Family planning program set for February start

Federally funded for 'target area'

The new federally-financed "family planning program" for the Post target area will get under way in early February, William O. McLeod of Levelland told the January meeting of directors of the Garza County Community Action Committee Tuesday night.

McLeod reported that the professional committee of physicians and pharmacists is scheduled to meet here next week and that the birth control effort should be ready to go in early February.

He said arrangements for a bilingualist from the OEO program in a neighboring county will be assigned here temporarily to help get the program going. He said a bilingualist is being sought for the local staff to aid in the program.

Medication will be provided by federal funds. Local physicians and pharmacists are cooperating in forming the professional committee to set the guidelines for the Garza program.

Mrs. George L. Miller, a registered nurse, will supervise the program.

Mrs. Ruthie Harrison, who is supervisor of the Alonzo Alexander Neighborhood Center, said 33 families already have signed up for the program.

Baptist pastor resigns to enter 'river ministry'

The Rev. H. M. Farrington has resigned as pastor of the First Baptist Church here to enter the "river ministry" in Mexico along the Rio Grande River.

He told The Dispatch Monday that this coming Sunday will be his last day at the church here. He and his family will move to San Angelo next week and it is from there that he will lay the groundwork for his missionary work in Mexico.

The Rev. Mr. Farrington has been pastor of the church here for the last several months, having replaced the Rev. Joe Vernon who resigned to move to Lovington, N. M. The Farringtons moved here from San Angelo where he was pastor of the Belmore Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Farrington said that in his river ministry along the Rio Grande he will join others who have "pioneered" the missionary work. He will work primarily in villages and areas of Mexico where no evangelism work has been done, working with student groups, conducting vacation Bible camps.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, chairman of the Post Day Care Center directors, reported that attendance this year and the only reason for it the board can determine is because of the "local economic situation" with so many of the usually "working mothers" being out of work.

She said some day care board members are planning to organize a new story hour program in the neighborhood center for preschool children, if the need is determined.

The community action directors decided to try to coordinate such a "story hour" with a sewing class for young mothers in the target area.

The action group already has a night sewing class for women, but some young mothers have been unable to leave their children to attend. A story hour class at the same time as an afternoon sewing class could solve that.

In answer to a question, Mrs. Harrison said the employment bureau at the center is all one-sided. "We have a lot of folks applying for jobs, but nobody calling to hire them," she explained.

Mrs. Harrison also reported that the teen club, which had been organized last summer, is no longer meeting.

"The kids want a record player here at the neighborhood center and we don't have a record player or the money to buy one," she told the board.

The board expressed the hope that someone might donate a record player if the need were known.

The Rev. George L. Miller, chairman of the committee, reported on a Levelland meeting of the community action representatives of a seven-county area which was attended last week by three executive board members.

He said the plan to build 1,000 new homes for poorer families in the seven-county area appears very promising. He also said that enough applicants were forthcoming after last week's Dispatch story about the Green Thumb plans to get a Green Thumb team into being.

Both the housing and Green Thumb programs are not directly tied to the community action program here as they will be operated by separate boards, but originally were initiated through the community action organization.

Attending the meeting in the neighborhood center were Mrs. C. R. Pierce, Mrs. Madie Johnson, Mrs. Ida Mae Abbey, Mrs. Newby, William Scott, Mrs. Louisa Valdez, Jim Cornish, Miller, Mrs. Harrison, and McLeod.

'Scout of Year' award presented

Bruce Blanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blanton, has been named winner and first recipient of Boy Scout Troop 316's new "Scout of the Year" award.

The annual stockholders meeting of Post Stamped, Inc., will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 1, in the bank community room, Johnny Kemp, secretary, announces.

All stockholders are urged to attend, since plans for the year will be made, including the annual Post Stamped Rodeo.

The award is in the form of a bronze statuette. "If the boy is lucky," the scoutmaster said, "and work projects. Named to the committee with Dalby, representing the county as chairman, are E. A. Howard, A. J. McAllister, Robert Hays, Mayor Giles C. McCrary, Bryan J. Williams, and the Rev. George L. Miller.

There were other boys in the troop who ran Bruce a close second for the award, Short said.

The city council voted at its last regular meeting, Jan. 4, to attack the stray dog problem by reinstating the bounty system, which in two weeks last fall resulted in more than 90 dogs being picked up.

Those wishing to claim the $2 bounty on dogs they pick up are required to turn them over to a city policeman at the dog pound. When they pick up a dog they are asked to notify the police radio dispatcher who, in turn, will notify a city policeman.

The city reserves the right to terminate the bounty period at the discretion of the city mayor or the city manager.

In voting to reinstate the bounty system on dogs, the city council warned that to remove the collar and tag of a licensed dog in order to claim the bounty constitutes theft and will be prosecuted as such.

A city ordinance requires that all dogs be vaccinated against rabies and issued a city license. The license tags the available at the city hall upon payment of $1 and furnishing proof that the dog has been vaccinated against rabies.

"3.76 IN '76" PROCLAMATION SIGNED

Boosted farm income goal of new program

County Judge Giles W. Dalby signed a proclamation proclaiming the week of Jan. 25-29 as "3.76 in '76 Week" in Garza County called upon all citizens to take this observance and to devote their efforts to the achievement of its stated objectives.

The county agent said cash income to farmers and ranchers in Garza County should be more than $8,258,500 by the end of 1976. This will be an increase of more than $7,200 from 1968-69 figures. The projections are based on studies of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and are part of the "3.76 in '76" program.

Total cash receipts from all agricultural enterprises in Garza County are presently about $8,286,000, says Conner. The most important ones are beef cattle and cotton. They are expected to account for about 70 per cent of the projected 1976 totals.

The county will be aided in its production efforts by the South Plains Economic Development Program. Extension specialists will hold conferences in Garza County and elsewhere in the Lubbock area to discuss improved production of these commodities.

The projections are based on estimates from the Garza County Program Building Committee after separate predictions were made by Extension economists. The figures were published for each county, extension district and economic area (See White River, page 8)

Twenty-seven employees of the George R. Brown oil interests here were presented with company service awards Wednesday noon of last week in a special luncheon presentation at the Post Community Center.

Ralph S. O'Conner of Houston, president of Highland Resources, flew in at the head of a five-man company delegation to make a talk, present awards to those with 25 and 20 years of service, and to shake hands all around with the local employe group.

E. R. (Buster) Moreland, manager of the Brown oil operations here, was the only employe to receive a 25-year award. He was employed by the firm in November of 1945.

O'Conner said Moreland is one of only three 25-year employes in the oil enterprise.

Those receiving 20-year service awards were Floyd Stanley, who went to work for the firm in August, 1946, and who retired Sept. 1, 1970; Walter Jones, March 1948; H. N. Clary, March 1948; John Matsler, June 1949; Richard Davies, June 1949; Ralph Dean, October, 1949; William Shedd, September, 1950; and Marvin Odom, November, 1950.

Receiving 15-year service awards (with date of employment) were: Glenn Shelton, March, 1951; Dee Caffey, May, 1951; James M. Ock, September, 1951; S. E. Windham, October, 1951; Charles Pierce, October, 1951; B. J. Dorner, December, 1951; Summers Milam, June, 1953; and Bobby Terry, May, 1954.

Ten-year service awards went to Robbie King, February, 1956; Sherry Josey, February, 1958; and James Mathis, August, 1960.

Maybe we shouldn't be writing about it yet, but today's Dispatch is the first one in which we hope to find "our picture problem" solved.

It all began last spring when suddenly the good pictures Editor Charlie were taking and the apparent good plastics Shop Foreman Don (Corky) Ammons was making from them just weren't coming out right in the paper.

We were disgusted and tried to figure out the problem over a span of several months, finally concluding that the cork blanket we had on the press cylinder was too thick and mashing the plastic pictures in about the first 100 papers.

Some correspondence with the blanket manufacturer followed. It was quite unsatisfactory.

Figuring the blanket was about 10-1000 of an inch too thick despite all denials from Illinois we finally "blew our stack" two weeks ago, called the manufacturer on the phone and unloaded a large piece of our mind. He responded by rushing us a much thinner blanket (all he had and really too thin for our needs).

This past week, Pressman Amado Fuentes, Jr., spent about two days putting on the new blanket and padding it underneath.

We think things are now ready to go. We think we soon will be back to good picture quality — if not this week, just as soon as we can complete all the adjustments on the blanket thickness, which isn't easy.

Final charge removed; lake recreation free

Ready for a new recreational season at White River Lake 1971, White River directors last Friday night removed the last recreational charge which was levied against paid-up taxpayers of the four member cities of the district.

Removed from the regulations for 1971 was the $15 annual boat permit for taxpayers of the district.

The action was unanimous as the board completed the changeover last year to make recreation at the lake for all those who pay district taxes.

O'Brien, water district manager, said the removal of the annual permit fee for taxpayers of the district would trim recreational revenue by approximately $1,200.

That changes, if any, the board wanted to make in recreational regulations for 1971. This is only change proposed.

It was asked by directors to correct the state highway detour which built the lake's ramp to see if the detour would remove some of the rocks in the approach which are dangerous to boats and going out. The highway department put in the boat ramp a time when it was charged with doing such a job.

Texas needs a new Family Code

While the emphasis is on taxes in this new session of the Texas Legislature, there is considerable other important legislation in the mill. For instance, a law designed to deal more effectively with the problems that beset children and their parents in a troubled time.

The State Bar of Texas is sponsoring the bill which, if passed, will complete the enactment of a new modern Family Code for Texas.

Specifically, the proffered legislation deals with the support, custody, and visitation of children whose parents are divorced, with adoption, juvenile delinquency and areas of the law related to these.

We like the proposed law because its provisions dealing with support, custody, and visitation are aimed at eliminating the flaws and gaps in present laws, much of which dates back to Victorian times.

As lawyers and judges know, when marriages break up, the children are often not only the spoils but the weapons in the battle between the spouses. Under present law these private "wars" can go on almost interminably and sometimes simultaneously in several courts. The result has often compounded both bitterness and expense.

The new provisions would streamline the procedures for handling such cases. The new statutes would make clear that only one court could hear any such case and which court that is. The purpose is to save the parties money, time and inconvenience and reduce the likelihood of some of the more undesirable incidents such as "child snatching." Another large section of the bill concerns handling of delinquent children and children in need of supervision. Its purpose is not only to bring Texas law in line with new U. S. Supreme Court requirements, but to assure protection not only to the lawless or troublesome child but to the society with which he is at odds.

Also proposed is a statute which would for the first time require that Texas fathers support their illegitimate children. Texas is one of only three states without a paternity statute and one of the few governments in the western world without one. Under present Texas law the mother is responsible for the support of the illegitimate child (and often the taxpayer) but not the father.

Built into the new proposal is an elaborate system of safeguards to assure against use of the law for extortion or blackmail. A mother of an illegitimate child could not, for example, choose a wealthy, prominent man at random and bring suit against him in hopes of getting a large sum as "hush money." If the woman refuses to submit to blood tests for herself and the child, the suit will be dismissed in a secret pre-trial hearing.

The drafting of an updated Family Code for Texas has been in progress for some five years. It is long overdue. Let's hope this session of the state legislature does something about bringing Texas out of the dark ages where a family code is concerned.—CD

Dog bounties being paid again

The dog bounty method of going after stray dogs which worked so well the first time it was tried here last year is going to be tried again, beginning Friday, Jan. 22.

The mayor and city councilmen had received so many complaints about stray dogs—in many instances, packs of them—that they decided at the January city council meeting to do something about it. Since the payment of dog bounties is about the only thing that has ever been made to work here in reducing the stray dog population it was decided to go that route again.

Dog owners who have not had their pets vaccinated and tagged had better keep them up while the dog bounty is in effect, because if the last time was any indication, the bounty hunters will be out in full force after that $2-a-dog bounty.

By far the best thing for a dog owner to do if he cares anything about his dog is to have it vaccinated against rabies and then licensed by the city. That's not only for the dog's protection, but also for the owner's.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

It has been said that education boils down to just two things: character and good manners. A man or woman who can develop good character with good manners is educated because everything else will come. Without these two things there is no use having schools or school teachers, because you cannot do anything with people who have not developed these two all-important things—character and good manners.—Brown County News, Frederick, S. D.

Too often today we see children in stores handling merchandise or playing with toys they are not buying. If they had been trained they would know they should not handle merchandise that does not belong to them or they don't intend to buy. Curing vandalism in this nation is going to have to start with the home before it will ever improve in the schools or on the streets.—Whittier, Calif., Review.

One of the big youth movements these days is the campaign to legalize marijuana. If you don't think so, try "knocking it" to any of the "new" generation. While most of them do not point out any particular benefit from the smoking of pot, they justify its need by comparing it to alcohol, and citing the great use of that beverage by the older generation. They also point to the cigarette smoking adult, who utilizes "pep" pills to keep going through the day, and tranquilizers to calm down at night. What we have progressed to is a jangling of one wrong on the strength of other wrongs.—Warwick, N. Y., Advertiser.

Attempts to legislate honesty and fairness in the marketplace are inferior to another old principle, that the dealer in shoddy goods will go out of business for the simple reason that his customers will disappear.—Odessa American.

HERE IS A big date to remember: Jan. 31. That's the deadline date for registering to vote in this year's elections, but if you're going to appear personally to make application for registration, you'll have to do it before the tax office's closing time on Friday, Jan. 29. The office won't be open on Saturday, nor, of course, on Sunday, which is the 31st.

Don't let the fact that this is an "off" year for county, state and national elections keep you from registering to vote. Just remember that it's "open season" this year on a mayor, two city councilmen and at least two school board members.

THE MAN UP the street says opportunity knocks only once, but temptation bangs on the door for years.

Mrs. Marilyn Verhalen of Stillwater, Okla., the former Marilyn Steel of Post, spotted something about her home town in a syndicated column the other day, clipped it and sent it to The Dispatch. The item that caught Marilyn's attention was in L. M. Boyd's "Pass It On" column in the Stillwater News-Press and is as follows:

"Am asked how long the tusks of those prehistoric mammoths grew. Up to 16 feet, the record shows. Incidentally, where do you suppose the longest ever of those tusks was found? In Texas, sure enough. Near what's now the bustling little metropolis of Post."

I WOULD LIKE to know Mr. Boyd's source of this interesting bit of information. I knew some mighty big mammoth tusks had been found in the vicinity of Post, but had no idea we held the world record.

The late Charlie Henderson once told me of a huge mammoth find in the northeastern part of Garza County. Could the 16-foot tusks mentioned by Mr. Boyd have come from that prehistoric discovery?

AND ONLY last Friday, Mrs. Cecil Bland told me of a large tusk that had been uncovered in a gravel pit on the old Sug Robertson place several miles north of Post. This couldn't have been the one, though, because Mrs. Bland described it as "eight or nine feet long," which is only about half the length of the whopper referred to by Mr. Boyd.

Mrs. Bland said that after a worker in the gravel pit uncovered the tusk, some hippies camping there over the weekend encased it in plaster of paris and "just left it there." Mrs. Bland said that as far as she knows, the tusk is still there in the gravel pit. She thinks it would be a choice item for the Garza County museum now being planned—or any museum. For that matter.

MRS. BLAND said Frank "Chief" Runkles of the Garza County Museum Association and the South Plains Archaeological Society had told her that if investigation showed the tusk to be of sufficient archaeological importance further excavations might be made at the site.

All that still leaves me in the dark, however, as to where the world-record 16-foot tusk Mr. Boyd said was found near Post came from, and when. Can anyone help with further information?

WHAT AMUSES children most when they go to the fair? School age children attended the Utah State Fair and were asked to submit essays on "What I learned while at the fair."

Some comments which caught the eyes of the judges were:

I learned not to get too close to goats with paper sacks (they eat them).

There are many things to see at the fair but the funniest of all are the people that are there.

If we didn't live in Utah, we would not be free.

Just think, if the hippies had a fair, what would they exhibit and who would come to see it.

You should bring a can of pop with your lunch or you'll die of thirst.

I liked the giant pigs. They were so huge they were the biggest pigs I've ever seen. I would not like to be smashed by one.

When going down the slide, I opened my mouth and it got all dry inside. It felt so weird.

I saw a white cow that was so pretty that we stayed and looked at it for ten minutes.

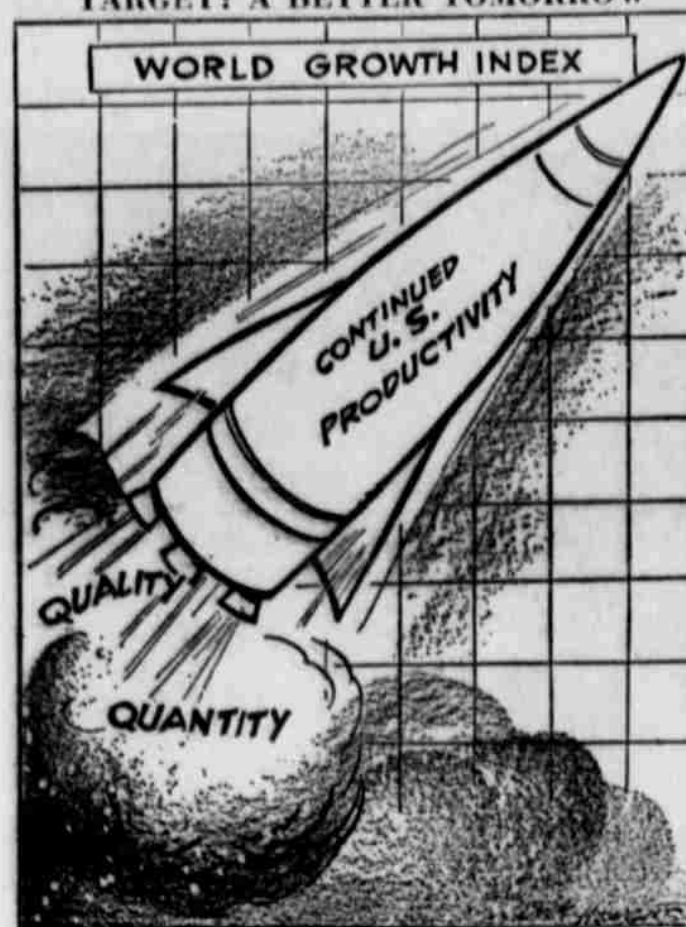

I bought a taco with hot sauce—it nearly put me in orbit.

VISIT IN SAN ANTONIO Mr. and Mrs. Walter Didway and children, Crista and Blair, spent the weekend in San Antonio visiting the Don Davenport family, former residents of Post.

It may be a monologue when one woman is talking; but when two women converse it's a catalogue.

As a man grows older and wiser he talks less and says more.

Change in name is announced by Cotton Producers Institute

NEW YORK—In a major redesign of corporate structure, the name of the Cotton Producers Institute has been changed to Cotton Incorporated, according to J. Dukes Woollers, Jr., executive vice president and general manager.

Twenty-five years ago

"The new name and other changes are all designed to project a more business-like atmosphere reflecting the intensity of our efforts to get more cotton on the market," he said.

The Cotton Producers Institute was formed about four years ago after cotton farmers voted in a referendum to contribute $1 per bale for use in research and promotion of cotton and cotton products.

"Cotton Incorporated is placing major emphasis on the sale of cotton to textile mills through marketing directors experienced in fiber sales and sales management. We're knocking on mill doors and convincing them that cotton is the best fiber they can possible use."

Members were reluctant to talk about where they would spend $850 million in new taxes they heard "the governor's" message to lawmakers set for the day after his second term inauguration.

While bills piled up in hopes of both houses during the 1971-72 session, the $7.5 billion state biennial budget prepared by the Legislative Budget Board. It would require $576.4 million in new taxes, and that was regarded as a high price.

Speaker Gus Mutscher was in a second term without a vote. Sen. Jack Hightower of Dallas was unanimously selected president pro tempore — which carries with it the duty of serving as governor for probably next April.

Welfare Crisis Growing — Lt. Gov. Barnes warned senate budget writers that emergency funding is necessary to prevent some welfare allocations from running out altogether.

He said money for aid to families with dependent children and medical assistance might be exhausted by May or June unless the legislature provides early supplements.

Barnes urged special attention to welfare problems.

Welfare officials confirmed a reduction in AFDC is likely "not later than March" if no additional money is provided. A reduction in "Medicaid" would result in "losing the whole program," they said, due to strict federal matching requirements.

Welfare department is asking a $34.9 million emergency appropriation to maintain the current level of aid to the needy, drawing AFDC and regular medical benefits.

Barnes is ordering a check to determine if local expenditures for medical welfare could be channeled through the state treasury and thus attract additional matching federal aid on a two-to-one ratio.

(This is the fourth in a series of articles prepared by the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants offering advice on filing 1970 income tax returns.)

one year it is necessary to have incurred $2,000 in long-term losses. Pre-1970 long-term losses are still fully deductible at the rate of $1,000 a year until the entire loss has been written off.

Short-term losses incurred in 1970 or those carried over from previous years can still be applied, net of short-term gains, against ordinary income dollar-for-dollar up to the $1,000 maximum allowable in any year.

With the number of stock market investors having risen above 31 million in 1970 and the stock market having gyrated as it did, more income taxpayers than ever before will be affected by the revised tax laws covering capital gains and losses, says Miller Montag, president of the Texas Society of CPAs.

Long-term capital gains and losses realized in 1970, which will be reported in income tax returns to be filed by April 15, 1971, are a subject, Montag says, to new rules that may adversely affect taxpayers in medium and upper brackets.

The tax ceiling of 25 per cent, exclusive of the surtax which applied for 1970 but has now expired, continues to apply to long-term gains, Montag says, on the first $50,000 of such gains ($25,000 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return). However, the tax ceiling on gains above $50,000 has been raised to 29.5 per cent plus the surcharge, and will climb to 32.5 per cent in 1971.

And the tax on long-term gains above $50,000 (or above $25,000 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return) is scheduled to go up even more. After 1971, one half of such gains will have to be counted as regular income. The top bracket on regular income is still 70 per cent, so that after 1971 the ceiling on each year's long-term gains over the $50,000 or $25,000 mark will be 35 per cent.

Effective with long-term losses incurred in 1970, two dollars of loss are required for each dollar of deduction. Thus, in order to deduct the $1,000 of loss allowable in any

Lively comedy film scheduled at Tower

Natalie Wood, Robert Culp, Elliott Gould and Dyan Cannon star in "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," a Columbia release in Technicolor, which shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Tower Theatre.

Called "the liveliest American comedy this year," the film is about people caught up in a sexual revolution no one fully understands. It's the fresh egg that gets slapped in the pan.

LISTENING POST

By GEORGE L. MILLER

One of the most distinguished new books in our library is "The New American Bible" published by J. Kenedy and Sons of New York. Over 25 years in preparation, this Bible is the product of the best Catholic scholarship available today.

In 1943 Pope Pius XII issued a famous statement concerning the Bible in the life of the Christian and the Church. In his statement he urged that a new translation be made available so that laymen could more easily read the Scriptures. He went on to point out that new advances in Biblical research could make such a translation easier now than ever before.

Until that time the only English translation of the Bible available to Catholics was the Douay-Rheims published in 1610 and revised in 1750. This version was a translation of the Latin Vulgate version prepared by Jerome in the 6th century. The Latin Vulgate has stood as the official version of the Bible since that time.

While Jerome's translation was a piece of scholarship, it suffers by comparison with more modern efforts. It relied solely on the Greek translation of the Old Testament, called the Septuagint. This is a Greek translation of the Hebrew text, done in 90 A.D.

Today we have countless documents of both the Old and New Testaments which were unknown to Jerome. We also have the Dead Sea Scrolls which have been invaluable in assisting scholars in their task of unraveling obscure Hebrew words and phrases.

"The New American Bible" takes advantage of all this wealth of material, assuring a far more accurate and readable version.

This is an entirely new translation into English. A few years ago, "The Jerusalem Bible" was published in English. It too is a new translation produced by Catholic scholars. However, this version was translated into French. When it received such high approval, the French version was compared with the original languages, and an English translation done. "The New American Bible" was an English effort from the start.

A quick glance through this new translation shows that clarity and ease of reading have been a primary objective. Unlike the "New English Bible" which appeared last year, this team of scholars has not attempted to polish its literary style.

The New English Bible had a board of consultants, writers and authors, who sought to produce as beautiful a use of the English language as was possible. "The New American Bible" foregoes polish in style for straight-forward clarity.

There is something very practical about the way Americans use their language. Get to the point — that is the main rule. It seems fitting to me that this new Bible should be called "The New American Bible". Its English is the kind of English Americans use.

For this reason, it ought to be a helpful Bible for study. It is readable, it is direct and as easy to understand as the Bible probably can ever be.

For the Protestant, accustomed to the grandeur of the King James Version, this Bible cannot measure up. The well-loved verses have changed and the new wording cannot take their place. But the Bible student will find it an invaluable aid in his study.

I recommend it to you.

Attention, all you slow-pokes. Our holiday from overdue fines has ended. If you didn't take advantage of it before the 15th it's too late now!

VISIT IN TAKOHA

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jolly visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mas Holland of Tahoka Friday evening.

MRS. BILBERRY VISITS

Mrs. Delia Bilberry visited in the home of Mrs. Wesley Stephens last week from Tuesday until Saturday.

This is a summer cottage. Your kid's education. An ocean voyage. Retirement.

Pretty practical way to look at something as patriotic as U.S. Savings Bonds, right? Well, there's nothing un-American about being practical. Which is exactly what you are when you put your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds.

For one thing, Bonds pay back a little over $4.00 for every $3.00 you invest. And now they do it in just seven years.

Also, the money you put into U.S. Savings Bonds is obviously safe. In fact, even if your Savings Bonds are lost, stolen, or burned, we'll replace them.

And, in case you have to save time as well as money, Savings Bonds are surprisingly easy to buy. You can pick them up at your bank. Or have someone else do the paperwork for you by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

One more thing. Bonds now have a new high interest rate of 4 1/2% when held to maturity. And buying them gives you the privilege of also buying the even higher interest 5% Freedom Shares in combination.

Put your savings in Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares. You could eventually end up with the summer cottage and the college education and the ocean voyage and retirement. And whatever else you want to save for.

Meeting held by Close City 4-Hers

Programs for the next four meetings were discussed at a recent meeting of the Close City 4-H Club in the community building there.

Karen Williams called the meeting to order, with Jodine Tipton leading in the 4-H pledge and motto. Darlene Gunn called the roll and read the minutes and also gave a report on the money earned selling candy.

Following adjournment, Christmas decorations were taken down.

Members present were: Darlene Gunn, Nita Jo Gunn, Danny Gunn, Jeff Williams, Karen Williams, Jodine Tipton, Linda Gonzales, Danny Gonzales, Cindy Terry, Johnny McCowen and Nancy McCowen.

Four leaders and three visitors were also present.

TO END VISIT HERE

Mrs. Mildred Nyman of Annapolis, Md., and Mrs. Allie Mae Moore of Abingdon, Ill., will leave for their homes Friday after attending funeral services for their mother, Mrs. Ida D. Robinson, Wednesday of last week, since which time they have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Myrtle Ashley. Another sister, Mrs. Rebelle Hamilton of El Cajon, Calif., returned home Sunday, and a brother, E. J. Robinson of Mesquite, last Thursday.

Texas leader in livestock export

AUSTIN — Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has released figures on the number of livestock Texans exported in 1970 and predicts that Texas will continue to rank Number One among the 50 states in the export of beef cattle, swine, sheep and goats.

Texas exported 111,083 head of goats; 75,820 head of sheep; 10,916 swine; and 6,352 head of cattle last year, Commissioner White said.

The state also exported 946 head of dairy cattle, which is believed enough to hold its No. 4 ranking in the export of dairy animals. Figures were available in 1970 for the first time on Texas export of horses and show that 1,124 were exported.

Most of the livestock and swine went to Mexico and South American countries which have found Texas cattle and hogs more than adequate for upgrading their herds, commissioner White said. Texas Department of Agriculture personnel are active throughout the year in helping foreign visitors locate and buy good Texas swine and livestock.

The figures on exports are based on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's health certificate records. Such certificates are required when exporting livestock and swine.

? Your Name? WHAT'S IN IT?

By CHARLES DIDWAY

COOPER

When surnames began evolving in medieval times it was natural for a man to take his name from his trade. These occupational names, which include the name Cooper, form one of the four major classifications of surnames.

A cooper was one who made or repaired wooden casks, buckets or tubs, the word itself being a derivative of the Latin "cuppa" or "cuppa" (a vessel). The name first appeared in written records as Robert le Cuper when an individual of that name was listed in the Pipe Rolls in Surrey, England, in 1176.

The popularity of the name Cooper may be attributed to the universal use of ale, beer and wines in the Middle Ages by people of all classes. This created a considerable need for the makers of casks, tubs and barrels in which to store the liquid refreshments.

Cooper is the 28th commonest name in England and Wales and is also quite common in Scotland and Ireland. It ranks 52nd among surnames in the United States with an estimated 250,000 persons named Cooper.

One of the earliest Englishmen of the name to attain prominence was Thomas Cooper, who died in 1594. His greatest work was a thesaurus, generally known as "Cooper's Dictionary," with which Queen Elizabeth I was said to be greatly pleased.

The most famous American of the name was the novelist James Fenimore Cooper, famed for his vivid stories about Indians and the sea. His father, Judge William Cooper, founded the village of Cooperstown, N. Y., which today is the site of the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Peter Cooper was an American manufacturer, inventor and philanthropist who in 1859 founded Cooper Union in New York City to provide free instruction to working men and women in art, applied science and technical knowledge bearing on industries and engineering.

Timely Tips from CHDA

By JANIS CHOATE

APPLIANCE SELECTION

Getting your money's worth when buying home appliances requires careful steps in choosing the right one.

Buy appliances from a reputable dealer. If not familiar with a dealer, call the local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce for information about the reputation of a business.

Shop in more than one store, comparing prices not only between stores but between brands as well. Be familiar with the manufacturer of the brand.

Choose an appliance which meets the family's needs and which contains features the family plans to use. Remember that an appliance intended for several years of service will require future needs.

Choosing features and the price range directly relates to frequency of use. When buying small appliances in particular, try to avoid purchasing appliances which do a job that an appliance you already have might do.

Consider the construction of the product, noticing whether it will be easy to clean. Controls should be clearly marked, conveniently located and easy to manipulate. Heat resistant material for handles, controls and base or legs are important for protection of the work surface. An Underwriters' Laboratories symbol on the appliance indicates that it meets certain standards for electrical safety.

Check the availability of service and replacement parts. Study the guarantee to learn just what is guaranteed, who is responsible for carrying out the terms of the guarantee and how long the guarantee is in effect.

Study the owner's manual before buying, asking questions about operation if necessary. After purchasing the appliance, read the manual thoroughly before operating, and refer to it as often as necessary until completely familiar with the operation of the appliance. Keep the manual as long as the appliance is in use.

PROTEIN FOODS

Protein foods, usually the most expensive of the four food groups, account for about 40 percent of the food dollar spent. With wise planning, however, you can buy tasty protein foods at budget prices.

Depending on your choice and amount of bone in the meat cut, a three-ounce serving of cooked, lean meat may vary in cost from a little as 14 cents to as much as 69 cents.

Fresh, frozen or canned meats, poultry, and fish have top-quality protein. By combining meat with dry beans or peas, you may be able to reduce the amount of food dollar spent for these foods. Remember also to plan for the use of leftovers.

For general health and growth, provide each member of your family with at least four to six ounces of edible protein food daily.

NATION'S CHEMISTS REPORT ON POLLUTION SOLUTION

The United States could do something about pollution now if it would really use the scientific knowledge already available. This is one of the overall conclusions of a 260-page report on "Cleaning Our Environment — The Chemical Basis for Action," which was made public recently by the American Chemical Society.

The report, which presents a comprehensive and up-to-date account of the current status of man's knowledge of the chemistry of environmental improvement, is the result of an exhaustive three-year study by the Society's Committee on Chemistry and Public Affairs. The technical content, covering air and water pollution, solid waste disposal, and the role of pesticides, was assembled by a task force made up of 26 of the nation's leading environmental scientists and engineers.

Far from offering a single cure-all for the nation's complex pollution problem, the Chemical Society's report contains a total of 73 recommendations, dealing with such things as automobile exhaust, pesticides, fertilizers, mine drainage, industrial discharges, junked autos, and numerous problems associated with trash and sewage disposal, and water and air purification.

The principal emphasis was placed on the immediate application of existing science and technology which, according to report, is not being adequately used.

At a public ceremony in the Rayburn House Office Building in Washington, D.C., the report was presented to representatives of Congress and the executive departments and agencies of the federal government. It was mailed to state and local officials in all parts of the country, and to executives, administrators, and scientists in industries and universities.

The nation already has approved many of the legal and administrative measures required to clean up the environment, the report says. What is needed now is increased application measures. This will require the cooperation of many people from a variety of disciplines such as law, sociology, politics, and economics, as well as science and technology. Concentrating on existing knowledge should not obscure the fact that more research is still needed to get a better understanding of the pollution problem. This research must be started now, so that it can provide the knowledge necessary to solve the new problems of the near future. The report focuses on areas that appear most advanced and recommends the specific areas in which more work must be done.

In the long run, the cost of pollution and its control will be paid for by the individual citizen, in taxes used to administer control and solution-seeking investigations. In return, the citizen will gain a lot for his investment. Better health, cleaner lakes and rivers for recreation, cleaner laundry in the back yard, longer life for the paint on houses, and less corrosion and breakdown of appliances and other equipment are among the rewards.

Cost, the report concedes, "is probably the most powerful constraint that the nation must deal with." The report urges biochemists, biologists, and other life-science researchers to seek radical innovations and more workable solutions.

Other recommendations call for research on the main contaminants of the atmosphere and measurement of the movements of pollutants in urban and regional areas, development of methods for removing sulphur from fuels and utility stack gases, and a concerted research program on the ecological effects of air pollutants.

The technology is available to upgrade sharply the handling and disposal of city refuse, but it is being applied only to a very limited extent, the report states.

Minimum use of persistent pesticides, the development of better biological and cultural methods of fighting insects, and education of pesticide users in safe methods are recommended as ways of obtaining economic control of pests on crops and animals with minimal adverse effects on nature.

Certainly, the American Chemical Society's report is an important milestone for the pollution solution.

One can be a big shot without being a big noise.

Oil recovered on three offset drillstem tests

BTA Oil Producers recovered oil on a Strawn drillstem test at No. 1 7013-JV-D Lot, three-eighths mile southwest offset to production in the recently reopened Ellenburger portion of the Red Lofin, North (Ellenburger and Strawn) field of Garza County.

A section from 7,668-713 feet was tested 70 minutes. Recovery was 150 feet of mud-cut oil, 120 feet of oil-cut mud and 550 feet of oil.

Initial shut-in bottomhole pressure in one hour was 3,381 pounds per square inch. Flowing pressure ranged from 133-228 pounds, and a two-hour final shut-in pressure was 3,287 pounds.

Another 70-minute drillstem test in the Strawn, from 7,735-750 feet, recovered 360 feet of salt water plus 270 feet of drilling mud.

Initial shut-in bottomhole pressure in one hour was 2,312 pounds. Flowing pressure ranged from 161-337 pounds, and a two-hour final shut-in pressure was 2,312 pounds.

A third 70-minute drillstem test, from 7,825-850 feet, recovered 90 feet of oil and 429 feet of oil- and gas-cut mud. Initial shut-in pressure in one hour was 799 pounds, flowing pressure varied from 128-256 pounds, and a one-hour final shut-in pressure was 351 pounds.

The drillsite is 1,900 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of Section 6, Block 2, T&NO Survey. It is 16 miles southeast of Post.

The discovery well in that area, BTA's No. 5 Logan 607 Ltd., was completed last April to pump 110 barrels of 38.6 gravity oil plus five barrels of water per day from an open hole section at 8,248-258 feet.

Southland area wildcat slated

Wheeler properties will drill the No. 1 K. Warshaw as a 4,600-foot wildcat, three miles southwest of Southland, in Lynn County.

The drillsite is 467 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of Section 13, Block J, GWT&P Survey. It is one and a half miles north of the Suniland (Glorieta) area.

Garza discovery is completed

Sun Oil Co. has completed an oil discovery at No. 1 S. M. Swenson & Sons, wildcat, 19 miles northeast of Post.

The well potential to flow 315 barrels of 40.3 gravity oil through a 12-64-inch choke in 24 hours from an open hole section at 7,878-888 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 460-1.

The drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of Section 9, Block 2, H&GN Survey. Suggested designation is Swenson (Ellenburger) field.

Area livestockmen set Houston meeting

AUSTIN — Livestockmen of the Southwest will assemble in Houston Jan. 29 and 30 at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel for the third annual Southwestern Animal Health Conference, according to Dr. William L. Anderson of Dallas, president of the conference. The conference, which was started in 1969 to give livestockmen the latest information relative to animal health, is sponsored by the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and the College of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

This year's conference is expected to draw the largest attendance of livestockmen in the history of the meeting. Animal health topics on horses, swine, beef and feedlot cattle, dairy and poultry will be discussed by 70 speakers. A general session on the program will deal with finance of livestock pursuits and the problems of residues in animal products, Dr. Anderson said.

If We Could Understand

By Tommy Davis

Some years ago Moody Films developed a science film showing a tight rosebud opening to full bloom. By ingeniously locating the camera in exactly the same position in relation to the bud, and timing the sequence over a period of weeks, they were able to show constant movement of the unfolding petals. Someone said, "A miracle!" Indeed it was a miracle, but it was just one of God's miracles. He has performed millions of times before. The only difference was that our eyes, unaided, were too slow to see it.

If you were to start out today and take a walk through nature, you would behold many unusual things. As you would look upon nature, you would see many miracles, for it is to our amazement that animals, creatures and plants can do as they do. The reason these would be miracles to you is the simple reason that we do not fully understand the acts of nature. With God, all these actions of nature are miracles performed a million times over. They are common place with God. He created the animals, creatures and plants to act just as they do, and these actions are not miraculous to God, but normal.

Many of the things in life which we call miracles are miracles only because we don't understand them. In reality they do or perform just as God created them to.

The only real miracle is man. Man is a living soul with the ability to choose what he will do or not do, and what he will be. The miracle is, that man, naturally sinful, has the ability to choose to live as God created him to live. This miracle is culminated in the transforming power of the Blood of Jesus Christ. Every person needs to and may experience this miracle.

Perhaps the song, "It Took a Miracle", by John W. Peterson says it well.

My Father is omnipotent,
And that you can't deny;
A God of might and miracles
'Tis written in the sky.

Tho here His glory has been shown,
We still can't fully see
The wonders of His might, His throne
'Twill take eternity.

The Bible tells us of His pow'r
And wisdom all way thru,
And ev'ry little bird and flow'r
Are testimonies too.

If took a miracle to put the stars in place,
If took a miracle to hang the world in space;
But when He saved my soul, Cleansed and
and made me whole,
It took a miracle of love and grace.

Consumer now has right to review information on his credit rating

COLLEGE STATION — A consumer will have the legal right, beginning Jan. 23, to review information concerning himself on file in credit-reporting agencies, announces Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension specialist in home management at Texas A&M University.

The new legislation passed by Congress states that anyone refused employment, credit or insurance because of a bad credit report must automatically receive the names and addresses of the reporting agencies.

The law also gives the consumer the right to require correction of any false information in his credit files. If the consumer disputes the information, the agency must re-investigate. The consumer also has the right to sue for damages resulting from negligence on the part of the credit-reporting agency.

Anyone who deliberately obtains information from a consumer-reporting agency under false pretenses will be violating federal criminal law. An officer or employee of the agency who knowingly makes unauthorized disclosure of confidential information from a consumer's file will also be violating federal criminal law.

The best safeguard a consumer can make is to be sure he has a good credit rating by making payments on time. A few late payments won't be considered a poor credit risk, but chronic late payments sometimes are reported against a consumer.

'3.76 in '76'

"Garza County producers will have access to production information and techniques that can help spell success for the Texas goal of $3.76 billion in 1976," says Conner.

The executive committee of the Garza County Program Building Committee is composed of Wagener Johnson, chairman; L. G. Thuet Jr., vice chairman; Mrs. Orabeth White, secretary; Bob Macy and Mrs. Wynne Kennedy.

Members of the group's crops sub-committee are L. G. Thuet Jr., chairman; Walton McQueen, secretary; Henry Wheatley, Carter White, L. C. Herron Jr., Bill McMahon and Bob Tidwell.

The livestock sub-committee is composed of Bob Macy, chairman; W. A. Long, Walter Boren, J. B. Potts, Jack Myers and Dale Cravy.

Texas presently accounts for about five per cent of the total national agricultural cash receipts. But to achieve the goal of "3.76 in '76", the state must claim almost 10 per cent of the projected national increase in the coming years. Extension specialists and county agricultural agents are scheduling meetings with producers throughout the state to help them with new advancements in technology and marketing in their particular areas.

In addition to the agriculture industry, the "3.76 in '76" program is also geared to help the consumer, the housewife in the grocery store, Conner explained.

"Consumers are concerned with an assurance of an adequate food supply, and 3.76 in '76 is a program of growth," the agent said. He adds that the new program is important because the increasing population must be fed on a decreasing amount of land used for agricultural production.

The increase in production and cash receipts will benefit the consumer as well as the producer. Food prices will undoubtedly be affected by an increased efficiency in production and marketing as costly practices in current use are improved or eliminated.

Evangelist gives Rotarians talk

Evangelist Jack Gray, who is conducting a revival this week at the First United Methodist Church, spoke before Post Rotarians at their weekly luncheon in City Hall Tuesday on the subject: "Man of God."

Johnny Robinson, youth song leader, sang several numbers preceding Gray's talk, accompanying himself on the guitar. Jerry Jones, song leader at the revival, also was a guest and was introduced.

The revival, which will conclude Sunday with morning and evening services, has included daily free breakfast services at 7 a.m. and evening services at 7:30, drawing large crowds to all services.

Banquet tickets available soon

Tickets will go on sale Monday, Feb. 1, for the annual membership banquet of the Post Chamber of Commerce, which is to be held on Thursday, Feb. 18, at the Community Center.

The tickets may be purchased at the Chamber office or from any of the directors, according to Helen Livingston, secretary of the organization.

The speaker at the banquet will be Wayne (Red) Smith of Pampo, a veteran chamber of commerce manager. The program also will include introduction of new officers and directors.

Others in the Brown plane group from Houston who attended the presentation and luncheon and also made some of the awards were I. W. Norman, vice president and general manager of the oil and gas division; R. P. (Pat) Haddox, vice president of Highland Resources in charge of drilling and production; Frank Finnigan, purchasing agent; and Chesley Brooks, assistant to the president.

O'Conner in his brief talk at the luncheon said the service awards "mean a little more than metal and stone." "We are working on putting our company together a little more cohesively."

"This recognition is our way of telling you that we know you are here doing your job."

He added at the end, "You people in Post are doing an excellent job for us."

The western style luncheon was catered by Jackson's Cafeteria.

The Houston officials flew on to Oklahoma to make another award presentation to another employee group that night.

Postings—

(Continued From Front Page) capital grinds endlessly and most of it is the kind of stuff a newsman throws away after opening. The ultimate arrived in the mail from Austin yesterday. With no return address and metered for six cents was a sealed empty envelope. Somebody just saved us a bit of "opening time" and got about the same results.

Texas comes into the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum on Saturday night to play the Texas Tech Red Raiders—and Editor Charlie and this writer will be there to see it. But really the prime objective of the trip will be to see Boyd Noble, Post's latest contribution to Southwest Conference basketball, in action in the freshman team preliminary between the two schools.

Tech sports publicist Ralph Carpenter tells us that Boyd is the starting center for the Tech freshmen and that the 6-10 Post player has learned more basketball since fall than he ever knew existed. Maybe some of you other local fans would like to see this one.

The water manager said a water district crew will start work completing the installation Monday. O'Brien reported the lake level at only 4.4 feet below the "morning glory" which measures the top of the lake when it is full under normal circumstances. O'Brien reported only a 4 of a foot loss in the lake level since Dec. 1, despite drought conditions in the watershed area which have been in effect since early fall.

O'Brien in his monthly report to directors showed that water revenue to the district was $21,554.636 for November and $21,295.49 for December with recreational revenue being only $350 in November and $400 in December. Lost revenue was $140 for each month.

The December water revenue included $14,183.13 from the four member cities on their water contracts; $6,126.17 in water sales to George R. Brown for waterflooding; $1,124.06 in water sales to Sun Oil Company for waterflooding; $85.42 in water sales to White River Golf Club; $164.71 in water sales to farmers on the district's water lines to member cities; and $612 in water sales to lake cabin owners.

Attending the session from Post were Directors J. B. Potts, S. E. Camp, and Julius Stelzer; Mayor Giles C. McCrary, and Publisher Jim Cornish.

Vote registration dragging at 398

A total of 398 persons, including 43 under 21 years of age, had been issued voting certificates up to noon Wednesday, according to T. H. Tipton, county tax assessor-collector.

The new under-21 group of voters in Texas will be eligible to vote only in federal elections under the present law.

Even though this is an "off" election year, the 398 total reported Wednesday is considered low, since there are more than 2,000 persons of voting age in the county.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for voter registration.

Post cage teams to Tahoka Friday for loop contests

Roosevelt here Tuesday for next home games

The Post Antelopes and Does will play Tahoka Friday night to start the second round of play in District 4A with a boys' "B" team game scheduled.

The Antelopes' only district win late was against Tahoka by a score of 63 to 44 several weeks ago in the district quarter for both teams. The Does lost to the Tahoka girls that same evening.

Tuesday night, Jan. 26, the Post teams play district games here at Roosevelt, which also holds victories over both local teams.

Antelopes, Does lose to Frenship

Post Antelopes and Does lost Tuesday 4A games at Frenship. The boys' team, 68 to 44, and the girls' team, 52 to 40, lost on the short end of a 63 to 44 score.

Prather's 39 points on 17 goals and five free throws led the Frenship girls to their point win over Post, with Bird's 23 points on eight free throws and seven free throw top-offs the Does' effort.

The boys' game was behind 18-12 at the end of the first quarter, but pulled only a three-point deficit, 32 by halftime. They were out 20-11 in the third period, to give Frenship a 52-40 going into the final quarter.

Shanie Davis scored 17 points on eight buckets from the line and one from the charity line. Jackson hit four field goals and two free throws for 10 points, while Moore two fielders and two charity tosses for nine points.

It's the Law...

LOST AT THE LAUNDRY

Katherine went to the neighborhood laundry to pick up her week's wash. But the proprietor greeted her with bad news.

"We had a burglary last night," she said, "and your bundles were stolen. I'm afraid you are just out of luck."

But Katherine decided that she, at least, ought to bear the loss. After suit for damages, she pointed out that the back door of the laundry had only the flimsiest kind of lock, even though the building had been burglarized before. The proprietor found the proprietor guilty of negligence, and ordered him to reimburse Katherine's claim.

"If you leave clothing at either laundry or a dry cleaner, you are waiving what the law calls a 'right of notice.' The company, as the law must take reasonable care of your belongings. Although not to be liable for an unavoidable loss, it is liable for a loss it could fairly be prevented.

Because the company tries to protect itself by a notice saying it is not responsible for losses of any kind, does that make a difference? Courts will recognize some negligence, but not a total denial of the company's liability. Furthermore, notice has no legal effect if it is properly brought to the attention.

In one case a laundry inserted a note in a finished bundle a small note, placing a dollar sign in its liability for losses. But the customer demanded payment for some missing items, the laundry was held liable in full.

The note said the dollar limit was not to be part of the bailment because it was not even noticed when the clothing was brought in.

On the other hand, the company is entitled to "notice" of what is being repaired. In one case, a man negligently left a ring in the pocket of a suit he brought to the cleaner. The ring vanished and he put in a claim against the company for compensation.

After a court hearing, his suit was turned down. The court could not blame the company for not knowing what it did not even had.

Slaton teams down Post cagers Friday

Would you believe three points in the first quarter and 12 in the second for a 15-point first half? That was the cold-shooting Post Antelopes' first half production against the Slaton Tigers here last Friday night — with the Tigers going on to win the District 4A contest by a score of 82 to 46.

The Slaton Tigerettes also won, overcoming the Post Does, 83 to 54, with the Post team staying close to its opponents only in the first few minutes of play.

With Steve Hays, one of the Antelopes' two top scorers for the season, riding the bench throughout the game, senior guard Robert Bullock was the only 'Lope player hitting in double figures. He finished with 24 points for game honors, besides being the only Antelope to play the entire game.

T. W. Whitfield was Slaton's top scorer with 18 points.

Post held an early lead in the girls' game, but had fallen behind 21-12 by the end of the first quarter. They pulled up to 23-20 midway of the second quarter, but stopped there, with five straight turnovers enabling the Tigerettes to shoot back up to a 13-point 33-20 margin.

Sherry Bird connected on 13 field goals and 17 free throws for a whopping 43 points, but didn't get much help from the other forwards, with Stephanie Davis hitting seven points and Jackie Moore and Trena Jackson, two apiece.

Marilyn Meeks paced Slaton's balanced scoring with 29 points. Janelle Gass contributed 21 and Sue Brake, 20.

'70 cotton crop was 'strongest on record'

LUBBOCK — The 1970 cotton crop from the Texas High Plains was the strongest ever recorded, had micronaire readings equal to the best since 1964, graded better than any year since 1965 — but had the shortest average staple length since 1966.

These facts came last week from the final report on cotton quality for the season, released by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. The report, issued periodically during the harvest season each year since 1957, is used by PCG as a tool for the promotion of High Plains cotton sales to textile mills both in the U. S. and abroad. It is supplied without charge to textile mills around the world, to the cotton trade and others as a "catalogue" of the qualities and quantities of cotton available from the Plains area.

Strength of the High Plains fiber, as measured on the zero gauge Pressley, in 1970 averaged 84,900 pounds per square inch, 2,900 psi above the 82,000 psi record established in 1968 and equalled again in 1969.

The 1970 micronaire average of 3.7 was the same as the average for 1969 and equal to the same high established in 1964. The percentage of the 1970 crop falling in the premium 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range came to 68.3, also about the same as 1969.

While the 41.2 per cent of the crop grading "white" in 1970 was considerably better than the 24 per cent in 1969 it still fell well short of the 1965 crop when 61 per cent was in the White category. Light spotted cotton for 1970 totaled almost 45 per cent of the crop, as compared to 46 per cent the previous year and only 36 per cent in 1965.

Staple average for 1970, according to the PCG report, was only 31.1 thirty-seconds of an inch, the shortest crop since 1966 when area production had an average staple length of only 30.4 thirty-seconds.

This was the second consecutive year of declining staple on the Plains. Staple averages for 1967, 1968 and 1969 were 31.6 thirty-seconds, 32.3 thirty-seconds and 31.5 thirty-seconds, respectively.

The rise (from 1966 to 1968) and fall (from 1968 to 1970) of staple length on the High Plains is an exact reflection of marketing conditions for the different staples during the period. In 1966 and 1967, when High Plains farmers were growing predominately short staples, long staples were the darlings of the textile world. They sold for substantial premiums over government loan values while short staples sold barely above, or were committed to, the loan. Mill people at the time were telling farmers that the longer cottons were definitely the cottons of the future.

"The only time some of us don't want to be in the spotlight is when it's attached to a police car."

Cotton producers on the Plains took them at their word and in 1968 produced almost 68 per cent of their crops in staples of an inch or longer. But the market premiums they expected were not forthcoming. Since 1968 the longer cottons have sold at loan price or barely above, and short staples have brought the premiums above loan values.

Physical prices for the high grade, longer staples are still higher than physical prices for low grade, short staples. But these latter cottons have been in greater demand and have sold significantly above loan values. And it appears that farmers, when selecting varieties, have given more weight to "premiums over the loan" than to physical prices.

If they continue to do so, and if the shorter staples continue in demand, no increase in staple length on the High Plains can be expected in the near future.

Many 'milestones' for 1970 are claimed by Texas Highway Dept.

AUSTIN — Joyce Kilmer once wrote that "life is a highway and its milestones are the years." The Texas Highway Department can claim many "milestones" for 1970.

The year was one of solid achievement for the state highway network. To begin with, the total designated mileage grew to 696,973 miles. About 700 of these miles were added during 1970.

The state blazed a trail for other states to follow in the Interstate Highway program. Texas has more designated Interstate mileage than any other state, with a total of 3,179 miles.

At the end of the year, Texas had some 2,320 miles of interstate open to traffic, with 329 miles under

LBJ Park draws foreign visitors

JOHNSON CITY—Lyndon B. Johnson State Park is attracting visitors from all over the world. In December 56 families from 15 foreign countries signed the guest register in the park.

Japan had the most representatives with 16 families, followed by Brazil with 10 families.

Visitors also came from every state within the continental United States. A total of 577 families came from the states.

construction. Another important highway system built, maintained and operated by the department, matured during 1970. The Farm- and Ranch-to-Market road network grew to almost 40 thousand designated miles during the year.

This superb, all-paved system of secondary roads also grew in sophistication. Originally, the system was credited mainly with "getting the farmer out of the mud."

Now the FM system has taken on new roles in the economic life of Texas. FM roads provide access for industrialization in virtually every part of the state.

FM roads supported the recreational travel industry in a big way during 1970. FM roads provided primary or partial access to the state's nearly 6,000 square miles of inland waters.

Growth of the highway system during the year was linked closely with vehicle ownership. By the end of December 7,538,024 motor vehicles were registered in Texas.

Because of this increase in motor vehicles and the increase over the state in the number of miles each was driven, the growth of the Texas highway system cannot be measured just in miles.

Many miles of state highways constantly were being improved and upgraded. During the year, 3,748 miles of rural divided highways and 1,628 miles of urban divided highways were in service.

In addition, as of Dec. 31, about 562 miles of rural divided highways and 127 miles of urban divided highways were under construction.

Shower given couple whose house burned

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Hello friends and neighbors! Glad to be back at the old typewriter again this week, but a lot has happened to Edmund and I since Monday of last week. First, we took our first jet airplane ride, flying from Lubbock to Phoenix, Ariz. Second, we saw our first grandchild for the very first time! Which was most thrilling? Seeing Lea Ann, of course! We held her every chance we got and that wasn't very often because she slept all the time. But, she is a darling, and we are so proud of her. By the way, I just happen to have some pictures of her, so if you see me and don't want to look at pictures and listen to me brag, you better duck out of sight. Ha!

It is just great, living in a community such as ours! Sometimes we all get pretty discouraged reading about all the terrible things that are happening in our world, so now let me tell you of something great that happened in our community last Saturday night. As you probably already know, Mrs. Martin's home burned recently and the young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Gerner, who was in the process of moving into the house lost everything they had. Well, some mighty fine men and women of the community decided to give this young couple a shower and they invited everyone to come. Edmund and I went and I was just thrilled to see so many people there! The couple received many, many nice gifts and they were so thrilled with everything. Since this young married couple hadn't lived in this community before, most of us didn't know them, but that didn't stop the people in this fine community, they turned out anyway, anything to help someone in need. So many times this past year, neighbors in the different communities have gotten together to help someone in need, and sometimes this goes unmentioned, so we just wanted to tell you what happened in our community.

Elections for different things were held at Southland High School last week with the following results:

Mr. and Mrs. S.H.S. Douglas Smallwood and Breonne Winterrowd.

Best Personality: Margie Perez and Ray Valdez.

Most Athletic: Joan Gindorf and Joe Bevers. Each couple will have a full page in the annual.

There will be ball games at Southland on Monday, Tuesday and Friday of this week. Come on out and watch one or more of them.

We want to extend our deepest sympathies to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long and family in the recent death of Mrs. Long's brother-in-law, A. R. Romines of Plainview. Mr. Romines had been in ill health for quite some time and passed away on Monday, Jan. 11. He was buried Wednesday, Jan. 13, at Plainview. May God comfort this family.

'71 highway maps made available

Garza countians who would like to have a copy of the new 1971 Official State Highway Map may obtain one by sending their name, address and ZIP code to Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Box 5064, Austin, Tex. 78703.

Or they may obtain a copy at a Highway Department Tourist Bureau or at Department district offices.

This year's map includes the addition of three lakes, the designation of six new comfort stations on non-interstate routes, a new U. S. highway number designation from near Moore all the way to Mexico, and a new cover featuring a picture of the wonders of Padre Island National Seashore.

The map is a perennial favorite of Texas motorists. Over 1.2 million maps were distributed last year and projections for 1971 call for distribution as high as 1.4 million.

Vets' insurance to pay dividends of $275 million

A record $275 million in dividends will be paid in 1971 to more than 4.1 million veterans holding World War I and World War II insurance policies, Jack Coker, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Waco, has announced.

Coker said the higher dividends are possible because of increased interest earning of the National (NSLI) and U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) trust funds.

He noted that dividends totaling $255 million and averaging about $64 apiece will go to about four million veterans with NSLI (World War I) policies.

The 163,400 veterans with USGLI (World War II) policies will receive $20 million in dividends, averaging about $122 apiece. All dividends will be paid in 1971 on the anniversary dates of the policies, Coker said.

The director stressed that since payment of dividends will be automatic, veterans need not write to the VA to receive payment. Veterans who have instructed VA to retain their dividends will receive appropriate statements, he said.
