AUSTIN, Tex. - Texas Constitutional Convention delegates, bogged down again in debate, were told that, when they finally agree, they must get out and lead the campaign for a new constitution Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards and House Speaker E.L. Henry offered words of advice, comfort, cheer and condolences to their Texas neighbors concerning the business of constitution writing. Both had leading roles in adoption of a new Louisiana constitution early this year after a convention in 1973.

"You have got to take your document to the people, or it won't get done," Henry told the Texas delegates.

Special interest groups will reach their constitutents, warned Edwards; so state officials must try to sell the new document drawn by the convention to average citizens who hold the swing votes. At the same time, visiting Governor Edwards said it is highly doubtful the Louisiana revision would have been adopted had he not taken an active part in promoting it.

Meanwhile, Texas delegates had a bucketful of problems trying to get together on the judiciary article of their product. Merger of the Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals, right of appeal by the state in criminal cases and status of county judges proved the toughest items to compromise Even before agreement could be reached on the judiciary, delegates plunged on into the general provisions article which promised some of the convention's highest voltage controversies over so called state right-to-work provisions and other tough ones. REPEATERS ARRESTED -More than 65 per cent of arrests recorded through criminal fingerprint cards last year had prior records, the Department of Public Safety reported.

Twenty-five per cent of the 273,180 arrests were of 17-19 year olds. Criminal arrest fingerprint cards increased 21,510 in 1973 over 1972. An average of 1,019 cards a day was submitted by 635 different Texas agencies and 18 out-of-state agencies.

OIL CONSERVED - State agencies and colleges conserved the equivalent of 75,334 barrels of crude oil during March compared to the same month a year ago, the Governor's office calculates.

Overall state agency energy consumption declined 12 per cent for the month, according to a special energy report. Electricity use dropped seven percent, natural gas 12.2 per cent and gasoline 11.9 per cent, while "other" fuel use increased 3.9 per cent. The increase was due largely to conversion from gasoline-powered machinery and vehicles to diesel-powered units.

AUSTIN The Texas Tourist Council has just completed its report on "Ten Years of Texas Tourist Growth return he is getting on his investment in tourist attraction. The Texas Tourist Council was chartered in 1962 as a privatelyfinanced organization devoted to increasing visitor travel to and within Texas. It supports and supplements our state's efforts to attract more visitors and works closely with the Texas Tourist Development Agency. From the late 1950's until 1962, Texas' travel market declined. One reason for this decline was a constitutional prohibition against the Legislature's spending money to attract ''immigrants' "Immigrants" was interpreted to include tourists. With other states' advertising for tourism, Texas was at a decided disadvantage.

the Texas Tourist Council led the fight which finally saw the lifting of this constitutional restriction in 1958. With the beginning of the Council's active programs of tourist development and the growing efforts of the Tourist Development Agency, Texas' tourist industry began a steep

Bailey County Journal, Sunday June 2, 1974, Page 7. Texas is definitely getting its share of this boom. Tourist dollars are important because they are earned elsewhere but spent here. This builds strong, vibrant economies. In 1963, Texas received $532 million from its tourist industry, Last year, we got $2.1 billion.

While in Texas, visitors contribute additional millions of dollars to our state treasury through taxes on their expenditures. In 1963, state sales, lodging, gasoline and excise taxes DAMAGE AT PLANT X Evidently, a very strong wind did this damage to a cooling tower at Plant X Tuesday afternoon. Bob Drake, plant manager, reported that the strong winds blew down this cooling tower. There were no interruptions of electrical power due to the damage. He reported that it will be several weeks before the cooling tower can be repaired and that he had no idea of the amount of damage, money-wise, the plant sustained.

Get ready to see a remark- able change in the landscape of this country over the next few years. Windmills will spring up across the countryside as air -power becomes an alternative source of energy. The idea isn't as absurd as many would believe. Wind chargers were commonplace on farms and ranches in the late '30's until cheap gasoline and diesel fuel became available and the REA expanded its service. Experts are quick to point out that windmills will never replace the oil, coal and nuclear powered electric generating plants of today, nor do they see windmills becoming a practical source of energy for individual homes, Windmill supporters do believe that airpowered generators will be useful as a supplemental source of energy and that by the year 2000, windmills could be producing as much as 1% of our total energy requirements. Today's prototypes are made of cloth, wire, fiberglass or metal and are designed to turn as fast as possible in the slightest breeze. The blades must also be variable-pitched which automatically turns the blade from the broadest side in a light wind to the narrowest side in a strong wind.

Scientists estimate that a windmill with 50 ft. long blades would generate 100 kilowatts in a 20 mph wind. But the same blade would produce 800 kilowatts in a 40 mph wind. Another experimental design with 125 ft, blades moving 200 mph at the tips would produce 1,000 kilowatts in a 20 mph wind.

One Eastern electric utility has concluded that a 250 kw windmill would not only be feasible, but also competitive with 30¢ per gallon fuel oil. The utility is paying 24 ¢ per gallon now. Offshore drilling rigs are also likely locations for windmill generated electrictiy.

Another experimental scheme calls for a 1,000 kw windmill hooked up to an air compressor which would pump air under pressure into abandoned oil wells or mines. Electricity would then be generated during peak periods by releasing the air to power gas-turbine generators.

There was some hail damage in the Valley recently as there was on peaches in the Limestone and Freestone Counties areas. The rains slowed harvest of potatoes and cabbage in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area. Watermelons and cantaloups, were beginning to come off in the Valley. Rice planting is almost complete in the State, compared with about 75 per cent at this time last year. Wheat and oat harvest is well at underway.

THE TEXAS Department of Agriculture is now operating five new livestock export facilities at El Paso. Brownsville, Del Rio, Houston and Eagle Pass, and the sixthere and final installation authorized by the legislature will be built at Laredo. Texans who have not visited one of the facilities would be interested to see what has been happening in the livestock exporting business which adds millions to the economy each year. Everything has been done at the facilities to make it easier and safer to handle. animals and to prevent the export-or import-of diseased animals. The loading and unloading chutes may be raised or lowered hydraulically, and vats for dipping cattle also are movable. The strong-built pens, all under a roof, have concrete floors and curbs that make cleaning easier. Office space and laboratories also are at each location. The El Paso and Brownsville facilities are the most recent to go into operation of the five now in use. Commissioner John C. White reported that 33,000 head of livestock went through the Houston, Del Rio and Eagle Pass facilities between April and December, 1973.

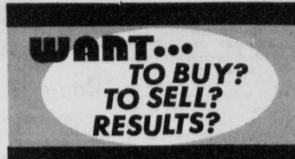

A REMINDER: Watch out for ear ticks which are making a strong comback, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Entomologists say that the ticks are being found in greater numbers because of favorable weather and neglect of control measures. And ear ticks can cause an increase in screwworm infestations. In 1973, 80 per cent of screwworm cases in 14 South Texas counties were attributed to ear ticks. The ticks, sometimes called Gulf Coast tick, flourish within 100 miles of the Coast.

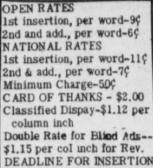

FUEL SITUATIONS are reported very tight in Donley, Archer, Lamb, and Comanche Counties, but no Texas counties reported critical situations. Hay baling is getting underway in some Texas counties, and 88 counties have reported short supplies of baling wire, and 66 counties reported short supplies of twine. Other shortages that may affect Texas farmers have been reported in both wood and steel fence posts, barbed wire, herbicides, machinery parts, and tractor and machinery tires.

TEXAS CATTLE on feed totaled 2,072,000 head May 1, which is four per cent lower than a year ago; 392,000 head of fat cattle were sold in April, which was 11 per cent above April, 1973. In seven cattle growing States (Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas), there were 8,351,000 head on feed as of May 1, compared to 8,803,000 head a year ago and 9,321,000 head on feed a month before. In April, 245,000 head went into Texas feedlots.

But a flooded market can send high prices tumbling to the cellar, says a vegetable specialist here. And for that reason, new growers and those who are expanding their bean acreage will need to tread the swirling waters very carefully.

"Dry beans can be profitable," says Dr. Roland Roberts, "but only for those who practice sound management." Roberts is area specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension service, based at Lubbock, Top prices are paid only for clean, smooth beans that are free of damage from moisture and splitting, he explains. High yields and quality require careful planning right from the start and are more difficult to achieve when growers switch to beans at the last minute.

As for type of beans to The vegetable specialist plant, Roberts says that Idaho points to seed quality, soil fer-III and Luna both are well adaptility and soil moisture as crited to the South Plains area. tical factors in pinto bean pro-Idaho III matures early, is bushy produces relatively large seed, Infected seed often results in and is resistant to curly top virus and bean mosiac. vention reconvened Tuesday May 28. The Delegates finished the first four Sections of the General Provisions Article Friday befor recessing for the Memorial Day weekend.

Pintos should be planted only where dry beans, soybeans and peas have not been grown in at least three years, he says. Growers should never plant beans where propazine or atrazine was applied at any time in the previous season. "Idaho III yields well in a stand of about four plants per foot of row with one row on a 40 inch bed, Luna needs more room --- two to three plants per food on 40 inch beds. One plant every 10 to 12 inches is about right for dry land production.'

Roberts cautions bean growers to calibrate their planters according to seed size and germination to get the right stand. They should plan to put down 50 to 80 pounds of seed if the percent of germination is low. Usually, 30 to 40 pounds of high germination seed is enough to seed an acre to a good stand, "Seed should be inoculated with the correct strain of nitrogen fixing bacteria," he also advices. "Treatment of the seed with captan fungicide and dieldrin insecticide will afford protection from seed rot and soil insects.

"Treflan is the recommended early planted Luna are better. Research with Idaho III in New Mexico indicates that South Plains growers can expect the highest yeilds from plantings between June 10 and 20.
