Oil valuations drop hits schools and county hard

Schools may lose $30,000 in taxes

A big drop in taxable oil valuations for the next tax year is going to hit both the Post Independent School District and the county hard, according to reports received from the tax evaluation firm of Pritchard & Abbott this week.

Supt. Bill Shiver told The Dispatch school district oil valuations are going to drop between $1,900,000 and $2,000,000 for 1969.

The administrator said this will mean a loss of approximately $30,000 for next year in school tax revenue.

T. H. Tipton, county tax assessor-collector, said that he has nothing official as yet, but the unofficial word is that the county is going to lose $1,700,000 in taxable oil valuations.

(County taxable valuations are not figured on as big a percentage of real value as is the schools.)

The City of Post and the White River Municipal Water District will not be hard hit by the oil decline as the school and county.

Both of these taxing units cover only a four square mile area of oil production.

City Manager Bobby Pierce said the city's estimated loss would be $2,100 in tax revenue and about $161,360 in taxable oil valuation.

Supt. Shiver said he has asked a representative of the Pritchard & Abbott firm to appear before school trustees at their June 9 meeting to explain the loss.

Tipton termed it "the biggest taxable valuation loss ever suffered by the county."

Shiver said he hopes to have a tentative total budget figure ready for the school board's June session so trustees can start working on their tax problem.

The school administrator gave no indication of what kind of action may be necessary. Compounding the school tax problem is that a state teacher pay raise, apparently upcoming in the current session of the legislature, will require by state school aid formula additional tax funds from the local school district.

Four water flood operations, a secondary recovery method for oil, now in operation in the county have gotten under way too late to help with increased production for the new tax year, it is pointed out.

In fact by taking many wells out of production for the waterflood, these efforts have helped to create part of taxable oil valuation loss.

Once the waterfloods start to show production results, of course, it will give a boost back to taxable oil valuations, according to The Dispatch's understanding of the tax situation.

County Judge J. E. Parker is out of town on vacation and not available for comment on the county tax situation.

Equalization board hearings are scheduled for early June for all local taxing units. Official notices of these hearings appear in today's edition of The Dispatch.

Memorial Day program is set for 10 a. m. Friday

Post will observe Memorial Day Friday, with many business places remaining closed and the Veterans of Foreign Wars post to present a Memorial Day service at 10 a. m. at Terrace Cemetery.

Memorial Day is one of the holidays set by the Post Chamber of Commerce board of directors. Among the places that will remain open Friday are many of the food stores and the First National Bank.

Public places that will be closed for the holiday include the post office, courthouse and city hall.

The public is invited to attend the VFW post's Memorial Day service, at which Max Chaffin, a member of the VFW will be the speaker.

The roll of deceased war veterans will be read by James L. Minor, and the invocation will be by the Rev. Joe Vernon, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

In addition to the decoration of the graves of veterans of World

Wars I and II under the supervision of the VFW post, the graves of Civil War veterans buried here also will be decorated.

The decoration of the graves of the Union and Confederate soldiers will be under the auspices of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee, with Walter Duckworth in charge.

The Memorial Day program will also include the blowing of Taps and a firing squad salute.

Tuesday deadline set on Book Fair booths

Preparations for the second annual Book Fair to be held downtown Saturday night, June 7, between the City Hall and the Tower Theatre are progressing steadily, with the only lag being in the response of some of the clubs and organizations to participate in operating booths.

Those organizations who haven't responded to the Friends of the Public Library invitation to participate are asked to call Mrs. Helen Cornish at The Dispatch or at home so that their booth can be included in the planned layout.

A Tuesday afternoon deadline on booths has been established as the Lions Club which will build the booths, wants the final figure for its Tuesday dinner meeting at which the booth building will be organized.

Organizations are reminded that this year the booths will be built for them and decorated as well.

All participating organizations must be responsible for it to operate the booth during the fair.

The book fair this year is named "La Fiesta de los Amigos," which means "The Friends Party." Any profits from the fair will go to purchase library books. The first fair last year raised approximately $500 for this purpose.

Arrangements already have been made for the sale of Mexican food at the fair and the Post Rotarians will operate a hot dog stand again.

The Post Art & Craft Guild is making signs to advertise the Book Fair. These will go up in local store windows Monday.

Jaycee presidents to visit in Post Friday

State Jaycee Director Joe Bailey will be host to about 20 incoming Jaycee presidents at his home here, 515 West Main, at 7 p. m. Friday, May 30.

The group will stop in Post en route to a Jaycee presidents' conference at San Angelo.

Among those present will be Ken Callaway, now president of the Post Jaycees.

Methodists are meeting today

United Methodists from the far-flung Northwest Texas Conference opened their annual conference in Lubbock today (Thursday), and for the first time in many years it will be a "weekend" conference, ending Sunday, June 1.

The Rev. O. Curtis Lee, pastor of the Post First Methodist Church, and a number of other local Methodists will attend the conference.

Bishop W. Kenneth Pope, resident bishop of the Dallas-Fort Worth Area, will be the conference preacher. He will speak at worship services Friday, Saturday and Sunday mornings.

The reading of appointments for the conference year will close the conference Sunday afternoon.

Summer programs being planned at Post schools

Although school "is out" today in Post, a number of summer activities are planned at the Post schools.

Supt. Bill Shiver announced that pre-school program for non-English speaking first-graders-to-be will be conducted for two months this summer, beginning in June.

The superintendent said about 15 prospective first graders already have been enrolled. Mrs. Jessie Lancaster, local first grade teacher, will be the instructor.

Also during the month of June, many students from the fourth through the eighth grade will be asked for a special reading program which will be established in the local schools next year.

Shiver said groups of 20 to 25 students will be tested over a two to three day period with special recreational activities and hot lunches planned.

Through the month of June, school authorities hope to test between 150 to 160 youngsters to diagnose individual reading needs to aid in setting up the fall program.

Students will be picked up and taken home by bus, Shiver said.

The superintendent said most of the federal aid to Post schools next year will finance this special reading effort and that federal funds will finance the summer testing and pay for half of the special reading equipment which will be needed.

Aquatics Camp is scheduled here

Preparations are being made for a South Plains Council Aquatics Camp to be held at Camp Post from June 22 to 27.

A meeting at which Boy Scouts and parents received information about the camp was held recently at the Scout Service Center in Lubbock.

District Scout Executive Harold Drummond of Brownfield will lead leadership to the camp, which will feature swimming, life saving, and canoeing.

This will be the second annual Aquatics Camp to be operated by the South Plains Boy Scout Council as another special feature of the council's summer camping opportunities.

Tonight at stadium

School year fades with graduation

Sixty-five Post High School seniors will receive their diplomas at commencement exercises in Antelope Stadium tonight to all but end the 1968-69 school year here.

Only the picking up of report cards Monday morning by high schoolers and seventh and eighth graders will remain after tonight.

All school classes ended this afternoon.

The junior high school year is scheduled to end with an all-school awards assembly in the junior high assembly room at 3 p. m. In connection with this assembly, pro-

Mayo presented Jaycees' award

The Post Jaycees' Distinguished Service Award went to Bailey Mayo, work unit conservationist for the Garza Soil and Water Conservation District, at the annual Jaycee installation banquet Saturday night.

Mayo's work as United Fund chairman and his numerous other contributions to the community, including his work with young people, were mentioned by Jaycee Charles Morris, who presented the award.

Dr. Jim Granberry, a Lubbock dentist and member of the Lubbock City Council, was the principal speaker.

The Outstanding Jaycee of the Year award went to Ken Callaway, who was also installed as new president of the organization. Callaway's award was presented by

Volunteers begin May street cleanup

City Manager Bobby Pierce reported this week that a group of the men's brotherhood of the Pleasant Home Baptist Church, supported by a city-operated shredder, made considerable progress Saturday with their Operation Clean Sweep on May Street.

The group cleared off one overgrown lot, started on another, and succeeded in opening up one alley which hadn't been opened for years.

Volunteers participating in the work project included A. C. Douglas, William Scott, Edward Lewis Ozby, Edward Earl Ozby, R. C. Curtis, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Demming.

New Antelope defense is explained to Lions

The new "numbered defense" for this year's Post Antelope football team was explained by Coaches Glynn Gregg, Billy Hahn and Waco Reynolds at Tuesday evening's Lions Club meeting at Jackson's Cafeteria.

The Lions also discussed their booth-building project for the Book Fair Fiesta to be held Saturday, June 7.

CLEAN-UP CORNER

Volunteers who have been holding "weed parties" each Monday evening to clear "eye sore" properties along Post's highway routes will meet again Monday night at 7 o'clock in the big vacant lot in the 200 block on West Eighth.

The city lent the use of its shredder and shredder operator to the group last Monday night and volunteers cleared the path of the shredder to enable almost half of this lot to be cut.

All who want a clean community are invited to participate, including high schoolers who are off duty for the summer. Y'all come!

R. G. (Wilke) Wilkerson was the "good samaritan" one evening last week. Driving past the City Beauty Shop on North Broadway he noted Mrs. Martha Cass, who operates the shop, out cleaning the weeds from the alley. He stopped and finished the job for her.

Willing "boy power" is helping too in Operation Clean Sweep. Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Warren, 312 West 4th, report that two Warren boys have been observed on more than one occasion clearing vacant lots in the vicinity of their home. Some of the lots had weeds as tall as four feet.

POSTINGS

One thing leads to another — even in Operation Clean Sweep. One landlord commented the other day that since the overgrown shrubbery had been cut down, it was pretty obvious that an outside paint job for the house had to come next.

Neat and tidy towns do look inviting. And one has only to drive through that German town of Fredericksburg to understand what we mean. Mrs. C notices even a clump of weeds by a telephone pole when we pass through that spic-and-span community. On our way home Tuesday afternoon she pointed to one building in the business district. "That's the only bad apple they have in their whole barrel," she said wistfully. It was a grubby little garage.

I know she and a lot of other industrious local women wish Post could be as neat. And it can.

But here a confession needs to be made. Psychologically speaking, it's usually the female of the species who has the eye for neatness and insists on everything being clean from her "young-uns" to the family garbage can.

Men just don't take naturally to cleaning up. Of course that doesn't apply 100 per cent but the "cleaner - upper role" generally belongs and is claimed by the women.

That's why from the start we insisted that Operation Clean Sweep should be promoted by the ladies.

Things are getting a wee bit cleaner locally. And in a whole lot of different places, in a whole lot of different ways, and by a whole lot of different folks. The idea is beginning to catch on.

City cooperation along these lines — and we think and hope a lot more is on the way — is to be commended. (See Postings, Page 8)

Swimming pool opening set for Sunday, June 1

The city-county swimming pool will open Sunday afternoon for the summer season with Donnie Windham as the pool operator.

The City-County Park board has leased the pool to Windham for the summer operation.

Windham told The Dispatch that pool hours will be from one to six p. m. daily for the public's use. He said admission prices will remain unchanged from last year.

Windham plans to be the pool's life guard and his sisters, Karen and Sharon Windham, will operate the pool's concession stand.

The new pool operator, who this week completed his spring semester at the University of Texas, said that details on a program of swimming lessons will be announced in the near future.

A day in May—let us pay tribute

Military cemeteries in Aisne Marne, Flanders Field, Surrey, Brittany, Carthage, Mexico City, Manila and Pearl Harbor are but a few of the final resting places of thousands of Americans who fought and died for freedom. Thousands more have been brought home for burial in military and civilian cemeteries where their silent headstones pay them the tribute of a grateful nation.

A day has been set aside to honor these men and women. Some call it Memorial Day; others Decoration Day. By whatever name, it should be an occasion—today more than ever—to pause and reflect: "What are we doing to make certain this precious and highly perishable thing called freedom continues to live?"

In this fast-moving nuclear age, the safeguard of our freedom is more urgent than ever. Right at this very moment valiant American men are laying down their lives for the cause of freedom throughout the world.

Are these men dying, and have all those others died, in vain? The desecration of the flag, the defiance of authority, the rebellion against military service—all so rampant in our land—make us wonder.

Over two hundred years ago, our ancestors created a system of order that detractors in our midst now refer to derisively as "The Establishment." Our forebears built and preserved this nation not by force of arms but by giving us an environment in which industrial, scientific, educational and social progress and development were possible. It is now up to us to build on what we have inherited, not tear it to shreds.

On this Memorial Day, let us pause to think of these things and to pay tribute to these self-sacrificing men now fighting their nation's battles and to all those brave and heroic Americans of the past who have died to preserve our liberty.

We here in Post have an opportunity Friday morning to join in this tribute by attending the VFW Post's Memorial Day services at the Terrace Cemetery.—CD

Vacation time again for schools

Much is said about this time every year about the graduates, but often overlooked are the millions of youngsters who will be out of school for only three months, including the boys and girls who are being promoted from junior high into high school.

The Post Junior High School has 108 of these youngsters, for whom promotion exercises are being held this afternoon (Thursday). The Dispatch congratulates these eighth grade graduates and earnestly hopes none of them find it necessary to drop out of high school.

For these eighth grade graduates and all the other students who will be back next September, there is no freedom to compare with that which comes with the closing of school.

The ending of the school year, and the watching of the children in their new-found freedom and the manner in which they use that freedom, should have a special meaning for the adult world today where freedom is being used and abused in ways no one could have foreseen a few short years ago.—CD

On turning back the time piece

People who look back into the past and yearn for "the good old days" are accused of trying to turn back the clock and live in a dream world.

Maybe so. But in accepting the present one need not reject the past. There are plenty of things of the past that haven't been improved by changing to the present.

Grandpa or even pa would have resisted if he had been told to give up blessings like these: Respect for the flag, now replaced by the kind of acts that were once punished as treason.

Crime on the streets, so far gone that city dwellers are thinking about arming themselves to go to church, just like the Pilgrims did when they were threatened by savages.

Discipline in the schools and order on the college campuses, where chaos replaces order and education suffers all along the line.

Modesty and wholesomeness in entertainment instead of large doses of lewdness and filth which we now see in movies, books and plays.

Courtesy in salesmanship instead of the bored, arrogant and hostile attitude.

Pride in craftsmanship instead of mediocrity and acceptance of substandard performance on the job.

The right to work, which in many of our states is denied to anyone not a member of a labor union.

The right to spend earnings instead of turning an average of 35 per cent over to the tax collector.

Grandpa had to live in a world where the virtues of thrift, hard work and self-respect were respected. Who can argue that we have improved things today?—The Perryton Sunday Herald.

What our contemporaries are saying

Success and happiness is in meeting conditions, not in evading them.—Holmes County (Fla.) Advertiser.

When you look at the many kind of taxes we all pay, it kind of makes you realize that the folks running this country haven't been fools. A bunch of fools couldn't have thought up the many, many ways to get money out of our pockets.—The Courier (Va.) Record.

The country is suffering from an excess of tolerance regarding dangerous social changes. Instead of being "understanding" of users of marijuana, or of campus lawbreakers, parents and other adult citizens should take a tough approach to behavioral problems. The President of the United States also has to be concerned with these behavioral problems, for the nation is threatened from within by those who want to destroy all the ancient rules of a decent society.—Shelbyville, Ky., Sentinel.

SUNDAY IS THE first day of June and I, for one, won't be sorry to see the end of the month of May. The month didn't have a Friday the 13th in it, but it was Black Cat Month almost from start to finish out at our house.

May is usually a merry month for the wife, since both Mother's Day and her birthday fall during its 31-day span, but this May she didn't have much to be merry about. Along about Mother's Day, the plumbing was stopped up for three days, and the day before her birthday I stepped up on the porch the wrong way and twisted my ankle so badly that I've still got the foot in a cast more than a week after it happened.

THE WIFE thought she'd "had it" the three days the plumbing was stopped up, but if you'd ask her she'd probably tell you she'd rather be around plugged-up water pipes than around a man on crutches with a twisted ankle.

Everybody was a big help to me while I was incapacitated—nobody more than my wife, of course. I especially wish to thank Bailey Mayo and Don Ammons for helping me out on picture-taking assignments. Bailey took a picture of the Babe Ruth League queen presentation Saturday afternoon and that night Don (better known as Corkey) took pictures at the Jaycee installation banquet.

Someone tells me these are the steps to take when a CUSTOMER COMPLAINS:

1. Act Fast. Delay only aggravates resentment. If you can't make immediate personal contact, let the offended party know what action is being taken in the meantime. If you anticipate a complaint, perhaps because of a late shipment, then contact the customer before he contacts you.

2. Listen to the Full Story. Even though you have an answer ready, let him go until he runs down. Maybe he needs the mental catharsis of blowing his top. Look pleasant, keep your ears open, your mouth shut.

3. If He's Right, Admit It. Don't make up fantastic stories to explain all-too-human errors. Tell the truth. Your customer must be convinced that you're leveling with him. He'll forgive you for the mistakes if he feels that he can trust you.

4. Take Prompt Action. Adjust the complaint then and there, if you can. But don't take advantage of your company. If you have to write for further action, show the letter to your customer before you mail it.

Old legend of silver mine still brings hunters to Menard County

MENARD, Tex.—More than 200 years ago, Don Bernardo de Miranda got on a horse in San Antonio and rode northwest for eight days to find in legend the richest mineral find ever in Texas.

Today miners and treasure hunters still go to the site on the banks of Silver Creek, in Menard County in search of the find.

They all have some secret to the mine's location but if anything was ever found, no one knows about it. Much of the history behind the mine is in N. H. Pierce's "The Free State of Menard." The most prominent part of the legend around Menard County is James Bowie's connection with the mine.

Bowie, according to legend, befriended a group of Indians, the Lipan Apaches, after he heard of the mine and went to West Texas about 1830 in search of it.

His interest was aroused when he either saw or heard of the Lipans' trips to San Antonio where they bartered always with silver bullion.

The people of San Antonio, so accustomed to the silver bearing Lipans, never asked where the silver came from. Bowie wasn't so complacent.

"He at once began to cultivate the friendship of the Lipans," says J. Frank Dobie in his book, "Cor-onado's Children." The Dobie account says that Bowie finally learned the source of the silver from the Indians and set out with a band of 11 men to find the site. He and his band were ambushed by Indians on the way and were forced to return to San Antonio.

Memorial Day

Friday, May 30th

A Time
to Pause ...
A Time
to Remember

Once again, on Memorial Day, we pause to recall, with respect and much pride, the selfless sacrifices of our brave and valiant departed heroes. Gallantly, they marched forth, united as one in defense of freedom. And with unflinching courage and unyielding devotion to cause, they gave their lives so that our precious heritage of liberty might endure. Lest their deeds be forgotten or ignobled, and their sacrifices be in vain, let us all now resolve to be equally steadfast and courageous in preserving that which has been so heroically achieved. Let us dedicate ourselves to ever cherish and uphold that priceless freedom, which is the legacy of those whose memory we honor today.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

The Cs returned from San Antonio at 4:50 p. m. Tuesday where they had attended the graduation exercises of Miss C at Trinity University. To find that Editor Didway had "graduated" to Mr. C's desk and Zula Didway had "graduated" from housewife to newspaper woman.

Miss C's graduation came at the end of four years of study; Editor Charlie's came as a result of his being in a cast being more easily handled at Mr. C's desk and Zula's from housewife to newspaper woman.

man" graduation came about due to the illness of Orabeth White.

Mr. C and I should not have worried about how we were going to get a four year's accumulation of "things" home from San Antonio in our new sports car. There is more room there than meets the eye and we were able to pack it all in with ease except for a small end table and an ironing board. Both of these objects found new homes!

I even managed to squeeze in a few things to be sold at the Library's Fiesta General Store. At first these items had been placed in a "Good Will, Industries" pile until I remembered the Book Fiesta and snatched most of the articles back.

Clearing out a dormitory room is an "education" within itself. Among other things we found two packages of dye that Miss C had spent two weeks hunting for; her last year's dorm room key; her this year's dorm room key; two "shower" gifts that had been purchased last year but not delivered, and two Irish potatoes.

The potatoes were found under the bed and had sprouts measuring up to 12 inches. Strangely enough they were not rotten. What were they doing there? I thought that was a logical question too. They were left over from an art project!

It is quite thrilling to watch one's youngest walk across the stage to receive a Bachelor of Arts degree. One wants to stand up and yell "Hip, hip, hooray" but one must be decorous at such functions.

Our Miss C did not come home to Post with us. Even if she had planned to we would not have had room for her — only her "things."

Next week she will fly to New York City to find a job in the field of social work with her diploma, stating that she has a degree in sociology, tucked under her arm.

Lt. and Mrs. K joined us for Miss C's graduation. They were able to return to the "states" for a couple of days from that "foreign country" (he's serving his country in — Louisiana).

That made for a "everything's right with our world" weekend for the Cs.

If we make it through Wednesday after our absence Monday and Tuesday we'll know that a little bit of the "rightness" stuck with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris D. Kirby of Corsicana are parents of a daughter, Judy Gayle, born May 21 in Memorial Hospital at Corsicana, weighing 6 lbs., 2 ozs. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bland of Post. Mrs. Kirby is the former Cecilia Bland.

Mr. and Mrs. James Melton announce the birth of a daughter, Angela Joy, on May 15 in West Texas Hospital, Lubbock, weighing 5 lbs., 6 1/2 ozs. Angela Joy has an older sister, Renea. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Melton of Jackson's Gap, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason announce the birth of a daughter, Tammie Dawn, at 7:45 a. m. May 25 in Slaten Mercy Hospital. Tammie Dawn weighed 4 lbs., 13 1/2 ozs., at birth. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Benton Mason of Shallowater and Mr. and Mrs. Don Browning of Post.

PAY BILLS To Enjoy Continued CREDIT

The credit bureau's message to the consumer is simple. Pay promptly. Spelling it out clearly — never let an account go past due without payment or immediate contact with the creditor.

Never allow an account to become an item charged off to profit and loss. This means that the merchant has given up hopes of collecting and has changed your account from an asset to an expense item. The item is automatically recorded in the files of the credit bureau. There it cannot be changed or altered unless subsequent dealings with the same firm results in a better record.

Never allow an account to be listed in the collection department of the credit bureau. Payment in full will result in better credit reports, but the item must remain on file for many years to come — perhaps for the rest of your life.

Your credit record is a picture of your character and has been found to be an extremely accurate guide to your future actions, particularly pertaining to whether you will pay future contracts and debts.

Keep your picture bright and shining and enjoy all the conveniences of the machine age. You can cut off the advantages of credit buying by disregarding or ignoring warnings of your merchant friends.

Dairy foods in June spotlight

COLLEGE STATION — Dairy products spotlight the foods in plentiful supply this June, reports the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

June is the traditional time when milk production reaches its peak — assuring an abundance of such dairy foods as butter, cream, cheese and yogurt.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says canned tomatoes and tomato products, canned and frozen sweet corn, rice and turkeys are also plentiful.

Cold storage holdings of turkeys are well above normal. You'll find all sizes on hand. The large birds are just right for oven roasting, while the smaller sizes are ideal for the outdoor grill.

Supplies of canned tomatoes and tomato products processed from the very large 1966 crop will continue to pressure markets. Frozen stocks of sweet corn are expected to continue to run at a high level. Canned sweet corn on hand is estimated at more than 32 million cases of 24 No. 303 cans — indicating plenty of corn for your cooking needs, according to USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Be sure to add rice to your June shopping lists. Rice offers a different accent to mealtime.

The hostess served ice cream, pound cake and iced tea to Mmes. Hudman, Runkles, Opal Williams, Maudie Hankins, Annie Hodges and Miss Henrietta Nichols, and the visitor, Mrs. Frances Milam.

SYD CONNER
Garza County Agent

ANNUAL ACREAGE SURVEY

During the last half of May, some 40,000 Texas farmers will receive at their mailboxes a most important questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin.

It will be the annual acreage survey and many farmers in Garza County will be included in the 40,000. The information derived from the replies will be the basis for the official estimates of crop acreage for the State of Texas and for each county.

Cary D. Palmer, state statistician for the Texas Reporting Service, emphasized the importance of getting back just as many of the 40,000 questionnaires as possible so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture, Palmer adds.

The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Because Texas covers such a wide area, state totals alone do not provide adequate information on our most basic industry; hence, the need for county information. The program is a cooperative effort of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The county agent urges all farmers in the county who receive the questionnaire to fill it out accurately and completely and return it as soon as possible to the Reporting Service.

PREVENTIVE PROGRAM AGAINST SCREWORMS

Screwworms are on the prowl in Texas. Case numbers are already higher than last year and a statewide campaign has been launched to combat the current threat of a major outbreak by this livestock pest.

At an emergency meeting in San Antonio on April 30, livestock producers were told of the seriousness of the situation. An action program was outlined stressing greater vigilance and better herd management practices along with the release of sterile flies in an effort to reduce the impending threat of heavy screwworm reinfestation.

Screwworms socked it to Texas last year when a record 9,268 cases were confirmed, making the worst epidemic since the eradication program began in 1962. The severe outbreak claimed the life of a South Texas woman last fall.

The cattlemen have announced plans for re-activating County Screwworm Eradication Committees to "beef-up" educational programs and keep all livestock producers and sportsmen advised of the serious screwworm situation.

Collection kits and vials for mailing larvae to the Mission Screwworm Laboratory for identification will be available for the county committees as well as from county agents.

Dolph Briscoe Jr., Uvalde rancher and president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation — industry group leading the battle against screwworms — told almost 100 key leaders that "no ranch is immune to the threat of screwworms this year. Texas has recorded more cases in a wider area this year than last, and case numbers in Mexico are much higher than last spring. Fertile fly migrations also are greater, and exist for fly propagation."

Briscoe emphasized that prevention of cases is more important than ever, "for it costs about $800 to produce enough sterile flies to treat a single screwworm case."

Dr. S. C. Gartman and Dr. M. E. Meadows Jr., U. S. Department of Agriculture veterinarians from the Mission Screwworm Eradication Center, also emphasized that the threat of a major screwworm outbreak this year is considerably greater than last year, due to reduction in sterile fly production during the winter.

"Conditions are right for a heavy screwworm re-infestation, since sterile fly treatment in the barrier area along the U. S.-Mexican border has been lighter than usual with the limited number of available flies. Sixty-three cases have been confirmed in Texas this spring, compared to only 40 a year ago. Sterile fly treatment areas presently include the lower portion of the state as well as the Edwards Plateau region and along the Rio Grande to the Big Bend area. Fly drops also are underway in Arizona and New Mexico, where cases have been confirmed; and for preventive purposes in Mexico," Dr. Gartman said.

The renewed battle against screwworms calls for county committees to emphasize the need for regular inspection of all animals, treatment of wounds — manmade and otherwise — with a product recommended for that purpose; and spraying herds with a recommended product.

"When infested wounds are found, livestock owners are asked to collect from 5 to 10 representative worms from the wound and mail the sample to the Mission Laboratory for identification," Dr. Meadows reminded. Only cases that have been positively identified as screwworms can be treated because of the cost factor.

The Cycles of Civilization

(An open letter to our High School Graduates)

Dear Graduating Class:

We congratulate you on the accomplishments which have brought you to this hour. In a very real sense you are about to "commence" the pilgrimage of life. From now on your life will be free from parental guidance—yet impelled to answer the great responsibilities of life.

The greatest responsibility you have is what you do for your civilization. Especially is this important when we realize that the highways of human history are cluttered with the wreckage of civilizations. They have flourished, decayed, died, and their empty carcasses are preserved in history books.

It has been suggested that civilizations rise and fall in a set cycle of eight steps:

1. From bondage to spiritual faith
2. From spiritual faith to courage
3. From courage to liberty
4. From liberty to abundance
5. From abundance to selfishness
6. From selfishness to apathy
7. From apathy to dependency
8. From dependency to bondage again

History records that America has passed through the first seven cycles; from the fetters of European bondage to spiritual faith (The Bible was more than cargo on the Mayflower); from spiritual faith there came courage to forge this new land into a haven for liberty; liberty and human freedom have produced abundance; abundance has led to a spirit of apathy; and apathy has generated a dependency upon "others".

Mr. and Miss Senior the choice is yours! Will you give your life to keep this land free and alive with spiritual faith or will you allow apathy, selfishness, and indifference complete the cycle from freedom to bondage—the decision is yours!

Charles E. Peters

Karen's Korner

By KAREN HUNDLEY
Today is the last day. Read this final piece of my efforts and weep. It shall be no more. Tonight the Senior class graduates. And along with the exit of that class go my Korner and a great paper staff. I wish to thank Kay Lofton, Sharyn Hilberry, Glen Ann Barley, Martha Jo Walls, Thresa Sims and Bob Wilkins for a great year. And a special thanks goes to Mrs. Fleming for her help as a sponsor and friend. By tomorrow all of this shall be history, as well as the Class of '69.

Baccalaureate was last Sunday at the football stadium. The senior class thanks Rev. Dale Dozier for giving the invocation, Rev. Bernard Ramsey for reading the scripture, Rev. Curtis Lee for giving the address, and Rev. James A. Criswell for giving the benediction. Also, the class appreciates the wonderful efforts of Mr. George Willson and his choir; Mr. Herb Gerner and the band; and Steve Newby, Neff Walker, and other members of the junior class for acting as ushers and for passing out programs. Without all these people, baccalaureate would have been nothing, if not impossible.

Congrats to Kay Altman for winning the final run-off for senior cheerleader next year.

Lucky Karen Lee received a beautiful engagement ring last weekend from Wiley Miller. Okay, who's next on the senior list of engaged "stool pigeons"?

Congrats to Jackie Rich and Mike Criswell for being awarded scholastic sweaters. Jackie and Mike were "borderline" cases because they had lived in Post for a year or less. But, anyway, they are receiving sweaters, and I'm happy for them.

The Juniors finally had their class party. Last Saturday evening they went to Lubbock to Mackenzie Park to swim and eat.

There WILL be a graduation dance, "The Grace" from Vernon will play at Teen Town from 10 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. Thursday night. See ya there!

Spotlight on Science

THE NEWEST WRINKLE IN FABRICS

Cast fabric is a new kind of cloth developed by chemist Carl Heinrich Krauch and his research team at Badische Anilin & Soda-Fabrik, a West German chemical company. The process for making new cloth was reported in "Chemical and Engineering News," the weekly publication of the American Chemical Society.

The process marks the beginning of a new era for the world's chemical companies, fiber producers, and textile mills and could speed development of further technology that would change the entire textile industry.

The radically new technique side-steps spinning and weaving, the most expensive part of present cloth-making operations, and is very economical. The new material is made by a process called the monomer-to-fabric route, in which a porous cloth is formed directly from a mixture of chemicals.

The new technology carries economic advantages that could shift the fortunes and profits of many companies. This year manufacturers of man-made fibers will sell $3.3 billion worth of threads and fibers to textile mills which, in turn, will sell $2.5 billion worth of cloth products to the public.

Attempts to get around the textile mills' weaving operations began with the introduction several years ago of nonwoven products, such as paper disposables and foam materials made of urethane and vinyl plastics. The new method shrinks the traditional four steps in cloth production, chemicals - to - fiber - to - yarn - to - fabric, down to simply chemicals-to-fabric.

Most likely to lose business because of the new process are mills that weave fibers and yarn into cloth and manufacturers that make the fibers and yarns. Small companies, foreign competitors, and diversity-seeking related industries are expected to cash in on the breakthrough.

None of the major textile manufacturers admits to any current research in this area. Others appear skeptical that this technology could ever become commercial on the basis that the process is too radical in terms of the established methods of the textile industry. But, with respect to production economies, a chemical - to - fabric route appears to represent the ideal. "It's the most direct process conceivable for making fabrics," states an industry spokesman.

IRS will conduct compliance survey

DALLAS — A "compliance survey" of many Post business firms to determine if they are filing all required Federal tax returns will begin soon, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

District Director Ellis Campbell Jr., said the survey will take about three months to complete and will be conducted by revenue officers. A cross section of non-farm businesses will be checked to see if all required tax returns are being filed.

Mr. Campbell said the current survey is not designed to determine whether returns are accurate but only whether all required returns are filed. The survey will also be used to check the completeness of the IRS Master File of business taxpayers.

Most businesses comply conscientiously with the tax laws, Mr. Campbell said. However, he added these laws are complex, and some business taxpayers may not be fully aware of all the tax returns which apply to their particular business operations. These may include returns covering income, withholding, social security, and a variety of miscellaneous excise taxes.

Compliance surveys, Mr. Campbell said, are a continuous part of the regular IRS program to maintain high levels of taxpayer compliance.

Most of the delinquencies brought to light will be the result of honest misunderstandings and oversight. But the rare instances of flagrant abuse which may be discovered will, of course, be dealt with according to law, he added.

DENVER, Colo. — An Oklahoma steer wrestler has strengthened his hammerlock hold on first place in that event's world standings, Rodeo Cowboys Association said here today.

Duvall, 6' 2" and 225 pounds, won $1,335 for just 9.9 seconds of work at the Vernon, Tex., rodeo, which ended Sunday. He took only 4.3 seconds on one steer, 5.6 on another.

Duvall won the 1967 world steer wrestling title with a record 30-715. He was third in 1966, runner-up in 1968.

In an unusual accident, bull rider San Willis of Aquilla, Tex., lost a finger when a bull stepped on his hand.

There were 227 entries at Vernon, competing for $15,424.

“I feel very safe and secure in our Maverick, little as it is. It really holds the road. My husband bought it for me as a shopping car, but every morning, he says, well I guess I'll take the Maverick to work today.”

“I wanted a car and foreign cars are hard to fix. So my brother said Maverick was coming, and I waited. It's a great car to learn to drive with. You can park it and drive it so easily. I really love it.”

Miss Susan Sara, Stoneville, New York

“We bought the Maverick as a second car when a tree fell on our import. Maverick handles better and feels solid and safe on the road. When I hit a bump in the other car it was like going over a mountain. Maverick really flattens them out and I'm getting 25 miles to the gallon.”

Mr. Jack Orben, Computer Specialist, White Plains, New York

“Everybody keeps coming over to look at it. The other night three cars stopped. We thought we had company. Everyone in our neighborhood says for the price it's unbelievable. It looks like it cost much more.”

Dodgers win humdinger, 1-0

Yanks lose as no-hit game goes for naught

Yankee pitcher Ray Martinez threw a no-hitter at the Dodgers last Thursday night, but his team lost, 1 to 0, for its first setback of the Little League season.

The game was a pitcher's duel all the way, with the Dodgers' Jackie Jennings allowing the Yankees but one hit.

The game's only run came in the second inning when Randy Habb, the leadoff batter, reached base on an error, advanced on walks to Joe Mason and George Hester and scored on another error.

The Yankees threatened in the top of the third when Albert Castro doubled with one out. He went to third on Evans Heaton's groundout to second base, but Jennings fanned Danny Sawyers to end the inning.

Martinez struck out eight batters and walked three in his five inings of no-hit pitching. Jennings fanned 12 Yankee batters and walked five in six innings.

In Thursday's other game, the Red Sox scored in the bottom of the sixth on three walks and a hit batsman to break a 12-12 tie and beat the Tigers by one run. Rodney King, the second of three Red Sox pitchers got the win, while Danny Saldivar was the loser.

Saldivar and Grayling Johnson got three hits apiece for the Tigers. Rodney King, Bob Craig and Eddie Gannon led the Red Sox hitters with two hits apiece. Tim Owen scored three of the winners' runs without getting a hit. He walked three times and was hit by a pitch.

It took an extra inning Saturday for the Wildcats to conquer the Dodgers, 11 to 10. Going into the bottom of the seventh with the score tied 10-10, Roger Mullenix led off for the Wildcats with a walk, Terry Botts was safe on a fielders' choice, and Ricky Mullenix and Randy Josey both walked to push in the winning run.

Rudy Castro, the losing pitcher, allowed the Wildcats but four hits. Botts pitched six innings for the winners, with Andy Williams relieving him for the top of the seventh.

The Cardinals got only one hit off three Red Sox pitchers Saturday, but won the ball game, 9 to 6. Twelve Cardinal batters walked in the four-inning game and two were hit by pitched balls. The Cards' only hit was a second inning single by Jerry Johnson.

The Red Sox got four hits off winning pitcher Tony Conoly, with Charles Clanton getting two of them. Rodney King, the third of three Red Sox pitchers, absorbed the loss.

Clyde Cash named on all-conference

Clyde Cash of Justiceburg and Post, a sophomore at South Plains College, Levelland, was one of three SPC baseball players named to the all-conference team.

Cash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bandy Cash and brother of Norman Cash of the Detroit Tiger baseball team, was an outfielder on the SPC club, which finished second in the conference behind Odessa College.

The college newspaper, in announcing the all-conference selections, called Cash "the most consistent player this year." He made only two errors the entire season.

Cash is a 1967 graduate of Post High School, where he lettered in football.

The other SPC players making the all-conference team were Willie Taylor, sophomore from Odessa, and Newell Squires, freshman from Dumas.

James Pearce, the team's coach, said: "This year's team worked harder than any team at SPC in the past. Several would stay after practice, time after time. Many worked out during the holidays, but the breaks went against them. They deserved better than they received, as they represented SPC excellently in all aspects."

The SPC team defeated New Mexico Military Institute four games out of six; Amarillo College, five out of six; split with Eastern New Mexico University; beat College of Artesia, and lost to Odessa College, five out of six.
