Postex Relays Friday to draw over 600 trackmen

13 schools to compete

Forty-two track teams from 13 schools will compete here Friday in the third annual Postex Junior Relays, making it one of the biggest junior track and field meets in the area.

Co-sponsored by Burlington Industries' Postex Plant and the Post schools' athletic department, the relays will have four divisions — 7th grade, 8th grade, 9th grade and junior varsity.

Field events and preliminaries in the running events will start at 10 o'clock Friday morning, with finals in the track events to start at 2:15 p. m. following a break from 1:05 to 2:15.

The following teams are entered in the four divisions:

7th Grade: Frenship, Roosevelt, Slaton, Floydada, Post, Ropesville, Spur, Tahoka, Idalou, Abernathy and Cooper.

8th Grade: Frenship, Roosevelt, Slaton, Floydada, Post, Roosevelt, Spur, Tahoka, Idalou, Abernathy and Cooper.

9th Grade: Frenship, Roosevelt, Slaton, Floydada, Post, Spur, Tahoka, Idalou, Abernathy, Cooper and Lockney.

Junior Varsity: Frenship, Roosevelt, Slaton, Floydada, Post, Ropesville, Spur, Crosbyton and Lockney.

The presentation of awards and trophies is scheduled for 5:30 p. m.

The relays will be directed by members of the Post schools' coaching staff and volunteers. Lane Tannehill, head track coach at Post High School, said today that a number of individuals have already volunteered their services to help conduct the meet, but that more are needed, in view of the size (See Postex Relays, Page 12)

AT CITY-COUNTY PARK

Sunrise Friday is to herald Ta'bane Yua'ne

The second annual "Ta'bane Yua'ne" ceremony in City-County Park at sunrise Friday (about 7:45 a. m.) will come up with Post's "Indian Legend" crop forecast for 1974.

Sponsored by the Post Chamber of Commerce, the 15-minute ceremony to determine the direction from which the wind is blowing at sunrise will follow an outdoor, catered breakfast which will be served for $2 at 7:15 a. m.

Frank "Chief" Runkles in full Indian dress will again perform the sunrise ceremony around a small fire — smoke from which will determine the wind direction.

Approximately 100 persons attended the first such ceremony last year as TV cameras ground away.

The TV cameras will be back this year to record the Indian legend prediction which has been right far more times than it has been wrong over the years. Tickets for the breakfast may be purchased in advance at the First National Bank, Post Chamber office, Raferti, Jackson's Cafeteria, Radio Station KPOS, and The Dispatch office. Breakfast tickets also may be purchased on the grounds Friday morning.

The Indian legend says if the wind at sunrise on March 22 is from the east or northeast there will be bumper crops; from the north or the northwest, crops will be average; from the west or southwest means parched fields and bad crops; and a southeast wind means a poor crop.

MOST REPORTS OPTIMISTIC

Community Action group elects Jack Alexander

Jack Alexander was elected president of the board of directors of the Garza County Community Action Association Tuesday night as directors heard optimistic reports on future project financing except for the Meals on Wheels program.

The Post elementary school principal succeeded Jim Cornish as head of the organization. Larry Hambriek, minister of the East Side Church of Christ, was named vice president, and Molly Conoly was re-elected secretary.

Howard Maddera of Leveland, executive director of the South Plains Community Action Association, Inc., told directors at their meeting in the Lorenzo Alexander Community Center that the Meals on Wheels program has enough funding left to continue only through August or September.

He explained only one new financial source remains a possibility to continue beyond that point and that "I am not optimistic about its future."

The Meals on Wheels program here celebrated its first anniversary Tuesday with a morning coffee for the many volunteers who have delivered the hot meals to shut-ins and others connected with the program.

Mrs. Ann Tubbs, who has been at the helm of the program which has provided a hot lunch a day for approximately 20 senior citizens five days a week, reported at the meeting that the Graham HD Club has consented to take over most of the supervisory duties for the program for the next year if it can be financed.

As to the outlook on other funding, Maddera said the Office of Economic Opportunity "base funding" which pays the cost of the operation of his office and the office operation in each member county, is now being provided on a quarterly basis.

He said a three-year extension of OEO is now before Congress supported by 48 state governors and the petitioning National Council of Mayors.

The family planning program, he reported, is due to be refunded on an annual basis June 1.

He said both state and federal sources are interested in funding an alcoholism counseling program in this area and the program should firm up within the next two or three months.

Agent resigns position here

Mrs. Dana Feaster this week announced her resignation as Garza County home demonstration agent to move to Big Spring where her husband, David, is employed as an inspector with the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Mrs. Feaster's resignation does not become effective until the end of this month, but she will take her annual leave of absence next week.

She has been the Extension service agent here for the last two years, having replaced Janice Choate in the position.

Mrs. Feaster's husband served as director for the Garza County Youth Center during the few months it was in operation in the building between the bank and the post office.

The county commissioner's court will not take action on filling the vacancy until a replacement for Mrs. Feaster is recommended by the Extension Service.

Girl Scouts need banquet pie pans

The Girl Scouts need at least 150 aluminum pie pans for their annual Father-Daughter banquet to be held March 29. Mrs. Shirley Storie, a Girl Scout leader, said today.

Anyone with pie pans the Girl Scouts can use at their banquet is asked to call Mrs. Storie at 495-2977.

The banquet will have a hillbilly theme, Mrs. Storie said.

Post 7th grader repeats as Garza spelling champ

Michael Haas, 13-year-old seventh grade student in Post Junior High School, repeated Tuesday afternoon as champion of the Garza County Spelling Bee, held in the junior high school library.

Michael, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Haas, successfully defended his title of county spelling bee champion against 15 other students, including six from Southland.

He spelled "antithesis" correctly after second-place winner Camille Wheeler, an 11-year-old Southland fifth grader had missed the word, then spelled the next word, "anchor", correctly to win the championship and the right to represent Garza County in the regional spelling bee in Lubbock next month.

Third-place winner David Morrow, a 14-year-old Post eighth grade student, misspelled the word "apparency." David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morrow of Post, and Camille Wheeler, the second-place winner, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferrel Wheeler of Southland.

Last year, Michael won 12th place in the regional bee at Lubbock in a field of some forty contestants.

Approximately 50 words were given out by Mrs. Ruth Hall, pronouncer, before the winner was decided in Tuesday's spelling bee here. The judges were Mrs. Alexa Collier, Mrs. Sara Holder and Mrs. Tanya Buchanan.

Mrs. Peggy Wheeler of Southland was the spelling bee director.

Water loss heavy after lines break

Several thousand gallons of White River Lake water went down the gutters here Friday and Saturday in two separate water line breaks, one at the Broadway and 8th Street intersection and the other at the Avenue I and 8th Street intersection.

The first break, discovered about 4:30 p. m. Friday, was in a four-inch line just four feet north of the Broadway and 8th Street intersection, according to Public Works Supt. Pete Maddox.

Maddox said he and four employes of the city water department, assisted by Texas Highway Department maintenance workers, worked until about an hour after midnight Friday getting the first break repaired.

"Then, about two hours later, we were roused out of bed when city police patrolmen discovered a leak at Avenue I and 8th Street from a break in a two-inch line," Maddox said.

The break in the two-inch line "blew out" an eight-inch main and workmen were busy all day Saturday digging down and repairing the break there, Maddox said.

"We had to cut the water pressure down about 7 o'clock Saturday night when two pumps we had going constantly failed to lower the water to where we could make the necessary repairs," the works superintendent said. He said the pressure was down about 27 minutes and that residents of some parts of town could get only a trickle of water from their faucets during that time.

Maddox said the highway maintenance crew was a big help in directing traffic while the breaks were being mended and in hauling caliche used in making the repairs.

"We lost lots of water but it all flowed down into South Lake, so maybe we'll have a pretty park," the public works superintendent commented.

Chamber group supports I-27

A Post Chamber of Commerce delegation of four attended the meeting at Snyder Monday night supporting the extension of Interstate Highway 27 south of Lubbock and concurred with the lengthy Snyder presentation favoring routing of the extension through Post, Snyder, Abilene to Austin.

Jack Alexander, Post Chamber of Commerce president, made the brief concurrence on behalf of the Post delegation during the two and one-half hour session attended by nearly 200 boosters from 25 interested towns.

Others attending from Post were Joe McCowen, Will Parker and James Mitchell.

A Post delegation earlier had attended a similar meeting in Lubbock which kicked off the present series of meetings on the extension of the interstate highway.

Post Chamber directors at their March meeting last Thursday noon at Jackson's went on record as favoring the interstate extension to follow the US-84 route south of Lubbock.

The current series of meetings actually is to establish need for such an interstate highway and not to select its route.

If Congress approves an Interstate 27 extension in 1975 in competition with other interstate highway requests, route determination hearings would then be held.

Library Bookshelf

Recent additions to the shelves at the Post Public Library include the following: Christmas in the Southwest by Taylor Lewis (non-fiction). The Onion Field by Joseph Wambaugh (non-fiction). Lyndon by Richard Harwood (non-fiction). Nun's Castle by Jennie Melville (mystery). The Defection of A. J. Lewinter by Robert Littell (Mystery). The Oath by Elie Wiesel (fiction). "Thanks to Elaine Nesmith for books given this week."

DICK KENNEDY

Kennedy is to intern at CSU

Dick R. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Kennedy and a 1967 graduate of Post High School, is one of five veterinary students at Texas A&M University to be awarded internships with other veterinary schools in the United States.

The decision to intern is an option open to senior students and the applicants are chosen on a basis of academic excellence, instruction references and skills in the clinics.

Dick has been awarded an internship in Large Animal Medicine at Colorado State University, Fort Collins. His responsibilities as a practicing veterinarian at CSU will be to handle cases and instruct senior students in clinical procedures.

He will graduate from Texas A&M on Aug. 9 and will begin his internship at CSU on Aug. 15. The internship will be for a one-year period, after which Dick plans to return to West Texas and set up a large animal clinic.

His wife, Celia, is a graduate of Tarleton State College and has taught English and Spanish at Navasota High School the last three years. They live at 101 Kyle St., College Station.

United Fund names four

The board of directors of the Garza United Fund was reorganized for the upcoming fall campaign at a meeting last Thursday afternoon in the bank community room with the election of four new directors for three-year terms.

The four new directors on the 12-member board are Mrs. Betty Boren, Mrs. Orabeth White, Don Payne, and Donald Windham.

Directors also voted up to $500 from the United Fund's emergency fund for the Post Special School.

Trustees at a recent consolidation. At the request of the Post High School senior class, trustees approved a combined commencement and baccalaureate service this spring instead of two separate services as have been held in the past. Trustees were told a majority of the seniors and their parents favored the joint service.

Political streaking, too

As the latest fad of student streaking gathers momentum (or is it actually dying down, as some say?), it occurs to us that perhaps the politicians could learn something from the students.

More accurately, the country could learn something from the politicians if the politicians themselves would bare all. As a matter of fact, a large majority of voters would be highly appreciative if the candidates would strip down to the bare facts in their campaigns.

During the latest student outburst of high jinks, those who could put aside moral and aesthetic values for a short time have got a welcome laugh out of the ludicrous scenes. It has provided a healthy relief from the tensions of shortages and threats of war.

Of course, we're not suggesting that the politicians actually shed their clothing while doing their thing. The very thought of that is upsetting enough. Even a view of the most undignified senator jogging to his office in running shorts is a far cry from senatorial dignity.

What we are proposing seriously includes:

1. That politicians stop promising what they think will get them elected only to forget the promises when elected.

2. That politicians refuse to accept contributions to their campaigns from special interests knowing that they will be expected to favor the special interest legislation.

3. That politicians stop vigorously opposing or supporting legislation in public and then agreeing to a totally different concept in private.

4. That politicians answer truthfully, as if under oath, questions from the press and general public.

Under these circumstances we believe political streaking would be a valuable asset to the country.

One election helps others

Of the three elections scheduled here for Saturday, April 6, the city election is the only one that offers something for us to "get our teeth into."

The school trustee and hospital board elections will be relatively tame, with no opposition for any of the positions to be filled.

It's a different story in the city election, however, with eight candidates for the three two-year terms to be filled and three candidates for the one-year unexpired term left by the resignation of Councilman Buster Moreland.

In addition to the 11 council candidates, the city ballot will include referendums on urban renewal and on a community-youth center.

The way the city ballot shapes up, it should draw a fair-sized vote, which, in itself will help swing more voters over to the school trustee and hospital board voting places than would otherwise be the case. Many voters have the habit of when turning out for one election, just going ahead and voting in any others that might be taking place before going home to await the returns. — CD

Back up to track power

Coach Lane Tannehill and other members of the coaching staff are to be commended for bringing the Post Antelope track and field team back up to the plateau of a "track power" and one to be reckoned with in District 5AA competition.

The Antelopes scored 100 points Saturday in the always-tough West Texas Relays at Odessa, finishing second to District 5AA rival Denver City, which scored 129 points. The 'Lopes outscored the Mustangs in the track events, 88 points to 59, but fell behind in the field events, where they scored but 12 points to Denver City's 70.

The Antelopes have a better track team this year than usual, but that isn't the only reason for a resurgence in the sport out at Post High School and junior high. Much of the increased interest among the Post athletes can be attributed to the annual Postex Relays first held here in 1972 and due for another run this Friday.

In addition to the Postex Relays, the local school was also host to the District 5AA junior high track and field meet last year and will host it again this spring. All this was made possible, of course, through the coaching staff's enterprise in improving our quarter-mile track.

And Coach Tannehill says they are not through with the track improvements, but intend to get conditions to the point where they can host the high school district track and field meet in the not-too-distant future. — CD

Help keep it growing

"Getting up before breakfast" is an expression sometimes used for arising from bed earlier than usual in the morning. But that is what all of us should do this Friday morning in order not to miss the second annual "Ta'bane Yua'ne" at the City County Park.

Sponsored by the Post Chamber of Commerce, "Ta'bane Yua'ne" is the traditional Indian crop forecast based on the direction of the wind at sunrise on the morning of March 22. It was first held here last year after having been brought up to community project stature through the efforts of Bryan J. Williams and a Chamber committee appointed to work with him.

That first "Ta'bane Yua'ne" attracted wide attention, including area TV coverage. By making it even bigger this time through our interest and attendance, we can help keep the colorful event growing.

And, forget about having to get up before breakfast to attend it. You can eat breakfast in the open at the park before the sunrise ceremony gets under way. — CD

I'VE ALWAYS been of the opinion that if you keep looking for something long enough, someday you'll find it — or, at least, something close to it.

Last summer, while on my vacation, I spent several hours in a college library going through big city telephone directories trying to find someone named Watergate. I had no luck, and met the same failure when I looked through the Postal Service's ZIP Code directory to see if I could find a town named Watergate.

I HIT GOLD in one of Sunday's papers, however, with this Women's News Service dispatch from Montreux, Switzerland:

Martine Noman, 28, never did like her name.

"It always made me sound like an old maid and drew laughter from desk clerks when I checked into hotels."

Now Martine is here on honeymoon and getting more snickers with her married name. She is Mrs. Richard M. Watergate.

On the same subject, Gladys Wood, who recently returned from a visit with a sister in Louisiana, brought me something she'd clipped from the Alexandria-Pineville, La., newspaper. "I told myself as soon as I read it, that Charlie Didway would like to see this," Gladys said.

What Gladys brought me was an article written by a sixth grader in an elementary school in Louisiana as a class assignment. The teacher had asked her sixth grade class to write stories or poems based on nursery rhymes or Mother Goose stories.

Teresa McLaren, who, along with her classmates had been exposed to Watergate from weekly news film strips shown in the school, came up with the following:

THIS IS THE MANSION THAT RICHARD BUILT
This is the mansion that Richard built.

These are the tapes that lay in the house that Richard built. This is the man that hid the tapes that lay in the house that Richard built.

These are the men that killed (politically) the man that hid the tapes that lay in the house that Richard built.

Listening Post

By GEORGE L. MILLER

By golly, Lubbock got so jealous of Post they went and had a new library of their own opened up last Saturday!

And a right nice library it is, too. Jim Cornish and I went up for the formal dedication, and slipped in ahead of the crowd to take a quick look at it.

They've got a beautiful building! Basically one large room, it divides into separate areas for fiction, non-fiction, children's books and periodicals. The Card Catalog is located in a central space easily reached from every section of the room.

The shelving, all new, is a handsome dark brown that should be easy on the eyes and also easy to keep clean. The floor is carpeted with a servicable gold carpet that brightens the room immensely. Lighting is excellent, and the whole atmosphere is inviting.

They have some innovations in the library that are exciting. They have a collection of framed paintings that may be checked out — just like you'd check out a book — and hung in your home. They also have a collection of small pieces of sculpture which may be checked out.

Although I didn't see it, I wouldn't be surprised if they have a record collection, too. Perhaps it hasn't been set up yet. There are places where the work is not yet finished. A listening center in the children's area is ready — but wiring has not been completed so there's no power for the record player!

They have some fascinating shelves in the children's area — shelves that twist and bend like a maze and tempt you to go wandering through them. We thought of doing something like it in our new library, but couldn't solve the design problem. Now that we see how Lubbock did it, we might put that idea back in the hopper for future consideration.

Former resident is accepted for course

Mrs. Marilyn Ehrlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Minor of Post, has been accepted as one of 12 students in the School of Medical Technology at St. Joseph Hospital in Houston out of approximately 450 applicants. The training will begin Aug. 5. Mrs. Ehrlich received a B. S. degree in Psychology from the University of Houston in 1972.

The new library in Lubbock has been named the George and Helen Mahon Library. In honor of the occasion, Mr. Mahon and his wife were there for the dedication, and he spoke about the importance of libraries in our society.

It pleased me to hear that he is for libraries (I hardly expected him to say anything else, of course!) and he indicated that the Federal Government thinks so too. In support of this he said that $125 million dollars have been appropriated for library services this year.

It was an impressive figure — but when I started dividing it up in my mind, and spreading it around the libraries of this nation, I was appalled at the way the sum dwindled. It will take a lot more than that to keep our libraries alive and healthy.

For the time being, we have a beautiful library here in Post that can hold its head up alongside any library in the land. And Lubbock has a library of which it can be proud for many years to come. We are truly fortunate.

But as for tomorrow — Well, it's up to us to see about that!

Thomas-Nichols vows read in Methodist church here Friday

Miss Syan Thomas and David Nichols pledged wedding vows Friday, March 14, at 7:30 p. m. in the First United Methodist Church.

Bob Stice, First Baptist Church music director, officiated the ceremony before a kneeling rail draped in ivy and flanked by candelabra.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thomas. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nichols.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a turn of the century gown of white Nottingham lace a la mode. The gown featured a deep opal yoke of lace highlighted in pearls and edged in Victorian ruffling, with high wedding band neckline. Long sleeves of lace were tapered to ruffles over the wrists. The lace appliques accented the softly sheered bell shaped skirt which was encircled at the hemline with a deep lace ruffle flounce. A pearled lace cummerbund defined the natural waistline.

The bride's veil was a bouffant bridal illusion attached to a garland of lace flowerettes edged in pearls.

Mrs. Tammye Zachary of Texline, Tex., sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gaynell Workman, Mrs. Nancy Kemp and Dejuana McKamie of Lubbock. Jendy Thomas, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore floor length gowns of puckered seersucker with a-line skirts and puffed sleeves. The junior bridesmaid and maid-of-honor wore white gowns and the bridesmaids, yellow gowns and each carried a long stem yellow rose with ivy.

Candles were lighted by Jay and Jeff Lott.

Johnny Kemp served as best man. Groomsmen were Royce Hart, Ronald Simpson and Tol Thomas, brother of the bride.

Jimmy Redman, Tommy Young, John Johnson and Danny Lee were ushers.

Wedding music was provided by Nancy Reno and Carol Davis who sang "Let It Be Me," "Come Live With Me," and the "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Babb, pianist.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Guests were registered by Melanie King. A crocheted table cloth made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Grady Davis, over yellow with crystal service was used on the bride's table with the bridal bouquet used as the centerpiece. Stephanie Davis and Kim Lott presided. The groom's table had a lace cloth over yellow with a brass coffee service, and Crystal Nichols, sister of the groom, and Nancy Frazier presiding.

Miss Thomas is a graduate of Post High School and is now employed as a nurse with Dr. Charles Tubbs. The bridegroom is a graduate of Post High School and attended West Texas State and Tarleton State and is presently employed with the Post Office Department.

After a short wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside on Rt. 3, Post.

MRS. DAVID NICHOLS (Syan Thomas)

Potluck by Rosemary Chapman

As I understand Ta'bane Yua'ne, if the wind at sunrise tomorrow is from the east or northeast there will be a bumper '74 crop; from the north or northwest an average crop; from the west or southwest parched fields and had crops; and from the south or southeast a poor crop.

One certainly wouldn't want to interfere with old Indian legends but when you get to thinking about it, Ta'bane Yua'ne isn't giving very good odds. Two out of eight chances for a bumper crop is risky.

Sorority holds meeting, elects new officers

The Gamma Mu Sorority, a member of the ESA, held its regular meeting March 11 at 7:30 p. m. in the community room of the bank, with Judy Bush as hostess.

Lil Conner presented the program on her Indian artifacts, showed slides and displayed various items.

A short business meeting was held to discuss the annual home tour which will be May 1. The tour will include new and remodeled homes.

The proceeds from the tour will go to the philanthropic projects of the club. In the past these projects have included an audio booth for the school nurse, dental work for needy students, March of Dimes, and others.

New officers were elected for the new year. They are: Judy Bush, president; Grabeth White, vice president; Jane Mason, secretary; Ruth Ann Young, treasurer; Jan Davidson, educational director.

March 25 will be the date of the next meeting, which will be a rush social.

business and it appears to me that what we need is a little insurance.

Let's everybody go down to the park Friday in our best moccasins and blow stoutly from the northeast!

Chief Runkles looked so beautiful in his Indian finery at the ceremony last year, it really might be a good idea if everyone "dressed" for the occasion this year. It might help, too. One can't help but notice that we've been getting lots of wind from the southwest lately.

I've been wishing that I hadn't chopped off my hair so I could braid it and wear a beaded headband around my forehead. I've also been wishing that I had one of those beautiful buckskin outfits to wear. Since I can't do much about either one of those wishes, I've been rummaging around in the closet to see just exactly what I COULD come up with.

I didn't have any Indian costumes but I did have several cowboy outfits so I'll just wear one of those with some turquoise jewelry. After all, everyone knows that cowboys and Indians mix well.

The only problem is, most cowboys laugh so hard at my cowboy outfits, I hate to think about what the Indians will do. Oh, well. A northeast wind would be worth it. Besides, Earl promised to streak in warpaint.

See you tomorrow, Pale-face!

Youth group hears of Indian mission

Members of the Christian Church began work about 1920 among the Yakima Indians. As a result, the gospel of Jesus Christ is being brought to nearly 7,000 Indians from many tribes today.

The mission has a particularly strong ministry to children and youth. The first seven months of this year the church attendance of youth has doubled.

The youth were told by Edgar L. Fox, minister, that the Christian Church began work about 1920 among the Yakima Indians. As a result, the gospel of Jesus Christ is being brought to nearly 7,000 Indians from many tribes today.

The mission has a particularly strong ministry to children and youth. The first seven months of this year the church attendance of youth has doubled.

During the Christmas season, the Christmas story is presented in the Indian way. The Indian baby is seen on a cradle board instead of in a manger. The Wise Men are three Indian chiefs who travel from a faraway place, and the shepherds are hunters and scouts.

Mission activities include a day care program for children between the ages of 2½ and 6 years who have working parents, three baseball teams, special field trips, and parties.

In conclusion, the minister said that the witness for Christ is not only sounded from the pulpit, but by the members of our churches as they go about their business on the reservation.

HECE senior enjoys work

By SUSAN SOLIS

My name is Susan Solis and I am a senior in Post High School. This is my second year in HECE. Last year I worked at Collier's Drug Store and this year I am working at the Primary School with the kindergarten.

My day starts out by staying outside with the children while they play. The teacher that is on duty that day goes with me to the cafeteria along with the children. After lunch they stay outside and when they go in they work individually and as a group. Then at 12 noon the first class gets ready to go home.

I have really enjoyed working with the kindergarten. Through this program I have learned how important it is understanding different people, how to get along with the people you work with and the people you get to know. Earning your own money and understanding that you have to work for what you truly want is something that I can carry in life with me.

HECE has really done me a lot of good in the past two years and in the future to come.

Student comment on Daylight Saving Time

By KATHIE MORRIS

Upon arising in the wee hours of the morning, one's first thought may be that life would be a lot easier to live if only he could see it. Perhaps I should say, see in it!

Over and over, I have heard comments on the time change involved in the Daylight Savings Time. Not all are good, however. I asked a few students how they like the change and whether or not they had accepted it. I received some very intelligent answers. . . I think.

There has been some controversy on whether or not the time change, which started Jan. 6, can help solve the energy crisis. David Posey, a part-time senior at PHS and part-time freshman at Western Texas College, replied, "At first, I thought Daylight Savings Time would help to save more gasoline, but now more problems have arisen because of DST."

It seems not only the shortage of gasoline, as fuel for travel, is the main gripe. According to Tracy McAlister, a freshman at PHS, "You have to turn your heat and lights on earlier to get ready for school. So you've wasted just as much energy." Mingled with the complications of the time change, there has been danger. Since the school hours have not been changed, there have been children of all ages out on the streets in the darkened morning. Marsha Arhelger, a junior at PHS, gives her views on the subject. She states: "When the time was first changed, there were several young children killed in the United States. These accidents probably would not have happened if the children had not been going to school in the dark." There has been a suggestion of changing the school hours to prevent this danger. "However," says Marsha, "if the school hours were changed there would be problems such as parents leaving for work before it is time for school." So there now remains the question "Which is best?"

Another question being asked is, "Who is responsible for this time change?" David seems to believe that it is William Simon. He says he is probably the one who "influenced the Congress and in turn the President to enact legislation for DST to come on a year-round basis." The conflict on this view comes from Tracy. He believes it was President Nixon, "who has no sense at all!"

"A number of ideas would do some good, but one that would help the most would be for the public to discipline themselves to cut down wherever possible their energy consumption," answers David of the question, "What could replace the time change?" Tracy says he doesn't think "anything can help in anyway."

No matter what help may come of this, people are going to remain thinking what they already do. Even if no improvements show, they will have to continue to accept the time change. Whether they can adapt to this time change or not is a matter of opinion. Everyone involved can only sit tight, wait, grin, and bear it. So start grinning!

Major Choice

By Edgar L. Fox

One of the most important and far reaching decisions a person ever makes is his choice of a life-work. The choice of one's life-work, the choice of a life partner, and the choice of a Savior are key decisions in determining the course, the meaning, and the lasting worth of a human life.

The person who appreciates the fact that he has but one life to live and therefore feels that he wants to make that life worthwhile will carefully weigh his choice of work. He will do more than casually "take a job" because the job is offered.

There are perhaps four reasons for viewing the choice as a major one. First, the work a person does will determine to a great extent the enjoyment he obtains from living. Second, a choice of work will have a bearing upon the economic returns a person can expect from his labor. A third reason for rating this choice as one of the major decisions is that all work is not of the same merit in benefits to others.

In the Christian religion, one knows that life and one's capacities are in a true sense gifts of God, and the faithful steward will consider how to invest these gifts best in order to bring returns pleasing to the Master Owner. Such a person will want a life-work that encourages such investment of his whole person. Every true follower has a work to do for this God irrespective of his profession to toil in society.

"I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the growth. So neither he who plants nor he who waters is anything, but only God who gives the growth. He who plants and he who waters are equal, and each shall receive his wages according to his labor. For we are fellow workmen for God; you are God's field, God's Building."

? Your Name ?

WHAT'S IN IT?
By CHARLES DIDWAY

SNOW
 The name Snow appears early in English history, first as a given name and later as a surname. It was a given name among the Anglo-Saxons and was in use in England long before the Norman Conquest of 1066, with which the emergence of surnames is usually associated.

The name Snow, or Snou as it was originally spelled, was often applied to a person with white hair or a light complexion. The name may also refer to a person who was "born in the time of the snow." Frost is another family name of the same type.

At first, everyone had only one name, which, in some cases, was a nickname. Then, when it became necessary to give people surnames to distinguish between those in a village with the same first name, hereditary family names came into use. Often, a man's first name became the family name he handed down to his descendants.

Early records of the name Snow in England include a Richard Snow listed in the Assize Rolls of Worcestershire in 1221. Different spellings of the name appear in other records, such as Robert Snou of Suffolk in 1239 and Gilbert Snawe, listed in the Subsidy Rolls of Essex in 1327. Today, many families named Snow are found in the English counties of Devon, Essex and Staffordshire.

Nicholas Snow was a Massachusetts settler as early as 1626, and Henry Snow came to Virginia from London in 1635. Today, Snow ranks 630th among the 2,000 most common family names in the United States, with government figures showing an estimated 43,000 persons of the name.

From the largest user of West Texas Cotton:

Feb. 1, 1974

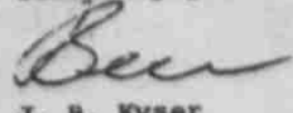

Mr. Robert R. Coker, President
 Coker's Pedigreed Seed Co.
 Hartsville, S. C. 29550

Dear Bob:

We purchased around 1,000 bales of certified lint of your Coker 312 and Coker 5110 cottons from the 1973 crop, ginned at the Canyon Gin, Rt. 1, Lubbock, Texas

We were well pleased with the spinning performance of this cotton. The length averaged a good 1-1/16", the mike was all in the premium range, and the strength was very good.

We like to buy and spin this kind of cotton, and we use many thousands of bales of this type lint. We hope that the growers in the Lubbock and other areas of the Southwest will plant more of these Coker varieties as they should find a ready market at prices well above the shorter staple cottons.

Sincerely yours,

 J. B. Kyser

100 points earn second place in Odessa event

The Post Antelopes rolled up 100 points, one of the highest totals of any Post track team in recent years, to finish second in the Class AA division at the West Texas Relays in Odessa Saturday.

This Saturday, Coach Lane Tannehill's Antelope team will compete in the Eagle Relays at Roosevelt.

Denver City won the Class AA division at Odessa with 129 points. They were outscored by Post in the running events, 88 points to 59, but amassed 70 points in the field events to the Antelopes' 12.

Coach Tannehill said, "We are proud of all the boys' performances at Odessa, but are especially proud of the sprint relay team's first place finish in a fast field."

The relay team, composed of Mike Shepherd, Edward Price, Joe Moore and Dennis McDonald, won first with a time of 45.8 seconds, with Crane second in 45.9 and Denver City third in 46.0.

DENVER, Colo. — Tom Ferguson stretched his lead for world champion all around cowboy by winning $5,820 at the Houston, Texas, Livestock Show rodeo, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Ferguson, of Miami, Okla., has won $16,460 so far this season, nearly double that of the second-place man in all around standings, Bob Ragsdale of Chowchilla, Calif. Ferguson has won more money than any other cowboy in history at this point in the season, an Association spokesman said.

At Houston, Ferguson won $3,344 in steer wrestling, winding up second in the "average," and $2,476 in calf roping, finishing third in the average.

More than 411,500 persons watched the 15-performance rodeo in the Houston Astrodome. Total prize money was $107,984.

provide the necessary cash funding required to place such a counselor in Post if the program is obtained.

Maddera said there are stronger hopes now than for a long time for a housing program with a 10.5 billion dollar housing bill now before Congress. He said in this bill $2.5 billion in funds are set aside for rural housing (including smaller communities) whereas in the past public housing programs well over 90 per cent of the funds always were spent in the big cities.

The community action directors voted to request another $800 federal funding for a summer recreation program here.

Directors also voted a recommendation for County Judge Giles Dalby to petition Governor Briscoe to provide a sponsoring agent in this area for the federal manpower program because the city of Lubbock, which should take the sponsorship, passed it because of a city council political squabble.

Mrs. Sue Shytles, who operates the community center here, reported in the last two months her office has made 713 social service contacts.

She said she has been busy with helping applicants with the new social security supplement income plan and also reported the new migrant health program for the county has "gotten off the ground".

"We had our last consumer cooking class today — and had a lot of fun and learned a lot from them," she reported. The classes were directed by the HD agent.

Moving the well baby clinic to afternoon hours has "given us a better opportunity to get the children here," she reported with 63 youngsters seen during the last two months.

Twenty-five babies are now using the formula provided in the infant nutrition program, she said.

Liz Menchaca reported 225 individuals served in the last two months in the family planning program.

She said 153 women have participated in the program in the last 15 months with 146 of them still active, and 14 new patients enrolled this month.

Mrs. Rambokas, teacher of the Post Special School, reported new playground equipment for the school, and increase in enrollment this year from four to seven students, two field trips to date this spring for the youngsters, and practicing for contests sponsored by the Lubbock State School.

In last year's Postex Junior Relays, Post teams won the junior varsity and 9th grade divisions, with Frenship copping the 8th grade division, and Floydada the 7th grade.

Last year was the first time for a junior varsity division and the Post team was an easy winner. The Post 9th grade team had to take it down to the wire, however, before beating out Floydada 142 points to 137 1/2.

Frenship was an easy winner in the 8th grade division, piling up 144 1/2 points to 89 for Slaton and 75 for the Post team, which finished third. The Floydada 7th grade won by a margin of eight points over Slaton, scoring 94 points to the Tigers' 86. The Post 7th graders finished fourth with 70 points.

The first year the relays were held, Post teams won all three divisions, with Frenship second in the 9th grade and 7th grade groups and Slaton second in the 8th grade division.

Trustees named members to the school district's board of equalization with the board to be announced upon acceptance of such service, and approved the recommendations of Supt. Bill Shiver for extension of additional teacher contracts for the 1974-75 school year.

Due to the intense heat of early summer and late summer, trustees decided to open the 1974-75 school term on Sept. 2 and not to have a spring break as it would extend the term longer into the hot weather.
