More pumps planned on lake water line to Post

Capacity boost to 3,100,000 gallons

The White River Municipal Water District is planning to install more pumps on its water line to Post so that by next summer the capacity of the line can be boosted from 1,900,000 gallons daily to over 3,100,000 gallons daily.

Al O'Brien, water district manager, told directors at their October meeting last Thursday night at the White River Restaurant that by adding more pumps to the Post line, more water could be moved through the same-sized line by increasing the rate of flow.

O'Brien also said additional water storage is being planned for Post.

The increased water needs here are due to the increased use of White River water for oil field waterflooding in Garza County, principally by the George R. Brown oil interests.

White River directors also were told at the monthly meeting that the Caprock Telephone Co., Inc., is planning a new 300-line White River Lake exchange with installation to be completed within about 12 months.

Jim Wright, manager of the Caprock firm which built the Verbena exchange in Garza County, told directors that his firm knew that the 30-some phone customers around the lake shore were now having telephone difficulties with existing telephone facilities his firm is providing via the Dry Lake exchange, which is 13 miles by pole line away.

Wright said his firm already has been assured of a federal REA loan for the project and the money will be forthcoming as soon as plans for the exchange, already forwarded to Washington, are approved and other REA requirements met.

He said the new White River Lake exchange would serve the lake area, the Calgary community, and rural customers in that area.

The exchange will be equipped for direct automatic dialing and all the phone lines will be laid underground to prevent storm damage and provide improved service.

Wright also said all the phones installed for the new exchange would be "one party service."

Directors authorized the "one party service" of the board to advertise for bids for a new four-wheel drive pickup needed for repair service on the Post and Spur lines in wet weather and a new car for the lake manager.

Directors also decided to amend their lake ordinance to provide a minimum $10 penalty for fishermen caught without permits at the lake. The choice up to now has been to pay $2 or be ticketed to a Crosby County justice of the peace court.

Increasing the size of the penalty is to "break the habit" of some fishermen in fishing without a license because the penalty when caught is only double the amount of the license.

Directors also approved a preliminary operating budget for the operation of the district through June 30, 1970.

The budget calls for $360,901.50 in water district expenditures of which $171,081 will go for payments on bond interest and $56,000 on bond principal. This leaves about $133,800 for the operating costs for the district.

Budgeted income includes $147,400 from ad valorem taxes, $220,597 from water revenue, and $20,730 in interest on investments.

Chapman Park proposed as name

Park board asked to take over new area

The city council Monday night voted to ask the city - county park board to take over the maintenance of the new neighborhood park and playground built by Earl Chapman in the Lincoln Addition and proposed the park be named Chapman Park for its builder.

The city will ask the county commissioners court to concur in the new park's name as the proposed park maintenance would be a joint effort.

Councilman David Newby said Chapman is willing to install underground watering pipe for the new park if the city would provide the sprinkler heads. This proposal will be passed along to the park board.

In proposing that the park be named for Chapman, Newby said such a move certainly would be fitting as the park has been a one-man project by Chapman from the start with a little outside help from time to time.

In other actions at their October meeting, the council:

Decided to continue with a two-car police department by buying City Manager Bobby Pierce a new car and turning Pierce's present vehicle over to the police department as a backup car instead of trading it in.

Gold Star Boy, Girl of 1969 named here

Two Graham community youngsters, John Johnson and Cynthia White, received the 1969 Garza County 4-H Gold Star Boy and Girl awards Monday night at the annual 4-H Achievement program and banquet held at the 4-H building and attended by approximately 225 persons.

Parents of the Gold Star Boy and Girl are Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Carter White. John is completing his sixth year as a 4-H'er, and Cynthia is completing her third year.

Bernard S. Ramsey, minister of the First Christian Church and guest speaker, urged the more than 100 4-H members attending the banquet, "Don't fasten your heart and your life to things that perish, for if you do you will surely perish with them."

The sermon on the Mount was the basis of the minister's talk, and he told his listeners that "the secret of the Christian religion is in that sermon."

"The major secret of Christianity," he said, "is for us to know that we can't live up to this kind of faith, but to keep on trying."

State Sen. David W. Ratliff and Mrs. Ratliff attended the banquet as guests of County Judge J. E. Parker and Mrs. Parker.

Mental clinic for county proposed

County Judge J. E. Parker who attended the Governor's Conference on Mental Retardation and Mental Health in Big Spring Friday and Saturday said a "treatment clinic" would "be a help to many of our folks in Garza County."

The county official said counties or cities which have such clinics greatly reduce the percentage of return of patients to the mental hospital at Big Spring.

He said Lamesa has such a clinic and state financial help is available for their establishment. "It would cost us something but it would be worth it," Judge Parker said.

Mrs. Parker accompanied her husband to Big Spring for the conference which drew an attendance of 350.

Floy Richardson was elected president of the Garza County Sheriff's Posse at a meeting in the district courtroom last Thursday with 15 members and four visitors present.

Other officers elected were: Basil Puckett, vice president; Margaret Williams, secretary; Cecil Bland, parade marshal; Wayne Hill, assistant marshal, and Alma Bland, reporter. Miss Joan Minor was again chosen posse queen.

The sheriff's posse will have a cookout barbecue at the City-County 'Park on Oct. 18 and a trail ride on Oct. 19. The posse's next meeting will be the first Thursday in November.

This is "the week that was".

It's Oil Progress Week, National 4-H Week, Fire Prevention Week, and National Newspaper Week — all rolled into one. The Dispatch has tried to cover them all and call attention to them all which has produced a jam-packed 16-pager.

But that's not all.

This Saturday Grant Lott will hold his Grand Opening Sale at White Auto Store (see his ad on page 3) and today Bryce Martin opens his Fifth Anniversary Sale at Martin's Department store see his ad on page 8).

It's been a tough week too for meetings. We've had the White River directors, the city council, the Rotary Teachers Appreciation banquet, and the hospital board virtually in a row except the White River one was last Thursday night and it included a T-bone steak.

In all the hurry to get it out on time, we haven't had much time to accumulate column material.

So we'll stop right here with an admission to the 'Lopes that the Stanton Buffaloes might stampee Post right out of Antelope Stadium tomorrow night if the 'Lopes don't get back to playing the ball they're capable of.

Scarborough rites are held Monday

Funeral services for Wilford Marvin (Will) Scarborough, 68, who died early Saturday morning after a brief illness, were conducted at 3 p. m. Monday in the First Christian Church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Scarborough, a retired restaurant owner and cook, had been a resident of Post since 1909. He was born Sept. 5, 1901, at Glen Rose.

He was a past president of the Post Chamber of Commerce and a former member of the Post Lions Club, in which he had held a number of offices.

Survivors are his wife, Willie, of the home, 218 North Ave. H; his mother, Mrs. J. S. Scarborough of Post; three stepsons, Bill Woods of Midland, Carroll Light of Abilene and Billy Light of Brownfield; one stepdaughter, Mrs. J. E. Hill of Cairo, Ga., and two sisters, Mrs. Opal Wright of Post and Mrs. Lois Crump of Oxnard, Calif.

Bernard S. Ramsey, First Christian Church minister, officiated at the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. Charles E. Peters, pastor (See Scarborough, page 8)

Area waterflooding making fast growth

The George R. Brown oil interests is well under way with waterflooding on the second unit of their Garza Field, Zone A waterflood project, with water injection on the first unit having been under way since February.

The new unit, a little more than a mile south of town, is the Post-Magnery Unit No. 1, where water was being injected into nine wells last week, and where from 30 to 36 wells will be getting the injection water once the unit is completed.

"This second unit is more than twice as big as the first — the Post Estate A," said E. R. (Buster) Moreland, local manager for the Brown interests.

"Our long-range plans are for three more waterflood units, which means that we could eventually have as many as one hundred wells in the secondary recovery project," Moreland said.

Several leases have been unitized on the newest waterflood unit, the manager explained.

The layout of the new waterflood unit includes a pump house in which a five-piston automatic injection pump is housed; two water tanks, each of 1,000-barrel capacity, a de-aerating tower, a surging tank, and a high pole on top of which is a light that glows red and revolves when something goes wrong with any of the operations at the pump station.

The purpose of the de-aerating tower is to eliminate the oxygen which would corrode pipe, well tubing, pumps, etc.

The automatic pump, which shuts down if anything goes wrong, injects water into the wells at about 1,000 pounds pressure.

"We are shooting at an injection rate of 300 barrels a well each day," Moreland said, "but of course that figure will vary a little, depending on the well pressure and other factors."

As this particular unit grows and more wells are put on injection, another pump just like the first will be installed in the other end of the pump house, the manager said.

The revolving red light atop the tall pole will flash on when something goes wrong and the light will be visible to pump station attendants elsewhere in the field, or even (See Waterflood, page 8)

Ex-students' event

Post homecoming will be Oct. 17

Friday, Oct. 17, will be the Post schools' homecoming, with the Post Ex-Students Association's only planned activity an after-the-dance.

Tommy Young, president of the exes' association, said the dance will be held in the building between the bank and the post office, with dance music by "The Westernaires."

The high school football queen, band sweetheart and pep squad sweetheart will be crowned at the game with a complete schedule of these events to appear in next Thursday's Dispatch.

Two women killed in crash at intersection

A car-truck collision about 6:30 p. m. Saturday a mile north of the One City community resulted in the deaths of Mrs. Leta Tipton, 68, wife of Garza County Tax Assessor - Collector T. H. Tipton, and Mrs. Linda Harris, 23, of Cross Plains.

Mrs. Tipton apparently was killed instantly in the accident. Mrs. Harris died at 6:31 p. m. Sunday at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital.

The accident occurred when an automobile driven by Mrs. Tipton and an unloaded grain truck driven by Mrs. Harris' husband, Mack Harris, collided at the intersection of a county dirt road and FM Road 200.

Investigating officers reported Mrs. Tipton was driving west on the county road and the Harris was traveling north on FM-399.

Neither vehicle overturned, but both Mrs. Tipton and Mrs. Harris were thrown out of the vehicles in which they were riding, it was reported. Mr. Harris was not injured.

Mrs. Tipton was driving to visit her son, Marshall Tipton, who lives in the One City community, and the Harris were en route to the Chester Morris farm after a load of grain, officers said they learned.

The accident was investigated by the sheriff's department and Texas highway patrolmen.

Friends of the Harris said the couple's female Chihuahua dog was in the truck has been missing since the accident. The dog is described as weighing about four pounds, and is brown with black feet.

Funeral services for Mrs. Tipton, a resident of Garza County since 19 years, were held at 10 a. m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church.

Waterflooding era under way

The "big news" as far as oil progress is concerned for 1969 is the further development of waterflooding here in Garza County.

Since this is Oil Progress Week, it should be pointed out that the waterflooding of older fields—by George R. Brown interests, Sun Oil Company and others—is just getting started really as far as any production is concerned.

It will probably take two decades or more to waterflood present Garza oil fields so that millions of dollars worth of additional oil may be recovered from present production areas by this secondary method.

A bonus for Post folks as far as the waterflooding is concerned is that the use of White River Lake water for this purpose is expected to eventually replace the need for water district ad valorem taxes.

The water district's current budget anticipates $220,597,000 in the sale of water to the four towns, oil companies, lake cabin owners, and farmers living along the water lines to the member towns who have installed taps and are buying White River Lake water. This year the district is collecting $37,000 less in taxes (20 per cent cut) because of the increased water sales.

When water sales increase to the point of providing all necessary funds to meet a $381,000 or thereabouts annual budget for operating the district and retirement of bonded indebtedness of the district, there will no longer be a tax need.

That may be a whole lot closer timewise than you think. At least water district taxpayers can look forward to more tax reductions as more and more White River water is used for waterflooding of Garza oil fields.

Last month, the district reported $18,605 in water sales, of which $14,183.13 were to the four member cities, $797.74 to the Sun Oil Co., $2,951.90 to the George R. Brown oil interests, $191.58 to rural meters along the water lines to the cities, and $481.14 to lot leasers around the lake shore.

While there is relatively little new drilling in Garza County for oil, the oil industry still plays a major role in the county's economics. With the long waterflooding era just beginning, the oil industry will continue to play that major role for many years to come. And the more White River water purchased for such efforts, the more the industry will relieve local taxpayers of their water taxes.—JC

Two kinds of firemen's visits

This is National Fire Prevention Week and a good time for our citizens to make a careful inspection of their property for fire hazards.

Fire Chief Lloyd Moeck, speaking on behalf of the Post Volunteer Fire Department, urges citizens to keep a close check on possible fire hazards. "Many fires are caused by faulty wiring, overloaded circuits, or pennies behind fuses, and appliances not properly grounded," said the fire chief.

The fire chief pointed out the tragedy of fire when he said, "Last year home fires killed at least 6,500 people." He went on to point out that rural fires usually are three to six times as destructive as city fires because of the time involved in getting to the fire.

There is no way of telling how many fires are prevented each year by those conscientious citizens who make a complete and thorough examination of their property, replacing damaged electrical cords and wiring, examining procedures of storing and handling of flammable liquids, cleaning up of trashy areas of litter and dead weeds.

Our homes become more hazardous each year with the addition of more and more electrical appliances. Homes wired originally for just lighting, can easily be overloaded when television sets, hi-fi sets, window air conditioning units, etc., are added without additional wiring installed to carry the extra load.

The Post Volunteer Fire Department does a good job and its members recently received a well-deserved pay raise from the City Council. These firemen are my friends and your friends, and we're always glad to have one or more of them drop in for a visit. But hadn't we all much rather they'd just drop by for a friendly visit instead of having to call on us to put out a fire? They don't want that any more than we do. That is why the firemen and their chief urge that we guard against fires, particularly those caused by carelessness.—CD

Newspapers help people prosper

This is the week of weeks, and almost lost among Oil Progress Week, National 4-H Club Week and Fire Prevention Week is National Newspaper Week, Oct. 5-11.

We don't have room to say much about National Newspaper Week, but The Dispatch does want to take its bows along with the rest of the nation's newspapers.

The function of a newspaper in informing and entertaining people is well known. But not many think of newspapers as a business, a manufacturing business that is one of the finest examples of free enterprise at work.

A paper must make a profit to survive. It depends upon advertisers who use newspapers in order that their own businesses can make a profit.

The entire newspaper industry is based on the enterprise system and the American public has benefited tremendously. Thousands of newspapers, large and small, exist in the United States and their independence almost guarantees freedom of the press.

We're small, but we have a large pride in being a part of the newspaper business.—CD

You've heard of what a madhouse the sports department of a daily newspaper is on Friday nights when the high school football scores start pouring in. Well, the Associated Press office in Dallas just has to be nearly as bad. They get ALL the high school scores out to their member newspapers as they come in on Friday nights, and, being human, they sometimes mess up. Saturday morning, the AP's roundup on high school scores had Wilson beating Meadow and also had Wilson beating Big Pasture. It finally was corrected to Wilson, Tex., beating Meadow, Tex., and Wilson, Okla., beating Big Pasture, Okla. In another foul-up in Saturday morning's scores, the AP roundup had Post beating Falls City. A few scores farther down, it had Roth beating Falls City, and then down near the bot-percentage depletion of petroleum from federal income tax law could result in a gasoline price increase of 2.5 to 3 cents a gallon, according to a new study by the Petroleum Industry Foundation, Inc.

Ending percentage depletion could hike gasoline prices

The study says that a 7.5 per cent boost in the price of gasoline, the study says the heaviest burden would be on the nation's lowest income groups, which spend proportionately more of their income on gasoline than do higher income groups.

According to the report, the heaviest burden would be on families with incomes of $3,000 or less, which spend 6.2 per cent of their income on gasoline, compared to 1.5 per cent for families with incomes of $15,000 a year.

The report also notes that the elimination of percentage depletion would have placed an additional $1.3 billion tax obligation on the domestic oil and gas industry for 1968.

The study concludes that the petroleum industry could not absorb the additional tax burden imposed by the elimination of the depletion provision because oil prices are already below the average for all businesses.

The study also notes that the petroleum industry already pays a share of the cost of the depletion allowance to the government.

Teresia Ann Maddox is wed here Friday to Marvin Glen Williams

Miss Teresia Ann Maddox and Marvin Glen Williams were united in marriage Friday, Oct. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the evening at the Trinity Baptist Church.

The Rev. Jimmy McGuire, former local pastor now at the Arden Baptist Church in Lubbock, officiated at the reading of the double ring vows before the wedding of two candelabra adorned with greenery and gold bows and baskets of white gladiolas, gold mums and white pom-poms.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Maddox and Mrs. Zora Robinson and the late Marvin Williams.

As the bride came down the aisle escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, she handed a red rose to her mother and as she left the church presented a red rose to her mother-in-law.

Following the reading of the marriage vows the couple turned to a satin-draped table holding three candles. Taking the two lighted candles they lighted the remaining one to signify unity.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white peau de soie featuring an empire bodice and A-line skirt. A long sleeved removable bolero jacket was enhanced with a flared lace ruffle at the edge of the sleeves and repeated to form a joba on the neckline of the sleeveless dress. Her mantilla of white lace fell to shoulder length. Her cascade bouquet of white pom-poms surrounded an orchid and was tied with a gold bow.

Miss Donna Maddox was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of gold bonded crepe featuring a belted bodice and carried a nosegay of white pom-poms.

Racy Robinson was his stepson's best man. Ushers were Elton Faulkner, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Larry Newton, both of Lubbock. Lighting the candles were Keith and Ricky Faulkner, nephews of the bridegroom.

Miss Kay Litton accompanied Billy Jack Hodges of Abilene as he sang "More" and "Because". Mr. Hodges also sang "Whither Thou Goest" as the couple lighted the candle to signify unity.

Miss Nancy Maddox, another sister of the bride, registered the guests at the reception in Fellowship Hall.

Members of the house party were: Mmes. Gracie Hodges, Billie Cross, Geraldine Butler, Peggy Faulkner, Opal Rudd, and Misses Brenda Hodges, Donna Rudd and Sue Harrison.

For travel the bride chose a gold, white and gray wool coat dress made with a belted back and a stand-up collar. She added the orchid from her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are living at 1921 Ave. N, Lubbock, where he is employed with Pioneer Natural Gas Company and she is employed at University Coiffures.

Wedding guests attended from Abilene, Lubbock and Sudan.

Ledbetter-Cook vows exchanged

Miss Carolyn Ann Ledbetter and Kenneth Jay Cook were married Sept. 28 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Graham Church of Christ with Homer Jones of Wellman, Church of Christ minister, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ledbetter of Route 3 and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cook.

The bride wore a white knit suit with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Cook graduated from Post High School in the spring. Mr. Cook, a 1966 PHS graduate, returned recently from a year of service in Vietnam with the Air Force. He has been in the service since the summer of 1966 and will serve seven more months in Fort Worth before being discharged.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

This column could quite aptly be named this week: "A Disgruntled Taxpayer." "They Really Did Their Thing in Austin" or "Mrs. C. Blows Her Stack."

Oct. 1, or the day the stupidity in Austin hit the grass roots, will long be remembered by me. Wednesday is a busy, busy day at The Post Dispatch and it didn't help to have every other person in town calling to see if we had tax schedules for the new tax increase. By the end of the day I was ready to tell your (he's not mine) governor collect and explain a few facts of life to him.

If our state legislature is going to continue to raise taxes the least they can do is mail out tax schedules so we business people can do their work for them correctly. Down with the whole bunch of them!

Of course, I'm really teed off at the discriminating or "sin" tax which the legislators insist on increasing every time they get their little pin-pointed heads together down Austin way.

I'd like one good reason presented to me why people who smoke and drink must pay extra taxes. I hope all those housewives who "marched" in Austin when a grocery tax was suggested have husbands who smoke and drink and take that "extra" tax money out of the family budget. Those women were crazy!

Much as I'd hate to see a grocery tax, it certainly is a much more fair one than the "sin" tax those legislators sanctimoniously come up with at each opportunity. Everybody eats and this "government of the people, by the people and for the people" includes paying taxes.

I'm getting pretty "bugged" about all this cigarette howl anyway. I rather imagine all the people suffering from heart trouble, emphysema, and cancer would rather this money spent on commercials would be used on research. If TV commercials are as costly as I think, the money spent so far would probably add up to enough to find a cure for most anything.

I read rather recently where some hospitals in East Texas have taken cigarette vending machines out of their lobbies and that Air Force hospitals are going to do this same thing.

I have only one question. Why don't they do away with their parking lots? More people are killed in auto accidents than by smoking and I've yet to see a car labeled: "Caution? Car Driving May Be Hazardous To Your Health"—which I just copied off my package of cigarettes, with a slight change.

If I ever get put into a hospital where there are no cigarette machines and I run out of cigarettes I shall join the "protestors". I shall march up and down the halls with signs reading: "I will not be awakened at 6 a. m." "I will not give myself a bath — what do you think I'm paying you for," "I will not eat this lousy food," "I will not turn off my reading light at 9 p. m."

Well, that sign list is endless and it could be fun if all the patients

Oil Well? Maybe!

● The search for oil is one of the world's riskiest businesses! For every successful oil well drilled in new territory eight prove to be costly dry holes. That's why it's always great news for everybody when an oil producing company like ours brings in a successful oil well.

Yes—good news for everybody! You see, every new oil well means more gasoline for your car, more heating fuel for your home and more of the hundreds of oil products that make today's living so much more comfortable.

In America's competitive and progressive oil industry, everyone has a special job. It's our job to produce ample oil supplies for your future.

EIGHTH GRADE HAPPENINGS

By FREDDI WILLIAMS

Congratulations to the 8th grade boys on their victory over the Lockney Longhorns. The score was 18 to 6. We hope to have the same good news after we meet O'Donnell this week.

A class meeting was held Friday afternoon to finish the elections that were begun the week before. The president, Ricky Shepherd, presided over the meeting and was assisted by the vice president, Jerry Tyler, and secretary-treasurer, Cindy Bird. During this meeting, Freddi Williams was elected class reporter and the following roommothers were selected: Mrs. Gene Kennedy, Mrs. Carter White, Mrs. W. H. Childs, Mrs. Don Rose and Mrs. Cecil Johnson.

Judy Rich moved to Gail this past week. We were sorry to lose her from our class.

OUR QUESTION: What 8th grade girl got lost Friday?

WHAT'S THE GOOD WORD? WIN ANTELOPES, WIN!

Post sailor serving aboard USS Albany

Fireman Claude H. Taylor, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Taylor of 119 North Ave. L, Post, Tex., is serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Albany.

It recently completed modernization making it one of the most sophisticated ships in the Navy.

The Albany is equipped with anti-homing torpedoes and conventional torpedoes. Also the ship's radar and fire control systems are fully computerized.

The Albany is homeported in Mayport, Fla.

LOW ACCIDENT RATES

NEW YORK—Petroleum industry vehicles in 1968 compiled the second lowest accident rate in the last 10 years, the publication "Oil Facts" reports. For every accident the vehicles logged 150,000 safe miles—the equivalent of 50 coast-to-coast trips.

The Antelopes did it again! They beat Roosevelt last Friday, 25-21. Spirit was high Friday night and is expected to be higher this Friday when the Post Antelopes play Stanton. Everyone come out and show your spirit and help boost the Antelopes to another victory Friday.

At the pep rally last Friday there were two new cheerleaders who did a yell for the students and faculty. Boy, were they cute!

Each week the class that has the most spirit wins the "spirit stick". The Seniors were the first to win it and last week the "spirit stick" was won by the Juniors. The purpose of the "spirit stick" is to raise spirit throughout the whole high school. The "spirit stick" is presented each Friday during the pep rally.

Well, I guess this is all the news I have. See you next week.

Texas Prison Rodeo is fast and wild event

HUNTSVILLE — The Texas Prison Rodeo, held each Sunday afternoon during October, has been billed as the world's fastest and wildest rodeo.

Its performers are amateurs. But they have a reputation of being rough and tough.

They're convicts.

Only . . . once a year they become cowboys and trade a prison cell for a date with a Brahma bull.

The Texas Prison Rodeo began 37 years ago as a recreational feature for inmates at the State Department of Corrections.

There was no stadium, just a few wild horses and reckless prisoners. Some townspeople dropped by to check on the sudden flurry of dust in the vacant East Texas sandlot.

And those townspeople liked what they saw.

The stadium today is an oval-shaped arena which seats approximately 27,000. Last year more than 100,000 came to watch the rodeo in an arena carpeted with wall to wall action.

All the profits derived from the rodeo are placed in the Department of Corrections' Educational and Recreational Fund.

This fund provides educational, vocational, religious, recreational and welfare programs for the inmates. The welfare program furnishes dentures, glasses, artificial limbs, hearing aids, plastic surgery and specialized medical attention.

As in any sport, the Texas Prison Rodeo has its pre-season favorite. He was top money winner last year, pocketing $300.

It was the sixth time he had been named champion cowboy. And he's in prison serving a life sentence.

He may hold the championship for a long time.

The Texas Prison Rodeo has worked hard to attain its billing as fast and wild.

Its events are unique. In the Mad

Scramble, 10 inmates come charging out of the chutes at the same time, all riding twisting Brahma bulls.

In the Wild Horse Race, 10 prisoners gallop simultaneously into the arena astride bucking broncs.

They hold on for eight seconds. But most hear the buzzer from ground level.

The Hard Money event is most appropriately named. A tobacco sack is crammed with $50, then tied between the horns of a Brahma bull.

The bull is turned loose and kicking.

If an inmate can wrestle the sack away from the horns, the money is his.

It's a hard way to make money. Top-notch professional entertainment has always been a trademark with the prison rodeo. Tradition began on a sunny October Sunday in 1934 when a screen idol drove unannounced and unexpected into Huntsville.

DALLAS — BIG SPRING

"Will we STRIKE OIL-

or STRIKE OUT?"

That's the question an independent oil operator asks himself every time he drills into the earth. Yes, drilling for oil is risky business.

Exploring and producing is the part we play in America's progressive oil industry. Like thousands of other independent companies—large and small—we compete to supply you with the oil products you need.

America's future growth — in both population and prosperity — will be so great that today all producing and exploration companies are hard at work searching for new supplies of oil. You and your family will need more oil than ever in the future and we're determined that you'll get all you need . . . when you need it.

Adair said he checked his billfold that morning and discovered society "identifies me by 42 different numbers" — Social security, phone number, street address, credit card numbers, car license plates, etc.

He said through the numbers system "we are stereotyping our children socially so they have lost the dignity of self."

Adair declared also that teachers must help to create "a new respect for intelligence" and "a respect for maturity" if "we are to teach new people so they can cope with our complex society."

Supt. Bill Shiver introduced the new teachers on the Post faculty prior to Adair's talk. Syd Conner, Rotary president, presided and the Rev. Curtis Lee gave the invocation.

Post doctor's exhibit one of six cited at annual AAPG meeting

Dr. and Mrs. Harry A. Tubbs returned Saturday from the 21st annual convention and scientific assembly of the American Academy of General Practice at Philadelphia, Pa., where Dr. Tubbs' exhibit on "Oral Glucose Tolerance Test — Results at Various Adult Ages," was one of six scientific exhibits cited for their excellence out of 151 entered.

Dr. Tubbs and the other exhibit representatives whose exhibits were cited were presented awards at the membership luncheon by Dr. William Smith of Columbus, Ohio, chairman of the sub-committee on scientific exhibits.

Dr. Tubbs' exhibit described the results of 300 consecutive standard oral glucose tolerance tests performed after three - day preparation on adult ambulatory patients in a rural western Texas general practice. The findings were analyzed and classified from 0 to 3 points using plasma values, American Diabetes Association and U. S. Public Health Service criteria, and semiquantitative glucosuria findings.

The fire department is burning the houses at a rate of two houses a month. The city manager said the firement soon would "run out of houses to burn."

Waterflooding, one of a number of methods of secondary recovery, is growing throughout West Texas, according to Moreland. Secondary recovery, he said, is designed to keep up production in areas where new production has played out.

Stanton '11' to engage Antelopes here Friday night

Salty Buffaloes final non-district opponent

The Stanton Buffaloes of District SAA, who threw a scare into Coahoma last Friday night before the fourth-ranked state Class A team rallied for a 26-14 win, come to Antelope Stadium Friday night to play Post in the locals' final non-district game of the season. The kickoff will be at 8 o'clock.

Coached by Gerald Loyd, who was a member of the Post coaching staff in the early 1960's, the Buffaloes have won one and lost three. They dropped their opener to Tahoka, 7-6, then lost to Seagraves, 42-14, before nipping Rorert, 14-6, and losing to Coahoma, 14-6.

Undeatable Coahoma, which has been rated in the top 10 a month state Class A eleven all season, came from behind in the last five minutes to get past the Buffaloes Friday night. Stanton had opened the scoring on an 85-yard kickoff return by Dean Richters. Coahoma held a 12-6 lead by halftime, but Stanton went ahead on a 37-yard pass from Glenn Ray to Larry Adams to lead 14-12 before Coahoma staged their fourth quarter rally.

Antelope coach Billy Hahn said scouts report that Stanton has a well-balanced team that can "pass and run."

Coach Loyd has nine lettermen, including four offensive and four defensive starters, back at Stanton. And one of those lettermen is a champion. He's end Steve Stallings, the Class AA state champion miler, who turned in a 4:24.6 last spring in Austin.

Stallings will start at tight end and he's "just the man we need in third-and-long situations," says Loyd.

Other probable starters on offense for the Buffs are: Larry Adams, 143 pounds, split end; Jerry Smith, 190, and Scotty Fisher, 170, tackles; Roddy Dickerson, 160, and Ricky Mims, 163, guards; Randy Nichols, 162, center; Glenn Ray, 160, quarterback; Allen Gregston, 170, and Rusty Hale, 150, halfbacks and Johnny McMeans, 180, fullback.

"McMeans will be remembered as the boy who really hurt us last year when we lost to Stanton, 30 to 0," said Coach Hahn.

The Antelope squad is expected to be at full strength for Friday night's game, according to the coach. Defensive halfback Terry Moreau, who missed the Roosevelt game because of having been out two days with illness is working out again this week.

9th grade loses to Lockney team

The Post freshman football team got the jump on Lockney last Thursday, but wound up on the short end of a 34-20 score in a game played at Lockney.

Post kicked off to open the game, with the ball bouncing through the end zone and hitting the fence. Lockney tried to run it out, but got only to the two-yard line. They picked up a first down on the 14, but were backed up to the two again on two defensive plays, and punted out only to the 13.

Post scored in six plays, with Robert Mindieta getting the touchdown and also the two extra points to give Coach Bud Davis' team an 14 cushion.

The Longhorns tied the score in ten plays after running the kickoff back to their 34, and the teams were all even at 8-8 at the end of the first quarter.

Lockney scored 14 more points in the second period, one touchdown coming on a sweep from the Post 40 and the other on a line play with but six seconds of the first half remaining.

Roger Pace made a nice return of the second half kickoff to the Lockney 34, and Post scored in seven plays, with Mindieta again going over. The try for points failed to leave Post trailing 22-14.

Lockney boosted their lead to 28-14 on a long pass after having been backed up to their 13-yard line.

Danny Lee went 29 yards in the fourth quarter for a Post touchdown following a series of completed passes, but failed in the extra point try to trail 28-20, with Lockney tacking on another six points before the game ended.

Mindieta, Pace, Ricky King and Junior Stelzer showed up best on offense for Post, with Jerry Smith, Ted Thomas, Johnny Minor and Jerry Saldívar the defensive standouts.

Post has to hang on for Roosevelt victory

The Post Antelopes were forced to come from behind in the second half to beat the Class A Roosevelt Eagles and then had to "hang on" in the closing minutes to preserve their 25-21 victory, at Roosevelt last Friday night.

The heavier Antelopes started out as if they were going to make a runaway of it, putting 13 points on the scoreboard the first two times they had the ball, but the scrappy Eagles had other ideas. They took a 14-13 first half lead with two touchdowns of their own, fell behind 25-14 at one point in the second half, but scored again to pull to within four points, 25-21, and were on the Antelope 10-yard line when the final whistle stopped them.

Without taking anything from the stout-hearted Roosevelt eleven, it was the Antelopes' poorest performance of the season thus far. Both their offense and defense sputtered more than they percolated.

THE 'LOPES made all four touchdowns the hard way—grinding them out on the ground a few yards at a time against the light-Eagle crew.

A short Roosevelt punt when the Eagles were unable to move on their first series gave Post the ball on the Eagle 36 and they scored nine plays later with Neff Walker boring in from the three. Randy Hudman missed his first extra point boot of the season, and the 'Lopes were ahead 6-0 with 7:24 of the first quarter remaining.

Center David Stelzer recovered a Roosevelt fumble on the Eagle 45 to set the stage for the Antelopes' second touchdown. Walker, George Torres and Karl Bruce Hall carried to the two-yard line in ten plays, with Torres carrying over for the TD, and this time Hudman's kick was true.

Halfback Randall Hughes returned Hudman's kickoff from the goal line to the Eagle 20, took a pitch-out from quarterback Tommy Martin on the first play and raced 80 yards for a touchdown. Jimmy Matsler kicked the extra point, and the Eagles were back in the game at 13-7, with 1:26 of the first quarter remaining.

Neither team was able to move much in the second quarter until late in the period when the Eagles, forced to punt from their 26 after Jimmy McKamie nailed Martin for a six-yard loss, booted 32 yards to safety Jay Bird, who fumbled the kick, with Roosevelt

SHORT GAINS through the line and a nine-yard pass gave the Eagles a first down on the 13. Three more running plays gained only three yards, but Martin's fourth down pass was grabbed by end Ross Hughes for a TD, and Matsler again booted the extra to give the Eagles a 14-13 lead.

After Hudman returned Roosevelt's short kickoff four yards to the Post 39, the 'Lopes got all the way down to the Eagle 11 on the running of quarterback Ray Altman, Walker, Torres and Hall, and two passes from Altman to Walker. A 15-yard holding penalty set them back to the 38, and a fourth down pass from Altman to Hudman gained 18 yards, but failed to pick up the first down, with Roosevelt taking over on their 20.

The Eagles had to punt, but a 15-yard penalty against Post for roughing the kicker gave them a first down on their 35. Stelzer recovered a fumbled pitchout with 11 seconds of the half remaining, and two plays later the whistle caught Walker as he went out of bounds with Altman's pass on the four-yard line.

THE EAGLES had a 68-yard touchdown pass play nullified in the first half because of a mix-up when one of the officials, thinking a tackled halfback had the ball, whistled the play dead.

The Antelopes recovered a Roosevelt fumble on the Eagle 43 some seven minutes deep into the third period to pave the way for their go-ahead touchdown. With Walker, Torres and Hall banging the line and Altman keeping for good gains, the 'Lopes drove to the one, from where Hall went in for his first TD of the season. Hudman's kick was wide and Post was ahead 19-14.

Hughes returned the kickoff 15 yards to the Roosevelt 30, but Hall intercepted Martin's pass on the Eagle 48, and the Antelopes headed goalward again.

They pushed down to the one, with Altman's keepers sparking the drive, and Walker plowed over for his second TD of the night and his eighth of the season, a fumbled snapback spoiled the extra point bid.

THE EAGLES went 80 yards for their third touchdown after getting the ball on the 20 following Hudman's unsuccessful field goal try from the 31.

A pass gained eight yards and Hughes ran for five. Martin's long pass was battled for down field, with Ross Hughes finally taking the pass and scampering 30 yards for a touchdown. Matsler kicked the point and Roosevelt was behind by only 25-21 with 5:46 remaining. Altman intercepted a pass on the 50-yard line to halt another Eagle drive, but four plays later the Antelopes lost the ball to the Eagles on the Post 49 when Altman fumbled on a keeper.

With 41 seconds remaining, Martin chunked a 27-yard pass to Artemus Tension on the Post 22, then hit fullback Joel Chaney with a 12-yard heave to the 10. Time ran out on the next play, with Roosevelt fumbling for a six-yard loss.

One of the brightest spots in the Post win was the defensive play of senior lineman Dennis Dodson, who had one of his best nights.

'B' team downs Ropesville '11'

Coach Kenny Poole's Post "B" team got off to a slow start at Ropesville last Thursday, but gathered momentum as the game wore on to blast the Ropesville "B" team, 34 to 0.

After a scoreless first quarter, Post scored on a 20-yard run by Ricky Hair, but failed on the extra point try to lead 6-0 at halftime.

Post scored twice in the third quarter, the first time on a 35-yard sweep by Scotty Hoyle, and the second time on a 20-yard blast up the middle by David Hart. Ricky Hair and Hart added the extra points following the touchdowns to give Post a 22-0 bulge at the end of the third period.

The Antelopes tacked on two more six-pointers in the final quarter, with Ricky Hair going over from the three, and later connecting with his cousin, Larry Hair, on a 35-yard touchdown pass play.

The Post team had three touchdowns called back because of infractions. Two were on runs by Hoyle, one with an intercepted pass and the other on a punt return, and another on a long run by David Woods.

Post made 11 first downs to Ropesville's four and finished with 218 net yards rushing and passing to the losers' 42.

The entire Post team played a good game on defense, Coach Poole said, with Thomas Zachary, James McAfee and Jimmy Bertran especially outstanding.

Out on a Limb

In last week's games, The Dispatch's pigskin picker hit eight out of ten to bring his average through 34 games to .647. This week he tries to improve with the following predictions — his choices in capital letters.

Stanton at POST. 'Lopes not likely to have two bad games in row.

Kermit at DENVER CITY. Home field advantage.

Ralls at MORTON. Indians getting tougher.

SEAGRAVES at Tahoka. Bulldogs will wonder what hit them.

FRENSHIP at Bovina. But no push-over for Tigers.

Idalou at ABERNATHY. Wildcats will go into district play winless.

DIMITT at Olton. Bobcats well deserve No. 1 South Plains rating.

Lockney at FLOYDADA. Whirlwind power too much for Longhorn speed.

Hale Center at FRIONA. Owls have seen better days.

TEXAS A&M at Texas Tech. Something of a toss-up.

8th grade whips Tigers, 26 to 6

Post's 8th grade football team walloped the Frenship 8th graders, 26 to 6, here Tuesday for the Frenship team's first loss of the season.

The Post 7th grade team, showing steady improvement, but hurt by "fumbleitis," lost to the Frenship 7th graders, 14 to 6.

The big Frenship team, averaging around 180 pounds a man, used their weight and a 207-pound back to score the game's first touchdown. They put nine men on the line, with only the 207-pounder and another player in the backfield, with the big boy ripping the Post line for short gains en route to the touchdown.

Post bounced right back, with John Redman returning the ensuing kickoff 75 yards for six points. The extra point try failed, to leave the teams deadlocked at 6-6.

Redman tacked on another Post score in the first quarter with a 10-yard scamper and also ran over the extra points to put Post in front, 14-6.

The second period was scoreless, but the Antelopes lit up the scoreboard in the third on a 40-yard pass play from Redman to Ricky Shepherd, then added another six points in the same quarter with a 30-yard blast through the middle by Albert Torres.

Coach Waco Reynolds said the entire Post team played a bang-up defensive game, with Redman, Torres, Shepherd, Donnell Harper and Joe Morris Hays also shining on offense.

Frequent fumbles hurt Post in the 7th grade game, in which Frenship led 14-0 until the final quarter when Post got on the scoreboard on Ruben Ayala's 30-yard blast on a dive play.

"The 7th grade team made a good effort and the offense moved the ball well except for the fumbles," Coach Reynolds said.

Tony Conner, Joe Martinez, Wesley Redman, Grayling Johnson and Roger Taylor were mentioned as offensive luminaries, with Eddy Gannon and Ricky Cross turning in good defensive performances.

STANTON'S BUFFALOES

ANTELOPE STADIUM

Friday Night, Oct. 10

8 PM KICKOFF

Make no mistake about it, the Stanton Buffaloes intend to stampede right on through Antelope Stadium Friday night when the Post Antelopes come off the road for their final tuneup prior to district play. Coahoma, fourth ranked Class A team in the state, had to come from behind to beat Stanton last week, 26-14. The Buffs have defeated Rotan for their only victory in four starts, losing 7-6 in their opener with Tahoka and bowing to the ever powerful Seagraves Eagles in their other two starts. To beat Stanton, the Lopes are going to have to "put it all together again." Post can't afford the luxury of any "giveaway touchdowns" this week.

Trillion miles is U. S. travel mark

America's astronauts have a long way to go to catch up with the motorist public here on earth. The reason? U. S. Highway travel in 1968 was the equivalent of more than two million round trips to the moon.

Total travel, according to the Federal Highway Administration, exceeded one trillion vehicle miles for the first time.

Of course, there were many more of us behind the wheel down here than there were out in space. Motor vehicle registrations passed the 100 million mark last year.

The total of 101,948,450 vehicles was an increase of 4,117,501 over 1967. The registration total included 83.7 million automobiles, 17 million trucks and more than 350,000 buses.

MAN WITH AN IDEA

John Franklin Carlil, pioneer geologist who applied his knowledge of underground rock formations to the search for oil, was one of the many men whose ideas sparked oil's first century of progress.

Until Carlil's work gained recognition, it was thought that great rivers of sub-surface oil flowed from Canada through Pennsylvania to Mexico. He insisted that the best guides for oil prospectors were rock structures.

Carlil's published reports are asserted to have created the geology of petroleum. They became standard reference works and were important in the development of knowledge about sub-surface oil accumulation.

Since 1859, when the first oil well was drilled, men with ideas have worked to provide Americans with this abundant, low-cost source of energy—energy that has meant more human progress in the last century than in the previous 6,000 years.

Thousands of companies in petroleum marketing

NEW YORK — An estimated 25,000 to 30,000 separate companies compete in petroleum marketing, according to the publication "Oil Facts."

In addition, there are some 215,000 service stations, 90 per cent of which are operated by independent businessmen, it was noted.

A queen honeybee can lay as many as 2,500 eggs a day.

It's the Law . . .

High-spirited Jimmy, a suburban teenager, got a shotgun as a gift from his doting father. When he mischievously pointed the gun at a neighbor one day, his father scolded him—but allowed him to keep the gun.

A few days later, Jimmy tried the same stunt. This time the gun went off, seriously wounding the neighbor.

Could the father be held legally liable for the neighbor's injury? A court ruled that he could indeed. As one judge put it:

"Firearms are so magnetic to the young that a person of ordinary prudence will take preventive measures commensurate with the great harm that may ensue from the use of a gun by someone unfit to be entrusted with it."

Millions of American homes have guns, and the number of injuries is growing alarmingly. Generally speaking, parents are not liable for an accident caused by their offspring merely because they keep a gun in the house.

But they usually are liable if there is enough reason for them to foresee trouble. The law looks closely at the circumstances—as it did in Jimmy's case—to decide if the parents can fairly be held to blame.

Thus, parents may incur liability by allowing a gun to be too easily accessible. For example:

A man kept his revolver—loaded—in an unlocked desk drawer. One day, his 12-year-old son took it out and began to play with it. Suddenly, to the boy's consternation, the gun discharged, sending a bullet into a visitor's leg. Again, the father was held liable for failing to foresee just this kind of mishap.

Another circumstance that might lead to parental liability is their disregard of the local gun laws. For instance, one community had an ordinance against giving BB guns to children. A couple who let their six-year-old son have one, despite the ordinance, were later held liable for an injury to the boy's playmate.

The court said that by violating the ordinance, the parents not only became subject to a fine but also branded themselves as negligent.

Key government departments give support to oil

NEW YORK — Two key government departments—the U. S. Defense and Interior Departments—have declared their support for a strong domestic oil industry to help maintain national security.

The departments made the point in separate statements filed with the Task Force on Oil Import Control, named by President Nixon to review the Mandatory Oil Import Control Program.

The program was established in 1959 by Presidential proclamation after federal officials had determined that the high level of oil imports at that time threatened to impair national security.

The Defense Department statement said the U. S. must maintain a capability to supply domestic and military needs in the event that foreign supplies are interrupted. (Since World War II there have been eight significant interruptions of foreign oil supplies to this coun-

Oil firms generate huge sums in taxes

NEW YORK — A representative group of 11 U. S. oil companies generated more than $17 billion in domestic and foreign taxes in 1967, according to a recent study conducted for the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association by Price Waterhouse and Co.

The publication "Oil Facts" reports the study shows this was a 10 per cent increase over the $15.5 billion generated by the same companies in 1966.

THE TALLEST CHIMNEY

As an environmental control measure, International Nickel is erecting in Canada the world's tallest chimney—1,250 feet high—at Cooper Cliff, Ontario. The chimney's base will be 100 feet in diameter; the top, 40 feet.

The Interior Department noted that the security of the United States cannot be maintained without controls on oil imports and expressed its support of the present program as helping to meet this goal.

These Oil Facts Tell Garza Story!

More than $14,336,000 of economic stimulation for Garza County flowed from its oil and gas wells last year.

Of this total, county land owners and others with mineral interests received royalty payments of $1,800,000.

Based on latest U. S. Bureau of Mines production figures, Garza County in 1968 produced 4,900,000 barrels of crude oil valued at $14,200,000 and one billion cubic feet of natural gas valued at $136,000.

Garza ranks 75th among 206 producing Texas counties in production.

In 1968 oil and gas operators drilled 34 times in Garza County completing 17 of them as new wells.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association estimates Garza operators spent more than $2,500,000 in drilling in 1968 — of which $1,300,000 was lost in dry holes.

Texas Employment Commission figures for 1968 show some 158 workers directly employed in oil and gas operation with a payroll in excess of $831,000.

The state treasury received $662,000 in production taxes from Garza wells in 1968 paid by producers and royalty owners. Crude oil production paid $653,000 and natural gas production $9,000.

By MRS. BARNIE JONES
The tragedy that struck our community last week sure made us sad but has awakened us to the realization that we never know how soon our life may be over. The prayer that was printed in the Lubbock paper not long ago should be our prayer each day. It read: "Dear God, thank you for this new day. There were 32 present at Friendship Baptist Church Sunday morning and about 25 present at the Mexican Mission service a week ago Thursday night. Pioneer Gas Co. asks boost in city gate rate

AMARILLO — Pioneer Natural Gas Company has announced its intention to file an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas for an adjustment in the city gate rate for gas delivered to its West Texas System.

A new gate rate will have no immediate effect on current gas rates. However, such an increase would establish a new cost of gas at the city gate for any subsequent changes in domestic and commercial rates in Post and other cities on the West Texas Distribution System.

The last determination of Pioneer's gate rate was based on operating costs and investment values for the year 1961. Since that time the field cost of gas, labor, materials and supplies, as well as interest rates, have gone up frequently and substantially, Pioneer officials noted.

It is Pioneer's intention to ask the Railroad Commission to establish a city gate rate of 34 cents, plus an allowance for federal surtax, compared to the present rate of 28 cents. The Federal Income Tax 10 per cent surtax change would currently expire Dec. 31. Pending legislation would cause its continuation and the outcome can be better judged during the pendency of the Railroad Commission proceeding. Continuation of the tax at a 5 per cent rate would add approximately one half cent and continuation of the tax at a 10 per cent rate would add approximately one cent.

Pioneer intends to file its application to the Railroad Commission by Oct. 10.

Hopewellians first?

Pennsylvania oil pits indicate early diggers

TITUSVILLE, Pa. — America's first oilmen may have worked more than 1,000 years ago, which is 10 centuries before the drilling of the first oil well here in 1859.

The archaeologists excavating in five old oil pits in western Pennsylvania disclosed new evidence that appears to show that a prehistoric middle woodland people, the Hopewellians, were the first to discover oil between 800 and 900 A. D.

But how they used it, if they did, still remains a mystery.

It has long been known that the Seneca Indians, in pre-colonial days, collected petroleum in the Oil Creek Valley, using it for medicine and as a warpaint base.

SCHOLARS, however, believed man found oil just below the surface long before Columbus discovered America, but had no proof.

Sue Ann Curtis, 23, a student in archaeology and anthropology at Pennsylvania State University, headed a team that has been excavating a series of pits south of Titusville.

The diggers found a partially grooved stone axe, grinding stone probably used to sharpen axes and several hoe-like stone tools believed used for digging.

At least two previous attempts have been made to discover the secret of the oil pits, but no one proceeded as thoroughly as Miss Curtis, whose work was financed under a grant from the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

There are about 250 pits south of the Drake Well Park where the nation's oil industry began Aug. 27, 1859 with the completion of the first well. Most are six feet deep, about eight feet around.

ONCE THERE were more than 2,000 pits on the flat, level plains, extending over 500 acres. But most of these were destroyed by modern oil drilling, refineries, railroads and other operations.

Written records of the early explorers and pioneers indicate they found trees at least 200 years old growing in some of the pits. And the Senecas were unable to say who made the excavations.

Miss Curtis dug in ear fill around the pits as well as in the pits themselves. That's how she found the tools, but she reported:

"There was no evidence that the pits had been walled with logs, as early pioneers had written.

"The Hopewell trip of the middle woodland period probably excavated the pits to obtain the oil which rose to the surface when Oil Creek flooded every spring."

Historians long believed that the pits had been dug to obtain pottery-making clay, but Miss Curtis discounted that theory on the basis of her discoveries. She said clay was more easily obtainable along the creek banks. Also, she added, the locations around the oil pits were unsuitable for permanent village establishment by the Hopewellians.

FERNIE REED

AS WE FORGIVE

By Rev. George L. Miller

Jesus had a lot to say about forgiveness. The whole Gospel is really a message about forgiveness—God's forgiveness. That's what makes it such good news. And we pray for forgiveness every time we repeat the Lord's Prayer.

"Forgive us our trespasses (debts) as we forgive those who trespass against us (our debtors)."

No doubt we're quite sincere when we ask for forgiveness. Unfortunately we aren't nearly as sincere with our intentions to forgive in return.

We have played a little game with God and with our neighbor that takes the backbone out of forgiveness. We are willing to forgive, but we reserve the right not to forget.

Thus we have a wife forgiving her husband for one incident of infidelity who spends the next thirty years of their marriage reminding him of his past mistake and her Christ-like example of forgiveness.

Thus we have parents forgiving their children for their misbehavior who never miss a chance to remind them of their past bad conduct.

Thus we have Christians who confess their sins to God and go right on confessing them over and over again until we suspect they are secretly proud of their depravity.

This kind of forgiveness is unknown in the Bible. There forgiveness always included forgetting. "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow." In other words there is no evidence left, no way of seeing where the blemish was. It is gone, vanished without a trace. It is as it never happened.

Jeremiah announced the new covenant with God this way:

"I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more."

And so we pray for God's forgiveness, a kind of forgiveness that cleanses us from our sin, that frees us from the guilt of our past, a forgiveness that completely forgets what we once were. In return, we agree that we shall forgive others. We go one step further and agree to ask only as much forgiveness from God as we have granted our neighbor.

But we refuse to forget.

No wonder it's so hard to feel really forgiven!

A new arsenal of weapons is being developed to escalate the war against crime. All sorts of sophisticated gadgets originally developed for use in chemical research are finding applications in fighting crime, reports "Chemistry," the American Chemical Society's special issue on forensic science (the study of scientific methods of crime investigation).

Devices using new techniques known to scientists as differential analysis, electron probe analysis, mass spectrometry, neutron activation, and x-ray diffraction will soon be taking unidentified names and greatly improving the speed, accuracy, and reliability of chemical identifications of such things as body fluids and tissues, drugs, gun powder, fibers, soil samples, and specks of dust. Linking computer systems will link fighting organizations together and make massive volumes of information such as criminal records, license numbers, photos and identification data almost instantly available to an expanding number of law enforcement agencies. The accomplishments of strip detectives and crime labs that were once science fiction will soon become science fact.

SOME OF THE new and exceptionally sensitive instruments being introduced can actually detect

CONSUMER CREDIT — A 3-PARTY SYSTEM

Involves (1) the consumer, the person who buys merchandise or service on credit; (2) the credit grantor, the business which sells goods or services to the consumer; and (3) the credit bureau, an organization which maintains a comprehensive record of the consumers paying habits and makes sure this record is readily available when and where the consumer needs it. The credit bureau is such an important part of this triangle because credit grantors cannot afford to sell goods or services on credit or to extend loans unless they have some assurance that the consumer will keep their part of the bargain by paying as agreed.

Obviously, not all consumers and credit grantors can personally acquaint themselves with one another. It's also obvious the cost would be enormous if each credit grantor had to gather all the necessary credit information on each prospective consumer. Such a practice would not only make the cost of granting credit prohibitive, but also cause the consumer a great deal of delay and inconvenience.

and identify molecules of certain chemicals. For example, if arson is suspected, very faint traces of fumes of the flammable material used to start the fire can usually be found floating around the burned out area or stuck to the surfaces of charred materials nearby long after the fire has been put out. A well equipped arson team moves in and often identifies the kind and brand of gasoline or solvent used to start the fire. A case is known where it was possible to identify impurities in the gasoline, locate the station where it was bought, and bring about a conviction of the arsonist based on his identification by the service station attendant.

The field of forensic science is largely chemical and involves the recently more complex instruments and procedures used by crime laboratories in identifying and analyzing tiny bits of material collected and used as criminal evidence. Forensic scientists are the people who can match threads, hair, or blood of the accused with that found at the scene of the crime or bullets fired from the suspect's gun with the murder bullets. They can analyze blood to find out if there is poison present and read notes on paper after it has been burned or serial numbers that have been filed off guns or autos. Easy to use instruments and fast communication will permit law enforcement officers to quickly analyze a fleck of auto paint and compare the results to FBI records to find the car's make, model, and year.

ESTIMATES Of the cost of crime to U. S. taxpayers range up to $31 billion annually. Vast amounts of money in the form of goods and cash are stolen or damaged almost regularly. Private costs related to crime such as protection, insurance, and alarm devices cost about $2,000 million per year. Many millions of tax dollars are used to pay the costs of maintaining and operating police forces, correctional institutions, prisons, mountains of records and files, and the courts, judges, and justice-administering branches of state, local and federal governments.

This specialized field of science is not at all well known, and in fact only a few universities offer courses or degrees in the subject. But it is becoming increasingly important. Everyone knows that the crime rate is soaring and not very many people know what to do about it. New advances in understanding urban and social problems are expected to contribute to the prevention of crime, but new technologies will have to be perfected before we can hope to bring about its control. Advances in forensic chemistry will clearly serve as an important deterrent to the expanding world of crime.

Oil demand by 1980 will cost billions

NEW YORK — At least $250 billion—more than 10 times the cost of the Apollo space program — will have to be invested by 1980 to meet the demand for petroleum in the Free World, according to a Chase Manhattan Bank survey.

The publication "Oil Facts" notes that almost half of the funds will be spent in the search for new supplies of oil and gas, with the remainder going for refining, marketing and transportation facilities.

New weather research program conducted by petroleum firms

Eleven oil companies are cooperating in a multi-million-dollar weather research program that could make it easier and safer for man to operate on, above and beneath the seas.

The information developed could also result in better storm protection measures and the saving of lives and property in coastal areas.

The key to the program is a complex electronics system called Automatic Weather and Oceanographic Record Station, mounted on offshore oil and gas production platforms.

The weather information will help oilmen in planning seasonal work schedules for offshore petroleum operations, which are continually moving farther from shore and venturing into deeper water. The program also will furnish much more accurate base data to improve long-range weather forecasting, directly aiding ship and aircraft navigation.

The observations will be useful to offshore operators in constructing facilities capable of withstanding hurricanes, yet avoiding the waste of over-design.

Others, particularly governmental agencies, will find this information helpful in building such structures and piers and hurricane protection systems. The system is fitted with a variety of sensors and detecting devices below and above the mean water level and extending into the air above the deck.

The instruments keep a continuous check on such weather indicators as wind direction and velocity, barometric pressure, relative humidity, temperature and rainfall, direction and speed of water currents, wave height and wave forces at various depths.

Experts say it's far too early to tell how much oil offshore

How much oil is there in the world's offshore areas?

It is too early to tell, according to the experts—far too early.

A recent study estimates that it will take at least 120 more years to finish just the preliminary exploration work in offshore areas.

To date, the study reported, about 12 per cent of the seismic operations required to find all the oil and gas reserves believed to lie offshore have been completed.

Seismic operations consist of bouncing sound waves off the ocean floor and recording the intensity and speed at which they return to the surface. By analyzing these data, scientists learn about the types of rock formations beneath the ocean floor.

This initial exploration indicates only where oil may potentially be found. It does not guarantee that oil or gas will be located or that the find, if there is one, will be profitable to develop.

Non-explosive seismic methods developed in recent years — and now widely used—make it possible to survey offshore without harming fish and other marine life.

Our Salute . . . To Garza County's Oil Men

Oil is a mighty important industry for us all. It's spread out over so much area it's hard to realize how much it does include.

We congratulate you oil men on the vital economic contribution you are making every day to our community.

The oil power for your tomorrow...

...is in the wells we find today!

By 1974, Americans will use 3,000,000 more barrels of oil every day—and we'll have it ready for you!

America's future growth—in prosperity and population—will be so great that we must begin now to discover and drill the wells that will power America's future.

It's a risky business . . . this drilling for oil. The chances are much greater that we won't find oil than that we will. But drill we must—even if we must drill almost two miles into the earth.

When 1974 rolls around there will be 12 million new homes, 14 million more cars and trucks. We'll be ready for you. We'll be ready with more oil than was ever dreamed of before . . . and we'll be ready because we're starting right now.
