July 15 hearing set on proposed paving project

Total cost would be $254,712.70

The Post city council has set July 15 as the date of a public hearing on a street paving project that will cost the city and property owners a total of $254,712.70 if all 48 units it is proposed to pave are signed up.

The hearing is set for 6 p. m. Tuesday, July 15, upstairs at the City Hall.

A legal notice listing the units it is proposed to pave and the total paving cost for each unit appears on page 6 of today's Dispatch.

The city will pay 40 per cent of the paving costs with the property owner paying the remaining 60 per cent and the curb and gutter costs. The cost to the property owner will be $4.85 per front (linear) foot, which includes $2.60 for the paving and $2.05 for the curb and gutter. The representative of the paving contractor, Pioneer Pavers, Inc., of Lubbock, told The Dispatch this week that letters will go out prior to the hearing to all property owners whose property abuts on the units it is proposed to pave.

These letters, the contractor's representative said, will advise the property owner of the total cost to him, terms, etc.

The property owner may pay for his paving in cash or in four equal installments. The Dispatch was told. The first installment of 25 per cent of the total would be due as a down payment 29 days after the paving work is completed and accepted by the city and the engineers. The second 25 per cent installment would be due in 12 months, the third in 24 months and the fourth in 36 months, with the unpaid original balance carrying 7 per cent simple interest.

The original paving project, drawn up by Ralph Douglas, the city's consulting engineer, included all the unpaved streets between Avenue S and the Santa Fe Railway tracks — some 100 blocks. Some of the blocks have been deleted from the proposed program as it appears in the legal notice on page 6.

The work of signing up property owners for the paving will begin soon after the July 15 hearing, according to the paving contractor's representative. The $4.85 cost to the property owner applies on all streets except Avenue S from 15th Street to U. S. Hwy. 84, where the paving will not include curbs and gutters. The cost on that street will be for paving only. City Manager Bobby Pierce said whether or not the city issues warrants to pay its share of the paving costs depends on how many of the units are signed up. The paving will be a six-inch caliche base and triple asphalt surface.

45-minute display on tap

Fireworks to spark July 4 celebration

With a 45-minute fireworks display already assured as a prime attraction, plans continued to take shape this week for Post's first Fourth of July celebration in over 20 years.

Directors of the Post Chamber of Commerce and Post Jaycees are working toward a 12-hour program — from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. — for the celebration, with the fireworks display as the climax.

The fireworks will be set off at the lake shore in the City-County Park, according to Joe Bailey of the Jaycees, fireworks display chairman.

The Chamber directors and Jaycees were trying this week to get an organization to sponsor an old fiddlers' contest to add to the program. A hootenanny is also planned for the celebration if one can be arranged, and any group willing to sponsor one is asked to contact Ken Callaway by telephoning him at 495-9931 or 495-2954.

More promises of participation are also being sought by the sponsors from the various clubs and other organizations of the city. "We'd like to have as many booths and other July the Fourth attractions as we can get," Callaway said.

There will be pony rides and other diversions for children. Also planned is a tour of historical markers in the city, with transportation to be furnished those wishing to make the tour.

A free barbecue lunch will be served at noon at the City-County Park, Jim Jackson, Chamber president, said they're still accepting beef donations for the barbecue. "We still need about one beef," he said.

Wounded soldier reported still in serious condition

Spec. 5 Freddy T. Simmons, who was wounded in Vietnam on May 29, still is not making normal improvement, according to a telegram received Wednesday by his wife, Susan, from the Adjutant General's office.

The telegram informed Mrs. Simmons that her husband had developed wound infection and has additional diagnosis of meningitis. A craniotomy was performed June 16, the telegram stated.

"He is still on the very seriously ill list and since he is not making normal improvement his evacuation plans have been changed," the telegram read.

The evacuation plans had been to transfer the wounded soldier from a hospital in Yokohama, Japan, to one in the United States. The telegram stated that the soldier's evacuation to the United States is still contemplated but the date is indefinite.

Mrs. Simmons was told that she will be advised of additional information on her husband's condition as it is received.

More volunteers for Post library needed

Volunteers to help man the check-out desk of the Post Public Library two hours daily each week from 4 to 6 p. m., are asked to call the Rev. George Miller, librarian.

The library is open at these hours Mondays through Fridays and is now receiving an unusually heavy rush at these times for the summer period.

Technical Action Panel

Program designed to aid drop-outs

A Neighborhood Youth Corps Program has been started here by the county's Technical Action Panel under the direction of Ernie Zeiner of the Lubbock Neighborhood Youth Corps.

The purpose of the program is to help deserving young people who have dropped out of school get back into school and continue their education while working to help support themselves and their families.

At the present time, enrollment in the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program is limited to youths who were working in Job Corps centers and had to return home when the centers were closed.

"In the near future, however, we hope to be able to place other than Job Corps youths in the program," Zeiner told the panel.

The first youth enrolled in the local program started work Tuesday morning of this week, accord-

In Corporation Court

New judge to whittle at old cases on docket

Corporation Court Judge Pat N. Walker has his first scheduled formal court session coming up Friday afternoon in the city council room in an effort to clear the docket of some 60 old cases.

Judge Walker said that he is attempting to clear up the court docket and since he has taken office the few cases which have been scheduled have been disposed of in advance of his three regularly scheduled court sessions, Thursday afternoon, Thursday night, or Friday afternoon.

The judge said he is adopting a new approach to the familiar charge of "no driver's license," which is often brought against Latin Americans who do not possess Texas driver licenses.

He said he plans to give such persons charged 30 to 60 days to obtain a valid Texas permit and if they do not obtain such a license he plans to make jury cases of them.

Walker has arranged with N. R. (Jiggs) King, local school driver training instructor, to offer a week's night driver course to such persons for $25 for 10 hours of instruction in an effort to qualify them for driver licenses.

Judge Walker said the idea of fining such persons $10 each time they are arrested on the charge and have them constant repeaters does not solve anything. He said one man has paid 12 such fines for not having a driver's license in two years time.

Walker said his plan to release all city prisoners on recognizance bonds is working well and not one arrested person has failed to appear.

"In fact," he added, "they all just come in early."

He said he has received considerable favorable comment because persons arrested are not thrown into jail overnight.

The judge also said his court will accept no such charges as "drunk in car" or "displaying a pistol."

If they are driving while intoxicated in county court, not a lesser charge in corporation court for which there is no basis in law, according to Walker.

He said those carrying weapons should be so charged in county court as provided by law, not in corporation court.

Swimming pool sets celebration

The City-County Park swimming pool will join in Post's Fourth of July celebration, with activities scheduled from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. on the holiday, Donny Windham, pool manager, announced today.

Season swimming schedules were also announced by the pool manager.

The pool will be open from 1 p. m. until 6 p. m. weekdays and from 1:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. Sundays. The pool will also be open to swimmers at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesdays.

Ladies Day at the pool will be from 9:30 a. m. until 11:30 a. m. Tuesdays.

The pool will be opened for any special group or private parties, the manager said.

After Friday night downpour

White River Lake is full for first time

The White River Lake reached "full stage" Sunday morning for the first time in its six year history.

A heavy Friday night downpour in Crosby County which was accompanied by high winds and descending hail in the northern portion put enough water in the White River drainage area to send the water over its "normal level" for the first time. A filtration plant employee told The Dispatch that water began running into the big concrete "morning glory" in front of the earthen dam for the first time Sunday morning. The "morning glory" is the intake for the concrete spillway which carries excess water beneath the dam and discharges it in the White River bed below the dam. The lake depth measurement at 6 p. m. Monday showed the lake level was still .8 of a foot above the "morning glory" intake level, which meant the water depth at the dam was 57.8 feet.

which meant the water depth at the dam was 57.8 feet. Lake water will continue to run through the spillway until the lake depth drops to 57 feet.

A virtual cloudburst of four to five inches of rain, high winds, and heavy hail wiped out crops across northern Crosby County Friday night.

It was the worst hail in that county in 44 years.

The lake itself received 2.3 inches of moisture in the storm. The rainfall was accompanied by high winds which completely destroyed one lake-front trailer house, but only small hail.

A second trailer was reported damaged at the lake. It had just been moved in and not yet set on its foundation when the winds hit.

Lightning in the storm hit electrical controls on the lake's Post water line preventing any recording of tank readings on the Post line on the filtration plant control panel.

Workmen corrected the damage early this week. Post was in no danger of running out of water, but pumps at the filtration plant had to pump "blind."

Rummage sale boosts book fair take to $455

Another $80.80 was cleared in a Friends of a Public Library rummage sale held here Saturday at which items were sold which the public had donated for sale at the Book Fair's "general store."

This brought Book Fair receipts to approximately $455 with which to purchase new books for the Post Public Library.

The biggest accomplishment actually of Post's Operation Clean Sweep to date is a psychological one.

At last, a lot of folks are becoming aware of how dingy things have been in this community.

Eyesores which haven't been touched for years here and there over town have been quietly cleaned up.

They say social awareness of a problem is the first step in its solution. We honestly think that finally most Post folks are becoming aware of how untidy our town has become.

The clean sweep campaign isn't over. Far from it. It is just getting rolling because the important phases of the drive, getting the dozens of vacant lots cut and keeping them that way, tearing down "abandoned houses" and hauling off junk cars haven't really been touched to date.

That will take a while.

There are all kinds of promotions, but we think Bob Collier has come up with a really long shot — nobody has tried before. He calls it his Back Alley Sale and it will be held Friday and Saturday mornings from 10 to noon behind his store — instead of in it, as is customary, or in front of it, as with the popular Sidewalk Sale. We suspect there will be such an air of mystery as to what Bob is selling back there on the alley that a whole lot of folks will walk through or around the store to see for themselves. We know we will.

We don't usually publish news items about local sales, but we think a back alley sale is newsworthy in its own right simply because as far as we know it's never been tried before. You'll find Bob's Back Alley Sale ad on page 9 with some of the bargains he says he is "too ashamed to put up front."

1.58 inches of rain reported

Rains here Thursday and Friday nights brought 1.58 inches of official moisture to Post bringing the June moisture total to exactly two inches to date and the 1969 moisture total to 12.27 inches.

County Agent Syd Conner reported 29 of an inch fell Thursday night and 1.29 inches Friday night. He said cotton damage due to high winds and hard rain were very light and no replanting would be required in contrast to counties to the north where more severe downpours and extremely high winds and hail virtually wiped out thousands of acres of cotton.

The normal rainfall for June is 2.49 inches.

'Weed Parties' end, but clean-up drive continues

The phase of Operation Clean Sweep ended Monday evening with clean-up parties, most of them Post Jaycees, edging the parkings and clipping around poles and signs for the distance of US-84 through Post and several other phases of the clean-up campaign will be continued.

Heleen Cornish said that she did not accomplish all we had hoped to accomplish in our weekly weed parties but can't ask folks to keep working voluntarily forever." She said the women's organization which is spearheading the community clean-up campaign now will turn to getting out letters to all vacant lot owners who haven't cut their weeds this year asking them to please do so.

"We'll have to survey the city again to see where we stand on this before writing the letters," Mrs. Cornish said.

Also on the action agenda are new efforts to rid the city of junk cars and letters to be written to owners of "abandoned houses" asking permission to have them torn down.

Mayor Giles McCrary has indicated to the women that the city may undertake the tearing down of the abandoned houses as originally proposed at the start of Operation Clean Sweep.

All who have junk cars they would like removed from the city are asked to call Mrs. Cornish at The Dispatch during working hours.

When a sufficient number of junk cars are on the list, the Post Jaycees will be asked to undertake another "haul away."

For entire community

Young people plan recreational park

The United Methodist Youth Fellowship is under way this week with a project for the construction of a community recreational park on the vacant lots directly across the street from the First Methodist Church.

The park would be lighted and metered for utilities and would include a concrete slab for tennis, volleyball and basketball courts. Plans also call for playground equipment at the park for small children.

Rickey Welch, summer youth director at the Methodist Church, told members of the Post Rotary Club at their Tuesday luncheon that the community needs such a recreational area for its young people and that the vacant lots are well located for such a park.

The youth director said the concrete slab would cost approximately $2,200 in addition to other expenses in constructing the park and that he and members of the UMYF "are out to determine if there is enough support in the community to proceed with the project."

He said sand, gravel, and some cement have been donated for the

Bobby Thomas hurt in mower mishap

Power mower accident has hurt Bobby Thomas on crutches for two or three days.

The drive-in restaurant operator was mowing a vacant lot last Friday afternoon when a piece of wire coat hanger was chopped by the mower blade and a piece of the wire was pulled by the mower through the man's boot and imbedded in his leg. Thomas underwent a two-hour operation in the Lubbock Osteopathic Hospital Friday morning and was released from the hospital on Saturday.

1 program starts Monday

Monday, June 23, has been set as the date of the beginning of the Public Schools Title I Summer Program, which will continue through Aug. 14, excluding weeks of the Fourth of July.

Classes will be held in the primary school building, beginning at 8 a. m. and dismissing at 12 o'clock.

It is very important that your child attend every day if he is to benefit from the program," said Alexander, elementary school principal.

Time short for July 4th plans

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, who along with the Post Jaycees, are spearheading plans for Post's first full-fledged Independent Day celebration in over twenty years, have indicated that if the event is going to be a success it will take more community-wide participation than has been indicated up to now.

The Chamber directors say that a number of clubs and other organizations have promised their participation in the Fourth of July celebration, but that many others have not as yet given any sign that they plan to take part.

With the middle of June already past, time is short in which to finalize plans for the event.

The Chamber and its co-sponsoring organization, the Jaycees, need to know within the next few days just what can be expected from the various clubs and other organizations of the city.

The two civic organizations plan to make the Fourth of July celebration an annual event here, but whether or not they do depends to a large extent on the success of this first event.

Organizations which have not as yet indicated to the Chamber directors or to the Jaycees what their plans are to help make the celebration one long to be remembered are urged to lose no time in doing so. The Fourth of July will be upon us almost before we know it.—CD

Another step on paving program

What promises to be one of the biggest street paving programs in the city's history draws nearer this week with the publication in today's Dispatch of a description of the units it is proposed to pave and the cost of the paving of each unit.

The City Council has set a public hearing on the big paving project for July 15 and affected property owners with objections to the paving program or any questions to ask about it are invited to attend the hearing.

Before the hearing date, each property owner whose property abuts on a unit it is proposed to pave will have received a letter from the representative of the paving contractors advising him of his part of the paving costs, etc.

The public hearing is being held at a legal requirement and nothing that goes on there is binding on the paving project. In the final analysis, the agreement between the individual property owner and the contractor's representative will be arrived at following the meeting.

The legal notice on the paving project will appear in two more issues of The Dispatch, after this week. Interested property owners should familiarize themselves with it as it affects them. For a detailed description of their property as it abuts on the proposed paving unit, they are invited to ask for this information at the City Hall.

Neither the City nor the paving contractor expect every proposed unit to be signed up for paving, but they hope to sign up as many as possible for this summer's paving program.—CD

Answer coming to money question

Texasans are due to get the answer this Friday to the state's big money question.

Gov. Preston Smith is expected to announce on a statewide television hookup whether he will veto the Legislature's one-year budget bill and, if so, when the special session to mop up the unfinished finance job will be scheduled.

At noon the following day, the Governor will present further views on the subject when he addresses the 90th Annual Summer Convention of the Texas Press Association at Saturday's luncheon at the Inn of Six Flags in Arlington.

Hanging delicately in the financial balance is the fate of the $60,400,000 teacher pay raise, which Smith can tip in several directions with a flip of his veto pen.

State officials make no secret of the fact that they are having a hard time agreeing on just how much money is coming in during the next year—and whether there will be enough for both the teacher salary hike and the $2.8 billion budget.

The Governor could throw the already-complicated situation out of balance by vetoing any one—or more—of five revenue-raising bills before him. Or he could square it up again by line-item-vetoing of spending proposals.

He can, of course, veto the entire one-year bill and call legislators back to work promptly on a two-year budget. Many expect him to do just that.

Whatever the Governor's answer when he appears on the television hookup Friday, it is going to make headlines in Saturday's newspapers. You can get it first-hand from the "boob tube" Friday, or you can wait and read about it Saturday morning—whichever you prefer. But we're bound to hear about it one way or the other, because it's an issue that can hardly be ducked.—CD

This sounds reasonable to us

The following memorandum comes to us from Washington by way of the Butler County American of Hamilton, Ohio:

MEMORANDUM TO: THE STAFF
SUBJECT: DEATH OF GOVERNMENT WORKERS

It has been brought to our attention that many employees are dying and refusing to fall over after they are dead. This must be stopped!

On or after Dec. 15, any employee found sitting up after he has died will be dropped from the payroll at once (i. e., within 90 days). Where it can be proven that he is being supported by a bench or property marked U. S. Government, an additional 90 days will be granted. The following procedure will be strictly followed:

If, after several hours, it is noted that a worker has not moved or changed position, the supervisor will investigate; because of the highly sensitive nature of government employees and the close resemblance between death and their natural working attitude, the investigation will be made quietly so as not to disturb the employe if he is only asleep.

If some doubt exists as to the true condition of the employe, extending a government check is a fine test. If the employe does not reach for it, it may be assumed that he is dead. In some cases that instinct is so strongly developed that a spasmodic clutch or reflex action may be encountered. Don't let this fool you.

In all cases a sworn statement by the dead person must be filled out on a special form P.U. 66.78.334½.10. Fifteen copies will be made; three copies to be sent to Washington and three copies to be given to the deceased. Destroy the rest.

One Form 22W, Application for Permanent Leave, must also be filled out by the employe. Be sure to include correct forwarding address. If he cannot write, his signature must be witnessed by two other employes, preferably alive. Complete case by pushing body to one side to make room for the next incumbent.

LAST FRIDAY was the 13th day of the month. If you got through it safely, cheer up... there won't be another Friday the 13th until next year.

And whether the day is a Friday the 13th or not, if you get hit by a train, it's pretty sure to be a freight train. It's been almost a year now since I've seen a passenger train.

WITH THE Dispatch's 1969 Tourist Edition due to come out soon, now might be a good time to take a look at the Texas Tourist Council's Ten Commandments for the care and handling of visitors to Texas. Here they are:

THOU SHALT not frown or scowl at visitors, for a traveler is your bread and butter.

THOU SHALT ask pleasantly if you can be of service to visitors.

THOU SHALT make yourself a storehouse of information for travelers and cheerfully share your knowledge with them.

THOU SHALT answer questions seventy times seven with a smile.

THOU SHALT keep your sunny side up, even though weary and troubled.

THOU SHALT remember the State Motto of Texas is "Friendship"—and show it!

THOU SHALT be neat and clean, for cleanliness is a mark of politeness to others.

THOU SHALT cause children to have a happy vacation, for their memories will profit you in the future.

THOU SHALT encourage travelers to stay and see Texas, for thereby will you and the entire state benefit.

THOU SHALT send visitors on their way with smiles on your face and theirs.

The man up the street observes that June is the month when girls like to look at the bride side of life.

IF YOU MISSED the Ten Commandments higher up in this column, here are ten more — these for motorists, published in the parish magazine of St. Mary's Church, Worcester Park, England:

THOU SHALT hold only the steering wheel.

THOU SHALT not make unto thee a God of thy horsepower.

THOU SHALT not take the center lane in vain.

REMEMBER the driver behind to help him pass thee.

HONOR THY father and thy mother and all other passengers.

THOU SHALT not kill.

THOU SHALT not commit inebriated driving.

THOU SHALT not steal — not thy neighbor's eyes with thy headlights, nor his ear with thy horn, nor his enjoyment with thy litter.

THOU SHALT not bear false witness with thy signals.

THOU SHALT not covet thy neighbors' right of way.

IT APPEARS THAT the more things change the more they are the same. Writing about today's so-called "generation gap," the University of Tulsa Alumni Magazine found this quote from Aristotle, commenting on a student riot at the Acropolis, more than 2,000 years ago:

"Young people have exalted notions because they have not yet been humbled by life or learned its necessary limitations. All their mistakes are in the direction of doing things excessively. They would always rather do noble deeds than useful ones; their lives are regulated more by moral feelings than by reasoning. They overdo everything — they love too much, they hate too much, and the same with everything else."

A Methodist Church in Covington, Ky., recently carried this enticing notice on the bulletin board: "You Can Go Higher Than The Moon — Lessons Offered Here Every Sunday."

'Rascal' to show at Tower Theatre

The Walt Disney production, "Rascal," starring Steve Forrest and Bill Mumy, is to show at the Tower Theatre here Friday, Saturday and Sunday, in Technicolor.

Based on a novel by Sterling North, "Rascal" is a comedy that plucks the heartstrings as well as touches the funny bone.

Bill Mumy plays young Sterling North who adopts a baby raccoon for the summer and learns not only of the difficulties in raising a creature of the wilds as a pet, but also of the pains that come when it is time to return the creature to the environment from whence it came.

Development Program for area under discussion

County Agent Syd Conner and a number of Garza County agricultural leaders and agribusinessmen will be in Lubbock today (Thursday) to attend a meeting for the discussion and formulation of plans to boost the economic development of the area.

The general purpose of the meeting is to revitalize unified efforts of the South Plains Development (SPD) Program which was launched about two years ago and which includes Garza County. Officers and an executive committee will be elected.

The two and one-half hour session will begin at 1:30 p. m. at the Blains Co-op Oil Mill, 2901 Ave. A, Lubbock.

"Areas of emphasis for economic growth and development of the area will be discussed," said Billy C. Gunter, district agricultural agent for District 2 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The South Plains has a tremendous potential for economic development, both for agriculture and related interests," points out Gunter. "A lot of hard work and some creative and imaginative thinking are needed to exploit the area's resources to the fullest."

"We hope to lay the groundwork for an 'action packed' movement that will 'catch hold' among the people. We are striving for maximum utilization of natural, human and capital resources in the most efficient manner possible to meet present and future needs for the continued growth and development of the area. The people of the area are the 'heart' of the South Plains and we hope to instill in them a common goal and a desire for action."

PROFILES OF GREAT AMERICANS

Frederick Douglass, an adviser to Presidents, a brilliant orator and a great newspaper editor, was born in slavery about 1817. At the age of seven, he herded cattle, cared for poultry and worked on the grounds around his master's mansion in Maryland.

For two years he had a measure of freedom, working on the Baltimore docks and educating himself at night. He planned his escape in 1838. Disguised as a free sailor, he took a train to New York, then moved to Massachusetts.

After working all day in menial jobs, Douglass spent his evenings listening to speakers protest the existence of slavery. In 1841 at Nantucket, Mass., he made his first important address.

He traveled to England, where admirers purchased his freedom. Upon his return to America, Douglass founded a newspaper in Rochester, N. Y., but stopped publishing in 1863 to devote his time to recruiting Negroes for the Union Army.

A former adviser to Presidents Lincoln and Andrew Johnson, Douglass was appointed U.S. Marshal for the District of Columbia in 1879 by President Hayes. He died in 1895, an uncompromising fighter for freedom and dignity.

POSTMAN VS. HOME OWNER
More often than not, the relationship between postman and home owner is a warm and friendly one. But even into this sunny climate a little rain must fall. Such as, when the postman gets hurt and sues the home owner for damages.

As a general rule, the home owner is not liable if he is not guilty of any negligence. For example:

A home owner was sued by a postman who suffered a bad fall when a rotting porch step suddenly caved in. But a court found no liability. The judge pointed out that, since the rot was visible only from underneath, there was no reasonable way for the home owner to have discovered the danger.

By contrast, take the following case:

A postman slipped and fell in the outer hallway of a home, because an excessive amount of wax had been applied to the floor. This time, there being negligence on the part of the home owner, the court ordered him to pay the postman's claim.

In terms of sheer frequency, the Number One hazard that the postman faces is a bite by the home owner's dog. Many thousands of on-the-job bites are suffered each year by mail carriers.

In such circumstances the home owner is usually liable if the state has a "dog bite law." Under this law, a dog's master may be held responsible for a bite not only when he was negligent but even when he was not negligent in any way.

If the state has no dog bite law, the home owner might still be

Call is issued for DPS recruits

LUBBOCK — A call was issued today by the Texas Department of Public Safety for applicants to fill a recruit training school to begin in July.

Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 35, a height of at least 68 inches, a weight of not less than two pounds or more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height, and be in sound physical condition. They must have completed high school or submit a certificate approved by the Texas Education Agency showing an equivalent educational background. They must be a citizen of the United States, and be of good moral character.

Those selected will take their basic training at the Texas DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. This training period is approximately four months in length. Upon graduation, the patrolmen will be assigned to one of the four uniformed field services—Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection and Drivers License.

Because of the short time remaining to test applicants, immediate inquiry is urged for young men to contact the nearest DPS office or patrolman.

Jehovah's Witnesses invited to assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses from this area have been invited to attend an eight-day International Assembly to be held in Kansas City, Mo., July 18 - 25.

According to local representatives, some 36,000 delegates will attend the gathering at Kansas City's Municipal Stadium. Although the majority of delegates will come from the Midwest, some from Germany, Venezuela, India, Peru, Mexico, Korea and Canada have sent requests for accommodations to convention headquarters.

The Kansas City assembly is one of seven such meetings in the United States this summer, with 25 scheduled in various countries around the world. They all have the theme: "Peace on Earth." The convention's major address, "The Approaching Peace of a Thousand Years," reflects their belief that true peace will come to this earth in the near future. It will be delivered by N. H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Society, the organization which directs the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses.

MAKE AMERICA A BETTER PLACE.

LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

Of all the ways America can grow, one way is by learning from others.

There are things you can learn in the Peace Corps you can't learn anywhere else.

You could start an irrigation program. And find that crabgrass and front lawns look a little ridiculous. When there isn't enough wheat to go around in Nepal.

You could be the outsider who helps bring a Jamaican fishing village to life, for the first time in three hundred years. And you could wonder if your country has outsiders enough. In Watts, in Detroit. In Appalachia. On its Indian reservations.

Last year, for the first time, Peace Corps alumni outnumbered Volunteers who are now out at work overseas.

By 1980, 200,000 Peace Corps alumni will be living their lives in every part of America.

There are those who think you can't change the world in the Peace Corps.

On the other hand, maybe it's not just what you do in the Peace Corps that counts.

But what you do when you get back.

The Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

Methodist youth to meet Sunday

The Senior High United Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet at 7 p. m. Sunday, June 22, in the Shytles home at 816 West 7th St., with the program to be based on a discussion of "Death."

Rickey Welch, summer youth director at the First Methodist Church, said when asked recently to write a paper with a fictional theme, the majority of the students in a Post High School English class wrote on death — hence the discussion at Sunday's meeting.

All youths of Post between the ages of 15 and 21 are invited to attend the meeting. "Cold drinks will be provided, but bring your own sack lunch," the youth director said.

The Junior High UMYF will meet at 6 p. m. Sunday at the church, with their program based on the influences of the mass media — newspapers, magazines, radios and television. All youths who will be in the 7th and 8th grades are invited.

Warns of danger to children in stadium

Bleacher repairs are under way at the Antelope football stadium and School Supt. Bill Shiver warns that there is a danger to children who might wander into the stadium to play.

The superintendent said 130 planks are being removed from stadium seats for replacement. There is a danger of a child falling through where one of the planks has been removed.

The stadium gates are kept locked, the superintendent said, but children still wander in and out on occasion.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

I have a summer project in mind but I need the help of "you-the-reader."

Our "birthday" book is, I suspect, horribly in "need of being brought up to date."

On checking with Editor Didway I find that the "birthday column" has been running since 1946 and was originated at The Post Dispatch by Gaynell Babb, now Mrs. Gaynell Watkins who lives in Whittier, Calif.

We inherited the book along with the purchase of The Post Dispatch and the only thing we have done with it in the past 11 years is add to it.

We know that we have lost a few by death during this time and we try to catch all of those names and delete them. This is no big problem when the death occurs locally. However, I have the feeling that "out there" we have lost a few by death and we're still running their birthdays year in and year out. This is grossly unfair to the deceased. Bad enough to have to add those years in the land of the living but to have to continue this after one has departed is enough to "make one turn over in one's grave."

We also know that a few of those listed must be married by now and we are still running their maiden names. We also know that a few have been married more than once and we're still listing them with the wrong mates.

Not knowing everyone personally who is listed in our book it's rather hard for a newcomer (that's me) to know what to do about it. Sure as I cut someone out I've never heard of, I get calls or letters so that's why I need the help of "you-the-reader."

If any of you see any errors as the list is published weekly, give us a ring and set us straight. If we're listing someone as living in Earth who is now living in Rising Star, let us know. If you live out of town, drop us a card! If we're listing someone as Mary Doe and she is now Mary Buck let us know that too. If we're running someone's name who is no longer on this earth (and I don't mean Earth, Tex.) let us know.

There's one tricky thing about this, though. Just don't call or write and say change so-and-so's name or delete it without giving us the birthday date. That's how we have the listings and we don't have time to prow through the book and pick out names.

Our book is so disreputable looking, if I get any kind of response I'll purchase a new book and get it all in order and be neat and tidy again. I'm getting so I hate to drag the old thing out!

This is one of those things that has to be up to "you-the-reader" so your help will be most appreciated. Without you I'm lost — in more ways than one.

A "happy birthday" to you all—even if your name is changed, your locale has changed, and for all these many years we've been running the date wrong.

A Good Father's Colossal Blunder

By Bernard S. Ramsey

Eli was one of God's most faithful and loyal servants, a man who over 40 years was a Judge in Israel. He was amiable and inoffensive and a man with many very genuine and desirable virtues. He was a man of fine spiritual insight and beautifully submissive to the will of God.

But in spite of all his highly commendable attributes he wrecked his home, brought deep shame to his church and great hurt to his nation. His two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, lie dead upon the battlefield—how did they come to be there? They were there because they were dead in heart and dead in soul, before they became dead in body. The secret of the deadness of their souls was their sin. They themselves were guilty . . . but their sin also clung to the garments of their father.

The scriptures clearly imply that he might have prevented their sin, if he had only had the sturdy, loving courage to do so. This is the charge made against him: ". . . his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not." The scriptures offer no suggestion as to the method that Eli should have employed in order to have controlled his boys.

It is not suggested that he should have resorted to the rod or should have lectured them soundly and sent them to bed. What is implied is that it was within his power to have controlled them by some method. It might not have been within his power to have controlled them when they were twenty-one years of age or even eighteen years . . . and this is always the case. And since he might have controlled them, it was his solemn duty to do so. It was his duty to God and his Church. It was his duty to the state. It was his duty to the boys themselves.

In this failure . . . this colossal blunder he chose the path of least resistance. Like many fathers today, he was just too permissive with his boys for all concerned. But, and still like many fathers today, he chose the path of least resistance for himself. And it is true to this day that a child is better unborn than uncontrolled. Church School and the Church can be of immeasurable help in molding the character of children, and of youth.

How about it, Dad? Are you concerned about the future happiness and well-being of your children to at least give the Church a chance to do all it can for them?

Car thieves don't take vacations

DALLAS — Just because you summer, don't think car thieves are doing the same, warns the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

C. C. Benson, manager of the may be taking a vacation this southwestern division of the NATB, says that car owners who leave their windows down to avoid returning to a hot, stuffy car are looking for trouble.

"It's going to be a lot more comfortable if some alert car thief takes advantage of that generosity and drives away with the wide open car, forcing the owner to walk home," said Mr. Benson.

The NATB official warned car owners to take these precautions the year round. Always take the keys from the ignition and lock the car when leaving it unattended; avoid parking the car for long periods of time on dark, residential streets; always get a claim check when parking in public lots, and never leave a spare key hidden inside the car.

Texas drownings still on rise

AUSTIN — Texas' death toll by drowning has reached 222, and there is no indication that galloping increases are coming to a halt, according to R. G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Many of the drownings are the result of boating accidents, but to date the most common circumstances which lead to drownings have been wading or swimming excursions.

"Our case history files produced an amazing number of instances in which the drowning victim was wading near the shore, stepped in a deep hole, and did not come up," says Mauermann.

"What is more puzzling is that many of the victims were rated as good swimmers."

There is a fairly consistent pattern of drownings in different age groups. For example, if you are a male between the ages of 10 and 19, your chances of drowning are better than, say the 30 to 39 age group. The younger group, male and female, had 64 drownings, and 39 of these 64 were males, and the older group had 25 drownings, three of which were women.

The age groups zero to nine and 20 to 29 had the same number of drownings — 36, and the 40 and over crowd had 43 drownings.

Welch said fund raising projects, including an ice cream supper, a car wash, a bake sale and a rummage sale, are planned, and that voluntary contributions will be accepted from business firms and individuals.

A number of Rotarians pledged individual donations — two for $50 — for the project following Tuesday's club meeting. The Methodist youth director said the complete cost of the proposed park is not yet determined.

He told The Dispatch prior to appearing before the Rotarians that the City of Post, has agreed to blade off the site, and that other construction help is being sought.

He emphasized that the park would be for the use of all young people—a community-wide project. "The young people of our church want to do something to help the community and we believe this is it," he said.

Joey Lee, a member of the U-JUMYF, accompanied the youth director to the Rotary luncheon.

The Crane Lions Club's sweetheart won the state queen contest and along with it a $600 scholarship and a trip to the Lions International convention to be held in Japan.

Advertising Advice BY A BANKER

(From American Bankers' Magazine)

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and address being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, even if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and to the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town... The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising man."

Yanks cinch Little League pennant; second in row

Cards' challenge of loop leaders repulsed, 13 to 1

Holding off the challenging Cardinals, 13 to 1, last Thursday night and then winning over the Dodgers Saturday night and the Tigers Monday night, the Yankees have clinched the Little League baseball championship for the second year in a row.

With the regular season ending last Monday night, the Yankees have only one regular game left, against the Red Sox tonight (Thursday).

The second place Cardinals lost their chance to catch the leaders when they dropped the game last Thursday night. The Yankees were 12 through Monday night's games and the Cards were 9-4.

The Yanks' 13-1 win over the Cardinals in their crucial game Thursday came behind the one-hit pitching of Garland Dudley. The Cards' only hit was a sixth inning single by Tony Conner.

THE LOSERS' only run came in the third frame when Jerry Johnson walked, then scored on a two-base error after Dudley had a famed Greg Gregg and Mark Terry.

The Yankees collected eight hits off three Cardinal pitchers, with Ray Martinez getting two of them, including a home run.

Tony Conner was the starter and loser for the Cardinals, with relief coming from Mike Waldrip and Wynon Sterling.

In Thursday's other game, the Red Sox lambasted the Tigers, 16 to 2, with Tim Owen's lead-off homer in the fifth inning one of the big blows. Owen also got a double and a triple. Rodney King went three-for-five at the plate for the winners, with a triple, a double and a single, and Charles Clanton and Joe Clary each got two hits.

The Tigers collected only four hits off Andy Torres, who went all the way on the hill for the Red Sox. Grayling Johnson was the starter and loser for the Tigers, with Mike Hair and Keith Little coming on in relief.

THE YANKEES edged the Dodgers, 11 to 10, Saturday night with each team getting 11 hits. The Dodgers went ahead with two runs in the bottom of the first inning, with the Yankees getting one in the second and four in the top of the third to take a 5-2 lead. The Dodgers regained the lead, 7-5, with five in the bottom of the third, but the Yanks pulled back out in front, 8-7, with three in the fourth. The Dodgers came right back with two to go ahead, 9-8, in the seventh, but the Yanks chased three runs across in the top of the eighth to go ahead to stay, with the Dodgers getting a singleton in the bottom of the fifth.

Ray Martinez went all the way for the win, while Jay Strawn, who had relieved Jackie Jennings, was the losing pitcher.

Garland Dudley had a perfect night at the plate for the Yankees with four - for - four, including a home run. Buddy Britton got three hits in four trips to the plate for the winners. Kevin Kenny of the Dodgers also had a perfect night at bat with four - for - four, and the Moore got two hits in four at-bats.

THE RED SOX drubbed the Wildcats, 9 to 1, Saturday night behind the three-hit pitching of Rodney King. Andy Williams, who went five innings for the 'Cats was the losing pitcher, with Randy Josey hurling the final inning.

Of the winners' eight hits, Benny Greene and Eddie Gannon got two apiece. Getting the three Wildcat hits were Ricky Sanchez, Randy Josey and Jerry Gonzales.

The Yankees had little trouble with the Tigers Saturday night, winning, 23 to 7, behind the two-hit pitching of Buddy Britton. The only Tiger hits were singles by David Bell and William Halford. Garland Dudley homered for the Yankees in the first inning. Ray Martinez, Yankee third baseman, had a perfect night at the plate with four-for-four.

Grayling Johnson, who went three innings, was the losing pitcher. Danny Saldivar pitched the rest of the way for the Tigers.

The Cardinals, aided by a five-run fifth inning, beat the Wildcats, 8 to 5, Saturday night, with Mark Terry the winning pitcher and Terry Botts the loser.

The Wildcats outhit the Cards, six to three, with Randy Josey going four - for - four, including a double and a triple.

Babe Ruth League

Indians still leading as season's end nears

With the Babe Ruth League season scheduled to end June 30, the Indians were way out in the lead through Tuesday's game with a 10-2 mark. Their nearest competitor, the Braves, are far back at 5-5.

Today (Thursday), the Cubs played the White Sox, and the Indians and Braves are scheduled for Friday night.

The Indians nosed the White Sox up a 6-0 lead through the first Sox Tuesday, 9 to 8, by building three innings. The Sox began to peck away at the lead with four tallies in the bottom of the fourth, but the Indians came back with a pair in the top of the fifth to make it 8-4.

The White Sox got a run in the bottom of the sixth to make the score 8-5, then added one in the seventh to pull up to 8-6, but the Indians scored in the top of the seventh to stretch their lead to 9-6, then held off a White Sox rally that produced two runs in the bottom of the final frame.

INDIAN PITCHERS Jerry Saldivar and Reginald Moore, who took over in the bottom of the fifth, allowed the White Sox but three hits, doubles by Richard Dudley and Ricky Hair and a single by Joe Perez. Errors and bases on balls helped the losers compile their eight runs.

Mark Clayton went all the way in the mound for the White Sox and was raked for 11 hits, with Indian catcher James McAfee getting four of them in as many times at bat. John Redman and Randy Kennedy each got two hits for the winners.

In a close one Monday, the White Sox pushed across two runs in the bottom of the sixth to nip the Braves, 7 to 6. A single by Ricky Hair, a walk to Mark Clayton and a single by Larry Hair produced the winning runs.

Ronnie Ammons, who went the distance for the White Sox, limited the Braves to one hit, a first-inning single by Kyle Josey. The winners got nine hits off Robert Mindieta, with Ricky Hair getting two of them.

THE CUBS upset the Indians, 5 to 4, Saturday, although they got only one hit, a sixth-inning single by Jay Pollard, off Jerry Saldivar. Bases on balls and errors proved costly to the Indians. Three Cub pitchers, Kelly Duren, who went five innings, Danny Lee and David Woods, limited the Indians to five hits, two of them by John Redman.

Friday, the Indians won over the White Sox, 5 to 3, in a game called in the bottom of the fifth inning because of rain, but going in the records as a completed game.

The Indians were batting in the bottom of the fifth when the game was called and had scored three runs, but the final score reverted to the 5-3 count at the end of the fourth inning.

Kim Owen hit a three-run homer for the Indians in the first inning.

Donations should be made to Ed Sawyers, league treasurer.

The league president also announced that the annual light bulb sale for the benefit of the park improvement fund will begin Saturday, June 21. "Be on the lookout for Little Leaguers with light bulbs and buy a few," Conoly said.

Southland man is victim of accident

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE

Hello, Southland readers. Hope things are going well with you, wherever you are.

Well, tragedy has struck our little community again, when on Friday, June 13, another dear friend and neighbor was killed while at work. Paul Winterrowd, a long-time resident of Southland, died a short time after being crushed down at the gravel pit where he had worked for 12 years. Paul was only 43 and has left behind his wife, Cookie; two daughters, Dahlona and Breonna, and a son, Jerry; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Winterrowd, and three sisters and one brother. Paul was a quiet man—never had to much to say—but was a friend to everyone. His funeral was held at Rix Chapel in Lubbock on Monday and he was buried in Peaceful Gardens, out close to Cooper. We will all miss Paul, and are so thankful that we had the privilege of knowing him. Our deepest sympathy is extended to his family and many friends. May God comfort them in their great sorrow.

Joe E. Basinger of Fort Worth spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Basinger.

MR. AND MRS. Donald D. Pennell have returned from Lenoir, N. C., and other points where they attended a Pennell-White reunion. The history of both families dates back to the 1700's in the United States. The Pennells are line descendants of the Quaker family, Robert and Hannah Pennell, who came to America from England and settled in the Colonies, with the help of William Penn. The name "Pinel" is of French origin and recorded in the "Domesday Book" and "Roll of Battle Abbey." Other deviations of the name are Pennell, Pannell and Parnell. Donald Pennell has the family crest and copy of "Rolls of Abey" which is a list of letters of William the Conqueror, in his conquest of England in 1066 A. D.

The Pennells also visited Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ferguson in Little Rock, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. David Canays in Rockwall, and Mrs. Royal Pinnell in Mesquite.

Coach and Mrs. Bob Dyess and children and Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Bowden of Abilene spent several days in Colorado. I had said recently that Coach Dyess would be attending school in Colorado this summer, but he has changed his plans and will work at the ACS office in Post.

Until next week, so long—a nd how about sending me some news?

Sheep, lamb numbers continue to decline

COLLEGE STATION — Sheep and lambs on the nation's farms and ranches have declined by more than a third since 1960 and three-fifths since 1942. On Jan. 1, 1969, John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, said the number was down to 21.1 million head, five per cent below a year ago.

Most of the decline, he noted, was in breeding ewes, four per cent for the nation and about seven per cent for stock sheep in Texas. The number of replacements was also down in Texas and the nation by five per cent.

PAY BILLS To Enjoy Continued CREDIT

The credit bureau's message to the consumer is simple. Pay promptly. Spelling it out clearly—never let an account go past due without payment or immediate contact with the creditor.

Never allow an account to become an item charged off to profit and loss. This means that the merchant has given up hopes of collecting and has changed your account from an asset to an expense item. The item is automatically recorded in the files of the credit bureau. There it cannot be changed or altered unless subsequent dealings with the same firm results in a better record.

Never allow an account to be listed in the collection department of the credit bureau. Payment in full will result in better credit reports, but the item must remain on file for many years to come—perhaps for the rest of your life.

Your credit record is a picture of your character and has been found to be an extremely accurate guide to your future actions, particularly pertaining to whether you will pay future contracts and debts.

Keep your picture bright and shining and enjoy all the conveniences of the machine age. You can cut off the advantages of credit buying by disregarding or ignoring warnings of your merchant friends.

ASSOCIATION OF POST

What if we told you to cough up $18.75 or else?

A little over 4 dollars for every 3 you invest. Plus the privilege of buying the new 5% Freedom Shares along with your Bonds.

But these are the selfish reasons for buying Bonds. Good, but selfish.

There's one other very important reason why Americans already own over $52 billion in Bonds.

It's called pride.

It just so happens that most Americans still choose to think this is the best piece of real estate going.

If you happen to be one of these Americans who thinks there's something to this country of ours, why not buy into it.

Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Or go to your bank.

And cough up that $18.75. Please.

You wouldn't like it, of course.

You see, one of the nice things about buying U.S. Savings Bonds is that you don't have to.

That's because you happen to live in a free country where nobody forces you to do anything.

Rather, your country asks that you simply consider the many advantages of Savings Bonds.

First of all, if you think they're a get-rich-quick scheme, forget it. Bonds aren't for you. They only pay off in the long haul. For a quick return, there are a lot better ways to make a buck.

They do pay off, however. Handsomely, as a matter of fact.

Some arguments heard on dog ordinance

Post's controversial dog ordinance got an "unofficial hearing" in district court here June 3 with attorneys Pat N. Walker and Carleton P. Webb arguing on opposite sides of the case before District Judge Truett Smith.

But there was no decision by the judge and no date has been set for any hearing for a permanent injunction.

The ordinance has been in the courts since Aug. 1, 1967, when the injunction suit was filed seeking to prevent police from picking up a dog on private property without permission of the owner.
