City Council 'comes in fold' on collection of back taxes

The Post city council Monday night approved a one-year contract with attorney Pat N. Walker for the collection of delinquent taxes owed the city.

The action, taken at the council's regular July meeting, brings the city "into the fold" with three independent taxing units — Post Independent School District, Garza County, and White River Municipal Water District — in the employment of Walker to collect back taxes.

The city's contract with the attorney is essentially the same as that of the school district and the other taxing units. It calls for payment to Walker of a 15 per cent fee on all taxes collected, including penalty and interest. It also calls for a $150 monthly payments to be deducted from the 15 per cent collection fee.

It is estimated that delinquent city taxes amount to approximately $60,000.

In other action Monday night, the council:

- Voted to lay one-half mile of one-inch water line to the north city limits for the benefit of four families living just north of the city limits.
- Learned from Bryan J. Williams, local insurance agent, and Ed Hayes, special agent for an insurance company, that the City of Post is adequately covered in liability insurance on its vehicles, but that it has no liability insurance covering city premises and no contractual liability insurance.

—Authorized City Manager Bobby Pierce to purchase fire extinguishers for certain city buildings and city vehicles that are now without them.

—Postponed action on an air rifle and pellet gun ordinance until similar ordinances from other area towns can be studied.

—Voted to extend to five years a lease on a portion of the city dump grounds held by Thomas Ammons.

—Heard the city police department's June report.

—Authorized the police chief to use prisoners "laying out" city-imposed fines for hoeing weeds and other upkeep work on city property.

—Authorized Councilman Mike Mitchell, chairman of the police department committee, to recommend that the newer police car be used for patrol duty instead of the older one.

—Briefly discussed telephone service here with two representatives of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

—Approved the June bills.

THE NEW two - inch water line to be run to the north city limits from the White River main line will be extended from the city limits on out to the homes by the homeowners, Emmett Shedd, one of those living there, told the council.

The residents in that area are now on an inadequate line that is some thirty years old and are unable to get enough water from the line to use their monthly minimum, Shedd told the council.

After they begin getting water from the new line, the families will pay a $6.00 minimum for the first 3,000 gallons and the regular city rate for all over the minimum. That will be $1.50 more than they are now being charged for the minimum.

The city manager told the council that it would cost between $800 and $1,000 for the city to lay the line using its own labor and equipment, and approximately $1,850 for the city to have the job done by a contractor.

IT WAS estimated that the water users will have paid the city its expense in laying the line in four years time. Shedd told the council that while only four families live there now, there are five or six meters, and a good possibility of more families building there if an ample water supply is assured.

Bryan J. Williams, owner of one of the three insurance agencies with which the city does business, told the council that none of the city's premises, which include the streets, are covered by liability insurance.

"There is no point in protecting yourself with insurance in one area and leaving yourself unprotected in other areas," Williams said.

The insurance man told the council that the city needs liability insurance on all its premises, as well as contractual insurance, in order to be adequately covered.

HE ADDED, however, that as a city taxpayer he is as interested as any other taxpayer in seeing the city keep its expenses down.

"We can provide you a rate for complete coverage and you can decide how much of it you want, perhaps eliminating some of the less hazardous premises from insurance coverage."

The council authorized the city manager to purchase whatever fire extinguishers are needed after he told them that two are needed at the city warehouse and others are needed for city-owned vehicles, including the two police cars.

Thomas Ammons pays $23 a year for the lease he holds on an unused area of the dump grounds. The terms of the five-year lease the council voted to grant him provides that the city can terminate the lease at any time.

POLICE CHIEF Bill Gordon's June report showed 18 tickets given for traffic violations, 79 warnings.

BARBECUE FEEDS 1,500 HUNGRY PEOPLE

Approximately 1,500 "hungry people" were fed at the barbecue held Friday in the City-County Park during the city's Fourth of July celebration. Rusty Dean and his assistants, who cooked the barbecue, had all kinds of help in getting it dished out to the long lines that filed past the tables. "There just wasn't much of anything left to eat after it was over," said Gene Moore, barbecue chairman.

July the 4th event proves crowd pleaser

We think Dr. William C. Wilson will "get the message" when he opens his Post Dispatch this week to page 3.

There he will find a "welcome home" in some of the largest old wood type The Dispatch can muster. Along with it is a warm, friendly message in which some 60 organizations, individuals and business firms express their appreciation for his returning to his hometown to open his new medical practice.

There might have been 200 signatures or more if Mr. and Mrs. C. just had more time early this week to make the necessary contacts.

We only hope Dr. and Mrs. Wilson are as pleased to be home as we all are to have them back.

That Saturday night moisture has been originally designated as a "First National Bank shower." In response to the bank's "rain wanted ad" in The Dispatch last Thursday the clouds moved in and puddled the pavements Saturday night and cooled off the lawns. We wonder how many times Sunday and Monday, J. B. Potts, the bank presy, was advised by farmers and friends that

One of the biggest crowds ever to pack the City - County Park turned out last Friday to help celebrate the nation's 193rd birthday in Post's first old-fashioned July the Fourth celebration in nearly a quarter of a century.

With a free barbecue and a fireworks display, the crowd more than got its "money's worth" in the Chamber of Commerce and Post Jaycee - sponsored celebration that had something for everyone.

An estimated 1,500 persons went through the "barbecue line" at the park at noon to consume three or four barbecued beefs, 100 pounds of red beans, 100 pounds of cab-slaw and 100 pounds of onions.

The lines got so thick at times that it took almost as many people to dish up the food as there were coming through to eat it. Chamber members and Jaycees and their wives and a number of other volunteer workers served the barbecue, which had been prepared by Rusty Dean and his corps of helpers.

"There just wasn't much of any thing left after the last person had gone through the line," said Gene Moore, barbecue chairman.

Two western bands — H. C. Gribble's and Fernie Reed's—provided music throughout most of the day, and there were three food concession stands at the park for hundreds of visitors who got hungry again after the last of the barbecue had disappeared. The food concessions were operated by the Xi Delta Rho chapter, the Jaycees, and Tom Harmon and Mrs. Troy Chance.

There was also a wishing well.

7th sidewalk sale to be held July 19

Post's seventh annual Sidewalk Sale is scheduled for Saturday, July 19. T. B. Odom, chairman of the Retail Promotions Committee of the Post Chamber of Commerce, has announced.

The date was set at a short meeting of the retail promotions committee last Friday afternoon.

Plans call for a half block again to be roped off on South Ave. 1, just off Main street, to give local organizations a place to set up their sale booths.

Odom said a number of Post clubs and organizations have already contacted him concerning booth space.

This is the event in which merchants move their clearance items right out onto the sidewalks and fix prices so low they hope they won't have to carry anything back inside when the one-day event is over.

operated by Mu Alpha chapter, races for the younger people, washer pitching and horseshoe pitching.

At 10 a. m. Friday, an Official Texas Historical Marker was dedicated at the old high school building, and at 11 a. m. the Jaycees dedicated the new 30-foot flagpole at the park that they had given the community.

George R. Brown gave the American flag to fly on the pole.

The Jaycees, in cooperation with the Garza County Historical Survey Committee, conducted tours during the day to historical markers throughout the city, with the first tour starting immediately after the school marker dedication.

The City - County swimming pool held special Fourth of July hours for the day, opening at 10 a. m. and closing at 10 p. m.

The fireworks display, which began shortly after 9:30 p. m., was a fitting climax to the celebration. Jaycees Joe Bailey, Connie Stewart and Don Pennell fired off 130 pieces — $275 — of fireworks of all descriptions from the south shore of the park lake. Fireman Bill Hall stood by with a city fire truck as a precautionary measure, but the fireworks display went off without a hitch.

Several hundred people gathered at the park to watch the dazzling show, many of them bringing quiet.

Kirkpatrick rites are held Tuesday at First Christian

Funeral services for Willard M. Kirkpatrick of 810 West Main, prominent rancher and a resident of Post and Garza County for 42 years, were conducted at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the First Christian Church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, who was 70, died about 1:30 a. m. Sunday in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock, where he had been admitted the previous Wednesday after suffering a stroke.

Born Feb. 4, 1899, in Winona, Ill., he was married to Miss Ruby Stoker on May 10, 1927, at Pomona, Calif. They moved to Garza County following their honeymoon and have lived here ever since.

Mr. Kirkpatrick was a graduate of Pomona High School and the University of Southern California and played football at both schools.

He was active here in civic, church and school affairs, having served 10 years as a member of the school board, part of the time as president of the board. He had been a trustee of the First Christian Church for some forty years and was a member of the church's building committee.

Surviving are his wife, Ruby; two sons, K. W. and Jack Kirkpatrick, both of Post; three brothers, George of Pomona, Morris of Chino, Calif., and Leslie Kirkpatrick of Santa Monica, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Florence Fowlkes of Upland, Calif.; and 10 grandchildren.

Bernard S. Ramsey, minister of the First Christian Church, and Dr. Dudley Strain of Lubbock officiated at the funeral services.

Interment was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudson Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Lee W. Davis Jr., Ronnie Bouchier, John Haire, Victor Hudson, Robert Hall Davis, Mitchell Malouf Jr., Ben Owen and James Elliott Taylor.

School marker is dedicated Friday

Those attending the dedication of the Official Texas Historical Marker at the old high school building last Friday morning heard the story of the building of the high school in the late 1920's and of how Post's football team in 1928 won the regional championship in a 21-20 squeaker over Mineral Wells.

The dedication of the marker at the old high school, which is now used as the junior high building, came as a part of Post's Independence Day celebration.

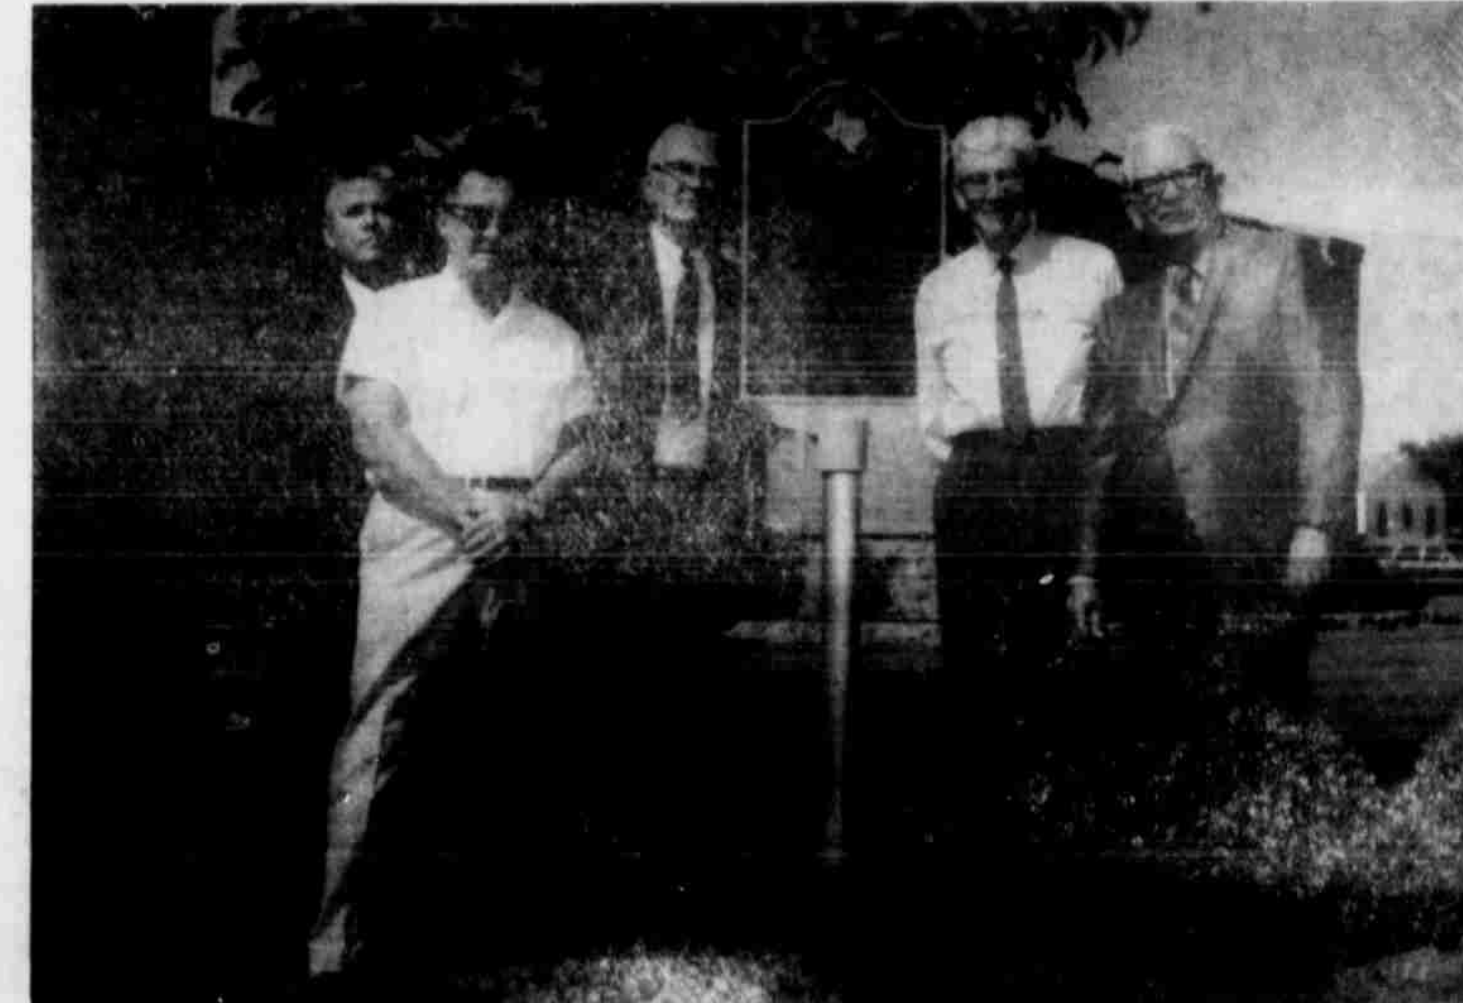

J. A. Stallings, who was a member of the school board when the high school was built, made the dedicatory address. Also present was Dr. A. C. Surman, the only other surviving member of the 1928 school board. Other members of the board were W. F. Presson, H. J. Dietrich, N. N. Rodgers Jr., H. D. Moreman and A. R. Durrett.

Mr. Stallings introduced as a special guest O. C. Thomas of Ralls, who was high school principal here not long after the new building was completed. Also present was Mrs. Thomas, who was teaching school here when she and Mr. Thomas married.

In his talk on the school building project, Mr. Stallings paid tribute to the mothers of the community, especially those who were members of the Parent - Teacher Association. They helped promote a $100,000 bond issue, and then raised money to pay for a certain and other stage equipment when it was found there was no money left for such things after the building was completed.

Mrs. Walter Boren, a member of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee, told the story of the great 1928 football team in the absence of J. D. McCampbell, one of the team members, who

Public meetings now open to public

The recent 61st Texas Legislature enacted legislation closing the loopholes whereby many state and local governmental bodies held meetings behind closed doors, barring the press and the public.

The 61st Legislature proved that it really meant business about public meetings being open to the public when the legislators passed and Gov. Preston Smith signed into law an act that governing and taxing bodies must give three days notice of meetings where actions are taken involving the public interest. Most governing bodies will comply. Those which do not are asking for trouble.

In 1967 the Texas Legislature passed a law making it mandatory for all state and local governmental bodies to make their meetings open to the public. The principal exception to this was meetings in which personnel hiring or firing was to be discussed. Such matters could be handled behind closed doors in announced "executive sessions."

In Post, the legislation presented no problem. Traditionally, meetings of school boards, commissioners courts and city councils have always been open to the public, which really means open to the press since most citizens have not availed themselves of the opportunity to attend such meetings. In other communities, however, the same openness has not always been practiced. Governing bodies have either had something to hide or have fallen victim to the urge to manage the news. They could do this by having "closed door" meetings and reporting only what they wanted people to know about.

Several governing bodies have flaunted the 1967 law by closing their doors to both citizens and reporters. In a few instances complaints have been filed and public officials, some of whom serve without pay, have been fined by the courts. Other school boards, city councils and the like found a way around the law. If they did not want their work to be scrutinized by the public, they simply held "called meetings" at unannounced times to take care of business they wanted to keep secret, leaving only routine matters on the agenda of regular meetings.

It is grossly unfair to the public they serve for any governing body to try to keep news of their proceedings from the public. We are glad the Legislature has clamped down on such practices. We'd also be misrepresenting facts if we were to say that it has always been "a bed of roses" here in Post as far as reporting the proceedings of some of our governing bodies are concerned. There are some things these governing bodies had rather keep out of the paper, but as long as they affect the public we feel the public has a right to know about them, and our intentions are to continue reporting them.

At the same time, we realize that since the newspapers and other media now have what they have sought for many years, the area of responsibility is shifted back to us. It is now incumbent on the press to report all meetings fairly and objectively, attempting always to convey the proper spirit of these meetings, without sensationalism and without bias.—CD

The Boy Scout Camp invites you

Residents of the Post area are urged to visit the C. W. Post Memorial Boy Scout Camp here at least once during the annual summer camping season which began Sunday and is to continue through Aug. 2.

Friday is "visitor's day" at the big Boy Scout camp, of which Post has every reason to be proud. It is the official summer camping place of hundreds of Boy Scouts and their adult leaders throughout the 20-county South Plains Council.

Again this camping season, the camp is serving fried chicken dinners on Fridays to visitors who are also invited to stay after the dinner for the weekly campfire Court of Honor.

Many Post people, especially some of the newcomers, do not realize just how big and impressive the Boy Scout Camp is. They are invited to go out and see at least one Friday during the summer camping season.—CD

WHAT GETS THE credit for Saturday's splatter of rain . . . the First National Bank's rain ad or the Jaycees' Fourth of July fireworks display?

Even after Saturday's shower, it's still dry enough that if you tell someone it's a pretty day, the chances are he'll reply, "Yep, it is, and it won't take many more like it to ruin us."

THE MAN UP the street says a to pay as you go — if you don't budget is a plan that enables you go anywhere.

Claude, the county seat of Armstrong County, made the headlines a few years ago when the Paul Newman movie, "Hud," was filmed there. I don't remember reading then or later, however, how Claude got its name until I read Weldon Hart's column in the current issue of a monthly newsletter sent out by the Texas Highway Department. Mr. Hart writes interestingly on historic county court-houses in Texas and on any number of other subjects pertaining to Texas history.

HE SAYS THE town of Claude got its name from Claude Ayres, who was at the throttle when the first Fort Worth & Denver train steamed through the Panhandle in 1887, skirting the Palo Duro Canyon and striking a beeline for Texline. "Any man," he writes, "who could handle that snorting monster of a locomotive had to be a Hero First Class. That's why the Armstrong County seat is named Claude."

Mr. Hart goes on to say that Armstrong is one of at least 19 Texas counties with county seats called by the first names of people—and not always famous people, although some were. Claude is one of four towns with "railroad connections" in its name. Jackson County's seat was named for EDNA Telferner, daughter of an Italian count who built the "Macaroni Line" (New York, Texas & Mexico). George CHANNING Rivers, a railroad paymaster, is memorialized in Hartley County. The wife of the president of the Texas & New Orleans named Marfa (Presidio County) for the heroine of a Russian novel.

HISTORICAL FIGURES whose first names linger in courthouse towns include: GAIL Borden (Borden County); ANSON Jones (Jones County); EMORY Rains (Rains County); KERMIT Roosevelt (Winkler County), and George Glasscock (Georgetown, Williamson County).

About Henrietta (Clay County), there's a question, Mr. Hart writes. The name is supposed to be for Henry Clay's wife, but her name was Lucretia Hart. Quanah (Hartman County) is for the last Comanche war chief, son of Cynthia Ann Parker. Fredericksburg (Gillespie County) honors Frederick the Great of Prussia. San Angelo (Tom Green County) evolved from Santa Angela, name of a Mexican nun.

NAMES bequeathed by great ranching families distinguish two South Texas capitals: ALICE King Kleberg (Jim Wells County) and Sarita KENEDY East (Kenedy County).

Land and town developers also got into the act, according to Mr. Hart. They include Jourdan Campbell (Jourdan, Atascosa County), George West (Live Oak County) and BENJAMIN Bedford (Knox County). The "ada" in Floydada (Floyd County) comes from the name of Mrs. Ada Price. And SEYMOUR Munday (Baylor County) was a cowboy who had a line camp nearby.

THIS APPEARED in a newspaper 40 years ago and it's just as true today:

"In these modern times most of us awake in the morning and take a bath with advertised soap in an advertised bathtub, put on advertised underwear and an advertised shirt, wear an advertised suit and put on an advertised pair of shoes, wear an advertised collar and tie, then sit down to the breakfast table and eat advertised breakfast food, drink advertised coffee and eat advertised bacon, then put on an advertised hat, step into an advertised car and motor to town with advertised gas and park our car in front of an advertised store; and, yet, we sometimes find a fellow who will try to tell us that he does not believe in advertising."

It's too hot to deal with serious matters. Perhaps we ought to look in on the English language and see what the young are doing with it. How's this for maximum use of the preposition?

These days most towns our size lose their college-educated sons and daughters to the world, especially to the helter-skelter cities . . . So we want to tell you how pleased we are that you, a doctor, came back to us. We hope we never give you cause to regret your decision . . . A welcome home too, to your wife, Margie.

We have fought together as a community to save Garza Memorial Hospital, but we have needed more physicians practicing here and putting their patients into the hospital to make it economically practical. You have arrived just in the nick of time . . . Oh yes, we know that young physicians don't grow on trees. You, and others like you, are in demand everywhere.

We believe, however, that there is a great deal of good living in small town life and that you and your family will enjoy establishing and building a medical practice here . . . Again, we say: Welcome home to both of you and thanks for coming. If we can be of service to either of you in any way just let us know.

Sincerely yours . . .

Card of Thanks

The family of Elton Nance is deeply grateful to friends who supported them in innumerable ways during their recent loss. The help of many, many friends, of course, during the past several years has made it possible for the family to continue to live on the ranch at all. To Dr. Tubbs and his family and to the hospital personnel for both professional care and personal friendship, we can never adequately express the appreciation we feel. The generous food offerings from friends both in Justiceburg and Post and their service during the days of the family gathering eased the difficult time.

To the many friends who sent flowers, cards and gifts, thank you. Your kindness and thoughtfulness is deeply appreciated. God bless you.

Iva Sanders

I wish to thank all my friends for all the many, many prayers they said for me, all the flowers and cards, all the food brought in after I came home. May God bless every one of you in my prayer, for I will love you all always.

Adventures in ADVERTISING
Mark Twain's Story OF THE READING SPIDER
During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri newspaper. One day he got a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his newspaper and asked if this was an omen of good luck or bad luck. Twain wrote: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward." You will find no spider webs across the doors of the merchants who advertise in your local newspaper.

Water quality underneath the High Plains area being tested

LUBBOCK — The development of new techniques by Texas Tech researchers in geology will help a scientific team this summer to create a picture of the mineral quality of water held underneath the Texas High Plains.

The team led by Prof. John J. Dowling spent last year testing equipment, a computer program for analyzing data and the method for the study.

By measuring the electrical properties of rocks in the underlying Ogallala Formation, the team can make an interpretation of the water quality.

"There are several techniques for measuring the electrical properties of rocks near the surface of the earth," Dowling said, "but none of these had been applied successfully before to a semi-arid region where electrical conductivity of soils presents a special problem."

"Now we can get meaningful data on dissolved solids which pollute the Ogallala Formation," he said.

Salt and nitrates are of particular interest to the team which includes graduate students Russell Blumentritt, who helped develop the equipment and program, and Bruce Allen, Geosciences Professor. W. D. Miller is a consultant for the research to be done this summer.

The 1969 summer work includes provision for 200 to 300 test sites at 10 or 20 mile spacings.

The research is funded by Texas Tech's International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies which provided an initiation grant of $1,400 for the first year's study and $2,500 for the 1969 research.

Representing the International Center, Dr. Dowling presented a paper, co-authored by Dr. Miller, describing the research for the 30th annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union, April 21-25, in Washington, D. C.

Library record is set in June

The Post Public Library's summer reading program for youngsters sent the June circulation soaring to a record 1,133 books checked out, Librarian George L. Miller reports.

During the 30 day period 256 juvenile fiction books, 393 easy fiction books, and 92 juvenile non-fiction books were checked out.

Adults checked out 64 non-fiction books during June, 207 fiction, 79 mysteries, and one western.

Young adults checked out 22 non-fiction and 19 fiction books for the month.

The 1,133 books checked out for June brings the total for 1969 to date to 4,124 books.

A total of 7.3 million World War II veterans received educational assistance through GI bills.

The center layout highlights the country and western variety spectacular that will be presented in Fair Park Coliseum during the weeklong run.

NEED A MODEL?

By Curtis Lee

Pastors get lots of questions from many different people. One of the more frequent questions is: "Pastor, how do you know when you are really being a Christian?"

Do you need a model? Try this one:

A SHEEP DOG

We offer ourselves, one way or another, to try to work for God. We want, as it were, to be among the sheep dogs employed by the Lord Shepherd. Have you ever watched a good sheep dog work? He is not an emotional animal. He goes on with his job quite steadily; takes no notice of bad weather, rough ground or of his own comfort. He seldom or never stops to be stroked. Yet his faithfulness and intimate communion with his master are of the loveliest things in the world. Now and then he looks at the shepherd. And when the time comes for rest, they are generally to be found together.

Let this be the model of your love.

Evelyn Underhill

... and check in with the Lord Shepherd every Sunday.

TEXAS HOG CHOLERA PROGRAM ADVANCES

Texas will advance to Phase 3 of the National Hog Cholera Eradication Program Aug. 1, the Texas Animal Health Commission has announced.

Dr. Don Hudman, Texas Agricultural Extension Service swine specialist at A&M University, said Phase 3 is a continuation of immediate reporting of hog cholera outbreaks and more vigorous inspection of garbage cooking and feeding facilities.

Infected herds will be quarantined and premises depopulated by marketing healthy animals in a federally inspected slaughter plant. Diseased animals will be eliminated on the premises by burying, burning or rendering under supervision of regulatory veterinarians.

Phase 3 also provides an indemnity payment due to an outbreak. Hudman added. The indemnity is shared equally by the state and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "Maximum indemnities for infected herds will be $100 per head purebred, inbred and hybrid swine and $80 a head on grade swine," the specialist explained. "Payment will be limited to living swine present when a regulatory veterinarian arrives on the premises. Hog producers should report sick animals to local veterinarians to qualify for payments if cholera is present."

Another important part of the program is the ban of interstate shipment of vaccines and vaccinated hogs, Hudman added. A change in shipping rules will halt interstate shipment of modified live virus and inactivated cholera vaccines after July 1.

Regulations do not affect use of anti-hog cholera serum.

Interstate shipment of hogs vaccinated with modified live virus, or exposed to hogs vaccinated with modified live virus, will be prohibited after Jan. 1, 1970, unless the animals were vaccinated before July 1 of this year, Hudman said.

ROUTINE INSECTICIDE USE THING OF PAST

The time is past when cotton growers can rely on a program of regularly scheduled insecticide applications to prevent damage to their crops.

Because of the many problems brought on as a result of continued insecticide use, today's producer must carefully weigh the insect situation in his field, study the alternatives, and make control decisions on the basis of his own insect situation.

John G. Thomas, Extension Service entomologist, says there are several factors to consider in making cotton bug control decisions. The first is when to start treatments.

There is no single program which can be used year after year for economic control, the entomologist pointed out.

"Weather conditions and insect populations vary from year to year and the control program must fit the current situation," Thomas said. "The insect situation may even vary from field to field, and a general recommendation to start community-wide treatments for a particular pest is usually unsound and commonly results in unnecessary insecticide applications."

He added that treatments should start when insects reach injurious levels in that field. This means that the grower must check the field and make insect counts. Selection of effective pesticides also is a factor to consider, Thomas said. Here again, the grower must know what bugs are present and at what level before he can select the right chemical.

Still another factor is the productivity of a farm. The entomologist said farmers on the less fertile upland farms usually cannot afford to spend as much on insect control as those on bottomlands.

Profitable insecticide use on low-yielding, dryland acreage requires careful management, Thomas said.

FANCY THAT!..... by THOMPSON

Vietnam View

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by
GySgt. Bob Montgomery

Somewhere in the Army of the Republic of Vietnam (ARVN), Lance Cpl. Tom Joyce has a friend he's only met once.

Joyce, Byfield, Mass., of Marine Force Logistic Command's (FLC) 7th Motor Transport Battalion was driving a wrecker on a convoy headed to An Hoa.

"One of the trucks broke down and I pulled out of the convoy to try and fix it," recalled Joyce. "We had parked near the base camp of the 3rd Bn., Seventh Marine Regiment for security purposes."

The rest of the convoy, including armed vehicles for security went ahead and waited at the Cau Lau river, five miles away.

While the truck was being repaired, children from a nearby village began to crowd around, watching the Marines at work. "After we got the truck running, it started to rain," Joyce said. "So I got back in the wrecker and waited for a gun truck to return from the convoy and accompany us to the river."

While Joyce waited inside the wrecker, an ARVN soldier came riding up on a bicycle, stopped, looked into the cab, then ran to the right front fender.

"I didn't know what he wanted," stated Joyce. "He bent down and pulled out a hand grenade from underneath the fender. It had been set to blow at the slightest bump."

The ARVN soldier simply showed the grenade to Joyce, smiled, and put it in his pocket and rode off as if nothing had happened.

"I was so stunned," said Joyce, "that I didn't even thank him. Whoever he is, he's one friend whose hand I hope to shake some day."

A 25-year-old private in the North Vietnamese Army wanted to surrender to American Marines forces.

Trouble was, he didn't have a "Chieu Hoi" or safe-conduct pass which allied aircraft drop onto enemy positions or Vietnamese villages. With this pass, enemy soldiers are detained by American forces and turned over to the Government of Vietnam.

A squad of Marines from "B" Co., 1st Bn., Fifth Marine Regiment was coming uncomfortably close to the enemy private's position.

He began to run, then changed his mind. He stopped and picked up a piece of paper, believing it to be a safe conduct pass.

With a big grin and a wave of the "pass", he turned towards the Americans, who smiled back... then laughed!

Maj. Patrick E. O'Toole of the regimental intelligence section said "I couldn't believe it at first when I read the 'Freedom Pass.' The New York City Leatherneck passed the information to his regimental commander, Col. James B. Ord, Kailua, Hawaii, who passed the story to his staff during a briefing.

The "pass to freedom" for the enemy private was a renewal subscription blank for Newsweek Magazine.

It's the Law...

TEACHING SOMEONE TO DRIVE

On the day Margaret got a learner's permit, her boy friend Fred took her out for a driving lesson. As they approached another car, waiting at a stop light, Margaret suddenly "froze." Worse, so did Fred.

Result: a collision, with considerable damage to the other car. In due course, the driver filed a damage suit against Fred.

"I'm not liable," Fred protested in court. "A driving teacher does not guarantee that his pupil will drive carefully."

Nevertheless, the court held him liable — not for Margaret's bad driving but for his own bad teaching. The judge said Fred should have made some effort, either by word of gesture, to avert the crash.

According to law, if you take on the responsibility of teaching someone to drive, you also take on the responsibility of doing so with reasonable care.

However, the law does recognize that a teacher's control has practical limits. In another case, after the driving lesson was supposed to be over, the pupil—acting on impulse—started the car again and jerked forward. The teacher shouted a warning and pulled the emergency brake, but not quickly enough to avoid hitting a pedestrian.

This time a court ruled that, while the teacher did have a special responsibility, he had fulfilled that responsibility by his efforts. Nor are you held to a teacher's responsibility if you do not, in fact, occupy that role. Thus:

TO SING AT FAIR

Nationally-known singers Eddie Arnold (left) and Johnny Cash will be among featured performers at the West Texas Fair, at Abilene, Sept. 8-13. Arnold, RCA recording star, will perform Sept. 8-9, and Cash, America's foremost singing storyteller, will perform Sept. 12-13.

When an accident resulted from the improper parking of a car by the roadside, a claim was filed not only against the driver of the car but also against his passenger. It seems that, while the driver was parking the car, the passenger had remarked:

"There, I think you are far enough off the road."

But the court ruled that the passenger could not be held liable for merely giving bad advice. The judge said the occupant of a car does not take over the role—and the responsibility—of a teacher, just by trying to be helpful.

Program to help area's economy

LUBBOCK — Plans were devised and guidelines and tools were discussed here recently for giving the entire economy of the South Plains a "shot in the arm" through the South Plains Development (SPD) Program.

More than 200 key agricultural leaders and agribusinessmen from throughout 19 South Plains counties, including County Agent Syd Conner and a number of others from Garza County, were on hand at the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill to set up an "active program" for boosting agriculture and related industries.

Featured speakers at the meeting included Dr. L. S. Pope, associate dean of agriculture at Texas A&M University; Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Extension Service; Dr. Lowell Schake, Extension area livestock specialist; Dr. Robert B. Metzger, Extension area agronomist; Billy Wayne Clayton, state representative and executive director of Water, Inc., and Dr. James E. Osborn, associate professor at Texas Tech.

More than half of the nation's estimated 10 million Americans working part-time are women.

 had been scheduled to make the talk.
 Mrs. Boren said Post was almost a "deserted village" the day the regional championship game was played at Mineral Wells. "Nearly everybody made the long trip to Mineral Wells, and most of those who didn't, heard a 'blow-by-blow' account of the game over a special telephone hookup installed by the manager at the Postex Mill," Mrs. Boren recalled.
 Scores of the 1928 team's victories, read by Mrs. Boren, were as follows: 7, Rails 0; 39, Brownfield 0; 27, O'Donnell 0; 19, Crosbyton 0; 19, Slaton 0; 26, Spur 19; 0, Floydada 0 ("We held them down," Mrs. Boren said); 40, Tahoka 0; 39, Rails 7; 52, Plainview 13; 21, Mineral Wells 20.
 Mrs. Boren introduced J. W. "Red" Floyd as the only member of the 1928 team present at the dedications ceremony.

 Floyd gave the town's businessmen much of the credit for the football team's success. "With the kind of backing they gave us, we couldn't help but have a good team," he said.
 Harry Taylor was coach of the 1928 team and his younger brother, Gene Taylor, was assistant coach. After Floyd had been introduced, County Judge J. E. Parker, who had made the welcome speech, returned to make a few comments of his own on the Post victory at Mineral Wells.
 "There were many anxious moments with first one team and then the other scoring, but it was the 'golden toe' of Pud Luman that pulled us through," Judge Parker said.
 Then, turning toward Red Floyd, the judge said, "One of the most anxious moments for Post was when Red fumbled the ball and Mineral Wells recovered. But on the next play, Red got the ball back from Mineral Wells and I think that might have been the game's turning point."
 Walter Duckworth, a member of the GCHS committee, read the inscription on the marker installed in front of the school, then made the presentation of the marker to A. C. Cash, a member of the school board.
 Following the flag raising ceremony by Boy Scout Troop 316 under the direction of Scoutmaster Hoyt Thomas, the Scouts led the Pledge of Allegiance, and the group sang the "Star Spangled Banner."
 Mrs. George L. Miller, Mrs. Don Pennell and Miss Karen Lee, representing the Post Music Club, sang two patriotic songs, then closed the ceremony with the Post School Song. The singers were accompanied by Mrs. Jerry Thuest at the piano.
 Following the program, many of those present went on a tour of the city's historical markers, with the Post Jaycees conducting the tour.

Wounded soldier 'making progress'

Spec. 5 Freddy T. Simmons, who was wounded in Vietnam on May 29, is reported "making progress as expected" at the William Beaumont General Hospital in El Paso, where he arrived by plane June 30 from a hospital in Yokohama, Japan.

Speech and physical therapy has begun for the soldier, whose right side is still paralyzed. His vision is impaired as a result of the head wound he suffered and a television set has been placed in his room to aid him in the use of his eyes.

Simmons' mother, Mrs. Virgil Simmons of Lubbock and his sister, Mrs. Tom Arnt of Phoenix, Ariz., have been in El Paso since he arrived at the hospital there, and they will remain indefinitely.

In the meantime, the fund started here last week to help finance the six-month stay of Freddy's wife Susan in El Paso has grown to $223. Those wishing to contribute to the fund should bring their contributions to the First National Bank with checks made out to "First Christian Church, Susan Simmons account."

Chamber members and Jaycees were busy in the morning celebrating the day. "We expect it to be even better next year, of course," said Ken Collins, Jaycee president and a Chamber of Commerce director.

The aim of the crowds attending the celebration was described as "satisfactory," despite the fact that many people were out of town in holiday trips or on their annual summer vacations.

Mrs. Bob Thomas of Clouse City won the new bicycle and Chester Morris the ice cream freezer, which were given away at 9 a. m. Friday to get the big celebration under way.

ONE CARD OUTLUCKS FIFTY IN DRAWING

Dennis Altman is a much luckier young man than his brother, Duke.
 This came to light last week right before the Fourth of July when Dennis became the owner of a 15-foot motor boat, complete with a 33 hp motor and a boat trailer.
 Dennis and Duke, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Deamos Altman, were both students at Texas Tech during the current year and signed up for a drawing at a Lubock hamburger drive-in.
 According to the story, Duke signed about 50 cards for the boat drawing and Dennis only one.
 Dennis is employed with Rocker A Well Service this summer but has had time to take the boat out to White River Lake twice over the holiday weekend.

Sept. 6 tentative 'Lake Day' date

The second annual White River Lake Day was tentatively set for Sept. 6 at a meeting of representatives of the four district towns last night at the lake.
 Fred Myers, who represented Post at the meeting, said each representative will check in his home town as to conflicts with this date.
 Last year's White River Lake Day was held in August, but there appeared to be too many other events already scheduled for August of this year to hold the lake event earlier than the September date.

Day-long activities similar to those held last year, but with new additions, are planned. The 1968 event cost each town about $200 for expenses, but the fund has been built up to where the cost this year is expected to be only about $125 for each town.

Dwayne Moses of Rails was elected chairman of the planning committee and Myers was elected secretary.

Gonzales funeral is held Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Georgia Gonzales, 38, of Route 1, Post, who died Sunday in a Snyder hospital following a short illness, were held at 4 p. m. Tuesday at the Holy Cross Catholic Church, with the Rev. Thomas Andrew, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Gonzales, the wife of Morris M. Gonzales, who is employed on the Dennis Eubank farm, north of Post, died a short time after being admitted to the hospital. A member of the family said she had been under treatment for high blood pressure and apparently died from a heart attack after contracting pneumonia.

She was born Dec. 13, 1930, at Marlin.
 Surviving are the husband; three sons, Johnny Escobar of Corpus Christi, Alex Gonzales, who is in the Army, stationed in Germany, and Florenz Gonzales of Route 1, Post; three daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Barbosa of Crosbyton and Amelia Gonzales and Frances Gonzales, both of the home;

Also by three stepsons, Eddie, Isaac and Felix Gonzales, all of Dallas; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Margie Comacho of Dallas; a brother, who lives in Michigan; two sisters, one of Pharr and the other of Corpus Christi, and 11 grandchildren.
 Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Mason Funeral Home.

 ing tickets issued and six accidents investigated. The report also disclosed that city police made 44 arrests in June. They were listed as 19 drunk; three disturbing the peace; two rude display of weapons; six minor in possession and one simple assault. The police also picked up two runaways; one immigration law violator, who was released to the Border Patrol, and eight other persons on various charges who were released to the county.
 The telephone company representatives who met with the council explained that they just "want to find out if you have any telephone problems."
 Several of the councilmen told the phone men that they were generally well pleased with the service, especially the promptness with which the long distance operators answer on out-of-town calls. "For awhile a few years ago, you just had to wait and wait before a long distance operator would answer," one of the councilmen said.

Lamesa here Friday for Babe Ruth loop playoff tilt

Game time 8 o'clock; second game Saturday

The Post Babe Ruth League All-Stars will play Lamesa here at 8 p. m. Friday, July 11, in a Babe Ruth League playoff game. "We are hoping for an extra good turnout of Post baseball fans on Friday night's game," said James Kennedy, league president. The elimination playoff between the All-Stars and Lamesa is a two-out-of-three affair, with the second game scheduled for Saturday, July 12, at Lamesa. If either team wins both of the first two games, a third game will not be necessary. If they split the first two games, however, it will take a third game to decide which team will advance to the district tournament at Morton.

Josey's home runs help sink Slaton

Third baseman Kyle Josey hit two home runs to help propel the Babe Ruth League All-Stars past Slaton, 8 to 1, in a practice game Tuesday night. The victory was double sweet for the Post team, since Slaton had defeated them, 1-0, in an earlier game. Tuesday night's contest was a warm-up for the Post All-Stars, who will play Babe Ruth League playoff here Friday night against Lamesa.

Post faculty member attending institute for bilingual teachers

Lucia Valenzuela, English and Spanish teacher in Post High School, is attending the summer institute for bilingual teachers and teacher aides under way at the University of Texas in Austin. The eight-week institute, which continues through Aug. 1, is conducted by the UT Foreign Language Education Center and funded through the U. S. Office of Education as authorized under the Education Professions Development Act.

"We think we have a real fine team of all-stars representing our Babe Ruth League and want to urge all Post baseball fans to support them in the game here Friday night and again at Lamesa on Saturday," the league president said.

Since the game is a regular Babe Ruth League playoff contest, there will be admission charges of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. The Post All-Stars are managed by John Redman, whose Indians won the Babe Ruth League championship this season. The All-Star coach is Paul Quinones, whose Braves finished in second place in the standings.

Young Babe Ruth stars defeated

Post's Babe Ruth League All-Star team of 13-year-olds blew a 9 to 5 lead at Slaton Tuesday evening and was eliminated from the 13-year-old tournament there by Littlefield, 13 to 10. The Post team scored nine of its runs in the first inning after Littlefield had scored five, but the Littlefield team came back with seven runs in the third to go out in front, 12 to 9.

The winners scored their seven runs in the third on two hits, with bases on balls, wild pitches and passed balls accounting for most of the scoring. John Redman, the Post starter, was the losing pitcher, with Ronnie Ammons relieving him late in the game. Jay Pollard and Mackey Sappington worked behind the plate.

Teachers are at summer school

A number of Post school teachers are attending summer school or special institutes this summer, according to Supt. Bill Shiver. Grid magazine picks Post in third place

Behind Denver City and Frenship

The 1969 edition of Dave Campbell's "Texas Football" magazine hit the newsstands this week, bigger and better than ever, and picking Post for a third place finish in District 4AA — behind Denver City and Frenship.

The magazine says of Coach Glynn Gregg's Antelopes: "Post has waited patiently through two rebuilding years, now plans to make its move with nine offensive and nine defensive veterans who lack outstanding size or speed. QB Ray Altman, HB George Torres and WB Neff Walker are all fine ones. So are guards Randy Hudman and David Perez (191), center David Stelzer (199) and tackle Steve Newby. Guard Dennis Dodson, end Karl Hall, tackle Jimmy McKamie (199), and HBs Jay Bird and Terry Moreau also rate among the reliable."

THE MAGAZINE PICKS DENVER CITY to repeat as district champions. "Oldtimers can remember," it says, "when Denver City failed to win a district championship. . . well, actually, it was 1966, and although there may be another disaster year somewhere on up the road, 1969 shouldn't be it."

Listed as Denver City standouts for the coming season are QB Gene Richardson, HBs Jimmy Youngblood and Larry Clinton and linemen Steve Rankin (190), Don Looney, Jim Lawson and Wayne Mare.

Coach John Blocker's Frenship Tigers, Denver City's closest pursuer a year back, will be again.

The Close City HD Club will hold its last meeting for the summer July 15 at the community center. Mr. and Mrs. Felton Gatlin were Fourth of July guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Bartlett.

Lola Peel visited Stephanie Davis Tuesday morning. Stephanie recently came home from a Lubbock hospital where she underwent surgery.

Southland area woman dies in nursing home

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Well, hi. Here it is Southland news day again. The Fourth of July has come and gone. Hope everyone of you had a grand day!

Our sympathy goes to the family of Mrs. J. Rackler, former resident, who passed away at 8:34 a. m. Sunday in the Challenge Nursing Home. Mrs. Rackler was 83 years old. She is survived by one son, Roscoe of Shallowater, one daughter, Mrs. Harry Barnett of Bellevue, one brother, three sisters, 11 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. May God comfort this family in their sorrow.

Miss Belva Becker and Mrs. Ronnie Schmidt.

The Southland cheerleaders, Laura Bevers, Sherri Wilke and Breonne Winterrowd returned home on July 3 from the cheerleading school which was held at Texas Tech and they were three mighty proud girls because they received an excellent rating. They won a big red second place banner on their poster, having competed with some 90 other posters, which is just pretty good! They also won three excellent ribbons and one outstanding ribbon — giving them the excellent rating. There were approximately 400 girls attending and some 90 schools were represented. Congratulations, girls!

Debra Crawford, daughter of the P. W. Crawfords, went to Six Flags this past week with her sister, Jettie, and brother-in-law. Bet you enjoyed it, huh, Debra?

Chris Gindorf and daughters, Patsy and Joan, honored their son and brother, Chris Gindorf III, of Red Hook, N. Y., with a birthday party at the Slaton park Sunday evening. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Betts and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wilke of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Steinhauser and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Steinhauser and children, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gindorf, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Wilke and daughters, all of Wilson, Mrs. Lois Briezer and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stolle and Beth of Slaton, Mrs. C. W. Gindorf, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stolle and Edmund, Sherri and Yours Truly, Miss Carol Stolle of Amarillo and of course, the honoree and his family. The Gindorfs will be visiting her mother and family, the Jimmy Beckers, near Floydada this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lester and children of Amarillo have been visiting relatives and friends here.

Word has been received from Mrs. Nellie Mathis, who is visiting in Salem, Ore., that her son, Dick, is in the hospital. We sincerely hope that all goes well with him.

Miss Carol Stolle of Amarillo spent the weekend here with her parents, the Walter Stollers.

Joe E. Basinger of Fort Worth was here over the weekend visiting his parents, the Clarence Basingers.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Callaway returned last week from a trip to California where they visited her mother, Mrs. Snow Moore, and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Havis attended the annual Fourth of July breakfast "cook out" at Roaring Springs.

The Southland First Baptist Church started a revival Monday night. The Rev. J. R. Church is the speaker and the services begin at 8:30 p. m. throughout the week with special music at each service. The public is invited.

MRS. G. D. Ellis is still in Mercy Hospital. Why don't you drop by to see her or send her a card. I know that this would cheer her up a bit.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker have been visiting at Holland, Tex., and Lake LBJ.

Edmund, Sherri and Yours Truly attended a July 4th picnic at the home of the Leroy Zieschangs in Slaton. Others present were the D. B. Kisers, R. M. McMinnis, Alvin Beckers, Wallace Beckers and Congratulations to Miss Rosemary Flores, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Flores, on her engagement and marriage on Aug. 9.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the family of Mrs. Hadley Linecum (the former Mrs. Hadley Winn) who passed away last Thursday at the Tahoka Nursing Home. Her funeral was held Saturday at the First Methodist Church in Tahoka. She used to live in the Hackberry community. She is survived by two sons, Edwin Orr of Arlington and O. D. Orr of Tahoka; one brother, Wes Anthony of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Wycoff of California, Mrs. A. M. Jackson of Odessa and several grandchildren. Friends from here attending the funeral were Mrs. Louise Carson, Mrs. Ed Denton, Mrs. M. E. Morris, Mrs. W. P. Lester and Billy Lester.

40 Post band members to attend Tech camp

Forty band members from the Post schools will attend a two weeks' band camp at Texas Tech starting Sunday, July 13. Band Director Herb Germer has announced.

The bandmen will commute to and from the camp each morning and evening, with the Post schools furnishing transportation, the band director said.

The group will leave at 7 o'clock every morning from the band hall and return about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Social events are scheduled in the evening for the band members who wish to return to Lubbock, Germer said.

and hope they will continue to supply us with such fine students," Dean Killion said.

Registration for the camp is $30. Bandmen interested in attending should contact Mr. Germer.

Each band member will have a schedule and attend the classes of his choice, plus a two-hour rehearsal each day of the band of which he is a member.

Membership in the four camp bands is by tryout only. The honors band, symphonic band, concert band and variety band are graded by ability and maturity of the students.

Some of the classes which the bandmen have to choose from are: Theory I, II, III; Music Appreciation; Rhythm; Drum Majoring; Twirling; Stage Band; Instrumental Conducting; Choir; and Marching.

Dean Killion, director of the camp, said that the Post band program will have, as it had last year, the largest group of students to attend the annual camp. "We here at Tech are glad that the people of Post have taken such an interest in our camp here at Tech is known as a Tokomak device.

American scientists heard a great deal about this device during a recent visit by Soviet physicist Lev Artsimovich. An article in "Physics Today," a publication of the American Institute of Physics, about Dr. Artsimovich's travels says that the Tokomak device is the first with circular magnetic fields and high temperatures to achieve "significant plasma confinement."

Does this mean that it is time for U. S. politicians to dust off their "gap" speeches? Not really, Dr. Artsimovich himself said if he were an "official advisor" to the Atomic Energy Commission he would recommend that the U. S. "wait one or two years to be absolutely sure of the (Soviet) interpretation of the main results in Tokomak."

With bombs or missiles a two-year wait would be unthinkable, but in plasma research things are different. In keeping with the spirit of the 1958 Geneva Conference, the Soviets and Americans have freely exchanged results of plasma research, so if one country takes a lead the other needs to shift to the successful program.

Since the fuel for the reaction can be obtained from sea water, success in any research program would mean that all nations could develop a very economical source of power. So, no matter who wins the race, no one loses.

There are many approaches to the problem, but no one knows which one may eventually work, and since they are all expensive, it is necessary to pick only a few for development. One that the Soviets, but not the Americans, have chosen

Before the next presidential election, perhaps one of the candidates will campaign on the "Tokomak gap" that has been allowed to develop. This gap, which we hope will not be exploited politically, refers to American and Soviet efforts to develop a domestic energy supply from a controlled nuclear reaction.

The problem is somewhat similar to getting a hydrogen bomb to release its energy slowly. In order to do this, it is necessary to hold together a thin gas of hydrogen fuel (called a plasma) at high enough temperatures and long enough for the reaction to take place. Because the hot hydrogen particles easily destroy any kind of container, it is necessary to confine them by means of magnetic fields.

What if we told you to cough up $18.75 or else?

A little over 4 dollars for every 3 you invest. Plus the privilege of buying the new 5% Freedom Shares along with your Bonds. But these are the selfish reasons for buying Bonds. Good, but selfish. There's one other very important reason why Americans already own over $52 billion in Bonds. It's called pride. It just so happens that most Americans still choose to think this is the best piece of real estate going. If you happen to be one of these Americans who thinks there's something to this country, why not buy into it. Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Or go to your bank. And cough up that $18.75. Please.

Lubbock carpenters work at Scout Camp

Eight members of Carpenter's Union 1884, Lubbock, spent a day at Camp Post recently building new tent platforms and remodeling the trading post for the summer camping season that started Sunday.

Two other veteran Lubbock Scouters, Cliff Hyatt and Tommy Tarlton, spent a recent weekend at the camp doing plumbing and electrical work in preparation for the camp opening.

In the United States alone, oxygen-producing greenery is being paved over at the rate of one million acres per year.
