Quarterly membership breakfasts CofC plan

Post Chamber of Commerce directors have decided to hold quarterly membership breakfasts — the first to be announced — and authorized the expenditure of up to $100 for improvements in the City-County park.

Earl Chapman was authorized to meet with the park board to discuss possible park improvements, including covering and expansion of the barbecue pits.

Volunteer cooks last year cooked throughout the night in a rain-storm to prepare the barbecued chicken for Post's annual Fourth of July celebration and asked afterwards that some type of rain protection be erected.

Directors at their April luncheon meeting last Thursday also pointed to the park road, playground equipment, and grassing as other possible improvement areas.

The Chamber's 1973 budget was approved and President J. B. Potts announced selection of committee

'Girl With Peach' gets juror's award in art show here

A second place oil painting, "Girl With a Peach", by Mac Carow, Lubbock, won the $100 juror's selection cash award in the Post Art Guild's annual Easter Art Show here Saturday and Sunday.

Marie Neff, president of the Post Art Guild, told the crowd at the awards presentation Sunday afternoon that the judge, Dr. Emilio Caballero of West Texas State University, said he selected the second place painting for the juror's prize because "it pleased me most."

Dr. Caballero was unable to return to Post for Sunday's presentations because of company unexpected "dropping in on him" at Canyon, Mrs. Neff told the crowd.

The $250 multiple donors award went to two paintings, "Wagon on the Neff Ranch," by Marie Neff, and "Windmill and Fence," a landscape by Ada Mae Kitten of Slaton. These two paintings will be hung in the county museum building, according to the art guild president.

C. Warren Cullar of Snyder won the First National Bank's $150 award for his "Out to Pasture." Other award winners were: "Extension No. 1" by Deana White of Hale Center, Dalby Cattle Company, $100; "Penning 'em Up" by Durward Campbell of Lubbock, Rucker A Well Service, $100; "The Bowman Barn" by Marie Neff, Burlington Industries, $75; "Indian Trails" by Mac Carow, Texaco, Inc., $75.

Toni Arnett of Lubbock was a blue ribbon winner in oil landscapes, with Ben Konis of Amarillo receiving a red ribbon and Pat Krahn of Lubbock, a white ribbon.

In oil portraits, the blue ribbon winner was J. Robert Miller of Abilene; red ribbon, Mac Carow, and white ribbon, Minsuno Reedy of Lubbock.

Deana White of Hale Center won the blue ribbon in oil still lifes, with the red ribbon going to Wynonne Sweeney of Lubbock and the white ribbon to LaVerne Lee of Snyder.

In water color landscapes, the blue ribbon went to Carles Atkinson of Lubbock, the red ribbon to C. Warren Cullar, and the white to Katherine Milam of Lubbock.

Biggest cotton crop in Garza history 'winding up' at gins

Eight area gins this week are winding up the ginning of Garza County's "unbelievable 1972-73 cotton harvest"—and according to The Dispatch's final weekly gin check it totals up to a record-breaking 35,280 bales.

Highest previous annual production credited to this county was slightly over 28,000 bales. Not only was it the biggest crop on record, but the longest ginning season too.

The first Garza gin to wind up its work was the Basinger Gin at Southland which closed last Thursday. Some finished yesterday and most hoped to finish before Easter.

For most gins, but not all, it was the most amount of cotton they've ever ginned.

The gin-by-gin report:

Storie Gin: 3,368 ginned, 25 or 30 bales left, most ever.
Close City: 5,475 bales ginned. Figured to finish yesterday afternoon.
Graham: 7,947 bales ginned. Finished Wednesday morning.
Planters Gin: 3,825 bales ginned, 20 on yard, 40 to 50 bales to come in. Hope for Friday finish.
Pleasant Valley: 3,300 bales ginned, 9 or 10 more bales to gin.

Expect to wind up Thursday.
Hackberry: (Half counted as Garza cotton) 8,500 bales ginned, 300 on yard, most ever ginned, 1 or 2 more days before finished.
Basinger Gin: 4,350 bales ginned. Finished last Thursday.
Grassland Coop Gin: (One third counted as Garza cotton) 7,450 bales ginned, 100 on hand, hope to finish this week.

Caprock Enduro brings out field of 496 contestants

Phil Craine of Euless, Tex., won the 100-mile Caprock Enduro south of here on the U Lazy S Ranch Sunday from a field of 496 entrants.

Riding a 250 Suzuki, Craine scored 972 points out of a possible 1,000 for the cross-country event in which contestants were judged on their ability to average 20 miles per hour.

Only 135 of the 496 entrants—most ever for a Caprock Enduro here — were qualified finishers, which means that they finished at least within an hour of the time they should have taken on the course. Slower finishers were disqualified.

Eight riders were brought to Garza Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment of injuries suffered in spills on the course.

One, who reportedly received a fractured pelvis, was transferred to a hospital in Clyde, Tex., and two others, one with a broken leg and another with a broken wrist, were taken by ambulance to Lubbock hospitals after emergency treatment here.

The Lubbock Trail Riders Club, which sponsored the Caprock Enduro on the U Lazy S Ranch Sunday, voted at its bi-monthly meeting in Lubbock Tuesday night to donate $200 to the Post Public Library's memorial building fund.

Jack Lott, a member of the club, told The Dispatch yesterday that during the business session he was asked what organization the benefit branding the week before was given for.

When club members were told it was the local library, one made a motion that the club contribute $100 to the Post Library's fund. Another member raised it to $200.

That was the way it was voted. The library made friends at the Enduro last year by operating an all-day concession stand on the site.

LIBRARY TO GET $200 DONATION FROM 'CYCLISTS'

With dozens of riders competing in nine events, the Post Motorcycle Rodeo was held at the Post Stampede, Inc., arena Saturday night, with both contestants and spectators greatly outnumbering those at the first cycle rodeo held here last fall.

Cecil Foster Jr. of the Post Motorcycle Club said approximately $480 was taken in at the gate for Saturday night's rodeo—more than $100 above the amount taken in for the first one.

Despite the thrills and excitement, there was only one casualty in Saturday night's hazardous events. Billy Stovall of Lubbock, competing in the ramp jump, reportedly suffered a broken pelvic bone when his motorcycle flipped over with him as he roared off the ramp. Foster said he learned later that Stovall was taken to a Lubbock hospital.

Winners in the various events, with the number of contestants in parentheses, were as follows:

Open Balloon Bust (19): Billy Glenn, Lubbock, first; Kenneth DeMont, Lubbock, second.

Open Boot Race (8): Mark Terry, Post, first; Joe Clary, Post, second.

Barrel Race 0-80cc (6): Chris Tow, Amarillo, first; David Foster, Post, second.

Retirement plan set up for water district workers

A state-operated retirement plan for White River Municipal Water District workers was adopted by directors of the district at their April meeting at the filtration plant last Thursday night.

The plan, which will become effective with the beginning of the new fiscal year July 1, provides that the district and covered employees each contribute seven percent of the employees' salaries to the retirement fund.

One year employment with the district would be required to become eligible for the retirement plan.

Water District Manager Al O'Brien told directors he had been studying various plans and he believed the state offered plan offered employees the most in retirement benefits and that the employees also favored the state plan over others.

Directors discussed at some length the addition onto the filtration building of a directors' room in which to meet and for the addition of a new office for O'Brien and additional restrooms.

Directors have been meeting monthly in O'Brien's office. There is only one restroom in the building and it is in the employees' dressing room.

O'Brien brought up the subject by suggesting a directors' room on the east end of the present filtration building of 15 by 30 foot size, paneled and carpeted.

Directors then suggested the addition also include a new more private office for O'Brien and additional restrooms.

Easter still adds up to one thing

Humankind, like nature, usually puts its best foot forward for Easter. The last few days, as Easter Sunday approaches, we've been having springlike weather after many of us had begun to wonder if that kind of weather would get here before summer.

Turbulent weather, sad to say, has been mixed in with those springlike days, as we've grown accustomed to expect here in West Texas, with the High Plains city of Plainview suffering the first disastrous tornado of the season early Sunday morning.

Easter, itself, which most of us will observe Sunday by putting our best foot forward, is a mystical blend of Christianity and paganism, steeped in a rich heritage of legends and tradition.

Yet with its many meanings, Easter still adds up to one thing for all of us—a joyful celebration of life. The symbolism that is an integral part of the holiday attests to that. The religious color for Easter, white, is the sign of purity, light and joy.

The Easter bunny represents abundant new life; and even the sunrise services have their roots in a legend which declares that the ray of light bursting through the clouds on Easter morning are angels dancing for joy.

Of course, the resurrection of Jesus Christ is a symbol of rebirth and hope to millions of Christians the world over.

As always, Easter will be a quiet day for most, filled with worship, Easter egg hunts—or maybe just the contemplation of the coming of Spring this year, when a new chance for lasting peace brightens the hopes of all men.—CD

The case against more state taxes

Everyone knows that taxes have gone up in recent years.

But how high is up?

One measurement, recently received by The Dispatch from the Tax Foundation, is that the average American spends two hours and 34 minutes of his eight-hour working day earning the money to pay his combined local, state and federal taxes.

That's 32 per cent of his time.

About one dollar of every three earned by the average citizen is now utilized for taxes.

The total tax bill averages about $4,500 per household, which is $2,000 more per household than the average only ten years ago.

Small wonder that most Americans believe it's time to hold the line on taxes.

While federal requirements amount to most of the tax burden, state demands are also heavy.

During the fiscal year that ended last June, taxes paid to the state rose by $8.3 billion to $59.8 billion—an increase of 16 per cent over the previous year.

Nationally, state tax collections per capita have risen dramatically since 1967. In those five years, the average state tax bill has gone up from $161.92 to $288.35 per person, according to the U. S. Census Bureau.

Over that period, the Texas per capita tax has climbed 80 per cent, compared to the national average of 78 per cent.

Sooner or later, we're all agreed, the Texas Legislature must come to grips with effective measures to impose spending controls.

Some ideas are catching on, such as forbidding House-Senate conferences on appropriations from increasing the spending level above that voted by the two houses (a common and expensive practice in past years), and requiring legislative committees to give accurate estimates of the cost of each bill (price tagging).

Both of these reforms should be written into law as well as being incorporated into legislative rules.

Other proposals have bet considerable opposition, including a Constitutional system of executive budget control. Gov. Dolph Briscoe recommends establishment of a Budget Commission.

Another proposal calls for a review by the Governor of all state spending on a quarterly basis, so that the Executive Department will have some means to deal with unneeded spending.

Yet another proposal which could lead to greater economy is authority for the Legislative Budget Board to conduct audits on the efficiency of state programs. Every successful business has some means of reviewing its programs and imposing quality controls. The state government, however, lacks an adequate system to monitor these programs.

There are a number of other commonsense approaches to economy, but space does not permit us listing them here. Suffice it to say that at long last Texas may be taking the path to curbing taxes—new ones, at least.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

Communism is like a disease; people get it not because they are attracted to it, but because they fail to protect themselves against it.—The Spencerville (Ohio) Journal-News.

You usually pay the most for the things you get for nothing.—Langford (S. Dak.) Bugle.

It's gratifying to note that the Federal Trade Commission is after the aspirin and semi-aspirin makers for false advertising. Some of those ads on television really give us a pain, and not in the head, either. Now if they'd just get around to some of those other things you have to suffer through while you're waiting for the move to resume.—The Slaton Slatonite.

Hudman Funeral Home

I'VE JUST READ an item in Sunday's Snyder Daily News that says the new Dallas alphabetical telephone directory weighs nearly four pounds, contains 487,808 listings and has 1,478 pages.

That's a whopper of a telephone directory and I doubt if any of the circus strong men of a few decades ago who demonstrated their strength by tearing telephone directories in half could make a dent in the Big D phone book.

ALL OF WHICH leads up to the fact that we received our own new telephone directories here in Post a few weeks ago. The Post directory is nowhere near as large as the Dallas directory, of course, but it is bigger than its predecessor, which contained only 60 pages to this year's 74. When I speak of the Post telephone book, I'm including, of course, Tahoka and Wilson, and a number of exchanges, which are also to be found in the Post directory.

I didn't take time to count the listings in the Post section of the new directory, but I'm sure they outnumber last year's, because my name and phone number is listed 13 lines down on page 3 in the new book, whereas in the old one it was listed only four lines down on page 3.

THE SAME AS last year, the new Post telephone directory leads off with the name Chas. R. Adams and ends with the name Robert B. Zivec. Incidentally, you see those two fellows together a lot, since both are employees of Postex Plant and both are members of the Lions Club.

The Williamses continue to lead the Smiths in the Post section of the new phone book, outnumbering them 21 to 19 this year as compared with 22 to 20 last year. Both the Williamses and the Smiths have no trouble "keeping up with the Joneses," for whom there are only eight listings in the new directory.

HAVE YOU EVER wondered about the longest surnames in the Post telephone directory? I doubt if you have, but if so, they are Brinfield, Eilenberger, Kirkpatrick and Scarborough—each with 11 letters. And the shortest surnames are Cox, Dye, Fry, Lee, Orr, Poe and Ray.

The man up the street says a dividend is a certain percentage per annum, perhaps.

IF THERE IS any doubt about whose side this country is on in the Middle East tension, consider that the news media always refers to the Arabs as terrorists or guerrillas when they knock off Israelis. Yet when the Israelis invade Arabian territory gunning down people or shoot down an airliner with the loss of more than 100 innocent civilian lives, the news media refer to them as "commandos" or some other less opprobrious term than terrorists or guerrillas.

I'm not on the Arabs' side, but I'm about as neutral as one can be about the whole affair because I think the Israel government is both too nervous and too cocky. I don't think the Israelis would be happy with peace in the Middle East. They don't seem to recognize that both they and the Arabs are poised on the brink of mutual destruction.

YOU HEARD about the scientist who:

Crossed a calculating machine point pen and got a woodpecker with a retractable beak.

Crossed a potato with a sponge. Got a potato that tastes awful, but boy does it sop up the gravy.

Crossed a calculating machine with a rubber band and got a computer that made snap decisions.

"We're Excited About Post" is the title of the new bulletin of the Post Chamber of Commerce, the first monthly edition of which was distributed recently by Kay Lamb, Chamber secretary. The title of the bulletin is a good one. It seems that there is always something going on in Post to get excited about. Last weekend, for instance, there was the Easter Art Show, the Motorcycle Rodeo, and the Enduro race. Also the presentation of the "Messiah" by the Community Chorus. And this week started off with the FHA chapters' annual Mother-Daughter buffet dinner Monday, and the senior class play Tuesday night. As long as we keep the "excitement" going, we've got a good town.

Selective Service system shake-up has effect on draft boards in area

AUSTIN — The reorganization of the Selective Service System announced by Col. Melvin N. Glantz, state director of Selective Service for Texas, will have an effect on the local draft boards in Northwest Texas.

The number of local board offices in Texas will be reduced from 107 to 63 by the end of 1973. In Northwest Texas only six offices will remain open where there are now 12. A few months ago 15 offices served the local boards in this area. During 1972 the office in Perryton was moved to Borger and the office in Dalhart to Amarillo. Early in 1973 the office in Vernon was moved to Wichita Falls leaving only 12 offices currently serving the 15 local draft boards in Northwest Texas. The additional collocation of draft board offices will continue until there are only 6 offices in Northwest Texas located in Amarillo, Pampa, Plainview, Childress, Lubbock and Wichita Falls.

The Amarillo office will support the Dalhart and Hereford local boards, the Perryton and Borger boards will be supported from Pampa. Records and files in Muleshoe will be moved to Plainview. The local board in Brownfield will have its records moved into Lubbock with Benjamin and Vernon local board records housed in Wichita Falls. The board office in Childress will remain open but on a part time basis. The office in Jayton will be moved to Sweetwater. All of the moves will be completed by December 1973.

The 15 local draft boards in Northwest Texas will continue to function as they have previously with each serving the same counties. Under the standby draft situation, local boards will probably meet quarterly rather than monthly. Board meetings will continue to be conducted in the same town where the board has previously met. On occasion, the board members may be called to special meetings at the office sites.

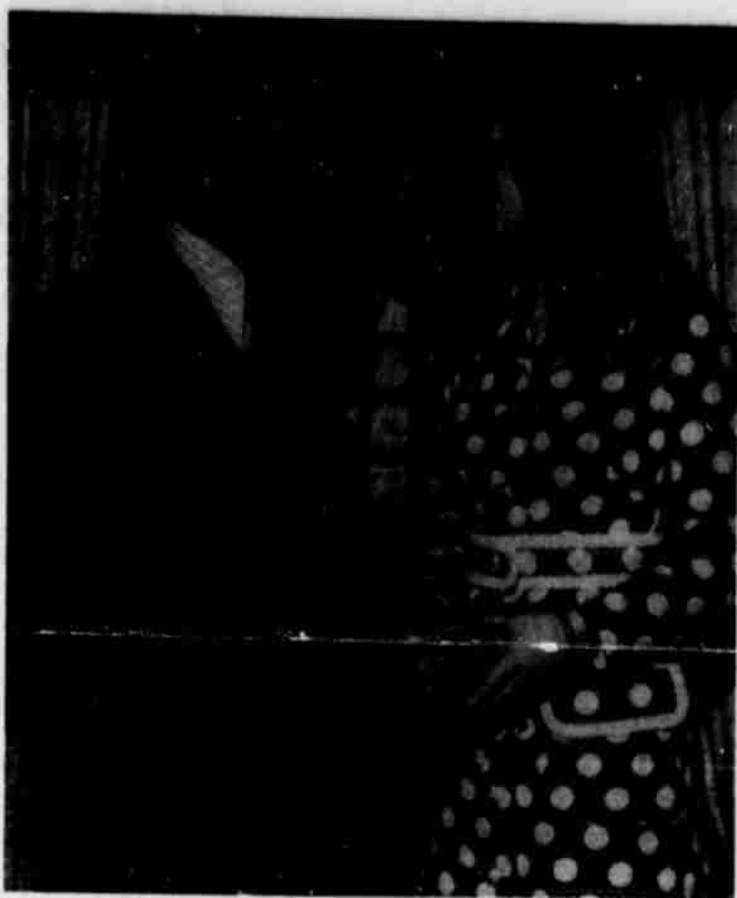

Announcing the reorganization throughout Texas, Colonel Glantz stressed that the local boards themselves will not move, only the employees and records.

There will be a reduction in force of Selective Service employees in Texas from the present 342 employees to 193 full time and 27 part time employees. In the Northwest Texas offices there will be a total of 14 full time and two part time employees. Amarillo and Lubbock will have four each Pampa and Plainview two each with two full time and one part time employees in Wichita Falls and one part time employee in Childress.

Colonel Glantz reminded the young men of Texas of their obligation under federal law to register with Selective Service within 30 days before or 30 days after their 18th birthday and any young man who is late in registering is urged to do so immediately to avoid the penalty of Federal law for failure to register. Selective Service maintains registrars in each county in Northwest Texas allowing young men to register without having to go to one of the local board offices.

Any questions about Selective Service requirements should be directed to one of the employees at a local board office.

Colonel Glantz told newsmen that there are no plans to draft any young men this year. Glantz noted that the Selective Service would continue to function on a standby basis with fewer people working in fewer offices throughout the nation. The agency is being kept "alive" in a standby status to meet any national emergency that may require a military mobilization. If the all-volunteer military concept being attempted by President Nixon does not maintain the necessary strength set by Congress, the Selective Service System may again be required to begin drafting young men.

Lasso® hates Carelessweed!

Lasso, the preemergence herbicide from Monsanto controls Carelessweed as well as other broadleaf weeds and almost a dozen annual grasses that compete with cotton. What's more, Lasso doesn't carryover to harm rotational crops. So even if your cotton gets hailed out, you can come right back in with soybeans or corn. You don't have to incorporate Lasso, either. Apply it preemergence at planting and you're through.

This year, use Lasso. And get the Carelessweed before it gets your cotton.

Oden-Taylor vows exchanged in Trinity Baptist Church

Miss Debbie Lee Oden and C. H. Taylor were united in marriage Friday, April 6, in the Trinity Baptist Church.

The Rev. Robert Griffin, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiated the single ring ceremony before an archway of lilac chrysanthemums and greenery flanked by 14-branch candelabras.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edna Oden and the late Alfred Oden, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor.

Presented in marriage by her uncle, Wayne Dalton of Killeen, the bride wore a formal length gown of white silk faced peau de soie fashioned with a victorian neckline of chantilly lace, long sleeves with a wide insert of lace at the wrist and buttoned with tiny covered buttons, which also accented the front of the gown.

The princess A-line skirt was an overlap of chantilly lace over peau de soie. The chapel length veil of matching lace-edged mantilla was attached to a profile of lace medallions.

Miss Terry Shedd and Miss Nelda Kuykendall of Slaton were maids of honor. They each wore a formal length gown of purple taffeta, fashioned with a high neckline, long full bishop sleeves and wide cuffs. A self ruffle formed a yoke effect on the front and back of the bodice and A-line skirt. Their headpiece of three tiers of illusion was attached to profile bows of taffeta.

Miss Penny Shedd served as bridesmaid and wore a formal length lilac gown of silk and rayon with empire bodice, high neckline, long puff sleeves, gathered skirt and accented with a darker shade of lilac lace trim around the sleeves and bottom of the skirt. Miss Deborah Horton, also serving as bridesmaid, wore a formal length sleeveless gown of lilac with empire bodice, trimmed with white lace and accented with purple satin ribbon.

Flower girl was Ramona Ann Taylor, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a lilac gown of brocade cotton and rayon in empire style.

Candlelighters were Ronald Oden of Slaton and Mike Hawkins, nephews of the bride.

Roy Dardy of Roswell, N. M., served as best man.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Bailey Cook, greeted the guests from 3:00 to 5 p. m.

The hostesses assisted with serving duties from a table laid with a white lace cloth over pink and centered with a spring flower arrangement of pink and white, the bride-elect's chosen colors.

Hostesses were: Mmes. Maxine Marks, Jerry Lott, Helen Miller, Patty Kirkpatrick and Margaret Williams.

Mrs. Necia Rogers is Needlecraft hostess

Mrs. Necia Rogers of Lubbock was hostess at the April 13 meeting of the Needlecraft Club.

Mrs. Rogers recently returned from a tour of several states and showed slides and gave data concerning some of the historical markers and points of interest.

WOMEN ADVISED TO PROTECT THEMSELVES

Even though we get to feeling all safe and snug in the security a small town offers, there are still dangers we face. I visited last week with two H. D. club women who said they didn't feel as safe as they used to in their private homes. How true this is nowadays. Women living alone are often prey to trouble. But keeping out of trouble isn't enough. You have to have trouble from you.

There are precautions you can take. If you live alone, list only your last name and initials in the phone directory and on the mailbox.

After moving into a new house or apartment, change door locks. Previous tenants or former employees may still have keys. Pin tumbler or square bolt locks are best for replacement. Also install and use chain locks or a peephole.

When alone, never open a door to strangers without having the chain in place. Police officers will show credentials whenever asked, and always demand that salesmen and repairmen you don't know show identification.

You can protect your neighbors as well as yourself. Never mention to strangers that a neighbor lives alone or is at home alone.

When a stranger asks to use the telephone, don't permit him inside. Offer to summon emergency assistance or make the call for him.

Should you receive a wrong-number call, never reveal your name or address nor admit that you're alone. Don't give your phone number but ask what number he's calling. Don't prolong the conversation; hang up and notify the police if the caller is obscene.

Keep windows secured or install window locks if left open for ventilation. Window locks can limit openings enough to prevent entry.

Draw window shades after dark and leave lights on in two or more rooms to camouflage your being alone. This applies to country residents as well as city dwellers.

Don't enter an apartment elevator with strange men if you are alone; it's wiser to stay in the lobby for a few minutes. And never stay in a laundry alone.

A gun for protection is hazardous. Discuss the details of possessing a gun with officers at our local station. Remember, if the criminal has a chance, he'll take the gun from you. Your best defense is prolonged loud screaming. A good protective device is an electric buzzer which you can have installed to alert neighbors in case of an emergency.

If a door or window has been forced open or broken while you're gone, don't enter or call out; someone may still be inside. Instead use a neighbor's phone to call the police. Then wait outside until they arrive.

Never assume that suspicious persons, occurrences or vehicles have been reported to the police, but call them yourself at once. Post the police department's number by your telephone and call whenever danger threatens.

It's better to be embarrassed because of a false alarm than to risk being killed or injured. They are here for our protection.

Garza County historians attend 'Controversy' marker dedication

Mrs. Winnie Tuffing and Mrs. Evelyn Neff were among those who represented the Garza County Historical Survey Committee at the recent dedication of the "Block 97 Controversy" historical marker at Union Methodist Church in Scurry County.

Mrs. Tuffing introduced the speaker, Mrs. Bert Dennis of Borden County, who told of the historic controversy, which came up over about 3,000 acres out of Block 97 after the block was given to the Houston and Texas Central Railway Company. The railway company began selling the land to ranchers and farmers.

Later it was determined the land also was a reserve for the Texas and Pacific Railway Company.

The error was discovered in 1882, and the Texas legislature voided all deeds from the H&TC for lots in the reserve. Much of the land was resold, causing a decade of conflict over claims. The issue was decided in 1899 when the legislature, on authority of the state supreme court, declared the land to be state school land.

The state gave the settlers the option to buy their land again, and many of them purchased it for the second time.

Several of those attending the dedication were born on or had lived in Block 97. They included Mrs. Neff, who recalled that she was born in a dugout in Block 97. She said her mother was baptized in Deep Creek.

LCC honors go to Post student

LUBBOCK — Beth Peel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elva Peel, Route 3, Post, received a Business Administration Department award for outstanding achievement from Lubbock Christian College in a special awards day chapel program last Thursday in LCC's Moody Auditorium.

Miss Peel was one of nine students receiving this award. She is a 1970 graduate of Post High School and is now enrolled in LCC as a junior medical assistant major.

CHICKEN FOR SCHOOL — By the end of the school year, Texas will have eaten more than 5.8 million chickens for schools in the School Lunch Program. Texas' share of frozen chickens bought by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to help meet protein requirements is served under the program. This amounts to around 100 million servings for each Texas school year. More than 200 million wood products are used every year in this country. The annual output is twice the annual output.

Letters to the Editor...

THANKS FROM LIBRARIAN

Dear Editor:
How do I express my appreciation to so many people who helped to celebrate National Library Week in Post Public Library? Just to say "thank you" seems so inadequate, but it is from my heart.

When I asked all the different people to do things for us that week none of them said no, which indicates their willingness to help the library in every way.

Those who came to "see" and celebrate with us were pleased that they had come. They were also helpers.

Our library truly has been a labor of love, and as Minnie Pearl would say, "I'm just so proud to be here".

Thanks again to each of you out there.

Sincerely,
Pee Wee Pierce

FERTILIZER APPLICATION
"Old timers are saying we have never before had a year like this on the Texas High Plains."
So says Jim Valentine, soil chemist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service whose job it is to assist West Texas farmers in planning their programs of fertilizer use.

"Extremely late harvests hampered fall fertilizer applications, and continuing wet soil conditions have greatly curtailed applications for the 1973 crop," Valentine says. "Much of the acreage is still unfertilized."

The situation is further complicated, he says, by severe shortages at the dealer level of nitrogen materials other than ammonia. All phosphate materials are reported to be in very short supply.

"Because of these unusual problems, post-plant applications merit careful consideration," the Lubbock-based specialist declares. "In many cases these can be as effective as pre-plant applications. And there is still time to have soil tested for nitrate nitrogen and phosphorus, along with other plant nutrients. County Extension agents can supply information on sample collection and mailing."

Many of the heavy soils are showing considerable nitrate carry-over resulting from heavier than required previous applications, Valentine reports. If this condition exists, lighter applications or the possible omission of nitrogen may be in order for this growing season.

"Most soils contain sufficient nitrogen to get the crop started; therefore, nitrogen can be applied as soon as possible after planting when moisture conditions are favorable for cultivation. For sorghum and corn, applications made 35 to 40 days after planting can be expected to produce top yields. Regardless of the carrier used, the nitrogen will soon be changed to the mobile nitrate form which is readily available to the rapidly expanding root system. Care should be taken in all instances to avoid root pruning," he warns.

Valentine reports that phosphorus is not nearly as deficient as nitrogen in the area, as a whole. "If soil tests show adequate phosphorus, the grower is well ahead and phosphate applications for 1973 can be omitted without reduction of yield," he explains.

Sidressed application of phosphate presents more of a problem because it does not move appreciably from the point of application. When applied after planting it should be placed three to four inches deep so that the permanent roots will have a continuous supply. The earlier the application can be made the greater will be the chance for response. A rain or an irrigation likely will be necessary before it can be utilized, Valentine advises.

Water, Inc., officials optimistic over future of huge import project

LUBBOCK — Water, Inc. officials expressed optimism today for the future of the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico import project even in the face of study findings showing that under present project-formulation standards, the project is economically unjustifiable.

A. L. Black, Friona, president of Water, Inc., said the findings of the Bureau of Reclamation and the Mississippi River Commission revealed at meetings in Lubbock and Memphis, Tenn., today were not unexpected. "We have known from the outset that under project-formulation standards now in use, the import project could not be justified. The key, of course, are the standards being used and even as the two federal agencies were making the findings public, proposals for revamping project-formulation standards are in the final stages of being adopted," Black said.

The reconnaissance investigation was initiated several years ago to formulate and evaluate plans for importing water to West Texas and Eastern New Mexico to replace the dwindling ground water supply. An interim report, by the Bureau of Reclamation in 1968, established that the lower Mississippi River is the most favorably located source of import water for the High Plains.

Figures provided by the Mississippi River Commission indicate that flow near the mouth of the Mississippi, surplus to needs projected to the year 2020, might be available about one-third of the time if it is determined that diminished flows would not adversely affect the estuarine resources of the Louisiana Gulf Coast, a portion of these flows could be available for diversion from the Atchafalaya River in the vicinity of Morgan City, La.

Water diverted from the Mississippi River would be lifted by a series of pumping plants in a canal with a carrying capacity of 40,000 cubic feet per second, through a 715-mile water conveyance system across Louisiana and East Texas to Twin Lakes, northwest of the Dallas-Fort Worth area. From Twin Lakes, the water would be transported through a 700-mile, North Texas canal system, to nine terminal reservoirs on the High Plains for distribution to lands in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

These facilities would provide the means to deliver an average of 5.8 million acre-feet annually. Of the total, 4.7 million acre-feet could be diverted to users in Texas, and 1.1 million acre-feet would be available to users in New Mexico.

The estimated cost of the huge project is $20.5 billion. Annual economic costs are estimated at $1.9 billion, of which $1.4 billion is investment cost and $0.5 billion is allocated to operations, maintenance, and replacement costs.

Results of the study are currently being reviewed.

DON'T TURN LOOSE

They're collecting snakes for rodeo

Ed Witt and Tommy Jones are helping Cecil Fox and others see to it that there are enough rattlesnakes on hand for the rattlesnake rodeo at the Silver Anniversaries convention of the Caprock Peace Officers Association on Thursday, May 3, at the Horace Wood Ranch, 20 miles south of Spur in Kent County.

Witt, his 21-year-old son, Mickey, and Jones have captured approximately 150 rattlesnakes the last few weeks — but not without a casualty. Witt was bitten on the back of his right hand by one of the snakes he had caught and is still wearing a patch over the bite after spending three days in Garza Memorial Hospital.

Witt said his son was holding the rattler and that when he took it from him and started to change hands with it the snake struck him on the hand.

Most of the snakes have been caught west of Post and in the Justiceburg area. They catch them at the edge of their dens with a fish hook on a mop handle, drag them out and put them in a cage.

Witt and Jones were in town last Friday with the biggest rattler they've caught yet this season. The reptile, which showed plenty of hostility when taken out of its cage for a picture, measures five inches over five feet in length. It has 11 rattles, but originally had more, some having been broken off before the snake was caught, Witt said.

Cecil Fox, president of the peace officers' association, says there will be over 400 rattlers for this year's event and some of the snakes are the largest to be displayed in several years. As in the past, the special feature of the rattlesnake rodeo is where the winners of the shooting contest shoot at live rattlers for awards.

Garza County Sheriff J. A. (Jimmy) Holleman is a director of the peace officers' association.

Reminder on stopping for school buses issued motorist by DPS

AUSTIN — A reminder on the state law about motorists stopping for school buses was issued today by Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Speir said the law, which applies on city streets as well as rural highways requires motorists moving in either direction on the same roadway or street with a school bus to stop and remain stopped as long as the flashing top red lights on the bus are in operation.

He said the problem is becoming more serious in cities due to increased use of school buses in urban school districts.

There are only two exceptions to the law on stopping for loading or unloading a school bus: Those vehicles on another roadway of a divided highway (divided by median or physical barrier) are not required to stop, and stops are not required if the bus has stopped in a loading zone of a controlled access highway where pedestrians are not permitted to cross.

Speir said the problem of school bus accidents is of concern to law enforcement officials and educators throughout Texas. Just a few weeks ago, the Travis County grand jury urged the news media to publicize the law about stopping and not passing a school bus which is loading or unloading children.

The grand jury noted that serious criminal charges might result if a motorist disregards this law.

Pioneers honored at basket picnic

The Garza County Historical Survey Committee paid tribute to Garza County pioneers with a basket picnic dinner at the Add Jones Corral in Justiceburg last Saturday with approximately 75 persons attending.

The crowd started arriving about 11 a. m. with well-filled baskets that included cowboy beans, roasts, ham, dried peaches, fried chicken, salads, pies and cakes, country cornbread, pickles, onions, etc. The menu also included several pots of coffee and several Dutch ovens of Add's famous sourdough biscuits.

The group, which had a wonderful time eating and visiting, included a number who were neighbors in the early 1900's. These included John, Henrietta and Lester Nichols, Mrs. Doc Kennedy, Mrs. Nettie Barrow, Mrs. Joe Callis, Mrs. Elvy Duckworth and Mrs. Maudie Justice.

Others at the picnic included Henry Key, Mrs. Nonnie Rodgers, Walter Duckworth, Walter Boren, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wood, Tom Marable, Rose and Leonard Askins, George Samson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boucher, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Reed, Milton Woodard, Roy Stevens and Roy Davis, early Slaughter Ranch cowboys.

Fred Miller, an old-time Matador cowboy, and Lewis Babb, an old-time Sierra Blanco cowboy, lent atmosphere to the picnic. Also there was Mrs. Elton Nance, who came here at an early date, and with her were two generations of her family.

Add Jones, one of the hosts, added to the picnic with his hospitality and tall tales of the past. Another visitor was a friend of Add's, Mrs. Frances Baker of Lubbock. Add and Estelle's son and his wife were home for the occasion and helped with the festivities. The Joneses, along with their son, Donald, and wife, were co-hosts for the occasion, along with Winnie Tuffing, history chairman of the GCHSC.

Mrs. Tuffing paid a tribute to the pioneers by reading a tribute written by Mrs. W. M. Kirkpatrick. The group regretted that Mrs. Beulah K. Bird, one of the area's early settlers, was unable to attend because of illness.

Brewster County book honored as best local history

ALPINE — The book "Mirages, Mysteries and Reality: Brewster County, Texas, of the Big Bend of the Rio Grande" by Dr. Clifford B. Casey has been given the 1972 award for the Best Publication of the Year on Local or Regional Texas History. This annual award is presented by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, the state agency for historical preservation.

The award was conferred upon Dr. Casey on April 12, 1972, at a noon luncheon of the Alpine Rotary Club. Clifton Caldwell of Albany, TSHSC president, made the presentation.

Dr. Casey, who was chairman of the history department of Sul Ross University in Alpine for 33 years, has been at work on "Mirages, Mysteries and Reality" since his retirement from teaching in 1962. Although the book is his first full-length publication, he is the author of a number of pamphlets and scholarly articles. The meaning of the title of the history is explained in the dedication, which reads, "This book is dedicated to those sturdy pioneers who came into the area in the early 1880's, liked what they found, established themselves and then created the last frontier of mirages and mysteries into the reality that is now Brewster County, Texas."

A bill was passed in 1932 authorizing the distribution of government wheat and cotton to the National American Red Cross.

GIVE PRAISE IN CHURCH this Easter

John's Recollections of the Risen Lord

Bible Readings: John 20: 1-31

By Rev. Leon Smith

As we read the 20th chapter of the Gospel of John we see that Easter is much more than just a doctrine of the Christian Church, that is, to believe that God is more powerful than the tomb. We see that life has the power to survive even death. We see that to believe that a complete dedication of one's life to Christ makes one a sharer in the triumph of the Resurrection.

Easter is the most wonderful of all our religious holy days. Without Easter, Christmas would have no meaning to us. And we who worship together today would be lost in darkness without the light of Easter dawn.

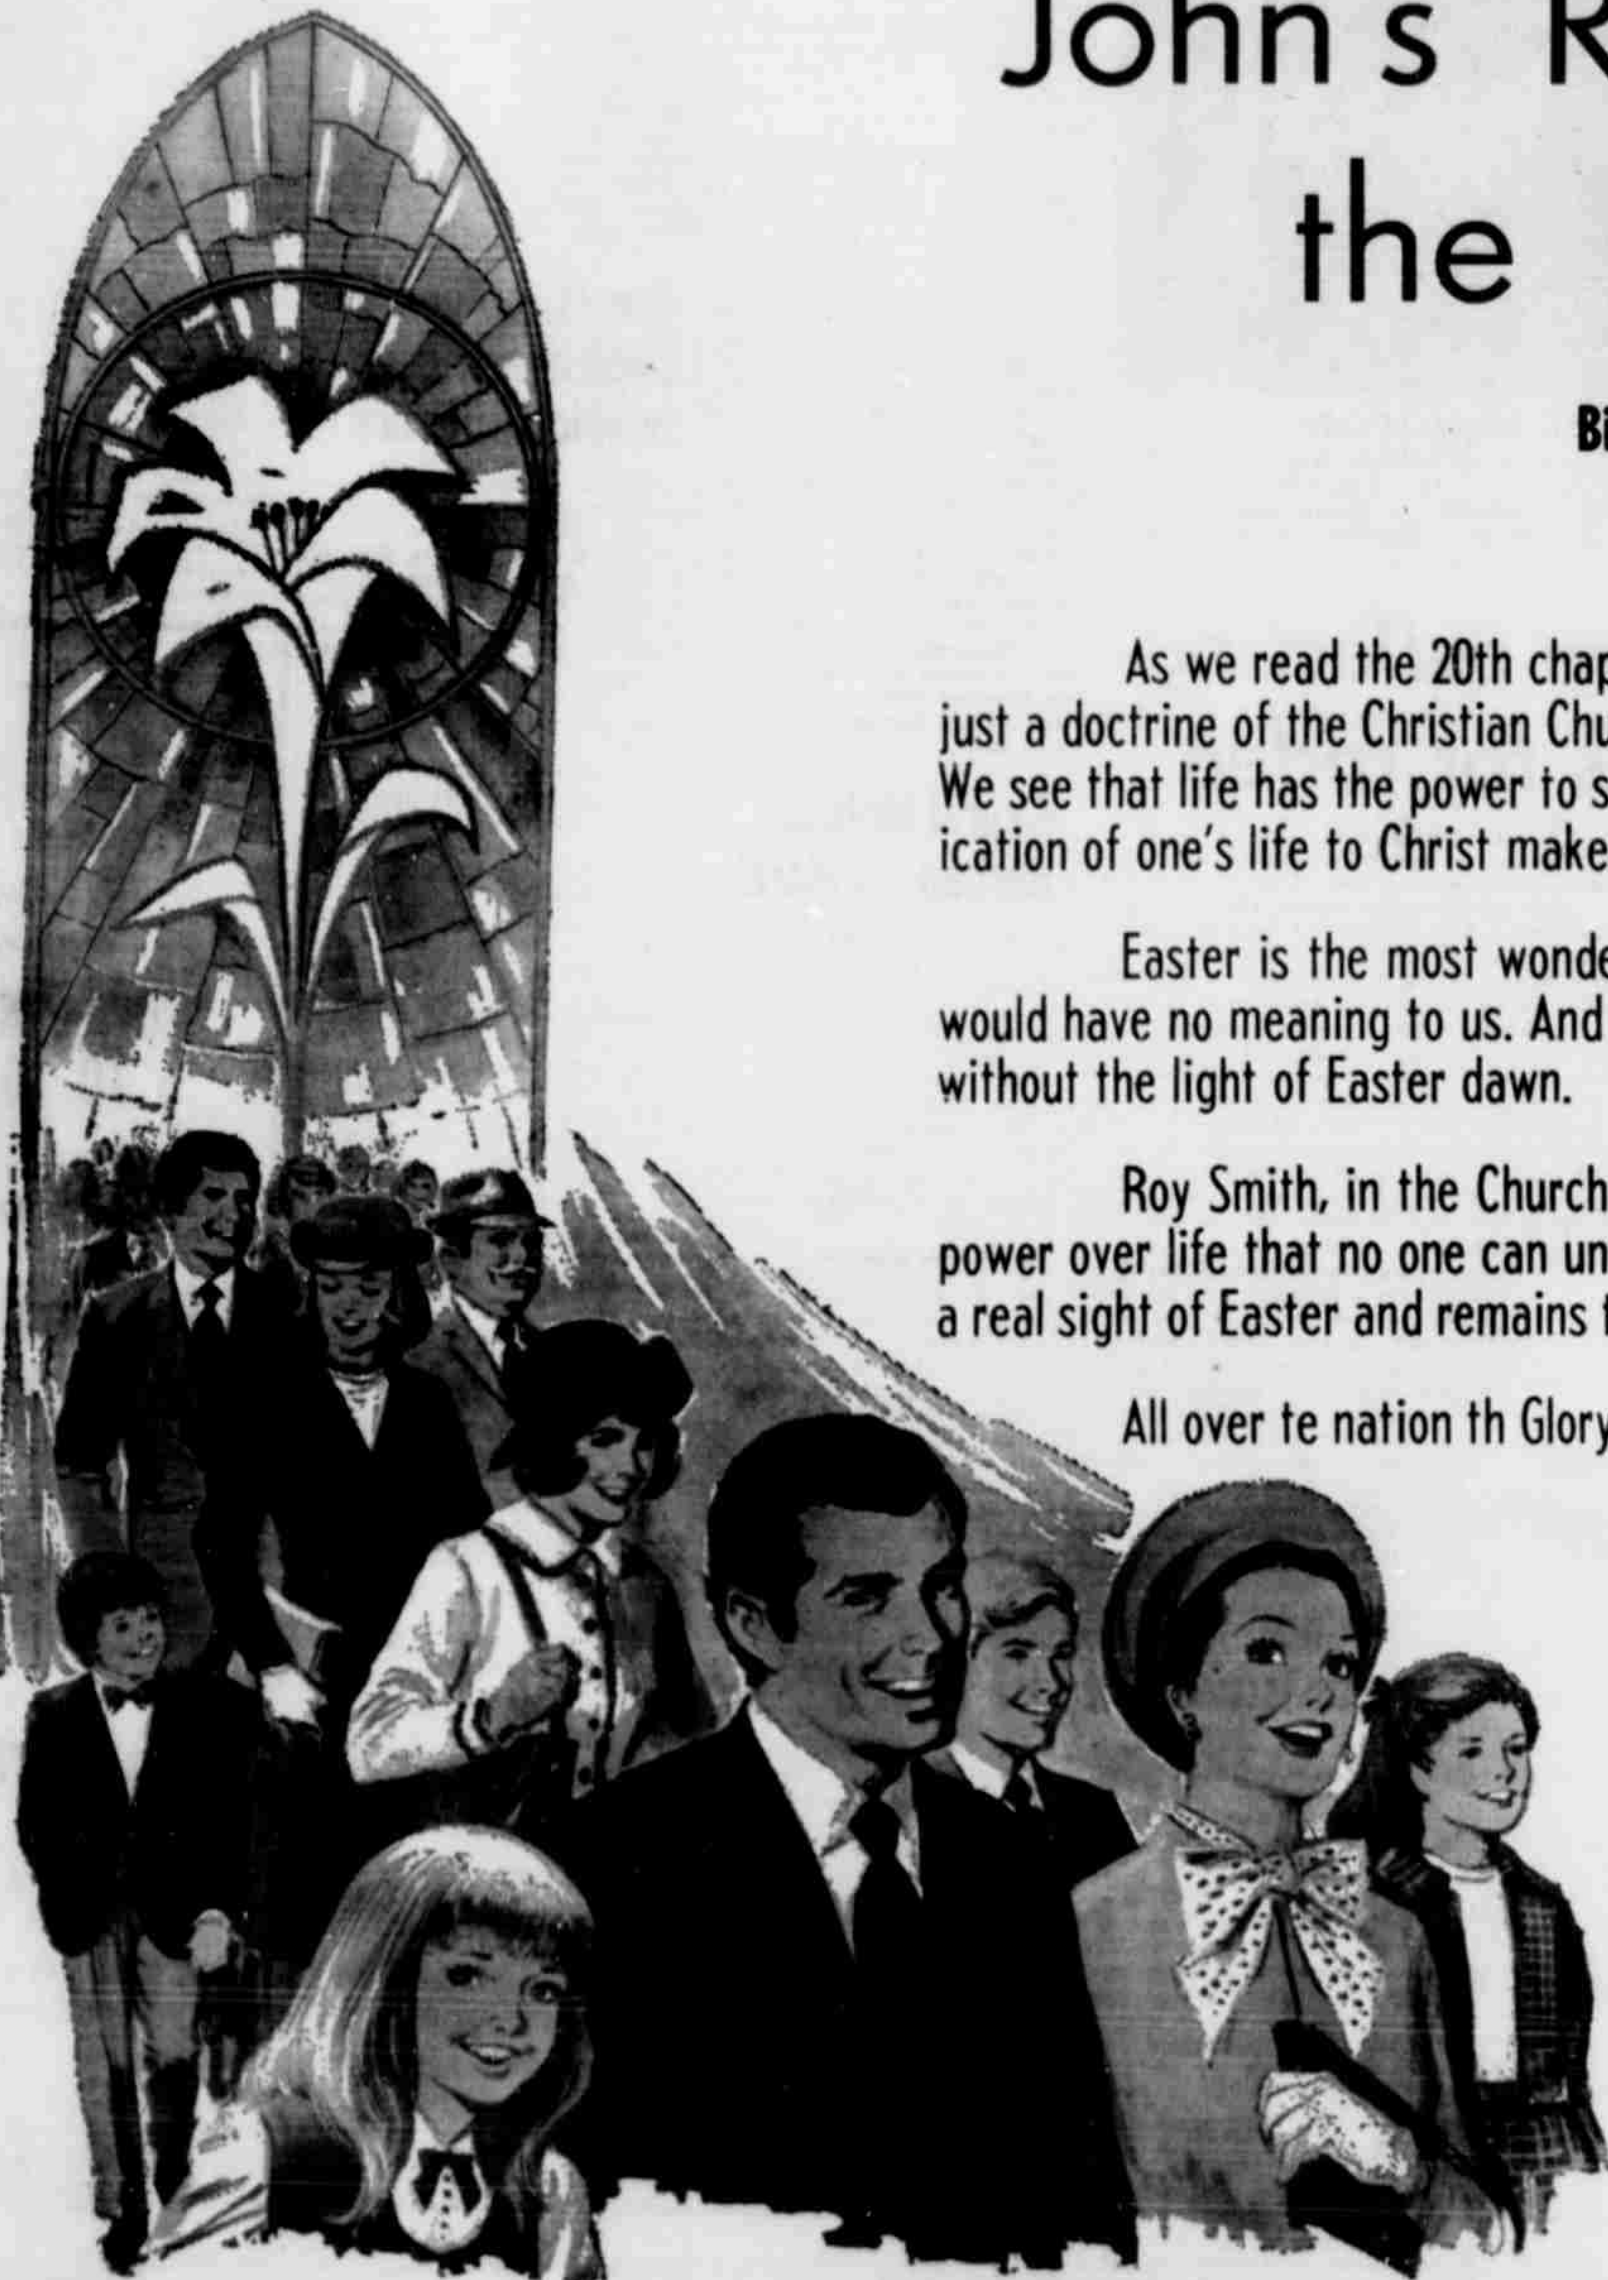

Roy Smith, in the Church School Journal, April, 1938, said, "Easter has a transforming power over life that no one can understand who has not experienced it." He said that no man gets a real sight of Easter and remains the same thereafter; If he is not changed he has not seen Easter.

All over the nation the Glory of Easter is being proclaimed today but it should not end when that day is over. Easter should last throughout the whole year. The thrill of the resurrection faith should not be set aside in the face of our problems and the facts of everyday living.

Hallelujah . . . He lives today.

Because He lives, I live! So may our recollections of the Lord be.

He Is Risen Indeed.

I am always complaining about being so uncoordinated, well I finally proved that I am. Last Sunday I was talking on the phone and suddenly I became inflexible with a pulled muscle in my shoulder (our phone is not that heavy—I'm just THAT uncoordinated). Anyway, occasionally it still hurts and many people have been asking me what happened. I hate to lie.

Prayer group at school growing

By MARK LEMON

In case you haven't been going in quite a while, or you would like to start going, the prayer group is greater and bigger than ever before. It's still growing and now that the Junior High kids have started coming, it's great. When you go, it starts your whole day off great, nothing at school can bother you when you let the Lord have His way with you.

All of us are really growing spiritually, and if you would like to come and be a part of this group, it is on Tuesdays and Fridays at 7:30 in the morning. When we meet, we sing and praise the Lord in a unique way. So if you would like to come and have lots of fun just remember to set your alarm; the Lord will do the rest.

but I also hate to admit that it happened when I was doing something so simple. I feel like saying I fell down a flight of stairs, or was in a wreck, or attacked by a ferocious dog. Now maybe people will believe me when I say that I can't chew and walk at the same time, because I'm so uncoordinated.

HINT TO THE WISE: In order to have what you want, you must go after it.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Some are sad because they build walls instead of bridges.

Phillys' Phrases . . .

By PHILLYS ECKOLS

With only five more weeks left of school everyone has been getting restless. I think the Seniors are probably the worst, seeing their last school days just around the corner.

The Seniors gave their play last Tuesday night: "Mumbo-Jumbo"

GUESTS OF MILLERS

Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Miller of Lancaster, Calif., arrived Saturday for a few weeks' visit with their son, the Rev. George L. Miller, and family.

Ethridge.

Donald and Keith Gossett of Lubbock spent Saturday night and Sunday with their parents and grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett, Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Jason Justice of Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hedrick and son visited Sunday evening and Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner Johnson and sons, Mrs. L. G. Thuet Sr., visited Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Williams visited with the Marlin Hawkins family Friday evening in Post.

Mrs. Edna Oden and nephew Wayland Morris, visited Saturday evening with the Melvin Williams family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett visited Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bill McMahon. Bill has been on the sick list, but is feeling some better.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel White took his Sunday Bible class to Lubbock Saturday evening to bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Case of Rocky Okla., spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan.

was the name of it. Those in the play were Roger Pace, Bill Hudman, Rusty Conner, Colleen Gilmore, Gaynell King, Jo Beth Gandy, Terry Shedd, Rodney Compton, Randy Kennedy, Tol Thomas, Crystal Nichols, Jan Bilbo, Danny Lee, Gail Browning, Johnny Minor, and Me. The director was Mrs. Pool.

Last week several of our people qualified to go to the Regional track meet: Sprint relay, David Conoly, Dennis McDonald, Joe Moore, and Roger Pace. (Alternate Randy Kennedy.) 880-yd. run, Chris Wyatt; mile run, Mark Bevers (Mark got fourth).

Several of the girls have qualified for the Regional Track Meet, April 27-28: triple jump, 440 relay and 880 relay.

With all of this meat boycotting going on, I've noticed that some people are really shaking the pounds off. Speaking of shaking the pounds off, I tried on my swim suit the other day and decided that I have gotten so fat around the middle section it looks as if I'm inflated like those plastic beach toys. If my shoes weren't so big that they weighed 50 or 60 pounds, I'd probably drift off. But, with my big (size 9) shoes, why worry—I'm anchored!

The Junior-Senior banquet and prom is scheduled for May 12.

Some of the Seniors still haven't picked up their graduation invitations; you need to pick them up and pay the remaining balance.

I am always complaining about being so uncoordinated, well I finally proved that I am. Last Sunday I was talking on the phone and suddenly I became inflexible with a pulled muscle in my shoulder (our phone is not that heavy—I'm just THAT uncoordinated). Anyway, occasionally it still hurts and many people have been asking me what happened. I hate to lie.
