Post's junk cars being attacked on two fronts

Operation Clean Sweep was moving into the climate of the "get the junk off the street" today. Meanwhile, sponsors yesterday launched a campaign to get voluntary consent from property owners for junk car removal and Earl Chapman and Post Jaycees scheduled a junk "hauling off" in the Lincoln area Saturday morning.

The women, who originated Operation Clean Sweep, met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Helen Smith and mapped plans to get their junk car "consent campaign" under way immediately. Addresses of the junk cars dotting the city's residential area already have been secured in a survey conducted several weeks ago.

The plans of Chapman and the Jaycees for the Saturday morning "haul off" call for the vacant square block on which the junk cars were piled in the 1968 spring clean-up campaign in that northeast residential area to be completely cleared of the remaining metal hulks.

Chapman is lining up the volunteer use of several winch trucks in the city to haul the old car bodies to the Post Wrecking Company junk ground northwest of Post on US-84.

Most of the junk cars were hauled off last year, but not all of them.

When the block lot is clear, the Rucker A Well Service operator will wait for county equipment under the direction of County Commissioner Ben Sanchez to blade off the lot and then will move in with a portable welding machine and construct a baseball backstop of old oil field pipe and make swings also out of pipe to convert the big lot into a recreational park for youngsters living in that area.

"I'm just catching up with what I promised to do last year," Chapman told The Dispatch. "After this is done we'll see what else we can do to help in that area."

The Operation Clean Sweep women folk, not only are starting after the junk cars on a voluntary basis, but they decided Tuesday night also to start writing letters.

One set of letters will go to owners of vacant lots who do not have them cleaned by the end of Operation Clean Sweep Week Saturday.

The women already have the names and addresses of owners of all unkempt lots but will make another check to see who has gotten busy with a shredder before writing any letters.

Property owners will be asked to cooperate to help keep Post clean by cutting their lots—and keeping them cut this year.

Another set of letters will go to all business men operating businesses along Broadway (highway US-84) and on East Main and West Eighth (US-380) asking them to cooperate throughout the summer in keeping their properties, and especially the parkings, trim and tidy to give tourists a "neat perspective" of Post when driving through.

The women are hopeful the city council will be ready to act by its June meeting on the Operation Clean Sweep request for city cooperation in an effort to tear down and rid the community of old abandoned houses which are dangerous and untidy nuisances in so many neighborhoods.

Meanwhile the main overall emphasis this Operation Clean Sweep Week is for residents to clean up their own or their rented properties and to help neighbors who need some assistance to do the same.

This year's Book Fair to be held downtown

The second annual Book Fair—scheduled for Saturday, June 7—will be moved right downtown.

The committee of the sponsor, Friends of a Public Library, met last Thursday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lee, decided to hold the fair on the 20-foot wide vacant lot between the City Hall and the Tower Theatre.

The Book Fair has a new name and a new theme too. It will be called "La Fiesta de los Amigos," which translated means "The Friends Party." So, of course, it will have a Mexican fiesta theme.

The Library Friends are calling on local organizations of all types to sponsor booths, games, and prizes at the Book Fair again this year. They plan to arrange for both construction, decoration, and sign painting to be handled for the clubs that sponsor booths or events.

A letter is going out this week to officials of local clubs and organizations asking them to begin their plans for their Book Fair contribution.

Profits from the Book Fair will go to purchase more books for the 6,000 volume collection of the Post Public Library. A little over $300 was raised from the first Book Fair in 1968 for book purchases.

Attending last Thursday night's planning session of the Library Friends were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lee, Mrs. Rosemary Chapman, Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, Mrs. Minnie Williams, Mrs. Louise McCrary, the Rev. George L. Miller and Mrs. Helen Cornish.

CLEAN-UP CORNER

Mrs. Fritz Brownlee and one pair of "good neighbors" in this Operation Clean Sweep went to work mowing and hoeing the Kendall Monday evening before the start of the J. C. Kendall has been ill.

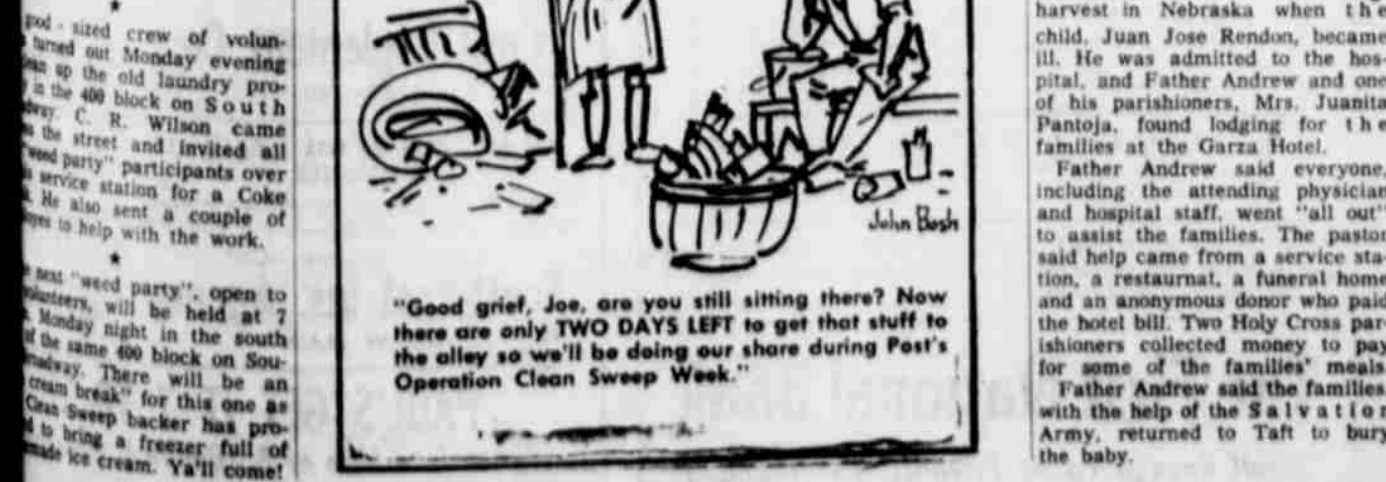

Mrs. Ray Farrar, former residents who now live in California, were in town for a visit over the weekend and had time to arrange for a clean-up of their estate and help with the show support of Operation Clean Sweep.

Post Jaycees turned out Monday night to clean the lot, remove the trees, and paint the exterior on their meeting building, the former Welch Electric building on the US-84 north approach.

Hoyle, 616 East Oak, is another who has taken Operation Clean Sweep to heart. He has mowed vacant lots on both sides of his street.

A crew of volunteers turned out Monday evening to clean up the old laundry property on the 400 block on South Broadway. C. R. Wilson came from the street and invited all "wood party" participants over to the service station for a Coke and a beer. He also sent a couple of people to help with the work.

The "wood party" open to all interested, will be held at 7 p. m. Monday night in the south end of the same 400 block on South Broadway. There will be an "ice cream break" for this one as Operation Clean Sweep backer has provided a freezer full of homemade ice cream. Ya'll come!

This is National Cotton Week and The Dispatch is celebrating with a fat, impressive 16-page paper filled with cotton ads and several cotton stories.

It's been a "long week" here at The Dispatch because we're not geared for such big papers, especially when we don't get a head start over the weekend with the first four-page run.

But Don (Corky) Ammons, our shop foreman, was in San Antonio over the weekend attending the state Jaycee convention, so we made it a standing start instead on Monday morning.

All of which has left Pressman Danny Richardson with "after supper" press runs three nights running which isn't any fun, but Danny isn't the kind to complain.

Editor Charlie Didway made the six sharp six in the Postext Plant ad on page 14 last Friday.

About the only big local cotton news this week was that Garza farmers — some of them anyway — began planting our 1969 cotton crop. A good many more than started this week are waiting until next week to see how the weather does before planting. County Agent Syd Conner reports.

We think Dispatch readers, when they read this cotton week edition, are going to be impressed by the many firms and folks involved in local cotton production.

Everyone can help our cotton industry by "buying cotton" whenever possible. After all, it's the consumer demand for cotton that determines how well our farmers and our Postext Plant folks will do.

TORNADO SIGNAL TO BE SOUNDED

Post will have a "test run" of its tornado alert signal at 2 p. m. Friday—providing the sky is blue and the sun shining.

Whitey Morris, who has been "tuning" the signal this week preparatory to a new thunderstorm season, said the test run will be made "if the sky isn't too cloudy."

"We don't want to excite anybody," explained Whitey. "The alert signal is a high pitched whining signal that is pretty eerie — even on a bright, sunny afternoon."

After Friday, when you hear it you know a tornado threat is imminent.

Board hires collector of back school taxes

Post school trustees Monday night authorized employment of Pat N. Walker, local attorney, to collect delinquent taxes for the school district and approved Supt. Bill Shiver's proposal for a long range "Planning, Programming, Budgeting System" for the local schools.

Trustee Earl Chapman presented Walker's proposal that he collect delinquent taxes and work the school district's tax roll into good shape.

Walker proposed a 15 per cent of collections fee or $150 monthly for two years for office and legal expense, whichever is greater.

Trustees voted to offer a $150 a month fee for one year with the possibility of a one-year renewal or the 15 per cent collections fee, whichever was greater.

Walker estimated it will take two years to collect back taxes and clear the tax rolls of taxes levied on personal property which no longer exists.

Trustees launched their tax delinquency collection campaign a few months ago with a letter to delinquent taxpayers. Approximately $5,000 was collected directly as a result of the letter.

Supt. Shiver said it is estimated the school district has approximately $72,000 in delinquent taxes on their rolls, although this contains personal property taxes against cars and equipment long since sold which is uncollectable.

Supt. Shiver made a 20 minute board presentation on his P. P. B. S. program, about which he recently attended an educator's conference at Salado.

As Shiver explained, the program would enable the board to set its own educational goals and objectives and then set up the necessary funds in the budget to accomplish them.

The superintendent estimated it will take several years to get the program under way but he hopes to get a start this summer with preparation of the budget for the next school year, beginning Sept. 1.

He not only will prepare a budget as required by the Texas Educational Agency but will break down the costs of various school programs and go "as far as time permits" in building a second budget the breakdown of which would be by programs.

Such a P. P. B. S. system eventually would lead to computer techniques by which the trustees at budget times could consider such alternatives as whether to have

$600 a month salary

Pierce employed as city manager

Bobby Pierce, a lifelong resident of Post, was hired as city manager at a salary of $600 a month at a special meeting of the city council last Friday night.

Pierce was employed for the position by unanimous vote of the city council after he and six other applicants for the job were interviewed by the council.

The new city manager, who is 42, began his new duties Saturday morning. He replaces E. A. (Eddie) Warren, who resigned.

Pierce attended Post High School and served two years in the Navy during World War II. For 19 years he was associated with Donald Windham in the P&W Acid Company and in the trucking business. He and Windham sold their business about three years ago.

The new city manager served six years on the school board. He is a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts and is a former member of the Post Lions Club. He served for two years as president of the youth baseball program here.

Pierce and his wife, Jimmie, have two sons, Ronnie and Robert. Ronnie is a sophomore student at Texas Christian University and Robert is a junior in Post High School.

Two of the seven applicants interviewed for the position by the city council live out of town, one in Abilene and the other in Lubbock. There were eight applicants to begin with, but one local man withdrew his application before Friday night's interview.

SALESMAN HELPS CLUB DODGE RED

A traveling salesman gave the Post Rotarians a helping hand Tuesday afternoon — with a couple of bucks in it.

Syd Conner, who was in charge of the all-day appearance here Tuesday of the mobil x-ray unit of the West Texas Tuberculosis Association said that 272 chest x-rays were made and $272.06 donated to defray cost of film, etc.

As the sponsoring club, the Rotarians usually pay for the x-rays of those who can't afford the dollar donation.

Conner had kept a pretty close check on the money jar and when the out-of-town salesman drove up and took time to have an x-ray, the salesman wanted to know if the club was going to be out any money.

"Only a couple of dollars," Conner told him.

The salesman thereupon dug $3 out of his billfold instead of one as his donation.

That left the club six whole cents to the good.

Lubbock man to speak at Post Jaycee event

Dr. Jim Granberry, a Lubbock dentist and member of the Lubbock city council, will be the principal speaker at the Post Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes' annual installation banquet at 7 p. m. Saturday, May 24, in the old post office building on North Avenue 1.

Other details of the annual banquet program are being worked out, according to Lonnie Gene Peel, banquet chairman.

Jaycee-ettes, too

Post Jaycees win top state honors

Post Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes won a number of top club and individual awards at the annual convention of the Texas Jaycees held last weekend in San Antonio.

Ken Callaway, president elect of the Post organization, was named as one of five outstanding local vice presidents in the state, in competition with 282 other clubs, most of them in towns much bigger than Post.

Mrs. Nell Bailey was named outstanding Jaycee-ette of District 2, her name having been sent in for consideration by other local Jaycee-ettes without her knowledge.

The Post Jaycees won a first place in agriculture and conservation, second places in community health and safety, youth and sports and international relations, and third place in Christmas and religious activities.

The Post Jaycee-ettes won first place in aid to Jaycees, a first place in other activities and was named the most outstanding Jaycee-ette organization in District 2.

A Post Junior Rodeo meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 20, in the district courtroom. All Junior Rodeo directors are urged to attend, since a stock producer will be present to get an offer for producing this year's rodeo.

The Junior Rodeo group also announces that its next playday will be held Sunday, May 25, at the rodeo arena. Those wishing to place advance entries may telephone 495-2564, go by 612 West 7th St., or see Sue Johnson, Junior Rodeo secretary.

THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1969

Let's keep the clean-up going!

Operation Clean Sweep Week began Monday, which means that today (Thursday) four days of the week are already behind us. But the big "push" is set for the final two days of the week and upon the size of that big push the success of the week depends.

With the community becoming more and more clean-up conscious, thanks to the efforts of the women's group which is behind Operation Clean Sweep, there is more than an even chance that this week's accomplishments toward sprucing up the community will show more results than those of any similar clean-up campaign in the city's history.

It all depends, of course, on just how many folks clean up how much, and the amount of trash piled on the alleys to be hauled away by City of Post and private hauling equipment.

Many folks are hauling away their own debris, which is a big help to the City of Post during the clean-up period. Those who do not have the equipment in which to haul away the trash they accumulate in their clean-up, are asked not to let that stop them. If they will get their trash out to the alley, it will be picked up and hauled away.

Some response is also reported to pleas that people with junked automobiles on their property voluntarily consent to the junk's removal. Response is also reported to the appeal that citizens act as "good neighbors" by helping the aged or infirm with their clean-up efforts.

All in all, everything appears to be going well in the week Operation Clean Sweep has been looking forward to. Let's not slow the over-all effort by dragging our own two feet in the clean-up campaign. Those who have not already cleaned up about their premises and hauled away or piled the trash where someone else can haul it away, are urged to do so before Saturday noon.

Rarely have so many offered their help and moral support to a well-organized clean-up campaign. But it will take more than "many" to make Operation Clean Sweep a 100 per cent success. It will take "all."

Celebration plan is good news

One of the best pieces of news to come out of a Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting here in a long time is the announcement that the Chamber and the Post Jaycees will co-sponsor an Independence Day celebration in Post this year.

It more than likely would take a real old-timer to recall the last time Post held a Fourth of July celebration.

With so many people trying to build America up by tearing her down, the time is ripe to revive the old-time Independence Day celebrations, not only in Post, but in every other community throughout the land.

The Chamber of Commerce directors have announced that every organization in Garza County will be given an opportunity to contribute to the celebration's success through their participation.

It is hoped that each of the organizations will accept this invitation.—CD

Gun laws will help curb crime

The National Rifle Association, singing the same old tune, says the people should not be misled into believing that the rising tide of violent crime in the United States can be curbed by more restrictive gun laws.

We doubt that anyone is being misled into such a belief. It does appear, however, that in view of the fuss still being raised by the NRA that there are many people who believe that more restrictive gun laws will HELP curb the rising tide of violent crime.

None are so naive as to believe that the law against murder was expected to do away with murder. No law does away with the offense against which it was enacted. Laws against crime are passed with the exception that they will help curb crime. Keep guns out of the hands of a few will protect many.—CD

RINGLING BROS. and Barnum & Bailey Circus is playing a summer long engagement in Astrodome, adjacent to the Astrodome in Houston, beginning May 30. Preachers, along with newspapermen, are advised that passes to the circus performances aren't easy to come by. That's a policy which has been in effect since the heyday of the legendary P. T. Barnum.

When the great showman first went into the circus business, a midwestern evangelist denounced Barnum's circus as "immoral, unrespectable and unfit for family showing."

Several years later, after the circus was a rousing success, the same preacher went to Barnum, requesting passes for himself and his family.

And that's when old P. T. got his revenge. He denied the request for passes by sending the petitioner the following biblical quotes:

- "Thou shalt not pass." (Numbers 20, 18.)
- "Suffer no man to pass." (Judges 3, 28.)
- "The wicked shall no more pass." (Mark 13, 30.)
- "None shall pass." (Isaiah 34, 10.)
- "This generation shall not pass." (Mark 13, 30.)
- "Beware that thou pass not." (2nd Kings 6, 9.)
- "There shall be no strangers pass." (Joel 3, 7.)
- "No man may pass through because of the beasts." (Ezekiel 4, 15.)
- "Though they roar, yet can they not pass." (Jeremiah 3, 22.)
- "So he paid the fare thereof and went." (Johan 1, 3.)

Vietnam View

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by GySgt. Bob Montgomery

A Force Logistic Command Marine recently displayed to the South Vietnamese people some American southern hospitality.

Lance Cpl. Jesse L. F. Clift, 435 E. 3rd St., Mountain View, Mo., serves with the FLC Headquarters and Service Battalion civil affairs section. He has responsibilities ranging from administrative work to helping the Vietnamese better their way of life.

Civil affairs is the program that promotes American assistance to the Vietnamese people, such as self-help projects that teach and encourage the Vietnamese people to help themselves by building new homes, schools, and sanitation facilities.

Recently, Clift was talking to a Navy medical corpsman who worked at the Hoa Khanh Children's Hospital, located at Camp Jay K. Books, the headquarters complex of FLC. The hospital provides medical care for children in the Da Nang area and was built mostly through donations of FLC Marines and Navy personnel.

"I SAW THE way these Vietnamese kids were in need of medical help," Clift recalled. "The corpsman said the hospital staff could help the children much more if only they had more equipment. I figured there must be something I could do to help."

Clift sought the aid of friends back home in Missouri.

"I sent a letter to Radio Station KUKU in Willow Springs. I used to work there as an announcer. With the letter were a few pamphlets about the hospital. I mentioned the project needed money for new equipment and asked if they could contact some clubs and organizations in the area."

Jack Whittiker, a member of the KUKU staff, decided to push the project himself. For one week the hospital was publicized on radio. On the eighth day donors phoned in pledges that totaled $1,104.66!

What was Clift's reaction to the generosity of his neighbors back home who gave so much to better the lives of children in a far-off land?

"I knew they would support a worthwhile project like this," he said with obvious pride in the folks back home.

The barbed wire and the sand-bagged bunkers of "C" Company, 1st Battalion, Fifth Marine Regiment's perimeter was a welcome sight for one North Vietnamese soldier.

When the 20-year-old soldier was sent on a rice-carrying mission he decided that if the chance occurred he would run away and try to "Chieu Hoi"—join the open arms program offered the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Army by the South Vietnamese government.

His chance came and by the time his fellow soldiers realized he wasn't around he was long gone, heading anywhere as long as it took him away from the war.

AFTER A FEW days of roaming around the flatlands in the An Hoa Basin he came upon "C" Company's base camp.

When he walked within a few hundred meters of the camp he raised his hands above his head and yelled "Chieu Hoi" to a squad of Marines in a daytime observation post.

When interrogated, the North Vietnamese stated, through interpreters, "When I was hungry I had no food; when I was sick I had no medicine. I'm tired of fighting."

He wasn't half the size of the men in green who passed by his village. He didn't know anything about the pride and tradition of the men who wore the uniform, but he wanted to be a Marine.

Though his words came out in broken English he got his message across to the men of "B" Company, 1st Battalion, Fifth Marines Regiment. At first they couldn't take him seriously, but then the 1st Division Leathernecks saw in the little guy's face that he was dead serious. Like it or not, this Vietnamese youngster was joining them.

The boy was given the nick name "Honcho," meaning boss, and was issued a pack and a Marine hat.

LIKE MANY villagers in the area, Honcho was scared the first time he got near a Marine CH-46 (Sea Knight) helicopter that was landing. But alter Honcho saw that the "big bird," as he called it, brought food and water to the hungry men and himself, he would clap his hands and deliver the biggest smile he could muster, whenever a resupply helicopter came in.

Honcho earned the respect of the Marines one day when he went to fill their canteens and shouted "V C, V C!" As the Marines near

Six rural accidents Garza toll in April

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated six accidents on rural highways in Garza County during the month of April, according to Sgt. H. E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These accidents resulted in four persons injured and estimated property damage of $4,675.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first four months of 1969 shows a total of 23 accidents resulting in one person killed, 14 injured and estimated property damage of $13,390.

him rushed to where he was, they heard someone running away in the bushes. They didn't ave enough time to see where the enemy had gone, but the startled communist soldier had left his rifle behind when Honcho shouted?

Honcho was credited with capturing one enemy SKS assault carbine, and possibly saving the lives of some of the Marines near him.

Honcho's heart was big but his legs were sort and after three days he just couldn't keep up with his Marines. Honcho decided he had better wait until he grows up to be a Marine.

With a tear in his eye, he hesitatingly walked up to the company commander, returned his Marine pack and hat and went back to his home in a nearby village.

It's My Turn

That gay and young looking couple you see dashing about town in that cute sports car is none other than Mr. and Mrs. C!

Mr. C got carried away and presented me with what we call "our young in heart car" for Mother's Day. However, I am letting him drive it too. It's either that or make him walk!

Now that our Misses Cs have untied the apron strings, flown the coop (or is it "leaving the nest") and what have you, we thought we could indulge ourselves with a small sports car. One tries to look staid and respectable while rearing a family, but when the family is gone — watch out.

We debated quite a while about bucket seats as we weren't sure how Mr. C and the seats might get along. All weekend — and we spent as much time as possible in our new machine — Mr. C went through a little routine in getting into the car.

It seems that the police check all the teen-age drivers for the width of their tires to help them narrow the search in case of finding wide tire marks in the streets signifying "driving like a bat out of."

At first I thought he was muttering to himself but upon listening closely I found that he was saying: "First, back up to the seat and sit down; second, place my right foot inside the car; third, place my left foot next to my right leg; fourth, adjust trouser legs; fifth, arrange bottom more comfortably; sixth, turn on key and drive."

I can't decide whether to turn myself in or let them come to me!

By Monday, he either had this down pat or had dispensed with the vocal routine. I haven't asked if he's doing it by rote yet.

If we don't get hung up in all the seat belts — two in front, three in back and two shoulder straps — I'm sure we're going to love being "young in heart."

There is only one thing about my

LISTENING POST

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN
Saturday, June 7! Mark that very important date on your calendars, exclamation point and all, and plan to join us for "La Fiesta de los Amigos".

And what, you may well ask, is "La Fiesta de los Amigos"? Loosely translated, it means "The Friend's Party" and loose or not, a party is exactly what we're having.

A committee of the Friends of a Public Library met last Thursday night to plan the event. Those present were Friends President Gordon Lee, Librarian George Miller, Helen Cornish, Rosemary Chapman, Louise McCrary, Ruth Ann Newby, and Minnie Williams. We're awfully excited about the project ourselves, and hope that you'll feel the same way.

The purpose of the Fiesta is to raise money for library books. Naturally, we plan to do this as painlessly as possible by having a good time in the process.

Last year's Library Fair netted a little over $500 for the library. It was also a great success fun-wise, in spite of a nasty wind and cold weather. This June should be warmer than last May, and with that and the addition of a spicy Spanish-American flavor, we're hoping this year's Fiesta will be bigger and better than ever.

That, of course, depends a great deal on YOU. As usual, we're

Terror film is coming to Tower

Terror, in all the comfortable safety of the motion picture theatre, runs rampant again in the chiller, "Dracula Has Risen From the Grave," which shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Tower Theatre.

The Technicolor film stars Christopher Lee in the title role, with Rupert Davies, Veronica Carlson, Barry Andrews and Barbara Ewing.

"Dracula Has Risen From the Grave" is one of a series of films, well known throughout the world, that has set a new contemporary trend with pictures infused with Gothic menace, mythology, lurid terror and rich, visual splendors.

counting on lots of help!

Letters have been sent to at least 45 clubs, organizations, and churches in Post and the surrounding area, asking for booths at the Fiesta. All you have to do is pick one of the booth suggestions you like, let us know about it, and get busy! Naturally, if you dream up a more appealing idea for a booth than ours, so much the better.

The Friend's organization will build the booths, make the signs, and decorate this year so clubs and individuals who participate needn't think about anything but "doing their own thing."

Close your eyes a minute. Imagine yourself on a narrow, winding little street in Old Seville. There's a quaint, weather-beaten wishing well at the entrance of the street, and you can hear gay Spanish music in the background. Got it? O. K. That's what the vacant lot between the Tower Theatre and the Post Library is supposed to look like at 5 p. m. June 7, so think Spanish!

The lot, by the way, was kindly loaned by M. J. Malouf.

We're hoping to have lots of food booths at the Fiesta — hot dogs, sweets, popcorn, snowcones, cold drinks, etc. — as well as lots of rides and games, so plan to come early and eat, and stay late and play. Bring the children! We were disappointed last year at the lack of little ones — they enjoy parties more than anyone.

The Friends plan to operate a General Store, and a membership booth with free balloons for new members. They're also supplying the wishing well, and they're trying to set up a Spanish Kitchen — the cozy little table, romantic candlelight type — so keep your fingers crossed.

Meanwhile, we're dying to hear from you! Let us know if you can help, and please, please DO help — we'll have a grand time. Hasta luego, compadres!

FLASH: Just got the most exciting piece of news! Harry Tubbs has purchased a Life Membership in the Friends of a Public Library in honor of his mother, Ruth Renzie Tubbs, of Wilmington, N. C. This is the third Life Membership which Harry has taken out — the first two were for himself and wife, Joan.

God With Us

By George L. Miller

No one could tell me what my soul might be; I searched for God, and God eluded me; I sought my brother out and found all three, My soul, my God, and all humanity.*

No one can face God while his back is turned to his neighbor. This is the most important news the Christian Faith has to offer us. Jesus commanded us to love God and to love our neighbor as ourselves. This is our first duty, our basic obligation. Jesus further said, "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." The amazing news in this, we find God in our neighbor.

And not God, only, we find ourselves. All that makes us distinctively human, our ability to think, to speak, to make decisions for good or evil, we develop in communion with our neighbor. Each man has the capacity to be human. He does not become human until he is known and loved by other men.

This is a painful truth. It is not easy to live with our neighbor. We risk rejection which makes us reject in return. Loving others is no guarantee we shall be loved. Trying to understand we may still be misunderstood. The great temptation is to abandon our neighbor and go our own way through life, independent and alone. It is easier, less painful, and seems so very sensible.

But if we turn our back on our neighbor, refuse to recognize him, reject our common humanity, we lose ourselves. We become less than men and little better than beasts. If we refuse to share the common adventure of life with our neighbors, we cut ourselves off from God, and there will be no consolation for us when we seek comfort from Him in our private prayers.

For the truth is this, if two or three do not gather together, if men do not love one another, God is not in their midst. There is no salvation for the individual who has rejected his neighbor. Therefore, if you would seek God, you must first find your neighbor.

Student award is earned by Thuett

LUBBOCK — Six students were singled out for recognition for academic accomplishment at a steak fry held Friday in MacKenzie Park by the Department of Agricultural Economics at Texas Tech.

Dr. James Graves was master of ceremonies for the event, attended by about 125 students and faculty.

Outstanding student awards went to Glenn Tubbs of Lubbock, freshman; Ronald Thuett of Post, sophomore; Richard Sterling of Ira, junior, and Bill Mumme of Hondo, senior.

Bill Cornett of Knox City was recognized as Outstanding Agricultural Economics Major, and Richard Connell of Dimmitt received the Wall Street Journal Award.

The Wall Street Journal Award is based on scholarship and carries a year's subscription to the publication.

USDA Gin Laboratory to be dedicated May 17

LUBBOCK — Dedication of USDA's Ginning Laboratory at Lubbock, to which the public is invited, will begin at 2 p. m. Saturday, May 17, instead of at 10 a. m. as was originally announced.

The change, according to Shallowater ginners Bill Thompson, chairman of the Dedication Committee, was made to accommodate Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin who will appear on the program.

Secretary Hardin will be introduced by George Mahon who played a substantial role in securing the Ginning Laboratory for the High Plains.

The Agricultural Research Service facility is located next door to the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center, seven miles north of Lubbock on the Amarillo highway.

The laboratory consists of a complete ginning system, a machine shop and several offices. The fourth of its kind in the U. S. and the first to be located in Texas, its purpose is to seek improved methods of handling, drying, cleaning and packaging machine stripped cotton.

Thompson, who will serve as master of ceremonies for the event, says the dedication is the culmination of efforts to secure such a facility for this area which were begun by the Texas Cotton Ginners Association back in 1960.

He recalls that the effort first took formal shape in 1962 when he and five other industry people met in Lubbock at the offices of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., area cotton producer organization.

Others at that early meeting were the late George W. Pfeifferberger, then executive vice president of PCG; Roy Forkner, ginners in the Canyon community east of Lubbock; Ed Bush, then executive vice president of the TCGA; Jack Funk, Harlingen ginners, and Anton Ginners Orville "Sleepy" Bailey.

Forkner and Donald Johnson, current PCG executive vice president, are serving as co-chairmen of the speakers committee, and have announced that there will be three other speakers in addition to Congressman Mahon and Secretary Hardin.

They include Dr. H. O. Kunkel, dean of Agriculture and Director of Experiment Stations, Texas A&M; Dr. Gerald Thomas, dean of Agriculture at Texas Tech, and Dr. John Bradford, dean of engineering and director of the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech.

Secretary Hardin is also on the program for the dedication of a new soil conservation facility at Bushland, Texas, beginning at 10 a. m. May 17. He is expected to arrive in Lubbock with Congressman Mahon at 3 p. m.

Extension economist takes a look at nation's feed grain situation

COLLEGE STATION — The supply situation plus expected increases in domestic usage; production goals for the 1969 crop which are aimed at holding output slightly below 1969 - 70 needs and an expected decline in exports are strong factors in the outlook for feed grains.

John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, said the 1968-69 marketing year supply is estimated at 216.3 million tons, up only 1 per cent from 1967-68 marketing year. The smaller crop in 1968 helped to keep the supply of feed grains from increasing to any great extent, the economist noted.

This season's starting smaller "free" supply (privately held stocks plus production) coupled with a projected increase in total requirements for 1968-69 could result in a tighter supply situation later this spring and summer than was experienced in 1968. A smaller "free" carryover into 1969-70 may also result, he said.

Domestic use during the present marketing year is expected to be 5 to 6 million tons above a year ago. Grain consuming animal units are expected to reach 184 million, up 5 million from last year and heavier unit feeding is also forecast, McHaney said.

Exports of feed grains will probably be somewhat smaller than the 23.3 million tons exported during the 1967-68 season, he said.

As for sorghum grain, McHaney noted that the 1968-69 supply was 13 per cent below the 1963-66 average, but 3 per cent larger than last year. Domestic usage is expected to continue strong and will probably exceed last season's demand. Exports, on the other hand, he said, are expected to be down from last year.

The larger quantity of sorghum grain going under loan in 1968-69 marketing year, together with the generally strong domestic demand should give support to prices during the remainder of the marketing year, he said. Further price advances may be limited by the larger supplies available for domestic use, especially since prices are now above the loan rate.

Training in decision-making being provided Texas 4-H Club members

COLLEGE STATION—Decisions, decisions! You make them every day. Everyone would like to be better equipped for decision-making, but is anyone doing anything about it?

Texas 4-H Club members are, say their state leaders. Thousands of boys and girls, many as young as nine years old, enter all sorts of judging and demonstration contests each year to improve their decision-making abilities. They may find themselves choosing the best animal, the highest quality fleeces, evaluating a soil's texture, or even identifying plants—which are not easy decisions for adults.

4-H'ers compete as individuals and teams in judging contests on horses, livestock, dairy, poultry, wool and mohair, soil evaluation, plant identification, horticulture, crops and many others.

Competition begins on local and county levels and the top county teams move on to district eliminations. Districts are now naming winners who will compete for state honors at the State 4-H Roundup, June 3-4 at College Station.

Winners in some of the state events will represent Texas in national judging contests such as livestock, dairy and poultry.

What do these judges or "decision-makers" do after completing 4-H work? Many continue their judging interests as members of college teams. Others pursue agricultural careers which may be identical to the area of their judging interest. Some become county agricultural agents and begin the training of their own judging teams.

Hooray! Now you can work for yourself

WASHINGTON, D. C. — On May 7 you began working for yourself for the rest of 1969, if you are an average taxpayer.

But up to that day, taxation experts of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States estimate, you were, in effect, simply working to earn enough to pay all of your tax bills for this year — federal, state and local taxes, that is.

Yank team far out in front in Little League flag race

"Stop the Yankees!" is the cry of the other five teams in Post's Little League with last year's league champions far out in front of the pack through the first two weeks of the season.

The Yanks are undefeated in five games, while the closest teams to them in the league standings are the Cardinals, who have won two and lost two, and the Wildcats who have broken even in their only two games.

Saturday night, the Red Sox will have another crack at the Yankees. Last Thursday, the Sox lost to the Yanks by only one run, 5 to 4.

MONDAY NIGHT, the Yankees blasted the Wildcats, 18 to 7, behind the pitching of Buddy Britton and Danny Sawyers, with Britton the starter and winner. Ricky Sanchez, who went two innings for the Wildcats, was charged with the loss. Randy Josey hurled the final two innings for the losers.

Britton and Garland Dudley were the Yankees' batting stars, Dudley driving in three runs with three doubles, and Britton also collecting three hits. Ray Martinez hit a solo homer for the winners in the fourth frame.

Gary Wood led the Wildcat batters with three hits in four trips, while Josey, Wesley Redman and Randy Mullenix got two safeties apiece.

In Monday night's other game, Mike Hair held the Cardinals to four hits in pitching the Tigers to an 8-3 win. Mark Terry, who had relieved starter Jerry Johnson, was the losing pitcher.

CY WILLSON Tiger centerfielder, got two of his team's six hits, while Dale Gregg had two hits, including a double, in two trips to the plate for the Cards.

Saturday night, Tony Conner pitched a three-hitter as the Cardinals romped on the Red Sox, 8 to 1. Eddie Gannon got two of the losers' three hits, with the other one going to Ronnie King. Of the Cards' five hits, Mark Terry got two; Jay Kennedy, two, and Dale Gregg, one. Abel Martinez was the starter and loser for the Sox, with Tim Owen relieving him after two innings.

The Dodgers shelled the Tigers, 21 to 6, Saturday night with Jackie Jennings the winning pitcher and Grayling Johnson the loser. Kevin Kennedy got three hits in four at-bats for the winners, while Jay Strawn's two hits for the Dodgers included a three-bagger. The four hits collected by the losers went to Cy Willson, Danny Saldivar, J. O. Cummings and Joe Shedd.

SUCCESSIVE singles by Garland Dudley, Ray Martinez and Buddy Britton broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Yankees a one-run, extra-inning win over the Red Sox in a well-played game last Thursday night.

The Red Sox took an early lead with two runs in the first inning on singles by Joe Clary, Abel Martinez, Tim Owen and Eddie Gannon. The Yanks regained the lead with three walks and singles by Dudley and Britton.

The Sox tied the game at 3-3 in the top of the fourth on a run by Charles Clanton, who had walked, but the Yankees came right back with a run in the bottom of the inning on a single by Evans Heaton, an error and a passed ball.

The Sox knotted the score again in the top of the fifth when Martinez, who had singled, scored on Tim Owen's two-bagger. The score stayed that way until the Yankee run in the bottom of the seventh.

RAY MARTINEZ, Dudley and Britton all toiled on the mound for the winners, while Abel Martinez, Owen and Rodney King were the Red Sox pitchers.

In Thursday's other contest, the Wildcats eked out a one-run victory over the Dodgers, 4 to 3. Kevin Kennedy's single was the key hit off Wildcat pitchers Ricky Sanchez, Randy Josey and Andy Williams. The Wildcats got only three hits off Rudy Castro, who went all the way for the Dodgers. Redman and Mullenix rapped singles for the Wildcats, while Josey banged out a double.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Indians leading Babe Ruth loop

The Babe Ruth League, off to a shaky start because of postponements and park lighting problems, opened last Thursday with the Indians drubbing the White Sox, 14 to 3.

The Indians won again Monday, beating the Cubs, 8 to 5, to take an early lead in the league standings.

Only one game a day is being played on account of light fixtures being down at the Babe Ruth diamond. If, and when, the lights go back up the league will go back on a two - game - a - night basis, league president James Kennedy said.

AN ADDED attraction at this Saturday's Babe Ruth League game will be the announcement of the winner in the league's queen contest, for which voting has been under way for several weeks. The queen candidates are Trena Jackson, Jackie Moore, Cindy Bird and Lindy Bird.

Tuesday, the Braves edged the White Sox, 5 to 4, in the closest game of the young season thus far. Tied, 4-4, going into the bottom half of the seventh inning, the Braves won the game when Kyle Josey, who had reached base on an error, scored on Robert Mindieta's double.

Ricky King, who had relieved starter Kyle Josey after six innings, was the winning pitcher. Mark Clayton, who went the route for the White Sox, was tagged with the loss.

The Braves collected nine hits, with Charles Johnson getting three of them in four trips to the plate. Besides his game - winning double, Mindieta had another two - base blow. The Sox got four hits, with two of them going to Danny Rose and one each to Clayton and Richard Dudley.

Back - to - back home runs by James McAfee and Kim Owen in the third inning helped propel the Indians past the Cubs, 8 to 5, Monday behind the five - hit pitching of Jerry Saldivar. Danny Lee smashed a two - run homer for the losers in the fourth inning. Lee, who started for the Cubs, was the losing pitcher, with David Woods coming on in relief.

THE WHITE Sox won over the Braves, 5 to 1, Saturday in a game called after five innings because of darkness. Clayton was the winning pitcher and Mindieta the loser. Each team got four hits, with Ricky Hair of the White Sox getting two out of three trips to the plate.

Danny Lee held the Braves to four hits, two of them by Glenn Branson, in pitching the Cubs to a 10-5 win last Friday. Kyle Josey, who went two innings, was charged with the loss, Branson relieving him on the mound. Kelly Duren got three of the winners' seven hits.

In the league opener last Thursday, Jerry Saldivar pitched the Indians to their 14-3 win over the White Sox, allowing but four hits, two of them by Richard Dudley. Ronnie Ammons, who gave up eight hits, was the losing hurler.

Saldivar, James McAfee and John Redman each got two hits for the winners, with McAfee driving in three runs.

Postage rates will be increased next July 1

An "inherited" postal deficit of $1.2 billion is responsible for the proposals to raise the postage bill, Postmaster A. J. McAllister said today.

McAllister said he had been advised by Postmaster General Winston M. Blount that the record $1.2 billion 1970 deficit compelled President Nixon to seek postage rate increases. Without higher rates the Department will be left with a staggering deficit that would become an added public tax burden. In addition to increasing letter mail from 6 to 7 cents, as proposed by the Johnson Administration, President Nixon also asked that second and third-class mailers help reduce the large postal deficit which would otherwise be paid by taxpayers, the postmaster said. For bulk third-class and most magazines and newspapers, the rates would be increased 16 per cent to 20 per cent above today's levels, he noted. These percentages include rate hikes already scheduled by previous action of Congress. The President's recommended increases will reduce the 1970 postal deficit by more than $600 million. The postmaster listed these other details on the proposed increases: First-class Mail: Letters and post cards would be increased one cent, to 7 cents an ounce and 6 cents a piece, respectively, on July 1, 1969. Airmail postage would remain at 10 cents. This will yield $557.2 million in new revenues. Second-class Mail: A handling charge of three-tenths of a cent per piece for circulation outside home counties would become effective July 1, 1969. This would yield $15.3 million annually and would represent a 12 per cent increase in addition to the 8 per cent rise scheduled to take effect Jan. 1, 1970. Third-class Mail: For single pieces, rates would be increased one cent per piece. This would yield $12.4 million. For regular

Career Day conducted at Post High School

By Kay Lofton

A Career Day, sponsored by the National Honor Society, was held last Thursday at Post High School, with the day designated to discussions of the fields of business, data processing, hair design, nursing, home demonstration, teaching, financing, medicine and pharmacy.

The afternoon classes were divided into a general assembly and four 30-minute classes of the student's choice. Paul Weber of West Texas State University, who was on a talent search program, gave the general assembly, talking on the importance of the students' future plans and decisions.

The Senior members of the National Honor Society welcomed the speakers at the various classes, as follows:

Christine Morris, Mr. Burnett and Mr. Adams of Draughton's Business College, business.

Helen Hodges, Syd Conner, county agricultural agent.

Sharyn Bilberry, Mrs. Karen Parnell, home demonstration.

Karen Hundley, Mrs. Marilyn Miller, nursing.

Bob Wilkins, C. D. Williams of the Data Processing Center in Kansas City, Mo., data processing.

Barbara Bartlett, Mrs. Doris Noble of Jessie Lee's, hair design.

Kathy Hamilton, Bob Collier and J. B. Potts, pharmacy and financing.

Kay Lofton, Mrs. Linda Lynn and Mrs. Vernon Lobban, teaching.

Mike Criswell, Dr. Harry A. Tubbs, medicine.

Kenneth Wallace, director of undergraduate admissions at Texas Tech, also talked to the students about college entrance and college in general.

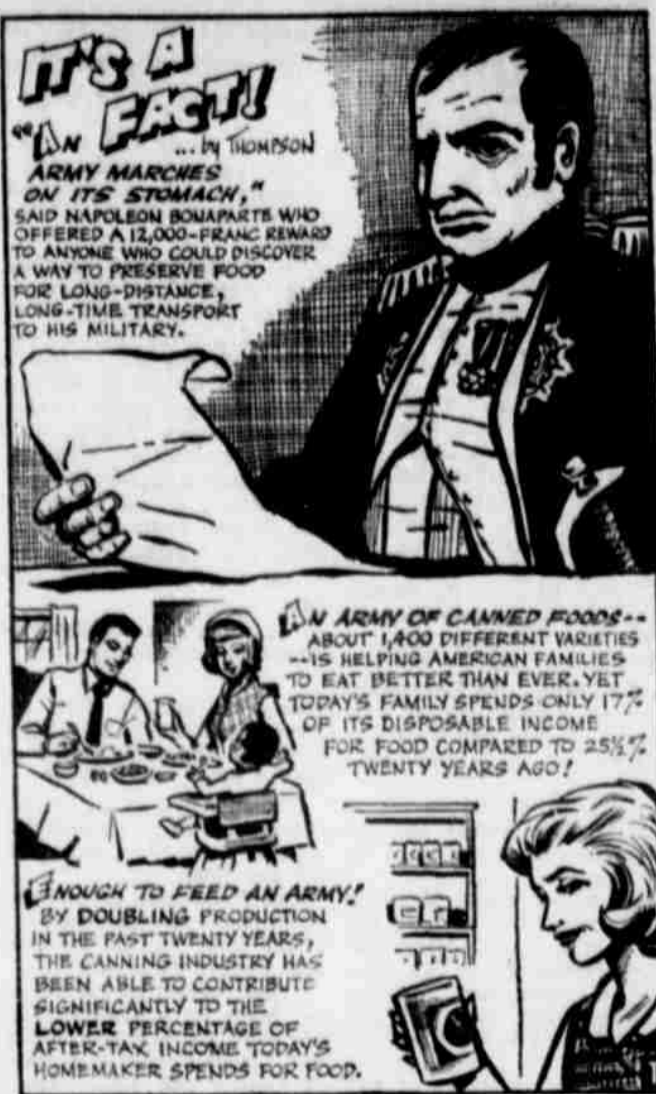

The Career Day was very helpful to the students.

Aoudad stocking said successful

AMARILLO — The 44 aoudad sheep, released in 1957-58 in the Palo Duro Canyon area, have increased to an estimated 600 animals and now range as far as 20 miles from the original release site, according to a Job Progress Report from Texas Parks and Wildlife Biologist Richard D. DeArment.

"The aoudad has done exceedingly well during the last 10 years and is a much sought after game animal," DeArment said in the report.

Aoudads are native of the Atlas Mountains in North Africa. The Department stocked them in the Palo Duro Canyon area in order to increase the hunting potential in the Texas Panhandle.

Until the release of the aoudad sheep, the Canyon had little wildlife to hold hunter interest. Some mule and white-tailed deer lived around the perimeter of the Canyon, but the population was small and little hunted.

During the last five years the Department has issued 330 permits to land owners in the area, and 78 sheep have been killed.

Twenty-one were killed last year, ranging in weight from 50 to 215 pounds hog dressed.

Foundation adopts 7-point program on cotton research

A seven-point cotton research program for 1969 has been adopted at the High Plains Research Foundation that may provide answers to cutting cotton production costs.

Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation director, cited several factors making it a necessity to reduce production costs for High Plains farmers to continue to produce cotton.

"These factors are the increase in cost of labor, machinery and other production items; reduction in cotton exports; loss of domestic markets to synthetics and possibility of losing part or all of government subsidy payments during the next few years", Dr. Longnecker said.

"With production costs averaging 28 to 30 cents per pound of lint, the potential profit in growing cotton is low under existing conditions," Dr. Longnecker stated.

"The only answer to the present situation is to reduce cotton production costs to an extent that cotton can be produced profitably at world market prices", he added.

THERE ARE two ways costs can be reduced — increased yields and or elimination or reduction of certain production costs," Dr. Longnecker said.

In outlining the proposed seven-point program Dr. Longnecker said, "One or more of these practices added to existing cotton production program can be helpful, but for maximum effect all seven practices would need to be combined in the over-all management program".

Under the program, minimum tillage studies would be increased. "Present production practices on cotton may include as many as eight or 10 trips over the land before cotton is planted. Tests are underway at the Foundation to determine if all these operations are necessary," Longnecker said.

In the tests, cotton following double-rowed grain sorghum or soybeans will be planted in the old beds between the two stubble rows. A contact herbicide will be used to control weeds and volunteer grain. "The stubble will provide protection from wind and sand for ALBANY — A member of a long-time West Texas newspaper family, Paul C. Wade of Lamesa, is the winner of the 1969 West Texas Press Association scholarship.

Lynna Williams of Abilene High School is first runner-up, and Dean Singleton of Graham is second runner-up.

The WTPA scholarship is valued at $800, paid $200 each of four years in college. It is good at any college in the boundaries of the WTPA which offers either a major or minor in journalism.

Young Wade, 21, is the son of Mrs. Ruth Grimes Wade, who teaches at Union School in Dawson County. His father, the late Bob Wade, was a long-time printer and commercial job shop owner who was killed in an automobile accident in January. The father came from a family engaged for many years in the newspaper business at Jayton.

Wade, who will graduate this month from Lamesa High School, works part time with the Lamesa Press Reporter as a sports writer, photographer and general assignments man. He also serves on the staff of the high school paper.

seeding cotton and surface residue will reduce evaporation losses", Longnecker pointed out.

Planting time plays an important role in the program. Due to the necessity of planting cotton as early as possible, many farmers become impatient and plant when the soil is too cold leaving the cotton easy prey for seedling diseases which destroys newly formed roots", Dr. Longnecker said.

"RAATHER THAN relying entirely on soil temperature to determine cotton planting dates, we need to make use of weather patterns to spot the last cool spell of the season and plant during this last cool period to take advantage of the rapid warm up that follows for quick seed germination", he added.

Treated seed also is a necessity to reduce the possibility of seedling disease.

Two other methods of seedling cotton protection from wind and sand erosion will be tried in the seven-point program. One method will be to plant cotton in herbicide killed wheat with the wheat to provide protection. The other method will be to interplant corn at the time cotton is seeded. The corn will come up first and by the time cotton has reached the seedling stage, the corn will provide wind protection. When the corn is 24 to 30 inches high, a knife running three inches below the surface will be used to kill the corn plants but leave them standing to hold more heat on the soil surface. Previous micro-climate studies have already proven this type of protection will increase temperatures near the cotton plant.

STARTER fertilizers, particularly phosphate, in addition to regular fertilizer program, will help provide the necessary quick start for seedling cotton. Research has shown that cotton absorbs 75 per cent of its total phosphate during the first 25 per cent of its growth and banded phosphate close to the seed can increase yields as much as $45 per acre with some varieties.

"More precise methods of incorporating cotton herbicides will have a part in the program. Disk incorporation of herbicides lacks precision on results in non-uniform depth of distribution of herbicides in the soil", Dr. Longnecker said. Power driven incorporation equipment used at the Foundation will permit the herbicide to be incorporated in the beds during the planting operation or combined with listing and bed shaping in a single operation.

Irrigation timing is a sixth part of the program and one of the most important. "Contrary to common practices, it has been determined from Foundation research that the first irrigation should be made as soon as the cotton starts squaring rather than waiting until first bloom. From 80 to 90 per cent of the total cotton crop is produced from the first four weeks of blooming. If we provide optimum moisture during the squaring stage more early squares will set and increase both yield and quality", Dr. Longnecker said.

Earlier cut-off date for irrigation water also is urged in the program. AN ACCIDENTAL finding during the 1968 crop season has added the seventh point in study use of plant hormones to promote earlier and heavier fruiting.

Dr. Longnecker said that misapplication of a non-volatile form of 2-4D (Lithate) in the squaring stage of cotton crop in 1968 produced effects ranging from severe damage to an increase yield of as much as 200 pounds of lint per acre. "This variable effect was caused by different amounts of Lithate the cotton received but it was not possible to determine the rate where the cotton yield increased", Dr. Longnecker said.

Different rates of Lithate will be applied on cotton in 1969 in an effort to determine the rate that can be used to set more early squares during the first 30 days and to prevent shedding of the fruit during the latter part of the growing season.
