

City-county airport issues carry in heavy special election voting

City approves by 34 votes; county by 38

Post and Garza County voters met out in surprising numbers Monday at special elections and narrow margins moved the proposed $88,248 city-county airport finally into position for takeoff. City voters approved the proposition 33 to 27—a 34-vote margin—while 618 turning out at City Hall help make the decision.

SURPRISINGLY enough, Garza County voters gave the county's $100 airport bond issue a slight-bigger margin of victory—by 38 votes. The county totals were 440 to 40.

With only 1,400 poll taxes paid in county, this represented a turnout of well over half the qualified voters.

The county airport bonds carried enough margins at five boxes to offset margins against it at other seven.

At No. 4 box at Justiceburg was only rural box to show a margin in favor of the airport, 10 to 7 although it trailed only 21 to 13 at the Graham box (No. 6).

THE VOTE stood exactly even, for and 306 against, before county's biggest box, Precinct 1, at the Youth Center, came with a 35-vote favorable margin, 172 to 134, to break the tie measure victory for airport backing at the Faith Lutheran Church, No. 10, and 12 to 7 in favor of the No. 11 box at the Post.

At other rural boxes, the margins had against them. At the No. 2 box at Southland it was 10 to 14 against.

At the No. 8 box at the Post High and the No. 12 box at City both turned out margins in favor of the airport. It was 108 for and 110 opposed at the high school and 42 for and 42 against at City.

was 16-6, at Verbena 14-4, and at Pleasant Valley 26-9.

A LOT OF paper work and decisions must still be made before construction can begin on the airport, however.

The city council in a special meeting last night officially canvassed the city referendum vote on the airport and unanimously accepted the count as reported to them by election officials.

Next, the Garza County commissioners' court must canvass the vote on the county bond issue. The court probably will do this Monday morning at a special bid opening, or possibly Friday or Saturday.

Continues through March 17 Voter registration starts

A special two-week voter registration period began here today at the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector T. H. Tipton for those persons who were subject to poll tax payment for the year 1965, but who did not pay them.

Tipton stressed that persons who obtained poll tax receipts or exemption certificates before Jan. 31 will remain qualified to vote this year without registering during the 15-day period.

Those not registering by mail will be registered at the tax office. March 17 is the deadline for registering at the tax office in person, and applications for voter registration will be accepted if they are postmarked no later than midnight March 17, Tipton stated.

There will be no charge for the special voter registration.

New farming advances cited

County Agent Syd Conner in a talk before Post Rotarians at their luncheon in City Hall pointed to some of the many, swift technical developments in agriculture in the last five years.

Conner pointed out it required three to four gallons of mixture to spray cotton effectively from the air five years ago and such an application cost about $3 per acre.

Costs have been reduced in the boll weevil program to where only eight ounces is now required per acre, cutting spraying costs to $1 an acre. He said it is predicted this per acre cost will drop to 80 cents by the end of the current spray season.

The county agent said that the boll weevil population was reduced 59.4 per cent in 1964 and the second year of the spray program last year has cut the boll weevils by 99 per cent.

At annual banquet Post Jaycees to hear state representative

State Rep. Jesse T. George of Brownfield will be guest speaker at the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce's third annual installation banquet Saturday, March 25, it was announced at last Thursday night's Jaycee dinner meeting at Judy's Restaurant.

George is a candidate for reelection as state representative.

RMA to sponsor a course in selling

The Retail Merchants Association of Post voted last Thursday to sponsor a four-night course, entitled "Dynamics of Selling," for all interested local business men and their personnel.

March blows in with sandstorm

March came roaring in like a lion this week, as whipping winds kicked sand thousands of feet into the air Tuesday and gave the entire High Plains region one of those old-fashioned gritty-mouthed sandstorms yesterday.

High winds cut visibility to only three blocks in Post about 10 a. m. yesterday but the winds slack- ed off after lunch to extend visibility to a mile or more as a new cold front began to push into the area.

Worst damage caused by the sand-filled winds occurred four miles south of Justiceburg about 10:30 a. m. yesterday when a trailer load of three new boats was blown over causing an estimated $1,500 to $1,600 damage to the boats.

Highway patrolman Henry Harden said Kenneth Griffith, Amarillo boat dealer, was hauling home four new boats from the factory when the wind whipped over his trailer and damaged three. He wasn't injured.

Today's Dispatch is missing one of its top ingredients—Mrs. C's column, It's My Turn. This week it turned out to be Mrs. C's turn to get to bed not write a column.

She has had a bad cough for two weeks and Monday afternoon simply coughed so hard she cracked a rib, which is mighty painful.

Mrs. C had intended to devote her column this week to two weeks of personal research on all varieties of cough drops. After what happened Monday, we doubt if any of them are worth writing about.

The favorable airport decisions at the polls Tuesday were votes for progress for community and area—although not overwhelming votes for progress by any means.

The city council and the county court now have their voter mandates and have a lot of airport work ahead of them. We hope the two groups will get busy, cooperate together, and go on to build together a real "airport bargain."

Wouldn't be worth the trouble Federal aid not for new lake recreation

There is nothing in the federal government's new lake recreational aid fund program for the White River Lake, district directors were told at their February meeting last Thursday night.

The board's recreation committee reported on an early February trip to Austin to check into the possibility of both federal and state aid in the development of recreational facilities.

The committee reported it would "cost more than it would be worth" to apply for a small amount of the $3,500,000 federal funds already given Texas under the program.

An application would cost several thousand dollars to prepare, the committee said, for a chance at not many more thousand dollars in federal funds.

Efforts to get recreational development under way at the White River lake have proved futile to date.

Directors laid down requirements too stiff for the only developers who have been interested in the White River Lake's recreational facilities so far.

It is estimated $150,000 in funds will be needed to get the recreational development off the ground.

The board wanted the trip made to Austin to inquire into the possibility of federal aid before proceeding further.

Directors discussed a wide range of lake topics, including a check of the financial operation for the first budget year to date.

Directors voted to authorize the (See Federal Aid, page 8)

Burglars flee scene of crime with $70

Powell Shytles, owner of Shytles Implement Co. at 122 West 8th St., surprised two boys in the act of burglarizing his store Friday night, but not soon enough to keep them from fleeing with approximately $70 they had taken from the cash register.

Shytles reported to police that the pair broke the glass out of the front door and escaped through it as he entered the store through a side door.

The boys dropped some change on the sidewalk in front of the store as they fled on foot, the owner reported to police. He said one of the boys appeared to be about 15 years old and the other about 11.

They had taken a $20 bill, two $10 bills, two $5 bills, a number of ones and some change from the cash register after breaking into the store through a restroom window.

A break-in also took place sometime Friday night at Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co., 110 South Broadway, but nothing was reported missing. The intruders entered the building through a window and opened desk drawers and moved papers around in the office, it was reported to police. The lumber company is a block east of the implement firm that was burglarized Friday night.

Club program on heart diseases

An American Heart Association program was presented at the Post Lions Club meeting Tuesday night, with Dr. Malcolm L. Thomas, heart specialist of Lubbock, showing slides on and discussing diseases of the heart.

Bill Renfro, also of Lubbock, chairman for the AHA in this area, accompanied Dr. Thomas to the meeting. The program was in charge of R. G. "Wike" Wilkerson, Garza County chairman for the AHA.

Wilkerson announced that a city-wide fund drive for the American Heart Association will be made here soon. Other AHA officials in Garza County include Vearl McBride, memorial chairman.

Abilene family hurt when car overturns

An Abilene family of three received lacerations and bruises Saturday morning when their car skidded off the wet pavement 21 miles southeast of Post on US-84 about 11 a. m. and overturned.

Injured were Roy Monk, driver of the car, his wife, Elliot, and their daughter, Vicki. The mother and daughter were admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital for treatment. The accident was investigated by Highway Patrolman Henry Harden.

3 charged with liquor violations

Shades of prohibition days! State "revenuers" have been back in Post for a visit!

County Attorney Preston Poole filed liquor charges against three local residents in county court Tuesday.

Nathaniel Wilson was charged four times with unlawfully selling beer in a wet area without a license, and once with unlawfully selling beer and whiskey without a license.

Bessie James was charged with unlawfully possessing for purposes of sale beer, wine and whiskey without a license in a wet area.

Alphenus Wynne has two charges against him for "unlawfully selling beer in a wet area without a license."

Saturday, March 12 Stock show work day is scheduled

Saturday, March 12, will be work day at the county 4-H building in preparation for the first annual Garza County Livestock Show and Sale Friday and Saturday, March 18-19. Jim Jackson, president of the livestock association, said today.

The work at the 4-H building on March 12 will include the erection of spectator stands, which will be moved in from the Giles Dalby place, repair of stock pens, setting up of tables inside the building for county fair exhibits, and other work, Jackson said.

Volunteer workers are needed for the work-day and are asked to assemble at the Post Pharmacy at 8 o'clock the morning of March 12, Jackson said.

Tickets for the stock show barbecue to be held at noon Saturday, March 19, are on sale by 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America members or may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Early purchase of the barbecue tickets is urged by Jackson so that those preparing the barbecue will have some indication of how much to cook.

Peace Corps said attaining goals

A Post school teacher who served two years in the Peace Corps, most of that time in the Dominican Republic, says the Peace Corps is accomplishing most of its goals in the free world's under-developed countries.

George Edgerton, who came here at mid-term as a mathematics teacher in junior high school a few weeks after leaving the Peace Corps, says he thinks the program is making its best progress in the development of technical skills.

"At the same time, we're getting to know more about these people and their customs and they're getting to know more about us and our way of life," Edgerton said.

He was in the Dominican Republic during the upheaval there, but he was at Santiago, about 100 miles from the capital city of Santo Domingo, which was the real trouble spot.

"I was on vacation in Ecuador when the revolt broke out and had to take a military flight to get back into the country," Edgerton said.

He said an attempt was made to assassinate the rebel leader at Santiago, where he was stationed,

Visit your school next week

If you want to see for yourself that the little red schoolhouse is not what it used to be, then pay a visit to any one or all of the Post schools during Public Schools Week, March 7 through March 11.

Patrons are invited to visit the schools at any time they are in session, but since very few of them ever get around to it, a special invitation is being made during Public Schools Week.

Open house will be held at all the schools here Thursday, March 10, from 6:30 until 8:30 p. m. as a highlight of the local observance of Public Schools Week.

To help create interest in the special week and its activities, the Woman's Study Club and Amity Study Club are sponsoring an all-school program at 7:30 p. m. today—Thursday, March 3—in the grade school auditorium. An outstanding program has been arranged by these enterprising clubwomen, who realize the importance of the public schools to the community.

If you haven't visited the schools in a number of years, you'll see changes in all areas of education, if you pay them a call during Public Schools Week. Just as outside the schools there is a new awareness that education today is the first work of our times, inside them are much else that is new—equipment that wasn't dreamed of when many of us was going to school, teaching aids, etc.

Public Schools Week comes but once a year. It is a chance for you parents to see for yourselves what the schools are doing. These public schools are YOUR schools. You build them. You maintain them with your taxes. They are major factors in developing the character of your children. Next week is your opportunity to see them in action during Public Schools Week.—CD

Voter registration starts today

If you failed to pay your poll tax before the Jan. 31 deadline, you have another chance to register for a vote in this year's elections. This time it's "for free!"

The registration period begins in Garza and other Texas counties today—Thursday, March 3—and runs through March 17. Any citizen eligible to vote can sign up with his county tax assessor-collector and his name will be placed on the poll list at no charge.

Even so, there are going to be many who fail to register, just as there were many who did not pay their poll tax. This should not be, since it is every citizen's duty to vote. As easy as they are making it with this emergency voter registration law, everyone should qualify himself to vote in this year's elections.

All who paid poll taxes by Jan. 31 will be entitled to vote as usual, without re-registering. It is for the many who did not pay their poll tax that this emergency voter registration is being held.—CD

WEATHER NOTE: It can't seem to make up its mind.

Just who far did Coach Wilbert Bigott's Post Antelopes miss a trip to the state basketball tournament? The way I have it figured, it was by seven points, but there are other ways of figuring that would make it even closer.

WHEN THE Antelopes went to Denver City with a chance to clinch the district championship, they lost by two points. In the bi-district playoff, Denver City lost to Dimmitt by one point, and in the Region I championship game Saturday night, Dimmitt lost to Crane by three points.

By pulling those few points together, we find that only seven points separate Post and Crane.

GOING AT IT from another angle, Post defeated Abernathy by 15 points, and Dimmitt was only one point better than Abernathy in their District JAA playoff game. That gives us a 14-point edge on Dimmitt there and an 11-point margin over Crane—on the basis of Saturday night's Crane-Dimmitt score.

In basketball, more than in any other sport, however, there's many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip, and comparative scores mean little when two teams of anywhere near equal strength get together. Even in football, you can finagle around with comparative scores and come up with astounding results. A few years ago an Eastern sportswriter used comparative scores to prove that Slippery Rock College had an edge on Notre Dame, which was the nation's No. 1 football team that year. Somewhere down the line, Slippery Rock had slipped up on some eastern college that had held a bigger school to a closer score than had Notre Dame—and there he had it.

ALL THIS fussing with figures, I suppose, is a throw-back to something I wrote in this column at the start of the basketball season when someone asked me if I was ready to start packing my bag to accompany Coach Bigott and the Antelopes to the state tournament. Well, we didn't make it—by seven points or less—but maybe next year.

The man up the street says some people have such a talent for making the best of a bad situation that they go around creating bad situations so they can make the best of them.

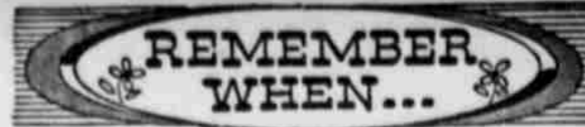

LAST WEEK I wrote in this column about us having a problem over whether or not to include Feb. 29 birthdays in The Dispatch's "Happy Birthday" column in years in which there is no Feb. 29. Well, this week we have another problem. Mrs. C. who composes the "Happy Birthday" column every week from The Dispatch's birthday book, says March 5 is the only date for which no birthdays are listed. Surely, March 5 is somebody's birthday. If it's yours or if you know someone whose it is, let us know. There are 366 dates (counting Feb. 29) in our birthday book and March 5 is the only date that is blank.

The Weekly World, Omaha, Neb., says getting to the moon looks easier and easier as time passes. It's staying right here on earth that seems tougher and tougher.

SCOOP HUTCHINS of the Rankin (Tex.) News says keep your poll tax receipt and some day, like old coins and LBJ signatures, it may become valuable as a collector's item. That's a good suggestion. Scoop, but my trouble is that I can't find my poll tax receipt when it's time to vote, so I'm even less likely to hang onto it as a keepsake.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lively of Salem, Ore., have been visiting relatives of Mrs. Lively here for the last couple of months, and Vernon dropped in at The Dispatch office the other afternoon to look through our Texas Almanac. Cotton producers to be told of electronic computer program

Electronic computer programming, a new analytical tool for the cotton producer, will be explained at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 16, in the district courtroom here.

County Agent Syd Conner said the program will be explained by the district area farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The purpose of the project is to help farmers in making decisions regarding the 1966 federal cotton program. Because of the many alternatives under the current program, days of figuring by a mathematician would be required to get a farmer all the answers.

Not only does the farmer have to decide whether or not to participate in the program, but at what level if the answer is "yes" to participation. Decision making doesn't end here. There are a number of row patterns or combinations which may be selected and yields and income must be considered, he adds.

The farmer can, by supplying certain basic information, get help from the electronic computer in his decision making. He will have to supply data on such things as the kind and amount of land, cotton allotment, production costs and returns for each of the row patterns considered.

A form has been developed for farmer use in submitting the needed data, according to Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist who heads up the new activity. The fee covers the programming of one ASCS contract. The farmer will receive from the analysis the income available from each level of participation, and the row pattern or combination selected. After a study of the four solutions programmed, the farmer can select the one best suited to his farm.

Parker says all county agricultural agents have the details on the new project, including the fee to be charged, and will be glad to discuss them with an interested cotton producer.

Electronic equipment in Texas A&M University's Data Processing Center will be utilized in the project, Parker said.

The French astronomer Urbain Leverrier (1811-1877) first used the telegraph in a practical way to forecast weather conditions. World Book Encyclopedia notes that Leverrier showed that a central office, receiving weather reports by telegraph from many places, could forecast storms. In 1855 Napoleon III instructed Leverrier to organize a weather forecasting system for France.

OUR READERS Write

LET US ACT AND STOP TALKING

The question has been brought up, "What can we do to help stop crime increase?" Let us ask ourselves, "What are we willing and able to do to help." We can look at our future citizens of America — our children, our neighbors' children, and all the boys and girls before they reach manhood and womanhood, and wonder what type of future they have if crime keeps on the increase as it is at present.

We can establish, support and maintain all types and kinds of boys and girls clubs, organizations, camps and troops that will help them become bigger and better men and women in the future.

Also we can help keep them from committing any crime by keeping them busy in some type of recreation, in a hobby of their choice, in activities of their church. If we don't act while we can, there may be some type of State or Federal action for them to abide by in the future.

We say, especially in the larger cities, that there is a large amount of juvenile delinquency; but let us stop and think — is it juvenile or adult delinquency that we are having at this time?

Are we rearing our children, or do we leave it to the public schools and churches to teach them right from wrong?

When our children go out at night, do we know where they are going and with whom? The time has come for you and me to lift a finger to help in a way to keep our boys and girls on the right path of life.

If we don't show interest in them, should we expect them to respect us and have confidence in us as they should?

While we can and have time, let each of us contribute time, effort and money to our local boys and girls clubs, troops, organizations and camps to help better our community in the future.

If we keep waiting, they will organize their own clubs, which will not be properly supervised and sponsored.

How to add years to your life

100 years ago the average American could expect to live about 40 years. Today—about 70. Modern sanitation, diet, drugs and medical practice have added 30 years to our life span. And note that 70 is average. Many die sooner. Many live longer. You up your chances of being a "longer" if you eat properly and get proper medical care. This means periodic check-ups by your physician. As pharmacists we are pleased to help by supplying the drugs your doctor prescribes—drugs unknown a century ago. We're so conscious of the effectiveness of modern medicine that we're shooting for a life span of 100 years.

How about you?

Sin is a disagreeable word that millions shun. It casts a shadow of separation. It raises chill thoughts of an impenetrable and eternal barrier between humanity and God...

Forgiveness on the other hand is a warm and inspiring word. It promises that life's slate can be wiped clean. It brings us close to God — and to one another.

An Execution on a Friday centuries ago... an Empty Tomb in the dawn of the first Easter Day... a Faith that has gripped human souls for all the generations since — these are forever entwined with the stark realization of man's sin and the blessed assurance of God's forgiveness.

That is why, when we think deeply of the meaning of these words — of their implication in our own lives — we find ourselves at the very heart of the Christian religion.

And it is why these soul-stirring weeks at the threshold of Christ's suffering have long been the time for such searching thought!

...and FORGIVENESS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
