Airport lights turned on Tuesday for first time

Now usable for night landings

The lights were turned on for the first time at the Post-Garza County Municipal Airport Tuesday night, making it now usable for night landings. Earl Chapman, chairman of the joint airport board, told The Dispatch yesterday.

Local flyers got together and installed the lights at a cost of a little under $1,200 to the city and county, a savings of $2,300 over the cost had the flyers not done the work themselves.

The 3,500 foot north-south runway is now border lighted and the wind tree is lighted, Chapman said.

This is the first financial outlay for airport improvement since the field was built a number of years ago.

Chapman said "we hope to pay the light bill from rentals of hangar locations and other airport property." The new airport lights come on automatically at sunset and are turned off automatically at daylight.

With flying interest here higher than it has ever been, Chapman said all that would be needed to really spark a lot of airport activity would be to secure an airport manager.

"We're looking for one," Chapman added. There are nine privately owned planes now based at the local airport with six metal hangars housing them.

James Dooley owns three of the planes and W. L. (Corky) Bullard two. Victor Hudman owns one, as does Willard Yarbro, Chapman and Bob Macy have another and the ninth, a Cherokee 180, recently was purchased together by Julian Smith, Harold Lucas, Pat Walker and Dr. William C. Wilson.

Lucas, Walker and Dr. Wilson are still working on their private pilot licenses, but Smith has his, and all four have made cross country flights in the plane to various destinations on business, professional or pleasure trips.

Chapman, although he now has both a private pilot and commercial pilot licenses, is still a student too. He is now studying instrument flying and hopes to get his instrument rating soon.

As far as airport use is concerned Chapman says "transient flyers are using the airport even more than the local flyers."

The largest plane to land here has been George R. Brown's turboprop which flies in oil executives from Houston to check on Brown's waterflooding operations in the Garza field. Vic Slater, Postex Plant manager, flies from Post to Memphis in charter flights for his work there at the Burlington sewing room to save travel time between the two towns.

According to reports, several more local citizens are interested in taking up flying too.

Local flyers will use the new $140,000 Flight Service Station at the Lubbock Regional Airport when it opens Sept. 1 to receive pre-flight briefings on weather and to file flight plans. It will all be done by telephone.

The Post airport will be one of eight which will be served in the South Plains area around Lubbock by the new station. The station will operate on a round-the-clock basis every day of the year and will be staffed by 12 specialists.

NEW JAYCEE OFFICERS INSTALLED

Jr., director; Charles Morris, first vice president; Ammons; Billy Williams, director; Thuet, and Lonnie Gene Peel, treasurer.

Jaycees set 100 pct. membership increase

A 100 per cent increase in membership was set as the Post Jaycees' No. 1 goal for the ensuing year at the organization's annual installation and awards banquet Saturday night at Toby's Restaurant.

The membership goal was announced by the incoming president, Don Ammons, who succeeds Jerry Thuet as head of the local Jaycee organization.

The program also included presentation of the "Outstanding Jaycee of the Year" award to Edna Johnson on the basis of points complished in project work and other Jaycee activities. Allane Ammons received the "Outstanding Jaycee-ette" award.

A Jaycee Key Man award was presented to Lonnie Gene Peel and also to James Sweeten, incoming secretary, who was out of town and did not get to attend the meeting.

The new Jaycee officers were installed by Tommy Young, who has just completed a term as a national Jaycee director.

Other Jaycee officers installed were Charles Morris, first vice president; Peel, treasurer, and Amado Fuentes Jr. and Billy Williams, directors.

Anita Blanton installed Wilma Williams as new president of the Jaycee-ettes, and also Allane Ammons, secretary; Ruth Ann Young, vice president, and Kathy Rankin, historian.

Ammons and Mrs. Williams presented outgoing president plaques to Thuet and Mrs. Young, respectively.

The installation meeting was followed by a dance at the Community Center.

We got a chuckle last Friday afternoon when a woman stopped us while we were food shopping, eyed our grocery cart and asked, "Do you do your own cooking?"

"Sort of, yes," we replied not quite knowing what to say. "It all depends upon how you define that word cooking."

For the last two or three months, we haven't done much of it, of course. We have been trying to get rid of some extra pounds.

That doesn't come easy for us anymore and about all we've done in the kitchen since then is "hard boil" an estimated 12 to 20 dozen eggs, open countless cartons of cottage cheese, and toss some little steaks in the broiler.

As a consequence, we now abhor steak, hate cottage cheese and consider a hard boiled egg a personal enemy.

Still and all, although we've fallen off the diet too often — the greatest challenge is that delicious food served at Rotary luncheons which we pay for anyway even if we don't eat it — we have reached one point of progress.

We need to have all our pants taken up several inches more around the waist and are even beginning to wonder if in time we couldn't salvage some use from two sport coats by converting them into double-breasted models, now sort of back in fashion.

It has been a long slow go for us to shed some weight. Although we're beginning to see some results, we still consciously avoid (See Postings, Page 8)

Women's division elects officers

Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick was elected president of the Women's Division of the Post Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Edith Ramsey, first vice president; Maxine Marks, second vice president; Inez Hartel, recording secretary; Nancy Jolly, publicity director, and Loree Thaxton, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Thaxton read the constitution and by-laws, which will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Other members attending were Wynne Kennedy, Betty Posey, Mary Mayo, Willa Didway, Lois Fluit, Katherine Rankin and Ramona Brockman.

The next meeting will be at noon June 8 in the Reddy Room.

Heart attack victim's condition improving

Improvement is reported in the condition of James Dietrich, who is a patient in the cardiac care unit of Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Dietrich was admitted to the hospital after suffering a heart attack at his home here May 16.

Center gets juke box, pool table

An appeal for donation of a juke box and pool table for young people at the Lorenzo Alexander Community Center got quick results. Mrs. Sue Shyltes, center director, reported today.

A juke box was donated by Maxine Edwards of Richardson, formerly of Post, and a pool table was donated by the Bobby Cowley family.

Both the juke box and pool table were moved to the center by Bill McBride and A. C. Cash. Income from both fixtures will be used to finance teen dances at the center. Mrs. Shyltes said. The first dance was held last night, with music furnished by a local combo.

On behalf of the center, the director also expressed thanks to Connor Howell and S. A. Horton for the use of pick-up trucks; to Irving Cross and Don Collier for pool balls; to H. L. Rankin for pool cues; to Larry Johnson for a case of Cokes and ice; to Mack Porter, also for a case of Cokes and ice, and to Bobby Harper for a cash gift of $2 for the youth recreation fund.

Memorial service for Civil War veterans

Garza County descendants of Civil War veterans are invited to attend the May meeting of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee at 10 a.m. Tuesday, June 1, in the bank Community Room.

A memorial service for the Civil War veterans will be presented at the meeting, according to Mrs. Walter Boren, acting chairman.

GARZA WOULD BE SHIFTED

Redistricting is under fire here

Petitions opposing Garza County's removal from the 19th Congressional District to the 17th District in the legislative redistricting bill have been placed at seven locations in Garza County after being drawn up in the office of County Judge Giles W. Dalby.

The congressional redistricting plan has already passed the House of Representatives in Austin and is now under consideration by a Senate committee. Judge Dalby told The Dispatch today that time is short on the redistricting bill and asks that Garza countians opposed to the move sign one of the petitions not later than Friday.

Copies of the petition have been placed in the county clerk's office, at the Graham Community store, Wilson Bros. Service Station, the Annual Memorial Day service is scheduled

Post will observe the Memorial Day holiday Monday, May 31, with all public offices and some of the city's business establishments remaining closed for the day.

The annual Memorial Day service sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6797 will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Terrace cemetery.

The First National Bank will be closed Monday, but the post office,

Buddy Poppy Day proclaimed here

Mayor Giles C. McCrary has proclaimed Saturday, May 29, as Buddy Poppy Day in Post and urges the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of VFW Buddy Poppies.

Saturday's Buddy Poppy Sale will be sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6797 and its ladies' auxiliary, E. D. Donnell, is the poppy day chairman for the VFW post, with Joyce Baker serving in the same capacity for the auxiliary.

The VFW Buddy Poppies are made by disabled veterans and the proceeds of the fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

In his proclamation, the mayor said: "I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked or lost their lives in fulfilling their obligations as American citizens."

City Manager Pierce is back in hospital

City Manager Bobby Pierce returned to Methodist Hospital at Lubbock Monday afternoon following a recurrence of a painful back injury.

He is going to be moved to the M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston as soon as a bed become available there.

LOADING LIVE FISH

Erwin Young (in truck) and Toby Thomas load catfish at their holding vat here preparatory to making a "short-run" delivery. The two deliver live fish in a 150-mile radius of Post.

Fish farms seen as profitable sidelines

With 10,000 pounds of live fish (the figure is conservative) being sold every week within a 150-mile radius of Post, two local fish marketers, Erwin Young and Toby Thomas, believe fish farming can be developed into a profitable sideline business by Garza County farmers and ranchers.

The approximately 10,000 pounds of fish being marketed weekly in this area are being shipped in from commercial fish farms east of here — in Arkansas, Mississippi and other southern states.

"Local fish farmers not only could sell their fish to an expanding home market, but also would save the freight bill the fish farmers east of here are having to pay," Thomas told a group of farmers and ranchers at a meeting here in which he and Young discussed and answered questions on the fish farming business.

Approximately 100 customers, both wholesale and retail are being served by Young and Thomas.

with 80 per cent of their business wholesale.

"We started out to set up 20 businesses to handle 4,000 pounds of fish a week, but soon found we could sell more than that at no more than four or five locations," Young said at the meeting here.

The live market, they explain, is best for this area because of the high cost of processing fish. They deal only in catfish and trout.

"If we dressed the fish, we could sell three times as many," they said.

Post pair found guilty of fraud

Two Post men, C. R. Wilson and W. C. Knox, were found guilty Monday of nine counts of mail fraud and one count of criminal conspiracy by a jury in U. S. District Court at Lubbock.

The pair were accused of defrauding oil companies of oil never pumped from leases owned by Wilson.

Judge Halbert O. Woodward will set punishment at a later date. The trial began Monday, May 17, and concluded Monday with three hours of final arguments before the jury began deliberations.

Swimming pool season is near

The city-county swimming pool won't be opened to swimmers for the summer season until sometime next week, depending upon when pool chemicals arrive.

The pool will be operated this year by Neff Walker and Randy Hudman, neither of whom is home yet from the universities they are attending.

In the meantime, Paul Walker, Neff's brother, is working to get the pool ready for opening.

Randy is due home from the University of Wyoming about Tuesday and Neff will arrive in Post from Princeton University June 5.

S. E. Camp, chairman of the city-county park board, said the pool facilities have been leased to the two collegians for the summer season on a new basis.

The two youths will pay all pool (See Swim pool, Page 8)

Memorial Day retains its meaning

If Memorial Day has lost any of its meaning, it is due to the "new thinking" of many Americans, or to their apathy, which amounts to no thinking at all. Memorial Day is not the only cherished American holiday or tradition that has "lost ground" in the last decade or so.

Throughout America, however, groups like the war veterans of Post make a special effort every year to keep the spirit of Memorial Day alive. Again this year, they will hold their annual Memorial Day service at Terrace Cemetery, this time on Monday, May 31.

When Memorial Day was first observed in 1868, San Juan Hill, Verdun, Dunkerque, Korea and Vietnam were unfamiliar names to most Americans. On that first Memorial Day in 1868, they were honoring men who had died in their own land at the hands of their own countrymen in defense of "one nation indivisible."

From our history books, we learn that there were still echoes of war on that first solemn Memorial Day over one hundred years ago. While graves were being decorated with flowers, Irish republicans in the United States were plotting to take over Canada and hold it as hostage for the freedom of Ireland. Cubans were just beginning a 10-year rebellion against the Spanish that would soon win the official sympathy of the U. S. House of Representatives.

But most Americans had put thoughts of war behind them. They were looking westward to the Great Plains and to the "manifest destiny" of the nation. Miners had started the surge west. Now the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific railways were nearing their meeting at Promontory Point, Utah, which would mark the completion of the first transcontinental railway. The railroads would bring in settlers and equipment. They would carry back to Eastern markets the herds that Texas cattlemen were beginning to drive north. Farmers would follow the cowboys, respectable towns would replace the rowdy camps, and the frontier would disappear.

The stage was set for the emergence of the union, cemented by the dead who were being memorialized on that May 30, as an industrial giant that would spread its bounty across the nation.

Those same dead, memorialized on that first Memorial Day and the thousands of war dead since that time will be honored again here Monday, May 31 and in thousands of other cemeteries throughout the land.—CD

His leaving is a community loss

Post is losing both a citizen and a merchant who will be hard to replace when Bryce Martin locks the door of Martin's Department Store for the final time Saturday night.

In his six and a half years in Post operating the store—in which he invested and lost his life savings—Bryce Martin kept a smile on his face and a good word on his lips for everyone he knew.

He isn't one to "run down" his hometown or the people who live in it. In fact, just the opposite. He cooperated in every way he could to make this a better community. When things were darkest, Bryce always had a cheery word and a smile to lighten things up.

Throughout his stay in Post, Bryce was a "doer" in the Post Lions Club and the Post Chamber of Commerce. He served on the retail promotions committee of the Chamber every year he has been here, as we remember, and was its chairman last year. He currently is serving his second year as a Chamber director.

Bryce has always been willing to do more than his share.

He is an experienced retailer who has spent a busy lifetime on a variety of Main streets. Soon he will be going to another Main street to start over again.

The present inflation in this country has "trapped" a lot of independent merchants just as it did Bryce, catching them without enough capital to maintain the large inventory required as prices on just about everything continued to climb.

But we didn't hear a single angry word from Bryce. He accepts the bitter with the sweet or keeps the harsh thoughts to himself.

When he leaves Post to return to New Mexico, he can take with him one memory of Post which is both true and rewarding. He and his efforts here have been appreciated by all of us who understand the problems of doing business in the small town but like "small town living."

Bryce really "fitted in." He was dependable and depended upon. And, was sincerely respected for an attitude on life we all admire. Good luck, Bryce.—JC

We want to stay where we are

To paraphrase an old typewriter-practice sentence, "Now is the time for all good men (and women) to come to the aid of their country"—the county in this case being Garza County.

A crazy-quilt congressional redistricting bill is moving Garza, Borden and Scurry counties out of the 19th District into the 17th District.

For a number of reasons, most of us don't want to move and neither do most of the folks in adjoining Borden and Scurry counties.

One of the big reasons most Garza countians are opposed to the move is that we would be shifted out of Cong. George Mahon's district.

Another reason is that we here just under the caprock have very little in common with the counties down Abilene and Fort Worth way. We want to remain a part of the South Plains, at least as far as our congressional district is concerned.

Our state representative in Austin, Renal B.

Rosson of Snyder, tried hard and almost succeeded in keeping the three counties in the 19th District when the House took up the redistricting bill the other day. Rosson's proposed amendment that the three counties not be moved lost by only eight votes, 70 to 62. It came nearer success than any of the other several amendments considered during the debate on the bill.

Before it becomes law, the redistricting bill faces rewriting in the Senate and probably final drafting in a House-Senate conference committee.

So, there is still hope of Garza County staying in the 19th District.

Petitions asking that the change not be made are being circulated here through County Judge Giles W. Dalby's office. Read today's front page story on the bill if you want to know what you can do to help keep Garza County from being tied onto the tail-end of the 17th Congressional District.—CD

A time to pause . . .
 A time to remember

Memorial Day

Once again, on Memorial Day, we will pause to recall, with respect and much pride, the selfless sacrifices of our own valiant departed heroes.

Gallantly, they marched forth, united as one in defense of freedom. And with unflinching courage and unyielding devotion to cause, they gave their lives so that our precious heritage of liberty might endure.

Lest their deeds be forgotten or ignobled, and their sacrifices be in vain, let us all now resolve to be equally steadfast and courageous in preserving that which has been or heroically achieved. Let us dedicate ourselves to ever cherish and uphold that priceless freedom, which is the legacy of those whose memory we will honor Monday.

New marriage, divorce laws in effect with Family Life Code

COLLEGE STATION—For more than a year, a new code has governed marriage and divorce practices in Texas, announces Jane Fleischer, Extension family life education specialist at Texas A&M University.

The new Family Life Code, which became law in January, 1970, emphasizes reconciliation in divorce cases. For example, when the judge receives a divorce petition, he can order the couple to consult a marriage counselor. The couple, in turn, must report their progress to the judge, who may then postpone the hearing up to 60 days for additional counseling.

The new code also alters divorce courtroom proceedings, attempting "to remove the battlefield nature of these cases," Miss Fleischer said. The cases, for instance, are now titled, "In the matter of the marriage of John Doe and Mary Doe," rather than "John Doe vs. Mary Doe."

Grounds for divorce have been expanded under the new code. If a marriage fails because of personality conflicts, the couple does not have to contrive cruelty as a defense. Insupportability is also grounds for divorce under new law. Insupportability means that the marriage is unbearable for both parties.

The new family code also affects marriage practices in Texas. A man 19-years-old can now legally marry without parental consent; the age for women, however, remains 18.

Boys, 16, and girls, 14, have always been able to form common law marriages without parental consent, if they meet three requirements: agreeing to be husband and wife, living together as husband and wife, and holding themselves out to the public as husband and wife.

The only change in the new law is a provision for recording these common law marriages. This practice will preserve the existence of

The Rev. A. C. Hardin of Eastland, interim pastor of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

Miss Charlotte Taylor of Rescoe served her sister as maid of honor and Miss Lee Anne Fondy of Slaton, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. They wore identical floor-length gowns of pastel blue peau de soie with empire waistlines. Each carried a colonial bouquet of spring flowers.

Andrea Jene' Glasscock of Houston was flower girl.

Wesley Fondy of Slaton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, with Tate Fondy, also of Slaton, as groomsmen.

Ushers were Alan Fondy of Slaton and Leslie Fondy of Belen, N.M. The ushers also served as candlelighters.

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church.

For a wedding trip to Red River, N.M., the bride chose a grey knit dress with white accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 2902 Third Place in Lubbock.

Mrs. Fondy is a graduate of Post High School and is presently a student at Texas Tech University as an education major. Fondy, who attended school in Slaton, is a government major at Texas Tech.

Timely Tips from CHDA

CARE INSTRUCTIONS FOR CLOTHES DRYERS

Homemakers can usually get better results from their automatic clothes dryers if they simply follow the care and use instructions that come with the machines.

To assure good drying results, check these reminders.

Use recommended drying heats and time settings for the various fabrics to get best results.

Overloading can hamper effective drying. Items should have space to tumble freely to achieve wrinkle-free results.

Wrinkling can also be prevented by removing clothes from the dryer as soon as they dry. This is especially important if you want to avoid touch-up ironing for durable-press articles.

Avoid overdrying clothes, especially in coin-operated laundries where you have little flexibility in drying time. Every fabric has a natural moisture content which can be removed by overdrying. Wrinkles and harshness can result.

To determine whether an article is dry, stop the machine and remove the garment completely from the dryer or you will be influenced by the moisture within the dryer.

If durable press garments are allowed to cool in the dryer, wrinkles will set. They can be removed by dampening or sprinkling the article then tumbling it briefly in a heated dryer.

Turn pill-prone garments inside out to dry. Pilling is the formation of small balls of fibers on the surface of the fabric.

Do not dry items that have been cleaned in anything other than water. Articles which have been cleaned or spot-treated with dry-cleaning fluids become fire hazards when put directly into a dryer. Articles containing foam rubber also create a fire hazard in a heated dryer.

When excessive lint accumulates on the dryer lint screen, drying time is lengthened. Clean the screen regularly to help shorten drying time.

Library LISTENING POST

By GEORGE L. MILLER

There's a classic formula for creating a murder mystery. The guilty party is the man who had the means, the motive and the opportunity to commit the crime. The detective's task is either finding all three or, if all three are there from the start, sifting them until the murderer is unmasked by the process of elimination.

In "Murder at the Met" by Fred Jarvis, the puzzle is a problem because there are too many pieces. The victim is Millicent Millions, the improbable stage name of the opera house's prima donna. The means is an overdose of sleeping pills in her love potion — which for Millicent is always straight bourbon — used as a stage prop in the opera "Tristan and Isolde."

The opportunity is shared by a host of people; opera managers, the orchestra conductor, other singers — in fact over a hundred by conservative count. And as for the motive, it would seem that to know Millicent Millions was to hate her, for dozens of reasons.

The special bonus in this brain teaser is Mr. Jarvis' familiarity with opera and the peculiar geniuses who populate its world. His caricature of one temperamental diva is unmistakably the fiery Maria Callas. She appears in the first chapter with a handful of other unforgettable characters, a chapter that alone makes the book worth its price.

Although the rest of the book doesn't live up to the promise of that first chapter, it's still a satisfying mystery. You will become increasingly frustrated with the mounting list of suspects and multiplying motives. You'll solve it a dozen times and yet still not be quite sure.

And when it's all explained in the end you'll find it fit together quite nicely with no dangling ends to be explained away.

"Murder at the Met" proves again that reading mysteries can be fun.

With summer crowding down on us, we're busily purchasing and processing new books for our book-hungry patrons. We've picked up some excellent fiction and non-fiction. There's a sprinkling of mysteries and Gothic novels and even the "Better Homes and Gardens' Fondue Cookbook" I mentioned in an earlier column. (It was the only title on the list of 20 best sellers in 1970 which we didn't have. But we have it now.)

Next week I'll give you a run-down on some of the titles of our new books. By that time we should be about ready to get them on the

Additional funds for rural water, sewer systems

AUSTIN — An economic boost toward the development of rural Texas was announced last week by J. Lynn Futch, state director of the Farmers Home Administration in Temple.

Futch pointed out that an additional $12,600,000 has been released for the current fiscal year, through June 30, for rural water and sewer system loans in Texas. He emphasized the need for rural residents desiring water and sewer system loans to move quickly. The state office of Farmers Home Administration must have completed loan applications for review and approval before June 15, 1971. Futch also said that more money would be available for the new fiscal year of 1972 than was available in this present fiscal year of 1971.

Jerry Johnson of Nacogdoches, president of the Texas Association of Rural Water Corporations, urged existing systems to take advantage of the current supply of loan money. "Many systems that have been operating for several years now need additional loan money to provide new consumer service and now is the time to take advantage of the $12.6 million allocation for our state," commented Johnson. Rural residents desiring addi-

"... Still Looking?"

By Bernard S. Ramsey

A man who was looking for an anniversary card for his wife found one that said on the outside: "I have never found anyone I like as well as you" . . . on the inside of the card was added . . . "But I'm still looking!" Needless to say, I didn't buy the card (I know what side my bread's buttered on!).

"But I am still looking" . . . here is the difficulty with people who never make up their minds finally. In this category are those folk who change churches every time the seasons change — they just don't know the meaning of contentment . . . or commitment. What a great thing it is when we are committed ultimately to some truth; to some person; to some worthy institution, in an ultimate and final way.

A lot of Christian folks would be much happier and less discontented if they would commit themselves "all out" to some church. In reality, there is no true Christian until he has decided that he is no longer looking around or shopping. He has committed himself for eternity to his Lord and His Church and he knows that, from this time on, the issue has been settled once and for all.

Your Name? WHAT'S IN IT?

By CHARLES DIDWAY

BAIN

The surname Bain is usually Scottish from the Gaelic "ban," meaning "fair, white," and as such was first acquired as a nickname, generally due to a person's complexion or the color of his hair.

But, as is the case, with so many other surnames, Bain has more than one possible source of origin.

Bain is found as a surname in France, and since "bain" is the French word for "bath," it could have been acquired there as an occupational surname by an attendant at a public bath.

The Middle English word "bain" meant "ready," which gives us another possible source as a nickname. In fact, early English records list a Robert Unbain, who was also known as "Robert the Unready."

To further complicate matters, there is a River Bain in England and the surname could have been acquired by one who lived at or near that river. The English surname Bainbridge means "one who lived at or near the bridge over the River Bain."

Since Bain is a characteristic Gaelic nickname, however, most persons of the name can claim Scottish ancestry. The Bains in Scotland were allied with the MacKays and when some two thousand of that clan crossed the North Sea to serve the cause of the Protestant Reformation in the Thirty Years' War, there no doubt were many by the name of Bain among them.

Alexander Bain, born in 1818, started life as a weaver, but later became an outstanding philosopher and educator. In 1860 he was appointed by the crown to the chair of logic and English in the University of Aberdeen, where he succeeded not only in raising the standard of education generally in the north of Scotland, but also in forming a school of philosophy and in widely influencing the teaching of grammar and composition.

Another Alexander Bain, also a Scotsman, in 1840 made one of the first attempts to apply electricity to clocks.

Burlington profit sharing retirement plan for employes tops $50 million

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Hourly-paid employes of Burlington Industries, Inc. have received new credits of more than $9 million to their profit sharing retirement plan accounts for last year.

Employees at Burlington plants in 14 states have received individual account cards indicating these increases.

Assets of the Burlington plan now exceed $50 million. Since the program was begun in 1963, the company has contributed more than $54 million to the plan, and more than $10 million in benefits have been paid to members of their beneficiary since that time. During 1970, over $3 million in benefits were paid.

James D. Barbee, Burlington executive vice president and chairman of the plan committee, said the contribution of $7.1 million from Burlington profits was equivalent to 3.4 per cent of each employee member's wages for the past year.

More than 70 per cent of Burlington's hourly-paid employes are members of the profit sharing retirement plan. Salaried employes also participate in profit sharing and retirement benefits.

$100 yellow catfish is 'loose' at Sweetwater

SWEETWATER — A reward of $100 has been announced for the person catching the 53-pound yellow catfish released in Lake Sweetwater May 17. The reward is posted by the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce.

The fish was caught in Lake Sweetwater May 12 by Terry Boley and is the largest recorded catch from this lake. Roy Linn, local game warden, suggested the fish was a "stocker" and if so, would be nine years old.

The promotion of this record catch and the posting of the $100 prize are projects of the tourism and conventions committee of the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

Fish farming —

Both Thomas and Young are luck to point out, however, that fish farming is not a "snap."
"It can succeed only if the farmer is enthusiastic, hard-working and well-grounded in the fish growing business," they said.

Fish farming can pay off in more ways than one. Besides the profit from the fish, it enables the farmer to store water above the ground so that it is readily available when needed for irrigation.

Fish pond water has more fertilizer and is warmer than the water straight from the irrigation well, which makes it better for crops, especially cotton.

A 15-gallon-per-minute flow is all that is required for a one-acre fish pond, with the flowing water taking into the pond the oxygen the fish need to survive. Eighty-degree water is ideal for catfish and 54-degree water for trout.
"The quality of the water instead of the volume is the key to successful fish farming," Thomas and Young said.

The fish should be fed at sun-up and sundown each day and fed floating feed so that the farmer can see them eat. This is important so that any change in feeding habits can be discerned. The fish require 35 per cent protein in their feed and should be fed 3 per cent of body weight daily.

Fish ponds should be constructed with a maximum depth of five feet and with a bottom slope of two feet. The ponds should be full and holding adequately before being stocked with fish.

"Such points as these are merely suggestions, however," the two said. "There are no steadfast rules in fish farming."

They did emphasize, though, that for economical "harvesting" of the fish the design of the pond is important, since seining is the customary method of catching the fish for sale to the market.

"On a small order, say for 1,000 fish," Young said, "we sometimes line up to 10,000 fish to get our 1,000, and just throw the rest back into the pond for next time. We try to accumulate orders so that we can seise up what we need in a single operation."

"Fish-out" ponds, where sportsmen pay to fish, is one of the principal markets for the two local men. There are five or six of these ponds in the Lubbock area. In fact, Thomas and Young recently stocked a fish-out pond of their own on land they leased just north of the Lubbock airport.

At these ponds, people pay 50 cents an hour to fish and 80 cents a pound for the fish they catch. If any fisherman leaves empty-handed, it is usually his own fault, as there are plenty of fish to be caught from the ponds. For that reason, these recreational places are proving a big success.

Special equipment is necessary on the trucks used to haul the live fish to market. Young and Thomas have a truck in which they can haul 1,400 pounds in a load, and are rigging up another truck that will haul up to 2,000 pounds.

SURFACE FEEDING TROUT

Their normal delivery range is within a 150-mile radius of Post, but Young said he has delivered fish as far away as Van Horn, which is over 300 miles from Post.

West of Post, the fish dealers have six ponds covering about three acres of farmland they have leased, with the farmer using water from one of the ponds for irrigation. The ponds are stocked with approximately 100,000 stocker and brood fish.

Their holding vat is at the entrance to Two Draw Lake, with which Young is associated. Two Draw Lake, Inc., has been in the fish growing business for some time.

Two Draw also will figure contract jobs on construction of ponds for farmers who want to go into the fish farming business, Young said.

Thomas told the group at the meeting here a few nights ago that two billion pounds of fish were consumed in the United States last year and that only about five per cent of that amount was farmed.

He said those in the "know" look for a big increase in U.S. fish production, however, because of foreign-raised fish.

Rotarians hear talk on money

Henry C. (Hank) Jordan, area public relations manager for General Telephone Company with headquarters in Brownfield, spoke before the Rotarians at their weekly luncheon in City Hall Tuesday on the subject, "The Roots of Ayl (Money)."

He talked about money. Jordan quoted from a Wall Street Journal article on the problem of U. S. gold leaving the country and discussed our national monetary situation.

He also gave some of the historical background of some of this country's monetary terms or slang.

Turning to industrial development and what's happening on the industrial front in Texas, Jordan said 37 per cent of industries located in Texas last year settled in some 11 towns.

He said the per capita debt as of 1970 was $1,830 in the U. S., an increase of only $300 in the decade of the sixties.

Council acts on paving measures

The city council passed paving warrant and paving assessment ordinances at a special meeting Monday afternoon.

Warrants aren't to be issued in the amount of approximately $65,000 to pay for some of the curb and gutter costs in the first phase of the current paving program and for the city's share of the paving in the second phase.

Approximately 27 blocks are included in the first phase of street paving, which has been under way for several weeks. The second phase will include some three and a half blocks with the city and property owners sharing the paving costs and the property owners paying for the curbs and gutters.

The ordinances will be published in The Dispatch, probably in June.

The redistricting bill as it now stands also calls for the removal of Scurry and Borden counties from the 19th District and similar petitions opposing the move are being circulated in those counties.

Garza County has been in the 19th Congressional District for many years and for the last 30 years or so has been represented by the same congressman, George Mahon. Those here opposed to the move also feel that Garza County should remain in the 19th District because of environmental reasons in regard to area, population, etc.

Judge Dalby has held telephone conversations during the last few days with Congressman Mahon, State Sen. David W. Ratliff and State Rep. Renal B. Rosson, in which he expressed the opposition here to Garza County being moved out of the district.

White Sox streak halted by Braves

The Cubs scored a run in the bottom of the seventh inning last Thursday to break a 10-10 tie and hand the White Sox their first setback of the season, 11-10, in a Babe Ruth League game.

Third baseman Jay Pollard got on base on an error to open the Cubs' half of the seventh, then came all the way around on overthrows and a walk issued to David McBride to give the Cubs the victory.

The Cubs jumped into an early lead with two runs in the first, but the White Sox forged to the front with four tallies in the top of the third. The Cubs retaliated with five in the bottom of the third to take a 7-4 lead, with David Conroy's lead-off home run accounting for one of the scores.

The White Sox failed to score in the top of the fourth, with the Cubs chasing across three tallies in the bottom of the frame to up their lead to 10-4. After getting two runs in the fifth, the White Sox scored four more in the sixth to tie the score at 10-10.

Tony Conner, who went all the way on the mound for the winners, put the White Sox down in order in the top of the seventh to set things up for his team's go-ahead run in the bottom half of the inning.

Joe Perez, who had relieved White Sox starter Rodney King, was the losing pitcher.

In the night's first game, the Braves bombarded the Indians, 19 to 3, although getting only five hits off the Indians' Jackie Blacklock. Three of those hits came off the bat of Brave outfielder Augustine Cerda.

Garland Dudley, the winning pitcher, limited the losers to four hits.

If we could just wrap it all up.

Litter is a complex problem. And solving it calls for understanding and united action.

1. Litter isn't caused by bottles or cans or convenience packaging. Litter is caused by the thoughtless man. The thinking man can stop it.
2. The natural first step is individual action. Let's all be a little more thoughtful. Let's make sure that we, ourselves, are not adding to the litter problem.
3. The thinking man takes active steps to keep his community clean. The tools are at hand.
4. The United States Brewers Association is ready to help you. We're working at the local and national levels to create greater public awareness. To attack apathy. To help Keep America Beautiful.
5. If we tackle this problem together we can soon have it all wrapped up. Write us today and we'll help your community develop a campaign against litter.

Southland seniors on end-of-school jaunt

By TOMMIE WILKE
Hello, dear readers. Another week has gone by and we have had several kinds of weather here at Southland. Last week on Thursday we had a terrific hail storm. In fact, it hailed three different times, but the last one was a "pip". The rain varied from a half to one and one-half inches. And, of course, the wind and sand has blown just about every day. The hail was bad at our house, but over east of us, it looked like the dead of winter—the hail was so deep and covered the ground so completely. Looked real weird. I had a very nice surprise this morning and am real happy to say that our little country community news really gets around. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Farrar from Ontario, Calif., came through Southland on their way down country, and they stopped by the post office, just to meet me and tell me how much they enjoy the Southland column. They both used to live around here and Mrs. Farrar is the former Maxine Loyd. They were married in 1926 and lived here until 1927 and then they moved to California. Mr. Farrar was the county commissioner of precinct 1 in the years of 1925 and 1926 and was the youngest commissioner at that time. They now have three children, two sons and a daughter and they are all married. They also have six grandchildren. Some of you out there in newspaper land might remember this family. I enjoyed talking to him very much. I didn't get to meet Mrs. Farrar because she wasn't feeling too well and stayed in the car. I do appreciate his thoughtfulness. Recent visitors in the D. D. Pennell home were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cederholm from Post. Mrs. Herman Havis and Mrs. D. D. Pennell attended the Woman's Culture Club at Post in the home of Mrs. Lee Davis recently. Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pennell recently visited with Rev. and Mrs. Eddie Fortson and Harry in Dallas, also Mr. and Mrs. Royall Pennell in Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Royall in Fort Worth, and with Donald's niece and nephew, Phyllis Pennell Hurst and Sgt. Stephen Pennell who is stationed at Fort Hood. Otto Klaus was a dinner guest this Sunday and last Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Klaus at Wilson. His granddaughter, Audrey, and her husband were also there the Sunday before. Mrs. Klaus is still about the same. Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Haliburton have been in Amarillo visiting with her parents, the J. P. Winterrowds. Their home is in Washington. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs.

Donald Wayne Crawford on birth of their daughter, Tiffany Michelle Crawford, who was born on Friday, May 21st in Highland Hospital in Lubbock. This little gal—or should I say big gal—weighed 8 lbs. 3 ozs. The proud Southland grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Crawford. May God's love be with this young family. Mrs. Lucille Myers is in Dallas this week attending market. Congratulations to Darrell Hill, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Hill, for being the salutatorian of his graduating class. He lives at Anton but did live here at Southland for several years. His grade was 95.33. Rev. Hill was the Southland Baptist minister for several years. Mrs. Herman Havis spent several days in Oklahoma recently attending the graduating exercises of her nephew. Her sister from Corpus Christi was also there. Congratulations to Monte Adamek on her sixth birthday Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster (See Southland news, Page 10)

Social Security protection for young workers

LUBBOCK — Young workers often feel they have lots of responsibility and little financial security for their families, according to John G. Hutton, social security manager in Lubbock. He noted these workers may have more protection than they think if they become disabled.
"Each month nearly 2½ million disabled workers and their dependents get social security checks," said Hutton. He also pointed out that about half of the U. S. population is under age 30 and usually think social security is something remote and unimportant to them right now.
Social security can help support not only the worker, but also his wife and children if he is disabled. The amount of the disabled worker's monthly check depends on the worker's average earnings under social security. The monthly benefit for a worker with a wife and one child ranges from $96 a month to a maximum of $434.40 with the average about $273 a month.
A worker under age 24 needs only 1½ years of work under social security to be insured for disability. If he becomes disabled to the extent he is unable to work for at least a year, then he and his family can qualify for monthly benefits for as long as he continues to be disabled.
Most young men whose annual salaries are in the $7,500 range and above would be eligible for benefit payments close to the maximum amounts.
"The money in cases like these is important of course," Hutton said. "But for the young worker who knows that his family will be at least partially provided for should he become ill or injured, there is also peace of mind."

Donations are sought for youth program

Young people of the Post target area have launched a drive through the Lorenzo Alexander Community Center to raise funds to finance summer youth activities.
In an appeal to the parents of the community's youth donations of small amounts of money are asked. Such donations should be left at the Garza County Community Action Center office at 804 Pine Street or by phoning 495-2329 for pickup.
All contributions will be "sincerely appreciated" the youth group told The Dispatch.

Thomas Jefferson invented the sliding doors used on our street cars, over 125 years ago.

CONSUMER CREDIT — A 3-PARTY SYSTEM

It involves (1) the consumer, the person who buys merchandise or service on credit; (2) the credit grantor, the business which sells goods or services to the consumer; and (3) the credit bureau, an organization which maintains a comprehensive record of the consumers paying habits and makes sure this record is readily available when and where the consumer needs it.
The credit bureau is such an important part of this triangle because credit grantors cannot afford to sell goods or services on credit or to extend loans unless they have some assurance that the consumers will keep their part of the bargain by paying as agreed.
Obviously, not all consumers and credit grantors can be personally acquainted with one another. It's also obvious the cost would be enormous if each credit grantor had to gather all the necessary credit information on each prospective consumer.
Such a practice would not only make the cost of granting credit prohibitive, but also cause the consumer a great deal of delay and inconvenience.
