated well.
7. Credit customers all have an ascertainable safe-selling credit capacity. If kept within their limits, their accounts are practically "as good as gold."
8. Credit business is not so competitive from a price cutting viewpoint. Credit stores do not need so many price-cutting events, depending more on quality and variety of merchandise.

LONG AGO PEOPLE

It happened while I was hiking in the mountains . . . suddenly I came into a clearing and saw the crumbling foundations of what had once meant shelter and protection for a pioneer family. Rugged mountains surrounded the decayed dwelling on three sides. But in front there opened a panorama across a valley which in all its beauty held me spellbound.

I turned and noticed a small old-fashioned rose bush which seemed to reminisce with yesteryear beside the moldering stoop. I could feel the presence of those long-ago people. How they must have loved this place. The woman had tended flowers and vegetables here, had borne her babies and had helped her man carve a life from the wilderness.

What was their secret . . . these pioneer people? Where did they find the courage and confidence needed to face the privations and dangers of primitive living? God was their refuge and strength. Their love of Him illumined their lives, and goodness graced their days.

Just so today, God and His Church are the source of all bounty, greatness, and joy. They are yours for the asking.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITORIAL

PHS Has Big Supply School Spirit

By Lorena Anderson

By Webster's definition of spirit we find that Post High School has a large supply of it. He defines it as being enthusiasm and courage. During the football season this year everyone has shown a lot of spirit. Our football boys are working out regularly and proving their achievements by the results of each ball game.

These boys gain even more spirit by the cheerleaders, band and pep squad. The cheerleaders are continually practicing and improving the yells, besides leading the pep rallies and encouraging the crowd to yell at the games.

The pep squad boosts spirit by making signs for the halls and locker signs every Wednesday, decorating the halls and gym every Thursday, and attending games and yelling every Friday night.

The band also does their share in producing spirit. Besides practicing every day at school they also practice every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

With these alone, however, our spirit would be somewhat lacking. The student body as a whole and the faculty show their spirit by participation in the pep rally and their attendance at each football game.

Let us all strive to keep this spirit in everything we do this year whether in sports, clubs, organizations or school work. By the success of the football games it is easy to say that spirit adds to one's achievements.

Post High School Happenings

By Marcia Newby

Well, we've done it again, and in a big way this week. As if the complete ecstasy of beating the Denver City Mustangs weren't enough to last everybody a long time, the Antelopes played another great game and downed Frenship 48-2. Now all thoughts turn toward homecoming and the battle with the Slaton Tigers to retain our Number One District and area rating. We've beat them before, we can do it again!

For the first time in the history of the presentation of the "spirit stick," (a short history, I'll admit), it was won by the same class two consecutive weeks. That deserving class is none other than Post High's great senior class. Next week will be the real test to see if the Seniors can win it a third week in a row and thereby keep it permanently, or whether the underclassmen can top the Senior's spirit and break their winning streak. This is a challenge to every class, so, get with the spirit!

Coach Hahn, the assistant football coach, spoke at last Friday's pep rally and made it clear that he thought the Antelopes were going to beat the Frenship Tigers. As it turns out Coach Hahn, I think you have every right to say "I told you so," to anybody who was uncertain of a victory!

This week is homecoming, and full of activity for everyone. A big homecoming dance for the high school students, as well as any interested college students, will be held at Teen Town following the game. The "Blackouts" from Lubbock, who played at the South Plains Fair, will be featured at the dance.

Halloween was celebrated early by many who preferred to trick, rather than treat. Post doesn't see many Saturday nights like the one here last week, and maybe it's a good thing. Between water balloon battles and shaving cream squirts, series of tire and outhouse burnings made the eve of Halloween eve very exciting. All this and a Frankenstein movie too? Too good to be true!

This week the girls' basketball team had two scrimmages in preparation for their oncoming season. Tuesday the Sprinklake girls traveled to Post for a scrimmage and Wednesday, the Post Does were again hostesses when they scrimmaged Gail here. These practices are good for getting the Does ready for the tough season that lies ahead. Good luck!

'67 CHEVROLET

Impala Super Sport Coupe—a clean new sweep in roof lines.

Now that you've seen all the daring new things our stylists did, get in and sample some of the safest, soundest ideas on the road!

What you feel is as new as what you see—thanks to all the fresh thinking that's gone into the way it rides, steers, stops and looks after your safety.

It's got a remarkable new road feel—beginning with a ride so hushed and gentle you'll feel like calling this the '67 Shhchevrolet. The steering is as much as 10% easier. And you'll find the stopping smoother, too.

We put safety features on top of safety features. For example, an energy-absorbing steering wheel atop the new GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column. A dual master cylinder brake system with warning light. And seat belts front and rear with pushbutton buckles. All standard, to be sure.

And there's a new SS 427 performance package—complete with 385-hp Turbo-Jet V8 and flat-cornering suspension. You can order it for either the Impala Super Sport Coupe or Convertible.

Of course, there are all sorts of new custom features you can add, too, such as tape or FM stereo. But if you find so much that's new a bit too much to remember—drop down to your dealer's and take a drive. It'll all become unforgettable.

Everything new that could happen...happened! Now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Does anybody know what's to be done about this inflation?

A Senator can help, if he wants to. And, we have one who does. John Tower.

You can blame fiscal foolishness for our record high cost of living. John Tower does, and he's not alone. He and other Senators have voted for federal spending cuts this year that have saved Texans, and taxpayers everywhere, more than $5 billion. Non-defense items they felt we could do without... if it would help slow the spiral.

It may have.

Essential spending is another matter. As a member of two major committees concerned with defense and the economy, John Tower worked to add $1 billion in priority items important to Texans. Like soil and water conservation, school lunch and milk programs, farm and ranch disaster relief, land-grants for colleges—to name a few. He and others felt that $900 million more were needed this year to help educate returning Vietnam veterans, to boost the Nike-X anti-missile project, to build more Navy ships, to provide for military medical care. He voted for these and other essentials.

If you're keeping score, and some people do, Senator John Tower has helped trim $5 billion in fat... add back meat amounting to $2 billion... for a net saving of $3 billion in tax dollars. That sure could help a deficit budget.

Who said a Texas Republican couldn't be effective in Washington!

Re-elect Senator John Tower—he's doing a good job for Texas
