The estimates asked for by the council are for furnishing and equipping the present Community Center for a youth center and do not include the $3,000 salary already decided on for a youth center director

Other committee members meeting with the council at its regular June session Monday were Mrs. Patsy McCowen and Arnold Sanderson. Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. McCowen were appointed to the committee by the city council several weeks ago and Sanderson and John Ward were appointed by the commissioners' court

The committee, originally appointed to study the feasibility of a youth center at the 'definitely decided" that there is a need of a youth center here and that the young people are enthusiastic over the prospects of having one, Mrs. McCowen told the council.

The committee members will be there when school indicated that equipment to start with would include card tables, ping pong tables, snooker and pool tables, chairs, and a "juke box" as the main items. Suitable used snooker and pool tables can be bought. Sanderson told the council.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick said she and present Community Center, has other members of the committee had visited youth centers in other towns in recent weeks and talked to their directors.

"We'd like to get the youth center opened in July or August so the youngsters will know it starts," Mrs. Kirkpatrick said.

"We want to emphasize that this youth center project is not going to be a failure-not if we can get the adults behind the kids on it." Sanderson said. He said a negative attitude on the part of the adults is all that can make it fail

My suggestion," Mayor McCrary told the committeemen, "is that you come up with the essentials you need to open the doors; then, later on, with a second group of things you need there-and later, perhaps, even

Some thoughts on economy

New Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe made on promise to the voters - no new taxes in 1973 and he made that promise stick, despite some efforts by legislators to pour hundreds of additional millions of state funds into public education.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby already has promised that come 1975 the 'no new tax' gimmick won't work.

It seems the cost of government is going to keep spiraling, and that the lawmakers just throw up their hands and say there is nothing that can be done about it.

But before 1975 rolls around, 1974 is going to come up first - the year of the Texas constitutional convention. That November, Texas voters are going to be given the opportunity to approve the newly written document - the first new one since the original was deafted

Certainly, one thing the taxpayer and voter needs in that constitution for some measure of self protection is some kind of a state-operated bureau down in Austin to keep tab not only on state expenditures but their effectiveness. something like the general accounting office in our nation's capital, which quite regularly comes up with some real "eye openers" for harried taxpayers to get up in arms over.

To head such a state bureau, perhaps we should have an elected state official accountable directly to the people.

We guess we are "only dreaming" when we suggest this - an economy sleuth on the loose roaming the corridors of all those state offices

But for the life of us, we can't understand why voters don't make some real political hay out of the issue of state economy. We have the horrible feeling that before 1974 is out, if the Texas voter isn't careful, that new state constitution is going to make him even more vulnerable than ever to the "big spenders."

Your credit bureau and you

Good program for young'uns

Our contemporaries say . . .

One of the most important cogs in our credit-based economy is the well-managed credit bureau.

In many Texas communities, including Post, retail merchants sponsor their own bureau. In some places, they depend upon and cooperate with independent bureaus.

The function of a credit bureau, regardless of who runs it, is to be an objective third party. performing the task of gathering information from businesses with whom the customers has traded, and making that information available to other creditors.

The credit bureau is important to you, because it literally is the keeper of your financial reputation. An error in credit reporting could result in the loss of a property choice, a purchase bargain - or a job

A few years ago, because of frequent reports of abuses by some unscrupulous or careless keepers of credit records, the Congress responded to those reports by enacting the Fair Credit Reporting Act, which sets standards for proper operation of credit bureaus and firms which engage in credit record checks.

The Fair Credit Reporting Act prohibits the collection of credit data for any purpose other than for the granting of credit.

The Texas Legislature went an extra step in 1971, and passed a law to make it a misdemeanor crime to "knowingly" give a false credit report

But it is up to the consumer himself to keep a good credit record, which, after all, is one of the most important assets a consumer can have today. It is the magic key to free choice in major purchases decisions, such as a home and a car - sometimes, even the financing of a youngster's college education.

Some people who are not short of cash take out bank loans, or make an installment purchase, just to maintain a "live" credit

But if you are the average consumer who is dependent on the credit system you should make it work to your advantage: When you are planning an installment transaction, be frank with the credit interviewer about your job history, your salary and other income, and your credit obligations. If family illness or some other problem caused slow payment in the past, don't be afraid to explain it. It's much better to let the creditor base his decision on facts, than to find out you "fudged.

THE MAN UP the street says keeping peace in a large family requires patience, love, understanding and at least two television sets.

THURSDAY

Well, since we're not a large family out at our house anymore, the wife and I don't have any battles over owning just one television set. -0--

BOTH OF US spend the hour or hour and a half I have before going to work in the morning reading the paper over our coffee, and sometimes turn a radio on just to make sure the clocks or my watch are on the beam, which is something you can't always do by watching

At lunchtime, I usually go into my "den" for 20 or 30 minutes rest before eating I always turn on the FM radio and listen to it while playing a game or two of solitaire or cat-napping. In the meantime, the wife watches "The French Quarter" or some other TV talk show while waiting for "As the World Turns" to come on. I usually head for the dining room at about the "halftime" break on "As the World Turns." -0-

SOMETIMES WE watch the late afternoon newscast together, but most of the time I'm back in my den just listening to the news and to the wife's comments on it, which often are more interesting and amusing than the news itself.

We occasionally watch a night show together, especially if it's an awards show, a beauty pageant or a country music program

-0-SO, YOU SEE, an extra TV set would just be in the way out at our house.

-0-Besides, people who don't listen to the radio much miss out on some humdingers. The other night, for instance, I heard the song "Watergate Bugs" for the first time. I haven't heard it since, however, although I've been up and down the dial trying to find it. The song isn't very complimentary to the present administration, so perhaps most of the radio stations are steering clear of it for that reason. WHAT'S IN IT? By CHARLES DIDWAY

FRENCH

The surname French originated in England where it was first used to designate "an incomer from France." The name appeared in the south of Scotland almost as early as it did in England because of the close ties between Scotland and France and the immigration of many Frenchmen to Scotland

The Old English word for French was "frencise," which has also given us the surname Francis. When the Middle English language supplanted the Old English, the spelling became "frenche"

A Theophilus de French went from France to England with William the Conqueror in 1066. One line of his descendants settled in Ireland about 1300. A century later a branch of the family migrated to Galway, also in Ireland, where they prospered and multiplied. Walter French was Sovereign of Galway (equivalent to mayor) in 1444. A branch of the Galway Frenches moved into County Roscommon about 1620 and from this family came Field Marshal Sir John French (1852-1925). Another Galway born French was Rev. Peter French (died 1693), who for 30 years worked as a missionary among the Indians in Mexico.

William Henry French, born in Baltimore, Md., in 1815, served in the Mexican and Civil Wars after his graduation from West Point. In 1861 when government property in Texas was surrendered to the Confederates. French, then a captain, moved the garrison of Fort Duncan, at Eagle Pass, to Fort Brown, at the mouth of the Rio Grande, marching over 400 miles in 16 days, and embarked it for Key West. Fla. He was appointed major-general of volunteers in 1862

Aaron French, born in Ohio in 1823, was an inventor and pioneer manufacturer of railroad car springs. He invented and put into use coiled and elliptic springs which effected a revolution in the railroad

Social Security figures of a few years ago show French as the 399th most common surname in the United States where there are an estimated 63,000 persons by the name ilf you are interested in the origin, meaning and other facts about your family name, write Charles Didway, 802 W. 11th St., Post. He will research the name for a modest fee.)

ture's failure to agree on even a stopgap aid to education revision set off repeated demands from House members for a special session

Speaker Price Daniel Jr. joined in the chorus, calling on the House Education Committee to "prepare, polish and refine" a school finance bill for legislative action no later than Sept. 15.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who holds the key to whether or not there is going to be a special session on anything, made clear twice in writing - that he doesn't plan to call one.

Daniel said his instructions to the Education Committee were offered just in case Briscoe reconsiders his position.

The committee will begin a series of hearings on school finance here June 18. More than 700 of the 1,149 school districts are in financial trouble, according to committee chairman Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

Briscoe set in motion new studies to develop information for specific legislative proposals in 1975 to equalize educational finances and opportunities. A special session at this time would be "premature," the Governor, since necessary data cannot be assembled for another two

Daniel and others claim the problem of financial inequities among the school districts already has been "studied to death," and that the House had the answer in H.B. 946 last month

But Briscoe feels proposals before the Legislature this year would "have only added to the present system of programs and budget with no review of current spending or effectiveness." He said he hopes the new study can produce an "educational approach that we can afford (without new taxes), as well as one that will meet the needs of the future

Thursday, June 7, 1973, Farmers are asked to report fuel shortages

WASHINGTON-To help assure that farmers don't run short of fuel this season, the U. S. Department of Agriculture is asking farmers to report any shortages to local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices.

The department since February has been monitoring the farm fuel supply situation through its more than 2.800 ASCS county offices. Any shortages are reported immediately through state ASCS offices to Washington. In addition, a regular farm fuel situation report is prepared for Secretary of Agriculture Earl L

Dodgers lose on one-hitter

The Tigers shut out the Dodgers, 9-0, behind the one-hit pitching of David Quinonez and Raymie Holly, and the Yankees pounced on the Wildcats, 16 to 6, in Little League games last Thursday night.

In the Tiger-Dodger game, cut short after five innings because of the time limit. Quinonez pitched no-hit ball the three innings he worked on the mound, and Holly gave up just one hit, a fifth-inning single by Dodger shortstop Mike Dye.

Mike Gonzales, who went the route, was the losing pitcher. The Tigers got six hits, with catcher Jackie Castleberry getting two of them for a perfect night at the plate.

The Yankees got 14 hits and the Wildcats 11 in their free-swinging contest. Winning pitcher Gary Lamb and outfielder Benny Kennedy each got three hits in four trips for the Yankees. James Bilberry and Steve Fielder got two hits apiece for the Yanks

Ronnie Greathouse, who started on the mound for the Wildcats, was the losing pitcher, with the Yankees scoring 11 runs in the second inning after Greathouse had shut them out in the first. Mark Holly came on in relief of Greathouse.

One of the Wildcats' 11 hits was a lead-off home run by third baseman Larry Hambrick, who also got a double Owen Gilbert and Greathouse also got two hits each for the Butz every Wednesday

Any problems that arise are forwarded immediately to the Office of Oil and Gas, U. S. Department of the Interior, for solution under the voluntary allocation program. William E. # One Nation - Under God

By Rev. George L. Miller

Sometimes we don't pay attention to a small word like God It's a familiar word, a word we often use, so it holds no surprise for us. When our nation decided to include it in the Pledge of Allegiance, a good many folks shrugged their shoulders - said "How nice!" - and thought no more of it.

Only a little word like "God" makes all the difference in the world. It stands as a reminder of what is best and most noble in us. It is a sign that we did not set out to rule ourselves with no thought to what is good or right in life. From our birth as a nation we have known there is nobility in the human heart, and if we are to govern ourselves wisely and responsibly, we must remember who made us and what he made us for

Down through the years our path has been more difficult simply because we could not settle for what was expedient or what was profitable. We have known to was asked of us, and we have tried to live up something more.

Today, the challenge is as clear as ever A as great as ours has a sacred mission to fulfill Ne ourselves to justice and freedom for all. We cannot for less. We dare to dream great dreams of proscience and industry, in the humanibes and the every endeavor we have sought the better and we stop now. We are pledged to seeking the excellence us, and bringing that excellence to our neighbor nation and our world.

That one little word "God" is the reminder pledge, the reminder of where we came from and we must strive to go. One Nation - Under God your pay attention to a small word like that - it's what me

Agriculture Act of 1970. S-1888 as reported by the committee would set a "target price" for Strict Low Middling (SLM) inch-and-a-sixteenth cot ton as reflected by spot market quotations for the first five months of the cotton marketing year (August-December), at 43 cents per pound. When the spot quotations for this quality fell below 43 cents, producers would be entitled to a price support payment equal to the Two major objections to this mechanism for determining producer payments were voiced by PCG directors. First, spot market quotations do not accurately reflect prices paid to farmers, therefore there is no direct relationship between these quotations and a producer's total income from cotton.

Second, basing payments on the difference between market prices for any single quality and a target price could well lead to gross inequities. It was pointed it that SLM 1-16 inch cotton.
