

School merger results in $240,000 'windfall'

The Post Independent School district not only gained $10,500,000 in taxable property valuations and 13 new grade school pupils when voters of the Justiceburg and Post school districts voted to consolidate last Thursday, but also got the announcement of an unexpected "state windfall" Monday as a result of the vote.

Supt. Bill Shiver told The Dispatch that the consolidated school district is going to receive $240,000 in state "incentive aid" for voting the consolidation over the next 10 years instead of the $80,000 in such state incentive aid which had been announced three weeks ago.

The local school administrator said P. H. Hutchinson, the director of finance of the Texas Education Agency, phoned from Austin Monday confirming that the state incentive aid formula had been incorrectly applied and the consolidated school district now will receive $240,000 a year — beginning this year — instead of the $80,000 a year for 10 years as previously announced.

The voters didn't make the decision even close in the special election.

Justiceburg school district voters, with less than half of the eligible vote-casters going to the polls, voted 15 to 7 in favor of the consolidation.

It was strictly "no contest" here in the Post school district with the

MONDAY'S RAIN BIGGEST SINCE '63

Soakers make August wettest in 51 years

We think the drought got "Busted" here Monday — at least as far as Post was concerned. It ought to be wet "all the way down" now.

Our patio side yard got to full of water Monday morning, despite a four-inch drain pipe, that it backed clear up on the brick patio and soaked Sam's dog pad.

We remember the last big one — back in June, 1963, we stood out in the downpour throwing buckets of water over the fence into the alley to prevent the house from flooding. We installed that drain pipe the next day.

We also "broke" our electric lawn mower Saturday trying to cut all the tall grass in our yard which had grown in eight unbelievable days. We finished up Sunday with a push mower and a sickle. That's a great way to die — sweat it off.

Our younger daughter, Susan, came in last night and left this morning en route for a "new life" in Denver. She was accompanied by two friends and her dog, Kelly, who is a giant and playful St. Bernard. So our dog Sam was rather subdued for the length of the visit.

A note to all Dispatch subscribers of county but in the state of Texas. We've been informed by the state tax boys that the new five per cent sales tax does apply to your subscriptions, but not to those out of state, so 25 cents will have to be added. The tax does not apply to our $4 a year in county subscriptions because they average out less than nine cents per copy of The Dispatch. Anything over the cents per copy in Texas is taxable, according to the ruling.

There ought to be a special "yard of the year" award for Gene Solis, the courthouse "maintenance engineer" in Los Angeles, Calif. He also served as minister of the Church of Christ at Norwalk, a suburb of Los Angeles.

He is a graduate of Abilene Christian College with a B.S. in religion and has studied at Stockholm University in Stockholm, Sweden, Cal Poly and the California (See New Minister, page 8)

This isn't the wettest August for Post in the weather records — not yet anyway — but you'll have to turn back 51 years to find a wetter one.

The official measurement for Monday's "soaker" here totaled 3.52 inches — and that was the wettest single downpour since 5.56 inches of rainfall was registered here in a 22-hour period on June 7, 1963, over eight years ago.

The Monday rainstorm, plus .06 of an inch additional recorded on Tuesday brought the moisture for the month of August to date to 7.20 inches.

To beat this you have to go all the way back to August of 1920 when 12.21 inches of moisture were recorded.

The Monday and Tuesday moisture measurements also brought the total 1971 rainfall here to 9.82 inches. Only 2.62 inches were recorded for the first seven months of the year as compared to 7.20 for August to date.

RAINS FAIL TO HELP LAKE MUCH

The White River Lake has caught "about a foot and a half of water" this month, a lake employee told The Dispatch yesterday, but it still is about two and one-half feet below the full mark.

Only .36 of an inch fell at the lake Monday and virtually no runoff into the lake was reported in the White River watershed.

"We're in good shape, but not full, as we had hoped," was the way the filtration plant employee summed up the lake situation.

vote in favor of consolidation 60 to 4.

Shiver said the vote came too late to include the financial gains — state incentive aid and Justiceburg taxes — in the new Post school district budget.

He also reported the new school bus Justiceburg ordered and the buses being overhauled for the Post district are yet to be delivered and until they are the school district is going to have a "bus shortage" of sorts.

Post "weatherman" Glen Barley also reported that Saturday and Sunday have been the only two days in August to date on which the temperature hit or topped the 90 degree mark. It was 96 Sunday and 93 Saturday.

If you want some more statistics, you have to go back four years plus to find a wetter month than the current one. A total of 8.57 inches were recorded for June, 1967.

Of course, the 3.52 "shower" was not the wettest part of the county Monday either. North of Post, on top of the cap, some rain gauges recorded 4.56 inches or better.

County Agent Syd Conner said the Monday rainfall was general with the Verbena area getting its first good rain of the year—between 2½ and 3 inches of it, including some tank water.

Conner said the lightest amounts Monday were recorded in the Grassland area with only .89 of an inch.

Hail struck again during Monday's storm, soaking for the second time this month an area extending from Close City, through Pleasant Valley and into the Hackberry community — and also striking in a smaller area northeast of Post, leveling both cotton and feed crops (See Wet August, page 8)

Post schools getting 2 new tennis courts

The Post schools are going to have two new green "plexipaze" tennis courts and they should be ready for play within the next two weeks.

Post school trustees, at their August meeting last Thursday night, approved a $8,160 contract with the Williams and Peters Construction Co. for construction of the two courts and authorized the expenditure of an additional $600 for chain link fencing for backstops.

Bob Macy, who represented trustees in working out the tennis court project over the last several months, said the "plexipaze courts" are of asphalt base with a hard acrylic topping and will be high quality courts at a considerable savings over the best possible permanent surfacing.

He said work already has begun on the courts which will be located in the southeast corner of the practice field directly across from Post High School.

Approved the employment of three more new teachers to bring the school district faculty to within one vacancy of completion.

Adopted a new lunchroom policy to determine the students who will qualify for free lunches this year.

COPIES FROM $1.35 TO $1.45

School budget brings 10-cent tax increase

Justiceburg School District voters approved an official $946,857 budget for the 1971-72 school year at the public budget hearing Thursday night—that will result in a 10-cent boost in the school tax.

The tax will be hiked from $1.35 to $1.45.

The extra 10 cents will raise an annual $42,000 in local tax monies on a valuation of $41,971,894.

Consolidation of the Post and Justiceburg school districts—voted last Thursday by patrons of the two districts—does not figure in the new budget computations because tax rolls for the two districts already have been drawn and cannot be changed until next year.

If the consolidation had come in time to be included in the budget, the Post school district tax rate would have dropped a dime to $1.25 instead of being increased a dime to $1.45.

The Post school district will receive approximately $24,000 in taxes from the Justiceburg school district in taxes this year, but due to the lateness of the consolidation election, the budget couldn't be held until after the vote.

Supt. Bill Shiver said the cost of busing the Justiceburg pupils into Post isn't included in the new budget either and some of the extra tax income from the Justiceburg area will go for this purpose.

The 1970-71 school budget expenditures totaled approximately $940,000, but this included the $47,000 new window project from a surplus from the previous year.

Any surplus from the present budget, if any, will be used on the schools' building maintenance program. School trustees have been pushing to keep building maintenance up so it will not come as an emergency tax blow to taxpayers after oil taxes have declined.

Budgeted increases this year come principally in the athletic department and with the busing of a group of vocational students to the new Snyder junior college. West Texas College, for greatly expanded vocational offerings.

The athletic department increases, publicized several months ago (See 10-cent Hike, page 8)

Deadline is set in name contest

Sept. 8 has been set as the deadline in the contest to name the Garza County history book now being compiled. Mrs. Winnie Tuffing, history chairman for the county historical survey committee, said today.

Mrs. Tuffing said Wednesday that a large number of contest entries have already been received. Entries should be mailed to Mrs. Tuffing, Box 163, Justiceburg, Tex. 79330.

class schedules will be completed the first day in all four school buildings, and school buses will be on regular schedules, according to Supt. Bill Shiver.

The 99 teachers who will greet students on the first day of school are new to Post. They are, by school:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1971

We are a step ahead here

We here in Post are, happily, a step ahead of the American Medical Association on "how to bring a new doctor to a rural community."

The current AMA "Update" gives this tip for the rural community that doesn't have a physician and wants one: "Look for an MD who grew up in a small community, perhaps even in the same part of the country."

Post not only has two young doctors who grew up in a small community, but also has them right back in the same community in which they grew up. We are speaking, of course, of Dr. William C. Wilson and Dr. Charles G. Tubbs, both of whom within the last two years have completed their medical training and returned to their hometown to begin their practice.

The news releases we received from the American Medical Association goes on to point out that some 132 rural counties in 26 states are presently without a non-federal physician. "Paradoxically, most MDs who live in rural areas enjoy their work," says Dr. Bond L. Bible, secretary of AMA's Council on Rural Health. "Once he has established his practice there, a doctor isn't likely to leave."

AMA is helping small communities solve their medical care problems in several ways. The association's Physician Placement Service helps communities find a doctor, and vice versa.

Particularly in sparsely-populated areas, "we urge groups of communities to establish a centrally-located medical center with a group practice, together with mobile health units or satellite health stations," Dr. Bible says. "Thanks to today's automobiles and roadways, a doctor may be 15 or 20 miles away in distance, but only minutes away in time."

In one 4,000-square-mile area of Washington State, with a population of five persons per square mile, AMA is supporting a pilot project to extend the capability of medical services in such areas. "It's a team approach, basically, in which the area's eight doctors coordinate their own efforts, and those of physician's assistants (called Medex), nurse practitioners, social workers and community health people," Dr. Bible explains. — CD

Lady Bird's idea great one

"Bienvenidos" is a nice Spanish word for "welcome," and that's what Texans say to the travelers along our state's 67,000 miles of highways.

One of the ways we say "welcome" is through the work of highway maintenance construction supervisors who protect our colorful wildflowers and shrubbery, the trees and the grasses which help tourists see the magnificent natural beauty of Texas.

Our state's perennial First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who persistently insists that America Be Beautiful, is honoring those maintenance construction supervisors again this year with the second annual Lady Bird Johnson Award of $1,500 and a plaque for the man who's doing the best job.

The choice should indeed be hard. We'd vote for our own local maintenance construction supervisor, Joe Williams, who has done an excellent job out around the highway buildings as well as up and down the highways and who has been responsible for the beautification of most of the Official Texas Historical Marker sites.

But we commend whoever wins the award for 1971 for his real service to all of us. Texas highways are a beautiful sight for travel-tired eyes, and we salute you, Lady Bird, for calling our attention to the hard work and thoughtful effort put forth to keep ours the Beautiful Lone Star State.—CD

Don't let your wife see this

Many men seem to think that having a "working wife" means having one who brings a paycheck home every week. That just isn't so. Your wife is a worker at home and she is worth $235.60 a week, according to Jobber and Warehouse Executive.

The average mother of two spends eight and a half hours per week cooking. The average hourly rate for cooks is $2.40. That accounts for $20.40. She also washes dishes, plans meals, bakes and waits on tables an additional 15 hours per week. That comes to $27.80. Then, there are 20 hours of babysitting at 60 cents per hour.

Your wife also is a private nurse, governess, chambermaid, purchasing agent, veterinarian, laundress, home economist, dressmaker, handyman, hostess, general housekeeper and secretary for a total of 73 and a half hours per week. Total for these jobs is $159.24.

The little woman also works as a gardener, chauffeur and recreation director for another 14 hours per week. This means $28.25 in salary. It all adds up to $235.60 per week, or more than $12,000 per year!

Men... don't let your wife read this.

Operators of bars required to pay occupational tax

DALLAS — "Many Texas bar operators may be in violation of Federal law," Billy L. Gaunt, assistant regional commissioner for the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division warned today.

Gaunt pointed out that under the law anyone engaged in the business of selling beverage alcohol must pay a federal occupational tax. If a business sells mixed drinks, wine and beer the tax is $4 per year, and if sales are limited to beer, the tax is $2, he said.

"Many people who operated bars under the old Texas private club law were under the impression that they did not owe this tax," Gaunt said.

Gaunt also advised that hotels and motels that issue guest or temporary membership cards for their clubs are selling drinks the same as an open bar and are liable for the federal tax.

Bar operators who do not have a current federal occupational tax stamp should contact their nearest Internal Revenue Service office to make application or be subject to a penalty, according to the IRS official.

DRIVE BY THE RULES SAVE SCHOOL CHILDREN'S LIVES

Mr. & Mrs. Motorist: Post Schools will open Monday, Aug. 30

It isn't that children mean to be careless . . . it's just that in their zest and vitality they sometimes forget to stop, look and listen before crossing the street. It isn't that we mean to be careless, yet the very car we drive may be considered a lethal weapon and the consequences of our negligence could be fatal. It is our moral obligation to be extra alert these days when school children crowd the crosswalks!

Timely Tips from CHDA

FABRIC FLAMMABILITY

If the clothes you're wearing suddenly caught fire, would they flare before you had a chance to smother the flames? Or is the fabric fire-retardant or slow to burn? Fire hazard to clothes is something most consumers don't consider. Consumers tend to take safety of apparel for granted and often fail to use precautions around flames. For this reason, government and industry have stepped in to help.

In working with flame-resistant fibers, researchers in government and industry have isolated four factors that determine the flammability of wearing apparel and textiles: (1) A napped fabric will ignite much more readily than a smooth surface. (2) Weight and weave of the fabric. Tightly woven, heavy fabrics will burn more slowly than sheer, lightweight, loosely woven fabrics. (3) Some fibers are by nature resistant to fire, such as wool, glass fibers and modacryl. Cotton and rayon are highly flammable, but can be chemically treated to be more flame-retardant. (4) Garment design. Close fitting garments are less hazardous than loose fitting ones.

Because children and elderly accidents, the consumer should consider several points when selecting their clothes. Choose fabrics of flame-retardant finishes, that burn slowly; select garments that have been treated with persuch as children's treated flannel sleepwear; and teach your child, plus remind the elderly, about fire prevention and safety.

"OUT OF STOCK"

Ever been disappointed at finding an advertised special "out of stock" at food chains or grocery stores? Complaints about this consumer headache have motivated the Federal Trade Commission to investigate, resulting in issuance of a new rule to help control the problem.

The regulation, which became effective July 12, says food chains and grocery stores should have sufficient quantities of advertised sale items in stock. To do this, the store must estimate needs of the special item and stock it to meet demands.

If the demand occasionally exceeds a reasonable estimate, this is not a violation of the regulation. However, if a store consistently understocks and is forced to offer "rain checks" on unavailable sale items, the rule would be violated.

Another part of the rule states sale items must be sold at advertised sale prices. Stores will not be allowed to use disclaimers in ads saying "not all items available in all stores"; rather, if an item is a special in one store in a chain, it must be a special in all stores listed in the ad.

If the consumer consistently finds a store out of sale items or not selling at advertised sale price, s/he may alert the FTC in Washington, D.C.

Brand registration is required of cattlemen

Cattle branding, that method of marking cattle so that the owners can be determined, is once more back in the picture in Texas.

The legislature has passed a law requiring the registration of all brands within six months after effective date of the law. This registration will be good for 10 years.

Cattlemen have six months to comply after the law goes into effect Aug. 30, 1971.

Garza County Clerk Carl Cederholm said they will begin taking registrations at the county clerk's office here Sept. 1.

Cattle brands played a big part in the early development of the West — back when cattle of many owners ran together on the open range. It was at roundup time that the animals were separated according to brands.

Modifying brands with hot iron was not uncommon and, by the same token, not a healthy practice. It was considered fair practice to shoot a man caught changing a brand. Some more law-abiding ranchers might let the question come to trial but often as not the brand changer, termed a rustler, got his punishment in short order.

The idea of registering brands had more or less fallen out of practice and brands have been registered in a haphazard manner with the clerk in the county seat.

Under terms of the new law, which applies to every county in the state, cattle owners shall record the brands and marks regardless of whether or not they have been previously recorded.

"The owner shall have the right to have his mark and brand recorded in the name who according to the present records of the county first recorded the brand and mark in the county, or in the event it cannot be ascertained from the records who first recorded the brand and mark in the county, then the person who has been using such mark and brand the longest shall have the right to have the brand and mark recorded in his name," the law states.

Why brands today? There is no open range in Texas. Roundups of cattle are held only on individual ranches. This is true, but often ranchers do contract to feed other cattle and hence there are several brands on a ranch.

Cattle rustling is not dead. In the present records of the county first recorded the brand and mark in the county, or in the event it cannot be ascertained from the records who first recorded the brand and mark in the county, then the person who has been using such mark and brand the longest shall have the right to have the brand and mark recorded in his name," the law states.

Roaring Springs to host reunion

ROARING SPRINGS — The 48th annual Old Settlers Reunion for Motley and Dickens counties will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 26-28, at Roaring Springs.

The Thursday afternoon program will begin at 2:30 o'clock, with entertainment and an evening dance scheduled from 4 until 5:45. A parade, featuring bands and riding clubs, will be held at 6 p. m.

There will be a rodeo at 8:30 each night, with Red Whitley of Crosbyton furnishing the stock.

Each night, there will be an old folks dance, under the tabernacle, with music by Nathan Stephens, and a young folks open air dance, with music by the Westernaires of Post.

fact it is still big business. Big trucks are driven onto the range and the cattle butchered on the spot.

Records of brands are often a big help in apprehending these big-time rustlers.

Methods of branding has undergone a lot of change. In the early days, the branding irons were heated on an open fire. Cowboy's rode into the herd, cut out the animal to be branded and it was thrown and the hot iron placed against its hips. The acrid smoke curled upward as the animal let out a surprised bawl.

Now cattle are placed in a corral or are crowded through a chute and after being clamped into place, it is laid over and branding and other work is performed.

Today's branding iron more than likely will be heated on a butane fire. Some ranchers even have experimented with chemicals, but the heat treatment is the more common.

Library LISTENING POST

Last Saturday morning we had our roundup of all those who had successfully completed the 1972 Summer Reading Club. In order to qualify for a Reading certificate each youngster had to read at least 12 books during the Summer. We had 22 who met that requirement.

As has happened in previous years, many of the children didn't stop at 12 books, some went even up in to the 40's, with one girl reading 43. Those youngsters who were awarded certificates are:

Amy Ault, Cindy Jo Basquez, Missy Carter, Shari Carter, Terry Carter, Timmy Carter, Crista Diddy, Joel Dobson Jr., Tammie Marie Eckols, John Gilmore, Karron Lee Hays, Kathy Kirkpatrick, Judy Morris, Daniel Morrow, David Morrow, William Morrow, Cruz Raymundo, Julie Raymundo, Sherri Morris, Ramon Raymundo, Chester Robinson and Amy Thuet.

Some of the children who had earned their certificates were not able to come Saturday morning to receive it. Those who have not yet gotten their certificate may do so by stopping by the library to pick it up.

Mrs. Joel Dobson and Mrs. Pee Wee Pierce served refreshments to everyone to help complete the festivities.

Our congratulations to everyone who participated in the 1962 Summer Reading Club.

A gentle reminder to those of you who have overdue books. We have not been mailing notices to you this summer, and so there are a number of books that are "missing" from our shelves. We are accustomed to our library patrons responding promptly when we ask for books to be returned. We know you will again. We have a very fine record for lost books — one which I'm sure is much lower than most public libraries.

Keep it up, please — and bring back those overdue books!

Here's another quickie quiz for you. Last week it was ghosts, this week let's test your memory on one of fiction's favorite themes — murder.

2. Who committed the "Murders in the Rue Morgue"?
3. Who was Bill Sikes' victim in "Oliver Twist"?
4. Who was murdered in T. S. Eliot's play "Murder in the Cathedral"?
5. Who was the murderer whose magical portrait grew old while he remained youthful?

Aunt Sarah, I love you.

Remember my 10th birthday, when you gave me that funny piece of green paper and everybody made such a fuss over it. (Except me.) Frankly, it was a pretty disappointing present for a kid. I couldn't eat it, couldn't play with it, couldn't wear it—and Mom took it away from me practically the minute I got it.

What I didn't realize then was that you gave me a gift of security for the future. Thanks to you and those Bonds, I had extra funds for college. And they helped when I bought my first new car.

Next week, I'm giving my nephew, Harry, his first U.S. Savings Bond. I know the kid is gonna think I'm some kind of nut. But, someday . . .

At least, I never had to guess what I was going to get from good old reliable Aunt Sarah.

And what I got was good old reliable U.S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And, since reasonable, there's a good way to save.

Poor Public Relations for A Christian

By Bernard S. Ramsey

There seems to me to be a prevalent fault among Christians that stands out like a sore thumb. Doubtless a lot of them just don't realize the effect they have on people around them. I refer to long-faced, austere, down-in-the-mouth Christians. Surely there is nothing that hurts the Church and Christianity any more than the habitual sour-puss Christian. There ought to be a spontaneous, contagious, basic happiness and joy deep down within the heart of a Christian that will make him at least a little different from the habitually depressed and cynical crepe-hanger.

To be sure, everybody gets down in the "dumps" occasionally—including the best Christian Saint—but the genuine Christian doesn't park there very long. In the 16th Chapter of John, our Lord speaks to his followers shortly before his death and tells them that they will have trouble—all sorts of trouble. There is no promise whatever that they will be different from other people in this respect—but he goes on to say the Christian will have an entirely different attitude toward trouble than the non-Christian.

Jesus says that they should be of good cheer and be courageous because HE HAS OVERCOME THE WORLD.

That means that for Christians there should be no grumpy whining . . . no self-pity, and no running away because they are frustrated. This is a part of life every one must face. But for the practicing Christian, he knows that the ultimate triumph is certain because of his Lord's life and death and his life again.

Alan Moorehead at the end of his book on the final stages of the Second World War quoted from a letter to a Yugoslav patriot had written the night before his execution. It was addressed to his unborn son. At the conclusion he had written; "I am ashamed to leave you an uncomfortable world. But so it must be. In thought, as a benediction, I kiss your forehead. Goodnight to you—good morning, and a clear dawn." . . . Christians do have a word of hope and assurance of victory. So smile Christ and laugh a lot—it'll put wrinkles in your face but in right places. Regular church-going will help you do that.

Plains Cotton Growers adopt $199,450 budget

Special Farm User LP permits are issued Monday

The recent session of the Texas Legislature amended the Liquefied Gas Tax Law whereby a farm or ranch user can elect to secure a Special Farm User Permit and pay in advance on 1,200 gallons of LP gas per vehicle, or a vehicle fraction thereof, on a cash basis free of LP gas without monthly reports and tax payments, or keeping records, other than annual speedometer readings.

The new law becomes effective Sept. 1. Under the new law a supplier may sell or deliver LP gas free of tax to a user who owns and operates a motor vehicle with LP gas. The owner holds a valid permit to use the gas as a special farm user.

The Special Farm User Permits will be issued to farmers or ranchers by the Comptroller of Public Accounts, and will cost $60 a year for a month for each remaining month of the year. The Special Farm User Permit will authorize the holder to purchase LP gas at a special rate.

Some of the nation's leading authorities on beef cattle reproduction and management were on hand for Texas A&M University's 21st annual Beef Cattle Short Course, Aug. 16-17 at the Memorial Student Center on the A&M campus.

The theme for this year's program was "Improving Reproductive Efficiency in Beef Cattle." Reproduction was chosen as the theme because of its great importance to cattlemen. If Texas ranchers could achieve a one per cent increase in their calf crops, this would add one million dollars to the total income from beef cattle, according to J. R. Beverly, Extension animal reproduction specialist.

Dr. J. N. Wiltbank of Colorado State University, one of the country's outstanding authorities on beef reproduction, was among the guest speakers. He spoke on "Management Programs for Improving Reproductive Performance on Monday, Aug. 16 at 1:15 p.m. The following day he discussed the relationship of energy, cow size and sire to calving difficulty in the final presentation of the program at 2 p.m.

Dr. H. A. Glimp of the Clay Center, Nebr., research station has been actively working with studies on calving difficulties and calf performance of exotic cattle. He presented his data Tuesday, Aug. 17, at 1:15 in "Studies on Calving Difficulties and Calf Performance in Exotic and Straightbred Cattle."

Other guest speakers included Dr. Ray Woodward, Director of Beef Cattle Breeding for the American Breeders Service, and Dr. Lamar Reynolds, research physiologist at the Iberia Research Station in Louisiana. Woodward discussed "Breeds and Reproduction" and Reynolds presented his findings on important factors influencing reproductive performance in virgin and first calf heifers.

Extension specialists and experiment station workers also took part in the conference.

Three persons were injured early Wednesday afternoon of last week when a vehicle being towed by the car in which they were riding whipped and caused their automobile to smash into a tree just off U. S. Hwy. 84 about eight miles northeast of Post.

Taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock with undetermined injuries were Mr. and Mrs. Eloy Marquez and their young son, all of Lewisville, Tex.

They were riding in a 1971 Grem-lin and towing a 1964 Ford sedan, according to Highway Patrolman Gene Posey, who investigated.

Traffic mishaps on rural roads total 11 in July

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 11 accidents on rural highways in Garza County during the month of July, according to Sgt. H. E. Pirtle, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

The 11 accidents resulted in six persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for Garza County during the first seven months of 1971 shows a total of 45 accidents resulting in 28 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety region for July, 1971, shows a total of 564 accidents resulting in 38 persons killed and 324 injured. This was 40 more accidents, 28 more fatalities and 38 more injured than during June.

The 38 traffic deaths for July occurred in the following counties: Wise, 8; Donley, 5; Wheeler, 4; Lamb and Wichita, 3 each; Clay, Oldham and Lubbock, 2 each; Deaf Smith, Hall, Parmer, Potter, Archer, Dickens, King, Palo Pinto and Young, 1 each.

The 38 traffic fatalities in July have been the most that have been recorded during any month of 1971.

4,457,508 barrels of oil produced in Garza in '70

Garza County, which has had recorded production since 1926, had a total crude oil output of 114,750,358 barrels up to the beginning of 1971, according to the latest compilation of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Garza County production in 1970 was 4,457,508 barrels at the rate of 12,212 barrels daily.

Fifteen counties produced more than 25 million barrels in 1970 with Andrews topping the list with 71,684,656 barrels followed by Ector with 68,562,247 and Scurry with 58,085,376.

"Economic benefits from the 1970 production were felt throughout Texas," says Kenneth E. Montague, association president, "as 205 of the state's 254 counties had producing oil wells. It is unfortunate that more oil was produced than was found in Texas — pulling our reserves down for the third straight year."

The state's oil fields produced 1.2 billion barrels of crude in 1970 as production again hit an all-time high. The 1970 figure brought the total for the past 81 years of recorded production to 34.1 billion barrels.

Greg County remained the all-time champion with a cumulative production of 2.2 billion barrels. Ector County is second with 1.7 billion barrels.

The Yanceys are former residents of Post. Mr. Yancey is employed in Illinois with the research division of Standard American Pipeline Co.

Drowning toll down this year

AUSTIN — Fewer drownings have been reported this year than for the same period last year, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Water Safety Services.

As of June 1 there were 204 drownings compared with last year's total of 212 for the same period.

Drownings along the coast decreased from 40 last year to 22 this year while fatalities on lakes went up from 60 last year to 85 this year.

The department says drowning victims keep making the same mistakes year after year, and pay for these mistakes with their lives.

Drought loans go over million dollar mark

DALLAS — The Farmers Home Administration has disbursed $104 million in loan funds to 9,346 drought affected farmers and ranchers in Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, according to a report to the President released today in Dallas by the Federal Interagency Drought Committee.

The report has been sent to President Nixon by George A. Lincoln, chairman of the committee, established at the President's direction to accelerate and coordinate federal assistance to the four dry Southwestern states.

The FHA loans were made in three categories: Emergency, Operating and Farm Ownership.

 when the new coaching staff was hired, include the addition of an athletic director at approximately $11,000, increased coaching bonuses of approximately $7,500 and a $16,000 addition to the present field house.
 The field house addition was put off by trustees from spring until it could be budgeted. The addition of the athletic director is due to the fact that the former athletic director and head coach, Billy Hahn, also served in a dual capacity as junior high principal.
 Only cost to the school district of sending a bus load of high school students to the Snyder Junior college daily for three hours of various vocational classes will be the transportation cost involved.
 The tuition to the junior college will be reimbursed to the school district by the Texas Educational Agency.
 Of the $946,000 budget, $536,000 or 56 per cent will be paid by school district taxes. The rest comes from state and federal sources.
 Supt. Bill Shiver told school trusttees that the new teacher pay raise, voted two years ago by the state legislature, is included in the new budget — approximately $50,000 worth.

 Whether it will be paid or not, Shiver said, will depend upon state authorization in view of the national salary "freeze" ordered by President Nixon.
 The school administrator told trustees that he had conferred by telephone with the Texas Educational Agency in Austin over the salary boost that day before submitting the final form of the budget this night for adoption.
 He said this was the course the TEA advised the school district should take.
 Now if all these budget developments are confusing, here is the "clincher."
 While school trustees actually adopted a $946,857 budget for the new school year, Supt. Shiver diagrammed an actual "million dollar budget" on the blackboard, which this year will be tightly controlled through new computerized book-keeping.

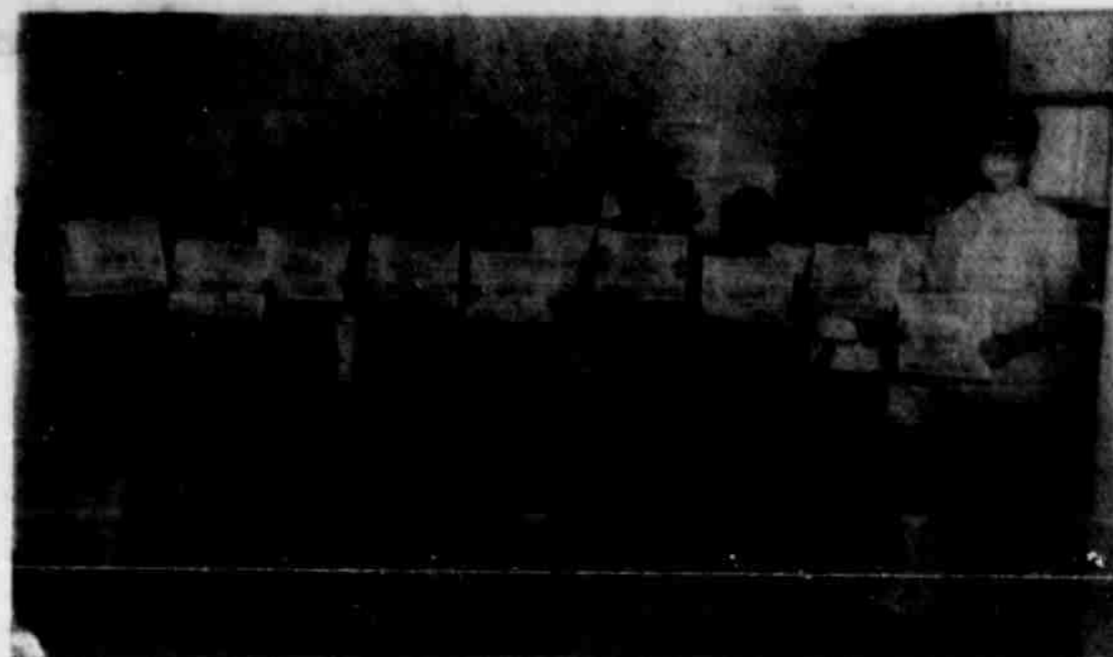

Tennis courts—

 ling of school funds.
 The three new teachers, all employed at the regular Post salary scale are:
 Miss Jeny Miller of Midland, spring Texas Tech graduate, elementary music.
 Larry Seales, another new Texas Tech grad, high school science.
 Teoff Murphy, University of Texas at El Paso graduate, elementary teaching and elementary school librarian.
 The board also approved the payment of $698 tuition to the Milam School plus $150 transportation costs for a local student, all of which will be reimbursed by the Texas Educational Agency, and the payment of another student's tuition to the Lubbock schools.
 Shiver told trustees Mrs. Juanita Parrish has requested that the board include Latin as a part of the Post High School curriculum. The administrator reported the faculty has a qualified Latin teacher and the proposal will be studied for possible action for the 1972-73 school year as all teachers already are assigned for the 1971-72 school year.

The difference between the official budget and the $1,000,322.03 one is that the "million dollar unofficial budget" also includes $41,000 revenue from the school lunchroom and $14,000 from athletic department ticket sales.
 Shiver points out that these amounts need "management control" too, so are included in his computerized budget.
 In the district new "computerized financial management" which will be launched Sept. 1 via a Lubbock computer with state assistance offsetting most of the cost, Shiver has broken down the "million dollar budget" into actual usage areas.
 For example, he has charged off all coaches' salaries for time spent coaching only to the athletic department. Therefore the athletic department budget shows $64,291 in anticipated expenditures and the same amount in anticipated revenues from all sources.
 The superintendent thinks this is the first time any school system in Texas has put an exact price tag on its athletic program. The successful ones are strictly "hush hush."
 The interest and sinking fund portion of the budget totals $80,897.50, the lunchroom program $45,964.53, the federal aid programs $34,037, and the operating fund $775,342.
 The operating budget is then broken down into six major divisions and 24 minor ones for control purposes.
 The school district is worth an estimated $2,387,774.71 in fixed assets—land, buildings, and equipment. What's more every fixed asset has been recorded and priced as to worth in an inventory system designed for control and planning purposes.

Wet August—

 in a strip about two miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide, extending from just north of the Clairemont highway northeast from Post.
 Garza ranchers were pleased, rural folks were getting "stuck in the mud" for the first time in ages, and cotton farmers were hopefully waiting for a lot of fall sunshine to get that cotton growing again.
 "We need the sunshine now," County Agent Conner, who got stuck in the mud himself yesterday morning, told The Dispatch. Conner now has a tank of his own overflowing that "experts" told him would never even fill.
 Post streets in many places were flowing "curb to curb" Monday with runoff water. South Lake is full again. A report from Two Draw Lakes said water ran over the new dam's spillway there for the first time.

temperatures would lengthen the boll period and bolls set after this date would be more subject to severe damage by first freeze.
 The micronaire of fiber from late set bolls will be low and recent cool weather has likely deduced the micronaire of fiber in the earlier set crop. No doubt, the overall micronaire of the crop can be expected to be lower than usual. Very little effect on staple length is expected. Wet, cloudy weather would tend to increase fiber length slightly while lower temperatures would likely reduce length. Thus, two opposite effects on fiber length have been in operation. It is unlikely that fiber strength has been affected.
 With a normal or higher temperature and normal freeze date, much of our cotton has an opportunity to make good yields of acceptable quality fiber.
 We encourage producers in Garza County to consider herbicides for layby weed control rather than mechanical cultivation. Frequently root pruning from tillage increases fruit shed and will disease. So, in view of our present maturity situation, this year's crop will demand our best management during the short time remaining.

Postites receive master's degree

COMMERCE — The largest number of graduating students in East Texas State University's history, including two from Post, received diplomas here last Friday evening.
 The 1,031 degree candidates and a distinguished alumnus, Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety Col. Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, listened as ETSU President D. Whitney Halladay delivered brief remarks.
 Col. Speir received the university's Distinguished Alumnus Citation.
 Following the president's remarks 504 bachelor's, 497 master's and 30 doctoral degrees were awarded.
 Those receiving master's degrees included Nena Sandra (Mrs. Jack) Alexander and Margaret Jackson (Mrs. Gordon) Lee.

Some maturity time has been lost since Aug. 1 that can never be completely recovered.
 The prolonged, cool, rainy spell will have some important effects on cotton the remainder of the season. First, vegetative or top growth will take place at the expense of fruit development. The thick canopy of leaves that prevents sunlight getting to the lower parts of the plant will cause many young bolls to shed and slow down the development of bolls which have set near the bottom of the plant.
 Excessive shedding of squares and young bolls can also be expected after a prolonged, cloudy period. Shedding of small bolls usually occurs three to 10 days after white bloom, but the completion of the shedding process is slowed by low temperature and may not be too evident until the temperature rises again. Bolls that are 10 days or older will seldom shed. Rapid vegetative growth usually follows excessive fruit shed.

THROAT TUBE REMOVED

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Camp flew back from Houston Tuesday where Mr. Camp Monday at M. D. Anderson Hospital had a tube removed from his throat which had been placed there during a recent throat operation. They had flown from Lubbock to Houston Sunday.

Producers can expect to see an increase in the wilt diseases since weather conditions have been ideal for infection to develop during the last two weeks. Symptoms will become more evident as warmer weather returns and plants are subject to greater moisture stress.
 A boll set from a white bloom in late August will require 60 to 70 days to open depending on temperature. Thus, bolls being set now will not reach maturity before November 1. Lower than normal tem-

Southland resident sees Caverns again

By TOMMIE WILKE
Greetings from the "swamps"! No fooling, it is just about to get that way around Southland. Got another big rain on Sunday night, all day today (Monday) and the weatherman says it will be this way through Wednesday! You look down the cotton rows and you can hardly tell which is cotton and which is weeds! Well, I'm sure it could be worse, so we won't complain any more.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Cash of Loco Hills, N.M., visited here with their aunt, Mrs. Mary McKee, one day last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stolle, and Beth and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stolle went to Carlsbad, N.M., recently where they met Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hagood, Brad, Mark, Joel and Mrs. Irmgard Bredemeyer from Sweetwater for a tour through the caverns. The tour was quite different for Mr. Stolle from what it was 44 years ago. At that time every tenth person carried a lantern and they crawled through openings along the trail. Now the entire trail has been black-topped and has hand rails for safety and electric lights. Only four or five per cent of the cave growth is still active. Mrs. Stolle says that if she would have had to walk back out of the cave, they would probably have found her by the side of the trail somewhere, but thank goodness, they were able to ride the elevator up. The elevator comes up over 300 feet in three minutes and carries 12 people at a time. The Hagoods and Mrs. Bredemeyer returned to Sweetwater after the tour and the Stolles went to Cloudcroft and spent the night. They were real impressed with the tall pines and 38 degree temperature. They came back home through Ruidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stolle returned home last week after spending a long weekend at Texas A&M University with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Stolle. They spent some time in Houston touring the Space Center and also spent a little time in Galveston.

Mrs. Mary Stolle spent last week visiting her children in Lubbock and Shallwater.
Mrs. Annie Breudigam, Mrs. C. W. Gindorf and Beth Stolle visited the Walter Stolle last Sunday afternoon.
Mrs. Paul Winterrowd and Jerry took Breonne to WTSU where she is enrolled for the fall semester.

Before returning to Slaton, they went to Amarillo where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Winterrowd.
Rev. C. T. Jordan had to spend a few days in the hospital after suffering an insulin attack. We were all so worried because we thought it might be his heart, and were so relieved when it wasn't. He will be coming home one day this week. May God continue to be with him.
Mrs. G. D. Ellis was seen driving a snappy little sport's car last week, but come to find out, it was not hers. She was only driving it while her car was in the shop.

Southland school started to day (Monday) and what a day it was. Pouring down rain, so classes were dismissed at 2 p.m. so the buses could make their routes before the roads got any worse.
Jackie Dunn arrived in Southland either Friday or Saturday of last week from Thailand. He will be here awhile before reporting to his base in Phoenix, Arizona. Welcome home, Jackie.
We would like to welcome our new school teacher, Mrs. Max Courtney. She comes to us from Spur. Also we want to say welcome back to all the teachers: Mrs. Valton Wheeler, Mr. Bill Mathis, Mrs.

Ruddy Hall, Mrs. Betty Wheeler, Mrs. Irene Kuykendall, Mrs. Wheeler, Coach Rod Callaway, Supt. F. W. Callaway, Hope Callaway and Mrs. Delbert Callaway will be cooking those delicious meals again in the school cafeteria. The very best to all of this school year.
Good luck to Mrs. Allen Mason and Mrs. Jim Mason, both from Southland, who will be teaching at the Slaton Public Schools this year. Also Mrs. Gary Lyles, formerly Southland and now of Lubbock, will also be teaching in Slaton. (See Southland news, Page 10)

Out-of-order phones tortens news report

MRS. GLENN DAVIS Saturday night with her aunt in Post, Mrs. Gladys Floyd. Glenn Huntley came from Corpus Christi last week and took his family to Tennessee. Mrs. Huntley and sons had been visiting here while their household goods were being moved. Glenn will be stationed there later.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cowdrey, Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Cowdrey and Mrs. Glenn Davis visited near Sweetwater last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bawcom. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lusk have recently been on a vacation in Colorado and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fluitt and family of Morton visited a short while Sunday afternoon with the Bobby Cowdrey family.

Clinton Edwards is home from Garza Memorial Hospital. We hear he is to have surgery next Monday. We hope for him the best.

I accompanied my son Alvin to Sweetwater last Friday afternoon where we attended the AJRA Rod-co finals. Alvin presented an award. We drove to Austin Saturday morning where we visited Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith Davis. Alvin attended a state Appaloosa horse directors' meeting Saturday night.

This is all the news and we are sorry. We would like to know why men can go to the moon, but can't make a telephone system that can keep working when there are a few flashes of lightning and some rain. Now you know why there isn't any more news.

Don't forget the Graham School Homecoming Sept. 4-5.

Local librarian is attending workshop

George L. Miller, volunteer librarian at the Post Public Library, is in Lubbock Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week attending a young adults' workshop.

The workshop, conducted by Miss Betty Bryan, young adult specialist for the Dallas Public Library, is being held at the Texas Tech University Library.

Sponsors of the workshop are the Texas Tech Library, the Lubbock City-County Library and the Texas State Library.

CORRECTION MADE

In the County Records column in last Thursday's Dispatch, there was an error in the amount of land listed as purchased by Morris Tyler and wife from Thelma Propst McGaugh and others. Corrected, the transaction reads: "Thelma Propst McGaugh and others to Morris Tyler and wife 15 acres out of the east half of Section 1329, H&OB."

MOVE TO COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Benton left Tuesday of last week for Poncho Springs, Colo., to make their home after a visit of several weeks here with friends and relatives.

Southland—

Mrs. Bill Davies will be teaching at Cooper again this year and Larry Long will teach in the Union school for the second year. My goodness, we have more teachers around here than I realized!

Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Ed Lieske and family in the loss of her sister-in-law who passed away and was buried this week. May God comfort them in their sorrow.

Mrs. Otto Klaus is still a patient at Mercy Hospital, Slaton.

Mrs. P. W. Crawford won't be driving the school bus for a while, due to recent surgery.

I received word yesterday (Sunday) that Mrs. Dollie Donahoo, a long time resident of Southland but now of San Diego, Calif., is critically ill. May God be with her in her hours of need.

Until next week, remember to SMILE because it takes a lot less muscle to smile than it does to frown, and just think how much better it makes other people feel!

WESTERN TEXAS COLLEGE — Residual Testing for the ACT has been scheduled for 8 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 11, 1971, in Room 111, Bldg. 7-A, on campus, according to Dr. Duane Hood, director of admissions-registrar.

All full-time students who have taken the ACT test, which is a pre-requisite for admission at Western Texas College, should take the test at the scheduled residual test period. The test results will be used for counseling purposes only.

The cost of the test will be $7.00, and it should be paid on the day of the test. Students who plan to take the test need to sign up at the Counselors table at registration, Aug. 26 or 27 at the Trinity Methodist Church.

Mr. Burleson's visit coincided with the change of congressional districts locally and a joint meeting of all the Snyder Civic Clubs. In the background near the entrance are Mel Gilbert, District Judge Wayland Holt and Harold Bennett.

Music Dept. Seeking Scholarship Applicants

WESTERN TEXAS COLLEGE — Music Scholarships for certain areas of talent are still available at Western Texas College, according to Dr. Marvin Genuchi, chairman of the music dept. at the new school.

Dr. Genuchi is putting together a stage band and states that "In the instrumental field we are in need of some good personnel for the stage band." "We need," he said, "an experienced lead alto sax man, a good drummer, and an experienced jazz guitarist in the choral field we need a soloist and a bass-baritone soloist."

Dr. Genuchi indicated another field still open is piano area. The department needs accompanists for choral group, for the voice for instrumental majors.

He encouraged all those interested to apply in writing the college offices at 2010 A or to come by and see him at the offices prior to final enrollment.

Welding Grads' Future Is Good

WESTERN TEXAS COLLEGE — The expanding vocational and technological job market in the United States is made up of many fields. The occupational and technical programs at Western Texas College are geared to produce graduates qualified to fill openings in many of those fields. According to Gene Robertson, director of occupational and technical education, the Welding program at WTC is one of those programs.

Robertson states that WTC has the latest equipment, and that the instructor is up on the latest method. Sam W. returned from a workshop in Waco where he learned welding techniques that will make welding informative, interesting and challenging.

By earning a two-year diploma in welding, the student becomes qualified for employment in industrial firms as a welder, a cutter, a layout technician, an engineering technician, an engineering or as a technical representative for a manufacturer.
