1972 construction here highest in many years

Building permit total $382,945

Featuring the most new business construction and remodeling in many years, 1972 saw 41 building permits issued in Post for construction estimated to cost $382,-

Had the $120,000 permit for the new United Super Market, issued in November of 1971, fallen into the 12 months period construction here would have topped the half million dollar mark for the first time in almost a decade.

A development at year's end held really the most promise for the future-a start on doing something about this community's housing shortage.

The final two building permits of the year were issued to the Ault-Canode Construction firm of Amarillo for building two new local residences.

The first was for a three bedroom home for Richard Stice, estimated cost of $17,000, in Sunset Addition, and the other a $15,700 three bedroom residence for Jack Clinesmith on lot 11-12, Block 108. The Amarillo firm ran a "want ad campaign" in The Dispatch during the summer seeking per-sons who wanted to build new homes here. The two residential starts are the first for Ault-Canode in the city although they reported in the fall they "were working" on plans for several homes. The Amarillo firm is expected to build others here when these to still be short of the halfway are finished. Two different kinds of safety

Study Set on Texas Bridges, reads a headline in Friday morning's paper. It follows, of course, the tragic wreck of Dec. 21 on a narrow bridge near Fort Sumner, N.M., in which 19 persons were killed and 15 were injured—the worst traffic accident in New Mexico's history.

It's too bad that it sometimes takes something like that truck wreck to make us start "studying" conditions in our own state, where there no doubt are many narrow bridges where similar accidents could hap-

To keep up with automobiles, highways

and bridges are going to have to be made safer, since some real changes have been made and more are coming in the design and construction of automobiles that are of the utmost personal significance to everyone who drives or rides in a car.

Specifically these changes, some put in by industry initiative and others by government order, could save your life in the event that you are involved in an automobile accident. As the head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has put it, within a few years it may be "extremely difficult to kill yourself in a car.

This is the message of a most informative article featured in a late issue of The Readers Digest. Here is what is happening: In more and more instances, people walk away from, or at least live through, highway crashes that would have been fatal just a few years ago. The safety devices that now are protecting motorists' lives start with a seat belt to hold you in the car where other safety devices can be built in to protect

Some of the new design features are listed, including the antiburst latch that helps hold doors shut, windshields that bend but do not shatter, dash panels that bend to absorb impact (usually with your head), cushioned steering wheels and energy absorbing steering columns, and seats with head supports to reduce neck and upper-spine (whiplash) injuries in low-speed, read-end collisions. National Safety Council figures show that between 1969 and the end of 1971, with 9 million new drivers on the roads, the number of accidents rose 6 per cent, but deaths to people inside cars dropped 7.5 per

As interest mounts and cost and structural design problems are studied, it's not likely that the need for driver common sense and courtesy will ever be eliminated. But there's no doubt that the family car is getting safer and that's good news for all of us who have to get from here to there on the nation's highways. - CD

Some Yule gifts can break laws

We wouldn't want to be a party to spailing anybody's fun, at least not this soon after Christmas, and we don't think we are doing so when we agree to help the police department remind the public that there is a city ordinance against shooting air rifles inside the city limits, and also laws against unlicensed operators riding motorcycles or any other kind of motor-driven vehicle on public streets or roads.

The police consider right now a good time to remind the public, since many youngsters got air rifles for Christmas, and some got motor-bikes or mini-bikes.

The air rifle ordinance goes so far as to make it unlawful for any youngster to carry one on public streets or roads. Extensive property damage here in the past from air rifles prompted the city council to pass an ordinance "with teeth in it," and they have instructed city police to enforce the measure. The council doesn't want to spoil a youngster's fun if Santa Claus brought him a new air rifle for Christmas, but their feeling is that he should go outside the city limits to shoot it, so as not to endanger life, limb or pro-

For the last few months, the city police police department has stepped up its drive against the operation of unlicensed motorcycles and similar vehicles on public streets. They point out that an operator's license for a motorcycle and a driver's license for an automobile are not necessarily the same.

If your son or daughter got a motorcymotor-bike or mini-bike for Christmas, make sure he or she has a license to operate the vehicle before they leave their home premises and take it onto a public street or road. That's the word from the police department.

When 'sweet buys' turn sour

Mobility is now considered one of our inalienable rights. However, it is not free, and sometimes it can be exercised beyond the point of practicality.

A publisher friend of ours has made the point very well in his newspaper. He says: "Did you ever drive 50 to 100 miles or more to take advantage of a super-duper special that was advertised somewhere? A local $50 item 50 miles away would have to sell for $34.50 in order for you to break even. The American Automobile Association certifies that 15.5 cents is what it costs to drive your car one mile. So if you've driven 100 miles round trip to pick up that special, you'll have to add $15.50 to that buy. That sweet purchase suddenly turn quite sour."

Post merchants, whether it is graceries, clothing, drugs, hardware, appliances or whatever, feature top line, nationally advertised products. And they are also at comparative prices. They also support your local schools, churches and organizations. They also help to pay for improvements to make Post a better place to live. And they'll be here tomorrow to serve you personally.--CD

What our contemporaries are saying

It was recently said that "Too many people quit work as soon as they find a job." This is a bad situation, of course, but when the first thing that many want to know when they are looking for a job is "Will I make more than I now get from ADC?" It is high time the government took a closer look at some of its handout programs. -Chester, III., Herald Tribune.

I'VE LONG wanted to meet someone who had attended C. W. Post College and I got the opportunity last Thursday afternoon the Rev. George Ascher, pastor of Faith Lutheran Church, came into the office with his son-in-law, David David, who was here for the holidays with his wife, Carol, and their 17-months-old daughter, Jennifer, is a 1968 graduate of C. W. Post College with a bachelor's degree in history. He now teaches in a Lutheran parochial school in Seymour, Ind.

THE MINUTE the Rev. Mr. Ascher introduced his son-in-law as a graduate of C. W. Post College. I invited him to sit down and tell me about it. He did so while the Reverend walked up the street to the library to check out some

The Reverend, who is one of our favorite people here at The Dispatch office, warned me before he left for the library that his sonin-law would "talk my arm off"or words to that effect. But the personable young man did no such thing; he merely answered my questions about himself and C. W. Post College.

DAVID SAID he lived in New York with his parents at the time he enrolled in C. W. Post College for his final two years of college work. The college is located at Greendale, Long Island, but has two other campuses-one at Southampton, further out on Long Island, and the other in Brooklyn.

The main college, David said, prominently displays a plaque with the name of C. W. Post's daughter, Mrs. Merriwether Post, who endowed the private college in her father's name.

ANYONE WHO reads the sports pages knows by now that the college has a well-rounded program in that category, and while the area daily newspapers do not carry stories on any of the C. W. Post College games, they always list the results.

David said the college had another real good football season this year and won the championship of the newly-formed Metropolitan League and, along with it, the Governor's Cup. The college's sports program also includes basketball, baseball, golf, soccer, lacrosse,

THERE'S ALSO a "C. W. Post connection" in the fact that David and his wife first met in Springfield, Ill., which (I may be wrong on this) was Post's birthplace. If not his birthplace, he at one time lived there. Anyway, he was from

David said he would send his father-in-law some C. W. Post College "literature" to pass on to us, so perhaps in a later issue of The Dispatch we'll be able to tell you more of the college that was named for the same man our

THE MAN UP the street says one of the greatest ambitions a person can have in life is to make as much money as he owes.

The nearest I've ever come to shaking hands with a President of the United States is shaking hands with two men who later became President. One of these men was Harry S. Truman, who died last week. The other was Lyndon B. Johnson, who was hale and hearty the last I heard.

I MET TRUMAN years ago at a press conference in Lubbock while he was still a Senator. He was campaigning at the time for Franklin D. Date extended to June 30 on highway signs

AUSTIN - The Texas Highway Commission has extended the lic-ense and permit filing deadline for owners of signs along Interstate and primary highways.

The Commission extended the filing deadline from December 31 to June 30, 1973. Advertising industry and individual sign owners requested the extension because the previous deadline did not permit sufficient time to comply with the Texas Highway Beautification Act.

The Act requires a permit for each existing or planned sign. Also, anyone erecting or maintaining signs within 660 feet of an Inter-state or Federal-aid highway must have a license to engage in out-

Sign owners are advised to apply for a license and all necessary sign permits as soon as possible since no further extension of the deadline is contemplated. The State license fee of $25 is valid for an indefinite period. In addition, sign owners are required to post a $2,500 bond in each county in which they have signs. Maximum bonds of $10,000 are required of owners with signs in more than three counties.

Both license and bond applica-tions are available through the Right of Way Division, Texas Highway Department, P. O. Box 5075, Austin. Texas, 78763. In addition, owners must obtain a $5 permit for each sign. Permits for new signs will not be issued unless they conform to the law. Sign permit application forms can be obtained from the right of way sections of Highway Department district offices. Owners of signs who have questions about the program or the new deadline date should contact the nearest Highway Department district office.

Potluck

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN

I've always heard of the Christmas Blues but this is the first time I've had them. I suppose they're natural enough when one comes to a certain age.

Before Christmas, one is busy decorating the house, making and buying presents, cooking special goodies, putting up a tree, sending cards, going to parties and lovely Christmas services. Then, Christmas Day, the packages are opened, the family comes for dinner, and all of a sudden on Dec. 26, it's all over. As Zoe Kirkpatrick put it, "back to the old ironing board."

This Christmas was a nostalgic one for me. I think it was mainly because my son, with his gift for guessing the contents of every package, reminded me of my Dad had just children. bought himself a new set of irons about two months before and everytime he looked at that package he got so nervous he'd have to leave the room.

There was only one package under the tree that Kurt couldn't guess this year, and it was "the important one" - a key to his new motorcycle with a note saying, 'Go look in Paul Jones' backyard and see what's there". Two nights before Christmas, Earl and I returned from a party, took one look at that package, and knew immed-iately that it had been opened and rewrapped while we were gone.

We hastily opened it again, replaced the key with a small rock and the original note with another, saying, "Santa doesn't like it when people snoop in their packages". On Christmas morning, ol' Kurt tore into that package, said, "OH, visiting Mrs. Hays Christmas eve in Plains this week with her son BOY!" before he noticed the dif- were Mr. and Mrs. Scottie Pierce and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bowen ference, and then, getting a good of Austin.

We were pretty proud of him because he was such a good sport about it, and also because he promised "no more snooping". Old Chinese proverb say, "OK to guess. but not fair to find out for sure."

Ah, Christmas. It's always worth a day or two of the blues.

University of Texas shows Proclamation

AUSTIN - For the next six months, visitors to The University of Texas may see one of the nation's most valuable documents.

It is the Emancipation Proclamation, which was signed by President Abraham Lincoln to free slaves in the Confederacy in 1863. The document is rarely shown outside of Washington.

The five-page original is on view at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library. It was placed on exhibit in early December in conjunction with a Civil Rights Symposium co-spons-ored by the LBJ Library and UT

New generating facilities with a capability of 631,000 kilowatts would be completed during the five-year period, Tolk said, and, just before the end of the five years, construction will begin on a 350,000 kilowatt unit scheduled to go into service in 191?

The new generating facilities include a 25,000 kilowatt gas turbine at Riverview Station, which will go into service in mid-1973. This unit, while small in size, is large in unique features. Its exhaust gases will be piped to a waste heat boiler, and steam from this Southwestern pioneered in the use of treated sewage effluent as cooling water at its Nichols Station, near Amarillo, beginning more than a decade ago. Now they have gone one more step and are using equipment that cleans up the treated water to the point where it can be purified for use as boiler feed water. This is being done on the first unit at Jones Station and is projected for the second unit at that facility and also for the 1976 unit.

"When we have installed all of the generating facilities proposed through 1976, we will save, on the average day, 14,000,000 gallons of potable water through the use of sewage effluent. That's the equivalent of the daily water needs of a city of 100,000 people and is a most important conservation consideration," Tolk added.

Returning to the matter of fuel resources, Tolk said that the 350, 000 kilowatt unit planned for 1976 -or even solid waste-can be used

"This one is actually going to have a garbage door on it," he

Speaking in a more serious vein, "Signification he added, "We are confident that Influence." our suppliers will find the gas we need for fuel, but we will be prepared to burn other fuels if it doesn't turn out that way. 1976 unit will be located north of Amarillo so that the sewage effluent can be purchased from

A major transimssion line project for 1973 is a 230,000 volt line running from Tuco Interchage, north of Abernathy, to Nichols Station, northeast of Amarillo, This will provide a second 230,000 volt path or backbone for the interconnected transmission system and make the movement of power betwen major generating facilities and the areas of greatest use more efficient, reliable and economical.

"It is difficult to pin down exactly how many dollars will flow into the economies of the communities we serve because of this expansion program. We will purchase all of the transportation and equipment locally and as much of the supplies and materials as possible. Local suppliers will provide the gas or oil fuel. Construction labor accounts for about 22 to 25 per cent of the cost of a new generating station, and it will come from local skilled labor sources and amount to several million dollars. If the formula that says putting one dollar into the economy generates seven more dollars is valid, then we are talking about a multi-million dollar injection into the economy of our area during this five-year program," Tolk concluded

Almost always, courts have ruled this way when an accused person is reluctant to demonstrate h i s handwriting. In fact, he may even be called upon to write in an un-natural style if that will help clear up the case. Thus:

The defendant in a forgery trial was requested to write something with a backward slant, since the document in question had been written that way.

Desiderata

Found in old Saint Paul's Church, Baltimore — Dated 1692

Go placidly amid the noise and haste,

And remember what peace there may be in silence.

As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons.

Speak your truth quietly and clea ly, and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant, they too have their story.

Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations

If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter, for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.

Keep interested in your own career, however humble, it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs, for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism.

Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neithe cynical about love: for in the face of all aridit disenchantment, it is perennial as the grass.

Take kindly the counseling of years, gracefully surrend the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not dis yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome disc be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe, no less than the tree stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe unfolding as it should.

Be therefore at peace with God, whatever you concer him to be, and whatever your labors and aspire in the naisy confusion of life, keep peace with y soul. With all its sham, drudgery and broken dred is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be h
