Three plead guilty after marijuana and smoking paraphernalia found by lawmen

An early Monday morning search of a local home by Post police officers which turned up a small quantity of marijuana and a considerable amount of marijuana smoking paraphernalia brought three guilty pleas to misdemeanor charges of marijuana possession in county court here the same day.

The trio entering the guilty pleas Monday afternoon were Shelby Jones, 21, his wife, Yvette H. Jones, 19, and Cleburn D. Warford, 21, all formerly of Snyder, who moved into a house here at 112 East 4th St. last Wednesday.

County Judge Giles W. Dalby has asked for a pre-sentencing investigation of the three by the county probation officer and has set Feb. 4 for the date of sentencing.

The search of the house followed the arrest of Warford at 2:30 a. m. Monday by Patrolmen Steve Otto and David Bradshaw for running a stop sign.

They found a marijuana cigarette in his shirt pocket and a small pouch of marijuana stuffed in one boot.

The officers obtained a search warrant to check the house where Warford lived with the Jones pair and made the search at 4:55 a. m., accompanied by Patrolman Jerry Jolly and Deputy Sheriff James Johnson of Plains, of the Yoakum County Sheriff Department who was at police headquarters at the time.

The various smoking pipes, including those made from a gas vent pipe and a rubber hose with gas pipe connections on each end, and less than two ounces of marijuana were found in the home and the three young people arrested and charged.

10 sale of marijuana cases are on docket

Ten cases of "sale of marijuana", which is still a felony offense under the new state criminal code, are on the Garza County District Court docket to come up Monday for jury trial.

They are among the 17 criminal cases listed on the docket. How many, if any, actually will come to trial won't be determined until Judge George Hansard calls the docket Monday morning.

The district court jury panel has been ordered to report at 10 a. m.

The "sale of marijuana" cases, all of which came last August and September through the work of an undercover agent employed by the city to work with Sheriff J. A. (Jimmy) Holleman, involve the following eight defendants:

Larry Bevers, Clifford Redman, two counts, Marshall Huffman, Gary Robinson, Sherry Brockman, Felix Bustos, Jr., James McAfee, and Bobby Blanton, two counts.

Other criminal cases on the docket include:

Janie Morales, burglary; David Benham, theft of hogs; Edgar Osby, theft over $50 and burglary; Edwin Youngblood, theft over $50, and Dwayne Morris, burglary of motor vehicle.

54 students of Post High in other programs

Fifty-four students of Post High School's enrollment of 353 are attending high school classes here only part-time due to participation in a variety of educational and work programs. Principal James Pollard told The Dispatch this week.

Nineteen boys are enrolled in vocational training under a program supervised by N. R. (Jiggs) King and have part-time jobs in businesses, gins, and on farms.

Thirteen girls under Mrs. Marion Wheatley are participating in the Home Economics Cooperative Education (HECE) program and are placed in jobs where they work a minimum of 15 hours weekly and attend classes on a part-time basis.

Eleven students are enrolled in diesel mechanics, auto mechanics and welding courses at Western Texas College in Snyder in the afternoons and attend high school classes here in the morning.

A group of 11 seniors, who are completing their graduation requirements this year, are attending school only part-time, five of them working in the afternoons and all of them having some free time during classroom hours for work at home or on jobs.

Last but not least, three of these seniors are completing high school work here with some courses and taking college courses at Western Texas College in Snyder three afternoons a week for which they will receive 12 hours of college credit upon completion of the current semester.

"Our high school is taking on programs we didn't dream of a few years back in trying to train students to work in our society," Principal Pollard said in summing up the scope of these programs.

Candidate in favor of new constitution

Max Courtney, who recently filed as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Representative, 101st District, says he thinks Texas needs a new constitution. The Southland man's statement follows:

"Our present constitution is a hundred years old and has been amended some 212 times. The document the Constitutional Convention is now working with is much shorter and written where the average citizen can read and understand it.

"However, there are two sections in this proposed constitution that would not be in the best interest of this district that I would prefer rewritten. One is a requirement that five county judges be lawyers. Some of our counties do not have a lawyer living in them and several of our present, very fine county judges are not attorneys." (See Candidate, Page 12)

Jolly resigns position here as patrolman

City Patrolman Jerry Jolly resigned yesterday from the Post Police Department and will begin work Monday as a patrolman for the Snyder Police Department.

In his letter of resignation, Jolly said he "deeply regretted" his resignation from the department here after four years "but in order to fulfill my ideas and desires for future life I must move to better employment."

Police Chief Keith Davis told The Dispatch that he had recommended Jolly to the Snyder Police Department as a good officer and commented "we hate to lose him."

Jolly told The Dispatch that "the last four years here in Post have been very enjoyable, with the exceptions of a few problems, the majority of which will still be here after I have gone."

"My family and I have made numerous friends here, and I would like to express our (See Jolly, Page 12)

School patrol to start on Monday

The Parents' Patrol will go into operation Monday morning, Jan. 28, at three intersections on the Tahoka highway in the school zones; Mrs. Mary Jo Tanner, patrol supervisor, said today.

Mrs. Tanner said the school safety group will be known as the Parents' Patrol instead of the Mothers' Patrol, as first announced, since several fathers have volunteered their services.

The patrol will be in operation three times a day protecting children from highway traffic as they cross the street, the supervisor said. The patrol members will wear red vests for identification purposes and will be equipped with hand stop-signs and whistles.

The patrol, which has the full support of the city police department, now has 16 members, Mrs. Tanner said, but can use more. "The more volunteers we have, the fewer hours anyone will have to put in," she explained.

The equipment to be used by the safety patrol members is being furnished by the schools.

Mrs. Tanner said parents can help the school patrol by not double parking or stopping in crosswalks when bringing their children to school or picking them up.

Insurance expert backs 'no fault'

Jack Callaway, marketing manager of the St. Paul Insurance Co. in Lubbock, explained to Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon why the insurance industry generally supports "no fault insurance" on automobiles.

Introduced by Harold Lucas, Callaway also discussed various other problems of the insurance industry the public often does not consider.

Police Chief Keith Davis was inducted into the club as a new Rotarian by Bob Collier prior to Callaway's talk.

Judge Dalby to continue testimony at convention

County Judge Giles W. Dalby was scheduled to fly into Austin early this morning to testify before a committee of the Texas Constitutional Convention for the second Thursday in a row.

He received state-wide publicity in wire service stories after last Thursday's testimony before the convention's local government committee when he agreed with a senator from Houston that "the home rule provision for counties" in the proposed new state constitution might encourage the Mafia to take over county governments.

Dalby appeared as a witness for the Texas Association of County Judges and Commissioners and the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association.

These two organizations want the constitution powers of the counties to remain as they are now with all county officials elected to four year terms. The organizations oppose county home rule voted by a majority of citizens.

Dalby told legislators sitting as the constitutional convention that "the thing we are concerned about home rule is that it might get into big trouble."

Rites held for Warren Hayes

Services for Warren J. Hayes, 59, of 510 West 11th St., were held at 11 a. m. Saturday in Hudman Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Oscar Newdiger, pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy, and the Rev. Howard Smith of Lubbock officiating.

Hayes, an employee of the Santa Fe Railway, died Wednesday in Santa Fe Hospital in Temple where he had been a patient one month. He was a native of Coalgate, Okla., and had lived in Post 35 years. He married Sue Bennett in 1934 in Elmore, Okla.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Richard Beach and Mrs. Charlotte McDowell, both of Houston; two brothers, Jake of Elmore and Kenneth of Houston; a sister, Mrs. Alva Brookshire of Duncan, Okla.; two grandchildren and a great-grandson.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were: Ted Lawson, Lloyd Chambers, Fred Taylor, Charlie Gothrie, Lee Snow, Lewis Martinez, Raymond Phipps and Liddle Jimenez.

Co. Treasurer for re-election

Pauline Coleman today authorized The Dispatch to announce her candidacy for re-election to the office of County Treasurer of Garza County. Mrs. Coleman's statement follows:

"After a great deal of thought I have decided to ask you, the voters of Garza County, to elect me to another term as your County Treasurer, and have officially filed my candidacy with the County Democratic Chairman.

"I have served you to the best of my ability in the office, and will continue to do so if you see fit to re-elect me in this year's elections.

"I appreciate the many courtesies you have shown me in the past and earnestly solicit your vote and influence in asking re-election to another term."

Library addition's open house slated Feb. 24

Post Public Library trustees decided Monday night to hold an open house for the $33,000 new library addition Sunday afternoon, Feb. 24, from 2 to 5 p. m.

No formal speech making is planned but a brief ceremony will be conducted in which trustees will "give" the new library property to the city.

The library expansion is virtually complete and the remaining work is expected to be completed within a few days, possibly by this weekend.

A small amount of new library furniture has been ordered and trustees are hopeful of getting some special low new shelving built for the children's department prior to the open house.

The remaining furnishings and shelving needed will be added gradually as "it can be afforded," trustees decided.

Donations to the Post Public Library's Memorial Building Fund over the last three and one-half years have, along with interest accrued, totaled approximately $30,000.

Entire cost of the library expansion and the remodeling of the old portion of the library will be met from these funds except for two roof heating and air conditioning units the city commission voted to purchase last fall at a cost of approximately $3,600.

Twin Cedar Nursing Home News

By SARA WHITLEY

We are all enjoying this nice spring-like weather, but I believe most of us would like to see some moisture.

Everyone at the home is doing real good as far as colds go. Mrs. Osburn is not up to par, but we hope she will soon feel better.

In our card of thanks I missed one very faithful person. I am so sorry about it, for we do want to thank the Rev. George Ascher, pastor of Faith Lutheran Church. He visits us every week and sees everyone when he comes. We all enjoy his visits so much and look forward to his coming. Thank you, Bro. Ascher.

We also forgot to mention that the Eastern Star has adopted Mrs. Emma Dunlap. They brought her lovely gifts for Christmas and for her birthday.

The first Monday of each month the Graham Home Demonstration Club comes and sings for us. They also bring us some of the most delicious cakes!

We still have church most Sundays. The Church of God of Prophecy held services Sunday for us.

Last Wednesday we had real good attendance at our Wednesday service. Bob Connel, minister of the Post Church of Christ, led the singing and Minister Larry Hambrick brought the message. We were so glad that everyone came. The nurses' aides and I were in a meeting with a consultant from Lubbock and Dee had to have a blood test month and that was it. Everyone do come back the patients told us we singing we had and they were that all of you

EVEN WITH LESS traffic on the highways, you still can't tell what you're liable to see when you're out among it. Then, too, with the lower speed limits it's easier to identify what you see when it goes around you or passes you headed in the opposite direction.

Returning from a short out-of-town trip one afternoon a few days ago, the wife and I saw a big bus traveling in the opposite direction with a sign on the side of it that read, "Johnny Paycheck." We'd both heard Johnny sing, but that was the nearest we'd ever come to seeing him in person.

I DON'T THINK the wife believed half of what I told her I'd read about how those big entertainers' buses are equipped with bars, etc., and while I was still trying to convince her, an automobile went around us with a bumper sticker that read, "Eat More Possum."

My wife said, "Eat more possum — ugh!" So, I spent the rest of the way home trying to convince her that possum wasn't such bad eating — that lots of folks eat it where I came from.

BACK IN THE Arkansas hills, one of my Hemphill relatives considered possum a real table delicacy, especially when decorated with baked sweet potatoes. Since he spent much of his time at his moonshine still a mile or so from his home, he never had much trouble finding a possum when he got a hankering for one.

He was better known for his moonshine, though, than he was for his possum recipes. The story has been handed down to me that having heard much of my kin's famous "corn likker," a party of tourists decided to stop at his shack and try to buy some. Hemphill himself came to the door. "We heard you had some homemade liquor," they said. "Could we buy some?"

"Yep," was the answer, "I got some. What kind d'ye want?"
"Why, it's called corn likker, isn't it?"
"Yeah, both kinds is corn likker . . . but which kind d'ye want — courtin' likker or fightin' likker?"

LIKE ALL moonshiners, this Hemphill occasionally ran afoul of the law. After he had been convicted a number of times and was again brought into court by the "revenooers," the judge told him sternly: "Before passing sentence, I want to tell you that you and your sons have given this court more trouble than anyone else in the whole state of Arkansas. Have you anything to say?"

Old Hemphill thought a moment, then said, "Well, Judge, I jest want to say that we haven't given you any more trouble than you've given us."

The man up the street says people who get up real early in the morning invariably do as the rooster does — crow about it.

HERE ARE A few newspaper bobbies — just to prove that we all make them:

Dear Sir:
As a former resident of Garza County, I want to tell you how much I enjoy reading the Post Dispatch. Patsy Snow, also a former resident of Post, lives near me and is kind enough to share it with me each week. It is a fine paper and I've learned about old friends and their families through its pages.

My father was the late Rev.

Making out tax forms is a chore we usually find time to do "at home" on our "weekend off." Consequently we have to wait until we can get downtown and run around and find somebody with a copying machine to copy that sales tax form.

We could suggest to that "bright boy" who made the decision not to send the duplicate form that he would have saved the state just about as much money in not enclosing a printed "return envelope." (Another state taxing agency made this "economy" move a long time ago.)

Anyway, we think things have come to a sorry mess in Texas when it's so bad government agencies can't even furnish duplicate tax forms.

This being an election year, we wish to point out to Robert S. Calvert that he has just lost "the bookkeepers" and small business men's vote unless he does something drastic and quick — like flushing out the culprit who thought up this idiotic idea and then dramatically announcing that he has restored duplicate copies for all sales tax forms. — JC governmental bond programs such as the Veterans Land Program.

These special interests are mounting massive resistance to any change, even though from what we can gather, such pension plans would be written into the statutes with a constitutional guarantee that they shall be continued and that funds in such pensions shall not be used inconsistent with their purposes.

All these roadblocks in the way of drawing up a new constitution are going to cost money, and taxpayers might feel next November that it might be cheaper to vote down the new state constitution, even after spending a couple or more million dollars for what comes out of the convention.

Even this early, we are beginning to think that by the time the revised constitution, as proposed by the constitutional convention, is submitted to the people for ratification it will by then be so surrounded in confusion that the people are quite apt to reject the whole thing. — CD doing?

The attorney general's ruling strikes at the very heart of the public's right to know.

Of course, in the smaller towns the news media are not affected as much by the ruling as they are in the larger places. In Post, for instance, we all know each other, and The Dispatch has no complaint against any of the peace officers as far as getting information on arrests, etc., is concerned.

It's just the principle of the thing that we are against. The democratic system has no place for a secret police, and we do not think Texas lawmakers intended to remove the police department and its business from public scrutiny when it passed the Open Records Act. — CD

For the 40 years I have operated a small newspaper, I have worried about the flare fires in oil fields. It has always seemed tragic with these great flames vanishing in the night sky. I envisioned the unborn generations of little children crying in a world without heat. — Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

The wackiest change yet

The wackiest change this month brought on by shortages came from the sales tax people in Robert S. Calvert's comptroller of public accounts office in Austin.

It was a note with the quarterly sales tax form for the last three months of December which explained that due to the paper shortage the state was now furnishing only the original copy of the sales tax form and if a business man wanted to keep a copy of the report, the state folks suggested that the original be copied on a copying machine before mailing in.

Now the small business man — that's us with a capital "U" — is busy enough each January doing the government's tax work free without some bureaucratic joker coming up with a crackpot idea like this.

Down in Austin whoever made this decision is probably surrounded by clerical help and a wealth of expensive office machinery — including rows of copying machines.

Well, we're not. We'd bet there are thousands of small business owners and bookkeepers scattered all over this great state like us too.

A 'wrong-direction' step

Much is being said, most of it by the delegates themselves, over the lack of interest being shown by the public in the constitutional convention now under way. The delegates are being asked few questions about their work, even though they have established a toll free telephone line to convention headquarters.

The reason, as we see it, is that it already appears to most people that what comes out of the convention may not be any better than what we already have in the way of a state constitution. There appears to be about as much "dead wood" in one as in the other.

The proposed constitution has a lot of omissions in it. On top of that, special interest groups are mounting massive resistance to any change. As one political writer said, to knock some of the sacred cows in the present constitution off their pedestals, delegates to the convention would have to buck the biggest, most powerful influence groups in the state. This means groups like the school teachers and public employes, who feel their pension plans are jeopardized, as well as the beneficiaries of

It doesn't look too good

Like other news media, The Dispatch is very much opposed to Atty. Gen. John Hill's ruling that the reports law enforcement officers file on crimes are off-limits to the press and general public.

A lot of heat is already being generated by the ruling and there is going to be a lot more before it is over.

The attorney general ruled that the 1973 Texas Open Records Act makes such reports confidential. But we do not believe this interpretation was the intent of the legislature in passing the records law.

The way we look at it, the police work for the people. Police business is the people's business. How are you going to support your local police if you don't know what they're

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Confessing While Asleep

Situation comedies often depict a hapless husband, confessing—while sound asleep—to some sort of indiscretion. His wife, of course, is scandalized. But in real life, how reliable is such a statement? Would it stand up in court?

In a homicide case some years ago, a "sleeping confession" did indeed help to convict the defendant of murder.

The court said his statement, "though in sleep, was but the divulgence of truth springing from guilt which rested heavy on the soul, the half-conscious man revealing secrets which, if fully awake, he would fain have suppressed."

Modern courts, however, have generally refused to allow this kind of evidence. Thus, in a more recent murder case, incriminating exclamations by the defendant during sleep were held not admissible.

The court did not deny that Fluit, Jan Hall, Jerry Johnson, Steve White, Mrs. Jim Norman and Jay, Mrs. Lewis Mason and Bart, and Mrs. Noel White and Keitha.

CORNISH

Nearly all English counties have produced surnames. In some cases it is the plain name such as Cornwall, Kent, Cheshire, Shropshire, etc. Sometimes, however, we have an adjective as Cornish, Kentish or Cornwallis.

In the period when surnames were being acquired, a man moving from Cornwall, a southwestern county of England, might be called "the man from Cornwall" or "the Cornish man" in his new place of residence, with the name Cornwall or Cornish eventually becoming a hereditary surname.

The name Cornish first became common in Devonshire, a county adjoining Cornwall. George Cornish of Devonshire was commander of one of the ships engaged in the Newfoundland trade in the reign of King William III. Richard Cornish was mayor of Barnstaple, in Devonshire, in the reign of Queen Anne. Even earlier, a Henry Cornish was sheriff of London in the 1400's, and Thomas Cornish was provost of Oriel College, Oxford, from 1493 to 1507.

The name has been in America since the early colonial period. The first wool worsted mill in this country was established in 1695 in Boston by John Cornish. An appraisal of Cornish's estate revealed "two pairs of combs, four looms and tacking, and two dye furnaces."

There are towns named Cornish in Maine, New Jersey and Oklahoma; a Cornish Center in New Hampshire and a Cornishville in Kentucky.

drives for ongoing sexual fulfillment, and personal aspirations of each partner to establish their marriage according to dreams built through the years.

Although developmental tasks of the married couple are basic to establishing a family, they differ somewhat in each family, class and culture. Nevertheless, general aspects include:

- establishing a home base to call their own
- establishing a satisfactory system for earning and spending money
- setting acceptable patterns of who does what and who's accountable to whom
- mutually satisfying sex relationships
- developing systems of intellectual and emotional communications
- workable relationships with relatives
- establishing interactions with friends, associates and community organizations
- facing possibilities of children, planning for them, and
- establishing a workable philosophy of life as a couple.

However, difficulties sometimes arise — largely due to the task complexity and origin. For example, what the couple desires and what their culture expects don't always coincide.

Also, often the reality of a situation conflicts with the couple's dreams. When a couple builds up extravagant ideas of what they want, they may be disappointed if something turns out less than expected.

In addition, the dreams of a husband and wife may mesh in many respects, but be miles apart in others.

CRANKY 'CHOKES SASSÉD WITH SHRIMP

If you are afraid to stuff an artichoke, don't. Sauce it! It is easier. Once those mean, hairy centers are out, simply fill the artichokes with some solid, tasty shrimp and pour a good, heavy sauce over them. The sauce works its way through the leaves and in this way the 'chokes stuff themselves.

- SHRIMP SAUCED ARTICHOKEs
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) shrimp | 1 cup grated mild cheddar cheese |
| 4 medium artichokes | 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper |
| 3 tablespoons butter | 1 teaspoon Dijon style mustard |
| 3 tablespoons flour | Garlic seasoning to taste |
| 1 1/2 cups milk | |

Drain shrimp, reserving liquid. Boil artichokes about 40 minutes in enough salted water to cover. Turn upside down to drain. Probe from the top with the fingers to remove the pale, sharp-pointed leaves at the center. Use a teaspoon to scoop out the thistle-like "chokes" growing out of the artichoke heart. Fill centers with shrimp; keep artichokes warm over hot water. In a saucepan melt butter; blend in flour; add milk, shrimp liquid. Cook to a thick, smooth sauce; add cheese and seasonings. Spoon sauce over shrimp and serve. Makes 4 servings.

Potluck by Rosemary Chapman

Peg Bracken, author of the "I Hate to Cook Cookbook", once wrote a devastatingly funny article for one of the women's magazines disputing ten "old sayings". I wish that I'd saved the article because I have an "old saying" I'd like to dispute myself and if it was one of the ten that Mrs. Bracken contested so well, I could use the help.

People often use the expression, "Where there's smoke, there's fire." I've used it occasionally and I actually find myself believing it when I use it. I suppose that's the trouble with "old sayings" — if one hears something often enough, one tends to accept it without questioning.

Let's give "Where there's smoke, there's fire" a closer look. As far as a forest or a dump is concerned, there's no doubt but what the expression is probably true. Unfortunately, most of us use it about people more than we do about forests or dumps.

When you use that expression about people, you could be making a big mistake. Suppose, for instance, someone tells you a wild story about a friend. At first you don't believe it, but then that insidious little smoke thought comes wafting up through your mind and you start wondering.

Too bad. You just got pulled in by an "old saying."

Inside PHS

By PAT and MELINDA NELSON

The semester ended on the 14th of January. The students enjoyed a holiday on the 15th, while the teachers had a workday.

Mr. Pierce has started a photography class this semester. They are learning how to take and then develop the pictures. Those who are in the class so far are: Jodi Norman, Christy Davis, Jill Cash, Lori Chapman, Karla Josey and Troy Simpson.

In checking the statistics the Does are averaging 65 points a game as compared to 54 last year. In 19 games (record 17-2) they have scored 1,234 points against their opponents 883. The Does are very much improved over last year. Their most consecutive wins is 10. Keep up the good work!

The Antelopes are doing fair this year. They play their hardest and always do a great job. They will win the rest of their games this year and we will certainly be supporting them. Good luck!

UIL contests are to be held in February at Stamford. This contest will cover all subjects. We hope to also have one this year at Post!

Our Typing II class has lost two of its members at semester. They are Wayne Bell and Tonya Rudd. Tonya finished school at the semester and doesn't have to come back to ole PHS till graduation day.

The All-Region tryouts for band, were held Saturday, Jan. 12. The people who made the All-Region Band have to go to Lubbock on the 24th, 25th, and 26th for practice and to prepare for concert. "ON SEEING GOD"

A lot is said these days about ours being a "Godless" and permissive society. However maybe we had first examine ourselves before we "cast the first stone." We tend to get very "up-tight" about the gross sins of society, the mess in Washington, and etc., but many times when it comes to our own personal ethics the "crux" of the matter comes down to "will I get caught?"

Retired United Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy said once, in a humorous (I hope) vein: "God is not permissive: otherwise He would not have given us the Ten Suggestions." Seriously, the permissive society we get so upset over is really all of us, is it not?

Each of us must examine our own habits, our own ethical standards, our own actions and attitudes, especially when there is no one around to see. I keep wondering about the T. V. programs, movies, books, and magazines that portray a depraved, animalistic view of humanity and cause so much controversy remain so popular—could it be that many of us really "secretly" enjoy them?

Jesus said very simply: "Blessed (Happy) are the pure in heart; for they shall see God." (Matthew 5:8) Maybe the reason we see so little of God in the world around us is because we are unable to see Him in ourselves?

Peace.
Ken Metzger

Fort Worth's Rodeo, Stock Show to open

A record entry and purse is on the Fort Worth Rodeo, which opens today at the intersection with the Southwest Express and Fat Stock Show and Fat Stock Show through Feb. 3. Entries in the rodeo totaled 12,270 head and in the stock show 13,000 head.

head registered at last year's show. Entries in the horse show classes are ahead of 1973. The Rodeo entry is 646 cowboys, contesting for over $90,000 in prize money. Tickets for weekday 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. performances remain, with scattered seats available for other shows.

Tanya Tucker, the deep-voiced star of Columbia Records, will be performing at each of the Stock Show's 20 rodeos. The 15-year-old singer, backed by her own band, will be presenting her top hits of the last two years along with other favorites.

Cowboys will be contesting on the meanest bucking stock of professional rodeo, supervised by Billy Minick Rodeo Company. Tom Hadley of Brady returns as rodeo announcer. All current champion cowboys are entered and the three "bucking" animals of the year (1973) will be in the chutes.

All the festivities begin at 2 p. m. Jan. 25 with a huge all-western parade through downtown Fort Worth. It's hay burners all the way, no motorized vehicles are allowed in the parade. Participants include riding clubs, horse-drawn vehicles and floats and school marching bands.

My Neighbors

"Only signed a bit over $100,000 in new business—didn't get in too much selling time today."

It seems you can't even keep the farms down on the farm. An estimated 21 percent of the world's land surface is cultivatable, but only about two-thirds of this is used for growing crops.

In 1898, Sir William Crookes raised the problem that crop yields were not keeping up with people's needs. He foresaw an "impending catastrophe" unless a way was found to fix "atmospheric nitrogen by chemical processes."

American chemists have found such a way—and more! Says the U.S. Department of Agriculture: "Chemical fertilizers protect the food supply by guaranteeing a constant source of essential plant foods. They are a sure means of increasing the efficiency of crop production."

Since a major source of chemical fertilizers for corn, soybeans, wheat and other grains is W.R. Grace & Co., one might say that in spite of Sir William Crookes' fears, chemists have provided us with a period of Grace!

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Is America a nation of "nutritional illiterates?" That's what a member of Congress told a committee of the American Medical Association recently. But, according to a Texas State Health Department nutritionist, people are beginning to pay more attention to nutrition and its effects on their health. People are beginning to question some of the things that they hear about food and their diet.

There is no one ideal diet that people have to follow in order to stay healthy, according to the State Health Department. And you don't have to change your entire way of life, or give up all your favorite foods, in order to have a better diet. Nutritionists say that every meal pattern has something good in it. As long as a person eats a well-balanced diet, with something every day from each of the four major food groups, unless there is a weight problem, it's all right to eat some things just because you enjoy them.

The main components of a well-balanced diet are familiar to everyone. They include daily portions of meat, fish, or poultry; milk and dairy products; fresh fruits and vegetables; and bread or cereals. A regular diet that includes adequate amounts every day from each of these four food groups will provide most people with all of the essential nutrients they need.

The State Health Department does not believe that the so-called health foods or organically-grown foods are particularly valuable. The foods that you can buy in your supermarket are just as good, and in many cases they cost a lot less than fad foods. As for organically-grown foods, you can't tell by looks, taste, or chemical analysis any difference between foods grown in organic fertilizer or commercial fertilizer. Both types of fertilizers contain just about the same chemicals.

Everyone who buys food can afford good nutrition, says the State Health Department. In fact, good foods and well-planned meals are more economical than the "junk foods" that contain less nutrition. A well-balanced diet can be based on most of the traditional foods in different ethnic and cultural patterns, as well. Even the ordinary American hamburger has its place in the diet: everything in it is good food.

Nutritionists are concerned with more than just the nutritional value of the foods we eat. They also care how food tastes. They realize that nutrition is not only a matter of the quality of the foods we eat, but also how it tastes, how it looks, and even how it feels. Developing good nutritional habits for your family doesn't mean abandoning all the foods your family likes, or replacing them with something that's "good for you" even if it doesn't look or taste good. The basis of good nutrition is just careful selection and common sense.

A new labeling law that went into effect Jan. 1 will help people to select good, nutritious foods. The new law requires any food that claims to offer any nutritional value to show on its label the percentages of the Recommended Daily Allowance of various essential nutrients that each ordinary serving portion contains. The labels also will show the amount of sugar, carbohydrates, fat, and sodium in each average serving.

In keeping with the new interest in nutrition, the State Health Department on Jan. 9-10 is sponsoring a "Nutrition '74" seminar in Corpus Christi. State and national authorities will focus attention on nutrition requirements. One aim will be to determine the proper role of professionals and the public in nutrition education.

The State Health Department's nutritionist says that information and education are the keys to better nutrition. Given the right kind of information, you can make the right choices. Making a choice is your privilege—and your right! For better health, just make sure your choices are good, healthy ones.

1973 loans set record for Federal Land Bank

Jay Dee House, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Tahoka, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Houston closed during the year 1973, $254,130,000 in loans, the largest volume of loans closed in the bank's 58-year history.

The previous record high for loans closed in a single year was in 1972 when the bank closed more than $164,000,000 in loans.

The increased demand for long-term credit is attributed to an increase in number of sales of farm and ranch properties. An increase in farm commodity prices has prompted some farmers and ranchers to expand their operations in the past year; however, the energy crisis and other shortages may slow down this expansion in 1974. He predicted that the demand for long-term credit would continue at a high level in 1974.

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes farm and ranch real estate loans throughout Texas and on Dec. 31 had more than $288 million dollars in loans outstanding to over 35 thousand farmers and ranchers. The Federal Land Bank Association of Tahoka makes and services loans in Lynn, Garza and a part of Borden counties. Officers and directors of the association are Fred McGinty, president; Avery Moore, Jr., vice president; L. A. Forsythe, Joe D. Unfried and J. D. McCampbell.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN — Concern over the possibility of gas cutbacks or electrical brown-outs during Texas' current foul-weather months of January and February have prompted many people to look around for an alternate source of heat for homes.

And what many think of first is a cozy blaze in a fireplace. Although it may be debatable how much good a fireplace does in actually heating a house, there's no doubt that it can provide warmth and comfort around the hearth on a cold winter night.

That is, if it's installed correctly and proper materials are used. Otherwise, some of those considering adding a fireplace could find the problem that could result would be much more upsetting than comforting.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division has had several reports of fireplace difficulties. In one instance, the purchasers of a new $50,000 house attempted to enjoy a fire in their fireplace only to find that the builders had installed a false one. Before they could put out the fire, their new home suffered smoke damage.

Another incident involved a woman who hired two itinerant contractors to build a fireplace for her. When it was finished, she was puzzled to find that she couldn't light a fire in it.

The contractors had built the flue and chimney straight up, and had not installed a damper to regulate the air flow. The resulting draft blew out every fire the woman tried to start.

To avoid problems after a fireplace is built, give plenty of advance thought to what you want, and take certain precautions before hiring a contractor for the job.

The initial step is to decide on the type and size of fireplace desired. Three kinds are available. The best-known is the traditional version with firebrick interior and brick or stone chimney.

Another is a preassembled built-in unit with metal firebox and flue. This kind can be installed to look like the traditional version, even to the point of enclosing the metal flue within a chimney.

The third is a freestanding prefabricated unit that can be placed anywhere in a room.

Any of these types, if properly installed and made of quality materials, should be satisfactory and safe.

Various sizes of fireplaces are available. The size you select will determine the maximum size of the logs you can burn. You should also decide whether to include certain options in a fireplace, such as a gas or butane starter or an outside door or special drawer for ash removal.

After these decisions are made, it is advisable to get several bids before selecting the firm or individual to build or install the fireplace. Ask to see other fireplaces they have worked on or talk to persons who have employed them.

Reputable companies or individuals will be happy to show examples of their work.

When you have decided on a contractor, discuss with him exactly what you want. After you've reached agreement on the work to be done, the price, and a timetable for completion, draw up a contract. Some companies or individuals will have their own contract.

If you don't draw up a contract, at least write down what has been agreed upon and give a copy to the contractor. If there is any misunderstanding, it can be ironed out before the job begun. If not, you both will have guidelines by which to judge the completed job.

When contracting for a fireplace, be wary of paying too much money before the work is finished. Our Consumer Protection lawyers say a good rule of thumb is to hold back a substantial portion of the price until the job is completed to your satisfaction.

By doing a little advance planning and by being cautious, you should be able to avoid any problems when building a fireplace.

If you do have a complaint, however, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Varsity cagers next two games will be at home

Roosevelt here on Friday and Tahoka Tuesday

The Post Antelopes and Does will be at home for their next two basketball games, playing Roosevelt here Friday night and Tahoka on Tuesday night.

A junior varsity boys' game will precede the Roosevelt varsity games Friday night, and the junior varsity girls' will play preceding the Tahoka games Tuesday night.

The Does, who lost only to Slaton during the first half of District 5AA play which ended Friday night, already hold victories over the Roosevelt and Tahoka girls' teams, but the 'Lopes lost to Roosevelt and Tahoka during the first half of district play, losing to Tahoka by one point.

The freshman boys' and girls' teams are in a tournament opening today at Cooper, and are to play district games with Tahoka Monday night, the girls here and the boys there. The 7th and 8th grade teams also are to play Tahoka Monday night, with the girls' games in Tahoka and the boys' games in Post.

Post teams sweep trio of games from Cooper cagers

Post High School's varsity boys' and girls' teams and junior varsity boys opened second half District 5AA play on a winning note Tuesday night by sweeping a three-game set at Cooper.

Coach John Alexander's fast-improving Antelopes won 55 to 42, while Coach Jay Wilson's Does took a 62-55 decision, and his junior varsity Does an easy 53-25 win.

The victory was the second straight in district play for the Antelopes, who closed the first half Friday with a win over Slaton.

The 'Lopes led the Pirates 12-11 at the end of the first quarter, 24-19 at the halftime intermission, and 38-33 at the end of the third period. Ricky Shepherd paced the Post scoring with 21 points, while Seale was tops for Cooper with 16.

The Does, coming off their first district loss at Slaton Friday night, had more trouble with the Cooper girls' team Tuesday night than they did in their first meeting during the first half of district play.

With two minutes to go, Cooper was ahead of the Does by two points, but two three-point plays by Jenda Gilmore put the Post team out in front and staved off an upset victory by the Cooperites.

Post led 19-7 at the end of the first quarter and 34-21 at the half, but a slow third quarter in which they scored only nine points to Cooper's 16 enabled the latter to pull up to 43-37 going into the fourth period.

Gilmore led the Post scoring with 27 points, with Becki Dalby hitting 18 and Melanie King, 17. The Post defense did a good job in holding Cooper's Marilyn Payton to 23 points. She scored 42 in the first meeting between the two teams.

Post led all the way in the junior varsity game, in which Joni Hays scored 22 points; Kim Mitchell, 15; Genetta Kennedy, nine; Patricia Bilberry, six, and Linda Wynne, one. The guards were Nancy Reno, Sheri Compton, Kim Hester and Christy Davis.

The scoring summary of the boys' game follows: POST: Bevers 1 0 2; R. Shepherd 9 3 21; Kirkpatrick 3 0 6; Conner 4 2 10; Craig 1 2 4; Davis 2 6 10; Josey 1 0 2; Wyatt 0 0 0; Johnson 0 0 0; Blacklock 0 0 0; M. Shepherd 0 0 0. TOTALS 21 13 55.

COOPER: Ward 2 0 4; Seale 6 4 16; Clanton 5 1 11; Pringle 0 1 1; Fehleison 1 4 6; Choban 2 0 4. TOTALS 16 10 42.

Employment at new high

AUSTIN—More workers than ever before were in the Texas labor force in 1973, the Texas Employment Commission says in its annual report to Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The Texas Labor Force reached 5,139,000 last August. Total employment was up 162,000 for the fiscal year, and jobless workers represented only 3.4 per cent of the total work force.

Fewer jobless workers claimed unemployment benefits each month during 1973 than in the corresponding month of the previous year.

Net taxes collected from employers were up from the preceding year. The healthy state of the trust fund caused almost 60,000 Texas employers to have their experience tax rates reduced by three-tenths of one per cent, effective Jan. 1, 1974.

Freshman boys and girls in Cooper meet

Post's freshman boys' and girls' basketball teams are in an invitational tournament at Cooper this weekend, with both local teams seeing action today (Thursday).

Coach Lane Tannehill's boys' team is to play Slaton at 2:30 p. m. today, following a 1 p. m. game between Coach Jay Wilson's freshman girls and Slaton.

If the boys win today, their next game will be at 2:30 p. m. Friday against the winner of the Abernathy-Roosevelt game. If they lose to Slaton, they play the Abernathy-Roosevelt loser at 5:30 p. m. Friday.

If the Post girls defeat Slaton, their next game will be at 1 p. m. Friday against Abernathy or Roosevelt. If they lose to Slaton, they play the Abernathy-Roosevelt loser at 4 p. m. Friday.

Other teams in the tournament are Sudan, Tahoka, Cooper and Frenship.

Freshman girls are losers to Frenship

The Post freshman girls' basketball team lost to Frenship, 35 to 20, in a district game Monday night at Frenship.

Karen Williams scored 17 of Post's 20 points, with Amy Cowdrey getting the other three.

BUT DOES DROP FIRST, 53-47

Antelopes win first loop tilt at Slaton

The Post Antelopes and Does closed out the first half of District 5AA play at Slaton Friday night with the 'Lopes winning their first loop game in six starts, 53 to 48, and the Does absorbing their first district setback in five starts, 53 to 47.

The Antelopes scored 22 points in a big fourth quarter to the Tigers' 13 for their five-point win. Slaton had led 12 to 10 at the end of the first quarter, 22-19 at the half, and 35-31 at the end of the third period.

The Tigers had played a "stall" game the first half, and resumed it with a one-point lead in the final period, but committed a number of fouls in trying to keep the ball away from a fired-up Post team, with the infractions including two technical fouls that helped the Antelope cause.

The Post defense shut the Tigers' ace, Phil Whaley, out on the inside and he ended the game with only seven points.

Thomas, with 21, led the Tigers, while Ricky Shepherd was Post's top scorer with 16. Costly turnovers at crucial times hurt the Does in their loss to the Slaton Tigerettes, according to Coach Jay Wilson. The defeat left the Post girls in second place for the first half of district play with a 4-1 mark and 17-3 on the season.

The Tigerettes led 16-8 at the end of the first quarter, but the Post girls began to pull up in the second period and trailed by only a point, 25-24, at the halftime intermission. Slaton widened the gap by a point in the third quarter, however, and was out in front 38-36 going into the final period, in which they

He is survived by his wife; a sister, Eula Nichols of Floydada; five step-sisters; and his step-mother, Mrs. Emmie Watkins of Lovington, N. M.

Melanie King scored 21 points for the Does, with Jenda Gilmore hitting 14 and Becki Dalby, 12. Rosemary Scott was the Tigerettes' scoring leader with 24, while Jan Davis scored 15 and Meurer, 14.

The scoring summary of the boys' game follows:

Settlement is made hospital on antibiotics

Garza Memorial Hospital has received a $5,276.03 check from Attorney General John Hill as the hospital's share of a total of $1,707,084.80 Hill distributed to administrators of 145 Texas hospitals as their individual settlements in the State of Texas antitrust suit against manufacturers of broad spectrum antibiotics.

The payment of the $1,707,084.80 by the Chas. Pfizer & Co. to the hospitals was the third phase of payment to Texas health and hospital facilities as a result of the settlement of the Pfizer segment of the antitrust suit by Texas and the other 49 states in the Federal District Court, Southern District of New York.

The attorney general's office already has distributed $1.9 million in checks to individual consumers, as well as $487,602 to state health centers and depository institutions. Settlement of the antitrust suit as it relates to other manufacturers of broad spectrum antibiotics is still pending.

Dalby--

(Continued From Page 1) machine politics. A governing body of a home rule county might get itself re-elected for a number of years. . . it might create a political machine that would not be beneficial to most people.

"Isn't it true," asked Senator Walter Mendgen, R-Houston, "that under the right conditions under home rule one company could gain control of the county commissioners court and appoint most of the officials?"

Dalby agreed, according to press reports.

"And wouldn't it be possible," Mendgen said, "for the Mafia with its money influence and persuasive ways to gain control and make the appointments?"

Again Dalby agreed. "We believe every public official should go through the election process," Dalby testified.

Sen. Jim Wallace, D-Houston, challenged Dalby's stand.

Dalby told The Dispatch yesterday he will represent the same county officials organizations today in testifying before the judiciary committee of the convention in opposition to some of the judiciary provisions of the proposed new constitution.

The county judge said he will testify in opposition against any new constitutional requirement that all county judges would have to be attorneys. He said he also would oppose the appointment of judges, believing they all should be elected on a partisan basis.

He favors four not six-year terms for district judges and favors paying county judges from county sources and district judges from state sources as currently done, with county and justice of peace fine money not going to the state to pay for circuit-riding lawyer-trained county judges.

Candidate—

"The other section would endanger our small rural schools. These schools should be allowed to operate as long as those people want to maintain them and pay for them."

"My opponent says he doesn't think there is enough wrong with our present constitution to rewrite it. My opponent has also said that 'anyone who is going to stay in politics doesn't oppose welfare.'"

"I will oppose welfare except for the elderly, orphans and disabled, and some widows."

"Mr. Healy was chairman of the Appropriations Committee for six terms until he resigned during the 62nd Legislature amid the scandal rocking the State House. A surprisingly small amount of the great sums appropriated has found its way into our district. District 101 is without the services of a single junior college, senior college or state hospital. We have one state park and one old-age home. Our district is the third largest in the state — 15 counties, 13,300 square miles and larger than nine individual states."

"It takes $9 billion a year to run our state; 87 1/2 cents of each dollar goes for education, highways, health and welfare. The legislature should be able to hold this budget where it's at, even in spite of inflation."

"For the duration of the energy crisis and reduced speeds, most of our highway system should be adequate. There should not be any increase in welfare spending, as we are more than adequate in that area now. Most schools of Texas spend between $850 to $1,300 a year per student to educate them. I would like to see the State of Texas advance in Vocational Trades education. For those students desiring, teach them a trade the last one or two years of high school."

"And wouldn't it be possible," Mendgen said, "for the Mafia with its money influence and persuasive ways to gain control and make the appointments?"

Again Dalby agreed.

"We believe every public official should go through the election process," Dalby testified.

Sen. Jim Wallace, D-Houston, challenged Dalby's stand.

Dalby told The Dispatch yesterday he will represent the same county officials organizations today in testifying before the judiciary committee of the convention in opposition to some of the judiciary provisions of the proposed new constitution.

The county judge said he will testify in opposition against any new constitutional requirement that all county judges would have to be attorneys. He said he also would oppose the appointment of judges, believing they all should be elected on a partisan basis.

He favors four not six-year terms for district judges and favors paying county judges from county sources and district judges from state sources as currently done, with county and justice of peace fine money not going to the state to pay for circuit-riding lawyer-trained county judges.

Dedication of church Feb. 10

The congregation of the Graham Methodist Church has set Feb. 10 as the date for dedication of its new church building.

The new building, which has been completed for some time, replaces one destroyed by fire in January of 1973.

The new church is believed to be the only one in the district built debt-free. Women of the church raised approximately $1,300 in weekend bake sales and garage sales, which, along with insurance on the burned church, memorial and other donations, financed the cost of the structure and its furnishings.

Lunch will be served in the community center following the morning services on the dedication date, with the program scheduled to start at 3 p. m. The church will be dedicated by Bishop Carleton, and the new superintendent of the Lubbock District, the Rev. Mr. Trotter, will also be present. The Rev. Joseph Yates is pastor of the church.

Jolly plans to drive back and forth to Snyder until he can find housing there. His wife, Nancy, who is employed as a radio dispatcher on the law enforcement radio, will continue in that position until the family moves to Snyder.

Card of Thanks

A special thanks to all our friends for the thoughtfulness, flowers, cards, foods, and many other things you gave us in our time of sorrow. No place, but no place, only in the city of Post could be found such wonderful people. May God bless each of you.

We take this method to express our gratitude to the good Christian people of Post for the wonderful service given by Hudman Funeral Home, for Bro. Leon Smith's message of comfort, for Bro. Connel and his choir for the songs that Miss Mattie had selected to be sung at her funeral, for the pallbearers, for all the calls, cards, letters and visits and words of comfort, for those who sent flowers; to the ladies of the church who brought food and to those who served it. Special thanks to Mrs. Edith Clary, Mrs. Nita Burgess and Mrs. Winnie Tuffing for their untiring service. May the Lord bless each of you is our prayer.
