Our mind made up on jail issue

Time grows short for those who have not yet made up their mind how they will vote on the city jail issue April 5. Our mind has been made up a long time. We are in favor of the City Council issuing $5,000 in time warrants for the construction of a jail.

We are convinced that the only thing that will resolve the jail problem in a sensible manner is for the City of Post to construct its own jail. We do not believe it is a sensible procedure for the city police to keep hauling their prisoners back and forth between here and the Slaton jail, which they have been doing since last November.

Simple arithmetic tells us that in the long run the expense of hauling prisoners back and forth between Post and Slaton will be staggeringly greater than the expense of the city building and maintaining its own jail.

Under present conditions, it is not foolish, as some would have us believe, to build a second jail. If conditions were favorable for city police to use the county jail for their prisoners, it would be foolish to build another jail. But conditions are not favorable, never have been since the city established its police department and corporation court several years ago, and probably never will be.

In arguing for a city jail, we are not taking sides on the differences that have long existed here between our county and city law enforcement groups—differences that have kept the lawmen from cooperating as they should for the best interests of the community as a whole. But whoever's right or whoever's wrong isn't going to solve the jail problem.

The sum of $5,000 isn't much to spend for a city jail. And as for maintenance costs once the jail is built, the expense won't be any greater and conceivably much less than it is now costing to haul city prisoners back and forth between here and Slaton.

We have listened to some of the citizens who are opposed to the city building its own jail, but we have yet to hear one outline a solution to the problem in the event the city does not build it. —CD

This doesn't make sense at all

Can you imagine a radio or TV listener sitting before an entertainment machine and listening to a bunch of wheresases? Well, that's just what might happen if bills introduced in Austin by the radio and TV people are passed.

These bills would permit use of the electronic media for "publication" of legal notices over the airways. Laughable as it may be, the radio and TV people are dead serious. They have hired an agency to plead their case, retained an attorney and already are making presentations.

Can you imagine a court of law accepting an unprinted affidavit as legal evidence in a court case?

Accuracy is vital in any court of law. Radio and TV announcements are often misconstrued. They are subject to error in delivery, misinterpretation of facts and misunderstanding of details—even if accurately presented.

Newspaper notices are there to be seen, visible in permanent form—and available anytime to anybody. Lawyers use bound records of newspapers years and years after they are printed. They can select originals from the files or make

Can you imagine trying to recall the notes and bounds of a road project, voting precincts or other geographical districts, the legal description of property offered for sale or lease or any other matter involving precise description after you've heard it on the radio or TV—if indeed you did hear it at all?

The similarity in sound of the spoken word causes enough confusion in routine radio and TV reports. How could you be certain the announcer said "Block B, C, D, or E," for example, or whether he said "239.3 feet or 229.3 feet"?

Did he say 17.5 degrees east or was it 17.9 degrees west? Did he say "to," "two" or "two?" Was the name McDade or McVade? Johnson or Johnston? etc.

When you talk to your Senator or Representative, point out to him that legal notices are not to be toyed with. They are vital, serious publications essential to the very life blood of America. They are the permanently recorded history of tremendously important information.

WELL, NEXT Tuesday is the first day of April—and what do we have coming up? For one thing, the very first day is April's Fool Day. Then comes Easter on Sunday, April 6, but after that the month sort of tapers off until April 15, which is the deadline date for filing income tax returns and also for having your automobile inspected.

April 13 is Mother-in-Law Day, and the entire month is designated as America's Heartland Month and Horse Health Month—believe it or not. No more than we have coming up, it sort of makes me look forward to the month of May.

THE MAN UP the street says some young men who leave home to set the world on fire have to come back for more matches.

The new telephone directory is out and someone has asked me if I am going to write something about it in my column. Well, why not? The new phone book has lots of names in it, and there is an old saying around newspaper offices that names make news.

OUTSIDE OF THE fact that everyone listed in the new phone book is a year older than they were when the old directory came out, the new one is about the same as the old one—with the biggest change in the cover design.

The new telephone directory listings for Post start with Charles L. Adams, whereas last year they started with Carl E. Adams. Not much change there. The listings end with Vaudery Zachary, whereas last year they ended with A. D. Zachary Jr. Not much change there, either. Like people in most towns, though, Postites can rightfully say that their telephone directory lists just about everybody—from A to Z.

AND HOW ARE the Smiths and the Williamses making out? Well, in the old telephone directory, the listings for Williams outnumbered those for Smith by one, 17 to 16, but in this year's phone book the Williamses have gained three to the Smiths two, and now lead, 20 to 18.

Far back of the two leaders in the new phone book are the Joneses, who are right where they were in last year's directory—10 listings. Except for the Smiths and the Williamses, it's hard for anyone to keep up with the Joneses, and the nearest to them are the Masons and the Youngs, with eight each. As they say in basketball, the Smiths, Williamses and Joneses are the only ones scoring in double figures, all the others falling under 10.

THERE ARE ALL sorts of names in the new phone book, of course. If it's cooking and eating you're thinking of, there are three Cooks, seven Bakers, a Brewer, a Kitchen and two Potts. There are also two Butlers, a Pepper(s), a Luna, but no tuna and a Sprayberry, a Rasbury and three Bilberys, but no strawberries.

The animal kingdom is well represented by a Bull, a Bullock, a Crane, a Hart, a Fox, a Monk, a Roach, a Seal(s), a Lamb and a Shepherd. And if you need something built, there are four Carpenters, eight Masons, two Sanders, three Shedd(s), a Sawyer(s) and a Slater.

THERE ARE TWO Webbs, but only one Weaver, and four Harpers with a single Harp.

I could go on and on, but only at the risk of my own neck, which might already be in danger. So, that's the two Longs and the two Short(s) of it!

THERE WERE three pregnant squaws who slept on animal skins. One slept on an elk skin; one on a buffalo skin; the third on a hippopotamus skin. The first squaw had a son; the second a son; and the third, twin boys, proving that the squaw of the hippopotamus is equal to the sons of the squaws of the other two hides.

They really "get around" since they have their new trailer house. Jackie Dunn went to San Antonio last week and was inducted into the Air Force. He will not have to report until sometime in June or July and he will then go into officers training school. His tour of duty will be for four years. E. L. DUNN who has been living in Blytheville, Ark., for about two years, is moving to Dallas this week where he will begin work at the new airport which is going to be built between Fort Worth and Dallas. From what I understand, this is going to be a tremendous airport and will take about two years to complete it. His folks, the Herbert Dunns, are sure proud to have him back in Texas and closer to home!

We extend our deepest sympathy to the relatives and friends in this community of H. H. Ehlers, who passed away at 1 a. m. March 21 at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Sunday at St. John's Lutheran Church at Wilson. Burial was in the Green Memorial Cemetery. Mr. Ehlers is survived by his wife; his mother, two daughters, three sons, four sisters, one brother and 13 grandchildren. May God comfort this family in their great sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Koerne and family, who have been living here on the Lazy K Ranch for the past 11 months, moved last week to a farm near Slaton. The community will miss them.

Mrs. Irmgard Bredemeyer spent the weekend with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stolle, and attended funeral services for H. H. Ehlers.

Sunday visitors in our home were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Becker, Mr. and Mrs. James Riney, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Zieschang and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McMinn.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Eckert on the birth of their son at 2:15 p. m. Sunday, March 23, at West Texas Hospital in Lubbock. The young man weighed in at 7 lbs., 14 1/4 ozs. The Eckerts had a "false alarm" on Saturday — the day of the big snow storm. They were snowbound and had to be pulled to town by a tractor. It had us all pretty shook up around here but everything turned out all right. This is the Eckerts first child.

Patsy Gindorf, who has been working in Dallas, is being transferred to Lubbock.

Our outsiders basketball team, sponsored by the Hackberry Gin, played several games at Post this past two weeks, but have only won one game. Even though they haven't done too well on the backboard, I will say this for them — they are the "best dressed" team. They sure look nice in their red jerseys and red shorts. Some of these men haven't played basketball in years but I think that they are having a good time trying! Even my husband, Edmund, is playing — and it surprised me when I saw he could still run the length of the basketball court! They are going to be playing some volleyball too. In fact, they will play at at Slaton tonight (Monday). Good luck, team.

Happy birthday to Phil Whaley, who will be celebrating his 13th birthday March 30. Phil is a 6th grader at Southland School.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wilke spent Friday night with her parents, the

Kay Altman spent Saturday here visiting friends. She visited Norma Eckert, Joan Gindorf, Dessa Dodd and Sherri Wilke.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker enjoyed a fish fry at the W. A. Basinger home Sunday night.

MRS. G. D. ELLIS is a brand new grandmother for the 14th time. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gyles of Duncan, Okla., have a new baby girl and they have named her Jeannie Elizabeth. This makes Mrs. Ellis two granddaughters and 12 grandsons. Congratulations!

Saturday.

The board of directors of the Southland Cemetery Association held its annual meeting in the home of the secretary, Mrs. H. D. Dunn, March 24. They made plans for the year including a workday May 19. Those present were Otto Klaus, Bunyon Corbell, Sam Ellis, Mrs. Hansell Hallman, Mrs. J. H. Haire and Mrs. Dunn.

Edmund and I were guests of the Leroy Zieschangs Thursday night for a fish fry. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. August Patsche and children of Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lorenz and daughter of New Deal, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moerbe of Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Klaaf of Lubbock.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

I had this witty little column planned for this week and Markey and V. O. Rasbury blew it!

I deserted The Post Dispatch early a week ago Wednesday and went home and went to bed with my germs. Naturally, this is no day for a Dispatch employe to get sick so I felt a bit guilty about leaving my work for Mr. C. Editor Didway and Don Ammons to do.

To make up for it I thought, as I lay in bed, I'll write this clever column and they'll be so impressed that they'll forget that they had to cover for me.

As I was mostly reading and watching television as I lay in bed, I concentrated on what would make a "cute" TV column. None of the books I read were worth reviewing!

Since I became a "workin' gal" I've rather missed the morning quiz shows on the tube and was anticipating watching them. Ha! It was either watch the Senate hearing on the ABM program (and somehow when one isn't feeling too pert the state of the world just isn't all that important) or all those re-run family situation comedies on the other channel.

Not being a soap opera fan (in fact, I even suspect people who are) I had been immediately turning off the set when they made their appearance from 12:30 p. m. on. Then, I thought to myself, "Mrs. C, you're missing a good bet there. You can write a column about the impressions a non-watcher receives while watching all that might not think you're being very clever but those not addicted will love it."

So, I dutifully propped myself up in bed equipped with paper and pen for note taking and turned on the TV. I had a fine picture and could see all of those agonized faces as they went through their paces but the sound was horribly distorted.

I kept hopping up and down trying to adjust the set which was pouring forth with bleeping and static and before I knew it the first show was over. It finally dawned on me that it wasn't the set at all.

This is where the Rasburys enter the picture. They are building a new home across the alley from the Cs and evidently one of the carpenters was using some type electric equipment which was playing havoc with TV in the immediate area.

If you've stuck with me so far on this bunch of nothing, blame it on the Rasburys. And thanks Mr. C. Editor Didway and Don Ammons for doing my work for me.

Miss C is home on spring break from her LAST semester of college. She is expecting a house guest this weekend from San Antonio and he is bringing his 100-pound Saint Bernard "puppy" with him. That means Miss Sam Basset will have her own house guest. She's not terribly excited about that but she can be a bit smug as she has been asked to appear in the Komedy Kapers production Friday and Saturday nights and her guest hasn't.

Miss C is sorry she won't be here for the Interact Club-Rotary basketball game next week. Mr. C went to a practice session Tuesday night and came home a bit pooped. She asked him what position he plays. As he lay back in a chair, completely exhausted he said, "Stationary guard."

Two films shown at club meeting

Amity Study Club met Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Pat Walker with Mrs. George Miller as hostess.

Mrs. Malcolm Bull and Mrs. Bill Pool were in charge of the program, "Happiness Is Beauty." Roll call was answered with "Esquette la..."

Using the topic, "Elegance," Mrs. Bull and Mrs. Pool showed two films, "Simply Beautiful" and "The Total Look of Beauty." A demonstration and a beauty quiz followed the films.

Attending were: Miss Thelma Clark and Mmes. Russell Wilks Jr., Jack Burress, V. L. Peel, Bill Carlisle, C. H. Harrel, Vernon Scott, Hoyt Thomas, Jerry Linn, Dean Sterling, Damon Ethridge, Henry Wheatley, Curtis Lee, and the hostesses.

Mrs. Burney Francis complimented their niece, Mrs. Don Adams, with a coffee Saturday morning in the Thurman Francis home.

Mark Twain's Story OF THE READING SPIDER

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri newspaper. One day he got a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his newspaper and asked if this was an omen of good luck or bad luck.

Twain wrote: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

You will find no spider webs across the doors of the merchants who advertise in your local newspaper.

The Spirit of Christianity

By Joe Vernon

In the fifteenth chapter of Luke's gospel there is a parable told by Jesus about a certain man who had two sons. The younger of the two sons went to his father and asked him very demanding, "Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me." The Bible says that the father gave unto the boy the portion of goods that was due to be his. The young man went his way and wasted in riotous living all that his father had given him. Soon he found himself without money or friends, and out of necessity began working as a feeder of swine, the lowest job a Jewish boy could take. In that same parable Jesus said, "And when he came to himself," he began to realize that servants in his father's house had much more than he had. So, he decided to go back home and ask his father to make him as one of the servants. Immediately he started home to meet his father again. These two meetings with his father tell us a great deal about the spirit of Christianity.

In the first meeting the young man said, "give me." In the second meeting he said, "make me." It is human nature for finite man to be asking our Father, God, to give us something. Many are the occasions that God does just that even though it is not the best thing for us. Few in this world have enough of the spirit of Christianity to come to God, and plead for him to "Make us" into whatever He so desires. In order for our Father to make us into something He may have to break us and then mold us according to His plan. So we must conclude that the spirit of Christianity is a spirit that is completely void of any selfishness. It is a spirit that is completely yielded to the Master.

As we think on these two approaches the son made to his father let us ask ourselves the question, "How have I been approaching my heavenly Father, the God of the Universe?"

Congrats to Carolyn Ledbetter, representing the Senior class, for winning "Choir Princess" last Sunday afternoon at the choir concert.

CHINESE RESTAURANT SYNDROME

Monosodium L-glutamate (MSG), a widely used food additive, is said to be the cause of the symptoms called the Chinese restaurant syndrome.

Herbert H. Schaumburg, Robert Byck, Robert Gerstl, and Jan. H. Mashman of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City report in "Science" that headache, chest pains, sensations of burning, and facial pain are produced in susceptible persons after ingesting MSG.

Proof that MSG caused the symptoms was determined by feeding wonton soup to two persons who earlier complained of an attack of the Chinese restaurant syndrome. Wonton soup made with MSG produced symptoms; wonton soup alone produced no signs, nor did each of the seven components (unspecified) of wonton soup eaten separately. MSG alone in amounts of three grams or less provoked attacks in four other individuals.

Since more than twenty-thousand tons of MSG are manufactured and used in the United States each year, it is quite likely that thousands of users may have experienced the symptoms of the Chinese restaurant syndrome without knowing the cause.

Despite the fact that all persons tested showed symptoms if they ate enough MSG, eating food before taking MSG protects even the most susceptible individuals from these unpleasant symptoms. It is not surprising then that soups containing large amounts of MSG and usually eaten first at meals provoke the symptoms.

Since glutamic acid — the parent substance of MSG — is present normally in large amounts, both in the body and in some foods, the Food and Drug Administration places MSG in the category generally regarded as "safe," and no limitation is placed on its use as a food additive.

NUTRITION AND LEARNING

Malnutrition in early life results in short stature and impairment of mental function, pediatricians Heinz S. Eichenwald and Peggy Crooke Fry of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas report in "Science."

"It has long been scientifically acceptable, and in some circles, even fashionable," says Drs. Eichenwald and Fry, "to ascribe many behavioral characteristics of the older child and adult to conditioning experiences received during infancy and perhaps prenatally. More recent data indicate that some of these factors have a biochemical rather than a psychosocial basis." The best studied aspect of biochemical condition is nutrition.

Malnutrition may permanently and profoundly affect both the future intellectual and emotional development of the individual. In humans it is not known whether these results may be caused by malnutrition alone or in combination with infection and an inadequate social and emotional environment. ### State conservationist post to Clyde Graham, native of Knox City

FORT WORTH — The Soil Conservation Service last Friday named Clyde W. Graham, a native Texan, as state soil conservationist.

Graham, director of the Watershed Planning Division of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Washington, succeeds H. N. Smith, who died recently. Smith held the post for 15 years.

The regional soil conservation office said Graham will begin work April 20 at Temple.

Graham is a native of Knox City and a graduate of Texas A&M University. He holds a masters degree from Harvard University.

He joined the Soil Conservation Service in 1946 in Rotan and has held various positions at Brady, San Saba and Brownwood. A former assistant state conservationist, he went to the U. S. office in 1966.

The Port of New York Authority was created between the states of New York and New Jersey in 1921.

atory studies are urgently needed to determine the crucial time in development, if any, when malnutrition causes its major effects. No methods exist today to identify and to measure quantitatively the biochemical abnormalities of mild, moderate, and severe malnutrition.

PAY BILLS To Enjoy Continued CREDIT

The credit bureau's message to the consumer is simple. Pay promptly. Spelling it out clearly — never let an account go past due without payment or immediate contact with the creditor.

Never allow an account to become an item charged off to profit and loss. This means that the merchant has given up hopes of collecting and has changed your account from an asset to an expense item. The item is automatically recorded in the files of the credit bureau. There it cannot be changed or altered unless subsequent dealings with the same firm results in a better record.

Never allow an account to be listed in the collection department of the credit bureau. Payment in full will result in better credit reports, but the item must remain on file for many years to come—perhaps for the rest of your life.

Your credit record is a picture of your character and has been found to be an extremely accurate guide to your future actions, particularly pertaining to whether you will pay future contracts and debts.

Keep your picture bright and shining and enjoy all the convenience of the machine age. You can cut off the advantages of credit buying by disregarding or ignoring warnings of your merchant friends.
