The new 1968 Texas license plates that went on sale here Thursday are displayed in comparison to one of the 1967 tags. Mrs. Gladys Pennell (left) holds the new passenger car tag, which has the word "HemisFair" on it. Mrs. Ruth Reno displays the new truck tag, while Tax Assessor-Collector T. H. and Mrs. Reno are deputies in the county tax office, where the new license plates are on sale. State law requires each owner to register his vehicle in the county in which he lives and to present his certificate of title as evidence of ownership. Qualified voters set new record as 2,487 register

Filings assure contests in all but one race

A brand-new record of 2,487 for Garza County voter registration had been set up to yesterday's registration deadline, with the figure yet to be increased through applications postmarked before the midnight Jan. 31 deadline for voter registration.

While no new record is anticipated in the number of candidates filing for office in Garza County for this year's elections, contests in every county and precinct race except one were assured Tuesday when V. L. "Punk" Peel filed for the office of county tax assessor-collector.

There are rumors of "another candidate or two" in some of the races before the filing deadline, which is Monday, Feb. 5.

The fact that citizens 60 years of age and over are required to register this year for the first time has helped swell the registration total to the record-smashing figure.

The previous high in Garza County was four years ago in the 1964 presidential election year when approximately 2,000 poll taxes were paid and an estimated 350 voters over 60 years of age qualified merely by going to the polls on election day and turning in their names.

This is the second year of free voter registration in Texas. Last year's registration, however, clouded by uncertainty over the legality of the new registration law and the fact that it was an "off" election year, resulted in less than 1,500 persons registering in Garza County.

Indications are that new voter registration marks are being chalked up in every county in the state.

From Wednesday of last week, when a total of 1,864 had registered to vote, the tax office has processed some 700 additional voter registration forms. They were busy registering voters through the first three days of this week and right up to yesterday's 5 p. m. closing time.

The county attorney's race, in which Preston Poole has filed for re-election as the only candidate thus far, was the only one through Wednesday in which a contest was not assured.

There are three candidates in the race for county sheriff and two each in the other three races — tax assessor-collector, Precinct 1 county commissioner and Precinct 3 county commissioner.

The candidates for sheriff are L. E. (Fay) Claborn Jr., the present office-holder; J. A. (Jimmy) Holleman and Nathan Mears.

T. H. Tipton, who is seeking re-election, and Peel are the candidates in the tax office race.

For Precinct 1 commissioner, Paul H. Jones, the incumbent, has an opponent in Adrian O. Cook, and Ben Sanchez, seeking re-election for Precinct 3 commissioner, is opposed by Russell Wilks Jr.

Mr. Masters, who was 59, and a construction engineer, lived at 102 West 11th St. He had been a resident of Post for the last few years and formerly lived in Hale Center and California.

Survivors include his wife of the home; three sons, three daughters, his mother, five brothers, six sisters and 12 grandchildren.

The Rev. D. J. Peters, pastor of the Dickens Baptist Church, officiated at the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. Paul McMasters of Cotton Center. Burial was in the Center Plains Cemetery.

January moisture total winds up 2.99 inches

Post's moisture total for January gained only .02 of an inch here Tuesday to bring the monthly precipitation figure to 2.99 inches.

All of which made it the wettest January in the last 28 years. Some farmers began January still trying to get the last of their 1967 cotton out of their fields.

Chamber event set for 7 o'clock tonight

Outstanding speaker on banquet

Ticket sales were reported brisk here this week for the annual banquet of the Post Chamber of Commerce tonight (Thursday), at which Dr. Charles W. Jarvis, San Marcos dentist, will be the keynote speaker.

The banquet will be held at the newly-acquired Community Auditorium in the west part of town on U. S. Hwy. 380, with a 7 o'clock starting time.

The advance sale of tickets by Chamber directors and at the First National Bank and Chamber office indicate that approximately 300 members and guests will attend the banquet.

The theme of the 1968 banquet is "Accent on Tomorrow Through Action Today."

'Measles must go' campaign begun

A county-wide, month-long Measles Must Go campaign was kicked off here today by Post Rotarians who are co-sponsoring the campaign to get all area children, 6 months and over, vaccinated against measles free.

The civic club is working with the county and city health officers and the state board of health in the vaccination drive. The state health agency has furnished all necessary vaccine.

Vaccinations for all children will be given free during February at either Post's physician's office or at the nurse's station in the Garza Memorial Hospital. A 25 cent voluntary contribution may be made per child but is not required.

Ansil O'Neal, Rotary president, urged all parents to get their children vaccinated against the disease as soon as possible, emphasizing that without parental cooperation the campaign cannot be successful.

Rotarians are taking a series of small ads in The Dispatch each week through February to remind parents of the measles vaccination campaign.

FFA group enters nine animals in stock show

Nine Post High School FFA boys left yesterday morning with nine lambs, one calf, and three adult spongers for the Fort Worth and the Southwestern Championship Stock Show.

They will return home this weekend. FFA boys making the trip included D'Wayne Gannon, Dennis Ray, Johnny Pennell, Ronnie Williams, James McBride, Danny Dozier, Chris Steizer and Jay Bird.

Adults accompanying them were Jerry Thuest, Robert Craig, and FFA instructor E. A. Howard.

Outgoing president Vernon Scott will deliver the welcome address, and anticipations of the Chamber in the year ahead will be told by incoming president Ansil O'Neal.

New directors to be introduced at the banquet are John Brockman, Harold Lucas, William F. Shiver and Dr. B. E. Young. Hold-

Library friends in board session

Directors of Friends of a Public Library met Tuesday night in the pastor's study of the First Presbyterian Church to name a nominations committee, a newsletter committee, and discuss a wide variety of library items.

Mrs. Mattie Collier, Mrs. Kay Pace and Dr. Harry A. Tubbs were named to the nominating committee, and Gordon Lee and Mrs. Barbara McKeown to the newsletter committee.

Directors discussed taking the cataloging of library duties away from the volunteer librarian and placing it in the hands of a committee to lighten the work load of the librarian.

It was proposed that the city's drive-in window be used to check in library books during office hours when the library is closed to help the return of books. The problem of overdue books was discussed and a position of secretary for overdue books was suggested.

Directors will meet again Monday night to hear its nominating committee report and to make plans for the annual membership meeting of the organization in March.

Project left in hands of committee for study

Magnitude of effort needed for junior college outlined

The magnitude of the effort required to develop a new junior college in a six-county area, which includes Garza, was outlined last Thursday afternoon here before Post Chamber and Industrial foundation directors by Dr. Robert Clinton, assistant commissioner in charge of junior colleges with the Texas college coordinating board.

At the end of the meeting and following some discussion the project was left in the hands of J. B. Potts, newly appointed chairman of a junior college steering committee, for further study.

Dr. Clinton told directors of the two local organizations that the state does not wish to approve the opening of any new Texas junior colleges unless they are designed eventually to accommodate 1,000 students and have well rounded programs in the fields of general college work, vocational education, and adult education.

He said for the college coordinating board to approve a new junior college for state aid proof of financial ability must be shown.

He said a three to four million dollar junior college plant would be needed on a 100 acre campus and that this cost would be borne by taxpayers of the junior college district.

Dr. Clinton said a $75 million taxable valuation at least would be needed for the district to make such a junior college feasible.

The state educational official said the state pays $475 in state aid for each 15 hours taught per student, but he estimated that educational costs per student would run $700 to $750 per student with the junior college district paying the difference.

He estimated the school's operating cost to its taxing district at $125,000 or more each year.

Dr. Clinton said the procedure for organizing such a junior college would be for voters to approve at the same election a bond issue for construction of a junior college plant, a maximum tax levy for the junior college district, the organization of such a junior college district, and the election of a board of regents to operate the junior college.

Site of the institution could be determined legally only by the board of regents after the district had been officially voted into being.

"We say one junior college can exist in Area 10, which includes Garza, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Kent and Lynn counties," Dr. Clinton said.

He said that nine of the 53 junior college districts into which the state has been divided are located in West Texas and do not now have junior colleges.

The educator said that Texas (See Junior Effort, Page 8)

Rotary told of interact program

Stansell Clement, Lamesa attorney and chairman of the district Rotary committee for Interact, told Post Rotarians at their weekly luncheon here Tuesday the advantages of organizing an Interact Club for boys in the local high school.

Interact is a world fellowship of outstanding young men attending high schools which is sponsored by Rotary and dedicated to the promotion of world understanding and community achievement.

Clement said the first Interact Club was organized in Florida in the latter part of 1962 and today there are over 2,020 clubs in 59 countries with over 60,000 young men as members.

The Lamesa attorney cited as some of the aims of Interact to develop leadership and personal integrity, to encourage and practice thoughtfulness and helpfulness to others, to create awareness of the importance of home and family life, to build respect for the rights of others, to accept individual responsibility, to recognize the dignity and value of all occupations, and to promote understanding of community, national and world affairs among its members.

He described the organization of such an Interact Club in the Lamesa High School two years ago by the Lamesa Rotary Club and said that some Rotarians have called the development of Interact clubs as the most important contribution of Rotary.

Mothers March raises $623.20 here Monday

The Mothers March here Monday evening raised $623.50 for the fight on birth defects and crippling diseases. Mrs. Kay Pace, Mothers March chairman, reports.

"We appreciate the fine response and all the fine people who help with the march year after year," Mrs. Pace said.

Boy Scouts of Troop 316 and approximately 65 other individuals helped the drive, the chairman said.

The old Ameen hotel building in the heart of Post's business district today is undoubtedly the biggest fire hazard this town has ever had.

Jim Hundley hailed us down the other day and wondered what could be done about getting this yo sure, fire hazard torn down.

That chore obviously needs to be done as quickly as possible for safety's sake. It also would help the "looks" of downtown Post immeasurably.

Owned by an out-of-town man, the building has no income possibilities in its present condition and is so "far gone" on the interior that the cost of remodeling is said to be prohibitive.

The City of Post can of course take legal steps to acquire the property because of unpaid taxes on the building.

But the city is faced with a heavy expense to tear down the old stone building if it takes this course. Hauling off the heavy stone will cost plenty.

Really, it's the cost involved which probably has held the city back so long. The property owner last year repeatedly promised to board up the windows and doors, but as the months have passed, the building has fallen into even greater disrepair. Almost every window in the second floor is broken out, youngsters play through the litter in the first floor and we suppose all over the building.

A bird has only to fly into one of those broken out upstairs windows with a lighted cigarette butt picked up off the street and it could have a very serious and expensive fire.

The old hotel building, once an early day landmark, has become one of Post's worst headaches. But it is a problem which isn't going to simply "go away". And it's pretty hard to ignore in the middle of the business district.

If anybody has any answers, let's have them. That old building needs to come down — and quick.

Post cowboy winner in Fort Worth bulldogging

Tim Prather, Post cowboy, won top honors in the steer wrestling event Monday at the Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo.

Prather wrestled down his steer in 8.3 seconds, which was 5.5 seconds better than the time posted by Arnold Haraga of Skiff, Alta., Canada, who finished second with a time of 14.3 seconds.

Tim's brother, Jim, is competing in the bull roping event at the rodeo.

A few thoughts on 'Operation Sparkle'

The official designation of Snyder as a "Sparkle City" is something that no doubt makes many other West Texas towns and cities squirm.

Snyder's "Operation Sparkle" involved work and financial support of many organizations, individuals and business firms, but they put it over—much to their credit.

"Operation Sparkle" is a West Texas Chamber of Commerce program for the organization's members towns and cities, every one of which had the same opportunity as Snyder to enter wholeheartedly into the program and be officially designated a "Sparkle City."

Snyder probably had as much work to do to earn the award as any other town would have. Too bad more of them didn't participate in the program.

Beautification and improvement is big job in any town and one that takes the combined efforts of just about everybody concerned.

There is a need in every town, particularly in the business districts, for some improvement in appearance. Post, for instance, is no worse off in this respect than many other towns, but neither is it any better off than most. Take the old vacant two-story hotel building at the corner of Main and Avenue I, which is not only an eyesore, but a potential fire hazard and a peril to life and limb.

While parked on the east side of the building the other day, we took a look at the old hotel structure, and suddenly realized that it is truly in as bad a shape as it's cracked up to be.

Of the 24 windows on the east side, the glass is completely gone out of all except four. Part of an ancient air-conditioner has fallen from one of the windows on top of the rotting wooden awning, making that part of the building a booby trap, as well as a fire hazard.

The north front of the building is in just as bad a shape, and the interior is probably in as rundown a condition as the exterior.

The city council is well aware of the deteriorated condition of the old hotel building, and has made repeated requests of the out-of-town owner to do something about it. According to reports at some of the council meetings we have attended, the owner has put the city off with first one excuse and then another.

The old hotel building isn't the only vacant building in town that needs something done about it, but it probably is the worst, and would be the logical starting place if Post ever decided to join in the "Operation Sparkle" program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

TODAY (THURSDAY) is the first day of a 29-day February, which is something that comes along only once every four years.

Making this Leap Year February more unusual than most for the weekly newspaper publisher is the fact that the month has five Thursdays.

Jack Scott, in his "Home Town" column in the Cross Plains Review, has this to say about it: "The year . . . is Leap Year and brings a rare situation for country newspapers, most of which date Thursday. There being 29 days in the upcoming February and the first falling on Thursday means the weeklies will publish five editions during the short month."

"There are few country editors about who have ever dated their publications Feb. 29. It's not often possible, for in the last 152 years Feb. 29 has fallen on a Thursday only four times. The years were 1816, 1844, 1872 and 1904."

So, you'd better save your Feb. 29 copy of The Post Dispatch, it will be quite an oddity with its Feb. 29 date. There won't be another like it until 1996.

THE MAN UP the street says if you're tired of reading about the evils of smoking—give up reading.

Earl Chapman gives us a big assist on this week's column with the following clipping, which illustrates the care used by the Defense Plant Corporation in investigating land titles to proposed plant sites.

The Defense Plant Corporation, making a routine investigation of the titles to a proposed land site in Louisiana, received title proof as far back as 1803. A legal advisor was not satisfied with this and wrote for evidence as to prior titles. He received the following reply from a Louisiana attorney: "Gentlemen:

"I note your comment upon the fact that the record of title sent you as applying to the lands under consideration, dates only from the year 1803, and your request for an extension of the records prior to that date.

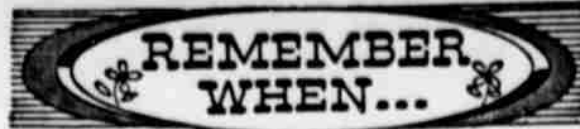

"Please be advised that the government of the United States acquired the territory, including the tract to which your inquiry applies, by purchase from the government of France in 1803. The government of France acquired title by conquest from the government of Spain; the government of Spain acquired title by discovery of one Christopher Columbus, a resident of Genoa, Italy, traveler and explorer, who by agreement concerning the acquisition of title to any lands discovered, traveled and explored under the sponsorship and patronage of her Majesty the Queen of Spain. And the Queen of Spain had verified her arrangement and received sanction of her title by the consent of the Pope, a resident of Rome, Italy, and ex-officio representative and viceroy of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ was the son and heir apparent of the Almighty God, from whom He received His authority, and the Almighty God made Louisiana.

"I trust this complies with your request."

THIS HIPPIE language is something I've never caught up with, but I don't think I'm losing much by being behind in it. However, it might be looked upon by some as an improvement over the language a dashing young country swain once used in writing as follows to his little bunch of sweethearts:

"Dearest: My love for you is stronger than coffee or the kick of a cow. When I think of you my heart flops up and down like my mother's churn dasher and visions of doubt creep over my soul until I feel like an old cheese board made full of holes by skippers. Sensations of exquisite joy go through me like young goats over a stable roof. I feel as though I could lift myself with my boot-strap to the height of a church steeple. As a goshin swimmer in a mud puddle, so do I swim in a sea of delightfulness when you are near me. My heart oscillates like a shaker in a fanning mill, and my eyes stand open like cellar doors in a country town. If my love is not reciprocated, I will pine away like a poisoned potato bug, and you will catch cold over my grave."

Did you ever hear of Fred Halstead and Paul Bouteille? Well, they are candidates for President and Vice President, respectively, according to an issue of "The Campaigner," published by the Texas Committee for Halstead and Bouteille. The copy of The Campaigner was left at our desk by Mrs. Eleanor Cooke, who said she was as much in the dark as to why she received a copy as she was about the two candidates. Reading further in The Campaigner, we learned that Halstead and Bouteille are candidates of the Socialist Workers Party, and that their backers are trying to get their names on the Texas ballot in this year's presidential election. Strange things crop up in an election year!

Assist 'Measles Must Go' campaign

All parents of Post and vicinity are being called upon to do their part in the "Measles Must Go" campaign being sponsored during February by the Post Rotary Club.

During the campaign, vaccinations against measles will be available at no cost at either physician's office in Post or at the Garza Memorial Hospital.

A voluntary contribution of 25 cents will be accepted from each individual for the vaccine, which is provided by the State Board of Health. Sponsors stress that it is important that every child six months old or older is vaccinated against measles, whether or not the 25-cent voluntary contribution is made in every case.

Measles, long considered a "harmless" childhood affliction, is in reality the most deadly child-killer of any infectious disease. In 1961, nearly five times more children were killed by measles than by poliomyelitis. And in 1963, there were more deaths from measles than there were actual cases of polio.

Practically every child over six months of age is susceptible to the disease. Of those who survive measles, a significant percentage sustain some degree of brain injury and mental impairment.

Awareness of the seriousness of measles could serve as a major factor in saving as many as 300 children from death and 2,000 from measles encephalitis each year.

Therefore, one of the most dangerous aspects of the disease is its image. In the light of serious diseases such as polio, diphtheria and typhoid, the measles virus has, in contrast, been tabbed erroneously as a harmless childhood affliction.

Many parents stubbornly refuse to recognize that the disease they have taken so lightly for so many years is a killer and crippler of children. How fatal is measles?

In 1961, some 510 American children died from the disease, according to Dr. Norman J. Rose, chief of the Bureau of Epidemiology of the Illinois Department of Public Health. And the death toll may actually be much higher because only about ten per cent of the estimated four million measles cases in the United States are reported to the health authorities each year.

Measles is sometimes a direct cause of a fatal virus pneumonia and more often it lays the groundwork for a fatal bacterial infection. As high as one out of every 1,000 measles patients develops encephalitis, which may lead to death or some degree of brain injury and mental impairment.

While measles constitutes a significant health problem in the United States, it is even more serious in other parts of the world. In some of the underdeveloped nations of Africa, for instance, measles constitutes about 50 per cent of the infant mortality rate.

Eradication of measles in the United States can come through teamwork. Parents are asked to join with local Rotarians and physicians in the "Measles Must Go" campaign and help stamp it out in our locality.

Few more days for political candidates

The voter registration deadline has come and gone, as of midnight, but a few more days remain for political candidates to make up their minds whether they are going to have a share of the action in the slim-bang 1968 races.

For some season or other, the races at stake in Garza County haven't drawn as many candidates as some thought they would, but these, too, might gain more hopefuls before the Feb. 5 filing deadline.

The governor's column on the ballot already is jammed with impressive Democrats who include former State Rep. Dolph Briscoe Jr., former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Secretary of State John Hill, former U. S. Deputy Ambassador to Vietnam Eugene M. Locke, radio executive Gor-

Two Post High Seniors spotlighted this week

By Irene Saldivar
(Editor's Note: Two seniors will be spotlighted each week for the next few months.)

DENNIS ALTMAN one of Post's star football players, is a member of the 1968 graduating class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Altman.

Dennis came to Post from South and his sophomore year. Since he came to Post, he had played varsity basketball in addition to football. He is a member of Science and Math Club, Student Council, and the Lettermen's Club. Recently he was elected Most Athletic from his senior class, Mr. PHS and FHA member.

Dennis said that among his high school highlights, sports have ranked among the top. He has enjoyed working with the coaches and most important right now is being a member of the 1967-68 varsity basketball team.

He plans to attend Texas Tech after graduation.

ANNIE BELL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Bell, is also a graduating senior. She has been going to Post schools all 12 years and says she has enjoyed all of it, especially her senior year. She has been a member of FHA for two years and is now working for the Neighborhood Youth Corps ten hours a week.

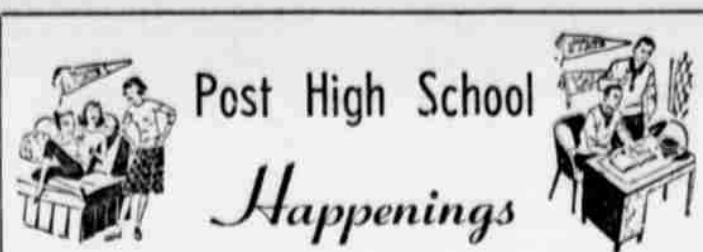

Annie plans to go to college in Dallas or take a secretarial course following her graduation.

Former Abilene Cooper students enroll at PHS

By Beth Peel and Karen Potts
The sophomore and junior classes were joined by two new students this week, Mary Ann and Nancy Strawn. Before moving to Post, they lived in Abilene and went to Cooper High School.

Nancy is a sophomore and has blonde hair and green eyes. Her hobbies are tennis and swimming. Nancy's favorite subjects are P. E., Homemaking, and English. FHA and church activities are only two of the many things that kept Nancy pretty busy in Abilene.

The Typing II class would like to thank Mrs. Bettye Scott for the box of candy. Everyone just loved it. Now we'll have to go on a diet.

What's this about people falling out of trees, Micki?

7th grade boys' hobbies varied

Seventh grade students have a hobby club through work in the Languages Arts classes.

One section of 25 boys has the following hobbies:

Hiking, hunting, horseback riding, collecting arrowheads, building model cars and airplanes, pets, basketball, coin collecting, puppets, collecting keys, tops, shells and stamps.

Drawing and painting is popular among this group. Collecting antique harness and metal objects, as well as building tree houses, which are entered by swinging from the ground by a rope, are other interesting hobbies.

Because she ranked first in a written homemaker knowledge and attitude test given senior girls in Post High School here Dec. 19, Rieta Kay Litton becomes 1968 Homemaker of Tomorrow for her school. It has been announced. Registered for the test, she was in its 14th year, with 603,798 girls in 15,079 of the nation's high schools, a new record for the program sponsored by General Mills.

Rieta remains in contention for state and national scholarship awards ranging from $500 to $5,000 and will be awarded a special-designed silver charm to mark her local achievement.

A state Homemaker of Tomorrow will be selected from winners of high schools of the state in the program's next step. She will be awarded a $1,500 scholarship with $500 award going to the runner-up. The school of the winner will give a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica, by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.

paid educational tour of Washington, D. C., Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Minneapolis, where the trip will climax with naming the 1968 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Chosen from the state winners on the basis of her original test score; plus personal observation and interviews during the tour, the winner will receive a scholarship increased to $5,000. Grants of second, third, and fourth ranking girls in the nation will be raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

Pictures are taken of Senior Supers

By Jane Hutchins
The seniors chosen for Senior Superlatives and sponsor Mrs. Gordon Lee were taken by bus to Second Bridge on the Tahoka highway, Thursday, Jan. 25, at 9:45 a. m. for pictures to go in the annual.

This little trip turned into a fun-filled hike, even though death-defying pictures were taken by Eastman Kodak and the girls' shoes were coated with mud.

It was all great fun and everyone enjoyed the trip very much, especially the part about missing school.

Card of Thanks

Dear People: I will do my best to explain just how thankful I am to all of you during a hard and gloomy time and four weeks in the hospital. Thanks for all the visits, gifts and flowers. I didn't know I still had friends in Graham and they showed me different. The pastor of the Methodist Church, who visited me and said a word of prayer, was welcome and to my surprise a delight. I got to meet a lady that I had always wondered who she was—Mrs. J. E. Parker—and had a nice visit with her and want to say thanks for the Methodist Church for the gift. I also met Rev. Ramsey's wife and think they are both wonderful people. Rev. Ramsey has stood by me at all times regardless of bad weather. Dr. Lively, God bless him, had his hands full but that man sure stood by me. Thank you, doctor, the Pink Ladies, all the nurses and an old acquaintance, the janitor and his wife and the Hudman family. I will pray that God will guide us through this new year which we have to face.

Mrs. Estelle Keene
Mrs. Gene Mason and family

I would like to take this means to thank all of our friends for their kind thoughts and the flowers that were sent due to the death of our mother in Alabama. Words can never express our thankfulness.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Russell

We would like to thank everyone for the cards, flowers, food, and every expression of love during our sorrow.

The family of
Mrs. Minnie Stanley

Do you, like me, always feel like you are breaking the law when you remove the label from a pillow that reads "Do not remove under penalty of the law?" I usually do it quickly and when no one is looking, I feel so guilty about it. Well, we don't have to worry about this any more. The Association of Bedding and Furniture Law Officials changed the wording of the labels last year to make it clear that the purchaser may remove them.

So, if you've been afraid to do anything about it, get your scissors out and have at it. However, it won't be nearly as much fun as doing it when one thought it was illegal.

The Post Dispatch was host to a host (taken from a "host" of Antelopes) of sixth graders a week ago Tuesday. Four classes, taught by Miss Sammie Kay Caffey, Mrs. Rosa Gambelin and Mrs. Ella Mae Hudman, toured the Dispatch and listened to a talk by Mr. C and saw how a paper is published. The classes have been studying "News Media."

Last Friday night a "host" of thank you letters were delivered to the C's house thanking us for the time and effort involved in the tours. Some of them were priceless. A few quotes follow: "It looks like fun and I 'no' it is sometimes hard — but every work is a little hard."

"Please take good care of your two helpers (Don Ammons and Ronnie Morris) and the one who was typing near the window with his hat on." (None other than Editor Didway.)

"It was interesting to watch Mr. Ammons and Mr. Morris. When I asked what you did with the letters you gave me a very interesting answer."

"I wonder if y'all ever do get a lot of money. I liked the trophies y'all have."

"Most of the things were shaped funny. The Dispatch is a real interesting place. Though I didn't understand most of it. Your wife must know a lot about machines. You and your men must be busy all the time."

"I liked how they ran all of the machines in that big room. You sure do things nicely."

"I had never been to see all in the newspaper maker. I think I enjoyed it."

"It is really amazing how you make newspapers. I am sure that the metal costs a lot of money so I hope you make a lot of money to buy more metal." (We do, too.)

"I know you must be very proud to say: 'I own the Post Dispatch.' I know I would."

"We especially enjoyed meeting you and your wife and all the machines."

"I don't believe that a 'society' item has ever made this column before but I just couldn't pass up the fact that J. B. Potts was honored with a layette shower last Saturday night. That's right, you didn't read it wrong. Mr. Potts,

View from your Window

What do you see from your window? Another house across the street? A wheat field? A pine forest? A placidly flowing river, or an endlessly crashing sea? Your view, of course, depends on where you live.

The kind of church you go to—whether it is Gothic in style or white frame, a pale pink stucco built in a Spanish manner, or a domed cathedral, depends, too, upon where you live.

But whatever the size . . . whatever the shape . . . the Church is the Church. God's House assumes many forms on earth, but in all of them you will find His teachings, His word, His spirit.

Go to your church next Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FEATURE AT TOWER

Henry Fonda and James Stewart star in the blazing shoot-it-out western, "Firecreek," now showing through Sunday at the Tower Theatre. In the Panavision-Technicolor release, Fonda portrays a cynical gang leader who terrorizes the sleepy town of Firecreek and Stewart portrays the $2-a-month farmer sheriff forced into a single-handed showdown with the lawless adventurers.

The five-story tophouse to the Tower of the Americas at HemisFair'68 was constructed at ground level and raised to the top of the 622-foot structure after completion of basic construction.

Justiceburg school is visited by new nurse

By MRS. FRAN McWHIRT
Sorry there wasn't any news last week due to the fact that we left a week ago Friday and went by Abilene to visit my father, Frank Breeden, who was a patient in Hendricks Memorial Hospital. We went on to Albany to visit Mrs. Breeden and then spent the weekend in Arlington with Mr. and Mrs. Jackey Fluitt and Bobo McWhirt. While we were there Pam and Butch Cross were house guests. We also visited Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McWhirt and Mark Scott and Dan McWhirt. Sunday before we came home Mr. and Mrs. Kent Wheatley and Clark came over from Irving. It was so good to see them. We came home Sunday and went back to Abilene Monday to be with my father who had major surgery. He was in intensive care for four days. This weekend Danny and Robert and I went back to see him in the hospital and visit with my mother in Albany. At the time of this writing my father is doing real good and plans on going home Thursday. We also visited other relatives at Albany.

the home of Mrs. Lee Reed Sunday night.

Sorry to have Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Cole move from here back to Post. They moved last Friday.

Mrs. Edna Gilliland of Slaton was a Saturday evening visitor of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pettrigrew. Last Tuesday George McLaurin of Odessa came home for a few days visit with his mother, Mrs. Bud McLaurin and other relatives. While here they went to Petersburg to see Mr. and Mrs. Hank Lyman for an overnight visit. He returned to his home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bevers and children visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Robison Sunday.

Carl Goad and Leona came by last Wednesday on their way to Albany to visit his mother, and to see Frank Breeden in the hospital. He picked up his wife and daughter who had been staying with her mother while her father was in the hospital. They stopped by again on their way home to report on Mr. Breeden's progress.

The John Borens recently visited the Riley Millers.

Saturday the C. C. Cornetts and the Bud Cornetts of Lamesa visited in the Fernie Reed home and to help Ronni celebrate his birthday.

After all the bad weather and flu our church attendance has come up. So glad everyone is lots better.

Chicken, spuds on February's plentiful list

COLLEGE STATION — Chicken and potatoes.

These familiar favorites rate the "plentiful" tag for February, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Broiler marketings this month are not expected to reach the high levels of a year ago, but you'll still see an unusually abundant offering at your grocer's.

Although the winter potato crop is down slightly from last season, storage potatoes easily make up the difference. Supplies are so abundant that the U. S. Department of Agriculture has begun a surplus purchase and diversion program. Look for attractive consumer prices.

Dairy products and dry split peas are plentiful, reports the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. Storage stocks of American cheese are well above average. Also plan to utilize such abundant dairy foods as milk, cream, ice cream, yogurt and butter.

Production of dry split peas last year exceeded the 1966 generous offering. Tasty split pea soup provides a most welcome winter meal-time treat.

Keep in mind all the February celebrations — Lincoln's Birthday, Valentine's Day, Washington's Birthday and even Leap Year's Day. Too—February 28 marks the beginning of the lenten season. Each calls for something special on the menu.

Water import study funds are in budget

Congressman George Mahon reports from Washington to The Dispatch that President Johnson's new budget includes $892,000 to continue the broad investigation of the possibility of importing water into the West Texas and eastern N.W. Mexico area.

Of the amount included in the budget $467,000 is requested for the Bureau of Reclamation and $425,000 for the Corps of Engineers. This compares with a total of $400,000 available to the two agencies for the study in the current fiscal year.

A preliminary study of water import possibilities was launched in 1968 by the Bureau of Reclamation and was broadened in 1967 by Mahon's committee to include the Corps of Engineers in order to achieve proper coordination of the study.

The study is currently scheduled to be completed in 1972.

Water import study funds are in budget

Congressman George Mahon reports from Washington to The Dispatch that President Johnson's new budget includes $892,000 to continue the broad investigation of the possibility of importing water into the West Texas and eastern N.W. Mexico area.

Of the amount included in the budget $467,000 is requested for the Bureau of Reclamation and $425,000 for the Corps of Engineers. This compares with a total of $400,000 available to the two agencies for the study in the current fiscal year.

A preliminary study of water import possibilities was launched in 1968 by the Bureau of Reclamation and was broadened in 1967 by Mahon's committee to include the Corps of Engineers in order to achieve proper coordination of the study.

The study is currently scheduled to be completed in 1972.

Post 'freeze' slows MC, but not enough

The Post Antelopes slowed down the league-leading Midland Carver Hornets here Tuesday night, but not enough to win, and the Hornets went home with a 49-41 decision and a 7-0 district mark.

The tall, fast-stepping Hornets who had disposed of the Stanton Buffaloes, 96 to 90, last Friday night, definitely were bothered by the Antelopes' "slow down" tactics, but came through on some fine outside shooting by Earl Carver to earn the victory.

The Hornets jumped off to a 6-0 lead and nearly four minutes of the first quarter had elapsed before Post lit up its side of the scoreboard on a free throw by Norman Tanner.

A field goal and a charity toss by Charles Harper rounded out the Antelope scoring in the opening quarter, with Carver holding an 11-4 lead going into the second period.

Each team scored nine points in the second quarter, with Ray Altman, Nick Pantoja, Tanner and Harper hitting field goals for Post, and Tanner adding a free throw.

The Hornets held a 20-13 halftime lead, and outscored the 'Lopes in the third period to go into the fourth quarter 10 points ahead, 33-23.

Dennis Altman hit two from the free throw line early in the fourth quarter to move Post to within eight points, 33-25, and Pantoja scored from the field to narrow the gap to six points.

Two quick field goals and a free throw by Maurice Chriesman moved the Hornets 11 points ahead, 38-27, but Harper and Pantoja scored from the field to cut the Midland lead to seven points.

Players needed for cage league

Prospective players for the Jaycee-sponsored City Basketball League have been slow in sending in their names, a spokesman for the Jaycees reported today.

Those eligible to play in the league are Garza County residents 18 years of age or older and out of high school. The deadline for getting their name on a team roster is Feb. 17. Names should be sent to "Basketball, Box 636, Post, Texas 79356."

If enough players sign up, league play will begin Feb. 29. Plans are to have four teams playing each other twice. One big trophy will be presented to the team and five individual trophies will go to the five outstanding league players.

Any business firm wishing to sponsor a team is asked to write the above address.

Enco dealer of Post attends Austin meeting

More than 300 Enco dealers, including Fred Long of Post, attended a two-day convention of the Humble Oil and Refining Company held in Austin on Tuesday and Wednesday for its service station dealers.

A "political" atmosphere prevailed at the sessions, with all the music, color and excitement of a real political convention.

A professional cast of actors helped enliven the sessions, which were tailored to mix fun with the serious business of increasing marketing effectiveness.

This was the 14th year of the Humble dealer convention. The meetings are designed to increase business knowledge of dealers, build better sales and service at stations, and introduce new Humble products and forthcoming promotional activities.

The Austin convention was one of 29 meetings that Humble is holding in 16 states from New York to California. In all, some 10,000 Humble dealers will attend the conventions.
